Easter services announced

Methodist Presbyterian

Maundy Thursday will be observed today (Thursday) in a joint service of the First United Methodist Church and the First Presbyterian Church.

The service, to include scripture readings, music, prayer and Holy Communion, will begin at 6 p.m. in the sanctuary of the Methodist Church.

Maundy Thursday is the date during the church year when Christians throughout the world remember how Jesus, on the night during which He was betrayed, instituted the Lord's Supper saying, "This do in remembrance of me."

All Haskell residents are welcome to attend the service and partake of the Lord's Supper, said the Revs. Cecil Shirey and Jimmy Hopper.

Lutheran

Good Friday services at the Trinity Lutheran Church will be at 8 p.m. Friday with the celebration of Holy Communion.

Easter Sunday worship will begin at 8:45 a.m. with Holy Communion. Sunday School will begin at 9:45 a.m.

Local and out-of-town visitors are welcome to attend.

Catholic

St. George Catholic Church in Haskell has announced its schedule for Holy Week.

It includes:

Holy Thursday: Mass of the Lord's Supper at 8 p.m.

Good Friday: Liturgy of the Passion at 8 p.m.

Holy Saturday, Easter Vigil and Mass at 9 p.m.

Easter Sunday: Mass at 9 a.m.

Baptist

The First Baptist Church of Haskell will sponsor a community Good Friday Service tomorrow (March 28).

A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon, followed by a worship service at 12:30 p.m.

All activities will conclude at 12:50 p.m.

Free Press announces price increase

After April 30, it's going to cost another nickel for a copy of The Haskell Free Press. On May 1, the single-copy price will increase from 30 cents to 35 cents.

The annual subscription rates will be increased from $9.46 to $12.62 for subscribers in Haskell and adjoining counties, and from $11.55 to $15.77 for subscribers elsewhere in Texas. Subscribers outside of Texas will see their rates increased from $13 to $17.50. All subscription prices include sales taxes.

All subscription orders, new or extensions, will be honored at the current rates through April 30. Subscriptions at these prices may be ordered for one or two years.

"It's never pleasant to raise prices," said Publisher Don Comedy, "but in view of our increasing costs, we have no alternative. In addition to frequent increases in the cost of newsprint and other materials, our postage rates have exploded. Already this year, two rate increases have boosted our mailing costs 60 percent."

Bake sale

Paint Creek Juniors will have a bake sale Friday and Saturday, just in time for Easter.

Bake goods will be on sale at Modern Way from 9 a.m. until all goodies are gone on each of the mornings.

By Chamber

Top citizens named

They've played big parts in the civic and business affairs of Haskell for years.

They've owned and operated one of Haskell's most progressive and most successful businesses since 1940.

They're Haskell's Citizens of the Year.

Mrs. R. A. (Frances) Lane and Mrs. W. V. (Mattie Muriel) Felker, sisters who own Lane-Felker, were named Saturday night for the annual award given by the Haskell Chamber of Commerce. The presentation was one of the highlights of the Chamber of Commerce banquet at the Civic Center.

Haskell natives and boosters of the community all their lives, Mrs. Lane and Mrs. Felker both have been extremely active in the Haskell Chamber of Commerce.

Each has served as a director of the Chamber and they have participated in all Chamber activities. Their store always enters a float in the Christmas parade and takes part in the window display competition. They have served on numerous Chamber committees.

They have served on the Industrial Foundation, and Mrs. Felker is on the board of the Haskell Memorial Civic Center. Both have worked diligently on the Civic Center, as individuals and also as members of the Progressive Study Club, of which both are charter members. They also are active in the Baptist Church.

Daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Walling Sr., the two sisters opened their ladies' clothing store March 1, 1940, and have seen it grow into one of the best known businesses of its kind for miles around.

A large inventory of the latest fashions and dedicated service to their customers have resulted in a clientele reaching far beyond Haskell.

Mrs. Lane and Mrs. Felker are quick to credit their employees for helping them build their business and for helping them become good community boosters. "We call them our store family," said Mrs. Lane.

"Our customers are our best friends," say the sisters.

Mrs. Lane has two daughters, Mrs. Robert Starr of Abilene and Linda Lane of Houston. Mrs. Felker is mother of two sons, Michael D. Felker of Lubbock and Walter V. Felker of Dallas.

OUTSTANDING CITIZENS

Mrs. W.V. Felker, left, and Mrs. R.A. Lane were named Haskell's Citizens of the Year at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet Saturday night. The presentation was made by Abe Turner.

C-C salutes leaders

Recognition of community leaders, a Texas history lesson, a style show, a sing-along and music from a country western band highlighted the annual banquet of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce at the Civic Center Saturday night.

The banquet marked the 50th anniversary of the Chamber, which was organized in 1936. Past presidents of the organization, including Dr. T. W. Williams, the first president, were honored guests.

Recipients of the Chamber's annual "Outstanding Citizen" awards were presented Frances Lane and Mattie Muriel Felker of Lane-Felker in Haskell (see separate story).

Special recognition went to Charles Thornhill, who has been in charge of the annual Christmas decoration project for many years, to Mrs. Jerrene Couch, who is serving as chairman of both the city and county Sesquicentennial project, and to R. C. Couch for his efforts in making the Civic Center a reality.

Haskell High School history teacher Greg Melton gave a brief, inspiring talk on the Texas War for Independence, elaborating on the battles at the Alamo, Goliad and San Jacinto.

Bettye McBroom of The Hayloft narrated a women's style show, which featured models wearing authentic clothing of the past 150 years, including a number of dresses actually worn by women of Haskell County.

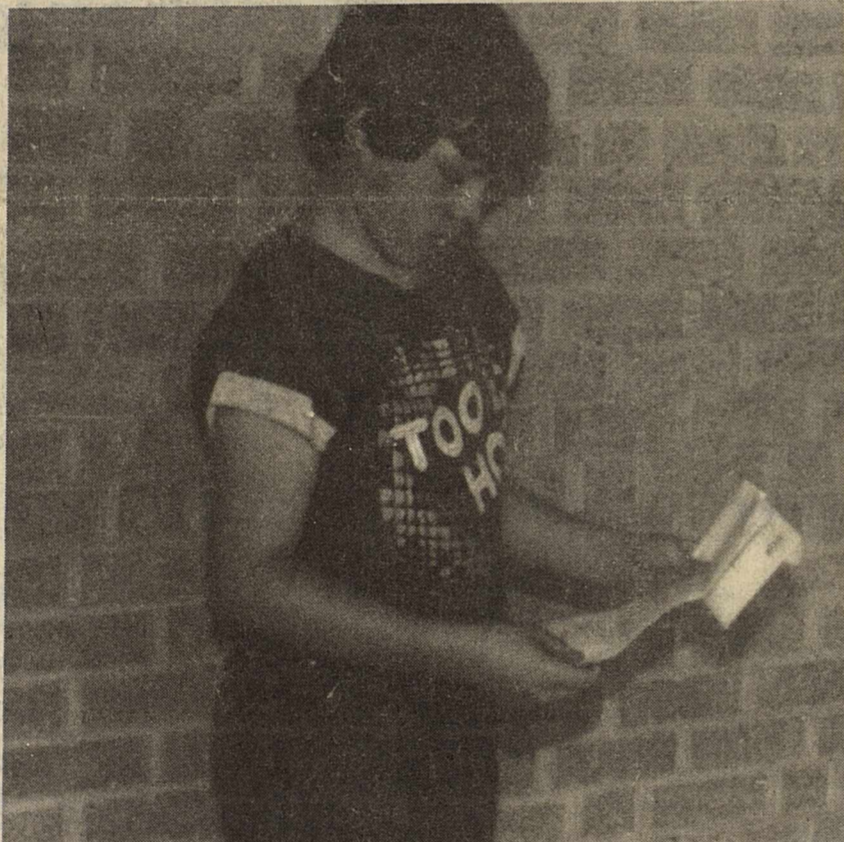

Carolyn Everett led the group in singing the Yellow Rose of Texas, The Eyes of Texas, Deep in the Heart of Texas and Texas, Our Texas. Ellen Rieger was pianist for the song-fest.

