While visiting with local game warden Steve Barbour this week, I learned that beginning this year ALL dove hunters will be required to have hunting licenses regardless of where they hunt.

Prior to this time, anyone hunting in their county of residence was not required to have a license except for deer and turkey.

Dove season will open Sunday morning and will continue through Nov. 9 in the north zone, which includes Haskell County. Bag limit will remain at 12 per day.

In addition to the new license requirement, new fees will also be in effect beginning this year. Resident hunting license will be $10.00; fishing license, $8.00 and combination hunting and fishing will be $15.00. A non-resident small game hunting license will be $75.00 and a non-resident license which includes deer and turkey will be $200.00.

Good luck—Good hunting and please be careful.

Industrial Foundation Reps Meet In Austin

Six Haskell residents representing the Haskell Industrial Foundation met last week in Austin with industrial and economic development specialists.

Attending the meetings from Haskell were Bob Brandon, Abe Turner, Mabry Brock, Don Comedy, Rick Perry, and Bob Baker.

The local industrial foundation recently re-organized and is in the process of actively seeking new business and industry for the Haskell area. In addition to locating new businesses another primary goal of the foundation is to work closely with local businesses and individuals who would like to expand or improve their business.

Industrial foundation officials are in the process of scheduling a meeting in September to discuss various plans and programs with State industrial development specialists as well as industrial development representatives of West Texas Utilities and Lone Star Gas and others.

Make Labor Day Safer

Major V.J. Cawthon, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety, is optimistic for a safer Labor Day weekend in 1985. The increased emphasis on Driving While Intoxicated has influenced many people to decide that drinking and driving is just not worth it.

Major Cawthon said, "The drinking driver is still a problem in Texas. During this Labor Day weekend, the last holiday of the summer, the drinking driver will be very visible around recreational areas such as lakes and camp grounds." Cawthon urges all drivers to be alert for the drunk driver and report all infractions of the law to your area law enforcement agency.

The Texas Department of Public Safety will have all available Troopers working around the clock to make Labor Day Operation Motorcide a safer time for all who will be using the highways. These troopers will be on the lookout for the drunk driver, the speeding driver, or the reckless driver, since these are the three main causes of fatal accidents.

The Department of Public Safety is made up of people who care about saving human lives. This is their job. Also, the Texas motorist will find the trooper is more than willing to assist in directing the lost motorist to the proper highway or assist the motorist who's vehicle is experiencing mechanical problems.

Major Cawthon concluded by saying, "More people are killed in Texas each year in traffic than are killed by the handgun. These traffic deaths are just as senseless, as needless, and as tragic as those by the handgun, but not nearly as well publicized. Protect yourself and your family by adhering to the existing speed limit, don't drink and drive, and buckle up every time—all the time."

Motorists—Watch For School Children

Most children hate to see the summer vacation come to an end, because it means "Back to School". As the youngsters prepare to go back to school, the motorist should also prepare themselves for "Back to School".

Major V.J. Cawthon, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety in Lubbock said, "Every year as school starts there seems to be an unfortunate rash of accidents caused by drivers who fail to follow Texas' vehicular law concerning a stopped school bus."

Major Cawthon advised, "When you see a school bus ahead, expect it to stop, especially if there are children waiting along the side of the roadway."

State law requires a driver, either meeting or following, to stop and remain stopped for a school bus when the flashing red lights are activated and children are loading or unloading from the bus. The driver of a vehicle cannot resume motion until the flashing red lights are no longer activated or the bus driver signals you to proceed.

"And of course, always be careful in school zones and in areas where you see children walking to and from school. A driver's extra effort will pay off in preventing traffic accidents in these areas," Major Cawthon explained.

Bettis Named Executive Vice President Of THA

Richard J. Bettis, CAE, has been named executive vice president for the Texas Hospital Association, according to O. Ray Hurst, CAE, president.

"In his 13 years with the Texas Hospital Association, Richard has been involved in most of the organizational functions. This promotion is merited by his exemplary performance," Hurst said. In his new position, Bettis will be involved in the general management of THA and the services it provides.

