Indians Blast Bulldogs

BY SHANE HADAWAY

The Haskell Indians, playing a great defensive game, shutout the Stamford Bulldogs 20-0, last Friday night in Stamford.

The Tribe held the Bulldogs to just 53 yards total offense, 7 yards rushing and 46 yards passing.

The Tribe themselves displayed more offense than in previous games with 301 total offense: 238 yards rushing and 63 yards passing. Tailback Carl Dever rushed for 105 of the 238 yards.

The Indians first points of the game were scored on a 4-yard run by quarterback Todd Harris with 8:24 left in the first quarter.

The drive consisted of 5 plays. The PAT by Robert Ivey was good.

Fullback Keith Reed bulled his way in from three yards out for the Tribe's second touchdown with 2:47 to go in the second quarter.

The drive again consisted of 5 plays. The PAT by Ivey was good.

The Tribe's last touchdown came off an 11-yard scamper by Dever with 1:33 to go in the game to put the Indians ahead 20-0. The PAT was no good.

The Tribe played an outstanding defensive game holding the Bulldogs to minus 13 yards rushing in the first half and 7 yards rushing for the entire game.

The Tribe also stopped the Bulldog's supposedly efficient passing game by picking off one pass and putting pressure on and sacking the Bulldog's quarterback many times.

Outstanding defensive players included linebacker Sam Toliver, tackles Kendall Solomon and Carnell Thompson, end Patrick McCoy and the secondary which includes Ricky Rojas, Doug Lanier, Harris and Dever.

The Tribe will face the Quanah Indians for a Homecoming game Friday at 8 p.m. at Indian Stadium.

Quanah takes a 3-1 record going into Friday's game. They have a big line, average speed and a good running back by the name of Terry Payne.

Welcome Home Exes!

While you've been away things have been happening in Haskell and during your visit this week we hope you have an opportunity to renew old acquaintances with former classmates and at the same time become re-introduced to Haskell.

In the two short years since the last Homecoming many things have happened in Haskell and a new energy can be felt.

Over two dozen new businesses have been built, the local economy continues to be stable despite problems throughout the area and nation, the population is steadily growing despite most small towns continuing to dwindle and many young people are returning home to Haskell to settle and raise their families.

Haskell residents are proud of Haskell and we hope that Homecoming will give many former residents a chance to get caught up on what's been going on while you've been away.

Also during Homecoming, plan on visiting the High School and Junior High to view the murals and decorations. Most of these paintings are the work of students and were completed last year during the Centennial celebration of Haskell.

Visitors are also urged to visit in the businesses during the weekend and also to drive around town to view the new construction. New housing additions on both the east and west sides of town have grown dramatically since the last Homecoming and many new businesses offer a more complete shopping variety than any town this size.

Other items which might be of interest to exes since the last Homecoming include: construction of two new lighted tennis courts and extensive work on the City Park. In addition to this work, the City Council has received approval on a $500,000.00 grant to address flooding problems along Rice Springs Creek through town.

Also since the last Homecoming, the Haskell Chamber of Commerce has employed Wanda Dulancy, class of 1940, as Chamber manager. The Chamber has started several new programs to promote Haskell both as a retail trade center and as a cultural center. In addition to aggressive retail business promotions, the Chamber is also sponsoring a night Christmas parade which last year drew over 8,000 spectators and a Country Dinner Theatre. This year's Christmas parade is scheduled for December 3 at 6 p.m. and will feature over 50 floats and approximately 800 participants. The Country Dinner Theatre is set for October 22 at 7:30 p.m.

The Chamber is also sponsoring a Community Chorus which includes about 100 local singers. Their next performance is November 12 and will feature a country theme.

All in all, we hope your visit in Haskell this weekend is enjoyable, that you have a good time while here and a safe trip home.

Booster Club Honors Sophomore Athletes

The Haskell Booster Club met Tuesday night and honored the sophomore athletes. A good number of both athletes and boosters was present.

After presenting the film from the Stamford game, Coach Blue Holt commented that the Quanah team is big and fast. He said we will "give it our best." Doug Lanier will be out with an injury.

Next week at the meeting the freshmen will be honored. And for that meeting the JV game with Hamlin Thursday night will be filmed for viewing.

All Indian fans are asked to wear their gold caps or something gold to the games. The caps will be sold at the gate as well as small banners for 50¢.

The Booster Club appreciates the support of the townspeople. All proceeds from the sale of various items, of course, goes back to the students in the form of equipment and the All Sports Banquet in the spring.

The Fish Fry is slated for Thursday night, October 13. Tickets will be $4.

Five Vie For HHS Homecoming Queen

Five Haskell High School students are vying for Homecoming Queen honors.

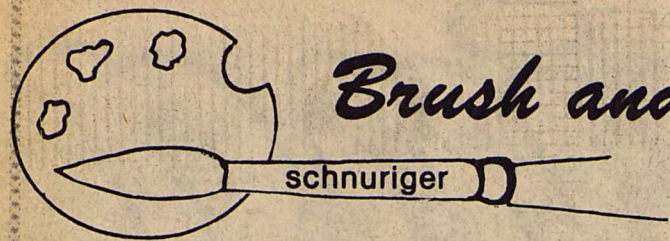

Representing the classes are ninth grade—Kelli Gilliam; sophomore—DeShawn Lewis; junior—Michele Stout and senior—Loretta Payne. Deborah Rodriguez will represent FHA.

The Homecoming Queen will be announced at half time Sept. 30.

Texas isn't Vermont or New Hampshire! You will not find the same foliage in Texas as you drive along the highways. Texas does have such a beautiful, colorful autumn season. After the first frost sometime in October through Thanksgiving the colors will be brighter so plan to take a drive to enjoy the colors. Get out your Texas map, roll down the car windows and inhale the delightful autumn fresh air. Take along a picnic lunch and stop along the side roads to enjoy the scenic spots. Drive toward Possum Kingdom Dam, Albany and Breckenridge - there will be some great places to stop and make pictures, sketch and rest to enjoy the scenery. Do not leave home without your camera and sketch book!

Q. As an artist what are you concerned with; what affects you most in relation to your work?

A. The lack of interest in fellow artists to increase their education in art. Everything about living should concern the artist. As long as you are thinking, only sleep breaks the cycle. A constant editing and self-analysis begins to bring out those experiences which most reflect one's individual being.

Q. What other interests do you have outside of painting?

A. Church, the family, study, travel, and reading.

Q. What advice can you give a young student fresh out of art school?

A. Draw most of the time, there is no substitute for draftsmanship. Have courage, take disappointments and frustrations. Remember that recognition and success are not easy. A young artist can cease to develop if he sells his work too soon. Finally, when the recognition comes, hold on to the values and ideals that you believed in as a student.

Q. When you devote so much time to painting, how do you avoid repetitions in your work?

A. Avoiding habits, I suppose. Some ways of doing things have almost become second nature to me. I visit galleries and area shows, which give me new ideas and an insight as to how others are changing style in their art.

