Rain-Snow Hit Area

According to Sam Herren, Haskell's local weather watcher, this has been the second wettest December on record. It was exceeded only by the winter of 1932, in which Haskell received 5.6 inches of precipitation.

The temperature for the past month rose to 75 for the high (Dec. 28) and dipped to 22 (on Christmas morning) for the low.

Rainfall for the month was at 4.54 inches with the norm being 1.07 inches. The normal precipitation to date is 24.14 inches, and the total precipitation for the year is 23.69 inches.

Thus far, Haskell has only seen a trace of snow and sleet, according to Herren.

Snow covered the ground on Tuesday afternoon and evening, but the exact amount was not indicated in Herren's report.

AND, THE WINNER IS

Shown are members of the Haskell Indians basketball team, as they are awarded the first place trophy in the annual Haskell Kiwanis Holiday tournament, which was held December 27-29. Haskell won by beating the Eula boys, 58-57 in a last second tip in.

Roscoe, Haskell Win Kiwanis Club Tournament

Roscoe's Plowgirls and the Haskell Indians were the victors in the Kiwanis Holiday tourney here the past weekend.

The Haskell Maidens were the third place girls team.

In the boy's championship game, there was a capacity crowd gathered to watch, breathlessly, as Ricky Rojas tipped in the final bucket which gave Haskell a one point edge at the buzzer to go ahead of the Eula Pirates, 58-57.

Robert Ivey of the Indians had put the shot up with just about five seconds left on the clock, and the attempt at the bucket failed, but as fans watched on, in amazement, Haskell's Ricky Rojas, who was at the right place at the right time, just took the rebound in one hand and tipped it right back into the basket to score the winning point.

The stands were bedlam on the Haskell side, while the Eula fans were stunned at the last second turn of events.

High point for the championship game was Shane Hadaway, with 21 points. Ricky Rojas netted 20 points in the game, with Robert Ivey getting 10.

In the games leading up to Haskell's heart-stopping final game, the Indians won over the Rule Bobcats in the first game, 53-43.

Hadaway had 15 points, Rojas netted 12, as did Robert Ivey, and Sammy Baker had 10 points.

In the second game of the series, the Indians trounced Knox City 75-45.

Shane Hadaway again led the scoring with 22, as Ricky Rojas added 19 and Sammy Baker had 11.

In the third game, Haskell also mauled their opponent, who was Cisco, 62-34.

Hadaway netted 19 points, with teammate Ricky Rojas getting 18 points, and Robert Ivey making connections on 12 points.

Named on the All Tournament team from Haskell were Robert Ivey of Haskell, Jeff Pleasant of Eula, James Vaughn of Eula, Greg Sanders of Munday, and Jake Womack of Hawley.

Haskell's Shane Hadaway was named as the tournament's Most Valuable Player.

Going down the girls side of the bracket, the Roscoe Plowgirls left no doubt in anyone's mind that they had come to play basketball, as they walked away with the top honors.

In the Plowgirl's first game, Roscoe met Cisco, and won 66-37.

In their second game the Roscoe girls met the Haskell Maidens and won that game 53-38. Denice Young scored 10 points for Haskell to lead in the scoring for the Haskell girls.

In Roscoe's third game, they faced Hawley for the championship, and won the tourney by besting the Lady Bearcats, 60-39.

The Plowgirl's Shannon Neighbors was named as the tournament's Most Valuable Player.

Player, and she was joined by teammates Julie Raughton, and Maidens Julie Roewe and Denice Young, and Hawley's Lisa Schoemer and Lisa Kiker, to make up the All Tourney Team.

The Haskell Maidens did a fine job in the tourney as they garnered third place.

In their first game, they bested Rule, 40-23, with Tamala Randle netting 9 points.

The second game saw the Maidens facing the very tough Roscoe Plowgirls. Haskell was defeated in this game 53-38, with Denice Young getting 10 points to lead in the scoring.

In the third game for the Maidens, Haskell beat Knox City by 5, 31-26, with Denice Young again leading in the scoring with 8.