Bettis joined THA's staff in 1970 as a statistician with the Texas Health Career Program; in 1972, he was named director of statistical services.

In 1974 his responsibilities were enlarged to include convention exhibits. In 1980 he became vice president for Education and Convention Services, and in 1982 he was made a senior vice president. Bettis became Senior Vice President for Government Relations in 1984.

Bettis received the bachelor of science degree in engineering science and the bachelor of business administration degree in management engineering from the University of Texas - Austin. In 1978 he achieved the Certified Association Executive (CAE) designation from the American Society of Association Executives (ASAE).

He is active in both the American and Texas Society of Association Executives (TSAE), currently serving as vice president and a member of the TSAE Board of Directors.

In August 1983, Bettis received the Edmund Lanigan Golden Eagle Award for Excellence in Convention Management from the American Hospital Association, and in March 1984 he was presented with the Professional Performance Award by the American Society of Association Executives. He is listed in Who's Who in the South and Southwest and Who's Who in Association Management.

Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board Established

Texas grain sorghum farmers have approved a plan to finance a program of market development, research and education through an assessment on their grain. A mail referendum and election which concluded on August 15, authorized a statewide program to be known as Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board.

A grain sorghum assessment program has been in effect in twenty-nine counties of the Texas High Plains since 1969. This referendum, conducted in all other counties of the state, was on the proposition to expand the existing program statewide. It passed with almost 69 percent of the voters favoring the expansion. At the same time, farmers in the 29-county High Plains area voted on a proposal to raise the maximum limit of their assessment to be consistent with that approved by the rest of the state. This proposition was approved by more than 80 percent of the voters.

With the same ballots, farmers elected seven directors to serve with the eight who are filling unexpired terms on the current board. The new directors are Richard Perry of Robstown, Dennis Anthony of Friona, Weldon Shelton of Lamesa, J.W. "Chato" Bauer of Refugio, Albert Scheele of Lockney, James Dyer of Weslaco and Howard Salge of Skidmore.

This vote unifies Texas sorghum producers and processors in a checkoff on grain sorghum at the time of its first sales transaction or when it enters the government loan program. Payment of the assessment is voluntary because any producer who does not wish to participate may have his money refunded upon request. Elbert Harp, executive director of National Grain Sorghum Producers Association and administrator of the current Texas checkoff program, said, "Sorghum farmers have taken a big step forward. With this vote, Texas producers have announced that they intend to put the same effort into selling their crop as they do in producing it. That's essential because we have been producing 15 to 20 percent more sorghum each year than we are selling. The growing surplus has driven prices below the cost of production. We must sell it or stop producing it. Texas farmers are saying they intend to sell it."

Harp said the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers

Board will meet in Lubbock on Friday and Saturday, August 23-24, to set the rate and effective date of the assessment. Processors will be notified of collection procedures immediately after that meeting.

Letters To The Editor...

This letter is dedicated to my friends who frequent the local D.Q.:

My Dear Friends, You have hearts of pure gold. First, I sincerely thank you for the fun, the friendship, the love you've added to my summer. I really enjoyed working with people like you. You're special in so many ways and I'm going to miss you. Next, I want to thank you for the "money tree" you good people started. It was so thoughtful of you to be concerned and willing to invest in my education. I believe it is truly a miracle that you raised $801.95 in 5 days. That's special. Thanks! A small portion of that money will be used now; the greatest part, however, will be handed over to HSU to help pay for this coming semester.

It will be my second year to attend HSU; it will be so encouraging to know my friends at Haskell will be caring for me and thinking of me.

I will never forget all you wonderful people or what you've done for me. Thank you. May God bless you all.

Sincerely,
Kim Jones

NEW
2157

Superior grain yields with a good grazing bonus. Excellent straw strength, too!

Our researchers were impressed by the tremendous pasture production and grain yields from these new varieties during testing. And now that the varieties have stood the test of actual production on many farms under many conditions, the proof is in!

They grow off well and show strong resistance to SBMV, leaf rusts, fungal leaf blights, and the Hessian fly.

