

Pool opens Saturday

The Haskell swimming pool will open for the summer at 1 p.m. Saturday, under the management of Jim Lisle and Jim Raughton. Pool hours will be 1 to 5 p.m., Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday and 1:30 to 5 p.m. Sunday. Tuesday night, from 6 to 8, will be ladies' night. Swimming lessons will be July 7 through July 22. More information on swimming lessons will be announced at a later date.

Former Haskell man charged

A former Haskell man has been charged with capital murder in connection with the slaying of a Hawkins teenager. Jerry McFadden, who was sentenced to 15 years in prison after pleading guilty to rape in Haskell in 1973, has been charged with the death of Suzanne Harrison, one of three Hawkins young people who were abducted and killed May 4 as they went for an evening drive together around Lake Hawkins. Hawkins, in Wood County, is north of Tyler and west of Longview. McFadden, 38, also was convicted of a rape charge in Denton County, and at the time of his May 6 arrest was on parole after serving five years of a 15-year sentence for aggravated sexual abuse in Shackelford County.

When first arrested, McFadden was charged in connection with an armed robbery attempt that occurred in the same vicinity and about the same time as the disappearance of the Hawkins trio. After the capital murder charge was filed, McFadden, now an oil-field worker who lives in Ore City 15 miles north of Longview, was transferred from the Wood County Jail in Quitman to the Upshur County Jail in Gilmer.

Miss Harrison was an honor student and cheerleader at Hawkins High School. Also killed were Bryan Boone and Gena Turner.

Miss Harrison's body was discovered in a roadside park northeast of Gilmer. She was clothed only from the waist up and had been sexually assaulted, severely beaten and strangled.

The bodies of Boone and Miss Turner were found later in a roadside ditch about eight miles from the park where Miss Harrison was found. They had been shot.

Early deadlines for next week

The Free Press will publish a special tabloid next week to welcome members of the Texas Wagon Train to Haskell.

The section will be printed in time to give each person traveling on the wagon train a copy well before they reach Haskell. Deadline for all copy in the section will be 5 p.m. Friday. In conjunction with the Wagon Train, the Free Press will be published early. Deadline for all news and advertising will be noon Monday.

Stenholm to appear at town meeting

Haskell area residents are invited to attend a town hall meeting with U. S. Congressman Charles Stenholm in Stamford Saturday. The meeting will be from 8:30 to 10 a.m. in the VIP Center, and will consist of a question and answer session with the congressman.

Wagon train to arrive in Haskell Wednesday

Haskell rolls out the red carpet next Wednesday (June 4) for the Texas Sesquicentennial Wagon Train.

The wagon caravan is expected to arrive in Haskell between 3 and 4 p.m.

It will be coming from Rule, down US 380. It will continue down the highway, passing on North 1st Street in the downtown area, to Avenue B, where it will turn south and go directly to the fairgrounds.

At the fairgrounds, the wagons and personnel will make camp for the night.

At 5:30 p.m., the personnel and the townspeople will gather at the site for a hamburger fry, to be followed by a program of entertainment at the Civic Center.

Between 1,500 and 2,000 people are expected to attend the supper, including several hundred from the wagon train. Supper will consist of a hamburger, french fries, tea and a Texas sugar cookie. It will cost $3 per person and advance tickets may be purchased at The Hayloft, Sears, Experienced Citizens Center, Lane-Felker, Johnson Pharmacy, County Extension Office and Haskell National Bank.

Members of the Kiwanis Club will cook the hamburgers and Rotarians will cut up the lettuce, tomatoes and onions. The Progressive Study Club is furnishing the cookies. Members of the Fire Department Auxiliary will make the tea.

Serving will continue until 7:30. During this time, a short program is planned. The Rev. D. R. Green, president of the Haskell Ministerial Alliance, will give the invocation and Abe Turner, mayor, will welcome the visitors. Quentin McGown of the wagon train will give the response.

At 8 p.m., a "Texas Sampler" entertainment program, by the Haskell County Extension Homemakers, will be presented in the Civic Center. John Wayne McDermott and Lou Gilly will be masters of ceremonies.

The program will feature skits by the Weinert Extension Homemakers Club, the Eager Housewives Extension Club, the Paint Creek Extension Homemakers Club and the Josselet Extension Homemakers Club.

Also featured will be gospel singing by singers from Haskell, Rochester and Weinert.

The Rev. James Densman, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will give the benediction.

No advance tickets are being sold to the Civic Center program. Donations of $2 for adults and $1 for junior high and high school students will be accepted at the door. Elementary and pre-school students will be admitted free.

The wagon train, which represents Texas' longest-running

Sesquicentennial celebration, began its 3,000-mile journey across the state Jan. 2 in Sulphur Springs.

The spirit of Texas, evolving from the hardy settlers of the early 1820s and 1830s, has carried forth a heritage of pride and guarded independence. This spirit can be felt by visiting with the wagon train participants. Like their forefathers, they have endured hardships and experienced many joys.

Everyone in Haskell is encouraged to turn out for the wagon train activities and share in this experience.

Lions to serve pancakes June 5

Haskell Lions will feed pancakes and sausage to wagon train personnel and the public Thursday morning, June 5.

Serving starts at 5 a.m. at the Haskell Memorial Civic Center. Cost of the meal will be $2 per person.

Proceeds from the pancake breakfast will go to the Civic Center.

Rochester and Rule to host train, too

The Texas Sesquicentennial Wagon Train is expected to arrive via State Highway 6 in Rochester between 2 and 3 p.m. Tuesday, and residents of that Haskell County community are planning a big celebration for the occasion.

After arrival, train members will need a couple of hours to rest and make camp at the Cole Turner farm.

Community activities begin at 6 p.m. when 4-H Club members have an ice cream freeze-off.

Beginning at 6:30, a meal of charcoal-broiled steaks, potatoes, beans, relish, tea and coffee will be served. Tickets are now on sale at Rochester businesses, and also will be available at the event. Price is $5 for adults, $3 for children 12 and under.

Entertainment, beginning at 7 o'clock, will be provided by the Steer Band, Royce Speck Band, Stonewall County Band, Imitation Stats, Herman Hearn Band, Paint Creek Band, Weinert Singers and the Square Dance Club.

Everyone is invited to attend the activities. Those not attending the supper will still be welcome to enjoy the entertainment.

After spending the night at Rochester, the wagon train will leave Wednesday morning for Rule. It is due to arrive in Rule at 11:30 a.m. A light lunch of sandwiches, chips, cookies and iced tea will be served. People of Rule are invited and encouraged to visit the wagon train and its travelers at the gin yard on the north side of Rule on SH 6.

After lunch, the wagon train will travel to Haskell.

Children attend classes on Wagon Train School

On Jan. 2, when the wagons of the Texas Wagon Train pulled out of Sulphur Springs to begin their 3,000-mile journey, excitement naturally ran high. Nowhere was this excitement mirrored more vividly than in the faces of the 27 youngsters who are students of the Wagon Train School.

"These kids are very special," remarked Dr. Bud Joyner, president of Cooke County College, "because they are going to be part of an extraordinary adventure in education. I'm so grateful for the opportunity our institution was given to play a part in making this learning experience available to them. I only wish I could go along too."

An adventure in education is indeed what it has become, but it also serves as a unique tribute to the students and teachers of the early days who, despite sometimes profound hardship, refused to let the lamp of learning be snuffed out.

Wagon Train School coordinator Linda Mast says she is amazed by historical accounts of the often incredibly difficult conditions under which the earliest students and teachers worked.

"But they persevered and made the best of what ever resources they could muster," she says. "It's a sure bet also that the students—representing all the various grades and all huddled together in what was often little more than a dugout, a sod hut or just the shade of a wagon on the open prairie—got an education that amounted to much more than just 'book learning'."

This type of broad education which goes beyond academics is a special bonus offered to the students of the Wagon Train School. The travel to so many different parts of Texas, meeting so many different kinds of people and exposure to so much living history has been of enormous educational benefit.

Near the end of the trail, the students will receive ceremonial "graduation" certificates at the Cristal School House in Ponder, a

At last!

Scharlyn Hudson earns degree

To anyone who owns one, a college degree is one of life's greatest treasures.

It's doubly so for Scharlyn Hudson of Haskell. It was a long time coming.

When the Haskell woman received her bachelor of science degree in applied sociology at McMurry College May 11, it had been 14 years since she graduated from Jim Ned High School. A husband, two children, a couple of careers and thousands of miles commuting between Haskell and Abilene helped occupy her time as she pursued her college education.

The pursuit started in Stephenville in 1973 when she enrolled in Tarleton State University. She got in one year and a summer session before her husband was transferred to Winnsboro. She worked in a dentist's office there.

