? Why Give Blood ?

BY CHARLES HARVEY
 Red Cross Blood Chairman

Blood, a most precious natural resource, is a gift that helps thousands of people every day recover their health. The American Red Cross is the sole supplier of blood to 44 hospitals in the Red River Region. In case the need for blood transfusion arises during your hospital stay or that of a family member, these are the main things to remember.

(1) The blood you receive through the ARC is available because a volunteer - a caring neighbor in your community - donated it.

(2) There is no known substitute for human whole blood, and there is no way to maintain a reliable blood supply except by donations from healthy individuals.

(3) If you are hospitalized in the Region, you will automatically receive Red Cross blood. In the year of 1984 the Haskell hospital used 186 pints of blood, and so far this year of 1985 we've used 120 pints. So you can see that we've already used more than the 45 units and 43 units of blood that were donated the last two bloodmobile. The ARC had informed us (Haskell Hospital) that if our donations "don't" come up, they have the right to STOP sending us blood. And then the citizens of Haskell would have to go to Abilene or another hospital to get blood.

So PLEASE when the bloodmobile comes to Haskell, get out and donate.

The Bloodmobile will be in Haskell Wednesday, August 28, 1985 from 10:30 a.m. until 2:00 p.m. at The First Baptist Church.

Two Highway Projects Set For County

The Abilene Highway District has two projects among more than $200 million in transportation work that is expected to receive contractors' bids this month in Austin.

The projects to be let to contract are:

Haskell and Jones County - U.S. 277 around Stamford.

Haskell County - County Road 166 - reconstruct a bridge over California Creek just east of F.M. 600 in Southeast section of County.

The highway department will close its 1985 fiscal year with a record total of $1.6 billion obligated for highway, bridge and public transportation contracts. The previous high year was 1979 when Texas spent $1.24 billion for transportation improvements. In fiscal year 1984, the department spent $764.9 million.

The $208.9 million total for the 65 contracts on this month's bid schedule is based on estimates by state engineers. The competitive bidding process usually trims several million from the total estimate. Therefore, final figures for the 1985 fiscal year will not be firm until the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission reviews and takes action on contractors' bids later this month.

The release of the large volume of projects for bids will make the third consecutive month that the total has been more than $200 million. The June and July projects totalled $215.2 million and $202.4 million, respectively, with the June figures representing the largest single month for transportation contracts in the department's history.

The increase in projects follows the flow of new transportation funds resulting from increases in fuel taxes and registration fees by the Texas Legislature last summer.

Dates Announced For Annual County Fair

The Haskell County Fair will be held September 12, 13, 14th. This year the Fair board wants to give your club or group an opportunity for an exciting fund raising project.

In the past a traveling carnival has provided the midway for the Fair, but we would like that money to stay in Haskell County and benefit the people here.

Gather your people together and come up with the most fun and imaginative activity you can. Then call Brian Burgess at 864-3250 to reserve a space and to record your chosen activity. You set your own price for participation at your booth and you keep 100 percent of all monies you take in.

We make no charge for the space. Your workers will pay to get into the fair. That $2 ticket will be all the proceeds required by the fair board.

So let's get busy and have a great Haskell County Fair and Carnival.

 Vice President
 John Deere Co.
 Box 20598
 Dallas, Texas 75220

Dear Dave Noble,

We have received word of John Deere's decision to continue operations in Haskell through Hale Farm Supply and would like to publicly thank you for reaching this decision.

Agriculture is a vital part of the economy of Haskell and John Deere's commitment to remain in Haskell and serve this large section of our community is to be applauded. Both Hale Farm Supply and John Deere are valuable assets to the Haskell area and we are pleased that an agreement could be reached to continue this partnership in our area.

The depressed state of the agricultural economy is nothing new to anyone in this area, Mr. Noble, and we're sure you are as conversant with this problem as anyone. The optimism of the American Farmer is unflinching and when agriculture again becomes profitable, John Deere's commitment to this area will be rewarded.

Mr. Noble, we look forward to many years of friendship and cooperation between Haskell and John Deere and again applaud your decision to remain a part of our community.

Kitchen Types Divided Into Five Categories

Just as food is more than an answer to the basic need to survive, so are those who preside over the kitchens of America more than suppliers of a fundamental diet. Keen observers of the gastronomic scene can now identify at least five major types of Kitchen Dwellers.

Kitchen Engineers—These cooks have specific tools for specific jobs. They keep their knives well sharpened and select sturdy pots and pans. They own both wire and roller cheese cutters and use each for its specific cheese. They use a special dish to keep butter at spreading consistency. Their delight is the creation of complicated main dishes, and their spice cupboards are in alphabetical order.

Kitchen Enthusiasts—These cooks find joy in cooking and in thinking about food. They collect and study cookbooks just as romantics devour historical novels. A major treat is a visit to a kitchen store or a new mail order catalog with kitchen gadgets. Each new purchase is tested in creative ways. The Colby cheese slice on the apple pie may be star shaped, using a cookie cutter. The sticks of Cheddar cheese in the chef's salad may have been cut with a french fry cutter or egg slicer, rather than a knife. A melon baller may have produced the circles of Monterey Jack cheese tossed into the chili. Kitchen enthusiasts "do it their way" and have fun doing it.

Kitchen Prisoners—On the other hand, these cooks may manage to produce enough edible food for a meal but other projects take top priority. Instead of a recipe book, they may be reading textbooks as they spoon cottage cheese onto a plate and add fresh fruit. They may plan a thirty-minute workout while dinner is in the oven. For them, life is so full of interesting things that food gets pushed to the back burner.

Kitchen Visitors—These people are able to boil water but calling them cooks would be an overstatement. While their kitchens may be beautifully decorated and inviting, they seldom show signs of wear. Milk in the refrigerator and ready-to-eat cereal or graham crackers in a cupboard will sustain their life. A bowl of fruit on the counter adds a color accent and a nutritious snack between restaurant meals.

