Memorial Fund To Honor C.A. Thomas, Jr.

A memorial fund has been established in memory of C.A. Thomas, Jr. according to county agent Max Stapleton.

Contributions to the fund have already been received and according to Stapleton, the actual use of the money has not been decided upon.

The money will be used by the Haskell County Junior Livestock Association in memory of C.A. Thomas, Jr.

"He was a vital part of our Junior Livestock Association for many years and several people have suggested tribute as a memorial to him," said Stapleton.

Ideas currently under consideration include the establishment of a scholarship fund, building fund for the Livestock Exhibition Area, Special Livestock Show Award, and others.

All persons interested in contributing to the memorial fund or with suggestions concerning the use of the fund are asked to contact the County Extension Office at 864-2658.

A new state law requiring anyone selling a motor vehicle to furnish the buyer with an odometer statement goes into effect Jan. 1, 1984.

The odometer statement, disclosing the cumulative number of miles traveled by the motor vehicle at the time of transfer, must be surrendered to the County Tax Assessor-Collector with the purchaser's application for title.

All certificates of title issued by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation (DHT) covering vehicles transferred on and after Jan. 1, 1984, will record the latest odometer reading as reflected by the application for title.

USDA Sets 1983 Cotton Payment Rate

Eligible upland cotton farmers will receive deficiency payments at the rate of 12.1 cents per pound on their 1983 production, a U.S. Department of Agriculture official said today.

According to Everett Rank, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, the 1983 deficiency payment rate is equal to the difference between the target price of 76 cents per pound and the national average price of 63.9 cents per pound received by farmers during calendar year 1983.

Producers who participated in the 1983 upland cotton acreage reduction program are eligible to receive deficiency payments on a number of pounds equal to their cotton planted acres times their farm program yields.

Advance deficiency payments equal to 50 percent of the projected payments were made available to producers upon request. A total of about $300 million of advance deficiency payments were made. The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service will begin making the balance of the 1983 deficiency payments during the latter part of February. Total payments are estimated to be about $430 million, Rank said.

Most Area Sales Tax Receipts Fall 10-20%

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Friday sent checks totaling $105.4 million in local sales tax payments to the 980 cities that levy the one percent city sales tax.

Statewide, 1984 payments are running 2.57 percent ahead of last year. However, because of changes in reporting requirements that converted 15,000 small-and medium sized taxpayers from quarterly to monthly payment schedules, it is difficult to compare raw payment figures for 1984 with the same period last year, since what were quarterly payments last year are now spread over three months.

February's checks reflect sales made during the final, Christmas quarter of 1983 and reported to the Comptroller's office by January 20.

"Even with the bookkeeping changes, these payments reflect the recovery that is underway in our state economy," Bullock said. "When it's all said and done, Texans apparently had the best Christmas in our history in terms of retail sales."

Houston received the largest check—for $19.2 million—for a 1984 total of $27.4 million, down 3 percent from last year. Dallas' check for $12.6 million brought year-to-date payments to $18 million, up 5 percent.

San Antonio's payment was $6.6 million for a $9.1 million 1984 total, up 14 percent. Austin's February check for $4.1 million brought its yearly total to $6.1 million, up 9 percent.

Fort Worth received $3.7 million for total payments this year of $5.3 million, down 1 percent from 1983. El Paso's check for $2.2 million brought its year to date total to $3.3 million, up 7 percent.

Bullock also sent checks to the Metropolitan Transit Authorities in Houston and San Antonio. Houston received $22.3 million, for a total $31.8 million this year. San Antonio received $3.6 million, bringing 1984 total payments to $5.1 million.

Brush and Palette

In an age of so much absurdity in the arts—owing to a faulty understanding of the underlying principles—there has been a great effort in recent years for many artists to project "originality" and individual expression, and to omit the fundamentals. So cautious are they in the attempt to project their freedom that they—in the most part—have produced work that might be called nothing more than 'modish triviality'. The result is a chaotic condition hampered by the belief that anyone can become an artist, and that he can express his 'feelings' suddenly and without the hard work of learning basics. The truth of the matter is that most artists of distinction are firm believers in the great traditions of art passed to us. They believe an artist becomes creative when he finds a new unity in nature. Drawing dominates their work and is most important, for it teaches them the security of being able to express themselves clearly. Have you taken a drawing course recently—or do you draw or sketch daily?

Q. What kind of pencils do you sketch and draw with?
A. An Eagle Turquoise No. 2 most of the time. To create velvety I use Grumbacher Midnight Sketching pencil and the broad flat pencil made for sketching by Grumbacher. Drawing might be compared to good music, it has tempo, key pitch and many other elements, all of which, when handled by a competent artist, makes for beauty, but in the hand of the untrained it may prove dreadful.

Q. What kind of paper do you sketch on?

A. Any kind that is available. I have two sketch books, a large one and a small one, which I carry in my purse most of the time.

Q. How do you preserve drawings and sketches?

A. There is a charcoal fixative available. I have used a hair spray that does not contain lanolin, even though it will discolor sometimes—do not know if it is the quality of the carbon in the pencil or the contents of the spray. If I have a good sketch that I feel is worthy of preserving, I tape clear plastic such as Seran over it. Sometimes you will get a very good sketch that is worthy of keeping and in years to come you can refer to it. I did this just recently, using a cluster of trees made on a hunting trip one year.

HINT: Sharpen your pencils by using sandpaper to get a good point.

