

New Printing Company To Begin Operation Here

Bill and Don Comedy, co-owners of the Haskell Free Press, have announced plans to purchase a newspaper printing press to be installed in Haskell in mid-May. The press should be operational shortly after delivery on May 16, and tentative plans call for the May 23 issue of the Free Press to be printed on the new equipment.

The press will operate as a separate business and will be located in the building formerly occupied by the post office. In addition to printing the Free Press, the new business will also print the Munday Courier, Knox County News, Twin Cities News, and Hamlin Herald. The new business will be called Rolling Plains Printing Co., Inc. and each of the newspapers will own stock.

The press is a three unit Goss Community which has been in service in Navasota for the past six years. It will print up to twelve newspaper pages at one time at speeds of up to 15,000 papers per hour.

The Free Press has been printed in Stamford since 1974 when the conversion from letterpress to offset printing was completed. According to the Comedys, the location of a press in Haskell will provide more control over the finished product and should result in a better newspaper.

As with any new venture, the new owners expect some problems and ask for the understanding and cooperation of readers and advertisers during the change.

"We feel like the new press will enable us to provide a better newspaper for our readers and advertisers and at the same time we think the new business will be an asset to the business economy of this area," said the Comedys.

In addition to printing the five area newspapers, the company will solicit other printing jobs. Use of the press is limited to newspapers and circular type printing but each of the newspapers will continue to offer commercial printing in their own facilities.

Officers of the new corporation are: Don Comedy, Haskell, president; Marion Waggoner, Munday, vice-president; and Rick Craig, Hamlin, secretary-treasurer.

Country Caravan Set To Roll Into Haskell

Grab Grandma, round up all of the kids, and get ready on May 24 to hear some of the best country music around, when the Country Caravan rolls into Haskell.

This group, who are students at South Plains College in Levelland, have a special treat in store for all who love country music.

Having performed in a variety of places since their inception, the group has won wide acclaim for their special brand of music.

South Plains College is one of the few colleges in the state to offer a course in western and bluegrass music.

Hence, the idea was born to form a group which would put to use the practical elements of the art of performing western music.

The group consists of 14 actual performers, and four behind the scenes technicians. They will roll into town in a special van, which will be equipped for all of their technical needs, from sound to lighting.

The performance of the Country Caravan will be in conjunction with the Civic Center benefit, which will be held on May 24, and a supper consisting of barbeque and fish will be on tap prior to the groups' performance.

Some of the country favorites which the Caravan will be performing will include "Someone Like You"-Emmylou Harris's song; "Baby's Got Her Blue Jeans On"-Mel McDaniels single; Bob Wills' rendition of "Old Fashioned Love", and the Christy Lane hit "One Day At A Time".

The price of a $10 ticket will get you all of the good, down home music and fine food you can hold.

The supper starts at 6 p.m., with the performance at 8:30 p.m.

LIONS AWARD

Haskell Lions Club President Dr. Ed Harris, left, and Secretary Jim Crain, are pictured with a plaque recently awarded to the local club. The plaque was presented for finishing the District Governors Contest in second place. The plaque represents the first such award in the history of the Haskell Lions Club.

Harris To Make State Trip For Third Time

Senior pole vaulter, Todd Harris, will advance to the State Track Meet, in Austin, May 10-11, by virtue of the fact he was a second place finisher at the Regional Meet, held in Big Spring, last week.

Harris cleared 13 feet 6 inches to earn second place. He was the district winner, with the same identical vault of 13 feet, 6 inches, at the District meet, held in Hamlin, on April 20. This is Harris's third trip to the State meet. He has been dist. champ since 7th grade.

In addition to Harris's performance, there were other competitors who tried for a chance to go to Austin.

In the discus, district winner Joseph Perez did not make the finals. Perez made it to regional with a toss of 132 feet, 9 inches.

The mile relay team of Johnny Castillo, Ponciano Lopez, Steven Rodriguez, and Steven Young were sixth in the finals. They copped a second place win in the district contest. Their regional time was 3:30.00, which was their best time of the entire year.

"We did pretty well. I am glad that the relay team got the experience of competing with the big boys. Joseph (Perez) did not throw as well as he has in the past, but all of the athletes were having trouble with the ring. Todd did not vault up to his potential, but there again, there were problems with the runway. I am hoping that we will be able to go to a place with better facilities next year," was the comment from track coach Jimmy Lises.

New Track Association Off And Running Here

By Janet Wilke

The newly formed Haskell Track Association is off and running, so to speak, after their meeting held Monday night, in the Elementary cafeteria.

With about 40 present, the main topic of discussion was the building of a track for the students and the community, alike, to use.

At the initial meeting, officers were also elected in order to conduct the meeting. Named as the president of the association was Sammy Larned, with vice president being W.L. "Blue" Holt. Secretary was Mrs. Nancy Morales, with Pat Hale in charge of the finance committee, and Doyle High, the site chairman.

Some discussion was given to the approximate cost of building a track, and the estimate of $150,000 was set as a goal to achieve for the association.

At the present time, the association is in the process of trying to locate land upon which a track might be built. Presently, they have no land in mind, but some people have mentioned they might be willing to donate land.

About $3,000 has already been pledged to go toward the purchase of land by members of the association.

The members of the association want the community to know that building a track would not just be for use of the students in the track program, but the community would benefit as well. With as many runners and joggers Haskell now has in the warm weather months, a track would be ideal for this type recreation.

Also, the association asks residents, and businesses alike to keep in mind that holding track meets here would help to bring more business into Haskell.

There is also an idea that perhaps the track might be built with help from the other county schools: Weinert, Rule, Rochester, and Paint Creek. Since none of these schools have a track their communities might be interested in building a county track, so all of the Haskell county schools might benefit from its use.

Another meeting of the Haskell Track Association will be held next Tuesday, May 14, at 8 p.m. at the Elementary cafeteria, and anyone who is interested in securing a track for Haskell is urged to attend. All countywide residents who are interested are also invited to come and give the association their input.

Spring Concert Slated For Thursday, May 16

Bring out the blankets and lawn chairs, at 6:30 p.m. May 16, for that is when the Haskell bands will present their annual spring concert.

This year they will hold their concert in the courtyard of the Elementary School, so it will be necessary for those wishing to attend to bring something with them to sit on.

The beginner band, composed of sixth grade students, will play "Away We Go", "Space Cadets March", and "Two Famous Waltz Melodies".

The Junior High group will perform "First Flight", "King Arthur's Processional", and "Little Scotch Suite".

For the finale of the evening, the high school musicians will be performing "Tower", "Ticonderoga", and "The Battle of Jericho", which were their contest pieces, as well as "Exaltation", "Spanish Fever", and the "School Song".