• New 2157 gives you good, early grazing, then stays with you through the winter. And the grain yields are right up there with anything you care to compare it against. Choose 2157 for dryland or limited water production.

• New 2165 works with your irrigation program to make the most of all you put into the crop. Pasture comes on strong in the fall and grain yields are among the best you'll find, bar none.

See your Pioneer dealer right away. He'll show you yield results and interesting new facts about the advantages of pure seed.

Credit Banks Of Texas Meet

"The Credit Banks of Texas are among the strongest in the Farm Credit System," says R.C. (Clif) Cobb, president of the Rolling Plains Production Credit Association.

Officials of the local association were among 1,500 stockholders who gathered in Austin recently for the Farm Credit Banks of Texas annual meeting.

Joining Cobb at the meeting were directors W.J. Boykin, Northfield; W.H. Williams, Spur; B.H. DeBusk, Anson; Dan Henard, Wellington and Garon Tidwell, Munday.

"While bad commodity prices and adverse weather conditions have hurt Texas farmers and ranchers, the Farm Credit Banks and their related associations have managed to keep their financial positions strong," Cobb said.

According to James A.

Rogers, president of the Farm Credit Banks of Texas, a big reason for the banks' success is the experience of their employees in dealing with highly volatile conditions in Texas.

"We will be asked to contribute some money to help our sister organizations," Rogers said. "All Farm Credit System entities stand behind our bonds; we have never defaulted and will not now."

"So, when other Farm Credit districts need help, we will supply our share. We will not, however, give away the company store."

Rogers noted that even with the $7.9 million contribution, the Texas banks project earning between $24 million and $25 million in 1985.

Cobb adds that these contributions should not affect the association's interest rates substantially.

Focal point of the meeting was the dedication of the new 150,000 square-foot Farm Credit Banks Building.

The Farm Credit Banks of Texas are comprised of the Federal Land Bank of Texas and its 44 Land Bank Associations, the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Texas, 28 Production Credit Associations, and the Texas Bank for Cooperatives. Collectively, they provided more than $4 billion in financing to the state's farmers, ranchers, and their cooperatives last year.

The Rolling Plains PCA has $55 million in loans outstanding to some 760 area farmers and ranchers. The association provides short- and intermediate-term credit to producers in a 17-county region.

Children Can Help With Control Of Clutter

It seems that today's families are "messier" than in grandmother's day. That's probably because we typically have more personal belongings - like clothes, sports equipment, or records - than earlier generations. Clutter is often an unwieldy by-product of a "things-oriented" lifestyle.

One way to cut down on household clutter is to involve your children in home management. Make time periodically for them to sort through those possessions that were precious to them last year, but may be discarded now. Let them know the satisfaction of sharing these things with someone else.

If your child has a collection of items, but is unwilling to care for it, see that he or she packs the collection away to prevent its being constantly strewn around. Try to provide adequate storage space for each child, and make sure that the storage area is located at a level the child can reach.

It also helps to guide your children into limiting their activities to those which are the most meaningful. It not only eases pressure of their time and energy, but on yours as well, and makes for better household management.

Registration Is Underway At Cisco Jr. College

Cisco Junior College's Director of Admissions, Olin O. Odom, III, reminds area residents that registration is under way and will continue through September 11 at the Cisco campus and all off-campus centers. Though there will be no problem in registering as late as September 11, Mr. Odom urges those who wish to take college credit courses to register now in order to begin attending classes. Classes began on August 30 and a minimum amount of missed time is beneficial to the student.

Mr. Odom said, "Cisco Junior College offers a wide range of opportunities for expanding knowledge. We're anticipating a large enrollment this year, and we invite anyone, college-age or older, to enroll in one of the many programs we offer."

Students may register at the main campus in Cisco, at the Clyde Educational Center, or at the Abilene center in Westgate Mall at anytime during regular office hours, 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

THAT'S NOT FAIR!

A country church once paid $1,500 per acre MORE than "fair market value" for two acres of land adjoining the existing church property. A young couple agreed to accept $7,900 LESS than "fair market value" for their three year old tract home.