Write your questions and hints to me, Faye Schnuriger, P.O. Box 134, Haskell, Texas 79521. I will not use your name but do want you to sign your letters

Water Conservation Is Study Club Theme

The Progressive Study Club met in regular session February 2, 1984 in the Community Room. Mrs. Hugh Horton, president introduced Mrs. Elbert Johnson, director for the program on conservation. Mrs. Johnson presented Ms. Ranell Scott, a conservationist with the Haskell District who is a Seymour native and Texas Tech graduate.

A series of slides entitled "Water Conservation Hits Home" was presented. The High Plains was featured, but the sobering facts concerning the use and misuse of ground and surface water applies to our area also. Club members were astonished by the amount of water used to print one copy of an average-size newspaper (280 gallons) and for households. A number of suggestions were given on conserving water. Mrs. Scott's closing remarks included, "We have no water to waste for our own and for our children's sake." She invited those who were interested to buy inexpensive trees at her office.

Roll call was answered by twenty-six members. Minutes of the January 19, 1984, meeting were read and approved. The club voted to change the meeting to once a month from September to May, exclusive of extra projects. A constitution committee appointed by the president consists of Mrs. Kenneth Quattlebaum, Mrs. Elbert Johnson, Mrs. Virginia

Jones, Mrs. Brian Toliver and Mrs. Hugh Horton. The club voted to contribute to the Mesquite District president's gift and the following community funds: Beautify Haskell Council, Cancer Fund, Heart Fund, March of Dimes, Mental Health Clinic, North Texas Lung Association, Salvation Army and West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

The next meeting, Annual County-wide Children's Musical, has been changed by the director, Mrs. Bailey Toliver, to February 23 at the Haskell Elementary School Cafeteria. Awards of $25, $20, and $15 will be presented to group winners and $15, $10, and $5 will be presented to individual, one or two, winners. Club members will be judges.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Hugh Horton, Mrs. Janet Strickland, and Mrs. Faye Schnuriger.

Fad Diets Are Probably Not The Answer For Weight Loss

On with the old, off with the new. If that seems a bit backward, think of it in dieting terms. You have added on to the old you, now you want to get rid of that new weight. But, how many times have you promised to reform, only to give up? Maybe the latest diet fad will be the answer to your weight loss prayer.

If the only drawback of these diets were a dent in your illusions, then you would just end up a little wiser, even if not any lighter. However, many fad diets can be dangerous. The Food and Drug Administration has put together an article that will help you protect yourself from these fads. For your free copy of "Weight Loss", send your name and address to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 81, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Many of the popular fad diets give a confusing array of advice: Eat mostly protein foods and few, if any, carbohydrates. Eat almost all carbohydrates and little protein. Eat all you want, but start with grapefruit. Eat only rice (or ice cream or fruit or roughage). If you followed all of this advice, you might be close to a balanced diet.

So before you start any major diet, do a number of things. Consult with your doctor, and, possibly, with a nutritionist or a dietician. Do some reading on the basics of nutrition and how they relate to the claims made by some of these diets.

What are the claims and what is the reality? One kind of fad diet that promises a fast track to leanness is the high protein, low carbohydrate diet. The danger is that a low carbohydrate diet will throw the body into ketosis—a mode of burning calories that resembles the body's reaction to fasting. It can lead to an acid and alkaline imbalance in the body, and it makes the body excrete large amounts of urine which can lead to dehydration. Since most of the weight loss is from water loss, not fat loss, most people put the weight back on when they return to normal eating.

Another diet of great concern to health care professionals is the extremely low calorie liquid protein diet. Many of these diets promote drinking a high protein liquid as the only calorie consumption all day—a daily total of about 400 calories. These diets have been associated with deaths resulting from irregular heart rhythms.

It's important to realize that the key to dieting is to maintain a nutritionally balanced diet while changing your eating habits. But these fad diets don't help you change eating habits because they are often based on only one food and become terribly boring in short order. The optimistic note the pamphlet points out is that most of the obesity in the United States results from relatively small imbalances between daily calorie intake and expenditures. That means that 100 extra calories daily—one extra piece of toast—can add ten pounds over the course of a year. So the good news is that by simply watching those small amounts of food daily and adding slightly more exercise to burn a few more calories, you can get rid of the extra pounds slowly but successfully.

And if you do want to lose more weight over a shorter period of time, any of the balanced diets that appear in newspaper or magazines will help. Look for one that has around 1,000 to 1,200 calories a day and suggests that you add exercise as a regular part of your day to help keep your weight under control.

To learn more, send for a copy of "Weight Loss" (free). At the same time, you will also receive a free copy of the "Consumer Information Catalog" listing more than 200 other free and moderately priced federal consumer booklets. The "Catalog" is published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the U.S. General Services Administration.

Two Local Women Named To Outstanding Young Women Of America

The Board of Advisors for the Outstanding Young Women of America awards program announced today that the women named below have been selected for inclusion in the 1983 edition of "Outstanding Young Women of America".

The Outstanding Young Women of America program is designed to honor and encourage exceptional young women between the ages of 21 and 36 who have distinguished themselves in their homes, their professions and their communities. Accomplishments such as these are the result of dedication, service and leadership—qualities which deserve to be recognized and remembered.

This is the goal of the many leading women's organizations, college alumni associates and public officials who nominate deserving young women to participate in the program. Serving as chairman of the program's Advisory Board is Margaret L. Arnold, honorary president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

The women listed, along with approximately 23,000 fellow Outstanding Young Women of America from across the United States, will be presented in the prestigious annual awards volume. In addition, they are now being considered for one of the fifty-one state awards to be presented to those women who have made the most noteworthy contributions in their individual states. From these fifty-one state winners, the Ten Outstanding Young Women of America will be chosen. The ten national winners will then be honored at the annual awards luncheon to be held this fall in Washington, D.C.

