Turkey walkers to strut for Heart Fund benefit

As many as 75 are expected to participate Saturday in the Great American Turkey Walk.

The route of the walk will be between Haskell and Rule.

The walk will consist of the 10 miles between Haskell and Rule.

Sign-up for the event begins at 8:30 a.m. Saturday at the Haskell

National Bank. The journey starts at 9 a.m.

Haskell walkers will walk from Haskell National Bank to the Mary Wiseman property, five miles toward Rule, and back. Rule walkers will trek from Rule Park to the same point and back. Citizens of Rochester will conduct a similar walk in their area at the same time.

Walkers will solicit their friends and members of their families for pledges. They will pledge so much per mile to the Haskell County Chapter of the American Heart Assn., sponsor of the event.

A guest walker will be David Bacon of KTAB Abilene, said Casey

Caldwell, coordinator of the walk.

Each person who raises at least $100 in pledges will receive a turkey. The turkeys are being donated by Modern Way, M-System, Weinert Grocery, Tanner's Grocery of Rule, Buster's Pogue's and the City Grocery in Rochester.

Other prizes have been contributed by a number of merchants, including:

An AM/FM radio from Owens TV and Electric, John Deere weedeater from Hale Farm Supply, $100 savings bond from Haskell National Bank, weather alert radio from First National Bank of Haskell, $50 savings bond from Farmers National Bank of Rule.

Also making a donation will be the Video Vendor.

Last year's walk enriched the Heart Fund $2,500. It is hoped that this year's event will result in a greater amount.

Mailings solicit donations

Several Haskell businesses are mailing out Salvation Army solicitation envelopes with their November statements.

Recipients are being asked to mail their Salvation Army donations in the self-addressed envelope.

Both Haskell banks also are enclosing the solicitation envelopes in statements mailed to their customers.

County Chairman Bud Lane explained that this approach is being taken in lieu of the house-to-house solicitations of the past.

"It's worked pretty well in other communities and we hope it will here," he said.

Lane urged the people of Haskell County to respond to the appeal. Adequate response, he said, will avoid the necessity of a fund drive.

Chair, table funds needed

About half of the money needed to pay for the 100 new tables and 600 chairs at the Civic Center has been collected.

The price of a set—a table and six chairs—is $150.

Donations may be made to Carolyn Everett at Haskell National Bank or to Tom Watson.

Local hospital to x-ray candy

Halloween candy will be x-rayed free of charge at Haskell Memorial Hospital tonight (Thursday). The service will be offered from 8 to 10 p.m.

Those desiring to have their "treats" checked for harmful objects should bring them to the x-ray lab.

Band Boosters meet Tuesday

Haskell Band Boosters will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Band Hall. All parents of band members are asked to be present.

Library to close for election Tues.

The Haskell County Library will be closed next Tuesday due to the election.

The library is used as a voting location for Precinct 2 voters.

SCOUT BOOTH

Ghostbuster sale begins Thursday

Retail merchants of Haskell will have their annual Ghostbusters sale Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Participating businesses will remain open until 6:30 a.m. (Thursday) for the convenience of shoppers.

The Ghostbusters sale is a climax to activities which began last week when youth groups and individuals painted Halloween designs on windows of Haskell business firms.

Winners in the window painting contest were:

Ages 5-8: Den 4 of the Cub Scouts (Ben Franklin), first; Benjamin Crain (Boggs and Johnson), second; Jennifer Andress (White's), third.

Ages 7-9: Christy Cadenhead and Shayla Jeter (Video Vendor), first; Zachary Espinoza (Perry's), second; Tara Moeller (Slipper Shoppe), third.

Ages 10-12: Shawn Jordan and Dustin Gaskins (C&B), first; Brook Baker (C&B), second; Michelle Espinoza and James Espinoza (Perry's), third.

Ages 13-18: Thelma Baker (C&B) first; Christy Rowan and Candy Parsons (Boggs and Johnson), second; Jeremy Fuents (Heidenheimer's), third.

Indians seek 3rd in row

Riding a victory string of two and back in the running in the district 6-AA title chase, the Haskell Indians travel to Hawley Friday night to take on a Bearcat team which is capable of playing anyone a good game.

Hawley turned up for the district contest with a 27-0 rout of Rotan last week. Haskell measured the same Rotan team 27-6 a week earlier.

Haskell is coming off a stunning 13-6 victory over Stamford last Friday. The unexpected Haskell win threw the 6-AA race (at least for second place) into a dogfight.

One of the chief concerns faced by Indian Coach Harold Hill this week is the fear of a letdown after all the hype generated last week for the traditional battle with Stamford.

"Hawley has a good team," the coach said. "They're bigger than we are and they have two real good running backs."

One of those running backs is Kevin Sullivan who was named the area's "back of the week" after last Friday's performance against Rotan. He scored two touchdowns and picked up 266 yards on 21 carries.

There was nothing but praise from the Haskell coach for his team's efforts against Stamford. He was especially pleased with the defensive team which held the highly favored Bulldogs without a touchdown from scrimmage.

Haskell, which started the season with six straight losses against some of the best teams in the state, is beginning to see the tough experience pay off.

If the Indians can keep winning, against Hawley this week and against Anson next week, they can do no worse than finish in a tie for second place and a chance at a playoff spot.

Two Indian victories and a Hamlin win over Stamford would guarantee second place, while a Stamford upset of Hamlin, coupled with two Haskell victories, would secure at least a share of first place.

The Hawley game begins at 7:30 p.m.

Light turnout expected for vote on amendments

A light vote turnout is expected in Haskell County Tuesday for the Constitutional Amendments election.

County Clerk Woody Frazier estimated that only 400 to 600 of the county's more than 4,800 eligible voters will cast ballots. As of Friday, only three absentee ballots has been issued.

All county voting polls will open at 7 a.m. and remain open until 7 p.m.

In Haskell, voters will cast their ballots at the Community Bank Building (Precinct 1); the Haskell County Library (Precinct 2), the County Extension Building (Precinct 3) and the Justice of Peace office (Precinct 4).

Voters in Rule (5), Weinert (8), Paint Creek (9) and Sagerton (10) will vote in the school buildings of those communities.

In Rochester (6) they will vote at the Home State Bank and in O'Brien (7) at the gin office.

As usual in such elections, only a handful of the proposed amendments has produced more than passing interest among local voters.

Foremost of these are Amendments 1 and 2, the so-called water amendments.

Amendment 1 would authorize the issuance of an additional $980 million of general obligation bonds to finance water development, water quality enhancement, water conservation and flood control.

Amendment 2, actually a companion of the Amendment 1, would authorize the issuance of $200 million of agricultural water conservation bonds.

Most Haskellites appear to favor these two proposals. State Rep. Rick Perry has urged their passage.