Once "fair market value" is established on real estate, other factors such as availability and time pressure may influence the final sale price. The church wanted an additional two acres adjoining church property to use for a picnic and fellowship area. Property located in any other spot would have been unsuitable. Thus the land held more value for the church because of its location and they were willing to pay the price. The couple who accepted $7,900 less than fair value for their home exemplifies the concept of time pressure. The husband, a middle management candidate within his company, was offered a promotion in another state. He was anxious to move and assume his new responsibilities. He and his wife weighed a higher price for their home against a fast move to the new job. The new job won out, resulting in a lower than fair value sale price.

Keep in mind that even when the final sale price of real estate is higher or lower than "fair market value", both buyer and seller may experience complete satisfaction with the transaction.

If you need information to help you solve a real estate puzzle, call us at 864-2665. We'll be happy to share our knowledge with you at no cost or obligation.

Letters To The Editor

(EDITORS NOTE: The Haskell Free Press will publish letters to the Editor dealing with any subject. All letters must be signed but names will be withheld by request. All letters are subject to editing for length and liability.)

Dear Sir,

I am a farmer and rancher from Guymon, Oklahoma. I am sending this letter to several newspapers in response to some information I have received concerning the 1985 Farm Bill. I would like to request that you publish it as a letter to the editor.

As you may know, a Conservation Reserve has been requested by Agricultural Secretary, John Block, to retire at least 20 million acres from production. It has come to my attention that the proposed Conservation Reserve could be dropped, drastically reduced, or vetoed in a budget-cut.

Conservation of our Nation's resources through long term Land Retirement, coupled with a reduction in production, is a cost effective program whose time has come.

All who agree should call or write your Congressman and the President immediately to insist that this program not be dropped or reduced. The House and Senate bill numbers listed below should be used when making contact. The addresses for Senators and Representatives, and clip-out to mail to the President are also below.

I urge you to contact your Senator, Representative, and President Reagan NOW as time is of the essence.

Senator
U.S. Senate
Washington, D.C. 20510

Representative
U.S. House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515

The Senate bill number is S 616, Conservation Reserve Section. The House bill number is HR 2100, Conservation Reserve Section.

Ronald Reagan
President of the United States
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, D.C. 20500

Mr. President:

The Farm Bill, which includes the needed Conservation Reserve Program, must be passed without funding reductions for the Conservation Reserve. Many of the existing farm programs do little to reduce production, and therefore will not solve the problem. If funding for the existing programs were decreased, these funds would be available for the Conservation Reserve and it could be implemented without increasing the Agriculture budget. The Conservation Reserve is the logical solution to the problem of overproduction.

Child's Eating Habits Can Be Worrisome

A child's eating habits can be a source of constant worry for parents.

If you think your child overeats, undereats, is overweight or too thin, it's a good idea to check with your family doctor. A physician can use growth charts and medical tests to determine your child's growth rate. If the child is found to be growing well with no weight problems, you can stop worrying.

Dr. Dymple Cooksey, a nutrition specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service, says children often go on eating jags, eating mostly one or a few foods for several days.

"Eating jags are usually temporary," Cooksey says, "so continue offering good nutritious food in a pleasing way."

When a child doesn't eat much, this may be a normal "slowdown" stage of growth. Eating will increase as nutrient needs increase, she explains.

If obesity is a problem, check to see whether your child is eating too many high fat or sweet foods, or just too much food. Are snacks nutritious or do they contribute excess calories? Does your child get enough exercise? Is too much time spent at quiet activities that use few calories?

The nutritionist points out that many overweight children have one or more overweight parents, and children often follow their parents' eating habits. If this is the case in your family, she advises including more fruit, vegetables and low-fat foods such as skim milk, lean meats and broiled or baked foods in the family meals instead of sweets and other high-fat, high-calorie foods.

Some parents think all children need extra nutrients from vitamin pills or drops. But most children who eat a varied diet of meat, poultry and fish; breads and cereals; fruits and vegetables; and dairy products; get enough nutrients, Cooksey says.