Kitchen Traditionalists—These cooks are the role models folks wish they had. Freshly baked butter cookies perfume the air. Cheddar and Swiss cheese are purchased in large chunks and offered with crackers and fruit. Real whipped cream tops a simple dessert. While favorite cookbooks are well thumbed, many recipes are filed in their heads. It's not the fancy sauces and intricate dishes that make their menus memorable, it's the quality of the ingredients they use.

Probably most kitchen dwellers combine traits from several of these types or vary from time to time, depending on the other commitments. Who is operating your kitchen today?

Child Abuse Is Serious Problem

During the past several months everyone has become increasingly aware of the problem of child abuse in our society. Many of you may have wondered what you could do personally, to help a badly neglected or abused child overcome the damaging effects of such abuse.

Many people are not aware that in some cases of child abuse or neglect the children must be temporarily removed from their own homes and placed with foster parents who can provide a safe and caring environment for them until their own families deal successfully with the problems that led to the abuse or neglect. Children may need a home for only a few days, weeks, months, or even longer.

Due to the increasing number of child abuse cases being reported, the need for more foster homes is crucial. Homes are needed for children of all ages from birth to 17. There is a particular need for families who can help sexually abused children work through the emotional problems caused by such abuse. There is also a continuing need for more Black and Hispanic foster families who can take older children.

If you feel your family has the patience and stability to provide a safe temporary home for any of these children, please contact: Patsy Riley, Texas Department of Human Resources, Box 191, Seymour, Texas. The phone number is (817) 888-2552. If you prefer, you may contact your local DHR Office and Patsy will get back in touch with you.

Library News

The Haskell County Library will host a program Saturday, Aug. 24th at 2:00 p.m. for the children that joined the summer reading program and finished the required number of books. There will be a speaker and Mrs. McGee will present certificates. Refreshments will be served.

Choice Of School Clothes Important To Children

Most adults know that looking good is an important part of feeling good. But parents sometimes overlook how important feeling well dressed is to children.

Children who have confidence in how they look tend to be more positive in their schoolwork and their relations with classmates. Research studies also show that teachers believe school-age children with an attractive appearance are more intelligent and do better in school.

Parents can help children have that extra bit of confidence by planning school clothes carefully. The basic element in selecting school clothes is that they should be attractive, comfortable and safe. But beyond that is an enormous range for choice—a choice to be made with the child's input.

Here are some suggestions on how to make shopping trips for clothes a success.

First make a money plan. Know how much you have to spend on clothes for everyone before you begin buying. The greatest amount of money spend on children's clothing usually goes for a back-to-school wardrobe.

Have a closet check at the beginning of each season. Decide what is usable, stylish, still fits, and in good repair. Agree on what to buy and when, since you don't need to have everything at once. School-age children grow fast, so purchase only a few things at the beginning of the school year to avoid outgrowing garments.

Buy clothes that fit according to your child's size, not by age. Most manufacturers base sizes on weight and height so if you can't shop with the child, take actual measurements along. Since sizes may vary by manufacturer, it's best to have the child try on the clothes.

Check for quality and safety. Look for straight seams, check buttons, zippers, belts, ties and pockets, for strength, finishing and ease of handling. Select fabrics that are sturdy but comfortable, colorfast and easy-care requirements.

Always read labels before you buy. Permanent labels give you details for laundering. Hanging tags often carry additional information on fabric properties.

Yard Of The Month

Having a beautiful yard is not new to the T.B. Bingham who live on Ave. J. East. Before moving to Haskell two years ago, they were cited as having the Yard of the Month in Knox City. This month they won such acclaim in Haskell.

According to Grace Womack, chairman, Community Betterment Committee, Haskell Chamber of Commerce, the judges chose this month's winner for its beautifully manicured lawn and surroundings. On the East front are mimosa trees surrounded by thick, rich bermuda grass, supplemented by four crape myrtles.

In bloom are periwinkles and cockscomb, joined last year by a beautiful array of marigolds that, they felt, failed to come up to past standards this summer. Surrounded by a picket fence in the back yard are three mulberry and five fruit trees, and the last of a vegetable garden which they plant traditionally.

They enjoy the yard the most when they can share it with their three children each time they come to Haskell to visit their parents.

With the help of a water well, Mr. Bingham does all the landscaping and caring of their yard, and his wife gives him full credit for its beauty. She says he does all of it, but even so, it is obvious that he has an appreciative partner who loves the results.

The Chamber of Commerce congratulates Bingham on their achievement. Their yard is a pleasure a town enjoys.

Dyess Appreciation Day Scheduled For August 24

Dyess AFB, Abilene, Texas will once again open its gates to the public at 10 a.m. for the annual Abilene Appreciation Day open house Aug. 24. Admission and parking are free.

Highlighting this year's Abilene Appreciation Day will be the Air Force Thunderbirds aerial demonstration team and the Army Golden Knights precision parachuting team. Other activities scheduled include static display aircraft, a C-130 flight demonstration, military working dog demonstrations, a model aircraft flying demonstration and a civilian aircraft fly-in.

The Air Force Thunderbirds, "America's Ambassadors in Blue," will streak through the skies over Dyess AFB beginning at 2 p.m. During their performance, the world-famous aerial demonstration squadron will spin, loop, roll and dive through a spectacular series of precision aerobatic maneuvers with minimum wingtip clearance.

The Army Golden

Knights, recognized as the finest precision parachute team in the world, will begin their performance at 1:30 p.m. The team, specially selected airborne soldiers, has won six World and 48 National Parachuting Championship titles.

During Abilene Appreciation Day there will also be more than a dozen military aircraft on display, including the 96th Bombardment Wing's B-1B "Star of Abilene." Also, nearly three dozen booths and displays, all sponsored by base squadrons and organizations, will sell many types of refreshments and Air Force related items. Several squadrons will also sponsor displays of their unit mission.