And, just like a carbon copy of the boy's game, the Maidens also faced the Eula girls team, and won 48-41, for third place.

In the game for the third place laurels, Haskell's Julie Roewe led in the scoring with 14 points, and teammate Tamala Randle also contributed 10.

For all of the fans, players, and coaches who were involved in the Haskell Kiwanis tourney in any way, I am sure that they would all say they got their money's worth.

With the recent win in the Kiwanis tourney of the Haskell Indians and a good third place finish of the Haskell Maidens, the teams, coaches and fans, would like to express their gratitude to the Haskell Kiwanis Club for organizing and hosting the tournament.

A special thanks goes to James Davis who was in charge of the tourney for the Kiwanis.

The Indians and Maidens want to thank all of the many fans who were on hand, despite the holidays and bad weather, to watch them play and support them on to their respective victories.

For each game, the gym was packed with cheering fans, pulling for their respective team, whether it was Haskell or a team from somewhere else.

However, to a high school athlete, that is the greatest joy they can ever have...to play to a full house!

Readers of this column for any length of time are already quite aware of my strong dislike of mornings. It will be good news to those of you who sympathize with this dislike to know that I fulfilled one of my 1984 New Year's Resolutions...To get to work on time.

On Dec. 31, at about 7:55 a.m., I finally made it. When I walked into the office, I thought we might have to call the paramedics for Bill and Lisa. I had purposefully kept the resolution a secret to avoid any outside pressure, but after it was fulfilled, I explained to them why I was here so early.

Then for the first real highlight of 1985, I arrived at the office again before 8 o'clock only to hear Lisa say, "Oh no, 364 days of being late!"

Most of 1985's resolutions won't be quite so difficult and will include serious things like not smoking my pipe in the shower, not shooting trap in Lubbock or Amarillo during March, April and May, never going into a burning building with Bill Lane Jr.

I hope 1985 got off to a good start at your house and continues along the same path.

Happy New Year.

Nauert, Vincent Wed In Double Ring Ceremony

In a beautiful Christmas wedding of red, black, and white, marriage vows between Janie Rinette Vincent of Haskell and Sammy Don Nauert of Stamford were exchanged Sunday, December twenty-third at 6:00 o'clock in the evening in Bethel Lutheran Church of Ericksdahl. Pastor Stan Leaf officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Miss Vincent's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Archie Lee Jones of Haskell. Sammy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Nauert of Stamford.

The sanctuary of the church was enhanced with numerous potted red poinsettias which lined the aisle and adorned the rail in front of the choir loft. The pews were marked with lighted hurricane lamps entwined with greenery, red poinsettias, black roses, and tied with red and black satin bows. Brass candleabras of heart shapes, spiral trees and an arch held everlasting candles of white which were tied with red and black satin bows. Each of the five brass candelabra were entwined with greenery and tied with large red and black satin bows. At the base of each were baskets of red, black, and white silk roses.

The candles were lighted by Jeffrey Andress of Provo, Utah and Jennifer Haterius of Stamford. Jennifer wore a long dress of red satin fashioned with basque waist, long puffed sleeves and gathered skirt. She wore a corsage of red, black, and white silk roses. Jeffrey wore a red coated tux, black trousers, bow tie, cummerbund, and a white shirt. His boutonniere was red and black silk roses and baby's breath.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her cousin, Lee Andress and presented to her parents and her Aunt Jane, where Rinette presented both the ladies with a long-stemmed red silk rose. Her step-father then escorted her to the altar where she was given in marriage by her parents.

Mr. Jones and Mr. Andress were both attired exactly as the candlelighter. The mother of the bride wore a floor length gown of red crepe. A tunic length sleeveless jacket of red sequined fabric was worn over her dress. Her accessories were also red. She wore a corsage of red, black, and white silk roses tied with red and black ribbons. Her Aunt Jane Andress wore black; fashioned with a long petal skirt of satin and topped with a sequined overblouse with scoop neck and elbow length sleeves. Her accessories were black and she wore a corsage just like the bride's mother.

The mother of the groom wore a formal gown of red silk organza. Her accessories were black. She also wore a corsage fashioned as the mother of the bride.