Special music was provided by "Triple Shot," a group from Hamlin.

Past presidents were seated at a special table and were introduced and recognized for their service.

Guests included Congressman Charles Stenholm, who gave a short, non-political talk.

Other guests came from Stamford, Rule, Seymour, Brownfield, Tulsa, Okla., Corpus Christi, Abilene, Sulphur Springs, Arlington and Sagerton.

FROM THE TOP

Josh Livingston, Haskell fifth-grader, reads a letter he and his brother received last week from the White House. It was in reply to a letter the boys had written to President Reagan following the explosion of the space shuttle Challenger.

Haskell brothers get letter from President

A couple of young Haskell brothers received a letter from the White House last week in response to a letter they had written to the President.

Josh and Kenny Livingston, fifth- and fourth-graders, respectively, at Haskell Elementary School, got the letter from Anne Higgins, special assistant to the President.

It was in reply to a letter the boys had written to President Reagan following the space shuttle Challenger disaster. In the letter, Josh and Kenny expressed their sorrow over the tragedy. They also enclosed a contribution to help rebuild the space shuttle, along with the suggestion that if all students would contribute a dollar, or what ever amount they could, a big part of the monetary loss could be recovered.

Written on a letterhead headed "The White House," the letter from Ms. Higgins read:

"Dear Josh and Kenny:
"Thank you for your message to President Reagan and for the contributions you sent to the White House following the disaster aboard the space shuttle Challenger.

"The selfless response of so many Americans to this tragedy deeply touches the President, as do the many words of encouragement he has received from people here and around the world regarding the loss of our seven brave astronauts.

"I am enclosing for you copies of President Reagan's address to the nation on Jan. 28 and his remarks at the memorial service for the astronauts on Jan. 31 in Houston.

"Your contributions have been forwarded to the Financial Management Division of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, 400 Maryland Avenue SW, Washington, D.C. 20546. You can expect a response from NASA in the near future regarding these contributions.

"With the President's appreciation and warm best wishes,
"Sincerely,
"Ann Higgins

The Imitation Stats of Seymour

'Imitation Stats' perform next month

The Imitation Stats, a musical group from Seymour which will perform in Haskell April 12 at a benefit for the Civic Center, were organized in 1981.

Present group members Clifton Talley, Billie Gene Young and Curtis Priddy, along with two other singers, were the charter members. They sang for many functions in Seymour before deciding they wanted to expand in the music field.

After Mack Bibb moved back to Seymour and took over as tenor, they decided to try some of the Statler's music. They were surprised how well it went over with different groups in town. They've been getting bigger and better ever since.

"The Stats," as they are now known, have sung in just about every town around Seymour, and as far away as Dalhart and Waxahachie. Appearances have included banquets, clubs and reunions, usually as benefits to help raise money for worthy causes. Their annual concert in Seymour has been for the Cancer League for the past three years.

Members of the group include Talley, lead singer; Bibb, tenor and bass guitar; Priddy, bass; Young, piano; Rusty Rose, baritone; Rosanne Priddy, guitar; and Royce Miller, drums.

The Stats were in Haskell last June 15 for the Chamber of Commerce "Show of Shows." They hope that those who heard them then will be at the Civic Center April 12—plus many more.

Tickets to the benefit supper and The Stats' concert are now on sale by officers and directors of the Civic Center, who represent the different Civic organizations of Haskell.

A $10 donation gets a ticket to the concert and the supper, which includes brisket, beans, potato salad, cabbage slaw, pickles, onions, cake and ice tea. Eating starts at 6:30 p.m. and the concert at 8.

Proceeds from the supper and concert will go toward the purchase of air-condition compressors for the Civic Center, which will cost $13,000.

Letter To The Editor

To put on any large event requires many hours of planning, preparation and negotiation. The Haskell Chamber of Commerce Banquet last Saturday night was no exception. Without many volunteers giving countless hours, it would have not been possible. On behalf of the Chamber Board of Directors, we want to thank the Chamber Welcoming Committee, the wives and husbands of the Board, the Kiwanias, Rotarians and Lions who helped cook the meal. Most of all we thank the public who came to the banquet, the entertainers and other program participants.

Flashback

The first school in Haskell County was taught by Miss Mollie Holms in a shed room on the side of a feed store owned by Mike Tucker in the new town of Haskell. (The Tucker family lived in the rear of the store.)

Desks consisted of boxes in which goods had been shipped.

Seven children enrolled: Phlenton Smith, Ernest Smith, Will Hills, Clyde Hills, Jim Tucker, Earl Standefer and Cue Standefer. The school lasted about three or four months.

The first school building in Haskell was erected in 1885. It was financed by private subscription. Lumber was hauled from Albany and citizens of the community provided the labor.

Selling Haskell Co. for over 25 years

ALL CASH!

"I'll sell for all cash!" That's a statement made quite often by sellers as they describe the terms under which they are willing to sell their home. Not that it's unreasonable for the sellers to expect payment in full for their home.

Statistics show that, with few exceptions, less than 10% of all homes are sold for "all cash." That, of course, means that nine out of ten are NOT sold for cash, but on some other sort of terms. Thus, when deciding on the terms of sale, it is wise to look at all the alternative methods of sale before placing your house "for sale."

Basically three factors will determine how soon your house will sell. They are price, terms, and condition. Although price is clearly the most important of the three, terms rank a strong second.

"Terms" means the method of payment, or settlement, you are willing to accept for your home. The methods run all the way from the rare "cash" transaction to a 100% owner financing situation over many years, a method extremely attractive to buyers, yet, perhaps, most unattractive to the sellers. And, there are many variations of attractive terms in between. A knowledgeable realtor can help you sort through the maze of possibilities for the right answer. Just remember to be open to the widest possible range of financing options.

The Weinert ISD Board of Trustees has called its regular election for Saturday, April 5 for the purpose of electing three trustees.

Dance changed

The April dance at the Country Club has been changed from April 12 to April 7 according to Jim Hudson, chairman of dances.

All members are urged to plan now to attend.

Conservation Viewpoints

The Sodbuster and Swampbuster provisions of the 1985 farm bill went into effect on December 23, 1985, when the President signed the Food Security Act of 1985.

"That date is very significant for any producer who plows out highly erodible land or drains wetlands after the law was signed," said Jim Hudson, district conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service at Haskell. "It could mean the producer would have to forfeit all USDA program benefits in 1986 if the land is used to produce a crop in 1986."

"The Department has not had time to publish and implement rules and regulations since the legislation was signed," Hudson stated. "That is why we do not know the specific criteria that will be used to determine which lands will be covered."