"No other factor is so critical to the future of our great state," Perry said in a newsletter mailed last week to his constituency in Callahan, Haskell, Hood, Palo Pinto, Shackelford, Stephens, Throckmorton and Young counties.

The Haskell City Council passed a resolution Oct. 8, endorsing Amendments 1 and 2. Many state and regional organizations, including the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, are calling for adoption of these two amendments.

"They (the people of Texas) have at all times the inalienable right to alter, reform or abolish their government in such manner as they may think expedient."

Article 1, Section 2
Texas Bill of Rights 1876

But on the local level, there is at least vocal opposition to Amendments 5 and 13.

Amendment 5 which would authorize the legislature to regulate the provision of health care by hospital districts is opposed by Bud Comedy, administrator of Haskell Memorial Hospital, and Anita Perry, director of nurses. They say that passage of this amendment will enable the legislature, rather than the local hospital district, to determine what and how local services are provided.

Amendment 13 would authorize the creation of a Judicial Districts Board, providing for the reappointment of district court districts. The Board would provide for the administration and jurisdiction of the courts.

Haskell attorney Royce Adkins is urging the defeat of this proposed amendment, saying it will deprive the rural areas of Texas of the judicial system they now have. He said that Haskell County, and other counties of comparable size, will be consolidated into districts containing much larger counties. "We'll be real small fish in a great big pond," said the long-time former district attorney.

Few of the other amendments seem to have attracted a great deal of support or opposition on the local level.

Among them are:
No. 3 Enabling cities to spend public health funds for replacing water lines on private property and assess the cost against property owners.

No. 4 Permitting proceeds from the sale of land dedicated to the permanent school fund to be used to acquire other land for that fund.

No. 6 Permitting state prisoners to be placed in penal facilities in other states.

No. 7 Allowing Chambers County to be divided into two to six justice of peace precincts.

No. 8 Providing $500 million in additional general obligation bonding authority for the Veterans Land Board to finance more low-interest home mortgage loans to veterans.

No. 9 Permitting the legislature to provide for the prior approval of the expenditure or emergency transfer of appropriated funds.

No. 10 Authorizing the Veterans

...and it's deductible

Doyle High may have been the only druggist in the whole country who showed up for work Monday morning in formal attire.

The owner of The Drug Store in Haskell reported to work all decked out in a sleek black tuxedo.

It was learned that the local pill roller had attended a party over the weekend and he still had un-used timeleft on his rented tux. Why not wear it to work and get full mileage out of the rental charge?

Never one to be bashful about putting a dollar sign in front of a scheme, he was overheard to say that the tux charge just might be tax deductible.

Afterall, it was used as a work uniform, he reasoned.

THE VERDICT!

The final scoreboard reading told the story Friday night of the Haskell Indians' stunning victory over Stamford. The win upped the Haskell district record to 2-1 and kept them in the running for a playoff berth.

Howards visit in Graham

Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Howard and Leonard and Linda Howard of Haskell were weekend guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Howard, Holli and Chris of Graham.

While there they attended a Halloween parade, in which Chris was a participant. Later Saturday, Chris was on a team that won third place in the cubmobile races.

Hesters to observe 35th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Joe Hester, Sr. formerly of O'Brien, will celebrate their 35th wedding anniversary with a reception Nov. 10 in the St. Luke's Presbyterian Church of Amarillo.

The reception, which will be between 3 and 5 p.m., is being hosted by their children, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hester of Canyon and Peggy Barrier of San Antonio.

Dodds-Doremus vows exchanged

Miss Veonna Dodds and Mark Doremus were united in marriage Saturday, Oct. 12, at First Baptist Church in Blanket. Performing the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Billy Camp.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Winifred Dodds of Blanket formerly of Paint Creek; and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Doremus of Lake Helen, Fl., and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hohertz of Priddy. The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. M.E. Dodds of Early and Lon Boyd of Brownwood, formerly of May. The bridegroom is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hohertz of Priddy.

Altar decorations included a candle lighted archway entwined with greenery and two double-heart shaped candelabra with a burgundy bow on each. The parents' pews were designated by triple candle markers.

Opal Scharank of Fort Worth, aunt of the groom, sang Sunrise Sunset and There Is Love. As the bride and groom lighted the unity candle the Wedding Prayer was sung. Mrs. Jean Robbins of Blanket accompanied at the organ.

Prior to the ceremony the parents of the couple lighted a single candle for the bride and groom to use to light the unity candle later in the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her mother and father was escorted to the altar on the arm of her father. She was attired in a formal gown of white Chantilly lace. The empire bodice featured a Queen-Ann neckline accented by pearlized lace motifs. The sheer lace bishop sleeves were enhanced by cuffs decorated with matching lace appliques. The Chantilly lace bouffant skirt fell into an attached chapel train. The front skirt was designed with an organza center panel accented with a wide side sweep skirt of Chantilly lace.

To complete her bridal ensemble, Veonna chose a one-tiered cathedral length veil trimmed in Chantilly lace, attached to a head-piece of matching lace. She carried her mother's wedding bouquet. Added to the bouquet were satin burgundy rose buds, daisies and baby's breath.

Leta Salazar of Brownwood was her sister's matron of honor. Other bridal attendants were Kay Smart of Waco and Peggy Goodgion of Brownwood. They wore formal gowns of burgundy taffeta with ruffled rounded necklines and caplet sleeves. Leigh Ann Reel, of Paint Creek was junior bridesmaid. Her formal dress was made of burgundy taffeta with a long chiffon overlay, sleeveless with rounded neckline and a bow on the shoulders. The back was tiered with ruffles. The matron of honor carried a bouquet of burgundy and gray roses with burgundy ribbon and the other attendants carried bouquets of burgundy and gray carnations with burgundy ribbon.

Alisha Bartley of Brownwood was flower girl. Her dress was white tiered lace over taffeta. She carried a white wicker basket trimmed in burgundy and gray filled with rose petals.

The groom was attired in a white tailed tuxedo with a burgundy satin rose boutonniere, accented with baby's breath.

Steve Tiemann of Brownwood was best man. Groomsman were Steve Butler of Priddy, cousin of the groom, and Joey Masurek of Priddy, brother of the groom. Shane Jones of Brownwood was junior groomsman. Their tuxedos were silver with burgundy satin rose boutonnieres, accented with baby's breath. Jodie Reel of Paint Creek served a ringbearer.

He was attired in a white tuxedo and carried a heart shaped pillow of satin and lace with the bride and groom's wedding bands tied with a white satin ribbon. Ushers were Delbert Dodds of Stephenville, brother of the bride, and Dirk Janner of Austin.

The bride's mother chose a wine sleeveless, rounded neckline gown with a long chiffon overlay with a chiffon ruffle around the waistline. The groom's mother wore a street-length pale blue dress. Their corsages were of burgundy and white satin roses with baby's breath.

Sandi Jones of Brownwood attended the register. A single candle butterfly arrangement with baby pictures of the bride and groom decorated the table covered with a gray satin cloth.