Our Board of Advisors and Editors salutes all those honored as Outstanding Young Women of America. We take great pride in bringing their accomplishments to the attention of the American public.

Named to Outstanding Young Women of America from this area are: Sally Ann Gavlik of Buda, Jill Bleiker Harris of Haskell and Cathene Josselet Bartley of Haskell.

Haskell SWCD Receives Certificate Of Merit

United States Department of Agriculture Certificate of Merit is awarded to the Haskell Field Office of the Soil Conservation Service. For Commendable Performance in providing technical assistance to the Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District in the planning and application of quality soil, water and plant conservation program." Signed Billy C. Griffin, State Conservationist Soil Conservation Service, Temple, December 13, 1983.

The Haskell Field Office of the Soil Conservation Service received the USDA Certificate of Merit and a cash award for accomplishments during the 1983 fiscal year. The staff consists of Jim Hudson, District Conservationist, Ranell Scott, Robert Steed and Bob Baker, Soil Conservationists, and Harry Koehler, Soil Conservation Technician. The award is given annually to Field Office staffs within the state that show a commendable performance in assisting the local Soil and Water Conservation District and local landusers in the planning and application of quality conservation programs. Accomplishments by the Haskell Field Office and the Haskell SWCD for the 1983 fiscal year that led to the award cover a wide variety of conservation practices. Some of the practices accomplished are listed below: 661 Individuals or groups were provided technical assistance during the year. 2607 technical services were provided and 286 individuals applied conservation practices.

1,573,976 feet of terraces were constructed under the Great Plains Conservation Program (GPCP), the Long Term Agreement Program (LTA), the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) or the Emergency Conservation Program (ECP).

A total of 221 acres of Waterways were established to permanent vegetation during 1983 with an additional 200 acres shaped ready for vegetation this year.

Overall 21966 acres of cropland benefited from the application of conservation practices and 14720 acres of Rangeland benefited during the 1983 fiscal year.

In addition to the conservation practices applied to the land, the Haskell Field Office and the Haskell SWCD provide an educational program to educate the public and promote conservation of our natural resources. A conservation poster contest was provided for elementary aged students in area schools with approximately 200 participating and a Land, Pasture and Range contest was held for area Vocational Agricultural students in Haskell and Jones counties. Also, publishing conservation news articles, presenting programs to schools and service organizations and radio programs are ways used to educate the public.

The staff of the Haskell Field Office would like to thank the Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District for their help in making such an award possible. We hope to continue to provide quality technical assistance throughout the future and look forward to helping you in the coming year.

USDA Establishes Reserve For 1983-Crop Wheat

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block today established a farmer-owned grain reserve for 1983-crop wheat with a trigger release level of not less than $4.45 and annual storage payments to farmers of 26.5 cents per bushel.

Block also said the U.S. Department of Agriculture will open reserve V for the first time to 1983-crop feed grains. USDA on May 31, 1983 closed reserve V to additional entries of 1982-crop feed grains because grains from this reserve was to be used in the department's payment-in-kind program.

Farmers may place their grain in these reserves on maturity of regular Commodity Credit Corporation loans, he said.

The trigger release level for the new reserve wheat—reserve VI—will be the target price rate in effect for the then current crop year, but not less than the 1984-crop target price of $4.45 per bushel, Block said. Wheat in the other grain reserves also may be placed in the new reserve, he said.

Barley and sorghum reserve loans may be transferred to reserve V, he said. Reserve V corn and oats are currently in release status and their entry into this reserve will not be permitted until release is terminated.

Block said today's announcement does not change the rule prohibiting entry of additional quantities of a commodity into a reserve when the commodity is in release status.

Annual storage payments for grain placed in the reserve will be 26.5 cents per bushel for wheat, corn and barley, 20 cents per bushel for oats and 47.32 cents per hundredweight for sorghum, Block said.

"Interest will be assessed for the first year of the agreement at the interest rate applicable to the regular loan but will be waived for the second and third years except during certain periods the reserve is in release status. No premiums for entry into the reserve are authorized."

Block said reserve V trigger release levels would remain at $3.25 per bushel for corn, $2.65 per bushel for barley, $1.65 per bushel for oats and $5.54 per hundredweight for sorghum.

Under the grain reserve program, eligible farmers can place feed grains and wheat into a reserve when farm prices are below trigger release prices. In return, farmers receive Commodity Credit Corporation price support loans on the grain in reserve as well as annual storage payments.

Producers may contact their local office of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service for further information.

Air Force Has Some Vacancies

Some vacancies currently exist for young men and women to enlist in the Air Force during the next three months, said Staff Sgt. Stevens, Air Force recruiter in Abilene. The Air Force has established several enlistment options to offer sharp people, Sgt. Stevens said.

Technical training is given in some of the best technical schools at such locations as Denver, Colorado, Biloxi, Mississippi and Wichita Falls.

Young men and women who enlist in the Air Force can delay their entry into active duty for as long as 12 months.

"This Delayed Enlistment Program lets an enlistee reserve a guaranteed specialty months in advance. A high school senior, for instance, can reserve an enlistment date today and still have some vacation before leaving on active duty," he said.

Special enlistment options such as the stripes for college experience are available for those enlisting in the Delayed Enlistment Program.

For further information on Air Force recruiter programs, contact Sgt. Stevens at (915) 671-8949.

JV Maidens Win Tourney

By David Adams
The JV Maidens won their second tournament last weekend. The tournament, which began Thursday morning, took place here. In the first tournament game the Maidens dropped Stamford 28-16. Lori McGee led the scoring with 8 while Shawna Welch put in 7 points.