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Belyeu, Kretschmer

Lori Renee Kretschmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Kretschmer, and Billy Wayne Belyeu, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Paul Belyeu were united in marriage on Saturday, September 24, in a double ring ceremony at 5:00 p.m. at East Side Baptist Church in Haskell.

The Rev. Darrell Feemister performed the candlelit ceremony inside a semi-circle of candles held by oval shaped brass candleabra. Two large sprays of greenery were used at the front of the church. The pews were marked by white bows and hibiscus flowers.

The wedding ceremony began with John Wayne McDermott singing "The Twelfth of Never" as the candles were lit by Billy Wootan, cousin of the bride and Kerry Belyeu, cousin of the bride. They were also ushers.

After the grandparents and the mothers of the bride and groom were seated, Mrs. Teresa New sang "Follow Me".

When the bride had been given in marriage by her parents, Mrs. New sang "Because". She accompanied herself. Before vows were exchanged Mr. McDermott sang "The Wedding Song". After the couple were pronounced man and wife, Mr. McDermott sang "The Wedding Prayer". He was accompanied by Mrs. Martha Jarred. Mrs. Jarred played the processional and the recessional.

Guests were registered in the foyer as they arrived by Mrs. Connie Darden of Abilene. The registry table was a white cloth with a deep eyelet ruffled border and an eyelet round over cloth. On the table was a white plume pen, the bride's book, brass candle stick, and a love poem.

Escorted down the aisle by her father the bride wore an original gown of chiffon and chantilly lace. The full shirt was adorned with scalloped chantilly lace at the hemline and fell into a chapel length train trimmed with chantilly lace. The gown featured a Victorian bodice covered with chantilly lace, studded with seed pearls, and topped with a stand-up collar of lace. The long tight sleeves were of chiffon, appliqued with chantilly lace. Her finger-tip veil of sheer illusion was edged in wide chantilly lace sprinkled with sequins and seed pearls. It was held at the crown by a matching lace capelet. The bride's bouquet was made up of white spider mums and pale yellow roses.

Around Town

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Workman from Santa Anna, Calif. and Claude L. Thomas also from Santa Anna, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Bob Brown of Ft. Worth, Mrs. Grady Brown of Amarillo and Mrs. Edna Fouts visited Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Turnbow.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Riley enjoyed a pleasant weekend visiting with many friends attending the annuitant party of the Amoco Pipe Line Co. which was in Nocona. Mr. Riley worked forty-four years for the Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Turnbow and Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Aycock all of Haskell attended the funeral of Henry Brown of Killen Sat. Sept. 17. Mr. Brown was the brother of Mrs. Turnbow.

College News

Toby Villa of Haskell has been named to the staff of The Western Texan, campus newspaper at Western Texas College.

John Moesch of Roby will be editor for the newspaper this fall, with Jana Harris of Ozona serving as associate editor. Darla Doty is journalism instructor at WTC.

The Western Texan is published biweekly throughout the school year.

It cascaded down with a trailing vine of rambling mini roses in white and pale yellow. Yellow ribbon and white lace streamers were used.

The something new was her wedding gown. Something blue was her garter. For something borrowed she wore a diamond pendant necklace belonging to her aunt, Mrs. Lesley Wootan. For something old the bride wore diamond stud earrings that originally belonged to her great-great-grandmother, the late Mrs. Martha Gaston. Her father placed sixpence in her shoe.

The maid of honor was Ms. Jane Miller of Sweetwater. She wore a gown of pale yellow polyester crepe with a high Victorian neckline. The yoke was inset with candlelight lace and the long tight sleeves were trimmed with lace. In her hair she wore a spray of baby's breath with a sweetheart rose. She carried a long stemmed yellow rose with baby's breath, trimmed with lace and ribbon streamers in yellow.

The flower girl, Niki Farrar, cousin of the groom, wore a long dress of pale yellow dotted swiss trimmed with lace and ribbons. She wore a circlet of yellow peach blossoms and baby's breath with yellow ribbons in her hair. She carried a white wicker basket trimmed with yellow peach blossoms and yellow and white ribbon streamers, and filled with rose petals.

The bride's mother wore a dress of cream organza mist with gold accessories. She wore a spray of miniature blush colonial roses and baby's breath in her hair.

The groom's mother wore a dress in tones of blue with blue accessories. She wore a shoulder corsage of sweetheart roses.

The groom was attired in a beige suit. His boutonniere was a yellow rose with baby's breath.

Best man was Billy Paul Belyeu, father of the groom. The groom's attendants and the bride's father were all attired in shades of brown. Their boutonniere's were yellow roses with baby's breath.

A reception was hosted by the bride's parents in the Fellowship Hall of the church, immediately following the ceremony.

The bride's table was draped in a white cloth with lace inserts and overlaid with a tulle over cloth which had a deep lace border. The overcloth was drawn up with white ribbons and lace bells. Renee's cake was a 4-tiered cake with pineapple filling. The cake was decorated with pale yellow and white miniature roses, hibiscus and springeria.

Punch was laded from a brass punch bowl and nuts and mints were served from brass appointments. The centerpiece was done in the bride's chosen colors on a brass candle stick. The flowers in the arrangement were yellow mums lightly tipped in brown and yellow and white peony roses, hibiscus, trumpet vine and vanda orchids.

A table draped in soft white with a hand tatted overcloth was set up for a coffee service and a brass samavoir was used to serve coffee. A spray of yellow and brown poppies and candleabra was the centerpiece.

Five guest tables draped in white with eyelet round overcloths and a flower arrangement with candlelight were there for the guest's convenience. Under The Rainbow catered the reception.

The bride chose slacks and blouse in shades of gray for a traveling outfit.

The bride is a 1983 graduate of Haskell High School and has attended T.S.T.I. in Sweetwater. The groom is a 1981 graduate of Commanche and a 1983 graduate of T.S.T.I. in Sweetwater. The couple will make their home in Abilene.

Before the rehearsal on Friday, Sept. 23, a dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at Kountry Kookin.

On August 27, a shower honoring the couple was held at the Mt. Pleasant Baptist Church in Commanche. The bride's chosen colors of yellow and browns were used in the table decorations. Hostesses were the ladies of the church.

Denmark Student Visits In Haskell

The decision to visit for several weeks in a foreign country would be an easy one for most people, but the decision to live in the home of a strange family and attend a new school for a year caused several anxious moments for Klaus Nielsen, 17, of Sorring Denmark.

Klaus is intrigued with the thought of being a foreign exchange student in the U.S. following the completion of the equivalent of high school in Denmark. After corresponding with the Duward Campbell family in Haskell and making final arrangements, he was on his way. It was during the trip that the second thoughts began.

Klaus now admits that he is glad that he didn't change his mind and is enjoying Haskell very much.