In conjunction with Abilene Appreciation Day, the 96th BMW Safety Division, along with the Abilene Area Aviation Safety Committee will present the seventh annual Pilot Safety Seminar and civilian aircraft fly-in. More than 300 people in 100 civilian aircraft are expected for this year's seminar, according to Maj. Robert P. Davis, 96th BMW Safety Division. Civilian aircraft are invited to fly into Dyess AFB between 7:30 and 9:30 a.m. in the morning of the open house; the safety seminar begins at 10 a.m. in the base recreation center. Buses will meet incoming pilots at the flightline and transport them to the seminar.

Pilots wishing to fly in for the seminar should contact Wing Safety at (915) 966-4278.

Haskell Band Raises Funds

The Haskell Indian Band is currently sponsoring a magazine subscription program under the auspices of QSP, Inc., a subsidiary of the Reader's Digest Association, Inc.

If you have any magazine subscriptions that will need to be renewed in the near future, or if you would like to extend a subscription for a year, please consider taking care of this through the band. We can also take care of any new magazine subscriptions that you may like to have. With the QSP program, 40 percent of the purchase price of every subscription is retained by the band. Also, every subscription is covered by a satisfaction or money back guarantee. This guarantee is underwritten by QSP, Inc.

This program cannot be undersold. Prices are at the regular subscription rates, with many publishers offering special reduced rates for this program. In addition, any reduced price coupon that you may have can be honored. There are over 500 publications to choose from. We hope that you will view this program favorably. Each year, thousands of dollars leave the Haskell community through magazine clearing houses and money sent directly to publishers. This year the band would appreciate the opportunity to retain 40 percent of this money to benefit the Haskell I.S.D. band program.

This subscription drive will run from Aug. 19 to Sept. 2. It will be concluded before classes begin this fall so as not to interfere with the academic studies of the high school band students. If you are not contacted by a high school band student by Thurs. Aug. 29, and you would like to participate in this program, please contact the band office at 864-2707 on Aug. 29 or Aug. 30 between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m.

WE HAVE pencil cups, stackable trays, book-ends, paper clip holders, stamp cubes and telephone files in matching colors. Haskell Free Press.

REFUND POLICY, NONCREDIT CLASSES

Because noncredit classes are operated on a cost recovery basis, there are no provisions for refund of fees after the first class meeting. Should sufficient enrollment to justify the operation of a non-credit class fail to materialize, 100 per cent of all fees will be refunded.

LOW ENROLLMENT CLASS NOTIFICATION

All classes must have a minimum of 12 students enrolled and paid before instruction may commence. # Weed Control And Lawn Care Important

The old saying goes, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," and it is true—even when talking about weeds. The best way to keep crabgrass, dandelions, buckhorn, and other turf weeds from taking over your lawn is to have thick, vigorously growing grass taking up all the space. But a lawn has to be lush and green before it can stay that way, right?

The people at the U.S. Department of Agriculture know this, and they have published Weed Control in Lawns and Other Turf (item 146N, $2.00) to help you get your lawn in shape and keep it that way. It discusses fertilizers and fungicides in terms you can understand so that you can use them to prevent diseases that would otherwise leave your lawn vulnerable to weeds. It also identifies common weeds and tells you how to get rid of them. For your copy of Weed Control in Lawns and Other Turf, send $2.00 to the Consumer Information Center, Department 146N, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Some tasks that are part of your normal lawn upkeep, if done right, will help guard against the invasion of weeds. Light, frequent watering, for example, invites crabgrass. To make your grass develop a thick root system that will crowd out the unwanted intruders, water it until the soil is wet six inches down. If you have clay soil, you will have to water less frequently because it holds water. Sandy soil, on the other hand, drains quickly and requires watering more often.

Mowing is another regular job that affects your lawn's vulnerability to weeds. Grass should be cut weekly, with the mower set according to the type of grass you have. Cool-season grasses should be cut to two or two-and-a-half inches. Mowing closer than this allows light to stimulate weed seed germination, and once a seed is rooted, it will come up through the turf. Warm-season grasses are denser and should be cut shorter. Bermudagrass, for example, should be kept to a height of about 5/8 inch.

Zoysia, centipedegrass, and carpetgrass should be mowed to about one inch. Unless the grass is excessively long, or has weeds bearing seeds, don't catch the clippings. The mulch layer will help discourage weeds too.

If you have weeds, they can be treated with herbicides. Herbicides are classified as pre-planting, pre-emergence, and post-emergence. These come in many brands and forms; read labels for application instructions. Weeds also come in many varieties. They are classified as narrow-leaf or broadleaf, and different classes require different herbicides.

Many of the narrow leafed weeds are unwanted kinds of grass, such as crabgrass. The best way to control these is with a pre-emergence herbicide applied when the soil is approximately fifty degrees fahrenheit. This will stop it before it has a chance to germinate.

Broadleaf weeds, such as dandelions, are best controlled with post-emergence herbicides. These are usually applied directly to the weed. Be especially careful with this kind of weed killer, and keep it away from flower beds and shrubs. It can damage plants you want to keep as easily as those you want to kill.

Weed Control in Lawns and Other Turf explains the active ingredients in weed killers and fertilizers so that you know how and why they work. It lists common and chemical names, as well as brand names for various weed killers. To learn more, send $2.00 for your copy of Weed Control in Lawns and Other Turf today. You will also receive a free copy of the Consumer Information Catalog.

quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the U.S. General Services Administration, the Catalog lists more than 200 other free and moderately priced federal booklets on a wide variety of subjects.

MICHAEL ALSABROOK

Former Resident Retires

Former Haskell Texas resident Senior Chief Operations Specialist Michael D. Alsabrook retired 31 July 1985 from the U.S. Navy after 22 years active naval service. Senior Chief Alsabrook served with various ships, and shore commands throughout the Pacific and Atlantic fleets. His last duty station was with the Naval and Marine Corps Reserve Center, Dallas, where he served as command senior chief, and shipboard simulator supervisor.