The reception, hosted by the bride's parents, was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table, centered with her bouquet, was laid with a lace cloth over burgundy cloth. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with burgundy roses on each layer. A miniature bride and groom kissing was on the top. On top of the bottom layer was the miniature bride and groom that had been used on the bride's parents wedding cake. The cake and mock pink punch was served by Brenda Reel of Paint Creek and Debbie Pittman of May.

The groom's table had a chocolate horseshoe cake with words "Good Luck Mark" and miniature groom and bride with the bride pulling the groom's tuxedo's tail. A chocolate sheet cake was served.

Melbadean Tarter, aunt of the groom of Brownwood, made the groom's cakes. The table was covered with a gray satin cloth with burgundy bows on the corners. Tina Womack of Brownwood and DeAnn Butler of Priddy served the cake with coffee from a silver service. Brooke Bartley of Brownwood and Gena Newsom of Midland passed out rice bags during the reception.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom and parents in the fellowship hall.

The bride is a graduate of Jonesboro High School and Ranger Beauty College in Brownwood. She is employed at Revco Drug. The groom, a Priddy High School graduate, is employed at Siecor in Brownwood.

After a short honeymoon to Abilene the couple resides in Brownwood.

Friends and relatives attending the wedding were from Lake Helen, Fla., San Angelo, Priddy, Blanket, Midland, Ft. Worth, Stephenville, Burleson, Iraan, Rankin, Paint Creek, Jonesboro, Gatesville, Austin, Lubbock, Cross Plains, May, Waco, Mason and Brownwood.

Mississippi vows unite couple

St. Charles Catholic Church in Picayune, Miss., was the setting for the Sept. 7 wedding of Miss Barbara Ann Cibula and 2nd Lt. Christopher Neil Wheatley, United States Air Force.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Ganley Cibula of Picayune. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Neil Wheatley, also of Picayune.

The bride's maternal grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kloka of Berlin, Germany. Her paternal grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cibula of Cleveland, Ohio.

Lt. Wheatley's maternal grandparents are Mrs. William Paul Ratliff of Haskell, and the late Mr. Ratliff. Paternal grandparents are Mrs. James Carl Wheatley of Haskell and the late Mr. Wheatley. Both Mrs. Wheatley and Mrs. Ratliff attended the wedding.

The Rev. Michael Leane officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Organist was Mrs. Ida Mae Holcomb, who played traditional wedding music and classical selections, including "Trumpets Voluntaire." During the ceremony she accompanied Sherri Jayne Stockstill as she sang, "The Wedding Song," "Ruth's Song" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The sanctuary windows were filled with English Ivy and Magnolia leaves and were lit with candles for the evening ceremony. Standing candelabra and large baskets filled with mixed white flowers were placed on either side of the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore her mother's wedding gown of English net over silk peau d'oeil. The fitted bodice was designed with a sweetheart neckline, sheer embroidered cap sleeves and sleevelets. Her full, formal-length skirt was edged with embroidery. Her veil of lace-edged silk illusion fell from a jewel encrusted caplet and drifted into a chapel-length train. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, mini-carnations and baby's breath entwined with an heirloom rosary belonging to her paternal grandmother, the late Mrs. Elsie Cibula.

Mrs. Maureen Cibula Politz of Picayune served her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Kathy Cibula Odom, Audrey Cibula, Ellen Cibula, sisters of the bride and all from Picayune; Judy Johnston of Greenville, Miss., and Tammy Barker of Picayune. They wore teal-length gowns of royal blue taffeta designed by the bride. The fitted bodice featured a Basque waistline and full, puffed elbow-length sleeves. The high necklines were encircled with ivory hand-crocheted collars. They carried long-stemmed ivory roses and baby's breath tied with ivory satin ribbons.

Tara Odom, niece of the bride and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Odom of Picayune, was flower girl. She wore a royal blue dress similar to those of the matron of honor and bridesmaids. She carried a fireside basket filled with mixed blue and white flowers. She was escorted by her cousin and nephew of the bride, Lance Politz, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don M. Politz of Picayune.

Serving his son as best man was Bobby Neil Wheatley. The groomsmen were Joseph Wheatley and Jay Wheatley of Picayune, brothers of the groom; 2nd Lt. Eugene Winterhalter, USAF, of Chicago, 2nd Lt. Robert Hunt, USAF, of Biloxi and Greg Wax of Metairie, La.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents hosted a reception in the Parish Hall of the Church. The white three-tiered wedding cake adorned with fresh flowers was served from a table covered with a jeweled lace and sheer organza cloth. Punch and hors d'oeuvres were served from a table covered with a jeweled lace cloth used in the wedding of the groom's parents and made by the groom's maternal grandmother, Mrs. William Paul Ratliff. The table from which coffee and groom's cake were served was covered with an antique heirloom Normandy cloth made by the groom's maternal great-grandmother, the late Mrs. Susan Foote Grant of Abilene.

The bride is a 1981 honor graduate of Picayune Memorial High School and a May 1985 cum laude graduate of Mississippi University for Women where she received a Bachelor of Science Degree in Education.

Lt. Wheatley graduated with honors in 1980 from Picayune Memorial High School and is a 1984 honor graduate from the University of Texas in Austin. At the time of his graduation he was commissioned and assigned to Columbus Air Force Base in Columbus, Miss., where he completed undergraduate pilot training in August 1985. After completing further pilots' training at Castle Air Force Base in Merced, Calif., the couple will reside in Wichita, Kansas, while Lt. Wheatley is assigned to McConnell Air Force Base,

Rochester Hobby Club

Homecoming at the Rochester Hobby Club was just an extension of the very successful occasion that the general Homecoming proved to be. The Oct. 11-12 event will be long remembered by those who were able to attend.

The annual Quilt Show and Crafts Bazaar will be Saturday, Nov. 9. This is, of course, open to the public. And everyone is welcome to bring in quilts to be a part of the show. These need to be brought to the Hobby Club anytime on Friday, Nov. 8.

The drawing for the quilt to be given as a door prize will be at 4 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 9. The pattern of this quilt is "Crown of Thorn." We are taking sealed bids on the quilt "Ladies' High-Topped, Old-Fashioned Shoe." Bids will be opened at 4 p.m. Nov. 9. You need not be present to win.

Odessa Erwin was hostess at the noontime meal on Thursday, Oct. 17. Thirteen members and six visitors enjoyed the bountiful meal. Oleta Fitzgerald will act as hostess on Nov. 5.

Around town

Mrs. Laverne Regen and Mrs. Lucy Garno visited with Martha Meadors during the Haskell homecoming. Miss Meadors is their niece. Miss Meadors went home with Mrs. Garno for a two weeks visit in Harrisburg, PA. She returned home October 10.