The championship matchup took place against the second Seymour Pantherettes. The game was tied 15-15 at the half, but the Maidens rallied to win 40-37.

Stephanie Browning poured in 13 points while McGee added 10 points.

This was the second time the JV had brought home a first place tournament trophy.

"These wins raised our record to 16-4 and the girls played well throughout the tournament," Coach W.L. Holt said. "We played consistently and beat a good Seymour team in the finals.

The Maidens defeated the Hamlin Piperettes 30-22 Friday night. They controlled the boards the entire night. Kim Lanier led the scoring with 13 followed by McGee with 7.

The Maidens competed in their last game Tuesday night against Paducah, but scores were unavailable at press time.

Superintendent's Farm & Ranch Financial Views

BY JAMES LANIER
Superintendent, Haskell ISD

Last week's column was devoted to teachers. This week I would like to write about the most important ingredient in a school, the students. Too often people including administrators become too engrossed with the supporting aspects of the school and forget the essence of purpose which must be the overall education of students. Of course budgeting, teachers, buildings, transportation, curriculum, etc. are all important. However, nothing overshadows the student. In fact, these other elements I mentioned above must be secondary to the student.

We, as educators and the public sometimes allow the actions of a few students to cloud our opinions of students. Sometimes even I, as a parent of three teenagers and a rather close associate with many young people, catch myself being rather pessimistic. It, then, becomes necessary for me to sit back and objectively observe the behavior patterns of our young people.

Whenever I do this, I become charged with enthusiasm over the caliber of our students. You, as parents and patrons, can be very proud of our students. I could write reams concerning their successes, however I want to address the most important and basic characteristic of our students. They are simply "good folks". You cannot help but be uplifted when you walk the halls of either of our schools and observe the students studying and working. Friendly smiles and pleasant greetings come from almost every student that you meet. Even on a cloudy day, it seems the sun shines through the personality of our students. Some people would be inclined to downgrade our students, to talk of their failures and their shortcomings. These people are to be pitied. They are not true observers of what God really meant people to be. True, not all our students will be scientists, writers, or teachers. In fact, I suspect a future President does not lurk in the halls of Haskell Schools at this time. However, our students have something even more important. The students are easily disciplined, they are always pleasant, and most important, they love life and each other. Some people would be inclined to desire a lockstep system of discipline, an austere program designed to destroy initiative and character. In other words, take away individuality and personality. Without question we could do this to the point that we could surpass the rest of the world in learning immediately. But what kind of human would this create? What kind of society would exist if there was no initiative and no personality?

Those of you who know me, know I love kids and especially our kids. We, in Haskell, are blessed with good kids. I pray to God that we not let the elements who desire to destroy personality, fun, and retard social growth become the leading force in our community and world. Our students are basically good, moral hard working, clear thinking, reasonable people. Of course, they have weaknesses, and, of course, they must drink at the fountain of knowledge if they are to develop to the limits of their abilities. But let us not forget that they are truly "good folks". I love each one of them dearly.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:
To our friends in Haskell County: We certainly appreciated the opportunity to again have had a part in the Haskell County Junior Livestock Show and Sale. It was a pleasure to see and visit with all our friends and to see the continued interest and support of the county's youth. Just keep up the good work!
Sincerely,
Ted and Barbara Elliott

"Farm and Ranch Financial Issues for Today" will be the topic of a seminar at the Abilene Civic Center, Feb. 14. The one-day program which begins at 9 a.m. will deal with the future of agriculture, merchandising credit, sources of capital, landlord-tenant relationships, income tax planning, and the outlook for cotton, cattle and the general economy.

"The program is designed to give farmers and ranchers a look at various financial issues since agriculture has become such a capital intensive business," points out Dr.

Wayne Hayenga, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "The producer must look on money like he does any other tool or implement, and he must know how to use it properly."

Speakers will include R.C. Cobb, president of the Rolling Plains Production Credit Association; Dr. John Hopkin, Stiles professor of agricultural finance at Texas A&M University; and Dr. Carl Anderson, Robert Kensing and Hayenga, all Extension Service economists. In addition to addressing various financial issues in agriculture, the seminar also pays tribute to the 50th anniversary of the formation of Production Credit Associations. PCAs were organized during the Great Depression to provide dependable credit for agriculture and are now America's largest source of short- and intermediate-term agricultural loans, notes Hayenga. Seminar sponsors include the Extension Service, the Rolling Plains PCA and the Coleman PCA.

Paul Harvey was leading scorer with 22 followed by Brad Bevel with 18.

With the winning of this game, the Warriors end the season with an outstanding 11-3 record.

"Overall, they're the best bunch of boys that has passed through since I've been here. They've got more talent, seem to enjoy it and want to work at becoming a better team. I expect good things in the future and lots more wins before they graduate," Coach Jim Dan Raughton said.

Windbreak Seedlings Available

It has been a long, cold winter but the Texas Forest Service's West Texas Nursery in Lubbock still has a good crop of healthy young conifer seedlings—at bargain prices—ready to be purchased for planting by West Texans for farm and ranch windbreaks.

Several varieties of seedlings have been sold out, according to Robert Fewin, silviculturist for the West Texas Nursery, "but we still have a good supply of two varieties of conifers which we'll sell as long as they last or until the end of planting season which is around the end of March."

Fewin said the conifer species still available are Austrian pine and ponderosa pine, both popular species in West Texas.

These 6- to 12-inch pine seedlings are grown in individual cells, 30 cells to the Styrofoam container in our Lubbock greenhouse. A minimum order is 30 seedlings (one container) or in multiples of 30, for $30 per 30 trees, plus 4% state sales tax.