In addition to the musical performances, there will also be the recognition of the top band students from each group.

There is no charge for the concert, and the public is invited to attend.

Nagata, Milliman United In Double Ring Ceremony

Pamela Ann Milliman and Michael Joseph Nagata of Lafayette, Louisiana were united in marriage at 2 p.m. Saturday, April 20, 1985 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Lafayette, La. Rev. Albert Boumans performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan "Cotton" Milliman, Sr. of Lafayette, La. The parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nagata of Eunice, Louisiana.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of white peau D'ange lace and tissue taffeta. The molded bodice was fashioned with a basque bodice and high sculptured neckline and sheer yolk, etched with pearl encrusted re-embroidered alencon lace. Covered buttons and a similar sheer yolk enhanced the back.

The renaissance sleeves formed points on her hands. Hand clipped alencon lace and seed pearls and irridescent embellished the A-line skirt which hemline was encircled with alencon lace to form a cathedral length train which was overlaid with ruching and beaded peau D'ange lace. She carried a fresh true white cascade bouquet of bridal white rose buds, alba lilies, stephanotis, white dendrobium orchids and a light touch of gypsophyllia. For something old, the bride wore her maternal grandmother's cameo pendant. For something new, she wore a diamond drop given to her by the groom, the diamond having been passed down through several generations. She wore a blue garter and a lucky six pence in her shoe.

Patricia Ann Knight of Lafayette, La. sister of the bride, was her matron of honor. She wore a formal length gown of maize organza. The bodice was fashioned with a sweet-heart neckline. Ruffles formed the sleeves. The A-line skirt featured a sweep at the back hemline which was overlaid with a long train of ruffles.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Sherri Milliman of Fort Worth, Mrs. Bridget Milliman of Lafayette, La. sisters-in-law of the bride and Mrs. Debbie Hensgens of Crowley, La. sister of the groom. They were dressed identically to the matron of honor. The bridesmaids carried nosegay bouquets of mixed flowers, yellow and white daisies, white dendrobium orchids, yellow rose buds, iris, mauve alstromeria lily, sea foam statice, white frusia and fresh gypsophyllia.

Emily Hensgens of Crowley, La. niece of the groom, served as the flower girl. Her formal length gown of white was identical to that of the bridesmaids. She carried a basket of mixed flowers.

Steve Darling of Dallas, served as the best man. Groomsman included Lenny Lemoine of Lafayette, La. Paul Friloux of Baton Rouge, La. and Donnie Miller of Dallas. Ushering guests were Dr. Richard Romero of New Orleans, La., Ken Comer of Jennings, La., and ushers wore formal black tuxedos.

Reception, Autograph Party To Honor Maude Williams

Maude Williams, who served as an Army nurse during World War II, will be honored with a reception, to be held May 9, from 2 until 4 p.m. at the meeting of the Philadelphian Club in Rule.

Mrs. Williams is the author of "To The Angels", a book which tells of her experiences in the Philippines, while she was a prisoner of war there.

In the book, Mrs. Williams describes all of the details of being held as prisoner of war. She tells of the heartaches of not knowing what has become of her husband, Bill, whom she finds out later has been killed while on a POW vessel, docked in the harbor of Takao, Formosa.

At the end of the book, Mrs. Williams recalls the hopes that she would soon be reunited with her beloved Bill, but, as a post-script, the book tells that he was killed after the POW ship he was on was bombed in the harbor of Takao, Formosa. After years of being apart, the couple was never reunited.

The book, and Mrs. Williams, will be featured on the May 10 edition of "Mid-day With Kay", a news-feature program aired at 12:15 on KRBC.

Mrs. Williams is a native of the Rule area, and still has a brother, Raymond Denson, living in Rule. She also has several other relatives living in the Haskell, Stamford, Rule area.

All friends and relatives are invited to the reception honoring Mrs. Williams, May 9th.

"REAL" Seal Helps Dairy Products Consumers

Shoppers pushing their carts down supermarket aisles and past the dairy case have thousands of foods from which to select. During the last year, new products in the dairy category included chocolate almond milk, butter blends, cheese snacks, low-sodium cheeses, lowered calorie sour cream, flavored butters, freezer snack bars and sugar-free hot cocoa mixes.

Corporations are changing their names as well as their product lines. In the first half of 1984, more than five hundred American corporations changed their names, according to a semi-annual survey conducted by a New York City-based marketing communications and design consulting firm. That is the second highest total number of changes on record and is largely due to corporate America's rapid growth.

One way in which the dairy industry is helping to simplify the shopper's selection is by placing a "REAL" Seal (a symbolic drop of milk enclosing the word "real") on genuine dairy foods. In many markets, the Seal is appearing on cartons and packages of milk, cream, half and half, butter, sour cream, concentrated milk, sweetened condensed milk, evaporated milk, lowfat and nonfat dry milk, ice cream, sherbet, frozen custards, ice milk, natural and processed cheeses, cottage cheese, yogurt and cream cheese—all products for which the standard has been set by law.

milk permit its fortification with vitamin D and describe the appropriate methods for pasteurization and ultra-pasteurization. Whole milk contains not less than 3.25 percent milkfat and not less than 8.25 percent solids-not-fat. Vitamin A must be added to lowfat and skim milk to offset the vitamin A lost when milkfat was removed, but it is optional for whole milk. Lowfat milk is defined as having had sufficient milkfat removed to bring the fat level to between 0.5 percent and 2 percent. Skim milk's fat level is brought down to less than 0.5 percent. Both must contain not less than 8.25 percent solids-not-fat and 2,000-IU (International Units) of vitamin A per quart.

Shoppers can be certain they are selecting real dairy products when they see the "REAL" Seal on the package, or they can read the ingredient label carefully. Real dairy products which conform to legal standards are not required to list their ingredients, but many of them do in order to satisfy the consumers' desire to know what they are buying.

The "REAL" Seal may also appear on the package for pizzas made 100 percent with real cheeses. It is also appearing in some fast food outlets and restaurants where real dairy foods are served to the exclusion of their imitators. As shoppers become more selective, product manufacturers are finding ways to give them information on which to base their choices.

Sagerton Homecoming Set May 25 & 26

The Sagerton Homecoming has been set for Saturday and Sunday, May 25th and 26 at the Sagerton

Community Center. This is the eighth homecoming, the last being held in 1982, when the Sagerton History Book was distributed.

Recently the Sagerton school building has been partially remodeled. The building has been used as a community center since the school closed in 1965. Every year a Hee Haw production is put on by the people of the community. The proceeds are used to keep the building in repair.