When the Soil Conservation Service transferred her husband to Haskell in 1975, she went to work as a teacher's aid and took some night classes. She enrolled in McMurry in 1980 for one semester and a summer term (during one semester she made two trips to Abilene on Mondays). The birth of her first child interrupted her education.

After a second child came along, Mrs. Hudson went back to school on a part time basis. When she went to work as a secretary for the district juvenile officer, she changed her major from education to sociology. She needed this degree to be certified as a juvenile probation officer.

Last fall, Mrs. Hudson completed her degree requirements at McMurry.

Mrs. Hudson and her husband Jim, have two children, Whitney and Zach.

WELCOME SIGNS

This is one of four signs which will be greeting highway travelers as they approach Haskell. The new signs are now located on the north and south approaches to the city. They will be installed soon on the east and west approaches.

Haskell Nursing Center

Monday of this last week we worked on the rainbow we will put up over the piano in the dining room. This is made by residents. We hope everyone will take a look at it.

Mrs. Shaw came out to do our manicures. Our fingers were glad to see her.

The band from Rochester came on Wednesday to play for us. We did enjoy them so much. They played many songs for us. We would like to thank Miss Friley for thinking of us.

We would also like to thank Terri for coming out to help us. All of our volunteers are great to help when we need them.

We would like to send our sympathy to the family of Bill Boutwell.

Haskell man charged with Christmas murder

A 22-year-old Haskell man was arrested May 20 and charged with the stabbing death of a Rochester man outside Stamford last Christmas.

Laura Maxson

Granddaughter to graduate

Laura Maxson will be graduating June 5 with high honors from Denton High School.

Miss Maxson has been actively involved in academic work, receiving many honors for excellence. Among them are the Kiwanis Award for Outstanding Student, Spanish Honor Society, National Honor Society, Who's Who in American High Schools and the Academic All American Scholar.

She also has been a member of the yearbook staff and volunteered more than 300 hours as a hospital aide.

Miss Maxson is the daughter of Gayle and Dwight Maxson of Denton and is the granddaughter of Gerry Spain and the late Harold R. Spain of Haskell and Juanita and Claude Maxson of Celnia.

Chris Lopez is winner of scholarship

Christopher (Chris) Lopez has been named this year's recipient of the Scholarship Award of the First National Bank of Haskell.

He graduates this week from Haskell High School where he was president of the National Honor Society, the highest-ranking boy in the class and president of the senior class. He was secretary-treasurer of his junior class.

Chris was voted the most talented, the most likely to succeed and Mr. HHS. He received the Jaycees' Sportsmanship Award for 1985-86.

He plans to attend Angelo State University in the fall.

Kellie Gilliam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Gilliam, has been chosen as a twirler for the Lubbock Monterrey High School Band for 1986-87. Tryouts were held May 23. Monterrey is a 5A school and the band and twirlers will perform at halftime of all Monterrey football games this fall.

small community near Denton. The history of this authentic and meticulously restored one-room school house has been traced back to the 1800s when it was erected on the east bank of old Denton Creek in Denton County on property owned by the Cristal family.

Despite the absence of an extensive program of "extracurricular" activities common to modern schools of today, students of the Wagon Train School have plenty to occupy their time outside the classroom. However, they are frequently cautioned that satisfactory performance of their school work comes first.

That's the message humorously conveyed by Dr. Joyner when he asked Gov. Mark White (during an inspection of the Wagon Train School trailer) whether he might enforce a "no pass--no campfire" rule.

Assisting

Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District

Producers interested in stocking farm ponds with catfish or other species can place orders now through June 9 for delivery June 10 in Haskell. The Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District is again making available assistance in stocking farm ponds.

Proper management of ponds can be fun, if the producer practices a few good techniques. The Soil Conservation Service staff in Haskell assists producers in determining proper stocking, management and harvesting information.

Species available are channel catfish, bass, bluegill, redear, minnows, shad and others on request. Ponds properly stocked now can mean a more enjoyable summer of 1987. Catfish fingerlings gain about one pound the first year and to many youngsters, this is what summer is.

For assistance, contact the Soil Conservation Service in Haskell at 510 S. 2nd St. or call 864-3212.

Hamlin schedules tennis tourney

An area-wide tennis tournament will be held June 19-22 at the Hamlin City Tennis Courts.

Divisions will include singles for senior, open and junior; doubles for men, women and junior; and mixed doubles for open and juniors.

Entry fees are $5 per person per event plus a can of tennis balls. Players are limited to two events.

Entries may be made to the office of the Hamlin Chamber of Commerce before noon (576-3501) or Tanna Rodgers (576-3846) after noon. Entry fees must be paid prior to the tournament.

Weinert News

By Myrtle Phemister

Weinert received 1.3 inches of rain the past three days and farmers are ready to begin cotton planting.

Some with wheat harvesting machines have gone north, hoping to find areas with better production than ours. We pray they will have a fruitful and safe journey.

Eleven seniors and an overflow crowd of parents and patrons heard the Rev. Cal Leuning deliver the baccalaureate address to the Sesquicentennial Class of Weinert High School. Before the service, he assured the students they did not arrive at this stage of their lives alone, as we each have help from others to reach our goals. He gave the audience three minutes to go to some special person whom they felt had been a help and an inspiration in their life. A bee-hive of activity resulted, with hugs, handshakes, back-slapping and some tears, as many did as he suggested.

He then charged the students to seek their P.H.D.s in whatever vocation they chose to follow in life. He described the "P" represents Purity and he was eloquent in pointing out what true purity in life is.

The "H" represents Helpfulness and as we are helped, so must we be helpers to others to truly be successful and satisfied with ourselves.

The "D" stands for Destiny, and we each are in charge of our own destiny, and where we will spend eternity. The decisions we make each day determine the direction we go, whether upward to purity and helpfulness and hapopiness, or downward to evil desires and disregard for others, and finally despair and disappointment.

Three retired teachers were honored with a special Sesquicentennial award for their outstanding contributions to the school and community, and their continuing support of both. They are Mabel Derr, Erna Liles and Ila Moody.

The students sang "God Bless the U.S.A." and "Friends." The processional and recessional were the beautiful "Madia's Theme."

Graduation exercises and special awards presentations will be Friday night, May 30, at 8 p.m.

Many relatives and friends were in Weinert for the weekend. Among them were Glenn and Sherry Wilson of Abilene, former minister of the Church of Christ here. They will be moving soon to Louisville, Ky., where Sherry has been employed in a florist shop, and Glenn will work towards his master's of divinity degree.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sperry of Fort Worth (the former Eva Gray) were present to visit friends and relatives and attend the school's baccalaureate service Sunday night where Eva's nephew, Eric Turnbow, was valedictorian.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Moody and three daughters of Albuquerque, N.M., were here to visit his mother and attended Sunday night services where she received the special teacher's award.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Crump are our newest residents as they moved into the Baptist parsonage this week and assumed the pastorate of the First Baptist Church in Weinert. They have two children. We welcome them and hope they enjoy living in our community.

The Wood's in Weinert were

"replenished" recently when Zachry Tyson arrived to make his home with Bob, Melanie and Cory Wood. Zachry weighed in at 6 pounds, 3 ounces, on May 22 at the Stamford Hospital, and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Vojkufka, grandparents, and Mrs. Rene Vojkufka, great-grandmother, were part of the welcoming committee. Bob's mother in Canyon was present "in spirit" to welcome her new grandson.

R.S. and Betty Sanders were in Clovis, N.M. for the Memorial Day weekend. They were met there by their children, Mr. and Mrs. Randal Boatright of Andrews and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Sanders, Robert and Lynette of Los Alamos, N.M.

Kim Hanesley of San Antonio is spending a few days with Kristy and Daniel Earle.

Milton Walker is gravely ill and is in the Seymour hospital at this time.

Mrs. Don Timberlake of Houston is spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rainey.

Oklahomans find balloons from Haskell

Four helium-filled balloons released by Haskell sixth graders April 25 have been found in Oklahoma.

Three balloons released by Misti Bartley were found near Healdton, Okla., by Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Corley. The Oklahomans wrote the Haskell student that they had found the balloons.

Another balloon, belonging to Robby Blackburn, was found by James and Denise Baker of Ringling, Okla.

Sixth graders released 288 balloons as a climax to a reading program in the classes of Mrs. Letha Newton and Mrs. Debbie Earles.

Mrs. Newton said Tuesday that she hoped the students would hear from others who have found their balloons.

Farmers markets blooming all across the state

Springtime in Texas has generally come to mean bluebonnets in all their azure splendor. This year, however, it isn't just bluebonnets that are springing up all over Texas.

Forty-seven farmers markets will open for business from one end of the state to the other during May and early June with assistance from TDA.