Anyone who plans to plow out or drain land not now in cropland should realize that there is a possibility that such land will be subject to the sodbuster and swampbuster provisions.

"We have been advised by our national headquarters that the rules and regulations providing detailed information should be published within the next 90 days," Hudson concluded.

Farm Programs to see changes

Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng announced several changes in the 1986 upland cotton, feed grain and wheat programs.

The announcement followed the signing by President Reagan of the Food Security Improvements Act of 1986 which requires the Secretary of Agriculture to make certain farm program changes.

The Act authorizes additional payments in the form of commodity certificates to be made to producers whose 1986 farm program payment yield for a crop is reduced more than 3 percent below the 1985 program payment yield.

Under the new Act, the Secretary announced that producers will not be eligible for payments under the 1986 commodity programs with respect to any non-program crops planted on the under-planted acreage. (This is referred to as the 50/92 provision of the 1985 Act). However, a producer who planted a non-program crop on the underplanted acreage before Feb. 26, 1986, or who entered into a contract to plant a non-program crop on the underplanted acreage before that date would be eligible to earn a deficiency payment with respect to this acreage.

The Secretary shall permit, at the request of State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committees, subject to such terms and conditions as the Secretary may prescribe, the underplanted acreage in such state to be devoted to haying and grazing, unless the Secretary determines that haying and grazing would have an adverse economic impact.

Returns due even in absence of W-2

Even if an employee is unable to get a W-2 before the tax filing deadline, the return must be filed by April 15.

Taxpayers must have a W-2 form from every employer they worked for during the year. If it is impossible to obtain a W-2 from an employer, the employee should either obtain a Form 4852 (substitute wage and withholding statement) from the IRS or attach a signed and dated statement showing the tax withholding information and attach it to the tax return.

Child Welfare Board meets

The Haskell County Child Welfare Board met March 18, 1986 in the third floor Jury room with all ten members present, which included two new members, Debbie Earles and Christie Stapleton, one visitor, Donna Spikes and Linda Haynes, Haskell County DHS.

After Sue Miller, treasurer, reported on the financial condition, the new members were informed that money was used for camp fees, physical examinations, school supplies, and clothing for children under the DHS supervision.

It is the desire of the board to place a copy of the Spider Man comic in the hands of every Haskell County school child during April as our Child Abuse Prevention project. April 20 is Child Abuse Prevention Sunday. The board is appreciative of the cooperation of the administrators of the county schools.

The board accepted with regrets the resignation of Amelia Perry, who has served as chairman since the board began.

The following were elected as new officers: Brian Burgess, chairman; Pam Aycock, vice-chairman; Mary Martin, secretary; and Sue Miller, treasurer.

Mrs. Haynes announced that new member orientation would be held March 27, in Seymour.

The next meeting will be April 15. The meetings are open to anyone who wishes to attend.

Mary Martin will represent the board at the Regional O4 Child Welfare Advisory Council Meeting, March 27 at 4380 Spindletop, Abilene, which will be hosted by Wichita County Child Welfare Board and features a video tape of Dr. Linda Norton entitled "Medical Evidence in Child Abuse and Neglect Cases."

Veterinary hospital opened by Overton

Dr. Mike Overton has recently opened a veterinary hospital in Allen. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Overton of Paint Creek, he was recently named "Citizen of the Year" by the Allen Independent School District Community Education Advisory Council.

The following article appeared in The Allen Leader upon the opening of his veterinary hospital:

Small animals in and around Allen are breathing easier today after announcements of last week's opening of Dr. Mike E. Overton's Allen Veterinary Hospital.

Overton's clinic, located at 803 E. Main, is his first solo venture after seven years of veterinary practice in Allen.

"We specialize in small animal medicine," Overton said. "I was in a mixed practice before, I'll be leaving off the horses and cattle (in this practice)."

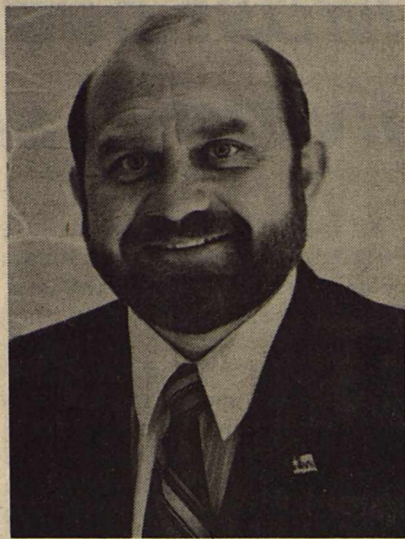

The new 3,000-square-foot facility sports three examination rooms, a kennel with runs, rooms for both surgery and x-ray, a ward with cages, a laboratory, a spacious waiting room and reception area, an office and a break room.

Overton runs the Allen Veterinary Hospital with the help of a five-member staff: Linda Overton, his wife, is a bookkeeper and office assistant; Brenda Hall, who is a registered animal technician, is clinic manager. Others are Sharon Miller, receptionist; Lori Parks, kennel supervisor; and Kelley Bridges, kennel assistant.

In addition to such specialized veterinary services as surgery, laboratory work and x-ray, animal boarding and prescription food will also be offered at Allen Veterinary Hospital, Overton said.

"This clinic was designed to have more than one doctor," he said. "It's physically bigger than a one-man operation. Some time in the future, I'm not sure when, we will have another doctor here."

For the present, Overton said he is on call 24 hours a day through his answering service. Doctor's hours are from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

Though he is not equipped to handle them, Overton said he will do house calls on a limited basis. "If there's a good reason why someone can't come in, I'll make a house call."

Overton has lived in the Allen area since 1977. For one year he commuted to a veterinary practice in Richardson. In 1978 he joined an Allen practice.

After completing his undergraduate work at Texas A&M, Overton joined the armed forces in 1968. By the time he was discharged in 1972, he had attained the rank of captain, was a pilot and a Vietnam veteran. After a brief adventure as an elementary school teacher, he began his doctoral studies at the Texas A&M College of Veterinary Medicine, graduating in 1977.

Overton is a member of the Allen Rotary Club, the Allen Chamber of Commerce, First United Methodist Church of Allen, and plays on several Allen Sports Association men's teams. He also is a member of the Masonic Lodge in his west Texas hometown, Haskell.

Overton and his wife, Linda, have two daughters, 11-year-old Paige and seven-year-old Brooke.

Texas Tech ex-students to gather

Members of the Rolling Plains Chapter of the Texas Tech Ex-Students Assn. will hold their annual meeting Saturday, April 5, at the Crooked River Hunting Camp.

All ex-students, current students, family and friends are invited to attend.