The containers are 12 inches wide by 14 inches long, by 8 inches deep, and several containers can easily be transported in the back seat of a car or pickup cab.

The West Texas Nursery grows windbreak seedlings for High Plains and Panhandle counties, north of Big Spring and west of Wichita Falls.

"When you have a good many days when the chill factor is below zero," Fewin said, "it is too disagreeable to be out planting trees or anything else, but even in a normal winter tree planting rarely starts in West Texas before late February."

He said that when the containers of seedlings are purchased that they may be retained for several weeks before planting, if the weather turns bad. "When you are planting bare root seedlings, the roots must be kept moist until they are planted, and the roots cannot be allowed to freeze," he explained.

"But when the seedlings are containerized—like our conifer—they can be kept for several weeks with a minimum of protective measures, such as being kept in a barn or garage, until the weather allows planting," he added. The Styrofoam containers, however, are not designed for shipping, so buyers must make a trip to designated pick-up points.

Windbreak planters may not use these seedlings for landscaping or ornamental purposes. West Texans interested in planting the seedlings for homestead, feedlot, field or wildlife windbreaks, however, should write for seedling applications: West Texas Nursery, Texas Forest Service, Rt. 3, Box 216, Lubbock, Texas 79401, or call (806) 746-5801. Seedlings will be sold on a first-come basis until the end of the planting season or the supply is exhausted.

If you have already planted windbreaks and have young trees which you think may have been frozen and suffering from "tip burn," don't be in too great a hurry to prune the suspected frozen growth, Fewin advises. "Wait until late May before pruning, because some of the growth that appears 'freeze burned' will come back," he added.

Pick-Up Stations
Since the containerized conifer seedlings cannot be shipped, five cities have been designated as pick-up points for residents of surrounding counties, on the dates indicated, as follows:

Munday-Feb. 21, 8 a.m. - 5 p.m., Vegetable Research Station, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, for Baylor, Cottle, Foard, Hardeman, Haskell, Jones, King, Knox, Shackelford, Stone, Throckmorton and Wilbarger counties.

Big Spring-March 1, 8 a.m. - 5 p.m., USDA Experiment Station, Interstate 20, for Andrews, Borden, Coke, Dawson, Ector, Fisher, Gaines, Glasscock, Howard, Martin, Midland, Mitchell, Nolan, Scurry, Sterling and Winkler counties.

Jacksboro-Feb. 16, 8 a.m. - 5 p.m., Courthouse Square for Archer, Clay, Jack Montague, Palo Pinto, Parke, Wichita, Wise and Youn counties.

San Angelo-Feb. 28, 8 a.m. - 5 p.m., Soil Conservation Service, 1909 Pulliam Street for Coke, Concho, Irion, Menard, McCulloch, Runnels, Schleicher and Tom Green counties.

Lubbock-March 8, 8 a.m. - 5 p.m., Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, FM Road 1294, for Bailey, Cochran, Crosby, Dickens, Floyd, Garza, Hale, Hockley, Kent, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Motley, Terry and Yoakum counties.

Surplus Government Grain Helps Save Winter's Victims

The winter of 1983-84 long will be remembered as one of the coldest on record, kept in our memories by stories of subzero temperatures, ruptured water pipes, frozen citrus groves and deep snows. Also remembered will be the economic effects: rising heating costs and higher prices for meats, poultry, eggs, fruits and vegetables.

These are just a few of winter's effects visited upon humans. The problems for domestic animals and wildlife have been more devastating.

With traditional sources of winter feed buried under snow, state fish and game officials across the West and Upper Midwest have been requesting emergency federal assistance to help save game birds and other wildlife. Federal officials, in turn, have provided quick action and surplus government grain to meet this winter's wildlife emergency.

Under a wildlife feeding program administered by the U.S. Department of Interior and U.S. Department of Agriculture, the surplus grain is donated to state fish and game authorities when there is a serious threat of wild animal starvation. States then reimburse USDA's Commodity Credit Corporation for the costs of packaging and transporting the grain.

The Grain For Wildfowl Act of 1961 provides that state officials first ask the Interior Department to certify the need and quantity of grain for game birds or other resident wildlife. Interior then certifies the need for emergency feed and forwards the request to USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, the agency responsible for administering federal farm price support programs.

To date, USDA has provided a total of over 111,000 bushels of corn, wheat and barley to Minnesota, South Dakota and Idaho to help feed wildlife in those states. This grain, valued at about $300,000, was provided from stocks acquired under federal price support programs.

In all three states, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service issued clearances for state officials to pick up the grain from local elevators within 24 hours after receiving the request from Interior's Fish and Wildlife Service.

In Minnesota and South Dakota, state officials were particularly concerned with feeding their ring-necked pheasants and whitetail deer. In Idaho, government feed has been targeted to a larger group ranging from mule deer, elk and pronghorn antelope to valley quail, Hungarian partridge and chukkar.

Both the Interior and Agriculture departments have continued to receive state requests, but officials say the supply of grain is more than adequate to meet anticipated state needs.

Tower Accepting Intern Program Applications

Senator John Tower (R-Texas) today announced he is accepting applications from Texas senior citizens who wish to participate in an intern program in his Washington office May 7-May 11.

The program is designed to provide increased communication between the retired community and their representatives in Congress. Tower was the first member of the Texas Congressional delegation to participate in the initial program in 1977.

The two citizens selected from the applicants will spend a week in Tower's Washington office observing the legislative process, meeting with representatives of departments and agencies, and participating in the operations of a Congressional office.