The Haskell Co. Ambulance Memorial Fund needs your support. You never know when you or a loved one will need these services. What would happen if someday they weren't there because you didn't give your fair share? Think about it....

Antique quilts should be re-folded

Anyone lucky enough to own an antique quilt should re-fold it twice a year and never store it in a plastic bag. That's the word from Quilt Festival, the world's largest show and sale held in Houston every fall.

Antique quilts, an important part of America's heritage, will play a big role at this year's show, set for Oct. 31, Nov. 1-3 at the Shamrock Hilton in Houston. Quilt Festival will feature 17 spectacular antique quilts, each signed and dated, in a special exhibit, "Remember Me: Friendship Quilts from the 19th Century," sponsored by The Quilt Digest Press.

One of the reasons these examples of early women's art still exists today is the care they have been given in the families who have inherited them. Lovingly preserved, treated as "best" quilts rather than everyday covers, they have been spared the fate of being "washed to death."

Quilt Festival suggests that an antique quilt be refolded on different lines twice a year to prevent wear and soiling on the fold lines and that it be stored in an old well-washed cotton pillowslip or sheet away from direct contact with wood or direct sunlight. The folds should be padded with rolls of acid-free tissue paper which will be available at Quilt Festival.

Storing textiles in plastic bags speeds up fabric deterioration and can cause irreversible damage such as mold or mildew. Sunlight and overwashing are the two worst enemies of an antique quilt. The "brown spots" that occur in the ageing process are just like brown spots on an older person's hand

TAX PLANNING

Written By Gerald Rodgers, CPA

"YELLOW PAD" FINANCIAL PLAN

Financial planning does not have to cost a lot of money. If your financial affairs are simple, your financial plan may also be simple.

Good financial planners will review your list of assets and liabilities to determine your current net worth. With your input, he or she will determine your financial requirements from now through your retirement years. The planner will go on to assist you in arranging your financial affairs to meet these requirements.

Everyone's financial well-being is affected by several factors. Tax laws continue to change, and inflation erodes the purchasing power of fixed incomes. There are many new investment alternatives to review in the light of economic risk. Your financial plan should be adequate to see that your economic goals are met without being so cumbersome that it's most unworkable.

Perhaps your first conference on financial planning will be the only one necessary. It may confirm that what you are currently doing is all that is needed to reach your goals. The first conference may also end with a "yellow pad" solution, that is, a relatively simple plan sketched out for you by the planner on a "yellow legal pad." The yellow pad solution is often adequate for many families and because it was accomplished in one session, it's affordable by most families.

Your financial needs and goals are going to change almost annually. Therefore, an annual "yellow pad" conference with your planner may be all that's necessary to satisfy your financial objectives. If, in fact, your financial planning is more complicated, it's worth the time and money to proceed with a more comprehensive plan.

Your accountant is your most objective and best qualified choice for assistance with financial planning.

Assert your power

The Texas constitution created in 1876 states emphatically that "all political power is inherent in the people."

Constitutional amendment elections give the voters of Texas the opportunity to seer that power.

Since 1879 a total of 436 amendments to the constitution have been proposed. So far 269 of them have been adopted, but only because a majority of Texans voted their approval of the amendments.

Yearly, Texas voters are given the opportunity to alter the most powerful document in the state, to decide what is best for the future of Texas, their communities, themselves and their families. The constitution directly affects everyone in this state and yet voter turnout for the proposed amendments in off-year general elections is a disappointing 12 percent or less.

This means that of the nearly 8 million registered voters in the state, less than 1 million take advantage of a right that affords more authority to voters than to the power to change what is written in the constitution.

Fourteen proposed constitutional amendments will be on the ballot next Tuesday. Especially significant are the proposed water amendments. This is the third time Texas voters have been faced with a proposed solution to the state's water problem.

A myriad of other issues are touched by the proposed amendments. The state of Texas prisons has been much publicized. Proposition 6 speaks to that issue.

Regulation of local hospital districts by the state legislature, re-alignment of district-court districts and funding to continue established programs and create new ones are addressed in other proposals.

In addition to the right to vote, citizens of Texas have the obligation to inform themselves on the issues to be decided.

Vote!

There used to be a simple way to say it

By Wendell Faught

People don't look for jobs anymore.

Instead, they "mainstream their talents."

And when they do this, they're in a selection process."

So wrote syndicated columnist Erma Bombeck last week as she told of a conversation with her jobless son.

Erma's a funny writer and she's been known to exaggerate a time or two. But in doing so, she always makes a point.

The point here is her bewilderment with the modern tendency to get away from simple English and try to say ordinary things in extraordinary ways.

"At this point in time" surfaced a few years ago when Sen. Howard Baker kept repeating it during the Watergate hearings. For some strange reason, it has stayed around to torment us. The word "now" works just as well with a lot less effort, but it's far too simple for inclusion in a lot of vocabularies these days.

Our founding fathers gave us a constitution which was the envy of the world. But if you don't think it's been butchered up by later generations, take a look at it some day and compare the simplicity of the original 10 amendments to the voluminous wordage of subsequent additions.

Lincoln's literary masterpiece at Gettysburg contained fewer words than most of today's politicians use to answer a "yes or no" question. The Lord's Prayer has only one three-syllable word in the first 36, and none at all for those who use the non-Biblical pronunciation of the word "hallowed."

I once had a neighbor whose six-year-old son was not doing well in such first-grade artistic requirements as cutting, pasting and coloring.

They took him to a child psychologist who interviewed him, quizzed him, tested him, analyzed him, etc. A few days later the parents received a three-page typewritten report from the psychologist, containing, I suppose, a complete evaluation of the child's problems.

It was filled with 15- and 20-letter words and all kinds of medical, psychological and psychiatric terminology which would make Howard Cosell's utterances pale by comparison. Best we could figure, the doc was trying to say the kid was weak on digit dexterity. I don't know why he didn't just say Junior was clumsy, awkward or inept.

My wise old great aunt reached the same conclusion when she analyzed me when I was about six. She didn't have all those fancy initials after her name; in fact her formal education was probably limited to three or four years. Her credentials were experience and common sense—and a way with words.

After watching me for a couple of minutes as I tried to help my older sister cut paper dolls from a Sears catalog, she rendered her verdict by use of an age-old expression: "Your fingers are all thumbs."

I'm reminded of a notice printed by the Deming (N.M.) Chamber of Commerce several years ago after a sharp devaluation of the Mexican peso. Being located near the border, Deming merchants regularly accepted the foreign currency.

But after the devaluation and the resulting instability of the peso, most merchants quit taking it. The Chamber had the notice printed for merchants to tape up near their cash registers.

It went something like this: "Due to the instability of the Mexican peso and the uncertainty of the ever-changing exchange rate, this firm can no longer accept Mexican currency in payment for our merchandise and/or services. We regret any inconvenience this action may cause...blah, blah, blah."