Mrs. J.B. Toney (Dorothy Knipping) is chairman of this year's homecoming. She has appointed a committee of twenty to help her.

The Sagerton Homecoming event is unique in that no tickets are sold for the Sunday dinner; only donations are given.

Reservations are requested. Contact Mrs. Charles Clark, Sagerton, Registration cards were sent to those who attended in former years if they lived outside a fifty-mile radius.

Registration begins Saturday afternoon at 1:00 p.m. A special feature will be bus tours of the historical sites in and around Sagerton from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Informal meetings will be held Saturday night for visiting, and a light supper will be served at 6:00 p.m. at the community center.

The classes of 1935 and 1945 are planning a special reunion.

After a catered lunch on Sunday, there will be a short program in the auditorium.

Five hundred people are expected for the homecoming at Sagerton: home of a few, home town to many.

Motion Sickness Can Ruin Summer Vacation

Whether your summer vacation takes you to the halls of Montezuma or the shores of Tripoli, you could end up fighting motion sickness in the air, on land, or at sea.

Surveys have found that about nine of every 10 people have experienced this disorder. Experts agree that no one is immune to motion sickness, given the right conditions in extreme.

The Texas Medical Association notes that many people are affected only by certain types of motion. A person who feels no queasiness riding in an airplane or the back seat of a car may be no match for the rock and roll of a boat.

The cause of motion sickness is not fully known but the problem centers on the inner ear, an organ not only of sound but of balance. The inner ear contains three hollow tubes filled with fluid. As the body moves, the shifting of this fluid sends signals to the brain to let you know the direction your body is moving. The inner ear also is sensitive to gravity's pull.

But usually the problem also involves the sense of sight. An example is reading while in the back seat of a car. While the inner ear registers the car's movement, the eyes are fixed on a book that is not moving in relation to the reader.

Sensory conflict occurs, and symptoms of motion sickness arrive. They can include pale skin color, yawning, restlessness, a cold sweat, and sometimes a slightly upset stomach. Excessive mouth watering, nausea, and vomiting may follow. Preventing motion sickness is easier than treating it. Place yourself where there is the least motion. In a car, sit in the front seat and look ahead. In an airplane, sit over the wing. On a ship, remain on deck about midway.

If possible, lie on your back in a semi-reclined position. Look ahead at the distant horizon. Children in cars should be elevated in the front seat so they can see the horizon.

Drugs also may help. At least three over-the-counter antihistamines and several prescription drugs can be effective in preventing motion sickness. A disk form of the prescription drug scopolamine is stuck behind the ear and absorbed through the skin.

Local 4-H'ers Compete In District 4-H Fashion Show

Color and style blended into a harmony of apparel as 124 boys and girls paraded their handiwork, showing they were "In Tune with Fashion" (April 27) at the Rolling Plains District 4-H Fashion Show.

Four 4-H'ers from Hall, Haskell, King and Wilbarger Counties earned the highest awards and will represent the district's 21 counties in the State 4-H Fashion Show, July 10 in Lubbock.

The winners were Katrina Levy, Hall County, active sportswear; Tamra Burnett, Haskell County, evening and specialty wear; Cherry Graves, King County, daytime non-tailored wear, and Melissa Matus, Wilbarger County, daytime tailored attire.

Senior division runners-up in the four clothing categories were: Michelle Scoggins, Haskell County, daytime tailored; Carol Montgomery, Hall County, daytime non-tailored; Jennifer Shultz, Baylor County, active sportswear, and Charla Wiley, evening and specialty wear. They will serve as alternates to the state contest if the first place winner shouldn't participate.

Winners in the intermediate and beginner divisions of the fashion show received awards, but don't compete beyond the district level.

Intermediate winners were: Jennifer Marquart, Hardeman, non-tailored daywear; Shannon Blankenship, Baylor, sportswear; Robin Reneau, Knox, tailored daywear, and Rebecca Brown, Kent, evening and specialty wear.

Beginner division winners were: Cynthia Steed, Childress, tailored

Checking The Home For Potential Hazards Can Prevent Injuries

TEMPLE — Each year, hospital emergency room teams see thousands of children with injuries that could have been prevented, says a member of Texas A&M University's medical faculty who specializes in treating accident victims.

Reviewing the home for potential accidents and acting to eliminate them can help, explains Dr. Kenneth Hackney, chairman of emergency medicine at Scott and White Hospital, which is affiliated with the Texas A&M University College of Medicine.

He suggests that parents (and grandparents, too) "get down on the floor and crawl around at the eye level of a small child" looking for the items that hold a dangerous fascination for children — plant hangers, unprotected electrical outlets, protruding nails or screws.

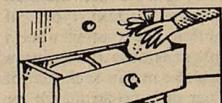

Absences, Turnover Improved By

Day Care Program

Companies whose work forces are composed largely of women can improve absenteeism and turnover rates by implementing child care programs, says a Texas A&M University management professor.

Dr. Stuart Youngblood of Texas A&M's College of Business Administration says the benefits to companies that provide child care can be worth more than the costs.

Youngblood and Kimberly Chambers-Cook, employee relations supervisor at Schrader Automotive, a division of Scovill Inc., compared two textile mills — one with a child care program at the plant, one without. The researchers found workers at the plant with the day care program were generally more committed to the company and more satisfied with their jobs, and turnover and absenteeism were down.

Selected as best models were Holly Bell, Hardeman, beginners; Carye Gruben, Fisher, intermediates, and Deborah Clements, Wilbarger, seniors.

Three contestants in each age division received special awards from the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers Assn. for the best outfits made of fabric which is at least 50 percent cotton.

In the beginner division, these were: Cara Hines, Childress County, first; Audra Lewis, Fisher, second, and Jim Gardner, Stonewall, third.

Intermediate winners were: Carye Gruben, Fisher, first; Faye Mullino, Haskell, second, and Melissa Compton, Shackelford, third. Senior cotton winners were: Carol Montgomery, Hall, first; Jill Jennings, Haskell, second, and Christie King, Young, third.

Special awards for the best wool outfits were presented by the Greenbelt Sheep Growers Assn. Beginner division winner was Cynthia Steed of Childress County.

Frameable Prints Offered By A&M Press

COLLEGE STATION — If you would like to have the beauty of wild flowers year 'round, the Texas A&M University Press has "Wild Flowers" — a portfolio of frameable prints from photographs that have graced the pages of Texas Highways magazine.

The portfolio includes seven large full-color prints showing fields of wild flowers and enlargements of bluebonnets, pink evening primrose and yellow lotus. An Indian paintbrush close-up dominates the portfolio cover.

The photographs, which appeared in smaller sizes in Texas Highways, were taken by Jack Lewis, David Muench, John Suhrsted and Greg White.