"The interns selected last year, Ella Mae Swenson of Tyler and Cyril Krotzer of Harlingen both contributed much to my understanding more fully the needs and concerns of our senior citizens," Tower said.

"I once again look forward to learning firsthand more about our senior citizen's problems, needs, and opinions," the Texas Republican added. "At the same time, I hope the interns will learn more about the legislative process and government programs designed for their needs and then share with their peers the experiences and information gained in Washington."

Tower said the intern's demanding schedule of activities will include meetings with various agencies, department and committee representatives, and the opportunity to attend committee hearings. Plans also include a private tour of the White House and social activities with the Congressional staff and other interns.

Tower said the applicants should be senior citizens, 65 years of age or older, active in their communities, interested in legislation, and willing and able to communicate their knowledge to their fellow senior citizens in Texas.

Interns will receive their airfare to and from Washington, as well as a stipend to cover expenses while in Washington.

Applications can be obtained from Tower's Dallas office at 1100 Commerce, Room 7C14, Dallas, Texas 75242. The deadline for returning the application with two letters of recommendation to the Dallas office is March 15.

Now serving his fourth term, Tower is chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee and member of the Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee and the Budget Committee. He is also chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee.

Consumer Alert

by Jim Mattox
Attorney General

AUSTIN—If you have been refused credit, you may be tempted by an offer of "guaranteed credit cards." But you should think carefully before sending money to any "no credit check" company that makes such an offer. Attorneys in my Consumer Protection Division tell me that they received a number of complaints from consumers who have lost money through such schemes.

will lose your card.

Of course, if you have an extra $300 or more to put into a savings account paying very little interest, you could probably get a local savings and loan or bank to issue you a credit card also. However, most people looking for a way to get credit don't have that extra money. So, the consumer who has already paid a $25 application fee to the company, cannot comply with the company's instructions.

Although the company may claim that it will refund your money if you are turned down for credit, consumers tell us this is not the case—if they fail to send in the much large amount for deposit. The company guarantees the credit cards only if you follow instructions, and it will refund your money only if you have sent in your second check and been denied credit.

Other consumers have sent money off for help in processing credit applications and received only a book in return. The book is supposed to help teach those with poor credit histories how to change their ways and receive credit. Those consumers who complain to us say they did not want a book—they wanted a credit card.

In a future column, I will discuss what you can do if you have been turned down for credit and how to proof check for an error in your credit rating.

Several Utility Companies Honoring Moratorium

Chairman Alan R. Erwin has sent a thank-you letter to the chief executive officers of 35 electric utilities which are participating in a moratorium on service disconnections for customers unable to pay unusually high December bills in a single payment.

Electric utilities serving more than four million customers in 245 of the state's 254 counties have volunteered to offer extensions or payment plans to their customers on a case-by-case basis using guidelines suggested by Chairman Erwin as a result of record cold weather felt throughout Texas in December.

List Sick Pay Benefits As Income

Taxpayers who received sick pay benefits from their employer in 1983 must include the payments as income on their federal tax return, the Internal Revenue Service says.

The payments are taxable whether they were made directly by the employer or from a welfare fund, a state sickness or disability fund, or an insurance company, provided the plan was paid for by the employer.

Benefits received under an accident or health insurance policy for which the employee paid the premiums are not considered taxable by the IRS.

More information on sick pay benefits is contained in the free IRS Publication 525, "Taxable and Nontaxable Income," which can be ordered on the handy order form in the tax package or by calling IRS.

If your nose itches, some say, it is a sign that you will have a fight.

"The prompt response of these electric companies always help each other in times of personal and economic hardship," said Chairman Erwin.

Investor-owned electric utilities which have volunteered to participate in the program include Central Power & Light Co., El Paso Electric Co., Gulf States Utilities Co., Houston Lighting & Power Co., Southwestern Electric Power Co., Southwestern Electric Service Co., Southwestern Public Service Co., Texas-New Mexico Power Co., Texas Utilities Electric Co. (Dallas Power & Light, Texas Electric Service Co. and Texas Power & Light), and West Texas Utilities Co.

Participating cooperative electric utilities are Bailey County Electric Coop., Bandera Electric Coop.,

Bartlett Electric Coop., Bowie-Cass Electric Coop., Central Texas Electric Coop., Coleman County Electric Coop., DeWitt County Electric Coop., Dickens Electric Coop., Erath County Electric Coop., Fannin County Electric Coop., Farmers Electric Coop., and Guadalupe Valley Electric Coop.

Also, Hill County Electric Coop., Houston County Electric Coop., Karnes Electric Coop., Limestone County Electric Coop., Magic Valley Electric Coop., Mid-South Electric Coop., Navarro County Electric Coop., Nueces Electric Coop., Robertson Electric Coop., Swisher Electric Coop., Tri-County Electric Coop., Upshur-Rural Electric Coop., and Wood County Electric Coop.

Information about the program may be obtained by calling the PUC's Consumer Affairs Office (512/458-0252).

Medical General Enrollment Period Set

People who failed to sign up for the medical insurance part of Medicare or who once had this protection but dropped it will have a chance to get this protection during the 1984 general enrollment period, January through March, Glyn Hammons, Social Security district manager in Abilene, said recently.

The medical insurance part of Medicare helps pay for doctor bills, outpatient hospital services, and many other medical items and services not covered under hospital insurance.

Protection for people who sign up during the general enrollment period will start July 1, 1984.