For his leadership and supervisory skills he was awarded the Navy Commendation Medal by the Commanding Officer, Naval and Marine Corps Reserve Center Dallas.

The former native of Gorman, was raised in Haskell and now resides in Mansfield. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Alsabrook of Haskell.

A camel can go without water for almost a week, and without food for much longer.

Of all the symbols appearing on the flags of the world, the star is by far the most common.

Recently, the Veterans Land Board commissioned a study to learn more about Texas veterans. One of the things that we learned is that only about 20 percent of Texas' 1.8 million Veterans are members of traditional veterans groups such as American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars or Disabled Veterans.

It's our job here at the Texas Veterans Board to make Texas Veterans aware of our programs. This is one of the reasons why we have stepped up our public service announcements in the general media to try to reach out to this 80 percent of the Veterans who are not getting the message that Texas has the best Veterans programs in the United States.

They are the best programs because they loan Texas Veterans $20,000 at 9.97 percent interest with easy terms. These programs will provide a Veteran with a home or a piece of land without costing the taxpayer a single penny.

The Texas Veterans Land Program and the Texas Veterans Housing Assistance Program are funded by general obligation bonds that are repaid by the Veterans that participate in the program.

The Veterans Land Board has done three things to promote these excellent programs in cooperation with Texas medias throughout the state, who've been very generous in their help. We've been able to get free air time on television and radio to talk about our programs.

Probably the most noticeable has the work of the Texas billboard owners who have been willing to give us plenty of free space to promote our Veterans programs.

In fact, I thought these billboards have been so important that I paid for the materials out of my own pocket.

But, the important thing is that they have worked to establish the Veterans Land Board toll-free number, 1-800-252-VETS. Before the billboards, we had been averaging 2,000 calls a week on our toll-free number.

Now, those calls have more than doubled to nearly 5,000 calls a week in the month of July.

I'm proud of our Texas Veterans, proud of our Texas Veterans Programs and extremely proud of the members of the Texas media who were willing to help us get the message out.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

In March 1976, during the last year of the Ford Administration, Secretary of the Navy J. William Middendorf announced that pilot training at the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station would be transferred to Pensacola, Florida.

This was terrible news for Corpus Christi and it also threatened the existence of air training stations at Kingsville and Beeville.

Along with the people of Corpus Christi, I fought this proposal tooth and toenail. It was a tough battle and several times it looked as if we had lost. The two main things we had going for us were the strong community support of Corpus Christi and excellent flying weather in the area.

The next year, President Carter named Charles W. Duncan Jr. of Houston as Deputy Secretary of Defense. We were able to convince Secretary Duncan that the plan was a mistake. In December 1978, Navy Secretary W. Graham Clayton Jr. rejected the proposal and the Corpus Christi pilot training program remained in place.

Now, nine years later, the Navy has reversed its original plan and announced it is shifting some of its pilot training from Pensacola to Corpus Christi. The USS Lexington, an aircraft carrier used for training pilots, will be moved from Florida to the Texas Coast.

This announcement was made in conjunction with the recent selection of Corpus Christi as homeport for the battleship USS Wisconsin. In addition, the city will be assigned a cruiser, a destroyer and a minesweeper.

The Navy also will base part of the Wisconsin's Surface Action Group—two frigates and three minesweepers—in Galveston.

Together it is estimated the projects will bring $238 million in economic benefits to Texas. They will create 7,140 permanent jobs and will have a combined annual payroll of more than $100 million.

This will be a boon to our state's coastal area, which has been suffering record unemployment. Support industries throughout our state will benefit from the activities at these Navy bases, as well.

Texas' success in winning the Wisconsin homeport and more pilot training is the result of an intensive effort by the people of Corpus Christi, Galveston and Houston, their city and state officials, and the Texas Congressional Delegation.

First we persuaded the Navy to base one of its four refurbished battleships on the Gulf Coast. Then, at my urging, the Texas Delegation last October united in support of a Texas location for the battleship. We made our views known in a letter to Navy Secretary John F. Lehman Jr. and we stayed in contact to push our point of view.

In the months since, the Navy has seen Texas and Corpus Christi back their words up with firm commitments of financial support—$50 million in all.

This spring an attempt was made in the Senate to cut funding for the Wisconsin. We defeated it. Work remains to ensure final Congressional approval of this funding, as well as for funds that will be needed to construct the bases at Corpus Christi and Galveston.

But I am optimistic about our chances. After all, look how far we've come over the past nine years.

by Jim Mattox Attorney General

NEW RULES PROTECT TENANTS FROM UTILITY RIPOFFS

Beginning on August 26 there will be some new regulations for apartment houses that do not have submetered utility service.

Many older apartment complexes were not built with separate water, wastewater and electric meters for each individual unit. Instead, they have one meter for all common areas plus all apartments.

The new rules apply only to water, wastewater and electric utilities—gas is not covered by the regulations.

WHAT THEY MUST TELL YOU

Under the new law, those apartment houses without submetering will be required to provide certain safeguards for their tenants. For example, each new rental agreement must contain a statement of the apartment's average monthly bill for utilities for the previous calendar year. In addition, the agreement must contain a clear, written description of the method used to calculate utility charges for common areas and each apartment unit.

NO EXTRA CHARGES

The new law forbids the apartment complex owner from imposing any charges in excess of actual charges by the utility.

OPEN RECORDS

Each apartment complex owner will be required to keep records of utility consumption and costs paid by the tenants and to make those records available to the tenants during normal business hours.

PENALTIES FOR VIOLATION

If the landlord fails to abide by the above rules, the tenant may recover three times the amount of any overcharge and a civil penalty equal to one month's rent, plus attorney's fees. Of course, the landlord may offer the defense that he made a good faith, unintentional mistake, in which case he would not be liable for the civil penalty.