The bride wore a formal gown of white Dior Satin, Crystalline and chiffon. The bodice was of chiffon and tulle covered from the bustline to below the waist in the front with re-embroidered French hand cut lace. The lace was heavily encrusted with seed pearls, crystals and sequins. The back of the bodice was entirely of tulle and chiffon to the waist where insets of the lace picked up the pattern from the front of the gown. Tiny covered buttons and crocheted loops closed the back to the waist. A small bustle of seed pearl covered lace enhanced the back of the dropped waist line. Seed pearls and crystals outlined the design of the hand cut French lace around the Victorian collar. A motif of the lace was sewn to the base of the collar at the front of the neckline. Off the shoulder leg-o-mouton sleeves crowned in heavily sewn seed pearls, crystals and sequins ended with the puff and gathers just above the elbows with a flute of English pleated ruching edged in silver metallic embroidery, there the sleeves were closely fitted of tulle and chiffon and ended with French hand cut lace and seed pearls over the back of the hand. At the front neck line, over each hand and at the front of the dropped waistline a triple stringer of brilliants fell loosely to dangle over the re-embroidered lace. The sleeves were closed with tiny covered buttons and crocheted loops.

The skirt of the gown fell to a full cathedral train. Swags of six inch English ruching edged in silver adorned the entire lower back of dress and train. The front of the gown was embellished with seed pearl, sequin, and crystal sewn lace motifs and the lower edge was finished in the same ruching which adorned the train.

Miss Vincent's veil was of white English illusion. It fell from a tier of lace, seed pearls, crystals and sequins. A triple stringer of beads lay over her forehead. The veil was edged in hand rolled satin and adorned with seed pearl embroidered lace motifs. It was fashioned with a double blusher and fell to full cathedral length.

Her bouquet was of silk roses of red, white, and black entwined with baby's breath, tiny crystal lights, and tied with red, black, white and silver ribbons. For something old, she wore pearls belonging to her Grandmother Holt who also hand made her traditional blue garter. Something new was her wedding gown, something borrowed was pearl earrings belonging to her mother, and for luck she wore a six pence, given to her by her Aunt Jane, in her shoe.

Maid of Honor, Kathy Kemp of Haskell wore a black velvet and satin gown fashioned with fitted bodice featuring a sweetheart neck line and long puffed sleeves. The six gored full skirt swept the floor.

As the couple left the church, Rinette presented her new mother with a long-stemmed red rose.

The reception, held in the basement of the church was hosted by the bride's parents. The bride's table was draped in red satin covered with red tulle. White doves were scattered over the tabletop. The white wedding cake stood three tiered. Four heart shaped cakes adorned the base of the large cake and a fountain flowing red punch was under the bottom tier. A heart of white icing roses topped the tiered cake. Lighted white candles edged each tier. Red punch was served from a silver punch bowl. # Haskell Garden Club Holds Christmas Meeting

"Growing In Love" was the theme for the Haskell Garden Club, introduced by Mrs. J.O. Blankenship, the program director, and the president, Mrs. John E. Robinson presided in the December 13, 1984 meeting at the Haskell Community Room of the Haskell National Bank.

Roll call was answered with, "My Favorite Christmas Carol." Ford Cole, ministry of music of The First Baptist Church, presented the Christmas story with several wonderful songs of Christmas.

Mrs. Marsha Whittemore told of the many "Legends of Christmas" and told of the most beautiful Christmas of her life, when she was about 12 or 13 years old. She said they lived in a little house on the Alley after the second war in Odessa.

She said, "Her Dad went to work before daylight each morning and this particular Christmas Eve morning deep snow had fallen. As he walked to work, I followed in his foot steps. For Odessa this was very special. The stars were brilliant and the whole world was still."

Continuing, Marsha said, in history there have always been legends. Sometimes I believe, they began on such a night as mine. The Christmon

Christmas tree began as an offering to God. God blessed the offering and it became a song of praise and thankfulness to him. It continues as a witness to his love and his glory. Christmons speak of our Lord, Jesus Christ, whose birth we celebrate in December.