All of the prints, except for the one of the Indian paintbrush, measure 14 by 18 inches in outer dimensions, with an image size of 11 by 14, and are self-matted. The cover photo is 8 by 10 and also is frameable.

The $25 portfolio is part of the Texas A&M University Press' Louise Lindsey Merrick Texas Environmental Series.

Tamra Burnett of Haskell was winner in the Senior Evening and Specialty Wear category at the District 4-H Fashion Show.

Michelle Scoggins of Rochester was Runner-up in the Senior Tailored Daywear category at the District 4-H Fashion Show.

Intermediate winners were Robin Reneau, Knox, first, and Denise Gregg, Baylor, second. Senior wool winners were: Melissa Matus, Wilbarger, first; Michelle Scoggins, Haskell, second, and Brenda Channell, Childress, third.

Contestants were judged on sewing skills, clothing construction and overall appearance of the garment, explained Mrs. Elaine Houston, district director with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. She said it helps youths build self-confidence and poise; develop skills in planning, selecting and making clothing; planning a wardrobe and selecting accessories, and develop good posture and grooming habits.

Four-H is the youth development program of Extension, an arm of the Texas A&M University System.

Supporting the annual event was West Texas Utilities Co. It provided facilities, refreshments, decorations and luncheon for the contestants and judges, and conducted educational programs for parents while the youths were being judged.

TEXAS TRAILS

LONE STAR STATE HISTORY by DAN BROWN

FRENCH DALLAS ... In 1855 French aristocrat Victor Considerant, disenfranchised by Napoleon III tyranny, established La Reunion in what became the Oak Cliff section of Dallas. La Reunion's population included a scientist, an agriculturalist, musicians, doctors, craftsmen, and soldiers. This French utopia had apartment style dwellings, a dining hall, a store and a factory. Everyone, even women, could vote. What killed La Reunion? Texas drought, freezing winters and grasshopper eaten crops.

Jobs Program Beneficial To Employer, Employees

By Janet Wilke

The West Central Texas Council of Governments, in conjunction with the West Central Texas Private Industry Council, have a plan for the unemployed, untrained worker. They also have a plan for the employer who needs workers.

Under a program, funded in part by the Jobs Training Partnership Act, there will be training provided, both on the job and in the classroom, for those persons who qualify. Also, this program will provide for employers a means by which to hire new workers and give them training, but only have to pay half of the cost of the salaries coming from the jobs program.

This job program, which replaces CETA-Manpower, and is sponsored by the Texas Department of Community Affairs, has two main objectives: To provide training in the classroom and on the job for those persons who are willing to work and need to work, and to put more persons into the work force, and reduce the welfare and unemployment rolls.

There are four main target groups for the project, and they are youth, women who are the heads of households with children, Blacks, and Hispanics. The program will also have some projects for the disabled.

In the on-the-job training program provided for by the jobs program, the employer will train the applicant in a certain skill, and at the same time the applicant will be receiving a wage (usually $3.35 per hour). However, the employer will have to pay only half of the salary, with the remainder being paid by the program.

The least amount of hours that an applicant will be contracted out for will be 160.

Employers can receive tax credit for being on the program and the on-the-job training program is year round and for youths and adults.

For those who are interested in the classroom training/schooling part, their schooling will be paid for, if they qualify. Also, they will be placed in position following the training, but their placement is dependent upon the availability of the jobs, of course.

Additional funds may also be secured while the applicant is in school.

There is a tryout employment program also, which provides work with pay for those persons who are between the ages of 16-19 and are still attending school.

For the people who are chosen for this program, they will be given jobs, and will be allowed to work up to 250 hours. Most of these will be in the Government or Non-profit sector.

There is also a summer work program, which will provide work for youths up to 40 hours weekly.

There is a program called Youth Opportunities Unlimited, which will be held at Angelo State University, in which youths can attend classes and also receive counseling, cultural activities, and computer science exposure.

This program lasts for 8 weeks, and the participants will be paid for part time work while there. They will be asked to attend classes part-time and work part time. All of their expenses while at ASU will be provided by the jobs program.

In another summer program, there will be training offered in heavy equipment operation, security work, industrial and electrical maintenance, and computer servicing. This will be offered at the Texas A&M Extension in Abilene.

The youth programs for summers are open to youths aged 14-21, and for the year round youth program, the age limit is 16-19 and in school.

It must be mentioned at this point, however, that this program is not designed to provide schooling on a long term basis, such as a four year college stint. It was designed basically with a short term, vocational education in mind.

Applicants are screened as to their capabilities and desire to complete the schooling, and/or training for which they have been chosen to achieve.

To receive the application obtain information on hiring workers, or to get more information on the guidelines for those who might qualify for the program, call Cathy Dudley, collect, at 915-672-5633, or send correspondence to West Central Texas Council of Governments, jobs programs, 1025 East North Tenth Street, P.O. Box 3195, Abilene, Texas, 79604.

The View From Here

by Janet Wilke

BY JANET WILKE

I find it interesting, to say the least, that so very many adults don't seem to take their kids problems seriously enough.

I will not venture to say that I am not at fault in that area, myself, but when my children tell me something, I do at least check it out.

However, I feel that there are many adults that feel that their children's problems are petty and nonsensical.

How many of you, parents, remember when you were kids, and you brought love's first hurt to your mother or father? What was their reaction?

I can still hear it: "Well, it was just 'puppy love' anyway. He's not the only fish in the sea. There will be many more loves before you find the right one."

While all of that might be true, it never really made me feel all that much better!!

Kids these days have a lot of pressure on them. Pressure that we did not have growing up.

Needless to say, we did not have House Bill 72, or any other of that educational mess of today, nor did we have the problems of drug addiction; well, maybe just not on the level with today.

These kids today feel that they have to be super-smart, super-cool, super-neat, and super-perfect just to be able to compete.

We, as adults, are asking kids—just kids—to be perfect in order to live in an imperfect world. That doesn't work!

It is not enough that society puts pressure on these young people, but what do most of them have to come home to? More pressure!

Let us begin to realize that these young people cannot live in a pressure cooker anymore.

It is high time that we, as adults—whether parents or just friends, give these kids a chance to be heard out.

Maybe if we listen, we will realize that their problems, griefs, anxiety, and stresses, are not so silly after all.

We all need to make their lives as stress-free as possible.

Now, don't get me wrong, parents. I am not about to try to tell you how to raise your son or daughter.

However, I feel that there are some problems among the young people in Haskell that need our attention as adults.

The kids need to be heard! Give them a chance!

Senior pole vaulter Todd Harris will be going to the State Track Meet, after his qualifying vault at Regional last week.