According to Bernadette Phifer,

TDA's farmers market specialist, almost every part of Texas can now boast of a farmers market. From El Paso to Beaumont and from Amarillo to Uvalde, consumers should have no trouble finding high-quality fresh vegetables and fruits at competitive prices.

"We want all of Texas to be consumed with Texas products," Phifer said. "The consumer is really getting the best break of all. He gets a locally-grown product at a good and fair price."

During 1985, more than 1,000 farmers sold products that ranged from fresh carrots and tomatoes to fresh beef, cut flowers and honey in 33 different TDA-assisted markets and grossed more than $3 million in sales. Farmers pocketed profits on an average of 30 percent.

"We anticipate that 1986 is going to be an even better year for Texas producers and consumers," Phifer said. "Consumers will certainly be getting a price advantage when they buy their vegetables directly from the producer. The main advantage for the farmers is that new avenues of income are opened for them."

In 1983, TDA helped to open four farmers markets. With assistance from the Texas A&M Extension Service, the Main Street Project directors and local civic organizations, 11 more markets were opened in 1984. These organizations working together with TDA helped open 17 additional markets in 1985.

This year 47 TDA-assisted farmers markets will open. In West Texas and the Panhandle, markets will open in Amarillo, Plainview, Lubbock, Abilene, Sweetwater and Midland-Odessa. Three will open in El Paso.

In North and Northeast Texas, there will be markets in Vernon, Sherman-Denison, Gainesville, Paris, Texarkana, Temple, Sulphur Springs, Terrell, Fort Worth, Tyler, Jacksonville, Lufkin, Corsicana, Waco, Hillsboro and Brownwood.

In Central and Southeast Texas, markets will open in Bryan, Beaumont, Alvin, Wharton, Conroe, Victoria, Goliad, Edna, Cuero, Hallettsville, Ganado, Lake Texana, Uvalde, New Braunfels, San Marcos, Austin, Belton, Smithville and Georgetown. Two markets will open in Houston and three in San Antonio.

For information on market locations and days and hours of business, call 1-800-252-3415.

Scenes such as this one at the Travis County Farmers Market in Austin will become commonplace this spring all across the state as 47 TDA-assisted markets open their doors to sell fresh produce and plants to consumers. Many markets have already opened and all of them will be in business by mid-June.

Former Texans not protected from system

Two former Texas residents recently discovered that relocating to another state would not protect them from the Texas Employment Commission's fraud detection system.

Former Texas resident James P. McNeil II was located by the jobs agency in Lewiston, Pa. McNeil had failed to report employment or earnings for 15 weeks while drawing unemployment benefits. Sentenced to two years in prison, his sentence was later suspended and he was placed on three years probation and ordered to repay the Texas agency the $2,520 he had drawn in benefits.

In a similar case, Alaska resident Valerie Hespeth was indicted by a Federal Grand Jury in her former home of El Paso on five counts of mail fraud. Hespeth drew unemployment benefits for 13 weeks while failing to report employment or earnings. She pled guilty and was placed on five years probation and ordered to return fraudulent benefits of $1,664.

DPS commander points out safety tips

School will be out this week and families will be making trips during the summer.

Major V. J. Cawthon, commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety's Region 5, which includes Haskell County, said, "Long trips can make children restless. Be sure to bring something to keep them occupied."

The major added, "All motorists should remember that state law requires all persons in the front seats of passenger cars to be buckled up at all times the vehicle is being operated upon a public highway."

"Also, don't forget, that children under two years must be in infant seats and children from 2 to 4 must be buckled up no matter where the child is seated."

Cawthon pointed out that the leading cause of death of children under 6 is automobile accidents.

Children will be out playing at all hours of the day and into the evening hours, the major added. Sometimes they forget where they are and run into the streets and highways while playing. The Texas motorist is asked to be especially alert for these situations so these children can return to school next fall safe and healthy.

Cooperatives mark milestone

Two former members of Congress, the governor of Texas and rural electric leaders observed two milestones and honored one of the patriarchs of rural electrification at a ceremony May 21 in Austin.

The dignitaries joined to recognize the connection of the one-millionth co-op meter in the state—hooked up earlier this year—and the 50th birthday of the enactment of the Rural Electrification Act.

Participants also paid tribute to the late Sam Rayburn of Bonham, one-time member of the Texas Legislature and long-time member and Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives. Rayburn co-authored the act.

Karen Croft Britzky

Karen Croft weds Andre Britzky

Karen Kathleen Croft and Paul Richard Britzky were united in marriage at 2 p.m. May 17 in Mirtha Dunn Interfaith Chapel in Houston.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey F. Croft Jr. of Haskell. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andre Britzky of Buffalo, N.Y.

Given in marriage by her father, Karen wore a floor-length gown of ivory satin. The bodice was adorned with Alevion lace and bridal pearls enhanced by a fitted waistline, offset by a very full skirt. A matching fingertip veil was also adorned with Alevion lace and pearls.

Her bouquet was a cascade of white roses, sprays of dendrobium orchids with a touch of previe pink roses.

Maid of honor was Kelly Croft of Dallas, sister of the bride. Matron of honor was Jonna Craft of Houston. They wore tea-length gowns of dusty rose. Flower girl was Toni Fanning of LaMarque, cousin and godchild of the bride.

Peter Hazzan of Alexandria, Va., served as best man. Groomsman was Kenneth Guansico of Ottawa, Canada. Serving as ushers were Thomas Croft of Haskell, brother of the bride, Doug Falconer of Los Angeles and Sam Miller of Buffalo, N.Y.

The ceremony was officiated by the Rev. Ted Gaze. The closing prayer was offered by the Rev. Alfred Nelson, uncle of the bride, and a reading was performed by Kelly Croft, sister of the bride.

The reception, at Morningside Thai Restaurant, was hosted by the bride's parents.

The bride is a graduate of Haskell High School and received a bachelor of science in nursing from the University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston. She is presently an oncology nurse clinician at M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in Houston.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Cheektowaga High School and he attended the University of Ottawa in Ontario, Canada. He is a financial consultant with Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, Inc., in Houston.

After a wedding trip to Amelia Island Plantation off the coast of Florida, the couple will reside in Houston.

Hadaway earns entry to society

Shane Hadaway's scholastic achievement at Angelo State University made him eligible for membership in Alpha Lambda Delta, a national honor society for freshmen.

To qualify, a student must have earned a grade point average of 3.5 or greater while carrying a minimum of 15 hours during the fall semester.

An initiation banquet was held at Zentner's Daughter Steak House on Saturday, April 26.

Shane also was elected to serve in the ASU student government for the 1986-87 school year.

This year, Shane was elected vice president of his dorm floor. He also was active in intramural football and basketball with his team going to the finals in both events.

Martha Lou Wells

Funeral services for Martha Lou Wells, 74, of Mineral Wells were May 17 in the First United Methodist Church of that city with the Rev. B. C. Dugger Jr., officiating.

Mrs. Wells passed away May 14 in a Mineral Wells nursing home.

She was born Nov. 7, 1911, in Morgan, the daughter of Thomas Carter and Ena Cate Rogers. She was salutatorian of the Haskell High School graduating class of 1929. She had lived in Mineral Wells since 1951 and was an administrator in the civil service. She was a member of the Zonta Club, the Woman's Club, United Methodist Women, Wesleyan Unit, and the Business Women's Sunday School Class of the First United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Wells is survived by two sisters, Janice Rogers of Fort Worth and Clarra Roth of Arlington and a number of nephews and nieces. She was preceded in death by her husband, Homer Wells, in 1958.

Lillie Mae Clare

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Monday in the First Baptist Church for Mrs. Jetty (Lillie Mae) Clare, widow of the former publisher of The Haskell Free Press.

Mrs. Clare, 82, died Saturday morning in Haskell Memorial Hospital.

The Rev. James Densman, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated. Burial, under direction of Holden-McCauley Funeral Home, was in Willow Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Larry Hinds, Carol Hinds, Brent Bell, Derold

Roberson, Gary Allen and Kenneth Tooley.

Honorary pallbearers were Adell Thomas, Albert Barnett, Abe Turner, Dent Atchinson, Ernest Huss, Raja Hassen, Charles Swinson, Bill Comedy, Fitzhugh Williams, Dr. T. W. Williams, Henry Mocek and Elbezt Burnett.

Born March 7, 1904, in Stacy (Coleman County), she was married Aug. 6, 1926, to Jetty Clare in Coleman. He died Dec. 8, 1985. She had been a resident of Haskell since 1950 and was a member of the First Baptist Church.

She is survived by a daughter and son-in-law, Diane and Temple Williams of Houston; a granddaughter, Holly Williams of Dallas; a grandson, Temple Williams III of Evanston, Ill.; and several nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by three brothers and three sisters.