He arrived in Haskell August 10 and is one of about 750 students in the U.S. with the exchange program. He emphasized the strict requirements for staying in the program and cited as examples the requirements of passing all school work, not driving a vehicle and not violating drug laws.

Klaus is doing fine in school according to teachers at HHS. His schedule includes classes in typing, American History, journalism, vocational agriculture, home and family living and athletics. He shows a big grin and readily admits that typing English is considerably different than Danish, which has 29 letters in their alphabet. He also enjoys telling a story about his difficulties during the first few days of American History when students were required to memorize the preamble to the U.S. Constitution.

Even though Klaus participated in soccer, handball, badmitten and track in Denmark, he says that watching his first football game was a highlight of his first few weeks in Haskell.

In addition to seeing his first rodeo, learning to water ski, attending a country and western dance and working on a farm, he cites his first dove hunt as another thrill. When asked about the hunt, he grins and replies, "I got eight dove but don't tell how many shells I had to use".

Klaus is the tenth exchange student the Campbell's have kept during the past several years. He is only the second foreign student and is the first boy. During the years the students staying in the Campbell's home have resulted in friendships throughout the U.S. and almost 35 visitors had come to Haskell as a result of the students.

Haskell JV Defeats Stamford 26-6

BY ROBERT IVEY
The Haskell JV demolished Stamford 26-6 in their fourth game of the year.

The JV started off early with Kendall Larned going in for the first points of the game. The second score of the night came on a 15-yard gallop by Johnny Castillo.

After two quarters of play the Indians had a comfortable 12-0 lead.

They came out smoking in the second half with Sammy Baker recovering a fumble which set up the next score.

Joel Torres then swept around right end to make the score 18-0.

Late in the fourth quarter Felipe Arredondo went in for the last score. Larned then ran in for two.

Stamford finally got on the board in the last minutes of the game. The JV defense played hard all night with Arredondo and Baker coming up with the big plays.

"We had our best defensive game of the young season this week, limiting Stamford to a few first downs.

"The offense made a big improvement from last week. The line blocked well and the backs ran tough. That's what it takes to have a big win,"

THE BEST IN MEAT, CUT THE WAY YOU WANT IT

Dream Evolving To Reality

BY DON COMEDY
CO-CHAIRMAN PUBLICITY COMMITTEE
HASKELL MEMORIAL
CIVIC CENTER

Building a Civic Center in Haskell has been a major topic of discussion in Haskell since I moved here in 1970 and probably before that.

This past year the discussion has evolved into concrete action and definite plans and activities dedicated to accomplishing this goal.

This is a special week in Haskell with the celebration of Homecoming. A portion of the Homecoming program will discuss the Civic Center but Homecoming will not be dominated by the Civic Center. The Civic Center has been discussed at several Homecomings and we want to bring you up to date on recent developments.

As residents of Haskell and as visiting exes we must not forget that this facility is not a Homecoming project...not a project to seduce dollars from ex-students for the benefit of Haskell and certainly not a project for residents of Haskell to ignore simply because they did not graduate from Haskell High School.

Foremost in our minds, we must all realize that a memorial Civic Center in Haskell is just that! A memorial to the past for the benefit of the living.

This project must be the joint effort of ex-students, ex-residents and Haskell natives as well as newcomers to Haskell who all agree that together we can accomplish a common goal.

Never in the recent history of Haskell have we had the opportunity to band together in a common goal with such a great potential benefit to us all. The uses of a Civic Center are unlimited and virtually every segment of our community will directly benefit from the proposed facility.

At the same time we must realize that in any undertaking of this magnitude that there will be differences of opinion. In most instances these differences will be solved by compromising our personal opinions but not the overall goal and a better facility will be the result. What we must not forget is that we should not fight the majority simply because we disagree with one or two very small details of the complete project.

As we consider our personal needs as individuals for this Civic Center, let us keep open minds toward the end result which we should be working toward.

Consider if you will, that this undertaking is a project for Haskell, to be accomplished by Haskell people whether they be ex-students of Haskell or residents who have moved here because they like our city. Each in turn has a deep love for our town and want it to be the best.

Another important consideration is that the present plans for the Civic Center are not etched in stone but have been adopted as guidelines for the facility. Current estimates indicate that about $350,000.00 will be needed to complete the facility as proposed. The proposed auditorium will seat about 550 people and the combination banquet area and meeting room portion will include four separate meeting rooms (three of which may be opened forming one room). With the three meeting rooms opened to form one, sufficient space is available to serve about 750 persons at a banquet. Additional funds above the goal will provide a larger facility or a facility with better equipment and furnishings.

In the end we all benefit in direct proportion to what we give, not what we have given just in dollars but in support and assistance.

If you have any questions or comments concerning the Civic Center, please discuss it with one of the officers or directors. Your input and opinions are just as important as your cash donation and will be given serious consideration.

First Drive Starts For Civic Center

The Advance Gifts Division of the fund campaign for the Haskell Memorial Civic Center and its kickoff Tuesday September 20 at the Community Room of the Haskell National Bank, with Mattie Muriel Felker, Division Director, presiding.

This is one of four divisions in an all-out campaign to raise the needed funds, according to fund drive coordinator Wanda Dulaney. Other divisions are Residential, Rural, and Business, with their kickoffs scheduled in early October.

The Advance Gifts Division will call on prospects who have already indicated they will give $1000 or more, or who have a known history of generous giving.

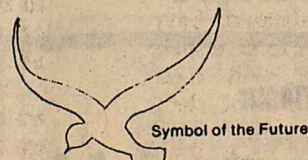

Mrs. Felker has chosen a team of strong leaders who are dedicated to this purpose and who are willing to give their time and service to further the cause. These include the following members of the Special Gifts Division of the Civic Center Association: Mr. and Mrs. Royce Adkins, Dr. and Mrs. Bill Kemp, Mr. and Mrs. R.W. Herren, and Mr. and Mrs. Viars Felker and the following other community leaders: Mr. and Mrs. Ben Charlie Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Toliver, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Biard, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hester, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Desmond Dulaney, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Diggs, Mrs. R. The workers will make personal contacts to make giving more convenient for each donor. The contributors and amounts of donations will be published in the Haskell Free Press and the results of the efforts of the Advance Gifts Division announced at Homecoming.

He also added that the proposed construction of a new post office directly across the street from the Civic Center site should also enhance the property. Couch and members of the board also expressed their thanks to the members of the Council for offering the property in support of the project. Board members also heard reports on four fund drives. Mattie Muriel Felker reported on the advance gifts drive which is already underway and reports on the residential, business, and rural drives were heard.

Residential Campaign

The most personal part of the all-out campaign to raise funds to build the Civic Center will be that of the Residential Division, in which volunteer workers will visit every home in this community so that each family will have an opportunity to be a part of its reality.

Jerrene Couch, director of the Residential Division, says that some seventy-five solicitors will be giving of their time and energies in behalf of this effort, willing to serve because they share a dream of so many.