There are legends of the "Poinsettia", "The Little Drummer Boy", "Rosemary" the herb of Christmas as well as other legends.

When the Christ child was born, many gifts of great beauty and splendor were brought to the manger. But one small boy, who was very poor, had nothing to offer the Lord, and he was very sad. Then, he thought, "I can play my drum for him" and so he did. He played with all the love in his heart, and as he played, the Baby Jesus smiled, showing that at Christmas, the gift of love is the best gift of all.

Rosemary, the herb of Christmas has many legends about this herb, one legend is that Mary spread the washing of the infant Jesus over a rosemary bush to dry. The bush responded by becoming aromatic and evergreen.

Another tale likens the pale blue of flowers to the color of the virgins cape. In England, a bride has a sprig of rosemary to her bouquet. Often guests at the wedding are presented with a sprig as a symbol of love and loyalty. Potted plants makes appropriate Christmas gifts for it flavors in cooking and sprigs of the herb give a special touch in gift wraps, too.

Four flower arrangements featuring madonnas or Angels and candles were brought by four members. Mrs. Ed Fouts, used a Mondana and three white candles, represented "God, Father, and Son." Juanita Dunnam featured a Mondana sitting in front of greenery and white tree branches representing "Silent Night". Juanite Rhea used holly, candles and a Mondonna in a beautiful Christmas arrangement.

Mrs. Blankenship used an Angel, white roses, a candle and Christmas lights depicting the reading from Luke Chapter 2 on the glorious night that light was brought to the people in darkness, the whole message of Christmas.

Mrs. Bailey Guess shared pumpkin crush merigold seeds from her beautiful plant with club members.

Mrs. Marcelina Martinez displayed six of the most beautiful and largest roses of different kinds and some other flowers for the horticulture exhibit. She said she had not used fertilizer but did water during the summer.

The Garden Club officers were hostesses, serving Christmas goodies.

Tips For Handling Child's Negative Behavior

An interesting thing about children's behavior is that the same discipline problems often come back in different forms at different times.

Parents who recognize these behavior patterns and know some ways to deal with them have a head start in keeping the family peace, according to Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter. The following basic principles may help.

Principle #1: Don't reward negative behaviors

Most experts agree that behaviors that are consistently rewarded are the very ones which tend to become "built-in"—that is, they become part of the child's behavior pattern. Parents often unthinkingly reward negative behaviors. For example, punishment is often seen as a "reward" by the child because at least the parent is noticing the child and paying attention to him while the punishment is happening. Thus, the child may misbehave to get attention—even if it is painful. Principle #2 is an alternative to punishing negative behavior.

Principle #2: Ignore negative behaviors as much as possible

At times it is necessary to punish negative behaviors, but punishment does not necessarily mean spanking or other direct action. If you ignore negative behaviors, most often they will simply go away. Why? Because you have taken away the reward simply by not paying attention. You can get a lot of mileage out of this principle if you learn how to use it.

Principle #3: Avoid confrontation

Try not to get into fights with your child when he is behaving negatively. After all, you are smarter than he is, and you should be able to manipulate the situation (and him) so the behavior does not bring on fights. This takes much extra effort on your part, but it's worth it.

What can parents do instead of punishing or confronting? They can use one of the most effective behavior modifiers: positive reinforcement.

Principle #4: Reward positive behaviors

Pay attention to the positive things your child does, and which you think are good. Praise him for positive accomplishments. Give him attention—a smile, a hug, a compliment—and he is likely to repeat the positive behavior.

The Growing Child newsletter follows a child's development month-by-month from birth to six years old. For more information and a free sample newsletter, write to Growing Child, P. O. Box 620N, Lafayette, IN 47902. Include child's birthdate when writing.

While it may be true that money can't buy love, it can buy life, especially when you give a contribution to the Haskell Co. Ambulance Memorial Fund. Your contribution is tax deductible, and will be useful for years to come. Don't hesitate. Make arrangements now to give. Thank you.

Library Has Tax Forms

The Haskell County Library has resources available to assist the public in filling out federal income tax forms, according to Mrs. McGee.