An enterprising cashier at the Bel Shore Restaurant condensed the message to a simple form. At the top of the notice, she scrawled in red ink: "No Mexican Money."

The identical communique was transmitted vociferously and articulately—and truncated.

Or you might just want to say: The same message came across loud and clear—and short.

Air Force wants ex-servicemen

The Air Force needs nearly 2,000 people with prior military service, according to Chief Master Sergeant Bob Reflogal, Recruiting Superintendent here.

"We're looking primarily for former personnel trained in aircraft maintenance, jet engine mechanics, ground radio communications, aerospace ground equipment mechanics, as well as the medical and personnel specialties," said Sgt. Reflogal. Recruiters can offer these critically needed specialists their former rank back, if they have not been out of the service more than four years.

Conservation Viewpoints

USDA Soil Conservation Service
Assisting
Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District

Livestock producers in Texas are using planned grazing systems on about 15 million acres. Jim Hudson, district conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service at Haskell, said that the efficiency of forage production is dependent on the health of the plants on rangeland.

"Plants capture solar energy in their leaves and use this energy to manufacture their own food," Hudson said. "If these leaves are continuously grazed short, the plant will use all its stored food reserves, reduce forage production, and die."

Livestock are highly selective in what plant species they graze. They graze the best first and the worst last. They also like to come back to the same plant and graze it again because of the young tender regrowth.

Hudson said this is why the better plants have been killed off the rangeland, reducing forage production on much of it by up to 75 percent.

The loss of these better plants that the livestock prefer can be stopped and the process reversed if the rancher desires to maximize grazing efficiency. The better plants must be made as healthy as possible. To accomplish this, they need a chance to grow without continually being grazed. Animal numbers need to be balanced to forage produced.

A planned grazing system, tailored to meet the needs of the plants, the livestock and the rancher, is the best way to maximize grazing efficiency, Hudson stressed.

"You can't tell a cow what to eat, but you can limit the length of time and when she eats, using a tailor-made planned grazing system," he said.

Those interested in maximizing the efficiency and improving grassland, may contact the Soil Conservation Service.

Children offered advice

Haskell parents and children have been offered some safety advice for Halloween by Major V.J. Cawthon, commander of the Texas Dept. of Public Safety for Region 5.

"Halloween can be fun if celebrated legally and safely," says Major Cawthon. "Small children should be accompanied by an adult when trick-or-treating."

"Motorists should be extra careful. Children will be excited while trick-or-treating and not paying attention to traffic. The life you save, may be your own child's."

"A pedestrian's chance of getting killed or injured is increased 800 percent at night. The adult must think of the children's safety."

"Parents should carry flashlights to serve as a warning to the motorists. As an added traffic safety measure on poorly lit streets, children should be instructed to use sidewalks and not jay walk."

The safety official cautions against permitting youngsters to carry jack-o-lanterns with lighted candles due to the possibility of a costume catching fire. He also warns that throwing water balloons or other objects at moving vehicles could result in disaster.

In summary, Major Cawthon cautioned, "It is suggested that trick-or-treaters not do anything to anyone, even in fun, that they would not want done to them during Halloween, or any other time."

Stomach clamp effective in long-term weight loss

Use of a stomach clip has resulted in long-term weight loss that compares favorably to other procedures for treatment of extreme obesity, according to Texas Medicine.

"The clip...appears to be a relatively safe and effective procedure for treatment for morbidly obese patients," wrote two Dallas physicians in the Texas Medical Association's October scientific journal.

Known as a gastro-clip, the device reduces the size of the stomach and consists of two arms that hinge at one end. When closed, it creates a permanent opening approximately one-third the size of a normal stomach exit opening. The clip compresses the stomach walls and prevents bigger pieces of food from passing through the new opening. However, it does allow well chewed particles to pass. Insertion of the clip does not require an opening in the stomach.

According to Drs. Samuel B. Bashour and R.W. Hill, surgeons are now focusing on reduction of the stomach's capacity as a means of gradual and more lasting weight loss rather than performing an intestinal bypass where a segment of the small intestine replaces the entire length of the intestine.

Patients in the study conducted by Bashour and Hill lost an average of 68 pounds. The weight loss was calculated at one week before and 12 months after surgery for each patient. According to Bashour, an individual who weighs 75 to 100 pounds over ideal weight may be a candidate for the gastro-clip.

The authors state that persons who have had complications from an intestinal bypass or a stapling procedure should not be considered for this operation. They add it appears that patients incur less nonproductive time because they are able to walk shortly after surgery. The gastro-clip has been submitted for approval by the Food and Drug Administration and a patent for the device has been approved.

Trio placed on 'most wanted' list

The three men were strangers, just a trio of jail inmates who happened to be doing time together.

One was about to be transported to Huntsville to begin serving a three-year prison sentence for burglary.

Another was in jail on a separate burglary charge. The third was serving a sentence on a DWI conviction.

But circumstances have now bonded these three strangers together.

Around 10 p.m. on Aug. 26, four inmates at the Starr County jail overpowered the jail guard and obtained his keys, which they used to make their escape.

There were about 20 prisoners in the jail at the time of the escape and all of them could have fled. But 16 decided to stay.

One of the escaped prisoners was quickly captured.

However three remain at large.

They are Alejandro Castillo, 30, of Houston, who was serving time for DWI; Ricardo Gonzalez, 24, who had been in jail since March on a charge of Burglary of Habitation; and Roberto Trevino, 22, who was about to be transferred to the Texas Department of Corrections in Huntsville to begin serving a three-year prison sentence for Burglary of a Habitation.

Now all three must face additional felony charges of escape.

But first they must be captured.

This week the trio have been placed on the Texas Most Wanted list.

Rewards of up to $1,000 each are being offered for information leading to the capture of the three escapees.

Castillo is 5-8, 190 pounds, with black hair and brown eyes. He has a dark complexion and has tattoos on both arms and a surgical scar just below the navel.

Gonzalez is 5-7, 144 pounds, with brown hair and brown eyes. He has a tattoo of a large cross across his chest.

Trevino is 5-2, 160 pounds, with black hair and brown eyes. He has the tattoo of a spider web on his right shoulder.

Starr County law enforcement officials say Gonzalez and Trevino should be considered dangerous.

Sheriff's deputies say Castillo and Gonzalez were seen together in Mexico about a week after their escape. However, they believe the pair have split up and have returned to the United States.

Anyone with information about the locations of any of the three fugitives is asked to call the Texas Crime Stoppers Advisory Council toll-free at 1-800-252-8477. In all cases, callers do not have to reveal their identities. Cash rewards are also offered for information leading to the capture of other wanted felons.

Texas Most Wanted is a cooperative program between the Department of Public Safety and Texas Crime Stoppers.

Sidewalk sale to continue

The Lutheran Presbyterian youth sidewalk sale will continue this Saturday in front of the First Presbyterian Church, 304 North Ave. E.