The Residential Campaign will have its kickoff on Oct. 3 at 7:00 p.m. at the Community Room, Haskell National Bank where workers will receive their campaign materials. Among these are pledge cards and a Civic Center brochure which will be given to each family that includes a floor plan of the center, the list of members of the Civic Center Association, the fund campaign structure and questions and answers most commonly voiced about a civic center.

The Residential Campaign will be completed during the month of October, Mrs. Couch said, and the names and donations of all who contribute published in the Haskell Free Press at the end of the drive except any who might prefer to remain anonymous.

Advance Gifts

Although the workers of the Advance Gifts Division, Mattie Muriel Felker, director, have only just begun their campaign, some have completed their calls and report collections of very generous gifts. The workers have been asked to finish their drive by Sept. 29 so the results can be announced at Homecoming and printed in next week's Haskell Free Press.

"We chose workers who are dedicated, busy people who will always find the time to give their services to something worthwhile, and their acceptance of this effort is indicative of their desire for a civic center," Mrs. Felker said.

Donations in this category are exceeding all expectations, with many contributors expressing appreciation for the personal contact by the workers and the printed materials describing the proposed Civic Center, its uses, its operation.

Workers in the Advance Gifts Division are reminded to complete their solicitations not later than Sept. 29 and to make their report to Mrs. Felker, on or before that date.

Rural Campaign

Rick Perry, director of the Rural Division for the Civic Center Fund Campaign, stated that his workers will call on every family in the outskirts of Haskell, starting at the City Limits.

"Our prospects are further apart and cover the largest territory in the campaign, but we plan to go to every house so that none will be missed in an opportunity to give to something so important to all of us," Perry added.

Such extensive coverage is made possible by asking hard workers to unite in canvassing the entire area. The solicitors will be leaders who are well known and want to cooperate in the all-out effort to raise the necessary funds.

Kickoff for the Rural Division, Perry said, will be in early October.

Business Division

Charles Thornhill, director, has announced that the Business Division for the citywide fund campaign will have its orientation and kickoff meeting on Monday October 3 at 6:30 p.m. at the Haskell Chamber of Commerce office.

After their indoctrination, campaign workers will call on all places of business in Haskell to give owners and managers an opportunity to make their company contribution to the Civic Center.

"We will not be soliciting donations from employees, as they will be contacted by workers from the Residential Division at their homes," Thornhill said.

Thornhill expressed confidence that merchants will be generous due to both their civic pride and the knowledge that a civic center will bring conventions and other large delegations to Haskell and therefore increase business.

Campaign coordinator Wanda Dulaney said the Business District will be the second division to begin its solicitations, preceded by the Advance Gifts Division, Mattie Muriel Felker, director, which had its kickoff this past week, and immediately preceding the Residential Kickoff, Jerrene Couch, director, at 7:00 on Oct. 3. Director of the Rural Division Rick Perry said his workers will begin their drive in early October.

Board Names School After Ima Dell Fitzgerald

A woman who likes to teach, who is asked to teach frequently and who has taught in Arlington since 1954 will be the namesake of an elementary school planned in southeast Arlington.

Tuesday, the Arlington Independent School District board of trustees voted unanimously to name the new school after Ima Dell Fitzgerald.

Joe Jesko, board member and chairman of a naming committee, made the recommendation to honor Fitzgerald, who, he said, had taught first grade for 49 years and "either deserves a purple heart or a school named after her."

Jesko also said Fitzgerald was one of eight to 10 nominees who were nominated either officially or casually. While the committee was limited to considering only those nominated through channels, he said she was the best candidate by far. Before teaching here, she also taught 27 years in Haskell.

But Fitzgerald, who is 75, still teaches today. She retired in May 1977, but she has continued to teach in a substitute role.

Morton Elementary Principal Jimmy Galey said the first thing he did when hearing of Fitzgerald's retirement was to ask her to be a substitute at Morton. Sixty-eight at the time of her retirement, Fitzgerald has worked as a substitute every year since and has not missed one. She is currently working on her 28th year with the AISD.

"She is special," Galey said of Fitzgerald, whom he met in 1970.

"She's an exception (in the teaching profession)," he said. She is unique, he said, because "I have never seen a child she didn't know how to handle or teach. She just has that gift."

Galey said, however, that he cannot get her to substitute as much as he would like. With her reputation and a limit on the number of days a substitute can teach during the year, he said it is tough to get her late in the year. "She's in such demand, she uses up her (days) every year," he said.

Monroe McConnell

Monroe H. McConnell, formerly of Haskell, sports columnist for The San Diego Union for 22 years and sports editor for eight, died recently at St. Paul's Health Clinic, a rest home. He was 81. McConnell, a burly bear of a man who, in the words of E. Robert Anderson, an editorial associate and former president of Copley News Service, "lived everything he wrote," suffered from Parkinson's disease the past three years. McConnell was with The Union from 1924 to 1946, succeeding the late Ted Steinman as sports editor in 1938. After leaving the newspaper, he was a public relations and advertising manager for the three sportfishing landings — Fisherman's, Point Loma and H&M — on San Diego Bay. He was credited with building the then small sportfishing industry into a billion-dollar operation attracting dozens of sportfishing craft and thousands of fishermen each season.

After 12 years with the landings, he retired and devoted his later years to volunteer work with the San Diego County Fish and Game Association. He published a news bulletin for the organization, organized its first trap range and served on the board of directors.

He was chosen "Sportsman of the Year in San Diego" by SDCFGA in 1969.

For years McConnell was a key figure in "The Thirteen Hunters," an elite group of friends and deer hunters formed in 1938 and disbanded two years ago when all regarded themselves too old to hunt effectively.

Each year the 13 compared their trophies, and the one with the smallest spread became the host at the annual banquet. McConnell won his share and never did have to pick up the tab.

A robust 215-pounder, McConnell was a crack shot with rifle and shotgun and an exceptional fisherman pitted against either yellowtail or brown trout.

McConnell was born Feb.

14, 1902, in Haskell. His father was a West Texas Circuit judge. Monroe was a graduate of West Texas Military Academy in San Antonio and attended the University of Texas in Austin. He was a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

He leaves his wife, Blossom Lusk McConnell of Pacific Beach, a daughter, Nina Winn of Orange, and four granddaughters, Shirley, Julia, Alicia and Michelle.

Private funeral services were at 3 p.m. Thursday at Greenwood Memorial Park and Mortuary. Mrs. McConnell asks that remembrances be in the form of donations to the Home of Guiding Hands, 10025 Los Ranchitos Rd., Lakeside, CA, 92114.

Mrs. Ollie Hallmark

Funeral services for Mrs. Ollie Nollner Hallmark, 84, of Midland, formerly of Haskell, were held recently. She died Sept. 23 at Midland Hospital. Born in Stone Co. Arkansas May 9, 1899, she moved to this area in 1905 and moved to Odessa in 1935.