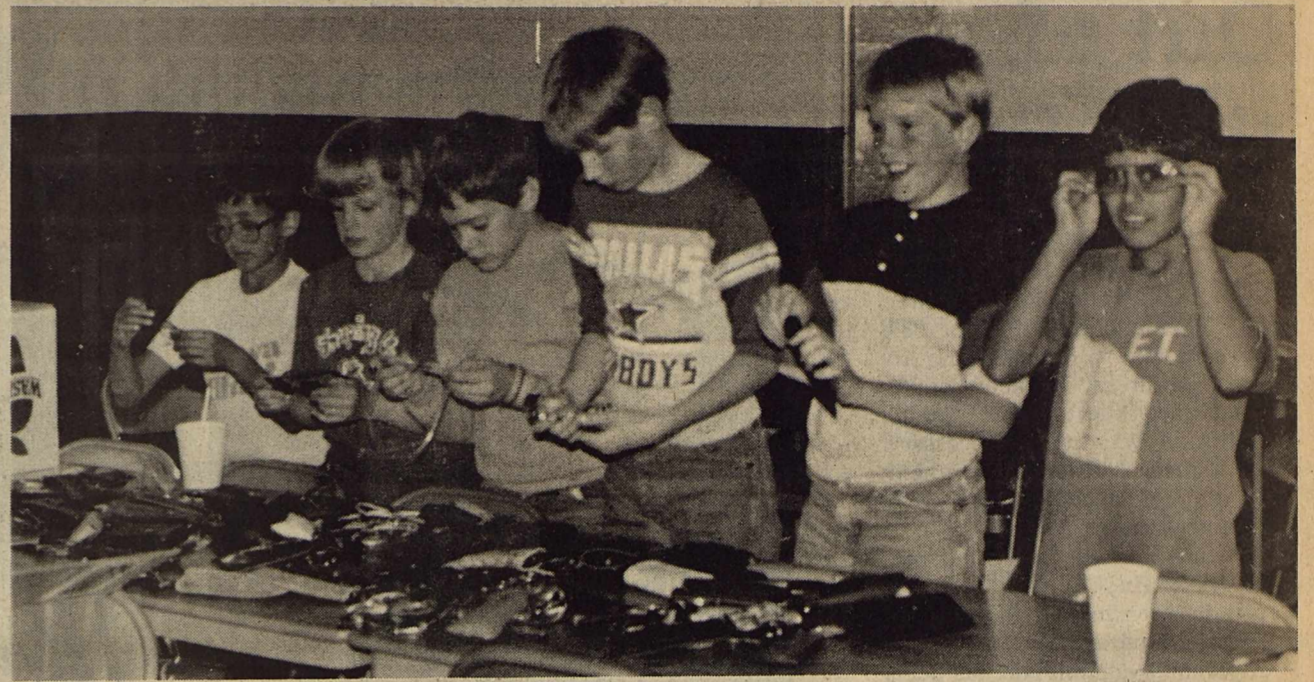

A meal, video of happenings at Tech and the announcement of the winner of the first annual Rolling Plains Chapter Scholarship fund will all take place, beginning at 6 p.m.

Cost of the meal is $10 for adults and $2.50 for children. Reservations should be made by March 28 by calling Bailey or Nancy Toliver at 864-2037.

Representing Texas Tech will be Jim Douglass, assistant director of the Texas Tech Ex-Students Assn.; Liane Locke, field representative of the Ex-Students Assn.; and Steve Locke, vice president of the Red Raider Club.

Any Tech ex-student in Haskell, Jones, Knox or Throckmorton counties who has not received information from the Ex-Students Assn. within the past month, or who has an address correction should write: Rolling Plains Tech Exes Chapter, care of Maxie Jackson, Box 126, Throckmorton, TX 760831, so as not to miss out on future events.

Food marketers with on-premise baking or fresh-ground coffee recognize the value of using scents to encourage purchase. Homemakers too have long known the drawing power of cooking smells. A fragrance disk player is now available with disks in flavors of chocolate, apple and spice, and raspberry. Fresh baked cookies or spaghetti sauce may be the next aromas to be offered.

Royal Ambassadors inspect, wrap and package some of the used eyeglasses they have collected for eventual delivery to needy people. From left, they are William Hernandez, Tony Butler, Chad Roberts, Eric Gardner, Marty Mitchell and Michael Hernandez.

Eyes have it:

RA boys still collecting glasses

They've already exceeded their goal, but the drive to collect used eyeglass by the Royal Ambassadors of East Side Baptist Church will continue for the rest of the month.

The RAs, boys in grades one through six, were busy last week wrapping and packing the eyeglasses for shipment. They had not gotten around to counting them, but they estimated they have at least 400 pairs—maybe 500.

"Response has been tremendous," said Gary Thomas, RA director. "We had set a goal of 275 pairs. We want to give our thanks to all those who have responded to our request."

Collection boxes will remain at M-System, Haskell National Bank, Haskell Clinic and at the Optical Clinic on US 277 South, Stamford, until the end of the month. Everyone who has used glasses to contribute to the project is encouraged to deposit them in one of these boxes.

Glasses will be shipped to Florida, where they will be read with a lensometer and labeled, and then distributed to needy people around the world.

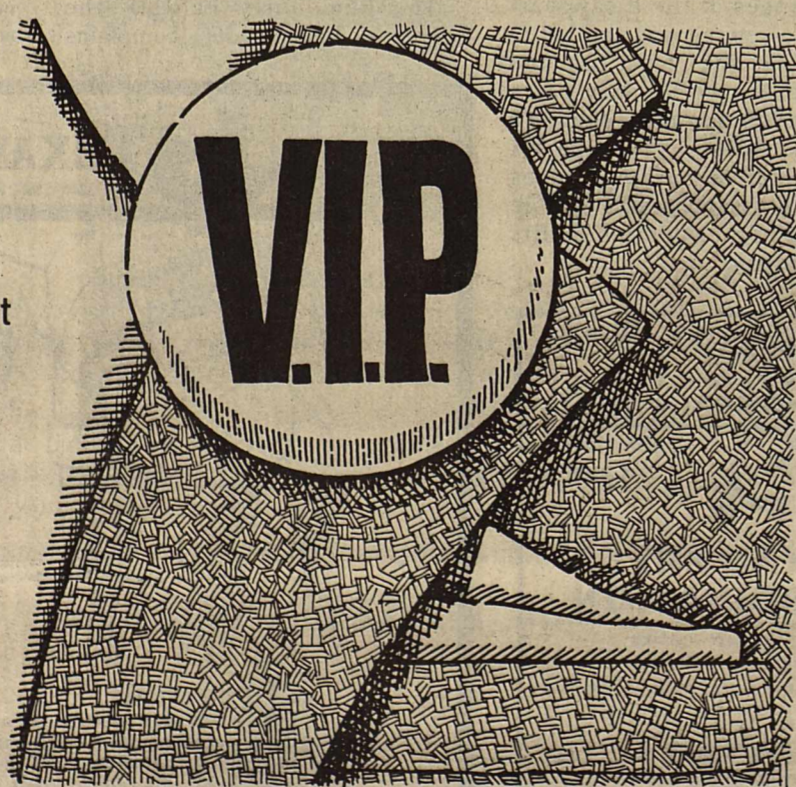

Royal Ambassadors point out that the lives of many people will be enriched by the generosity of the people who have contributed to their project.

Out of the Past

20 Years Ago
March 24, 1966

The 15-day period for free voter registration added a total of 584 voters to the roll, according to Norma Childress, Haskell County tax assessor-collector. The special registration was made necessary after a district federal court held that the Texas poll tax law was unconstitutional.

All but 65 of the 1,600 persons over 65 in Haskell County have replied to Social Security's Medicare inquiries.

A planning commission has been established for the purpose of applying for a 100 percent grant from Farmers Home Administration to conduct an economic survey in this area.

Connie Page, one of the latest discoveries in Thermo-Jac's nationwide search for sportswear ad models in Seventeen magazine, will appear March 26 at Lane Felker.

Spring enrollment at Tarleton State College reveals seven students from Haskell County: John Ballard, Jerre Barbee, Shelia Bevel, Connie Bryant, Joe Cloud, Richard Frierson and Freddy Kreger.