This is a personal thrill for Todd, I know, and I am sure that his parents, Jerry and Jerry Ann, are thrilled as much as he is!

Coach Jimmy Lises has said all year that Todd was the best vault in the region. Now, time will tell if Todd could also potentially be one of the best vaulters in the State of Texas! Good Luck!

Well graduation is up on us once again, and I just cannot believe that the year is almost gone.

Let me say that it has been a treat to work with the seniors I have worked with this year. They have all been perfect ladies and gentlemen, and have been very dedicated to whatever cause we were working on at the time. It has been a pleasure to be around such super good kids as these. Their humor, sense of loyalty to Haskell High, and high standards of excellence in every area, has made the class of 1985 a very exceptional one, indeed. Thank you, parents, for having shared your most prized possessions with us this year....your children. You have done a good job, and they are proof of that!

Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District

Spring fever is making the rounds in the Haskell County area. People are making weekend visits to area lakes and ponds for rest and relaxation. Now, with the time changed and longer evening hours, no doubt many of us will be trying our luck in the local fishing holes that no one else knows about.

Many of these "spots" suffered heavy fish losses last year and need restocking. About 40 ponds were replenished with catfish, minnows and hybrid bream last fall, but many ponds were not full enough to support fish until the last 30 days.

Realizing the need for sport fish still exist in the area, the Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District will sponsor another fish delivery on Tuesday May 14. Orders can be placed at the SCS office at 510 South 2nd thru Monday May 13 at 2:00 p.m. or by phone 864-3212. Local SCS personnel are available to assist with stocking recommendations and management techniques.

Species available are channel catfish (3"-6") at $3.30 each; flathead minnows at $7.50 lb; bass (3"-4") at $8.00 each; bluegill or readear (fry-1") at $3.35 each; (1"-2") at $4.45 each and adult at $9.95 each. Other species are available on request.

TAX PLANNING

Written By
Richard E. Rodgers, CPA

FINANCIAL PLANNING IS...WHAT?

Everybody does financial planning. You may not think so but regardless of your level of income or the amount of your accumulated assets, you are doing financial planning. Some people do their own planning very well; others need assistance.

For people with limited resources, financial planning may simply be an effective program for living within their means. For others it can involve a number of financial transactions including, but not limited to, the following:

- Determining your cash needs for current spending, retirement spending and, if appropriate, a gifting program to children or charities.

- Preparing an annual listing of all assets and debts to measure the growth in your net worth.

- Arranging your investments, with consideration for your income tax bracket, to provide to appropriate amount of "income" investments vs "growth" investments.

- Monitoring and changing your investment program to counter the erosion of inflation.

- Evaluating insurance requirements at least annually to determine that coverage for all types of insurance is adequate without being excessive.

- Giving consideration to income tax planning as well as estate and gift tax considerations on all major financial transactions.

- Monitoring investments to determine that the after-tax return meets your retirement objectives. An extra 2% or 3% return on your investment accumulates to a considerable amount over a 20 or 30 year period.

Good financial planning is often a team effort. Seek professional assistance.

The Haskell High School tennis team, whose members are Jennifer Davis, Ricky Rojas, Tim Johnson, and Scott Schaake, participated in the Region I-AA tennis tournament, held in Big Spring last Friday and Saturday.

In the boy's doubles division, number four seeds, Johnson and Schaake defeated McMean and Green of Plains in the first round 6-2, 6-2.

In the quarterfinals, Johnson and Schaake were the winners over Swopes and Rodriguez of Big Spring 6-2, 6-1.

The Haskell pair in the semi-finals were defeated by the number one seeds, Pearson and Donahue of Spearman, 2-6, 4-6.

Making it to the finals, the Indian netters lost in their bid to continue on to Moore and Nettle of Eldorado, 5-7, 6-4, 4-6.

Ricky Rojas, who was playing in the boys singles division, was defeated by Schmidt of Wellington 6-3, 7-5.

In quarterfinal play, Rojas was defeated by Smith of Stratford, 3-6, 4-6.

Jennifer Davis represented the Haskell girls singles play, and in the first round, she was defeated by Clarke of Hart, 1-6, 2-6.

Coach Greg Melton

commented, "I was very pleased with the way that our regional qualifiers performed. They played with great intensity against superb competitors. They are indeed a credit to Haskell High School".

Split Personalities

TEMPLE — More cases of multiple or "split" personality are being documented than ever before, and such disorders may be tied to child abuse, says a psychologist with Texas A&M University's medical school.

Many people are aware of multiple personality disorders through the widely publicized cases of "Eve" and "Sybil," subjects of books and films.

But psychiatrists are just now coming forward to report documented cases of multiple personalities they have seen, says Dr. Joseph Rickard, chief of psychology services at Teague Veterans Center here and one of the few professionals in Texas to observe a case firsthand.

Perhaps the most significant development of pioneer researchers in the field has been a possible link between child abuse and the onset of multiple personality disorders, added Rickard, a Texas A&M professor of psychiatry and behavioral science.

Blood cell research may lead to increased functional life span

TEMPLE — A Texas A&M University medical researcher credited with discovering how the body rids itself of billions of old red blood cells each day says her work may ultimately help extend people's "functional" life span.

"This might mean people would be in relatively good health until age 80 or 90—with less time spent in hospitals or nursing homes due to slow healing, Alzheimer's disease or secondary infections," said Dr. Marguerite Kay of the Teague Veteran's Center, which is affiliated with the Texas A&M University College of Medicine.

"If the aging process of the cells could be controlled, you would see a more active and mobile older generation," explained Kay, associate chief of staff for research at Teague Center and director of geriatric medicine for Texas A&M.

The studies hold potential for slowing deterioration of blood stored for transfusions if some way is discovered for "turning off" the production of the special antigen that appears on old red blood cells and singles them out for destruction, she said.

WTU To Increase Rate Of Electricity This Summer

The price of electricity to residential and commercial customers of West Texas Utilities Co. will increase slightly this month as the company's summer rates go into effect.

The summer-winter rate differential for the two classes of customers was proposed by the Public Utility Commission of Texas staff during negotiations in WTU's rate case last fall.

Beginning with May billings, residential and commercial customers will be charged 3/4-cent more per kilowatt-hour. Residential base rates rise from 3.22 cents to 3.97 cents per kWh, while commercial base rates rise from 3.43 cents to 4.18 cents per kWh.