WHERE TO COMPLAIN

The Public Utility Commission (PUC) is charged with setting new rules and regulations governing billing systems and methods used by apartment complex owners to allocate utility costs among tenants. If you are having a problem with your landlord regarding utility charges, you may contact the PUC at 7800 Creek Blvd., Suite 400 North, Austin, Texas 78757. Their consumer phone number is (512) 488-0227 or -0223.

FOR MORE HELP

If you need more help or information on this or other consumer problems, contact your nearest Attorney General Consumer Protection Office (in Austin, Dallas, El Paso, Houston, Lubbock, McAllen, and San Antonio). The Attorney General's Office is the people's law firm. We're here to help you.

Head injury symptoms can alert parents to need for medical help

TEMPLE — A familiar family qundry — what parents should do about children who bang their head in a fall or other accident — can be helped if the parents look for certain signs that mean medical treatment is required, says a Texas A&M University expert on emergency medicine.

A persistent headache or uncontrollably severe vomiting mean a doctor should be consulted, said Dr. Kenneth Hackney, chairman of emergency medicine at Scott and White hospital in Temple and a member of the Texas A&M medical faculty.

Dizziness or blurred vision are other symptoms indicating medical treatment is needed, he explained.

"If the pupil of one eye is larger than the other and will not get smaller when light is shined into it, the child should be evaluated by a physician," he said.

Other signs of a serious head injury are loss of hearing, facial weakness or drooping of the eyelid on one side of the face, clumsiness or weakness, paralysis or numbness in the arms or legs, slurred or confused speech, irregular breathing patterns and loss of consciousness or convulsions.

Crying, although a sign of pain, is not necessarily an indicator of a more serious problem, Hackney explained.

In young infants, a persistent bulging of the soft spot on top of the head can indicate excessive pressure, said Hackney. Such bulging may occur normally when the infant cries, but physicians should be notified if bulging persists because it could be a sign of injury or infection.

Veterans Hear Insurance Rumors

According to C.H. Herren, Veterans Service Officer for Haskell County, false information of unknown origin is again spurring thousands of World War II veterans across the nation to contact the Veterans Administration for payment of a special life insurance dividend to which they are no longer entitled.

In 1950, the Veterans Administration paid almost $3 billion in special dividends to some 16 million former servicemen who carried GI insurance during World War II. Federal law states that all claims for this or any other dividend declared prior to January 1, 1952, must have been filed within six years after date of declaration.

The Veterans Administration continues to pay annual dividends to those veterans of World War II who have kept their old policies of National Service Life Insurance in force. This annual dividend is due and paid each year shortly after the anniversary date of the policy. The policyholders do not have to apply for the dividend each year, as it is paid or applied to the appropriate insurance account automatically following the anniversary date.

The insurance dividend hoax surfaces periodically, and causes great strain on the VA offices and personnel who must contend with the thousands of letters that are sent by veterans hoping to cash in on a government bonanza which does not exist. If the rumor comes to you, please remember that there is no special dividend amounts that are available to World War II veterans.

Heart Disease Can Be A Family Affair

A simple blood test may some day predict which members of high-risk families will develop heart disease.

Family history has long been recognized as a major coronary risk factor, along with such conditions as high blood pressure, diabetes and high levels of cholesterol and other fatty substances in the blood. Until now, it has not been entirely clear whether a family's shared environment and diet account for the link or if relatives share some genetic defect that speeds up the accumulation of fatty plaque in the arteries—a condition known as atherosclerosis.

Now researchers at the Johns Hopkins Medical Institutions in Baltimore have completed a study which shows that high levels of a blood protein called Apoprotein B (apo B for short) can predict which brothers and sisters of heart patients will also have heart disease, even before symptoms appear.

The researchers found that among 68 brothers and sisters of heart patients, 19 had coronary artery disease. The interesting thing was that only two of the 19 had high cholesterol levels—a danger sign that could have been found with conventional methods. On the other hand, 10 of the 19 had high levels of apo B. Testing for these dangerous protein particles is still quite difficult, but if the procedure can be simplified, doctors may be able to use it as a tool for early identification of persons at risk.

Without early detection, the process of atherosclerosis continues silently for many years. Sudden chest pain is the most common complaint that brings heart patients to the doctor's office for the first time. It is a signal that the heart is not getting enough oxygen-rich blood to do its work.

Today, a number of medications are available to treat chest pain and to help avoid periods of "blood starvation" or ischemia. The newest class of these drugs is calcium channel blockers like Cardizem (diltiazem). These drugs improve blood flow to the heart by relaxing the smooth-muscle cells in the walls of the coronary arteries, the vessels that supply blood to the heart.

Heart disease remains America's number one killer, but researchers continue to find new ways to identify and treat problems that may lead to heart attacks and other cardiovascular events. In the meantime, families at risk can protect themselves through regular medical checkups, a prudent diet and a healthy lifestyle.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Monday sent checks totaling $112.3 million in local sales tax payments to the 1,005 cities that levy the one-percent city tax.

Houston's check was the largest—$18.6 million—

Texas A&M needs $800,000 before constructing wildlife study facility

COLLEGE STATION — About a third of the money has been raised or pledged to build a $1 million-plus wildlife studies facility at Texas A&M University capable of housing some of the exotic animals rounded up last year from a ranch near Laredo.

Another $800,000 is needed — urgently, say university officials — before construction can begin on the star-shaped center which would be located on about 20 acres of land belonging to Texas A&M's veterinary school.

The center sports a special design to shelter several different varieties of animals as they undergo studies aimed at increasing basic knowledge about how they reproduce.

A 10-foot fence surrounding the site was recently finished at a cost of almost $30,000 paid for by private donations, said veterinary researchers heading the project — Drs. J.D. McCrady, Duane Kramer and Stephen Seager.

Plans also call for donations to finance a 50-foot-tall aviary within the fenced area where exotic birds being studied by Texas A&M researchers could enjoy considerable free flight, said Seager.

bringing total payments in 1985 to $104.8 million, up 5 percent over 1984. Dallas received $13.3 million for a total payments of $77 million this year, an increase of 15 percent.