Sponsors of the event said that last week's sale was a huge success, but that so much merchandise was contributed to the sale, there is enough left over to continue the sale this weekend.

The sale will be from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

The Luthererians expressed their appreciation to all who made the sale a success—the buyers, as well as the contributors.

NEW LIVESTOCK BARN

The new livestock barn at the Haskell County Fairgrounds has now been erected. The 50x75-foot structure was built as a memorial to the late C.A. (Clifford) Thomas, a long-time supporter of county fair and livestock activities. Contributions to pay for final touches on the building still are needed. They may be made at Haskell National Bank or to Max Stapleton, county agent, or Duane Gilly, high school vo-ag instructor.

Teachers to attend test prep workshop

A number of Haskell County teachers plan to attend a special workshop of the Assn. of Texas Professional Educators (ATPE) at Abilene High School Nov. 23.

Alice Jones of Rule, president of the local ATPE unit, explains that the workshop is to help teachers prepare for the state-mandated teacher competency test.

In order to be eligible for the workshop, persons must have pre-registered by Nov. 10. A fee of $5 is charged at the door to cover the cost of a special competency test workbook which will be distributed to all those attending.

The workshop will be conducted by ATPE members with credentials and expertise in the areas to be tested. The workshop is designed to prepare educators for the Texas Examination of Current Administrators and Teachers (TECAT), the teacher competency test mandated by House Bill 72. The law requires that every certified teacher in Texas take and pass the TECAT in order to retain his or her teaching certificate.

The competency test will be administered statewide on March 10, 1986. The exam will test teachers' knowledge of basic literacy in a reading and writing skills test. The reading test will ask teachers to identify a main idea; identify details; distinguish fact from opinion; draw inferences; use and select reference sources; and comprehend job-related vocabulary.

On the writing test, teachers must identify proper mechanics of writing, including capitalization, punctuation and spelling; recognize proper English usage; identify errors in sentence formation and produce a written composition.

ATPE is Texas' second-largest and fastest-growing teacher association with approximately 42,000 members statewide. Approximately 94 percent of ATPE members are classroom teachers, but administrators, paraprofessionals, students and retired teachers also belong to the association.

Vernon offers class on phobias

A new class entitled "How to Fight Phobias & Fears" will be offered by the Continuing Education Division of Vernon Regional Junior College.

The class, to be taught by Dale Denney, will encompass the definition of phobic disorders and categories discussed regarding associated features, course of disorder, impairments, complication, and possible treatments for these disorders.

The class will meet from 6:30 to 9 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 4. The fee will be $5. Persons 60 or over wishing to enroll may do so for $3.

Pre-registration is necessary as class size is limited. Information & registration forms are available at the Office of Continuing Education at 552-6291. This class will be held on the VRJC campus in Vernon.

Fitness Shop owners become certified Homecoming

David and Laura Tidwell have successfully completed the Aerobics and Fitness Assn. of America's program and now join the ranks of certified professional aerobics instructors across the country.

The Tidwells are owners of the Fitness Shop, 1303 North Ave. I.

Certification came after completion of the National Exercise Instructor Certification program at the Landmark Club in Dallas Aug. 2-4.

The Aerobics and Fitness Assn of America (AFAA) is an association of aerobic exercise professionals and enthusiasts, advised by a multidisciplinary board of advisors, dedicated to the promotion of safety and excellence in the instruction of aerobic exercise.

To meet this goal, AFAA has developed a nationwide certification program for aerobic exercise instructors. The AFAA certified aerobics instructor must demonstrate a basic degree of competency, adequate to instruct a safe and effective aerobic exercise class to health adults.

The AFAA Instructor Training Program is a

40-hour intensive and comprehensive course which covers basic anatomy and physiology, components of fitness, principles of conditioning, basic nutrition, body composition, weight control and eating disorders, fitness assessment, risk factors, danger signs, medical considerations, instructional technique and motivation.

Certification is awarded after passing both a written and practical examination.

AFAA certification as an aerobics exercise instructor is valid for a period two years and is renewable through mandatory continuing education courses and certification process.

Low cost Classified Ads will bring positive results fast. Try them.

Ex-students of Paint Creek will celebrate their homecoming Saturday.

Registration begins at 1 p.m. and a business meeting is scheduled for 2 o'clock.

A homecoming supper begins at 5 p.m.

AT THE SPA

Laura Tidwell, right, who with her husband David owns the Fitness Shop in Haskell, gives a class in aerobics at the local health facility. The Tidwells are certified professional aerobics instructors.

Cottonseed a bargain for livestock feed

With the winter season approaching, cattlemen looking for a bargain in livestock feed should consider whole cottonseed.

Cottonseed is a high energy feedstuff and is readily available at a low price due to a large cotton crop this year, points out Dr. Larry Boleman, beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University.

According to Boleman, cottonseed is a good buy when 100 pounds costs less than 35 pounds of cottonseed meal plus 65 pounds of sorghum. Cottonseed is currently selling for about $3 per hundredweight, representing almost a $2 savings over a like amount of meal-sorghum mix.

Whole cottonseed is packed with energy (90 percent total digestible nutrients) and may be used to make up as much as 20 percent of the total daily ration of beef and dairy animals, says the specialist. However, livestock should also receive adequate levels of minerals, vitamins and roughage since the high energy content of cottonseed can cause scours.

Other factors that cattlemen should consider in feeding cottonseed are these:

1. Since cottonseed is fed whole, it does not require grinding, rolling, pelleting or any other preparation.

2. Cottonseed can be fed alone or combined with other ingredients to produce a variety of mixed feed, cubes or pellets.

3. Cottonseed can combust spontaneously if stored too wet and stacked too high, so it should be bought at a moisture level of 14 percent or lower and stored in a flat bulk container. Cottonseed can be stored a year or more without fumigation if kept dry.

4. Cottonseed is best fed from a trough since it will not flow well in self feeders.

5. Because of the high oil content, cottonseed should be fed so as not to exceed these daily limitations--4 pounds for weaned calves, 5 pounds for yearlings, 6 pounds for cattle from 1,000 to 1,300 pounds and 7 pounds for heavier animals.

6. Cattle unaccustomed to eating cottonseed may have to be trained a bit, and sprinkling cottonseed with molasses or grain will entice them.

Cisco college sets Parents Day

Saturday, Nov. 9 will be Parents Day on the Cisco Junior College campus. Parents Day 1985 salutes the many families who are represented at CJC.

The day's activities will begin with registration from 10:00 to 11:30 in the Maner Memorial Library.

A barbecue luncheon will be served from 11:30 to 1 in the Corral Room of the Laguna Hotel for all parents attending. An afternoon football game between CJC and Blinn College will begin with pre-game activities at 2:40 and kickoff at 3 p.m.

Americans ingest 10-20 times more salt than needed

Salt is second only to sugar as an additive in the American diet. As a consequence, medical scientists find, we ingest 10 to 20 times the sodium our bodies need or can eliminate.