The material is prepared and provided by the IRS in cooperation with the nation's libraries.

These and other commonly used federal tax forms and schedules can often be obtained or photocopied. Individuals should check to see if the forms they need are available in their local library.

Many IRS publications are available for reference. One that can help taxpayers prepare their individual tax returns in Publication 17, Your Federal Income Tax. Federal tax laws applying to business and farmers are explained in Publication 334, Tax Guide for Small Business, and Publication 225, Farmers Tax Guide.

Publication 1194, specially designed for libraries, is set of the IRS's most requested publications and a helpful reference guide.

Reproducible tax forms are contained in Publication 1132. This allows a taxpayer to easily photocopy more than 90 of the most commonly used federal income tax forms. Publication 910, also available at the library, is the handy Taxpayer's Guide to IRS Information, Assistance and Publications. This publication contains useful year-round tips on how to obtain tax information.

Taxpayers wishing to receive recorded tax tips via their telephones can pick up a brochure on Tele-Tax Publication 1163. The brochure lists various tax topics which can be accessed by using either a push button or rotary-dial phone.

Librarians are not expected to serve as tax experts, the IRS stressed. They will, however, be able to direct taxpayers to these many helpful tax aids.

Social Security Benefits Due Eligible Dependents

Surviving dependents of a deceased worker should apply for Social Security benefits as soon as possible following the worker's death, Glyn Hammons, Social Security manager in Abilene, said recently.

Applying promptly will allow benefits to start in the shortest possible time. In addition, Hammons said, some benefits cannot be paid more than a month before the application is filed.

Social Security benefits can be paid to these survivors:

- Unmarried children under 18, or under 19 if a full-time high school student.

- Unmarried children over 18 who were disabled before 22 and remain disabled.

- A surviving widow or widower of any age caring for a child under 16 or disabled who gets benefits.

- Widow or widower 60 or older.

- Disabled widow or widower 50-60.
- Dependent parent 62 or older.

Benefits can also be paid to a surviving divorced spouse if the marriage to the deceased worker lasted 10 years or more. Grandchildren can get benefits on a grandparent's record under certain circumstances.

Before any benefits can be paid, the worker must have had credit for a certain amount of work covered by Social Security. In 1984, the amount ranges from 1 1/2 to 8 1/4 years depending on the worker's age at death.

More information about survivor's benefits can be obtained at the Abilene Social Security office, located at 142 S. Pioneer. The telephone number is 698-1360. The people there will be glad to answer any questions.

Texas A&M Boasts First Confirmed Case Of A Fertile Mule

News accounts from Nebraska reporting the first documented case of a fertile mule overlook the 60-year-old story of Old Beck—a footnote to Texas A&M University history.

Old Beck, whose blood was tested by the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research and found to be that of a true mule, gave birth to two foals in the early 1920s, the latter under the watchful eye of Texas A&M faculty including the deans of veterinary medicine and agriculture.

In Nebraska, the case of Krause the mule, which recently gave birth to a foal, has been trumpeted as being the first known to have given birth to an offspring.

Old Beck's first foal, a female, was reportedly born on a Texas farm. When Texas A&M agricultural faculty heard about it, they arranged to bring the mule to Texas A&M, where she was studied and later bred to a stallion. As a result, a male foal was born, closely observed by animal husbandry and veterinary medicine faculty.

Old Beck was impregnated one more time in 1924, but aborted very soon afterwards. She never again was successfully bred, nor was her mare offspring.

However, said the Journal of Heredity article, her stallion offspring was bred to a mare and produced a male foal, which reportedly grew to 14 hands and showed remarkable intelligence except for a dislike of crossing ditches or streams—said to be typical mule behavior.

Champagne—What You Should Know

One way to get a dinner party to bubble with excitement is to serve Champagne. You really don't need any special occasion to serve it and it goes well with anything. There are, however, a few helpful hints that can make your next Champagne dinner more of a success.

First, Champagne can either be served throughout the dinner or the bottle can be passed around at dessert. Champagne varies in sweetness from Brut (which is very dry) to Extra Dry, Demi Sec and Sec (sweet). Most people prefer Dry.