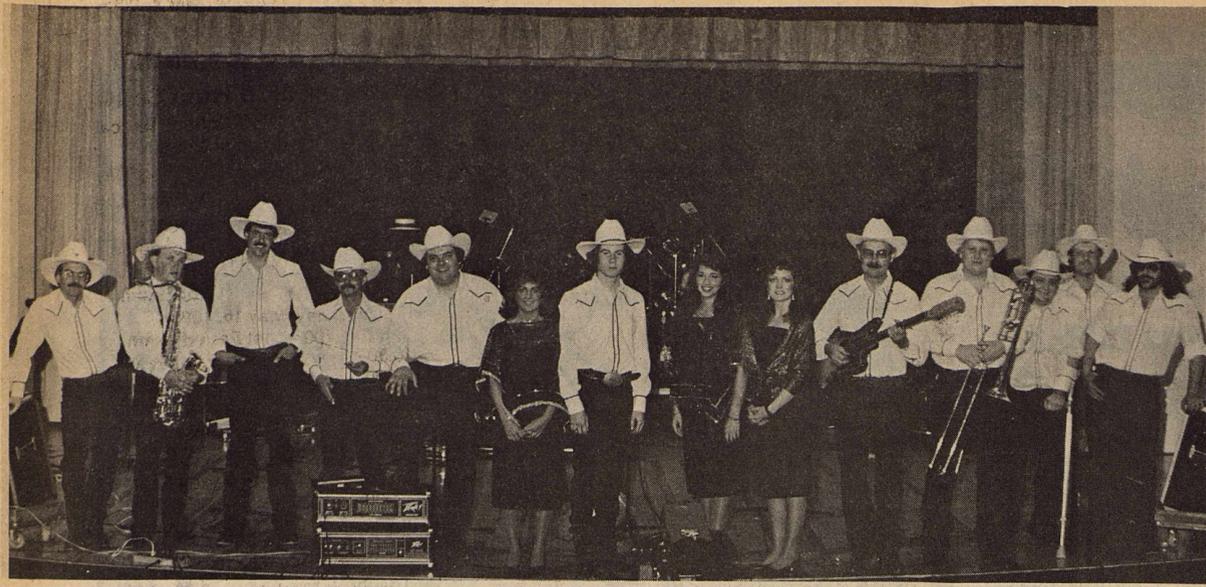

Coincidentally, there will be a fuel factor adjustment raising the cost of fuel from 3.14 cents per kWh to 3.594 cents. This means that residential rates, including fuel costs, will go from 6.36 cents per kWh to 7.5649 cents, and commercial rates, including fuel costs, will go from 6.5 cents to 7.77 cents per kWh.

The new base rates and fuel cost factor will be effective for bills rendered during the month of May. The summer rates continue through October.

The seasonal rate differential has been used by many companies for many years. The main reason is that the cost of service is higher during the peak usage season, or summer months. Also, higher rates serve as an incentive for customers to conserve and trim the peak demand.

COUNTRY CARAVAN TO PERFORM AT CIVIC CENTER BENEFIT

Marketing Quotas To Get Vote

Conforming with permanent farm legislation until the 1985 farm bill becomes law, the U.S. Department of Agriculture recently proclaimed an acreage allotment of 54 million acres and a marketing quota of 1,955 million bushels for the 1986 wheat crop.

Unless new legislation prevents it, Glenn R. Brzozowski, CED, Haskell

County, said marketing quotas will be required if approved by at least two-thirds of the producers voting in a referendum to be held July 19-26. "While new farm legislation is being enacted, farmers need to know the program provisions that could be in effect," he said.

If marketing quotas are approved, the 1986 wheat program would include mandatory acreage controls with stiff penalties for over-planting of the allotment, a two-tiered price support system, a domestic and export certificate program financed by processors and exporters, and under certain conditions, a mandatory land diversion program.

"If more than one-third of the eligible producers voting in the referendum reject marketing quotas, the basic wheat program would contain a price support loan program set at 50 percent of parity. This would be available only to farmers planting within their acreage allotment, with no acreage controls or penalties for overplanting, no domestic or export certificate program, and no land diversion authority."

Brzozowski said eligible farmers are those who have an interest in a farm with an established acreage allotment that will be derived from the wheat allotment history that has been suspended since the 1977 crop.

Used under large crop conditions, marketing quotas allocate the market among farms growing the crop. "They are made effective through farm acreage allotments and monetary penalties on production or marketings from excess acreage if the acreage exceeds the farm allotment," the ASCS official said.

According to USDA, all States will be considered commercial wheat-producing areas for the 1986 wheat crop.

Larger Cows Not Significant To Better Calf Production

Big cows may not be the most efficient producers in a beef cattle herd.

Although big cows generally produce the heaviest calves, their maintenance costs may outweigh the benefits of the extra pounds of beef.

A demonstration at the Four G Ranch near Hempstead the past two years showed that cow maintenance costs need to be considered along with the age of cows in coming up with an efficient herd.

The demonstration was conducted by Dr. L.R. Sprott, beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System, in cooperation with Bret Triplett, former manager of the Four G Ranch. The effort was a part of the Extension Service's Integrated Livestock Management Program.

Some 200 Santa Gertrudis cows aged two to 12 years were used in the study. Both cow weights and calf weaning weights were recorded and compared between cows of different age and weight groups.

The heaviest cows (1201 to 1700 pounds) weaned the heaviest calves at an average of 552 pounds. Medium-weight cows (1000 to 1200 pounds) weaned calves that averaged 539 pounds while the smallest cows (less than 1000 pounds) weaned calves averaging 506 pounds.

"Looking at these figures, the medium-weight cows produced calves 33 pounds heavier than calves from the smallest cows but only 13 pounds lighter than calves from the heaviest cows. This indicates that the medium-weight cows outperformed the smallest cows and did almost as well as the heavy cows," Sprott points out.

Furthermore, the specialist estimates that the heavy cows required about 18 percent more energy and 13 percent more protein on a daily basis than did the medium-weight cows. This extra input yielded only 2 percent more beef in the form of the weaned calf.

"Thus a cattleman must decide whether or not he wants to maintain a cow that needs that much input for such a meager increase in calf weaning weight," says Sprott.

Records from the study also show that as cow age increased, calf weaning weight decreased, notes the specialist.

The youngest cows weaned calves at 548 pounds while the oldest ones weaned calves weighing only 517 pounds.

"This points out the importance of keeping younger cows and culling older ones," says Sprott.

All in all, then, cattlemen should make good use of records in determining the weaning weights of calves from various classes of cows and should use this information to make management decisions to increase herd efficiency, emphasizes the specialist.

YOUR FLOWERS AND PLANTS Helpful Hints

By Merlin Olsen

Flowering house plants can cheer us up and add warmth and beauty to our indoor environments, especially if it's cold or gloomy outside. They need care, but too much can be as bad as too little, according to FTD Florists.