Children who have eaten poorly balanced diets for a long time may require supplements, but let your doctor decide whether vitamins or mineral supplements are needed, advises the specialist.

YOUR FLOWERS AND PLANTS Helpful Hints

By Merlin Olsen

The daisy is probably the second-most popular flower in America, after the rose, according to FTD Florists. There are many varieties of this delightful flower, including the California-developed Shasta, the Marguerite, and the Gerbera.

A hybrid of American, European and Asian daisies, the Shasta was developed by Luther Burbank in Sonoma County, California, and was first introduced in 1901. Its most devoted fans think it should be the official flower of the United States.

The Marguerite daisy gets its name from two European noblewomen, Marguerite D'Anjou of France, who used it as her badge of aristocracy, in the 15th century, and Marguerite de Valois, the Queen of Navarre, who filled her garden with the flower. That garden, incidentally, was the setting for Shakespeare's "Love's Labour's Lost."

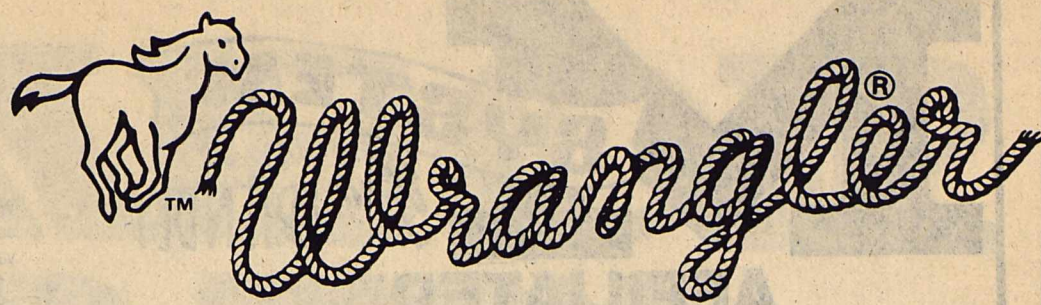

Gerbera daisies, which come in a wide range of colors, are named for the German naturalist Traugott Gerber, who discovered the flower.

When you're not picking the petals to decide whether he or she loves you or not, here are some tips about daisies:

- The centers of Marguerites should be greenish yellow when you buy them and the petals should not be discolored. The foliage should be a crisp green color.

- Gerberas and Shastas should be arranged in shallow, tepid water. If any droop, remove them and trim about two inches off the end of the stem, cutting on an angle with a sharp knife. Be careful not to bruise the stems.

STAR MONEY ...
If you asked a Texas merchant to give you change for a $3 bill in 1837, he would. In the fall of that year the Republic of Texas issued its first paper money. It was issued in denominations of $1, $2, $3, $5, $10, $20, $50, $100, and $500. Because of the five-pointed star printed on the front of each note it became known as "Star Money".

This Land Is Your Land

Garry Mauro

Texas Land Commissioner

Here at the Texas Veterans Land Board, we are proud of a government program that really works, and that's the Texas Veterans Housing Assistance Program. Since the program began in 1983, we have not spent a single penny of Texas taxpayers' money, yet we have put over 22,000 Texas Veterans into homes. We do this by pledging the credit of the state to secure the lowest interest rates possible for our Texas Veterans—through the sale of general obligation bonds. The Veterans who participate in the program pay back the bonds, plus the cost of administering the program, in their low monthly payments. Currently, we are loaning $20,000 at a 9.97 percent interest rate, well below current market interest rates. We loan the first $20,000 on a home. That $20,000 can be combined with a conventional loan or a federal Veterans Administration loan. Our program, which loans Texas Veterans $20,000 at this low interest rate, has enabled many younger Veterans to move into the homebuying market much earlier than they could have done had there been no Veterans Housing Assistance Program. Older Veterans have been able to use this successful program to help build their dream retirement home, using their loan as a down payment or to buy equity in an existing home. As chairman of the Texas Veterans Land Board, I'm even surprised at how popular this program has become. We have been loaning Texas Veterans money at the rate of $1 million a day, and by the end of the year, the original $500 million pledged to this program by Texas voters will be close to being exhausted. Proposition 8 will be on the constitutional ballot on November 5 and will give our voters the option of renewing this government program that works. Remember, we don't want to do our Veterans a favor, just repay one.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

Many individuals, and small businesses, would quake in their boots at the thought of going to court to fight what they thought was an unfair action against them by a federal agency. They fear they may win the battle only to lose the war. A woman who owned a small business in Pennsylvania, for example, took on the General Services Administration in court. She won, but she was also driven out of business by the legal expenses.