Bill Boutwell

W. T. (Bill) Boutwell died Saturday night at the Haskell Memorial Hospital.

Funeral services were at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Trinity Baptist Church with the Rev. Kenneth Blair officiating. Burial was in Highland Cemetery of Stamford, under direction of Holden-McCauley Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Wendell Conner, Leon Dodson, John Larned, Bill Pittman, Leslie Jones and David Strickland.

An independent cement contractor, Boutwell was born April 11, 1906, in Brady. He was married to Mattie Lois Conally Feb. 6, 1929, in Haskell. He had lived in Haskell since 1942 and was a member of the Baptist church.

Survivors include his wife of Haskell; a daughter, Geraldine

(Mrs. Charles) Cole of Abilene; three sisters, Ruth Hinds of Oklahoma City, Nell McKinnon of El Paso and La Nora Dudley of San Lorenzo, Calif.; five grandchildren; and six great-grandchildren. She was preceded in death by a son, Bobby; a great-granddaughter, Shaanel Cole; two brothers; and one sister.

Herbert Ray

Funeral services were held Sunday at Aderhold Funeral Home in West for Fred (Herbert) Ray of West.

A Haskell native and a brother of Billy Jack Ray, Evelyn Marr and Audra Holseapple, all of Haskell, Ray drowned May 28 at Lake Whitney.

The Rev. Mark Whitten officiated. Burial was in Ridge Park Cemetery in Hillsboro.

Born July 19, 1922, in Haskell County, he had lived in West for the past nine years. He was married to Pauline Moore in Hillsboro Nov. 18, 1976.

Ray was a field representative for the Veterans Administration Medical Center in Waco several years and also was a clerk at Gross-Yowell & Co. in Waco.

An Army veteran of World War II, he participated in three battles in the Pacific Theater, receiving two Purple Hearts.

He was a member of American Legion Post 475 and the First Baptist Church in West.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, David Ray of Waco and Fred H. Ray III of Abilene; a stepson, Bill Martin of Dallas; a daughter, Becky Coan of China Spring; a stepdaughter, Patricia Dacus of West; three brothers, Billy Jack Ray of Haskell, Lee Arval Ray of Stephenville, and Don Ray of Odessa; three sisters, Evelyn Marr and Audra Holseapple, both of Haskell, and Anna Belle Funk of Santa Rosa, Calif.; 10 grandchildren, five step-grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren.

Farm acreage, income decline

Both crop acreage and farm income should be down in Texas this year, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Rice and soybean acreage is expected to be about one-third less than 1985, the sorghum crop should be down 16 percent, cotton acreage should be 12 percent less, hay production should drop 9 percent, and the corn and peanut crops should be off 3 percent.

With market prices expected to fall below variable costs of production, most farmers will comply with the farm program for target price protection and use of the regular farm loan.

Hermann Sons camp gets underway June 1

More than 2,300 boys and girls from Hermann Sons lodges across Texas, including the lodge in Haskell, are expected to attend the fraternal benefit society's youth summer camp this season in the Hill Country near Comfort.

Located in the southeast corner of Kerr County on the Guadalupe River, the camp will open at 2 p.m. June 1 with six weekly sessions for girls, followed by five sessions for boys from July 13 to Aug. 16.

The Grand Lodge of the Order of the Sons of Hermann in Texas, headquartered in San Antonio, has announced completion of the enlargement of the dining hall, the final phase of an expansion program that included the addition of two new dormitories in 1985.

Registration this spring is running ahead of last year when a record number of 2,325 attended. By mid-May, 2,370 junior members had registered, with more applications for registration forms still in the hands of parents.

All junior members attending camp must be 9 years old and less than 14 before the opening day of the 1986 season.

The camp features masonry-constructed dormitories, dining hall and kitchen and includes facilities for horseback riding, swimming, archery, tennis, softball, canoeing, soccer, trampoline, tumbling and arts and crafts.

Dairy Queens helping hospitals

Dairy Queen owners have announced a minimum pledge of $250,000 to be given to children's hospitals in Texas via the nationally broadcast Children's Miracle Network Telethon hosted by Marie Osmond, John Schneider, Marilyn McCoo and Merlin Olsen. The broadcast will air May 31 and June 1.

"This pledge represents the minimum amount Dairy Queen owners and customers will give to help fund work at seven hospitals in Texas," said Richard Thayer, president of the Texas Dairy Queen Operators' Council.

Ask VA

Q: How often are the interest rates on VA home loans raised or lowered? Are these fixed or variable?

A: The Maximum interest rate established for VA home loans may vary due to changes in market conditions. However, once a loan is made the interest remains the same for the life of the loan.

Q: What is the current VA home loan interest rate?

A: Since March 3, the home loan interest rate has been 9.5 percent.

Insects pose danger to Texans

Spring weather can mean danger for Texans who get bitten or stung by insects.

The worst offenders are bees, wasps and yellow-jackets, says an entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The greatest peril from insect-people encounters is allergic reactions.

To reduce contacts with venomous insects, avoid walking around in the yard barefooted; avoid wearing sweet smelling colognes or perfumes; keep ripened fruits, watermelons, soft drink cans or other sweet smelling materials covered when outdoors; and avoid mowing lawns or working in flower beds when bees or wasps are active, usually later in the day.

Did you know?

Mention cricket and you think of an insect about the size of a paper clip. But in New Guinea, there are crickets longer than 10 inches with a wing span to match, says International Wildlife magazine.

GI Bill termination considered

Efforts to terminate the newest GI Bill are taking place in Washington, says C. H. Herren, veterans service officer for Haskell County.

The new GI Bill, designed to help veterans with monetary benefits to complete their education pursuits, went into effect July 1, 1985. The bill also provides some educational assistance to reservists and national guard personnel who are interested in additional education.

The administration, in the 1987 budget recently sent to Congress by the President, is proposing that the new GI Bill be terminated effective Oct. 1, 1986, with a reversion to the Veterans Education Assistance Program (VEAP), a program that had been in effect until July of this year. Under this proposal to terminate the program, a large number of reservists and national guard personnel would be left without any educational assistance program, and would lose some enthusiasm for such service.

Congressman Tom Daschle, D.S.D., has announced his intention to fight for continuance of the GI Bill. He claims that the records clearly show that the GI Bill has thus far been a plus factor in getting bright young men and women to enlist in the regular armed forces as well as the reserves and national guard.

He has strongly voiced his inability to understand how or why the current administration, which supported the bill last year, is now so adamant in having it killed, before any lasting good effects can be recognized.

Beth Armstrong marries in Abilene

Beth Elene Armstrong and Warren Dale Thomas were married at 7 p.m. Saturday, May 17, at the Westgate Church of Christ in Abilene. Terry McCormick officiated.

Beth and Dale sang their original compositions to each other during the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Armstrong of Anson and the bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wade L. Thomas of Corsicana.

Faye Armstrong of Galveston was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Ruth Armstrong of Anson, sister of the bride; Deana Norris of Midland, cousin of the bride; Jana Palmer of Fort Worth; and Rose Russell of Anson. Cindy Neumann of Lampasas registered guests.

Jeff Glass of Corsicana was best man. Groomsmen and ushers were Bruce Heyen of Stafford, Kan., Paul Heard of Austin, John Kletchka of Lawrence, Kan., and Wayne Armstrong of Anson, the bride's brother.

Amanda McCormick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry McCormick of Abilene, was flower girl and Joshua Lytle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Belvin Lytle of Anson, was ring bearer.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress of white cathedral length satin by William Cahill of California. The dress had a scalloped neckline, long sheer fingertip sleeves decorated with re-embroidered lace, a gored waistline and a line of white satin buttons decorating the back of the waist. The train was decorated with re-embroidered lace and trimmed with ruffles. Her knee-length veil was secured with a crescent of white flowers and lace. Her cascading bouquet contained orchids, lilies, white roses and stephanotis. She wore a string of pearls and pearl earrings.

For something nold, she wore a two-cent piece in her shoe. For something new, she wore her wedding gown and veil; her maid of honor's gold bracelet served as something borrowed and a blue garter represented something blue.

The bridesmaids wore floor-length, royal blue taffeta dresses with full A-line skirts. They were designed and made by the bride.

The bride's honorary grandmother, Mrs. Azalea Watts of Anson, wore a powder-blue floor-length dress. The bride's mother wore a deep rose floor-length dress designed and made by the bride, and the groom's sister-in-law wore a light rose cocktail-length dress.

The flower girl wore a royal blue dress matching the bridesmaids' dresses, made by the groom's sister-in-law. She carried a white basket of blue and white flowers.

The ring bearer wore blue velvet knickers and a white shirt, made by the honorary grandmother. He carried a lace-edged white satin pillow, embroidered with white doves and blue roses by the bride's mother.