Many of the famous French Champagne names offer both a non-vintage variety that is appropriately Brut and a vintage. The House of Henriot, for example, has introduced two of its most renowned champagnes—a deluxe vintage Baron Philippe de Rothschild Reserve and the non-vintage Brut. The Brut is aged four years, which is longer than most other non-

One very special occasion where Champagne has become a tradition is New Year's Eve. It can be the best time to be with the best of friends and the best of Champagnes.

Haskell Takes Four Games

By Janet Wilke
The Haskell junior varsity and varsity teams met up with Merkel on December 20 in the last game prior to the Christmas break.

In the girls varsity game, the Maidens just slipped past the Merkel girls team, 55-53.

Scoring in the game were Jennifer Davis with 14, Julie Roewe with 10, Tamala Randle with 9, Lori McGee, Patricia Henry, and Holly McBroom all with 5 each, respectively, Denice Young with 4 points, and Michelle Stout with 3.

The Haskell girls shot 50 percent from the free throw line, hitting on 15 of 30 attempts.

Coach George Martin said that this is where the Maidens were able to win the ballgame.

"We shot 20 field goals and they shot 21, but we made 15 free shots, were Merkel made 11. The shots from the line made the difference."

In the varsity boy's game, Haskell did not seem to have any trouble with the Merkel boys and won handily, 70-56.

Shane Hadaway scored 28 points, with teammates Ricky Rojas with 14, Robert Ivey with 18, Sammy Baker with 7, and David Adams with 3.

From the free throw line, the boys hit 14 of 19, at 73 percent.

The JV Indians won over Merkel by five in their last game before the holiday, 40-35.

National Survey Ranks TTI Tops In Transportation Study

The Texas Transportation Institute has been ranked as the national leader in transportation research by a majority of respondents in a survey of all major universities with organized transportation studies.

TTI, headquartered at Texas A&M University, was listed as the national leader in 17 of 32 responses from a national peer evaluation sponsored by the university, reports Dr. Donald McDonald, Texas A&M's interim dean of engineering and associate deputy chancellor of

The Texas A&M University System.

TTI was listed in the top five in every response and was first in overall rankings, followed by the University of California, MIT and Penn State.

"We are pleased by the uniformly high regard in which TTI is held by its peers," McDonald said. The peer review was initiated at the request of TTI Director Dr. C.V. Wootan as a part of the university system's long-range planning program.

Texans Can Purchase Mile Of Axle Grease

As Texas enters its 150th year as a free and independent state, the Texas Wagon Train Association offers each citizen and civic group an opportunity to "cash in" on a very historical event, as they can now purchase a "mile of axle grease" along the wagon train's trail, as it travels over the state in 1986.

For $150 per mile, Texans can purchase a mile of the way for the Wagon Train participants, and this money will go to defray the expenses of the wagon train's trek across Texas.

Those interested may buy one particular mile if they are interested in just one particular mile of the way or they may buy a mile in a certain city, town, or county which might hold particular interest for them.

If the mile a person wants to buy has already been purchased, the wagon train will see that the very next mile will be purchased by the person whose preference was already taken.

For every person who helps the wagon train get across the state, there will be a handmade pecanwood plaque, recognizing them as someone who helped to grease the wheels on the train.

For more information, contact Donald Stringer, business manager of the Texas Wagon Train Association, Route 1, Box 299, Argyle, Texas, 76226 or contact Kim Jindra press agent, 2121 Panhandle, Denton, Texas 76201, phone 817-387-3339.

The View From Here

by Janet Wilke

It is true that Texans have their own form of communication. The rest of the world calls it "Slang". Most Texans recognize it as a pure form of the "Kang's Ainglish" ("King's English").

While the jury is still out on that question, here are a few more Texas expressions that we hear everyday, (and that most of us use) which drive "foreigners" to the dictionaries in droves to find out just "Whut the heck we're talkin' about!"

Of course two terms which have become almost universally accepted as Texan is "y'all" (contraction for you-all) and "Howdy do?", a contraction for the words 'how do you do?'