Anticipated cost of operating the City of Haskell for the fiscal year beginning April 1 has been set at $35,736.

Fire destroyed this city's $60,000 high school plant last Thursday as flames gutted the handsome brick structure erected in 1922.

Riley Lewellen, former deputy sheriff, is now connected with McCollum Hardware of this city as tractor and implement salesman.

Preliminary work is now underway in connection with the proposed installation of 40 additional street lights in the business and residential section of Haskell.

T. and Eugene Tonn let the contract this week to N. G. Walker for a modern brick building on the vacant lots between the Adolphus Filling Station and Jones-Cox. The building will be used as a garage and general repair shop.

Mr. and Mrs. F.L. Daugherty returned Monday from Graham.

S. L. Robertson's store is being pushed south off of his lot to make room for his new concrete store building.

Quite a crowd witnessed the laying of the cornerstone of Judge McConnell's large building on the northwest corner of the square. It was really a matter of public interest, as marking the beginning of the erection of substantial business houses in Haskell.

Mmes. J. S. Fox, E. V. Griffin and J. F. Vernon visited Stamford Monday.

W. N. Meredith, the architect, spent several days at Knox City the early part of the week.

F. G. Alexander went to Sweetwater Thursday on business.

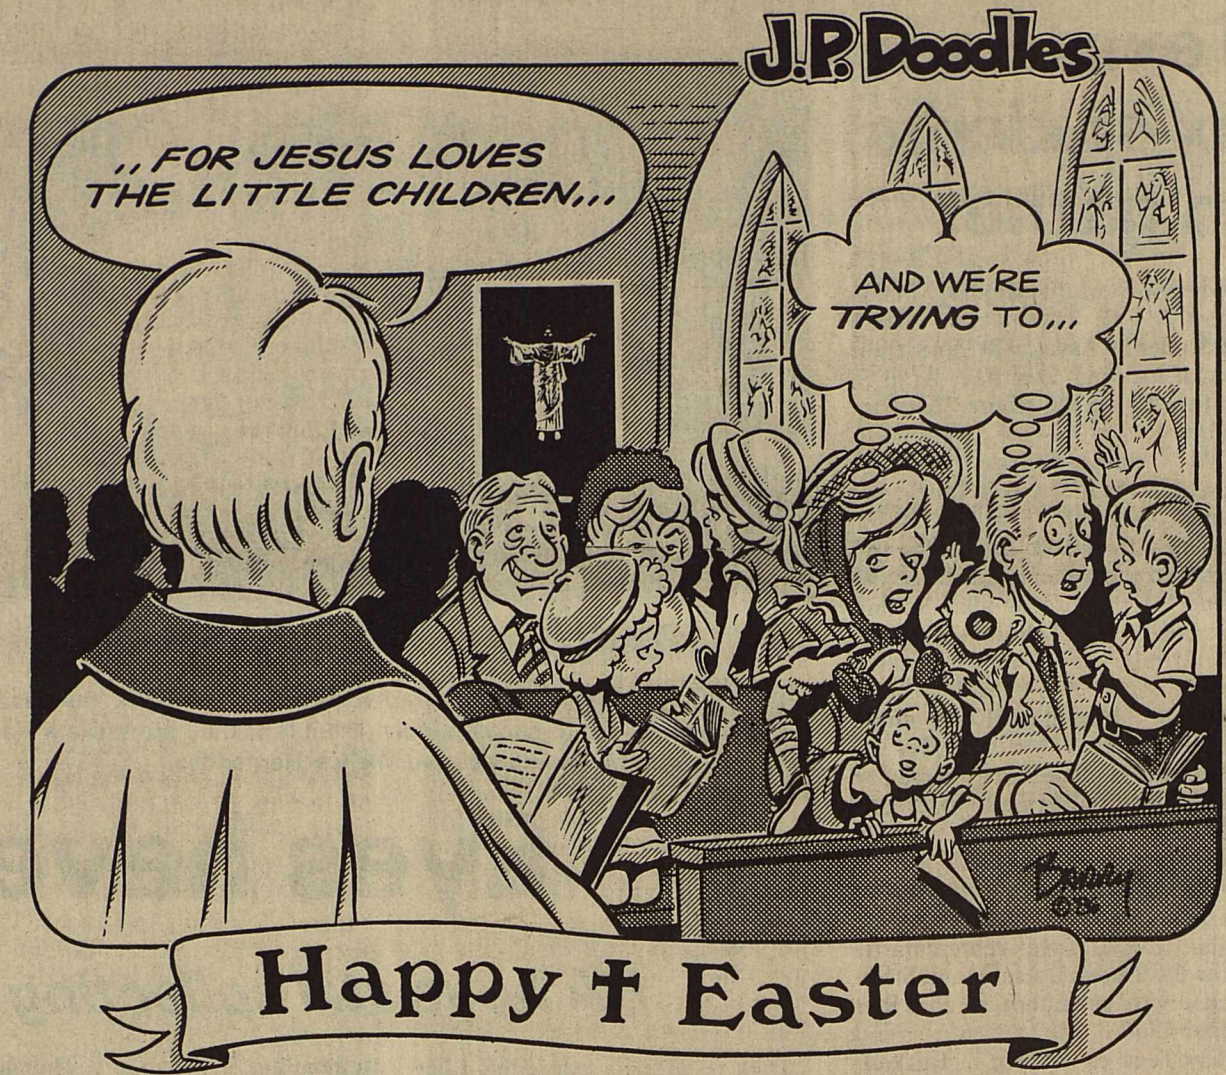

A string of seven teams was driven through Haskell Monday, four of them were of four horses each, pulling two wagons in a "trail," and three single teams and wagons. They were loaded with cotton.

Drunk drivers still killing, despite new laws

Despite new and tougher laws related to drunken driving, DWI-related accidents killed 1,049 people in Texas and resulted in 26,553 reported injuries in 1984.

"Although new legislation has helped, there are still an intolerable number of deaths and injuries due to drunk driving," said Robb Southerland, chairman of the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse.

Briscoe claims rural support

AUSTIN—The Texas economy took two hits last week, one when the Lone Star Steel mill in Northeast Texas confirmed its layoff of 2,000 workers, and the second, when the feds took control of two state lending institutions and another six were put on watch.

Governor Mark White took the campaign trail in earnest, touring the steel mill and blaming President Reagan for allowing a "foreign invasion" of Japanese imported steel, and adding his staff is putting together a $324,000 grant program to retrain the laid-off steel workers.

In doing so, White missed his usual weekly press conference, but he may regard that as a blessing. Now that the state-wide televised debate looks hopeless, White's Democratic opponents are vowing to show up at his own press conferences in an effort to get Mark White to debate the issues.

One, Andy Briscoe, drove a tractor up the Capitol steps last week and, from the drivers seat, explained his farm platform. Briscoe, from Dallas, claims growing rural support.

Changing the Reforms

The second major contender to dump White, Don Crowder, told the Capitol press he welcomes a political fight with Dallas tycoon H. Ross Perot, who chaired the panel which created the "no-pass, no-play" school reforms.

Crowder wants to alter the reforms, and Perot vowed to beat any candidate who tried to tinker with them.

So far, Crowder hasn't backed away from anyone this campaign, but Perot isn't exactly faint-hearted himself.