Survivors include: husband, J.M. Hallmark of Midland, one daughter, Doris Fly; one son, Charles of Las Vegas, NV.; 6 grandchildren and 6 great grandchildren.

Hydrogen fuel search takes another step forward at Texas A&M

COLLEGE STATION—The search for technology to make hydrogen fuel commercially competitive with other fuels has taken another step forward at Texas A&M University with the awarding of a $150,000 grant from the National Science Foundation.

The support will allow continuation of hydrogen fuel studies being conducted by researchers working under internationally acclaimed electrochemist Dr. John Bockris.

Under Bockris' leadership, the researchers are investigating a method to efficiently obtain hydrogen from ordinary water using solar power and a centuries-old technique called electrolysis to split water molecules.

Hypnosis becoming more common in police investigations

COLLEGE STATION—More and more police agencies have begun using hypnosis to help solve crimes, says a law enforcement training specialist at Texas A&M University.

"We often get a great deal more information from a witness who submits to hypnosis than we ordinarily would," said Bill McKoy of the Texas Engineering Extension Service's Law Enforcement and Security Training Division. The division has been teaching law enforcement officers to use hypnosis for the past three years.

McKoy said witnesses and victims often suffer shock and trauma from an incident and push memories of it down into the subconscious level of their minds.

He said a rape victim can often remember many more details while hypnotized and doesn't have to relive the traumatic incident.

"Many people fail to realize that we all experience hypnosis everyday, when we are going to sleep and waking up," McKoy said. "During those times, a person passes through the same brain rhythm cycle that occurs in hypnosis."

Haskell Sales Tax Leads Area Receipts

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Wednesday sent checks totaling $41.1 million in local sales tax payments to the 974 cities that levy the one-percent city sales tax.

"Last September, we were reporting the biggest allocation based on a single month's tax collections in the history of our state," Bullock said. "This month, with sales tax receipts running about one percent behind last year, shows us just how fast things can change."

Houston received the largest check—$7.2 million—bringing that city's nine-month 1983 total to $102.7 million, 10 percent below the same period last year. Dallas' check was $5.2 million, for a $62.8 million yearly total, up 6 percent. San Antonio received $2.5 million, making its yearly total $31.1 million, an 8 percent increase.

Austin's September payment of $1.6 million pushed its total to $20.6 million, a 14 percent gain from last year. Fort Worth's check for $1.2 million brought that city's 1983 total to $19.6 million, up more than 4 percent.

El Paso received $1 million for a year's total of $11.6 million, a drop of 8 percent.

Bullock also sent checks to the state's two Metropolitan Transit Authorities. Houston's MTA payment was $8.9 million, bringing the 1983 total to $117.4 million. San Antonio's MTA check was for $1.2 million for a 1983 total of $17.1 million, up more than 9 percent from 1982.

September checks were for taxes collected on sales made in July and reported to the Comptroller by the end of August.

Study Team To Visit Haskell

General Telephone's special service and study teams will be in Haskell on Friday, September 30, to analyze telephone service in Haskell and the surrounding area and visit with customers, according to Eric Boren, local manager for the company.

"The company has arranged for employees to be on hand from 10:00 A.M. to 4:00 P.M. at the Corral Building, County Fair Grounds, to discuss telephone service issues with customers on an individual basis. In addition, a few employees will be visiting with local businesses regarding their telephone service." Boren added, "We invite anyone to drop by the Corral Building or call 864-3842 should they have an individual telephone service concern. This will enable us to isolate and correct any particular problem areas."

Boren concluded, "Occasionally we like to go into a community and meet with customers on a one-to-one basis as we know this will result in improved customer satisfaction."

SCRAMBLED EGG AT FAIR OLYMPICS

An Open Letter To Haskell

A sirloin and sausage barbecue was the grande finale to a month of celebrating for the Rice Springs Care Home 20th anniversary.

The month began with an employee appreciation, followed by a volunteer recognition day complete with ice cream, in honor of all our volunteers.

Next came a gala open house at which time we even enjoyed a refreshing rain shower from the heavens. Toe tapping music by the Country Band was enjoyed and a bountiful table of refreshments was on hand for everyone.

Then on Sunday, September 25th, Rice Springs Care Home was host to all the residents and their families, all employees and their families and invited guests to an old-fashioned, western Barbeque. We were thrilled to the response and attendance. As with any occasion, we sincerely hope we did not overlook any of our friends, but our apology is extended if you were not one of the many participants in our anniversary event.

Among our special guests were Congressman Charles Stenholm of Stamford and Representative Joe C. Hanna of Breckenridge. Their welcomed words of wisdom were enjoyed by some five hundred persons.

A special presentation by the home, of the New Testament and Psalms on cassette for all residents use, was given in memory of Florence Henderson, longtime employee who had taken the "family" of Rice Springs Care Home as her own.

Nursing Homes are one of the most misunderstood industries and always a target of the media. We hope our celebrations have exposed the positive side of nursing homes to many people. Life is for the living, and love is for the giving. You will find life and love inside our walls.

Many thanks go to all who helped in any way to make our festivities successful. A very special thanks to Elna Weise for long hours of donated time in decorating the home and it's premises. Thank you to all anonymous talents for signs displayed also. To each committee chairman and those who worked with you our thanks. A special Thank You to the men who cooked the steaks and sausage.

Rice Springs re-cycles over $7000,000 back into our community annually through trade with local merchants and a $400,000 annual payroll which the majority goes back into spending in the community. Haskell is the finest location to be, with all the good people in Haskell. Rice Springs is proud to be a part of Haskell and we treasure all our friends who are proud of Rice Springs Care Home.

Froggie Wankan & Friends To Host Annual Breakfast

Fred E. (Froggie) Wankan has advised the Free Press and friends that he and his wife Mary Owen will attend the Haskell High School Homecoming this year. The Committee in charge of Froggies Breakfast has already made arrangement for this semi-annual event to be held at 7:30 a.m. Saturday morning October 1. Fred is bringing the Tennessee Country Ham and the Calloway Garden Georgia Speckled Grits to be served at the Kountry Kooking Restaurant.

Fred states he hopes to meet any of class mates and school mates who went to school with him between 1904 and November 1909 to meet him there for breakfast. It will be necessary to make arrangements with Mrs. Gaines Post Secretary of the "Froggies Breakfast" Association by September the 15th. The tickets are $3.75 each.

After leaving Haskell in November 1909 Fred attended Polytechnic College in Ft. Worth, a Methodist College that later was merged into Southern Methodist at Dallas. He received his law degree from Cumberland University in 1916 and had a career in law in his native county of Cooke. He served as Assistant County Attorney, County Attorney in his own right and in the general practice of law.

Fred also had a career in the newspaper publishing business. He started his newspaper career with the McKinney Texas and later published two Collin County weeklies, the Princeton News and the Plano Star-Courier.