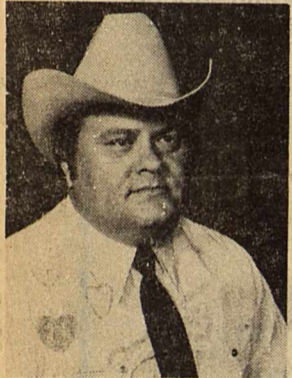

Medical insurance is financed by premiums paid by those enrolled and the Federal general revenue. Currently the Federal Government pays about three-fourths of the cost.

People who sign up during a general enrollment period may pay a higher premium, Hammons said. This is because the premium is increased by 10 percent for each full year a person could have had this protection but did not.

More information about the medical insurance general enrollment period can be obtained at the Abilene Social Security office, located at 142 S. Pioneer. The telephone number is 698-1360.

A Series Of Informative "Plain Talk" Thoughts Regarding Your Money Matters

The Out Of Towners

A good bank is a lot more than just a place to keep your money. A financial institution has a responsibility to re-invest the deposits of its customers back into the community in the form of loans. As a community-oriented bank, we realize that our growth is dependent upon the type of job that we do serving our community's financial needs.

There are several financial entities that offer investments to the people who live in our community. There's Insurance Companies, ...from out of town, Brokerage Firms... from out of town, Money Market Funds... from out of town, and other institutions which are branches of larger organizations which are owned by people ...from out of town. There is, however, one thing all of these "Out of Towners" have in common and that is the fact that the money invested with them usually goes... Out of Town.

Linkletter To Speak At ACS Dinner March 20

Art Linkletter, internationally known television personality, speaker and author, will speak at Abilene Christian Schools Community Dinner II, Thursday, March 20, at the Abilene Civic Center.

Linkletter will speak on the topic "The Value of Christian Education." Tickets for the semi-formal affair are $75 per person, or may be purchased as a table of eight for $600.

The first official announcement of Linkletter's participation in the annual fundraiser was made this morning by Dr. David Bailey, dinner chairman, during a media brunch in the Living Room of Abilene Christian University's McGlothlin Campus Center.

Bailey said the ACS Board was "extremely pleased that Mr. Linkletter has agreed to speak for this important event.

A man of his caliber and reputation only can enhance what we are trying to do for Abilene Christian Schools."

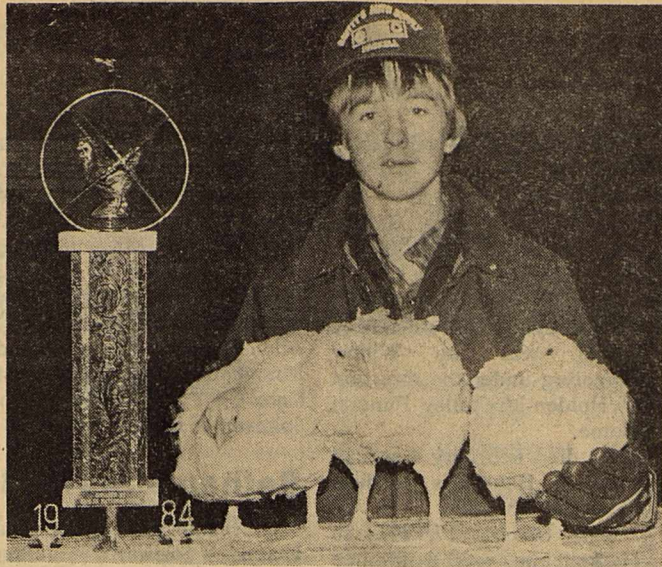

Former Abilene Mayor Fred Lee Hughes will serve as master of ceremonies for the dinner, set to begin at 7 p.m. More than 600 tickets already have been sold to ACS parents and friends and to individuals who attended last year's dinner featuring Tom Landry. Now on sale to the general public, tickets may be purchased by calling 677-1911, ext. 2507.

Linkletter is best known as the star of two of television's longest running shows, "House Party," on daytime CBS television ran five days a week, for 25 years. "People are Funny" on night time NBC television and radio ran weekly for 19 years. His chief interest today is the crusade against drug abuse.

He has served on the President's National Advisory Council for Drug Abuse Prevention, and the Presidential Commission to Improve Reading in the U.S. He also was president of the National Coordinating Council on Drug Abuse Education and Information, Inc., headquartered in Washington, D.C.

ACS currently enrolls more than 325 students in grades kindergarten through high school. The elementary school facilities are located at 617 Bacon Street. Junior High and High School facilities are in the Zona Luce Building on the campus of Abilene Christian University.

American Legion Workshop To Focus On Fund Raisers

The number and influence of veterans in America society grows each year, and with the growth comes more responsibility to serve the community.

Chief among those responsibilities is fund-raising. That was never more important than it is this year as The American Legion of Texas joins with the Shriners to raise $1,000,000 for the Crippled Children's Hospital in Houston and the Shrine Burn Center in Galveston.

One of the main points of focus of the 20th Annual American Legion Leadership College, in Austin, February 10-12, will be workshops designed to train Post Commanders from around the state, new techniques of fund-raising and hone the skills they already possess.

Most IRS Tax Packages Should Have Been Received

If you haven't received your tax package by now, you probably won't receive one this year, the Internal Revenue Service says.

Tax packages are mailed each year shortly after the December holidays, and are received by most taxpayers during the first two weeks in January or earlier. Due to the postage costs involved, tax packages only receive limited forwarding. Those that cannot be delivered as addressed are not forwarded outside of local carrier routes, IRS explains.

Some taxpayers wait well into February hoping that their tax packaged will still arrive in the mail. Although tax packages are very helpful in filing federal tax returns, especially due to the computerized peel-off address labels and coded envelopes they contain, these items are not absolutely necessary to file a return.