The bride is a graduate of Anson High School and received a B.S. degree in biology from Abilene Christian University where she is a graduate student. She also is employed by Cloth World. The bridegroom is a graduate of Corsicana High School and holds a B.S. degree in biology from ACU where he also is a graduate student. The couple will reside in Abilene.

Haskell girl reaches finals

Erica Hollingsworth, 6, has won the privilege to represent Texas as America's Charisma Girl at the national finals in Hollywood. She was crowned Texas State Gharisma Girl Sunday in Abilene.

Erica's awards consist of an monogrammed satin beauty sash, a four-foot trophy, $500 scholarship, $500 personal appearance cash prize, $200 entry fee to the national finals, free hotel accommodations for her and her chaperon at the host hotel during the national finals and gifts and prizes during the reigning year.

Representatives from other states will compete in July at the Sheraton on the Universal Movie Studio lot in Hollywood. The panel of judges includes a casting director, a movie/TV personality and a Hollywood talent agent.

After competing in the national finals, Erica will be eligible for "Charisma Kids," a group which tours different parts of the world each year as ambassadors of goodwill.

Weinert students

Two students from Weinert, Gregory Turnbow and Kimberly Stewart, were among a host of valedictorians and salutorians from area high schools who attended Midwestern State University during the 1985-86 school year.

Earlier this year, MSU president Dr. Louis J. Rodriguez honored these students with a reception at the President's House

17th Airborne searching for former members

If there are any former members of the 17th Airborne Division in the Haskell area, the organization's secretary-treasurer would like to hear from them.

The 17th Airborne Division Association is composed of men who served as paratroopers and glidermen in the division during World War II. It is attempting to locate all former members.

By contacting Edward Siergiej, 62 Forty Acre Mountain Road, Danbury, Conn. 06811, a former member can learn details about the association as well as information about the 33rd annual reunion which will be Aug. 7-10 in San Jose, Calif.

It's easy to have SS checks deposited

It is easy for people living in the Big Country area who received Social Security checks to arrange to have them deposited directly into an account in a financial organization, such as a commercial bank, savings bank, savings and loan association, federal or state credit union or similar organization, says Glyn Hammons, Social Security manager in Abilene.

All a person has to do to arrange direct deposit is complete a direct deposit form SF 1199. The form is available at any financial organization, he said. A monthly benefit check contains all the information needed to complete the form.

Some advantages of direct deposit, Hammons said, are:

-No worry about a check being lost or stolen.

Summer reading program to begin

The reading program of the Texas Summer Reading Club will begin June 2 at the Haskell County Library.

Mrs. Elsie McGee, librarian, said the programs will continue for three months.

Everyone who reads books and meets the requirements will receive a certificate at the close of the program, Mrs. McGee said.

-No need to be home when the check arrives. The money is available in an account even if the person is out of town.

-Time and transportation costs are saved and there is no standing in line to cash the check.

-It is safer to keep money in an account than carrying a lot of cash.

-A check book provides a written record of spending.

More information about direct deposit can be obtained at the Abilene Social Security office, located at 142 S. Pioneer. Telephone number is 698-1360.

Band Boosters discuss goals

Discussion of the concession stand and proposed projects for support of the Haskell Band Boosters topped the agenda when the organization met in a special session at the band hall Sunday afternoon.

Parents of all band students, from beginners through high school, are needed to make the Band Boosters a better organization. Upcoming meeting dates will be announced in the Free Press.

Officers will be glad to explain to parents how they can become involved in the Haskell Band Boosters.

Don Kretschmer and Julie Cornelius

Haskell man to wed San Angelo girl

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cornelius of San Angelo are proud to announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Julie Cornelius, to Don Kretschmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kretschmer of Haskell.

Julie is a 1984 graduate of Lake View High School in San Angelo. Don is a 1982 graduate of Haskell High School. He received his bachelor's degree in criminal justice from Angelo State University in 1986 and is currently employed as an adult probation officer in the 155th Judicial District of Texas.

The wedding will be at 6 p.m. Aug. 2 in the Trinity Lutheran Church of Haskell.

Julie is the granddaughter of Mrs. Nova Riley and the late T. P. Riley and Mrs. Chlois Cornelius and the late J. A. Cornelius, all of Throckmorton. Don is the grandson of Alfred Letz and the late Emma Nehring Letz of Old Glory.

McFaddens to celebrate anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McFadden will be honored on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary with a reception May 31 at the Haskell National Bank Community Building.

Hosting the event will be their children, Mr. and Mrs. Arvil McFadden of Haskell, the Rev. and Mrs. Bob Wright of Spur, Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Tatum of Grand Prairie, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. (Super) McFadden of Arlington, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Mills of Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Otton of Graham and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Grayson of Graham, and their grandchildren.

C. C. McFadden and Lorene Campbell were married June 12, 1936, in Haskell. They lived in Haskell most of their married life, moving to Graham when he retired from Anderson Construction Co.

Paint Creek students celebrate

On Friday, May 16, the Paint Creek Elementary students celebrated the Sesquicentennial with a day filled with educational activities.

Students came to school dressed as characters from Texas' first 150 years. Some of their favorite characters were Stephen F. Austin, Meriam Ferguson, Judge Roy Bean and Sam Houston.

Students toured classrooms and viewed displays of family heirlooms and antiques which had been brought by students and teachers.

Mrs. Maxine Hamilton, librarian, hosted a slide show and gave an explanation of early Texas clothing and machinery. She brought antique, crock marbles and demonstrated an old-fashioned marble game with the aid of school secretary, Mrs. Wanda Morrison.

Highlight of the day was an Ice Cream Freeze-Off. Students were divided into five teams with each team consisting of students from each grade. Each team prepared, measured and mixed the ingredients for its recipe. Students and teachers brought ingredients for the ice cream. The "Fastest-Frozen" prize went to Mrs. Janie Stone's team.

Judges for the best-tasting ice cream were James Sinclair, Max Calk and Mrs. Hamilton. Mrs. Susan Cox's team won the "Taste Test" with their delectable Peach-Apricot Delight. There were several close runnersup.

Mrs. Brenda Cearley's team churned a Charming Chocolate recipe. Mrs. Jo Nell Trammell's team stirred up a Scrumptuous Strawberry. Mrs. Estalynn Liles' team turned out a Tasty Tutti-Fruitti.

Randy Stone and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Early took pictures of each team and its sponsor.

It was a fun day enjoyed by all who took part. Many students commented they would surely remember this special day celebration.

State Health Plan to be discussed

A public hearing to receive comments on the 1987 Texas State Health Plan (SHP) will be at 2 p.m. June 3 at the West Central Texas Council of Governments in Abilene.

SHP identifies major statewide health-related concerns, recommends strategies to resolve these concerns and analyzes the need for various types of health facilities and services.

HASKELL, TEXAS 79521, MAY 29, 1986

Haskell man is candidate

Seniors elect representatives

Haskell County senior citizens will vote at the Experienced Citizens Center Friday for their choices as delegates to the first Texas Silver Haired Legislature. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Voters must be at least 60 years old as of Jan. 1 and must be registered voters.

The Silver Haired Legislature, authorized by the 69th legislature, is an elected non-partisan body made up of citizens at least 60 years old. They will meet in Austin Sept. 29-30 and Oct. 5 to debate issues concerning senior citizens and to establish legislative priorities from these issues for the Texas Legislature to consider when it convenes in January.

One representative will be elected from the district which includes Haskell, Knox, Kent, Stonewall, Throckmorton, Scurry, Fisher, Shackelford, Stephens, Callahan, Mitchell and Nolan Counties. Haskell County voters also will help elect an at-large candidate, representing this district, as well as two other districts, made up of Jones, Taylor, Runnels, Coleman, Brown, Comanche and Eastland counties.

District candidates include C. O. Holt of Haskell, Joe W. Craig of Sweetwater, Delbert D. Downing of Snyder, Paul S. Dulaney of Clyde, Faye Nichols of Throckmorton, Hartense Spicer of Jayton and Willie A. Taylor of Loraine.

At-large candidates are Jaynie R.

Well-done meat may be dangerous

Muscle meats, including hamburger and other beef cuts, pork, chicken and fish with spines, that are broiled or fried well-done contain six chemicals that may cause mutations, chromosome damage or cancer in rodents, according to a six-year study at Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory.

The risk to humans remains unknown, researchers said. They suggested, to be on the safe side, "don't cook the meat to shoe leather."

Bower of Abilene, Roy V. Cartee of Cisco and Jerome V. Ray of Comanche.

The Texas Legislature developed this project to provide older persons of Texas the opportunity to make government more knowledgeable on the issues and concerns of senior citizens. It also will provide older Texans an avenue to become more aware of the legislative process through involvement, to develop a forum to discuss senior citizens' issues, and allow them to serve as a public resource of their communities.