San Antonio's payment of $7.1 million increased that city's 1985 payments to $38.1 million, up 14 percent over last year. Austin's check for $5.4 million pushed payments to $30.2 million, a 25 percent increase over 1984 payments. Fort Worth received $4.2 million for a 1985 total of $22.9 million, up 12 percent. El Paso's payment of $2.5 million brought its total to $14.2 million, a 16 percent increase over payments last year.

Bullock also sent checks totaling $45.9 million to four Metropolitan Transit Authorities. Houston MTA's check for $21.7 million pushed 1985 payments to $121.1 million.

Dallas' DART payment of $19.1 million brought its total to $105.4 million this year. VIA in San Antonio received $4 million for a total $21 million in 1985. Fort Worth's MTA payment was a $1 million, increasing payments this year to $5.4 million.

August checks represent taxes collected on sales made in June and the second quarter and reported to the Comptroller by July 20.

County Worm Spraying Underway

By Paula Verden

Some fields in the area have all size worms, others have large worms, while other fields are clean.

There seem to be a good number of beneficials in fields also. Some spraying for worms is being done in the county, but make sure that any decision to spray is backed by the worm numbers in your own field. Don't rely on your neighbors, your field may not be exactly the same.

For the most part, I'm seeing large worms. These guys are harder to kill and they've already done their damage. We need to be ready for the second big egglay around the 28th of August. We should then begin to see small worms the first 3 or 4 days of September. Watch fields closely and catch those worms while they're small!

If you have any questions about the insects in your fields, call me or come by my office in the Fisher County Courthouse, Room 109, Paula Verden, Extension Agent-Entomology (PM) Phone 915-776-2706.

While it may be true that money can't buy love, it can buy life, especially when you give a contribution to the Haskell Co. Ambulance Memorial Fund. Your contribution is tax deductible, and will be useful for years to come. Don't hesitate. Make arrangements now to give. Thank you.

Farm Bureau Queen Competes At District

The 1985 Haskell County Farm Bureau Queen Denise Burris of Haskell competed at the district level contest on August 9th at the Texas Electric Building in Wichita Falls.

Denise is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Burris of Haskell and a 1985 graduate of Haskell High School.

Diana Jarred is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jarred of Haskell. She sang a classical, Nymphs and Shepherds, by Henry Purcell in the Talent Find Contest, also held in Wichita Falls August 9th. Diana will be a senior in Haskell High School this fall.

Each of these young ladies were presented with a $100 check from the local County Farm Bureau.

Winners of these district contests will compete at the state Queen and Talent Find contests at the Texas Farm Bureau state convention in Ft. Worth, Dec. 1-4. Each district winner will also be awarded a $500 college scholarship.

The state winners in both events will each receive a $1,500 college scholarship and the state runner-up will each receive a $1,000 college scholarship. Contestants who win scholarships in more than one Texas Farm Bureau contest in the same year will be awarded the largest scholarship. Only one scholarship can be won during the same year.

What is the Sonshine Patch?

The Sonshine Patch is a top quality teaching school designed to aid in the growth of pre-school children spiritually, mentally, physically and socially.

Each Tuesday, classroom activities teach Bible lessons with application stories, songs and finger fun. Other classes teach language, art, music, and science. Learning center time in all classes is structured to help children learn numbers, colors, shapes, patterns and manipulative activities to aid in the development of fine and gross motor skills.

Physical awareness is taught to every age group. Also, indoor and outdoor play is provided.

Since children develop socially by being associated with other children, the Sonshine Patch provides the students with extensive opportunities to participate in field trips, holiday parties, birthday celebrations and other exciting activities.

"Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it."
Proverbs 22:6

PARENTS COMMENTS

Eric and Gina loved going to The Sonshine Patch. I would like to see more parents take an interest in sending their children because it really is a terrific pre-school.

Any Rule parents wanting more information about The Sonshine Patch, or if they will need transportation for their children, please call me at 997-2156.

Sheryl Robinson of Rule

I liked The Sonshine Patch because they taught different bible stories, and the "take homes" that went with them, helped Andrea to recall the stories back to me. I also liked the way the teachers kept us informed on the activities of each Tuesday.

Judy Callaway of Haskell

As a parent, I appreciated the card explaining what activities they had each Tuesday. Because of this information, I was able to talk to her about her activities.

Connie Cothron of Haskell

As a parent, I thought the daily communication from the teacher on that days activities, songs, bible stories, and lessons was very helpful in keeping me informed. The "take-homes" were also excellent - very colorful, some educational, some entertaining, and all laminated for longer use.

Debbie Earles of Haskell

The Sonshine Patch helped Stevie socially and prepared him for Kindergarten very well.

Phil Harris of Haskell

The Sonshine Patch helped my daughter to develop her social skills. It also helped her prepare for future academic work.

Nancy Sheets of Rochester

Our son Jeremy, truly enjoyed learning about God's Word in such a pleasant way. He looked forward each week to learning at The Sonshine Patch. We feel his time was well invested.

Dennis and Patsy Grossman of Knox City

Lane loved going to The Sonshine Patch and looked forward to it each Tuesday. He was very unhappy if he had to miss for some reason.

Joetta Boyd of Knox City

Tanna is very excited about returning to The Sonshine Patch. Last year was very exciting for her. She loved being "big" enough to take her lunch and was always ready to share with the family what she had learned each time. The lessons she learned about loving, sharing, and the gifts God has given us, are ones that are well worth learning. Our whole family benefited from our Sonshine Patch experience.

Mollie Brandon of Haskell

The Sonshine Patch was a wonderful experience for my son. It helped him to become more independent and less dependent on me. He is more at ease in unfamiliar surroundings, and he is more aware of his own abilities.