A number of recent studies have indicated that over-consumption of sodium is linked to hypertension (high blood pressure) which is, in turn, cited as a major cause of heart and kidney disease, stroke and death.

Behavioural scientists tell us that our early vegetarian ancestors ate very little salt, probably less than 500 mg. a day. Even today, it is agreed, that physiologically we need less than 1,000 mg. (1 gram) of salt in our daily diet. In spite of that we are eating, on average, 25,000 mg. to 35,000 mg. Because early man used little salt our bodies hoard sodium and excrete potassium. This creates the problems with our bodies.

It is generally agreed that desire for salt is acquired and can be controlled with very little difficulty. Many baby food manufacturers have eliminated salt in their products without a discernible change in the eating habits of infants. In fact newborn babies express a distaste for salt.

In spite of this many baby foods are loaded with sodium. The average baby gets about 25,000 mg. per day.

The diet of babies and young children contains so much salt that they become "hooked" and demand ever increasing amounts. The cravings are evidenced by the teenagers' preference for salty snack foods, potato chips and fast foods.

The introduction of excessive amounts of highly-salted foods into the diet of our young has resulted in a population which averages two to four teaspoons (2,000 mg. per teaspoon) of salt per day in its diet, although the body needs only a fraction of that amount. The result is 50 million persons in the United States suffering from high blood pressure.

A nutrition task force of the non-profit Consumer Education Research Center has studied this situation and compiled a book to help break the salt habit. It lists the salt content of over 800 foods, liquors and medicines. The book, "Salt and Your Health" is available for $4 plus $1 for mailing from CERC, P.O. Box 3365, South Orange, N.J. 07079.

Even pets are given diets extremely high in salt content. The makers say that this is necessary to encourage the animals to eat the products. However, meat-eating wild animals eat no salt except that found in the other animals they eat. Thus we subject the pets we love to the same diseases that we cause in ourselves.

According to Robert L. Verko, executive director of the Center, there are many ways to season foods without salt. For instance, he says, the flavor of asparagus can be enhanced by using garlic, lemon juice, vinegar or onion. For beef, Berko suggests using bayleaf, dry mustard powder, green peppers, marjoran, fresh mushrooms, nutmeg, onion, pepper, sage or thyme. The book lists alternate seasonings for meats, fish, poultry, vegetables and soups.

The consumer leader cautions against the excessive use of salt substitutes since they use potassium in place of sodium and can result in problems associated with too much potassium.

"For those who require more specific ways to avoid sodium, we have included low-salt recipes and sources where other recipes can be found," says Berko.

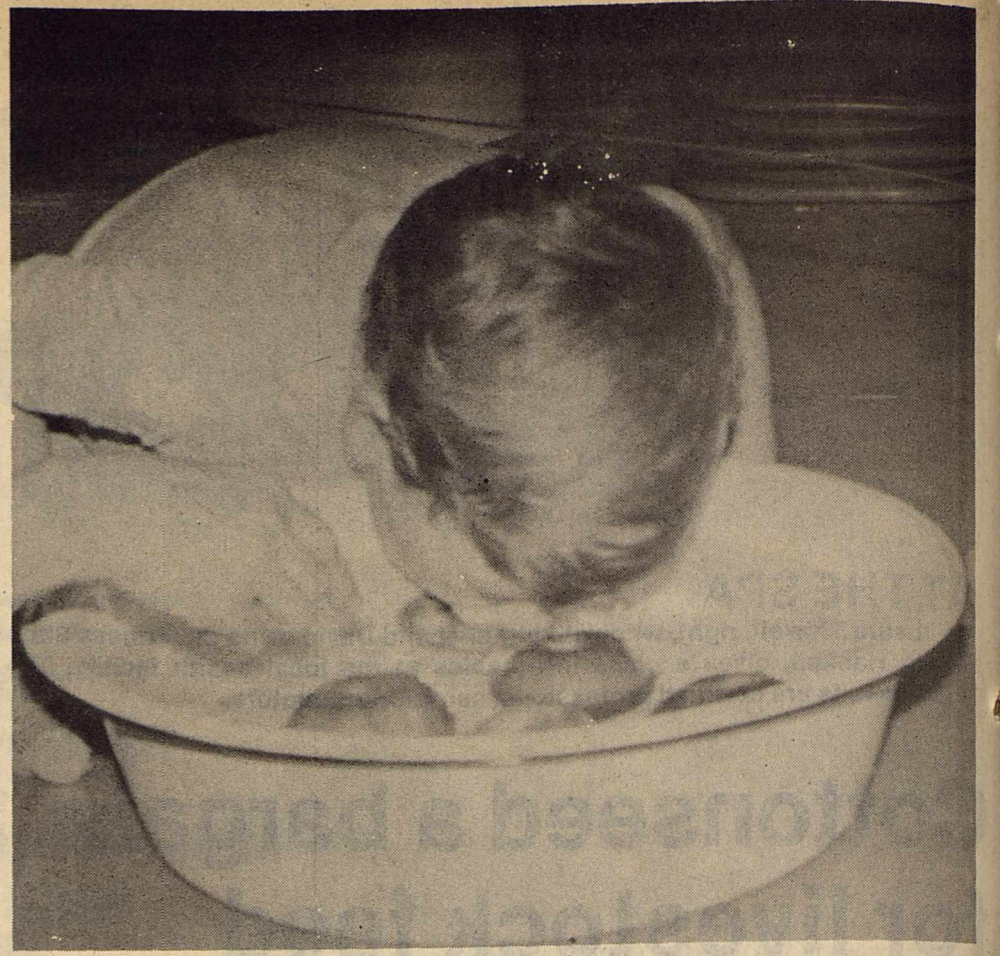

He tells us, "We think we can tell what foods are salty. And many times we are right. Obviously sauerkraut, pickles, potato chips and herring are salty. But did you know that 2 slices of Pepperidge Farm White Bread (234mg.) contains more sodium than a one ounce bag of Lay's Potato Chip; that 1/2 cup of cottage cheese contains as much sodium as 32 potato chips or that 1/2 cup of Jello Chocolate Instant Pudding and Pie Filling (404mg.) gives you more sodium than three slices of Oscar Meyer Sugar-Cured Bacon (302mg.)?"

"Did you know that dehydrated chicken or beef noodle soup contains 1200 mg. of sodium and Parmesan cheese (grated) 528 mg. per serving. Regular whole milk contains 195 mg. per eight ounce glass while instant whole milk delivers 470 mg. A modest serving of canned shrimp brings you a giant 1,955; Chili con carne with beans (canned) 1,194 mg. per cup; stuffing mix 1,131 mg. and Kentucky Fried chicken (3 pc) a whopping 2,285 mg. of sodium."