Light, temperature, watering, humidity and fertilizing all affect the health of a plant and it's wise to consult your florist for advice about specific varieties and your indoor conditions. However, here are some general tips:

• Light. Most flowering plants require some sunlight. The best time for them to get it is mid-day or in the afternoon.

• Temperature. This varies by plant, but remember that at night most plants should be placed in a spot 10 degrees cooler. This conserves the plant's stored food supply.

• Watering. Test the soil with your fingers and if it feels dry, water thoroughly. But don't overwater and never let a plant stand in water too long. Plants in clay pots lose moisture through the sides and need more frequent watering than those in plastic or glazed containers.

• Humidity. Use a humidifier or put pans of water near heat outlets. You also can place plants on a gravel-filled tray with the water level just below the bottom of the pot. With the gravel, you don't have to empty the excess water, which becomes a source of humidity.

• Fertilizing. Always use a mixture designed especially for flowering house plants and feed them on a regular schedule. Don't fertilize when the soil is dry.

PUBLIC NOTICE

AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc. ("AT&T Communications"), in accordance with the Public Utility Regulatory Act and the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas ("PUC") hereby gives notice of its intent to implement a new schedule of rates for its services. The new rates will be effective May 14, 1985, unless otherwise determined by the PUC. All customers and classes of customers would be affected by the proposed rates.

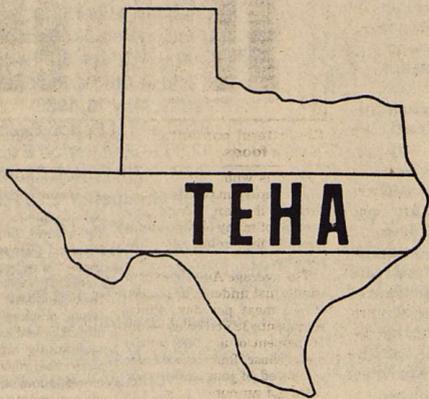

AT&T Communications has filed a reprice of its tariffs designed to more closely recover access and other costs for WATS and 800 Service and all private line services including Channel Services, Foreign Exchange (FX), DATAPHONE* Digital Service, and OCC Facilities.

Also proposed is the institution of a charge for Directory Assistance to begin to recover access costs incurred for such service and increases in rates for operator assisted AT&T Long Distance calls. The initial minute charge for all AT&T Long Distance calls and additional minute rates for AT&T Long Distance calls 51 miles or less are proposed for increases to reflect the access charges approved by the PUC for such calls.

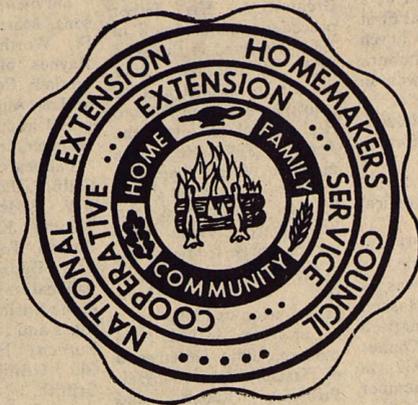

The proposed new rates for all services would result in an increase in adjusted test period revenues of $139 million or 12.7 percent.

A complete copy of the proposed tariffs are on file with the Texas Public Utility Commission.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene or participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information also may be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

CREED

We believe in the sanctity of the home.
We believe in the home as the place where love, faith, trust and devotion must be lived each day, where obedience and reverence grow, and where God is known.
We believe those within its walls should be taught to work, to play, and to have compassion for those less fortunate.
We believe sharing responsibilities is necessary and that from the fireside will come the citizens who will uphold the best ways of life.

Glenda Nelson Recognized At Charity Ball Function

The Hammond Junior Auxiliary's Charity Ball highlight was the awarding of fame honor to the city's two outstanding citizens. The selection is made by auxiliary supporters decision on persons making the greatest contribution in service to their community.

GLENDAN NELSON

Named for the Hall of Fame were Glenda Nelson, wife of Dr. James Louis Nelson, Hammond physician, and Phil Livingston, president of Citizens National Bank. Glenda has headed many organizations since moving to Hammond. Her first bid to fame was in having a leading role in preservation of Hammond heritage in the family residence, the former home of the late Governor Jayred Y. Sanders. The mansion type of the former governor was restored by Dr. and Mrs. Nelson. In the historic district of downtown Hammond, Glenda lent a helping hand in restoring the old Graziano grocery store into a modern concept for a medical office complex. She has been active in the Tangipahoa Parish Medical Auxiliary.

She helped to organize the Organ Donor Awareness program for the auxiliary, while serving as president.

Mrs. Nelson has been an active member of the Junior Auxiliary, serving in leading field, currently she works on a national level as a regional director. Recently for the Hammond United Fund Benefit program, she was one of the "First Five Honorees," recognized at the organization's celebration. She is active in the First Presbyterian Church of Hammond, and Elder on the Church Board.

A native of Haskell, Mrs. Nelson received a bachelor of science degree from North Texas University and a master of science from Texas Tech. Dr. and Mrs. Nelson are parents of three children, Stephanie, James Bryant and Fabian.

Other services rendered Mrs. Nelson are her volunteer work with the Association for Gifted and Talented Children in the area; she has had a prominent role in the establishment and support of the Northlake Arts Camp and lends support to the public school system.

Glenda Nelson is a graduate of Paint Creek High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Walton of Paint Creek.

TRERC research shows home buyers

Most Texans who purchase a home are young marrieds, have no children and make more than twice the median income for all Texans. That profile of state homebuyers was released by the Texas Real Estate Research Center (TRERC) at Texas A&M University.

Half of the homebuyers made at least $40,000, compared to the $19,618 median income for the state as a whole, said Don E. Albrecht, a research scientist for TRERC and the Department of Rural Sociology at Texas A&M. The majority had incomes of more than $25,000, and nearly two-thirds had incomes of $35,000 or more.

Kathy Morrison Chosen To Attend Symposium

Kathy Morrison, student, and Mr. Gerald McCoy, science teacher, of Haskell High School have been chosen to attend the 25th Annual Energy Science Symposium at The University of Texas in Austin, June 4th - 7th.

WTU will pay all expenses for 28 students and teachers from their service area to attend the week-long Symposium in June.

"I think the Science Symposium offers WTU a wonderful opportunity to assist in the advancement of scientific knowledge in our public schools," said Sue Pate, WTU Haskell local manager.

The Symposium is jointly sponsored by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation and The University of Texas. West Texas Utilities is one of the sponsoring companies in the Foundation.