Haskell City As It Looked In 1924

WANDA DULANEY,
Manager, Haskell
Chamber of Commerce
 Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Cox, Jr. have shared a forty page document with the Chamber of Commerce, written by a field worker of the Institute of Social and Religious Research, New York, dated May 21, 1924. It was his analysis of our town as he saw it. We'd like to share it with you, in a condensed version. Here's what he wrote:

Haskell, Texas - An Ambitious Community
 Haskell - once a watering place for Indians, antelopes and buffaloes, a place of cattle corrals and sheep camps - suddenly, with the coming of the railroad, was no longer content to be known as "The Queen of the Prairies" and proudly called herself "The Concrete City."

With its 2,300 inhabitants the village gives the impression of being larger than it is because it is spread over so much territory and the land is so flat.

The courthouse tower rises like a monument and is visible for miles around. Around the square are the only paved streets.

Each house has its own cyclone cellar. The railroad is at the end of town and near it, all the industries. Haskell does not consider itself a village. It calls itself a town and in the newspapers, a city.

It is urban in many respects. The stores display urban stock in tastefully arranged windows; the women are dressed in urban fashion and use their share of cosmetics; the flapper is in existence.

With the exception of the town merchants, the men wear wide-brimmed hats, leather-fleeced coats and khaki riding breeches. They are tall, broad shouldered and strong, of a distinctly nordic type.

The merchants are ambitious for the town. "What we want", are phrased it, "is better roads coming in and none going out!"

The People
 Possibly one reason for Haskell's ambitious spirit is due to the fact that its leaders are young. Census shows 1,028 of Haskell's population fall between the ages of 16 and 45. There are 1,122 males, 1,178 females. The country girls for the most part marry boys from their own community, while many of the town girls marry outside of the community. Many of the girls who go away to college marry outside.

Boys who do not go to high school tend to be rowdy and do not contribute to the good of the community.

Cliques
 The most significant clique in town is made of the retail store-keepers and their wives. The school board is composed of merchants; the Magazine Club is composed of merchants wives; the acting vice president of one of the two banks is also mayor and postmaster.

Agriculture
 Houses in the rural area do not group themselves into neighborhoods, but are scattered over the country, sometimes a mile apart.

In a reasonably normal year, four acres of cotton yield one bale to one acre. Almost every farmer has poultry on the side. Grain yields a good crop about every five years.

Tenancy
 A little less than half of the open country homes are those of tenants. Occasionally they rent for cash, but the usual form of payment is a third of the grain and a fourth of the cotton.

Town and Country Relations
 Town and country relations are friendly. The merchant is out for the farmer's trade; Haskell, with its central position, is convenient for the farmer for trade and credit.

Industry
 Two lumber companies, three cotton gins, a grain elevator, a poultry association.

For the ambitious young man there is little economic opportunity in industry, a much better field is in his fathers store or in farming. Perhaps this is why 65.6 percent of high school boys and 63 percent of the girls stated they do not expect to spend their adult years in Haskell. Only 14 percent expect to live permanently in Haskell. The rest are uncertain.

Public Service
 The budgets are an index of Haskell's growth and ambition. In five years, the school budget more than doubled, going from $13,500 to $28,000, while the city budget tripled itself. Haskell could have even more money to spend on civic improvement if the large property holders paid in the same proportion as the small home owners do.

The village is served by two banks. The Haskell National Bank and Farmers State Bank have total deposit of nearly $1,100,000.

The town has satisfactory drainage and sewage and an up-to-date water system. There is no street lighting at all. There is an efficient fire department.

Travellers through Haskell do not find pleasant accommodations and are inclined to go on to Stamford. Haskell people feel this lack of first class hotel accommodations keenly and plans are being made to build a new one.

Roads
 Some of the wide-awake business men feel keenly the need of improvement in roads and that taxes are high enough to give better ones.

The most frequent type of auto is the Ford because no other car can stand as well the rough roads. Practically every home has a car. Under the Texas law, the car and not the driver gets the license. Children of nine and upward are seen driving although the law provides no one under 16 shall drive. There are 6 garages and filling stations.

503 homes in Haskell have electricity.

Charity
 The mayor is the chairman of the United Charity organization, financed by churches and private contributions. Food and coal and sometimes money are given to the needy.

Crime
 During the past 5 years there have been 136 misdemeanors, 170 felonies in the county, the latter attributed partly to bootlegging.

Health
 In general, the health of the community is good. City water comes from a spring and many homes own windmills and wells. There is no examination of school children. The chief function of the health officer is to quarantine.

Politics
 The community is Democrat but there are a few Republican and Socialist votes. As a whole, the people are not actively interested in politics.

Social Organizations
 The Magazine Club is the leading organization of the town. Although the membership is limited to 50 women, they achieve the interest and close cooperation of the men. This organization contains the town's elite in society and in money. Its greatest achievement has been the building and equipping of a library which also forms its club house. It is open twice a week to the public and books are loaned at five cents a week.

The Harmony Club gives occasional public concerts and conducts an Easter Cantata each year.

Other active groups: The PTA, Maids and Matrons, the Bridge Club, Luncheon Club and Rebekahs.

Men, for the most part as one man put it "belong to their wives and their churches." A small percentage belong to the five lodges.

Schools
 Nothing forms a truer index to the ambition of Haskell than her school system. Haskell village has 3 grammar schools - one away on the east edge of town; one of the south and another near the center, close to the high school.

The school superintendent is a good school man who has made a splendid record in other larger communities. He is not quite in tune with Haskell, although spoken of everywhere very favorably. He is old fashioned in his views and strict in his rules of morality so that the growing generation, with its useful desire for freedom and progress, does not feel in sympathy with him. He preaches and exhorts but he has somehow failed to touch the pulse of the younger generation.

Present attendance in Haskell schools is 630.

Gainful Employment
 Agriculture: 38 farm operators, 13 farm foremen, 95 farm laborers.
 Mining: 8 operatives.
 Manufacturing: 93 proprietors, 70 skilled workers, 4 semi-skilled, 67 laborers.
 Transportation: 7 proprietors, 16 clerks, 6 skilled workers, 51 unskilled.
 Trade: 66 proprietors, 64 clerks, 7 semi-skilled workers, 1 laborer.
 Public Service: 17 officials, 1 laborer.
 Professional Service: 5

clergymen, 22 teachers, 1 music teacher, 11 lawyers, 7 physicians, 2 dentists, 10 other professionals.