However, here are a few more which are less commonly used. See if you don't agree that these are typically Texan in nature...

Nuff: enough—"Ah sed that's nuff."
Slang: sling—"Why, that hole is big nuff to sling a cat through."

Waze: a direction or distance—"That place is a waze down the road."

Tuther: contraction for "the other—"Don't make me enny difference this way or tuther".

Idunt: Contraction for is not or isn't—"Idunt that a shame?"

Bidness: Business—"That is nun o' yore bidness."
Yore: your—"It's yore mother I am worried about."

All: a thick, petroleum substance found in great quantities in Texas—"I run a little ol' all bidness."

Bowah: a young male child—"Hey bowah, you get outta there."

Ah'm: a contraction for the words I am—"Ah'm appalled!"

Madgen: imagine—"Ah madgen so..."
Fanger: finger—"Ah cut mah fanger."

Skint: skinned—"Bowah, mah skint knee hurts!"
Caint: contraction for can not—"Ah caint believe that!"

Aint: a small, red, biting insect—"He has aints in his pants."

Thang: thing—"He doesn't know a thang."
Wrentch: to wash something lightly...rinse—"I need to wrentch out a few thangs."

Raintch: a large sized farm—"Ah own a little ol' fifty section raintch."

Tarred: exhausted. "Bowah, am Ah tarred?"
Dawg: a domesticated canine—"Ah got a little ol' black dawg."

Mah: my—"Mah daddy told me so."
Apurn: a covering for use when cooking in the kitchen—"Ah need mah apurn."

Brang: bring—"Brang me mah apurn."
Jist: just—"Ah said jist a minute."

Fixing to: going to—"Ah'm fixing to git mad."
Git: get—"Git mah gun!"

Dainse: dance—"Ah'm goin' to that barn dainse."
Enny: any—"Ah don't got enny money."

Habum: a contraction for have not—"We habum paid our bills yet."

Bobwor: Barbed wire—"Ah ripped mah pants on that bobwor fence."

Drank: drink—"Ah drank cold bear."
Bear: beer—"Ah drank Lone Star Bear."

Kilt: killed—"Why, that nearly kilt him."
Wudden nat: contraction for the words wasn't that—"Wudden nat a neat movie?"

Shore: sure—"That shore was good steak."
Duden: contraction for the words does not—"He duden know ennythang."

Bleeve: believe—"You gotta bleeve me." (from a famous Texas beer commercial).

Sonshine Patch To Begin First Day Of Classes

The Sonshine Patch, a pre-school for children ages 2-4, will begin their first day of class Tuesday, January 8, at 9 a.m.

The sessions will conclude each Tuesday at 2 p.m. and the school will only be held on Tuesdays for the remainder of this school year.

It is to be held at the Church of Christ, and minister Jim Crain of the church, said that they are expecting to begin their classes again next year, when school re-opens in the fall.

Deadline for enrolling in the classes are this week, and all of the registrations should be in by Friday. There is a $30 a month fee for the school.

Thirty six students will be accepted for the school, and there will be classes for two, three and four year olds.

There will be arrangements made for the students who are five years old but are not attending kindergarten yet, Crain said.

Although the school is being held at the Church of Christ, Crain stressed that the schooling would not be dealing with the doctrines of the church. He said many of those parents who were interested in having their children attend the school had asked that question.

"Our staff will be teaching kids about having relationships with others. They will be concerned in teaching the kids to respect others, to love others, and how to get along with others. Also being taught will be motor skills, the introduction of numbers, letters, and shapes," Crain added.

Teachers, who have been trained to work with younger children will include Laura Alsabrook, four yr. olds; Charlotte Peiser, three year olds; and Carla Long, two years old, with Sammie Kingston as the roving helper.

Karen Crain will be acting as the co-director of the school and will serve as curriculum advisor.

Although enrollments have been filtering in, Crain said he felt that the enrollment would really begin to get set this week, and that is why it is important to get the enrollments in as soon as possible.

Jim Crain said if parents of prospective students had any questions or if there were others who were interested in information about the school, they should contact him at the church, 864-3101, or call him at his residence, 864-8969.