Fred was on the lecture platform for several years while the practiced law and in 1929 became co-publisher of the Morning Call in Laurel Mississippi. In early 1930 he consolidated the Morning Call with the Laurel Daily Leader the afternoon daily. It is published now as the Leader-Call. Later that year he sold his interest in this paper and purchased the Weekly Post-Athenian of Athens, Tenn. In 1931 he turned this in to a Daily and is now published as the Daily Post Athenian. After 10 years he sold this paper and after a trip to Mexico to study the Civilization of the Aztec, which he became interested in while in Haskell High School. He has traveled extensively in Mexico, Central America, and South America exploring the ruined cities of the Aztecs, Maya, and other Mesoamerican Cultures and Photographing their ruins and has written articles on these cultures. He has also been to Peru to photograph the ruined cities of the Incas.

In 1946, after serving 4 years as State Photographer of Tenn., and Educational Supervisor for the Tenn. Department of Conservation, he and his wife founded the Cher-O-Kee Photofinishers in his home town of Athens, Tenn. This soon was expanded to plants in Memphis, New Orleans and Atlanta. All those plants became a part of the Fox-Stanley Photo Products Inc. in 1965 and Fred remained active with the Fox Company until 1980 when he retired from active service but was retained as a consultant on Photofinishing. Fox is a San Antonio based Company one of the largest independent Photofinishing companies in the U.S.

Fred Wankan at 92 (will be 93 the 5th of Feb. 1984) is active in the Kiwanis Club, Keith Memorial United Methodist Church and still travels and makes pictures of sections he is interested in. His wife Mary Owen Wilhoite Wankan is a Nashville, Tenn. lady. Fred and Mary Owen were married in 1944. He served as President of the Athens, Tenn. Chamber of Commerce in 1955 and headed up the United Way in 1956.

Fred organized a calvary troop in Cooke County, Texas the latter part of World War I and served as First Lt. of Calvary in National Guard of Texas. Prior to that he organized the First Boy Scout troop in Gainesville, and worked in Red Cross work extension the first year of America's entry in to the conflict.

Fred is the grandson of the late George Miller of Haskell and a nephew of the late Mrs. Haynes Hambleton and Mrs. Iron Pearsy of Haskell. He is a first cousin of the late Leon Pearsy, Velma Hambleton Potts of Lubbock, and Joyce Nell Hambleton Woods also of Lubbock.

When in Haskell High School Fred was active in athletics and the Literary and Debating Clubs. He was also active in the Sunday School and Epworth League of the Methodist Church when Bruce Meador was pastor of the Haskell Church.

Class Of 1920 Graduates 10

On the evening of Friday, May 21, 1920, Haskell High School held its Commencement Ceremonics for the Senior Class at the Methodist Church. There were five girls and five boys in that class.

The members had been quite active in all school activities and, as Seniors, had taken on the very sizable job of editing and publishing a school year book or Annual to be called "The Thistle". It had never been done before in this school and for such a small class, it was a mammoth undertaking. History records that "The Thistle" was published and that it was a most commendable job.

Of the ten members of this class, ten went on to attend college and seven received their degrees. Many of them lived and worked in widely separated parts of the country, some of whom returned to this area after their retirement. Others remained living here all their lives.

There was a 20 year reunion held at Turkey Bend in June 1940 and eight members attended. Also, there was another reunion held in Haskell during October 1971 after 51 years and seven members attended. Now after 63 years, the youngest is past 80 and half are still living:

Laverne Cummins Regan-Nashville, Tennessee; Hill Oates-Haskell; Gaines Post-Haskell; Cedric Sanders-Los Gatos, California; Lucille Taylor Sherrill-Abilene.

Those deceased are: Annie Kate Ferguson, Sam Chitwood, Verna Oates Wilson-Haskell; Davie Maud Cummins Pumphrey-Fort

Worth; Ed Sprowls-Anson. For a senior class from a small West Texas town in the early 1920's, this one does not seem to have done too badly.

Letters To The Editor

Dear County Commissioners:

I visited your County Fair on Saturday, September 24, 1983, and found it most enjoyable. Your exhibits were very attractive; the food was excellent; and the animals exhibited were as pretty as I have seen anywhere, but the rest room facilities that were provided for your visitors and guests were deplorable. I can hardly believe that you would open a County Fair with such conditions existing in the ladies rest room. The ladies' room in the Exhibit Building was blocked by a table so I am assuming that that rest room was out of order and the other one outside was so filthy and unsanitary that I left the fairgrounds on two separate occasions to use other facilities. When you receive this letter, go look at the rest room facilities that you offered to your visitors and guests and see if you are not in total agreement and feel somewhat embarrassed. I do hope that before your County Show that is held the first part of 1984 that you feel it necessary to appropriate whatever it takes to present First Class rest room facilities to go along with the rest of your show.

Yours truly,
Janice Courtney

Dear Mr. Couch:

Enclosed is my check for $25.00 which I would like to have credited to the graduating class of 1914.

Until 1914 I believe that ours was the smallest class to graduate from Haskell High. There were five of us, one girl, Ivia Simms, four boys, Robert Williams, Bailey Collins, Joe Thomas and myself.

I have many pleasant memories of my earlier days of life in Haskell, from 1906 to 1923. As I have previously informed you, I was employed by the Haskell National Bank from 1914 to 1923, when I resigned from my position as Asst. Cashier in order to move to California. I have resided in that state ever since that time.

I wish you much success in your efforts to raise enough funds to create a civic center of which all residents and former residents will be proud.

Very truly yours,
Fred E. Mauldin

Conservation Viewpoints

M.W. Phemister of Weinert was reelected president of the Rolling Plains Association of Conservation districts of Area 5 of Texas in a meeting held September 26 on the Lamshead Ranch between Throckmorton and Albany. Marvin has been active in conservation for 14 years and vice-chairman of the Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District for the past 6 years.

The purpose of the association is to further the conservation of soil, water, and other natural resources and to strengthen local self government. There are 12 districts in the Rolling Plains Assoc. and 20 throughout the state.

Besides sponsoring the Conservation Poster Contest and Land and Pasture

Contests each year to help in the education of local young people, the Haskell SWCD also entered into a program promoting the use of farmstead windbreaks and assisted in securing some 2000 seedlings for windbreak plantings in 1983.

An election for Zone 5 of the Haskell SWCD will be held at 7:00 p.m. Tuesday, October 4, at the Haskell High School Ag. Building. Johnny Wheatley, present director for this zone encourages all land owners in the zone to participate.

Pirates Downed 58-12 By Lueders-Avoca

Two interceptions and two kickoffs returned for TD's by Lueders-Avoca buried the Pirates 58-12 Friday night.

The only bright spots in the Pirate offense were two touchdown passes thrown by Keith Medford, one to Ricky Myers and one to Rob Mickler. Excellent offensive blocking, combined with four carries for 51 yards earned Ronald Campbell the Offensive Pirate of the Week Award.