Tests, Taxes

For the first time since the education reforms were enacted, Mark White last showed signs of retreating from his hard-line stance. Speaking to a high school honors class, he expressed his fear that the recent teacher competency test would cause the loss of good teachers.

Whether that was an off-the-cuff remark or not, some Capitol watchers feel that White's only chance to stay in the Governors Mansion is to make peace next month with public schoolteachers.

So far, teachers haven't endorsed a candidate and while teacher groups protest when Mark White appears, theoretically the door is still open for a reconciliation.

Last week, Texas Education Commissioner William Kirby, a White appointee, asked parent-teacher organizations to tell the Legislature to prefer higher taxes to cuts in education.

Meanwhile, the American Federation of Teachers said a letter on their stationery endorsing White's reelection was "a fraud."

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

George Strake has all but endorsed state Sen. Buster Brown to replace him this summer and is trying to get him the votes on the party's executive committee.

Brown was prevented from running for attorney general by Strake and Texas courts on a constitutional point of order. The only announced candidate is party vice chair Diana Demman of San Antonio.

Texas Democratic chairman Bob Slagle was recently appointed by White to the Red River Compact to handle occasional problems with other states. The job brings a $23,000 salary plus expenses.

Other Highlights

• Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro said a new veterans loan program will be expanded to include repair or remodeling of homes, a move that will boost veterans frozen out of the conventional market. Mauro said the program is not run with one penny of tax money and will create new jobs.

• Treasurer Ann Richards drew criticism for holding a $4,000 lakeside retreat for 29 staffers to discuss trimming the budget. She responded her agency couldn't back out of the contract signed before the executive order to cut the budget.

• Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower last week signed an agreement with Mexico to trade farm, ranch and other products and help the Rio Grande economy.

• A Travis County congressional hopeful was removed from the GOP ballot when many names on his petition were declared invalid.

• The son of a Texas House candidate is being investigated for impersonating an IRS agent to get information about his father's opponent.

His dad is George Lawshe, running against Al Granoff in Dallas. The son got the idea, he said, from the "Rockford Files" TV series.

• The State Commission of Judicial Conduct last week wouldn't seat a Conroe man who was first appointed, then withdrawn, by Gov. Mark White. The governor's office withdrew the appointment after it learned that Dwain Read had filed as a Republican for county judge. Instead, a Sulphur Springs man was appointed.

• Texarkana state Sen. Ed Howard will retire this spring to become a lobbying partner with former House Speaker Rayford Price.

State Rep. Sam Russell is expected to seek the seat in a summer special election.

• A former state representative, Walter Grubbs of Abilene, is expected to run as a Democrat for the seat being given up by GOP Rep. Gary Thompson. Grubbs lobbies for West Texas Utilities; Thompson will lobby for the state retirement system.

Ask VA

Q—I have a VA insurance policy with a large loan on it. I have elected a lifetime annuity for the beneficiary. I know that this will reduce the amount of the payments if I die. Is there anything the beneficiary can do to receive the lifetime annuity?

A—Yes. The loan may be paid up after death by the beneficiary to receive the lifetime annuity. Other options, which could be of greater value to the beneficiary, will be explained when the claim is received.

Q—Does the law provide for a monthly benefit to the wife and children of a veteran if the veteran disappears?

A—The law makes no direct provision for a benefit for dependents of a veteran who disappears. Depending on the circumstances of the disappearance, if the veteran was entitled to benefits at the time of the disappearance, the VA may pay a special benefit for the veterans' dependents. After 7 years the VA may consider the circumstances behind the disappearance before deciding whether death benefits may be granted.

Most people prefer living in small town

By Wendell Faught

There was a time when most young people set their eyes on the city. That's where opportunity and action lay.

Now comes a Gallup poll which reveals three times as many people would rather live in small towns than in big cities. Crime, urban blight, traffic and taxes are just a few of the reasons for the change.

They still work in the city, because that's where the jobs are—they have no choice. But when it comes to living, they want the small towns.

Women who can hoist more than a ton of garbage in 27 minutes may get a chance to do that year-round in New York.

Garbage handling remains the last male bastion among New York's uniformed occupations. Now, some 2,800 women have applied to get their hands on the work. Starting pay is $19,600 a year.

These women have already passed the written exam. (A sample question: What should you do if your truck hits someone?) But the physical exam remains the big hurdle: Lift 45 bags weighing a total of 2,975 pounds in 27 minutes. Why that weight and time? That's the amount the average sanitation worker picks up in that time, the city says.

Meanwhile, New York's Uniform Sanitation Men's Assn., a union, has bowed to the inevitable. Its new name: the Uniform Sanitation Workers' Assn.

You've come a long way, baby, now you can pick up the trash.

What's happened to yesterday's dream of the whole world speaking a common metric language?

A few years ago it was predicted that new measuring sticks would be fully in place by now.

You can buy soft drinks (and hard drinks) in liters, but that's because the bottlers make more money that way. Most track and field sports have adopted the metric system, probably because international events, such as the Olympics, have always used this form of measurement. When gasoline prices started going through the ceiling a few years ago, there was talk that stations would start selling their product by the liter just because the price wouldn't sound so bad, but nothing ever came of the idea.

Don't bet on us converting to the metric system any time soon. Chances are most of us will be "six feet under" before that expression becomes "two meters under."

We Americans are agreed on one thing: "If it ain't broke, don't fix it."

The Rev. Jerry Falwell, the Moral Majority leader, complains that the media has "bloodied and beaten" his organization.

To protect it he, has created a parent organization, the Liberty Federation.

Among its projects is a newspaper. (Somehow, The Free Press is on his mailing list.) It's mailed under subsidized "non-profit organization" rates and it's chock full of paid advertising.

As far as I can tell, the aim of the Liberty Federation newspaper is the same as that of the Moral Majority: (1) to raise money for Mr. Falwell, and (2) to carry out Mr. Falwell's political program.

I'm sure most members of the Moral Majority are good folks who want to do good. Mr. Falwell is an eloquent preacher. When he sticks to the Bible, he speaks for the God-loving and God-fearing people who are his followers. But when he strays from God and the Bible and ends up, as he invariably does, asking for more money and talking politics, he earns the criticism he gets.

The Paducah boys' basketball team, which posted a 30-3 record during the past season, should be another Class A powerhouse next year.

And did you hear about the brewery worker who drowned in a 1,000-gallon vat of beer?

His foreman had to relate the news to his wife.

"Poor boy," said the widow. "He never had a chance."

"Well, he had a couple of chances," said the foreman. "Twice he got out to go to the bathroom."

I feel I have a new lease on life. I had always thought that newspaper people dropped dead as old men (and old women) at about 60. But a sprightly visitor the other day gave me new hope.

Soon-to-be 85-year-old Lola Scott of Abilene dropped in the office to tell me about the days (1931-1950) when she toiled at The Free Press. Today's duties sound like a piece of cake in comparison.

She drove up from Abilene to help her cousins, Veta Furrh and Opal Adkins, celebrate their anniversary as owners of The Personality Shoppe.

"I drive everywhere I want to go," said the ex-reporter, ex-ad gal, ex-printer, ex-proofreader, etc.

I enjoyed a nice chat with a delightful old pro. She promised to come back.

Haskell team wins land judging contest

The annual contest for land, range and pasture judging was held March 17 at Stamford High School.

The contest is sponsored by the Haskell and California Creek Soil and Water Conservation districts for the benefit of vocational agriculture students.