CONSUMER ALERT

by Jim Mattox Attorney General

THE C.O.D. FRAUD GAME

My Consumer Protection Division has asked me to warn consumers about c.o.d. fraud, which is sweeping the country.

THE SCAM

Victims of c.o.d. fraud have reported that they first received a phone call from a California company, in which they were offered a prize or a precious gem. All they had to do in order to win the valuable prize was order the company's product.

When the c.o.d. package arrived, the consumers paid about $39 and found nothing inside the package. In some cases, the consumers found a note that told them to send in another $50 in order to receive the prize. In other cases the product was sent but turned out to be nearly worthless.

Some of the products offered through these boiler room operations include an "executive" pen and pencil set, a so-called personalized calendar, and a supposed home health guide. The pen and pencil set are worth about $3, not the $33 claimed. The calendar is a small cardboard calendar with paste-on label and the home health guide is a piece of cardboard with a few health rules printed on it.

Another company offers consumers a Timex computer for $50. But the caller fails to mention that you can get the same product for $45 through local stores.

WHAT TO DO

If you receive a call from an unknown company, ask for a copy of their catalogue—if you are interested in the product. Don't be fooled by any statement like "this offer is good today only."

Although the post office is required to deliver all c.o.d. packages, the consumer is not required to accept them.

If you think you have been taken by a c.o.d. company, you may report it to the Consumer Protection Division nearest you.

FOR MORE HELP

If you need more help or information on this or other consumer problems, contact your nearest Attorney General Consumer Protection Office (in Austin, Dallas, El Paso, Houston, Lubbock, McAllen, and San Antonio). The Attorney General's Office is the people's law firm. We're here to help you.

Plant oils not practical substitute for diesel fuel

COLLEGE STATION — The value of substituting plant oils for diesel fuel has been laid to rest by Texas A&M University agricultural economists — unless the price of diesel sky-rocketed.

Recent articles in popular farming literature have called attention to the possibilities of using plant oils such as sunflower, soybean and peanut for diesel fuel as a potentially inexpensive energy source. But an energy report written by the economists and published by Texas A&M's Center for Energy and Mineral Resources indicates plant oils are not economical as substitutes for the fossil fuel.

Even under the most optimistic conditions, No. 2 diesel from plant oils will cost from 80 cents to $1.20 more than regular diesel, according to the report by Drs. Ronald Griffin, Ronald Lacey, Glenn Collins and Hao-Chun Chang.

Texas A&M Scientists Study Estrogen As Link To Melanoma

Scientists here and in Chicago have begun a three-year study to determine if the body chemical responsible for recognizing the female sex hormone estrogen plays a role in the development of melanoma, an often fatal skin cancer in both men and women.

Hormone-sensitive tissues such as the uterus contain estrogen receptors (named for their ability to recognize the hormone), which are also present in many types of tumors, explained Texas A&M University veterinary researcher Dr. Max Amoss.

Amoss directed a pilot study indicating that tumors which regressed in test swine had practically no estrogen receptors present.

That study, funded by Texas A&M's Center for Comparative Medicine, convinced Amoss that estrogen receptors could be very important in a tumor's "decision" to either regress or grow and spread.

Hints For Homemakers

TIPS TO HELP YOU

While there are no iron clad rules when it comes to ironing, a comfortable ironing board can be your passport to not letting the ironing pile up. It may help if you sit down on the job. Choose a board that can be lowered to let you sit comfortably without a wrinkle in the work flow.

Many ironers are freeing themselves from electric iron cords. A new cordless Free-Style iron allows you to zip through your ironing chores freeing you for other activities. The iron energizes on a separate electrical power base with the base designed to complement the bottom of the iron and to hold it upright. This power base features a skid-resistant pad on the underside to prevent sliding and a lazy-susan platform for easy rotation during use.

To use this iron from West Bend, you simply lift it from the base and press in a normal manner. You return the iron to the base after each pressing—the same motion normally used with a conventional cord iron. It could help make smooth sailing of ironing chores.