Berko reminds us, "Most adults need less than 1,000 mg. of sodium per day for their physiological well-being." "We must be vigilant and know the sodium content of the foods we eat and it essential to our health that we develop a plan to reduce our salt intake," he stresses.

The Center's study suggests that we immediately cut down to half the salt we normally use in our cooking and reduce gradually from there. Don't add salt before tasting foods. Replace foods high in salt with those low in salt content. Try to prepare as much of the food you eat as possible. Manufacturers use three times as much sodium in cooking as the home cook.

Haskell County Library Can Please Any Reader

By Wendell Faught

Almost any book not on the well-stacked shelves of the Haskell County Library can be obtained, says Mrs. Elsie McGee, librarian.

"We borrow books from the Abilene Public Library," says the long-time librarian. "They nearly always have what we request, but when they don't, they can tell us where to get them."

As the name implies, Haskell County Library, located at 300 North Ave. E, is a county library and is funded by Haskell County.

Mrs. McGee is the only employee, except for occasional part time help. During the summer, the Council of Governments pays the salary of a high school girl to help with the children's program. Angie Arellano was that high school girl this past summer and also is helping Mrs. McGee during the school year on an occasional basis. The county provides some money for part time help.

Most of the books in the library are owned by the county. Books are normally ordered early in the year from Cokesbury in Dallas. Just about all of the book budget is expended at that time.

During the rest of the year, the library replenishes its supply through loans from the Abilene Public Library, through the Inter-Loan Library Program and through donations.

Through Mrs. McGee's familiarity with the reading habits library patrons, she is able to inform them when books of their interest are received.

Books borrowed from the Abilene library are shipped pre-paid but the expense of returning them is borne locally. Mrs. McGee said these books are sent back and replaced on a regular basis. She stated that Jo Cox frequently returns books to Abilene without charge or trouble to the local library.

Interest of Haskell County readers cover a wide range, the librarian says, but fiction is the most common. Among the most popular authors are Daniel Steele and Janet Dailey. Extremely popular are the western novels of Dana Fuller Ross and Louis L'Amour.

Many of the offerings are paperbacks, often donated to the library. It's not uncommon for a person to check out 15 or 20 paperbacks at a time. Magazines, also donated, are responsible for considerable library traffic.

Mrs. McGee finds the summer reading program for children one of the most interesting and enjoyable of her duties. Under the Texas Reading Program, children check out books to be read either at home or at the library. At the end of the summer, there is a program, with a speaker and presentations of certificates to participants.

Any resident of Haskell County may sign up at the library to check out books. The normal check-out period is two weeks, but Mrs. McGee said a two-week extension is granted liberally.

The library is open from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday; 1 to 7 p.m. Thursday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday.

Mrs. McGee has been the librarian for 29 years. The library is now in its third location since she began her duties. She started when the library was on the second floor of the court house. It later moved to a building on South 1st St., and then 11 years ago to its present North Ave. E location.

Students invited to discuss college

Haskell junior and seniors who are planning to pursue a higher education will have an opportunity to meet and talk with representatives of various schools during a Nov. 11 session at Abilene High School.

Virtually all of the colleges, universities and vocational training schools of Texas will be on hand for the program. It begins at 7 p.m. and parents are invited to accompany the students.

To be discussed will be entrance requirements, application procedures, estimated yearly cost, courses of study, types of housing available, financial aid and other topics of concern to students and parents.

Each student and parent will have a chance to attend three discussion groups of 30 minutes each to obtain information about three schools in which they are interested.

Want to buy? sell? results? Wand ads will work for you.

Ambulance responds to 40 calls

The Haskell County Emergency Ambulance Service responded to 40 calls during the month of September.

Fifteen of the summons were for the transport of patients to Haskell Memorial Hospital and three others to local rest homes.

There were seven trips to Abilene hospitals and one trip to a rest home in Olney.

Personnel stood by at nine football games. There was no transport involved in five other instances.

Haskell Nursing Center News

Everyone is getting ready for Halloween. Hopefully there are plenty of spook and goblins getting prepared to be here Thursday for our Halloween Party.

Casey Caldwell was here last Friday for our staff meeting. He gave a slide show on Drug Abuse. This was a very educational presentation. We thank him for taking time out of his busy day to show this to us.

Bessie Piland has returned to the home. She has been in the hospital. Glad to see she is doing well enough to be back with us. We have another new resident. Edith Long has come to stay with us. Glad to have you Edith.

We don't have a list of visitors this time. Everyone who came by forgot to sign the register.

Everyone has been enjoying the nice spring type weather we have been having. Easter May and Betty Hearn decided that an Easter bonnet was just the thing they needed for one sunny afternoon last week.

That's all for this week. Hope you have a safe and happy Halloween.

Juniors plan brisket supper

Members of the Haskell High School junior class will sponsor a brisket supper next Thursday, Nov. 7.

It will be in the high school cafeteria between 5:30 and 7:30 p.m.

The menu will include brisket, pinto beans, potato salad, a relish plate with dill pickles and onions, bread, peach cobbler and iced tea.

Members of the Kiwanis Club will cook the brisket.

Tickets are $4 for adults. Children under 10 will be charged 20 cents per year of age.

"The brisket supper will be well worth the money," said Mrs. Wanda Thompson, junior class sponsor. "It's hard to find a $4 brisket supper.

Tickets may be purchased from any junior, or at the door.

Proceeds will be used to help finance the junior-senior banquet.

Cub Scouts hold first Pushmobile

Cub Scout pack 136 held its first annual pushmobile races with six cars in the racing, four from Haskell and two from Sweetwater.

Winners by age groups were:

8-year-olds: 1. Den 5, Haskell, 2. Den 4, Haskell.

9-year-olds: 1. Den 2, Haskell, 2. Den 3, Sweetwater.

10-year-olds: 1. Den 2, Webeloes, Sweetwater, 2.

Den 1 Webeloes, Haskell. Overall winners were Den 5, Haskell, second, and Den 2, Haskell, third.

Cub Scouts expressed their thanks to all who helped with the carnival and for help making it a big success. Special thanks were issued to the City of Haskell for the use of the square and other help in the races Sunday.

GET THE GAS ADVANTAGE.

You've got a right to better economy, greater efficiency and more convenience—found only with quality natural gas appliances. And that's what the Gas Advantage is all about. There's nothing like natural gas to save you time, money and energy. For the best in economy and convenience, a fast-recovery gas water heater provides hot water enough for a whole family's needs at half the cost of an electric water heater. And, a gas dryer dries three fast and fluffy loads for every one load in an electric dryer. You'll get perfect results every time with a gourmet quality gas range. With instant on and off and infinite temperature control, a gas range makes cooking easier and it costs less to use than electric. And, of course, there's a natural gas furnace that warms your whole house gently and draft free—more economically than a heat pump. Demand your rights when it comes to better economy, greater efficiency and more convenience. Demand the Gas Advantage today!