Texas will become the 23rd state involved in such a project with the ultimate goal being a National Silver Haired Congress. The success in other states has been encouraging to those helping to implement the project in Texas.

Between 70 and 90 percent of the issues presented in bill form to the state legislatures in other states has been received favorably.

Lance Hanson and Diana Jarred

Couple to present recitals Sunday

Diana Jarred and Lance Hanson will present senior recitals at 2 p.m. Sunday, June 1 at East Side Baptist Church.

Diana is a voice student of Bill Mayes. She has participated in the Texas Baptist All-State Youth Choir for two years and has qualified for the UIL State contest in Austin for three years. She will continue her music studies this fall at Wayland Baptist University where she has been selected as a member of the International Choir.

Lance is a piano student of Mrs.

Billie Mayes of Stamford. He has studied piano for nine years. He is a former student of Sara Hodgin. For the past six years, Lance has entered the National Piano Playing Audition and has also participated in the Sonatina Festival at Hardin-Simmons University. He plans to study at H-SU this fall.

Diana is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jarred. Lance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Hanson. The public is invited to attend the recitals.

Phone bill increases

Haskell single line business and residential telephone customers will begin paying a monthly $2 subscriber line charge as of June 1.

The $2 charge represents a $1 increase to the subscriber line charge and is the second phase of a federally mandated process that is intended to gradually eliminate the practice of charging customers more for long-distance service in order to keep residential rates artificially low. An initial $1 subscriber line charge became effective last June 1.

Business customers with more than one line have been paying a $6 subscriber line charge since May 1984. This charge will not change.

The subscriber line charge applies to all single line users across the country.

Clements out front in Texas A&M poll

AUSTIN—Only a few days after Gov. Mark White agreed to fine-tune his education reforms, a Texas A&M poll showed him trailing his GOP opponent, former Gov. Bill Clements, by a 47-33 percent margin.

Among independent voters, Clements leads White 52-21 percent with 27 percent undecided.

Respondents favored White over Clements in public education policy 37-32 percent, but preferred Clements 40-13 on the issue of state taxes.

A few days earlier, White announced he would alter some of his controversial education reforms, but vowed not to change the hottest topic: the no-pass, no-play rule.

What he will change is the policy towards teacher appraisal programs, incentive pay, and teacher paperwork.

He stopped short of saying he would abolish competency testing, a real sore point with career teachers.

Lawsuit Opposed

Last week, one of Texas' largest Hispanic groups voted not to support a teachers' group lawsuit which seeks to have the tests struck down for racial discrimination.

Black and Hispanic teachers scored lower than whites, but the League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC) blasted the lawsuit as a "form of racism" itself for asserting that minorities cannot compete equally.

Whether LULAC is promoting a new tact in fighting racism or simply sidestepping a political-legal fray is unclear. But LULAC is playing as a political insider, not an outsider.

"Twin Plants" Urged

Growing Hispanic clout and the obvious need for a new Rio Grande Valley economy are two reasons why Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby urges more "twin plants" on the border.

Hobby told a law conference audience that foreign companies are interested in locating "twin plants" on the border. The plants basically hire Mexican labor to assemble U.S.-made supplies.

Of the 250 twin plants on the Texas-Mexico border, only about a dozen are non-U.S. companies. Hobby said Texas should get aggressive about attracting the business.

Budget Cuts Sought

Knowing full well that Comptroller Bob Bullock is monitoring his progress on cutting state agency spending, Gov. White moved last week to renew the search for austerity.

The governor asked agency heads and university presidents to review their budgets and meet his earlier call for 13 percent reductions.

At the Capitol, observers watch a growing competition between White and Bullock over whether White's austerity program will resolve the projected $1.3 billion deficit. No love is lost between the two rival staffs.

White, now on the campaign trail, says the austerity program will work, but Bullock won't let him make political hay without earning it. On the subject of state revenues, the expert Bullock is calling White's hand every step of the way.

So White is keeping pressure on state agencies, but one reason is because Bullock is keeping the pressure on White to produce.

Perhaps the winner will be the taxpayer, if the competition does indeed result in a lower deficit.

Runoff Approaches

Voter turnout is expected to be low for the June 7 primary runoff elections because of the lack of top-of-the ballot races.

Two political influences to watch are the Hispanic turnout and the pseudo-name identification game.

The name ID game involves relatively unknown candidates with names similar to famous persons. The idea is to stay unknown by not campaigning and still draw lots of votes from voters who don't know the difference.

The Republicans have Aaron Bullock, a Kingwood attorney running for lieutenant governor, and Grady Yarbrough, a teacher, and M. D. Anderson, a dance-hall operator, both running for land commissioner.

The Democrats have P. S. "Sam" Ervin, who used the nickname to make the railroad commission runoff against Sen. John Sharp. Last week, after the Democrats decided he could not prove the nickname and ruled it couldn't appear on the ballot, he legally added "Sam" to his name.

Also, look to see whether the presence of three Hispanic names on the ballot will result in a higher-than-average tally of Rio Grande Valley and San Antonio votes and a greater influence in the outcome.

Goddess Itinerary

The new Goddess of Liberty II will make public display stops in Houston, Columbus, San Antonio, Rockdale and Austin's Camp Mabry before being airlifted to the Capitol dome May 31. Officials said the temporary star is being removed. State Treasurer Ann Richards has suggested the star be left to "see if it attracts some wise men."

Trucking firms to reduce rates

The Railroad Commission has ordered Texas intrastate trucking firms to lower transportation rates because of recent declines in fuel costs, a move which is expected to save the state's shipping and consuming public more than $23 million a year.

Commission Chairman Jim Nugent said the reduction could be achieved through a series of commission orders reducing each major statewide truck rate tariff.

Navy to christen USS San Jacinto

The U.S. Navy has agreed to name its next Aegis cruiser the USS San Jacinto in honor of the battle through which the Republic of Texas secured independence from Mexico, U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm has announced.

"The San Jacinto is a Ticonderoga-class guided missile cruiser," Gramm said. "It is to be christened in December and will be commissioned in December of next year."

plain talk

BY WENDELL FAUGHT

I'm older than I realized. A couple of newspapers picked up the column I did a couple of weeks ago on old radio shows and their sponsors.

My reference to the "$64 Question" radio show was changed by both of them to the "$64 Question."

They were not the same. The "$64 Question" on radio, sponsored by Eversharp, was in the 1940s and the host was Bill Slater (or something like that) and later Garry Moore. Most money a contestant could win was $64.

In the mid 1950s, television came out with the "$64,000 Question," sponsored by Revlon and hosted by Hal March. That's the one which propelled Dr. Joyce Brothers to fame. She won either $32,000 or $64,000 by answering questions on boxing.

Still later, came the "$64,000 Challenge" in which previous winners came back for challenges from other experts.

There were a lot of big-money TV shows at that time, but they went off the air when it was learned that some contestants had been coached on the questions.

In different forms, big-money shows have returned. Nowadays, however, most of the winnings are based much more on luck than intelligence. A contestant on "The Price Is Right," for instance, can win a $48,000 showcase, as one did the other day, by guessing the value of the showcase at $17,500—hardly a sign of intelligence.

Flags weren't up in Haskell Monday. They will be put up Friday. Volunteer firemen, who are in charge of the flag program, chose to put up the flags on the traditional May 30 Memorial Day holiday.

Third- and fourth-grade students didn't have $150 to rent the Civic Center for their "Stars Over Texas" program Saturday night.

So they made a deal. They agreed to donate their proceeds to the Civic Center. Proceeds came to more than $700.

You can relax. The results are in. A nationwide survey has determined that American kids prefer red lollipops to any other color.

Texas kids were right on target with national tastes. Red was the favorite color of 43 percent of those surveyed in Texas, exactly the same percentage as for the nation as a whole.

Purple lollipops came in second and orange and green tied for third place.

What about flavors? Cherry was a runaway winner.

VFW honors Rueffer at Stamford

A World War I veteran from Haskell was honored guest at a Memorial Day program May 24 by Stamford VFW Post 9179. A barbecue and dance were other highlights of the activities.

Rueffer, who entered the service in 1917, saw duty in France and was awarded the World War I Victory Medal, and is the only World War I veteran who is a member of the post.

He was presented a flag and pin by Quartermaster D. E. Livengood. A buddy poppy was pinned on him by Bettie Stovall, president of the VFW Auxiliary.

Accompanying Rueffer to the program was his wife Lena and their daughter, Dorthea Monroe, and daughter-in-law, Melanie Rueffer of Irving.

Pari-mutuel controversy to be opened again in Texas

[On May 17, Haskell County Democrats passed a resolution calling for the legalizing of pari-mutuel wagering in Texas. The following is the first of a two-part article on that subject as adapted from a report issued by the Texas Research Division and Estimating Division.]