An Oklahoma man decided to contest a $14,000 ruling against him by the Labor Department. He spent $30,000 in legal fees proving himself right. These two cases took place before Congress in 1980 approved the Equal Access to Justice bill, at the urging of President Carter's White House Conference on Small Business. This act allows small businesses and individuals of modest means to be reimbursed for legal fees if they win a suit fighting "substantially unjustified" actions against them by a federal agency.

Further, the reimbursed fees are taken from the budget of the agency that started the problem.

The equal access process has proved to be an effective weapon for the little guy in the battle against government red tape. It has also served as a warning to federal bureaucrats to take care that their actions are justified.

And contrary to initial predictions, it has not been a "budget buster." Between 1980 and 1984, less than $4 million in reimbursements was claimed.

When I joined in sponsoring the original Equal Access to Justice bill, it was set up as a temporary measure in order to judge its value. In that time, the equal access concept has attracted a broad array of support ranging from small business associations to senior citizens groups.

Congressional supporters have been working to expand the number of agencies covered by the Equal Access to Justice Act, and to make it permanent. I have consistently joined their ranks. Last month, I am pleased to report, we succeeded.

The federal government was never intended to be a juggernaut. Our founding fathers would shudder to think that an American citizen or business would endure unfair penalties from a capricious and arbitrary bureaucracy rather than risk ruin fighting an injustice through an expensive legal system.

After all, they set this up as a government of the people, by the people and for the people.

The Equal Access to Justice Act places the "little guy" on equal footing with federal agencies and clears the path to justice for those who know they have been wronged by the bureaucracy.

Case International Announces Rollbacks

J I Case has rolled back prices on most Case International 94 Series two-wheel-drive agricultural tractors. According to A.C. Richardson, owner of Richardson Truck and Tractor, the rollback results from ongoing cost reduction efforts in Case manufacturing operations. The price reductions, now in effect, apply to new identity Case International tractors only. The rollback varies by model up to 8.7 percent, and applies to tractors marketed in the United States.

Case announced similar price rollbacks for Case International four-wheel-drive agricultural tractors and Case construction equipment in March. Richardson said the price move is a positive response to current economic difficulties in the agricultural marketplace. "The rollback allows us to pass on to local customers the benefits of successful efforts to lower costs while improving quality at Case plants. We are committed to delivering the best possible value to our customers," said A.C. Richardson.

Richardson Truck and Tractor is located at 5 North 1st in Haskell.

Making The Most Of Your Abilities

CONFRONTATION IS THE KEY TO OFFICE HARMONY

Conflict between employees is a natural part of any work environment. An effective strategy for dealing with conflict in the office is direct confrontation.

Confronting a small problem early on will prevent it from developing into a major disruptive issue. Here are some guidelines for confronting office problems:

- Remember that confrontation should be used to clear the air and improve a relationship. Confronting a problem demonstrates that you care enough to iron out your problems.
- Always plan what you will say before confronting someone. Otherwise, you're likely to bring out a whole list of grievances, whether related or not.
- Use an explorative style of speech: "Help me understand..." or "I'm concerned about..." Don't be accusatory.
- Expect a counter confrontation, but don't argue—instead let them present their point of view. This allows time to get your emotions under control and gives them the respect of being heard (something that is often at the root of the problem).
- Thank them for telling you how they feel, and explain what you heard them say. Then, move back to your initial issue since you have now defused emotions. Don't stop until you have resolved the problem.
- Once you have learned how to conduct a confrontation on this efficient level, you should be able to defuse most office conflicts before they develop into serious problems.