The Haskell FFA team placed first in the land judging with Jerry Davis as high-point individual winner. The Anson FFA team placed first in the range and pasture contest with Jeff Thomas as high-point individual winner.

Hawley placed second in the land judging contest with Weinert placing third, Lueders-Avoca fourth and Stamford fifth.

Second-place winner in the range and pasture contest was Paint Creek, followed by Haskell in third place and Stamford fourth.

R. V. Earles and Johnny Wheatley of the Haskell SWCD were present and assisted with the contest.

Upon returning from the field trip, students, vocational agriculture teachers and sponsors were treated to hamburgers and cold drinks.

Crop insurance deadline draws near

March 31 or April 15 is the last day to apply for crop insurance for cotton, grain sorghum, peanuts, and other spring crops in northern Texas counties, depending on the date established for each county, according to Bruce Hottel, a representative of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC).

Crop insurance covers unavoidable loss of production resulting from adverse weather and natural conditions, wildlife, earthquake, or fire.

"Three coverage levels (50, 65 or 75 percent) are available for insurance protection," Hottel said. "Additionally, FCIC offers three optional price elections for valuing production lost or damaged."

A new crop insurance plan, called Actual Production History (APH), is available this year to producers of cotton, grain sorghum, peanuts and some other spring crops. Producers of these crops may not qualify for higher yield guarantees by proving their yield history.

Rates have been developed to offer reduced premium for producers with above-average yields.

"With the increased cost of producing a crop, it makes good sense to take a look at this new concept," says Hottel.

To find out more about the APH plan, producers should contact a local, authorized agent. To select an agent, producers may check the list of agents at their local ASCS office.

Plans made for huge support for hunger

Hands Across America, the most ambitious human endeavor in history, unveiled statewide activities for Texas Friday at Dallas City Hall.

Hands Across America will be a continuous chain of support for this nation's hungry and homeless, as 6 million people join together from coast to coast on May 25. In Texas, the chain will extend more than 600 miles, from west of Amarillo through Childress, Wichita Falls, Fort Worth, Dallas and Texarkana.

The state's efforts to fill the longest segment of the nationwide line will move into full swing Friday, with Ken Kragen, president of USA for Africa, and Hands Across America state director Sheryl Losser outlining details on the undertaking.

The epic event will take place at 2 p.m. on May 25, raising at least $50 million for domestic hunger. From New York City to Los Angeles, the line will wind through 187 cities in 16 states and the District of Columbia. It will symbolize America's commitment, compassion and ability to pull together for the common good.

Hands Across America is a project of USA for Africa, which raised nearly $45 million for famine relief in Africa, most of which has the chain.

Guy Thomas, director of marketing for the Coca-Cola Bottling Company of North Texas, is coordinating statewide promotions for Hands Across America. Coca-Cola is a major national sponsor.

"Sponsorships of all kinds are a key link in this continuous chain spanning Texas," Thomas says.

"At the national level, some of the largest and most responsible corporations have become involved. As we begin working at the state and local levels, we hope to create the same kind of excitement and commitment."

Hands Across America will spread hope across America, as millions of people reach out to help their fellow citizens on May 25. To join the Texas line, call the toll-free national number 1-800-USA-9000. To volunteer for the state's organizing effort, call 214/748-4263 or contact the office at 1906 Main St., Dallas, 75201.

Schools choose new twirlers

Three high school and three junior high twirlers were chosen recently at the Haskell schools.

Shanna Mueller, daughter of Mrs. Zona Mueller, is the only returning twirler for the high school band.

New twirlers are Wendy Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Smith, and Dala Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Harris.

Junior high twirlers will be Tiffany Bradford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bradford; Stacy Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Martin; and Wendi Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Watson.

All girls who tried out were judged by Shelia Griffin on three qualifications: twirling routine, ability and fundamentals.

NRA meetings

The National Rifle Assn. of America expects to draw an estimated 20,000 to 30,000 people to New Orleans for its 115th annual meetings April 25-29.

A favorite sandwich in Philadelphia is the "cheesesteak"—thin pieces of beef grilled and served in an Italian roll with cheese and onions or hot sauce.

End of an era

It seems the days of the glass catsup bottle are numbered.

It's a shame, really. Generations of Americans have entertained each other at the dinner table with their bottle-pounding antics, simply trying to get some catsup on their food.

Del Monte's recent announcement that it would begin bottling its catsup in squeezable plastic bottles really marks the end of an era.

With the advent of squeezable catsup bottles, it seems that balancing an upended bottle on a refrigerator door to get the last smidgen of catsup to move its way down is a dying art.

Sometimes, progress can be a little sad.

Faith Imparts the Joyful Messages of Easter

Throughout the history of the world, there has never been a more dramatic episode than that memorable spring-time weekend of long ago, marked by the Crucifixion and the Resurrection. The terrible ordeal and ultimate triumph of that lonely Figure, unjustly condemned by His enemies and deserted by His friends, was an event to be remembered all through the ages; along with its lesson of forgiveness, proof of immortality and demonstration of God's love for mankind; evidenced by the sacrifice of His only Son to atone for our sins. Celebrate the joyful victory of life over death by attending the Church of your choice on Easter and every Sunday; and resolve to live your own life in a manner worthy of that most monumental sacrifice in all history.

Crosbyton farmer presented Texas Rural Heroism award

A Crosby County farmer who risked his life to rescue a woman from electrocution in a farm accident has been announced as winner of the 1986 Texas Rural Heroism award.

C. R. "Clayburn" Marsh, 49, of Crosbyton was honored at the 47th annual Texas/Southwestern Safety Conference and Exposition in Dallas for rescuing Mrs. Dee (Sherry) Moses, 32, of Crosbyton Dec. 8, 1985.

The annual award is sponsored by the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council. Ben Bullard, assistant safety director for the Texas Farm Bureau, is Council president.

The accident occurred just before sundown on a farm about a mile and a half east of Mount Blanco on the South Plains. Marsh, who farms with the Moses family, said he saw Mrs. Moses driving a tractor and pulling a cotton module builder when its packer arms came in contact with a 7,200-volt power line.

Marsh was about 20 feet away and realized the danger Mrs. Moses was in. He yelled to her to stay on the tractor so as not to be grounded.

"Not knowing he wanted me to stay on the tractor, I immediately jumped," Mrs. Moses recalled. "The moment I went out of the door of the tractor is the last I remember."

Mrs. Moses said when she jumped from the tractor the "force of the (electrical) current pulled me back into the tractor," pinning her between the step and back wheel. The tires were blown out and the wire caught on fire.

Marsh said blue flames an inch in diameter were shooting six to eight inches from her feet. He finally freed the woman after three attempts, ripping her jacket in the process.

By this time, her husband, who was operating a cotton harvester elsewhere in the field, had noticed the incident and rushed to the scene. Uncertain if she were still alive, the men rushed her 15 miles to the Crosbyton hospital.

Physicians initially feared the woman would lose both feet. However, they were able to save all except the small toes and metatarsals on each foot along with part of her right index finger. She also sustained severe burns to her hip.

"I thank God I am alive to raise our three children," Mrs. Moses said. "I thank Clayburn Marsh, who has a wife, three children and two grandchildren, for risking his life to save mine."

Marsh took some of the current when he grabbed Mrs. Moses' jacket. Safety experts say he avoided possible serious injury by not pulling her by the hand.