Early next year, horse-racing enthusiasts will reopen one of Texas' longest-running controversies when they ask the legislature to reconsider legalizing pari-mutuel betting.

Supporters of pari-mutuel horse racing argue that betting could supply the state with a significant amount of "painless" tax revenue while creating a new industry that would employ thousands of Texans.

The legislature has killed dozens of pari-mutuel bills in the half century since racetrack betting was allowed in Texas. But next session's revenue-pinched legislature may find supporters' arguments more persuasive than in the past.

Pari-mutuel betting, unlike other wagering systems, pays winning bettors in proportion to the amounts wagered in a given race.

In pari-mutuel, the odds are set by the bettors. That is, odds are base solely on the amounts wagered on each horse. The track's income is based on a percentage of the total wagers in each race. That total can grow quite large.

In 1984, Americans bet more than $12 billion on horse races in the 36 states that permit pari-mutuel horse racing. That same year, state and local governments raised $650.3 million from pari-mutuel taxes, licenses and fees.

By almost any yardstick, Texas is a state that loves horses. About a million horses live in Texas, more than 10 percent of the nation's entire horse population. Texas leads the nation in quarter horse production and is the ninth largest producer of thoroughbreds.

Many of the world's most prominent horse breeders, trainers and owners are Texans. Texas-bred horses routinely win purses at tracks across the nation. Texas is home to 15 non-pari-mutuel racetracks. Some of the richest purses in quarter horse racing are awarded at Texas tracks.

Yet supporters of pari-mutuel racing believe that the industry and commerce related to horses in Texas are only a fraction of what they could be if the state allowed betting at racetracks.

Ironically, for all its horses and riders, Texas has only allowed betting on horse races for two brief periods.

Bets were first placed legally on Texas horse races in 1905 when the legislature legalized on-site betting. The law did not establish a pari-mutuel system or a regulatory commission.

The unregulated nature of this betting led to abuses, and in 1909 a reform-minded legislature chose to outlaw racetrack gambling.

Legal betting and the state's horse industry were clearly linked.

The number of Texas stud farms fell from 78 in 1909 to only three in 1925.

Texas' second experiment with legal racetrack betting began in 1933. From the beginning, this round of legalized betting was marked by controversy. Racing supporters won the measure's approval by attaching the racing bill to the legislature's major appropriations bill on the final day of the session. The maneuver was successful but created new enemies for pari-mutuel.

The law approved a pari-mutuel system of betting and created a racing commission to oversee the state's tracks.

Texas quickly became a major stop on the nation's racing circuit, climbing to fourth among states in racing purses by 1935. Major tracks were built in Dallas, Houston, San Antonio and Arlington. Smaller operations were established statewide.

The brief pari-mutuel boom provided some parts of Texas a welcome break from the Depression.

In the days when jobs were scarce, Arlington Downs employed as many as 2,000 people at a time. Track revenue helped pave the city's streets and helped build a new municipal building.

Racing boosted restaurant sales and filled hotels in track towns. The horse breeding industry revived with the number of Texas stud farms increasing from 13 in 1933 to 265 in 1935.

State government also benefitted but to a lesser extent than did the economy. The state received $500,000 a year in pari-mutuel taxes, four-tenths of one percent of average annual state revenue over the period.

(Next week: Special legislature repeals pari-mutuel.)

Hobby Club

The May 5 meeting of the Rochester Hobby Club was an enjoyable one with Lois Charles as hostess and special guests Supt. Ben Daws, Mrs. Tonda Newton and 17 of her homemaking students.

Some of the students had never seen anyone quilting and were quite fascinated by the art which we hope to pass on to them as a heritage that is both beautiful and useful.

We enjoyed Eron McGuire's report on her delightful visit to Austin where here prize-winning "Dogwood" original quilt was on display.

At the May 20 meeting there were 17 members and 10 guests who enjoyed the very delicious meal with Mattie Lou Cole as the gracious hostess.

We almost finished quilting the "Garden of Eden" and the embroidered butterfly quilts. We hope to finish the two and put Mattie Lou Cole's "Around the World" in frames next Tuesday. She gave this quilt to the club.

Also, Shelly Speck's "Baby Nine-patch" is in the baby quilt frames.

A gift was presented to Mae Speck in appreciation of her years of faithful service to the club.

We were glad Virgie Brown was able to be with us.

Blanch and Jan Corley will be hostesses for the June 3 meeting.

Wellness Is Ageless

The American Cancer Society (ACS) is mounting a new educational campaign based on some age-old advice: It's never too late.

The Society's new "Wellness Is Ageless" program, launched to coincide with the observance of "Older Texas Month" in May, is aimed at Texans 50 and older. The program stresses the importance of maintaining a lifetime of health through good nutrition, exercise and annual health checkups.

"Our message is that the most important thing you can do for yourself is to take care of yourself, and that it's never too late to start doing that," said Cheryl Cortines, MPH, Austin, a member of the American Cancer Society's Texas Division Aging and Wellness Committee. Cortines also is the Texas Department of Health's director for health promotion.

The program, which includes an award-winning film narrated by Texas humorist John Henry Faulk, was officially launched at a state-wide film premiere May 7 in Austin. More than 100 people representing state agencies, volunteer organizations and health care services attended. The premiere was sponsored by the ACS, the Texas Department on Aging, the Texas Department of Health and Travis County Retired Senior Volunteer program.

Filmed on location in Austin and Wimberley, the 20-minute movie features interviews with local residents who share their thoughts about aging and health. The film was recognized in the Texas Public Relations Association "Best of Texas" competition.

The "Wellness Is Ageless" program outlines steps older Texans can take to reduce their risks of developing cancer and improve their health. These include following a nutritious diet, exercising regularly and, if they are smokers, giving up cigarettes, Cortines said.

The American Cancer Society has placed an increased emphasis on cancer in the older individual, because "we desire to preserve the quality of life for as long as people live," said R. B. Caraway Jr., MD, Wharton. Caraway chairs the ACS

Texas Division's Aging and Wellness Committee.

The heightened emphasis has become "increasingly necessary due to the ever-increasing number of people reaching the 'cancer age,'" Caraway said, explaining that most cancers occur in older individuals and that the risk of developing most cancers increases with age.

"There are two million Texans over age 60 today, and this number is expected to double in the next 15 years," he said. "Likewise, we predict 49,000 new cases of cancer in Texas in 1986, and this amount also is expected to almost double in the next 15 years."

"Through education and motivation, we should be able to alter lifestyles and thereby greatly influence 80 percent of this 'cancer population.'"

Older Texans should be interested in improving and maintaining their health, even if they must change some health habits to do it, said Harriet Griffin,

Fort Worth, who appears in the film.

"To me, it is ridiculous to realize that we (could be) living longer because of medical technology, good nutrition, better health habits...and not try to improve the quality of our lives," Griffin said. Griffin is chairman of the Governor's Silver-Haired Legislative and a member of the Texas Department on Aging's State Advisory Council on Aging.

In addition to steps older adults can take themselves to reduce their cancer risks, the "Wellness Is Ageless" program emphasizes the importance of early detection of health problems, like cancer, through annual health checkups.

The program includes a take-home folder outlining health guidelines and ACS checkup recommendations. The folder features a tear-off panel participants can use to record their own health information and any questions they want to ask their physician.

Dances to feature recording artist

Recording artist Art Chapman will play for dances in Rochester Saturday and Tuesday, May 31 and June 3.

The dances will begin at 8 p.m. at the American Legion building.

A native of Merkel, Chapman attended school in Abilene. He has recorded "Please Don't Go/Regret," released last June. He also has recorded "Stay All Life With Me," written by Tommy Willis of Central City, Ky. It will be released in June or July. A tape album, "Tribute to Marty Robbins," will be released soon for television sales.

Chapman has played warmup for The Platters, The Ventures, Rex Allen Jr., Leroy Van Dyke and Dave and Sugar during the past six years. Before returning to Abilene, he played the Holiday Inns circuit.

The 43-year-old entertainer has a 17-year-old son and a 21-year-old daughter.

Gardening techniques save space

Everyone has room to garden if they use one of several space-saving techniques outlined in the May/June issue of Texas Gardener magazine.

According to the article, many flowers, fruits and vegetables can be grown in relatively small spaces. Containers, which may range in size from small pots to whiskey barrels, are ideal for herbs, flowers, tomatoes, peppers, eggplants, cabbage, lettuce, carrots, spinach and many other vegetables.

And by using containers, even people with only a small apartment patio or tiny yard can enjoy gardening. The Texas Gardener article outlines the cultural requirements for container gardening and for other space-saving methods, such as caging, staking and trellising.

Also featured in this issue is East Texas daylily hybridizer J. L. Cruse, whose daylily farm is a spectacular spring attraction. A separate sidebar tells those interested in growing daylilies how they can develop their own hybrids.