The JV was idle this week but meets Highland JV at Paint Creek this Friday at 6:00 p.m. to be followed by the Varsity game at 8:00 p.m.

The Junior High lost to Weinert Thursday night in a high scoring ballgame 54-28. Don Compton caught two TD passes from A.G. Gonzales. A.G. ran a kickoff back for a TD and made a 30-yard run for the other TD. Marty Guallindo kicked 2 PAT's to account for the other Paint Creek score. The Junior High meets Goree this Thursday at 5:30 at Goree.

Money Matters

A Series Of Informative "Plain Talk" Thoughts Regarding Your Money Matters

Bank By Mail

Most bank advertising tells you how to save money. In this ad we'd like to tell you how you can save some of your valuable time and also save some money in the process.

Gasoline prices are high and it's going to be a long wait before they get much lower. Saving a trip here and there can result in a considerable savings in the long run. A lot of people are handling many of their banking transactions through the mail. You can make deposits, loan payments, and several other bank transactions without ever having to leave home. Next time you're in the bank ask us about Banking By Mail.

Superintendent's Views

BY JAMES LANIER

Superintendent, Haskell ISD

This week, I will continue my explanation of the estimated budget expenditures for this year. We have already dealt with function 10 (instructional related), and part of function 30 (student services). This week we will continue through the remainder of function 30.

Co-curricular activities continue to be a part of student related activities. Co-curricular includes athletics, band, vo-ag, home economics, UIL literary, etc. The payroll portion of this function includes wages for gate keepers, sponsors of co-curricular activities and co-curricular bus drivers. We are estimating this cost at $7600. The contracted services under this function includes athletic officials, physicals, insurance, repairs, film, etc. We are estimating this cost at $10,400. We estimate supplies and materials at $7850. Our other operating expense which mainly includes travel, awards and gates due other teams is estimated at $25,700. Capital outlay in this category includes athletic equipment, band instruments, etc. and is estimated at $12,600. Our total in co-curricular is estimated at $64,150.

Another function under student services is food service. We are estimating the payroll at $44,500, contracted services including laundry at $1500, supplies and materials including food, milk, etc. at $60,000 and other operating expenses mainly travel at $1000. We are estimating capital outlay at $1000 for an estimated food service cost of $109,100. This brings the total for pupil services to $241,910.

Function 40 is school administration. We are estimating payroll cost at $69,184. Contracted services includes audit, our cost of the County Appraisal Office, data processing, equipment repair, etc. We are estimating this cost at $46,900. We are estimating supplies and materials at $1850. Our other operating expenses including dues and travel, advertisement, etc. is estimated at $4250. We are purchasing a new copy machine and therefore capital outlay in this function is estimated at $4000. The total for general administration comes to $126,184.

Debt service is another part of the 40 function. Our bond payment for this year will be $27,040 including service charges. We will pay off the last of our bonded debt in the school year 1986-87. Including this year, we have a remaining debt of $91,755.

Next week I will try to cover the last expenditure function and summarize the budget in a concluding column.

Haskell Fossilhound Known As 'Paleontological Missionary'

Editors Note: The following article about Joe Larned, formerly of Haskell, describes his fossil hunting avocation near his Bradley, Florida residence.

It's 7:00 Saturday morning. Most people are sleeping. But in this rural enclave seven miles south of Mulberry, the fossilhound of Bradley Junction is scratching away in another phosphate mine.

He is hunched over a small patch of mined earth. His calloused fingers, protruding from cut gardening gloves, search the gravel beneath him. Small green eyes stare down intently from behind black-rimmed glasses.

The fossilhound anticipates another find.

"Perhaps he will unearth the remains of another unknown animal species. Ten years ago he found one: the jaw of Hippurion Larnedi. Today, the bone from the prehistoric horse named after Joe Larned sits in the Florida State Museum in Gainesville. It is one of many fossils donated by this self-taught fossil expert who barely graduated high school.

But that boy with the C-minus average now spits out Latin fossils names the way baseball pitchers spit chewing tobacco. His dream now is to find what he calls the mother lode. He lives for it. It is his goal, his awaited ecstasy. His eyes widen at the mere thought of digging up a mass grave of animal bones millions of years old.

"The thrill of discovery is what it is," said the 64-year-old. "When you pick up a bone, that's not just a dry bone. When that animal died we weren't even on the drawing board."

The thrill of finding the remains of creatures that inhabited the earth millions of years ago began for Larned half a century ago. In a Texas desert, a scrawny teenager named Joe Arlos Larned dug up a 70-million-year-old shellfish.

Its timeless value sparked his perpetual awe and inquisitiveness. His questions never stopped, nor did his desire to dig fossils. His boyhood hobby blossomed into the 10,000-piece Bone Valley Fossil Museum in Bradley Junction.

Just east of State Road 37, it is the most extensive private collection of its kind in the state. Larned built the 30 by 50-foot bone house some 30 years ago and named it after the 50 square mile Central Florida area rich in fossil remains. Ten million years ago, the Bone Valley was a sea filled with marine life.

Schoolchildren, scout troops and tourists pass through the museum's wood-screened door every day. It is the envy of amateur fossil hunters throughout the state. And it has received kudos from the pros.

Inside are the bones that Larned has dug up from Polk phosphate mines. Shark teeth, some as big as soda cans, hang on the muraled walls. Whale vertebrae, rhinoceros bones, horse teeth and elephant molars fill glass display cases. Lifelike plaster of paris and cement models of the extinct animals represented by some of Larned's finds stand in a corner.

Just as Larned's museum has netted the respect of paleontologists — fossil experts — so too has his self-taught expertise.

"I would rank him as one of the great amateurs who came into the profession," said Dr. David Webb, senior paleontologist at the Florida State Museum in Gainesville and president of the National Society of Vertebrate Paleontology. "There's something very fascinating and brilliant about this man."

"He's a very good authority on fossils," said Dr. Howard Converse, a curator at the state museum and one of Webb's co-workers.

Webb has hunted with Larned for almost two decades. He labels him a "paleontological missionary," a man whose childlike enthusiasm for fossils has ignited the interest of a whole generation of bone hunters. He has an extraordinary memory, said Webb, and has "picked up an incredible amount of information."

"A man's brain is for the using," said Larned, now president-elect of the Florida Paleontological Society. "Mine is all self-taught."

When Larned began jumping into paleontology books some 30 years ago, he absorbed everything — from the dental patterns of extinct wolves and camels to the geology of the Florida peninsula.

"He's been in on almost every major discovery," said Webb, who in the past 10 years has identified and classified Larned's donations. Larned once dug up the whole skeleton of a rhinoceros — an extremely rare find, says Webb. Other contributions have included horse jaws and the fossil remains of a 5-million-year-old wolf.