Taxpayers who do not receive tax return forms in the mail may obtain forms from many libraries, banks, post offices, IRS offices, or by call the IRS at 742-2440 in Dallas, 335-1370 in Fort Worth, or 1-800-424-1040 elsewhere in Texas.

Scholarship Deadline Approaching

Junior and senior class high school students who are interested in applying for $1,000 college scholarships should request applications by March 15, 1984 from the Educational Communications Scholarship Foundation, 721 N. McKinley Road, Lake Forest, Illinois 60045. To receive an application, students should send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with a note stating their name, address, city, state and zip code and approximate grade point average. Fifty award winners will be selected on the basis of academic performance, involvement in extracurricular activities and need for financial aid.

BUILDING YOUR RETIREMENT IS AS SIMPLE AS A.B.C.

OPEN A TAX-DEFERRED, MONEY-MAKING INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNT TODAY AT COMMODORE SAVINGS.

Retirement used to be a taxing situation. But not any longer. Because now, you can open an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) at Commodore Savings — the simple-to-understand retirement account that will save you money today so you can enjoy better tomorrows.

Just add up the benefits for yourself:

- All contributions are tax-deferred and 100 percent deductible. You pay no taxes on the money you invest in your IRA or on the interest it earns until you begin taking distribution as early as age 59½.
- Save as little or as much as you want each month. Up to $2,000 a year if you are single and employed. Up to $2,250 a year for a couple where one spouse is employed and the other is not. And up to $4,000 a year for a working couple. Save as little as $10 a month. Even skip a whole year's contributions if you prefer.
- Pay much less tax on your retirement income. By retirement age, you'll probably be in a lower tax bracket, so the taxes you'll pay on your IRA retirement income could be much less than you pay now.
- Almost everyone can qualify. If you are under age 70½ and are earning an income, you qualify for a Commodore IRA, even if you are already participating in another retirement program.

Best of all, the money you put into your IRA earns a guaranteed high compound interest rate. Save $2,000 a year for just 20 years, and your IRA investment could amount to well over $100,000!

Seven different retirement plans are available, including Regular IRA, Spousal IRA, Employer IRA, Rollover IRA, Payroll Deduction IRA, IRA/SEPP and Keogh Plan. Find out which plan is right for you. Texas Tourism Is An Important Industry

An up-to-date report on the Texas tourism industry has just been released by the people who see and serve more tourists than any other authority in the state, the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

From 12 Texas Tourist Bureaus operated by the Department, through a hundred thousand worldwide mailings of tempting Texas travel literature, and in the pages of "Texas Highways" magazine, the Department maintains a perpetual "Y'all come" campaign. And visitors do come—by the millions.

Where they come from, where they go to, how long they stay, and how much they spend are factors neatly averaged in the just-released Texas Visitor Industry statistical report.

For those not intimidated by columns of figures, some intriguing perspectives are in the report. Take "Winter Texans" for instance—refugees from the frigid Midwest who are right now overflowing the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Figures show they spend only half as much per day as do routine, short-term summer travelers.

Cheapskates? Think again. Another column shows they stay, on the average, 11 times longer than their summertime counterparts. They spend an average of $2,122 per party during two and a-half months of leisure in the Texas tropics, thus benefitting their South Texas hosts by multiple millions of dollars.

It's not surprising that of all cities in Texas, McAllen tops the list for long-term visitors. Among the more numerous short-term visitors, Dallas heads the destination list. And which Texas city do foreign visitors like best? San Antonio. In fact, San Antonio is among the top three favorite destinations for all categories of visitors.

There's more. The highway department enumerates how each Texas region shares the tourism pie. The report dissects tourism dollar-spending for food, lodging, transportation and entertainment.

The Texas Visitor Industry report is a by-product of the state's hospitality business. Highway department tourist bureaus served more than three million travelers last year. At the conclusion of their trips, nearly 30,000 such travelers returned questionnaires that formed the report's data base.

The highway department believes the business of sightseeing and suntan lotion, of hamburgers and roller coasters, of fishing and golf, is well worthwhile. They tabulate the details. In Washington, D.C., the U.S. Travel Data Center notes up the whole value—more than $13 billion in Texas each year!

A free copy of the Texas Visitor Industry report is available from VIR, Box 5064, Austin 78767.

Educator urges 'back to basics' in communication skills

COLLEGE STATION—Anyone trying to prepare for the technology of the not-too-distant future could take a few tips from the balladeer of yore, says a Texas A&M University educator.

When talking computers and teleconferencing via wall-sized television are part of every home and office, people will once again have to learn how to express themselves clearly through the spoken rather than the written word, says Dr. Phil West, professor of educational administration.

"Most people today don't speak well, but we talked our stories out long before we learned to record them. People were the transmitters," West said. "What if television had been introduced at the balladeer's campfire? Would we ever have gone into books?"

Speaking or articulating is one of five "techno-basics" West believes people must master to be successful in tomorrow's technological society.

Public schools and universities should begin to think about training students to express themselves comfortably through speech, he said. Educators should also begin to focus on the other techno-basics which West calls computing, perceiving, auditing and intuiting.

Number of minorities in graduate school increase at A&M

Texas A&M University has admitted 113 new black and Hispanic students for graduate studies this fall and 12 other minority students will enter the university's two medical programs, announced President Frank E. Vandiver.

Dr. Vandiver said Texas A&M's gains in minority students pursuing advanced and professional degrees are even better than the university's administration had predicted.

"We are greatly encouraged by the success we are having this year attracting highly qualified minority students to our programs beyond the baccalaureate level," he said. "This, of course, did not just happen. We've had a lot of people working hard to make it happen."