Clerical: 34
 Dwellings
 Total no. 508: Rented 215; owned 290, tenure unknown 3.

Churches
 The work of the church is chiefly hended by the rapid ministerial turnover.

There are 7 churches with total membership of 1,126. Six of these churches have buildings. The Baptist, Methodist and First Christian are new. The others with buildings are Presbyterian, Pentecostal, and non-progressive Christian. There are 5 full-time, resident ministers. None of the ministers have been in the community longer than 2 years. It is difficult to say what type of men they are. The Methodist minister is genial, kind, loyal, eager. The Pentecostal evangelist, a lady, is crisp and business like and has evident executive ability as well as the spiritual quality which holds her flock together. The negro minister is intelligent and ambitious for himself and his people.

The churches of Haskell are strongly denominational.

Union Thanksgiving services are held each year with an average attendance of 100.

The Church of Christ does not have a musical instrument in the church.

Suggestions
 Haskell's greatest asset - a young population with a progressive, ambitious spirit. It has a drainage and sewer system, a modern fire department, good schools and churches, attractive residences and a good county courthouse.

The streets are dragged regularly by the new tractor, but this is not sufficient to keep them in order under the traffic of a trading center. There should be more hard-surfaced roads.

The three powerful lights in the courthouse tower constitute the street lighting system. There should be more lights, for walking at night is especially difficult where there are no sidewalks. The open country roads are worse than the village streets.

Some vacant lots need to be cleaned. Everyone who can afford it is buying and planting a tree.

Another need for Haskell is a good hotel. Travellers prefer now to go to Stamford which harms Haskell's prestige and gives the rival town a good bit of trade.

Haskell has a good school system but building facilities are not well planned. School tax is $1 a hundred.

It was suggested that one of the two partly used schools (East Ward and South Ward) to be used as a sanatorium which would be free to local physicians except for the cost of upkeep.

There should be at least one club to include all the business men.

The farmers would benefit by closer association.

Rural schools are good. Health supervision is almost neglected under county auspices there should be more careful examination of school children.

There should be a county hospital in Haskell.

There should be a charge which would (1) give better post office management, harder working officials, fairer tax collection.

Two Haskell Students Participate At Tech

Gifted and talented youth from throughout the nation participated in the fifth annual "Shake Hands With Your Future" at Texas Tech University this summer.

"Shake Hands With Your Future," a summer enrichment program, exposes participants to advanced learning opportunities and to living in a university setting. The three 1985 sessions involved 450 students in the fifth through 12th grades.

Participants from the Haskell area included:

Davis Chapman, 13, son of Peggy Chapman, RR #1 Box 830; and Dawn Langhofer, 12, daughter of Keith and Gaylin Langhofer, 1301 North Ave. G.

Participants select courses such as biochemistry, leadership, physics, math, engineering, fine arts, agriculture, law, musical comedy performance, time and money management and experimental music.

Classes are taught primarily by faculty of the University and the Texas Tech Health Sciences Center. Supplementary activities include field trips, lectures, counseling-communication sessions, mentor sessions, recreation and social activities suited to each age group.

"Shake Hands With Your Future" is an integral part of the Division of Continuing Education's Institute for the Gifted. To participate in the program, students must be nominated by a parent, teacher, school administrator, counselor or themselves. If accepted by the selection committee, they are invited to attend. Selection is based on high achievement test scores, high IQ and creative or exceptional skills.

TAX PLANNING

Written By
Richard E. Rodgers, CPA

BUSINESS BUY/SELL AGREEMENTS

The price paid for a going business will often exceed the fair market value of the tangible assets.

In business jargon, this excess is usually referred to as "blue sky." Under the tax regulations, this excess gets very specific treatment. The blue sky is either goodwill or a covenant-not-to-compete.

The amount of money allocated to goodwill can be treated by the seller as capital gain and, therefore, is afforded a more favorable tax treatment. The buyer, however, cannot deduct goodwill during his ownership of the business. The buyer must treat the goodwill as part of the cost of the business should he ever re-sell it.

The dollars allocated to a covenant-not-to-compete are favorable to the buyer. The buyer is entitled to write off the allocated dollars over the life of the covenant (in effect, he can depreciate the value of the covenant). The seller, on the other hand, must report the covenant dollars as ordinary income as opposed to the more favorable capital gain.

All too often the buy/sell agreement is silent as to the allocation between goodwill and a covenant-not-to-compete. The buyer will probably treat the blue sky as covenant and the seller will treat it as goodwill. This inconsistent treatment is unacceptable to the IRS. Upon audit, the IRS will adjust the tax returns for consistent treatment and assess back taxes and interest.

It is in the best interests of both the buyer and seller to have the allocation for goodwill or covenant spelled out in the contract. It is always unpleasant to have an IRS audit adjustment on a prior year return.

The tax consequences of the blue sky allocation can be significant. To get the best tax advantage, consult your accountant early in the sale negotiations.

Children from families whose income falls within the level shown on the pictured scale are eligible for either free meals or reduced priced meals at 40¢ for lunch and 30¢ for breakfast.

To apply for free or reduced meals, parents should fill out an application as soon as possible, sign it, and return it to the school. Please answer all questions on the form. An application which does not contain the following information cannot be processed by the school: (1) the total household income must be listed by the amount received by each household member receiving income and the type of income it is (such as wages, child support, etc.) or food stamp case number if the household is on food stamps, (2) names of all household members, (3) social security numbers of all household members 21 years of age or older or the word NONE for any household member who does not have a social security number and (4) the signature of an adult household member.

If you have any questions or need help in filling out the application form, please contact the individual campus principal. You will be notified when the application is approved or denied.