The skull of a saber-toothed tiger, says Larned, can net $5,000 from a dealer, who can earn another $3,000 by selling priceless find to a collector. But even though Larned charges admission to the museum and $1.75 for homemade souvenir bags of sharks teeth and fossils, he puts science before cash.

"He would give a rare fossil to us instead of trying to sell it," said Converse. Tax deductions and museum certificates are what Larned and other fossil hunters receive for their finds.

But this fossil hunter never started scratching the earth for mere money. Since childhood, Larned has been an adventurer.

"He always had the wandering instinct," said Jack Larned, who lives in Texas. He's always had the daring instinct as well. The older Larned recounted how he was dancing about in the street one afternoon when he dared his teenage brother to hit him with a homemade dart.

"I threw that thing, and it just stuck in the calf of his leg," quipped the younger Larned with a touch of pride before doubling over in laughter.

Larned's dart-throwing capabilities are behind him now. And his family and friends alike are his admirers. They speak of his charisma. He has a temper and little patience with stupidity, they say. And he tends to boast. But his constant flow of one-line jokes make him fun to be around, friends say.

"His persistence would irritate some people," said Troy Cumming, a longtime friend and fellow fossil hunter.

Larned was born Feb. 16, 1919, in Douglas, Ariz. He and his five siblings spent only part of their childhood in that rural town across the street from Mexico. After the Depression began, Grover Larned, a farmer and "Laborer without a trade," moved his family to Haskell.

"We had pinto beans and corn bread for breakfast, pinto beans and biscuits for dinner and pinto beans and light bread for supper. We were dirt poor," said Larned, who missed school each fall picking cotton for $1 a day to help put the beans on the table. "I didn't graduate magna cum laude. I graduated, 'Laude, how cum?'"

His round, red face is tinged with fright as he recalls speaking at a junior-senior high school banquet dressed in a 75-cent sports jacket his mother had fished out of a rummage sale. "I left Texas hitchhiking with $3, a pocket comb and a toothbrush." Larned made it to Abilene, enlisted in the Air Force and became a flight engineer. As a boy, Larned lifted his mother's old-fashioned stove irons to build his body. And in the military, Larned had grabbed at the chance to stay in shape; he joined the Air Force tumbling team. Somewhat flamboyant and always happy to be the center of attraction, his acrobatics later pacified what one friend called the "frustrated entertainer" in him.

"We'd go to nightclubs, and he'd walk all the way around the dance floor on his hands," said Eula Larned, his wife of 40 years.

Larned met Eula Albritton on leave one weekend in Brewster, just south of Bradley.

"I thought he was nuts," says Eula, 62. "I couldn't fight him, so I joined him." By 1943, a wedding ring was on her finger and her slender frame was in a Polk County mine each weekend hunting for fossils. She sees it as recreation. But for her husband, the solitude of hunting fossils is "therapeutic."

"He's sort of a loner," says his silver-haired wife.

Mrs. Larned had married a man whose motto is: "You can do anything. All you got to do is just do it." She soon found herself carrying 2-by-4's and helping her husband build a 10-room home. Larned turned the few acres around the home into a mobile-home park. And he built a garage to work on tractors and farm equipment.

In 1950, he went to work as a mechanic for American Cyanamid, a Brewster mining company. Larned's supervisor, Adrian Galberaith, said he "was good." But he eventually had to decide between work and fossils. We'd send him off to work on equipment; he'd come back in three hours. And we'd claim he was off hunting fossils. That was his bag of beans," the former supervisor said.

In 1974, Larned chose the beans. He had earned both his pension and the nickname co-workers pinned on him — fossilhound.

With an income from the mobile-home park, Larned spent his time either digging new fossils or telling stories about old ones. He had converted his mechanics' garage into the home of his life's love. He had no choice. The fossils Larned had been collecting in the 1950's and 1960's had filled a bathtub, bedroom crates, patio shelves, a carport and a trailer. Larned towed the trailer to fossil conventions and schools around the state.

"He was a legend in those days. Everybody knew him. They had heard of the stuff he had," said Bill Brayfield, a fossil hunter for 15 years who lives near Venice.

Larned still eats pinto beans, but he doesn't worry about putting them on his table. In addition to income from his mobile-home park, he earns "good money" as a fossil collector for the Bureau of Land Management and as a fossil consultant for W.R. Grace & Co. "We're not spendthrifts, but we go where we want," says Larned, who has flown with his wife to Acapulco and the Bahamas to enjoy his second passion — sqauredancing.

Perhaps part of Larned's activity stems from his being the father of two daughters almost 20 years apart. Photos of Margie, 36, and Tracy, a 19-year-old college student, line the entire blue, cinder-block wall of the Larned's living room. A photo of Angie, his granddaughter who is only a year younger than Tracy, also hangs on the wall. Larned can sit for hours admiring his offspring. "I'm proud of my kids," he says.

Those kids are now adults, though, and Larned spends most of his time behind the curved glass counter of his museum. When it's not filled with visitors, he reads: "Anthropology, geology, paleontology — but not theology," says the man who received a Bible as a child for church attendance. Part of Larned's distaste for religion comes from "fanatics" who have visited his museum. One man, he said, told him his fossils were artifacts of the devil and threatened him to burn the museum. "He said the devil put them there to fool stupid people like me."

"I'm a paleontologist, not a creationist," says Larned. "People are like bovine. They'll believe anything. I'm a thinking man. Those animals lived. Those fossils are real. I dug 'em up."

The nation's first presidential mansion was at number one Cherry Street in New York City. The city served as the U.S. capital from 1789 to 1790.

TAX PLANNING

Written by Richard E. Rodgers, CPA

GROUP TERM LIFE INSURANCE

Within specified limits, a group life insurance plan offers tremendous tax advantages. In the first place, the premiums are currently deductible by the employer. Secondly, these premiums (on coverage up to $50,000) are tax free to the employees. Third, the proceeds are exempt from income tax to the beneficiary.

An employee who receives more than $50,000 of group-term life insurance from an employer must include in taxable income the value of the coverage in excess of $50,000 reduced by any contributions the employee makes toward the purchases of the insurance.

The executive can receive incidental family coverage tax free under a group plan up to $2,000 each on the lives of his or her spouse and children. This is in addition to the $50,000 tax-free coverage on his or her life. However, this extra coverage will be fully taxable if a spouse or child is insured in excess of $2,000. Reason: It would not then qualify as being merely incidental to the primary purpose of the plan-insurance protection covering the life of the employee.

Employees who continue to receive coverage after retirement are not taxable on that coverage even if it exceeds $50,000. Moreover, if an employee continues to work past age 64, the premium to be used to compute taxable income will be frozen to that applicable at age 64.

ESTATE TAX-Normally, the proceeds of a group-term policy are taxable in the employee's estate. If, under the insurance contract and state law, the employee can and more than three years before death does assign the policy (including the right to convert it to permanent life on leaving employment), the proceeds may be kept out of the employee's estate.

These and other fringe benefits should be considered in your compension package.