Kathy Morrison and Mr. Gerald McCoy will be among the four hundred high school science students and teachers throughout the state who have been selected to attend the sessions in Austin. They will have the rare opportunity to hear some of the nation's most outstanding scientists speak, and to see some of the finest science facilities available.

Crowding Not Bad

COLLEGE STATION — A crowd is not a crowd is not a crowd, says a Texas A&M University psychologist who has spent the last 10 years researching what conditions make people feel crowded and why.

Dr. Stephen Worchel's most recent research indicates that during crowded arousing or exciting events — such as a funny movie — people attribute their feelings of stimulation not to the elbow-to-elbow conditions but to the event. In fact, he said, crowding may enhance the pleasure of the event.

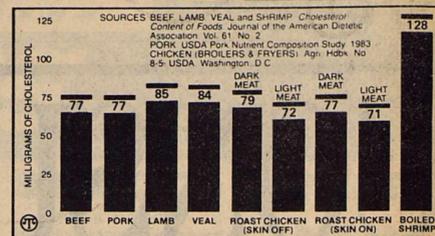

"People generally think that crowding is totally based on the amount of space a person has," said Worchel. "What came to my attention was that at sports events like basketball and football games people had almost no space and didn't seem to feel crowded."

In order to verify his observation, Worchel showed groups of subjects four film or television clips — a comedy, a boxing match, a sexually explicit episode, and an ecology piece on the Florida Everglades — under crowded and uncrowded conditions.

"I found that people who watched arousing movies under conditions that violated personal space enjoyed the movie more and felt less crowded than those who had watched the non-arousing segments under the same conditions," he said.

NEWS OF NUTRITION

Cholesterol content of cooked three ounce portions of certain foods.

Meat is what nutritionists call a "nutrient dense" food. That is, it offers a high proportion of many essential nutrients for relatively few calories.

The average American consumes just under four ounces of red meat per day, which represents 327 calories—only 16 percent of a 2,000 calorie diet. Those four ounces are composed of just under two-thirds of an ounce of ground beef, about one and one-third ounces of other fresh beef, a third of an ounce of fresh pork, an ounce and a half of processed meats and about seven-hundredths of an ounce of veal and lamb combined.

Meat is an important source of many essential nutrients, including protein, B-vitamins and minerals. Take iron, for instance. The iron in red meat actually increases the amount of iron absorbed from other foods eaten with red meat. And red meat is a much richer source of iron than chicken, turkey and fish.

The thiamin in that average daily four-ounce serving of red meat equals 21 percent of a grown man's RDA (Recommended Dietary Allowance) and 30 percent of a woman's; it supplies 24 percent of a man's and 33 percent of a woman's RDA for niacin.

Red meat contains less cholesterol than many people believe. Three ounces of cooked lean beef, for instance, is slightly lower in cholesterol than the same size serving of roast chicken—without the skin. Cooked lean pork is only marginally higher in cholesterol than roast chicken. The average four-ounce serving of all red meats combined contributes less than one-third of what many doctors recommend for maximum daily cholesterol intake (300 mg.).

Individuals watching the fat in their diet should not cut out red meat. That average four-ounce serving of red meat contributes only 214 calories from fat. That's about 10 percent of a 2,000 calorie diet. Many nutritionists recommend that fat contribute no more than 30 percent of daily calories, so it's easy to see that red meat fits in with room to spare.

High in protein, minerals and B-vitamins and modest in calories, fat and cholesterol, red meat is a valuable part of a balanced diet. This tasty American favorite is truly a nutrition bargain.

PIONEER BRAND SEEDS

TAKING THE HEAT

Plant this pair from Pioneer for a superior grain sorghum crop in hot, dry weather.

8680
This hybrid is especially adapted to the lighter and mixed soils of North Texas and the Rolling Plains. Excellent yield record under a wide range of conditions — but most impressive is its ability to produce a dependable yield when hot and dry conditions cause many to fail. Semi-open heads produce dark red, hard-textured grain with high bushel weight. Grows fast and matures early. Excellent root and stalk strength keep it standing for maximum harvest.

The tougher the conditions, the better you'll like 8493. A new hybrid, especially developed to withstand the heat, drought, and insect problems of this region. Superior yield and standability, excellent resistance to greenbugs, and much improved grain quality. Strong stalk and roots, too. Medium height plants produce semi-compact heads of harder textured, heavy test-weight grain. Plant this one with 8680 to spread weather risks, genetic risks, and harvest load.

Depend on these two for both yield potential and drought tolerance. Come on in let's talk.

JH Band Contest

Members of the Haskell Junior High School band will be in competition in the Snyder Band Festival Saturday.

For their concert selections, the group will be playing "First Flight", "King Arthur's Processional," and "Little Scotch Suite". Their concert will be performed at 1:20 p.m., with sight-reading following.

About 30 solos and ensembles will also be performed in conjunction with the festival.

Board Meeting

In a called meeting of the Haskell ISD Board of Trustees on Saturday, the Board named a committee to screen applicants for the position of head coach/athletic director.

The committee of Mike Guess, Wayne Cadenhead, and Bill Thomas will assume the task of locating a new person for that position after head coach/athletic director W.L. "Blue" Holt requested re-assignment as full time math teacher.

The motion was entertained by Wayne Cadenhead and seconded by Roger Moeller.

Pre-Kindergarten

Haskell ISD may offer a 1/2 day Pre-Kindergarten program beginning next fall. To be eligible, a student must be 4 on or before September 1 and either not speak or understand the English language or come from a family who economic condition would qualify them for free lunches.

If you think your child would qualify for this program, come by the elementary school office for registration forms. Deadline for registration will be May 17.

If you have any questions concerning this new program, call the principal's office at 864-2891.

Card of Thanks

CARD OF THANKS
The family of Jimmie Frierson wants to thank each of you who were by our sides during Momma's long illness. Thank you for your prayers, visits, calls, cards, memorials, flowers and food. To those of you who sat with Momma, thank you. We could not have made it without you. Our love and prayers are with you. 19p

Card of Thanks

Blessings on all you dear people of Haskell for each and every one of your prayers, words of encouragement, flowers, cards, food and thoughtful deeds of kindness during the recent loss of our wife, Mother and Grandmother. We pray God's special blessings on Rev. J.C.
Amburn and the folks at First Assembly of God Church, and other Haskell churches, for their prayers and deep concern throughout her illness. The preparation and serving of food to the entire family last week were added expressions of their love.
We appreciate the expertise and sympathetic actions of Charles McCauley and his staff. Words would never be adequate enough to express our thanks to everyone for standing with us in these hours of sorrow. The people of Haskell have shown themselves to be true friends and disciples of Christ.
"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." Matt. 25:31-40. The family of Mamie Oates Conner. 19p