Farmers allowed amended reports

The U.S. Department of Agriculture will permit producers of insured fall-planted crops to file amended acreage reports showing new harvesting intentions revised because of recent changes in USDA commodity programs.

"Farmers should not be forced to pay a premium on a crop they may have to destroy in order to participate in the government's commodity programs," said Merritt W. Sprague, manager of USDA's Federal Crop Insurance Corporation. "FCIC wants to be responsive to producers' needs for careful planning, so we are pleased to make this opportunity available."

Sprague said producers of fall-planted crops who intend to file amended acreage reports should contact their crop insurance agents as soon as possible, and that the producers must submit appropriate forms to their agents by March 21.

Federal workers are 3 million strong

The federal government is a massive organization that has 3 million employees and a payroll of more than $80 billion a year.

Federal employees aren't just bureaucrats and clerks: They're hairdressers, computer experts, broadcasters, code-breakers, astronauts and weather forecasters. Although increasingly white collar, the government employs some honest-to-gosh cowboys and a few people who still deliver mail by horseback in West Virginia and dog sled in Alaska.

To most people, particularly those who do not live in a government town like Washington, the federal government is personified by either a high official on a television screen or the person who sells them stamps in a post office.

But the real people of government are somewhere in between the clerk and the Cabinet officer.

Here is what the records show: The average civil servant is a 41-year-old white male without a college degree who earns about $26,000 after 13 years on the job, according to government personnel data.

There is a good chance that he has a white-collar job and that he lives in California, Texas, New York or the Washington area.

More than half—59 percent—are men, while 41 percent are women.

A little over a fourth are members of minority groups; 16 percent are black, 4.9 percent Hispanic, 3 percent Asians/Pacific Islander and 1.6 are Native Americans.

More than a third are military veterans, and 7 percent are listed as handicapped.

The average annual salary for all employees is $26,755; and the average white-collar federal worker in the Washington area earns $31,187 a year.

More than 70 percent of the work force is classified under the GS (general schedule) or white-collar salary system; 20 percent are under the wage board (blue-collar) pay system, and the rest are under other federal pay systems.

About eight of every 10 federal workers are considered white-collar employees, with 18 percent in professional jobs, 22 percent in administrative, 17 percent technical, 20 percent clerical, and 3 percent in other fields.

More than 81 percent are in the competitive civil service, with 18 percent in either political or policy jobs or positions that are exempted from civil service. Only 0.3 percent are in the Senior Executive Service.

Fifty percent of all federal civilian workers are employed by the Defense Department, Army, Navy or Air Force, and 12 percent work for the Veterans Administration.

About 96 percent of the federal work force is based in the United States, and 14 percent is in the Washington area.

Executive branch employment, as of September 1985, totaled 2.2 million. The U. S. Postal Service had 750,021 employees, the legislative branch (including congressional employees) 38,764 employees and the judicial branch 18,255.

The federal civilian payroll, not including fringe benefits, totaled $80.5 billion during fiscal 1985... Washington Post.

The EPA will soon conduct a nationwide survey of homes for radon -- a dangerous gas emitted from uranium deposits in the earth that seeps up into homes. National Wildlife magazine reports that up to a million homes may have "significant" levels of radon gas, which is known to cause cancer among uranium miners. Extremely high concentrations have already been found in southeastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York.

Breckenridge man buys local Texaco distributorship

King Hoermann of Breckenridge has purchased the local Texaco distributorship from Larry Gilliam. Gilliam, who has owned the business since he purchased it from his father in 1974, plans to move to Lubbock. The elder Gilliam had owned the Texaco distributorship since 1944.

Cary Hannsz, who graduated from Angelo State University in December, will be manager of the business. He, along with his wife Deborah, has recently returned to Haskell.

The company handles fuel, oils and grease for individual, agricultural and industrial uses. The distributorship includes Haskell, Rule, Knox City and Munday territories.

Hoermann has been with Texaco 21 years. In addition to his newly acquired territory, his distributorships include the towns of Breckenridge, Albany, Moran, Baird, Clyde and Woodson.

Sunbeam recalls coffeemaker

In cooperation with the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC), the Sunbeam Appliance Co. has announced the voluntary recall of 8,200 under-cabinet model 15306 Sunbeam Coffeemaker, Flavor-Lock drip coffeemakers, date coded as GJA, GJB and GJC.

Sunbeam has learned that the heating element in some of these coffeemakers can loosen with use and shift position to cause a hot spot. Under certain conditions, the plastic shell of the coffeemaker can ignite to create a fire hazard.

Recalled units can be identified by the model number 15306, the service number 15-30AC and the date codes mentioned above.

Owners who identify their coffeemakers as being recalled should discontinue using them. To obtain a free replacement, owners should return their recalled coffeemaker via parcel post, with name and return address indicated, to: Coffeemaker Program, Sunbeam Appliance Co., 1329 Warford Street, Memphis, Tenn. 38108. Owners need not return the glass carafe with their unit.

VA threatens action against delinquents

The Veterans Administration is sending thousands of letters to delinquent debtors informing them that unless efforts are made to pay overdue VA debts, their federal income tax refund may be reduced or denied altogether.

"Unless you take action to liquidate this debt, we intend to refer the debt to the Internal Revenue Service for collection," the letter says. It goes on: "Any federal income tax refund to which you may be entitled may be offset in full or partial satisfaction of this indebtedness."

The letter also provides a nationwide toll-free telephone number for making arrangements to repay the debt.

Individuals have 60 days from the date of the letter to clear up any outstanding debts or make suitable payment arrangements before their name is referred to IRS.

Cancer services available for Haskell Co. patients

The American Cancer Society in Haskell County has announced that it has a variety of services available to cancer patients without charge.

"Many people are unaware of all the services we can provide right here in Haskell," said Anita Perry, RN, Service and Rehabilitation chairman. "And all that is required in most cases is written permission from the patient's physician."

Loan equipment such as hospital beds, wheel chairs, commode chairs and walkers are available as well as expendable items including dressing, hospital gowns, bed pads, pillows and other items.

"These are all in addition to our basic information and referral services," said Mrs. Perry. "And, depending on location, we also have several rehabilitation programs, including Reach to Recovery for mastectomies, esophageal speech lessons for laryngectomies, ostomy rehabilitation and related patient and family support groups."

The concept for these rehabilitation programs is the volunteer-to-patient relationship," added Mrs. Perry. "We have many volunteers who are themselves former patients and who are specifically trained by the Society to help other patients and even their families adjust to living with cancer."

Mrs. Perry cited that when most people think of the American Cancer Society, they relate the name to cancer research. "While it is true the ACS funds millions of dollars for cancer research, we are also a community-based organization providing many local services. These patient services as well as education materials of all types are just a few of the ways we can help."

Since September, an estimated $1,211 worth of services to patients has been utilized in Haskell, but even more could be done if more patients were referred to us," added Mrs. Perry.

Anyone needing more information on these services may call Mrs. Perry at 864-2621.

Farm budget short sighted say educators

A national organization of agricultural college administrators says President Reagan's fiscal 1987 budget proposal for agricultural colleges is short sighted and likely to endanger the economic well-being of American agriculture.

In a 30-page report, the division of agriculture in the National Assn. of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges said decreased funding for science and education will accelerate spending, not curb it.

"Agriculture is in the midst of the most serious financial crisis since the Great Depression," the report stated.