Readers interested in natural insect controls can learn about the toad, which is one of your best friends when it comes to controlling insects. According to the Texas Gardener article, one toad is likely to eat 10,000 insects during just three months.

Other articles in the May/June issue explain good mowing practices and how to grow sweet potatoes and Mexican mint marigold. Another feature offers basic, how-to advice on home landscaping.

Texas Gardener is available at many newstands and nurseries throughout Texas for $2.75.

Texas tourism shows big gains

Economic indicators for the first three months of this year indicate that travel in Texas is on an unprecedented rise.

The Sesquicentennial, air fare wars, mild weather, low inflation and the decline in gasoline prices have been cited as contributing to the tourist boom.

ACU registration to be Monday

Final registration for Summer I at Abilene Christian University will be Monday, June 2. Classes will be June 3-June 9.

Students should report to the Mabee Library Auditorium from 8:30-11:30 a.m. Monday to complete registration for Summer I. Final enrollment will continue from 1-4 p.m. for those who missed the morning registration time.

Credit system move hailed

A decision by the Farm Credit System to allow loan restructuring is a "major victory for financially troubled farmers and ranchers," says the president of the Texas Farm Bureau.

"Farm Bureau's efforts to gain restructuring by commercial and Farm Credit System banks has finally paid off," said S. M. True, Plainview cotton and grain producer.

Small operators losing out in current crunch

While major oil company announcements of layoffs and budget cuts have been grabbing news headlines lately, Railroad Commission Chairman James E. Nugent says behind the scenes, thousands of small operators across the state may be losing the struggle to stay in business.

According to Nugent, recent studies by the commission staff show the steadily downward trend of oil and gas prices may be taking its toll among the 5,900 operators in the state whose wells produce an average of three barrels of oil or less a day.

"These are the traditional 'mom and pop' operators as well as some beginners," Nugent said. "When you subtract taxes, royalties, production costs, maintenance and salaries, none of these companies are making anybody rich. They're having a tough time just making ends meet."

NEW PASTOR AND FAMILY

New pastor of the First Baptist Church in Weinert is the Rev. Donnie Crump of Fort Worth, shown here with his wife, Deborah, and their children, Tabitha, 4, and David, 6. A recent graduate of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, the Rev. Mr. Crump preached his first sermon as pastor of the Weinert church Sunday.

Mrs. Menefee attends party for great-granddaughter

Mrs. Ione Menefee spent a Mother's Day weekend in Wichita Falls where she was a special guest at a high school graduation party for her great-granddaughter, Kristen Paige Wyatt.

Other special guests were Mrs. Menefee's two daughters, Mrs. Mary Beth Wyatt, Kristen's grandmother, and Mrs. Jean McDonald and Mrs. JoBeth Mitchell, Kristen's great-aunt and cousin.

Randy Wyatt, brother of the honoree, and Kelli and Stephani Mitchell, also Mrs. Menefee's great-grandchildren, also attended. The outdoor barbecue was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Kilgo and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Novak. Approximately 125 guests attended.

Decorations were the school colors of black and gold, a cake decorated with the emblems of 4-H, vocational agricultural, National Honor Society and band, all organizations in which the honoree has been active.

Kristen has been a member of the Rider Marching Band and Honors Band for four years. The Rider Marching Band has just returned from a national marching contest in Colorado Springs where it was awarded first place in parade, first place in field performance and was awarded the Sweepstakes Award as the most outstanding band.

Kristen is a member of the National Honor Society, Mu Alpha Theta and 4-H and has been a member of the Rider Future Farmers of America for four years. During that four years she has been awarded outstanding achievement awards for beef, swine, poultry and lamb production. She earned the Lone Star Farmer degree her junior year and was named the outstanding vocational agriculture student her senior year.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Wyatt of Wichita Falls, Kristen plans to attend Tarleton State University in the fall where she has been awarded an academic scholarship.

What company in Haskell produces products which are bought each week by 10,000 families in Haskell, Jones, Knox and Stonewall counties?

It's Rolling Plains Printing Co. Every Wednesday, Rolling Plains Printing Co. prints The Haskell Free Press, The Hamlin Herald, The Knox City News, The Munday Courier, The Twin Cities News (Rochester and Rule) and The Stonewall County Courier.

Producing those six newspapers, with a combined circulation of more than 10,000 and an average weekly page count of 70, makes Rolling Plains one of the liveliest places in town on Wednesday. And every other week during the school year, the company also produces the Haskell High School War Whoop.

Those are just the regular products of Rolling Plains Printing Co. During the primary campaign last month, the company turned out 50,000 newspaper inserts for one candidate and 30,000 for another. Other printing jobs come in occasionally from other areas.

Don Comedy, publisher of The Haskell Free Press, is majority stockholder in Rolling Plains Printing Co. and serves as the corporation's president.

Bill Comedy is a stockholder in the company, as are Rick Craig of Hamlin, Billie Vess Angle of Knox City, Marion Waggoner of Munday and Lavern Rogers of Rochester, all newspaper owners in their communities.

The company began operation May 21, 1985. Prior to that, the six newspapers were being printed in four different plants. The Free Press, for instance, had been printed in Stamford since September 1974.

The group of publishers formed Rolling Plains Printing Co. in Haskell, which gave them a more central location for their printing. Another important factor was, that by being owners of the company which printed their newspapers, they had much better control over the production of their newspapers.

After a full year of operation, all publishers are pleased with the way things have worked out. So pleased, in fact, that just two weeks ago a fourth printing unit was added to the company's three-unit Goss Community printing press.

The added unit increases press capacity from 12 to 16 pages. It also allows for more frequent use of color.

Rolling Plains Printing Co. is located two doors west of The Haskell Free Press, in the building formerly occupied by the post office.

Summer session at H-SU to begin

Hardin-Simmons University's first summer session will be June 2 to July 9.

The second summer session starts July 10 and ends Aug. 15.

Registration for the first summer session for all students will be June 2 in Mabee Physical Education Complex, with classes beginning June 3.

Undergraduates may obtain information from the office of admissions or the registrar's office, phone 915-677-7281, extension 200 or 206.

Don Comedy, publisher of the Free Press and president of Rolling Plains Printing Co., prints one of the six newspapers turned out every week at the Haskell plant.

From father to son

Don Comedy has been president and publisher of The Haskell Free Press since Dec. 1.

It was on that date that the long-time Haskell editor purchased the stock of his father, Bill Comedy, and assumed complete control of the newspaper. He had owned part of the stock in the corporation since 1974.

Upon the sale of The Free Press, Bill Comedy formed Haskell Commercial Printing Co. Although housed in the same building as The Free Press, Haskell Commercial Printing Co. is operated separate and apart from the newspaper.

The elder Comedy had owned The Free Press since Aug. 1, 1970, when he purchased the business from the late Jetty Claire. He moved here from Throckmorton where he had published the Throckmorton Tribune from 1965 to 1970. Earlier, from 1948 to 1965, he had been mechanical superintendent at the Lamesa Daily Reporter.

Don Comedy graduated from high school in Throckmorton and was attending Texas Tech University when his father bought The Free Press. Although he worked for The Free Press part time and during summers while he was in college, he moved here permanently in 1972 when he became editor, a position he continued to hold until this past year.

Formation of Rolling Plains Printing Co., a central publishing company which prints newspapers for a number of area towns, in 1985 necessitated that he relinquish his editorial responsibilities. Comedy owns a majority of the stock in the central plant and also serves as pressman.

Born in Coleman, Comedy grew up in Lamesa and Throckmorton. He and his wife, Jeannine (Nene) have two daughters, Jennifer, 9, and Jessica, 5.

AT&T PUBLIC NOTICE REGARDING REACH OUT™ Texas OPTIONAL CALLING PLAN

AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc. (AT&T) is seeking approval from the Public Utility Commission of Texas to continue the REACH OUT Texas long distance plan. REACH OUT Texas is an optional calling plan which offers customers the opportunity to save on long distance calls placed within the state of Texas.

The Public Utility Commission has required that AT&T show why the REACH OUT Texas plan should not expire by August 1, 1986. To meet this requirement, on March 7, 1986, AT&T filed an application with the Public Utility Commission, and asked that the August 1, 1986 termination date be removed. This request and the related proceeding have been designated as Docket No. 6761 by the Public Utility Commission, with hearings scheduled to begin June 18, 1986.

Currently more than 39,000 Texans subscribe to REACH OUT Texas service. REACH OUT Texas customers pay a one-time $6 charge to establish the service, and a monthly charge of $14 which entitles them to one hour of AT&T's intrastate/interlata "Direct Dialed" (1+) calling during the weekend and night rate periods. Customers also receive an additional 15 percent discount on the same type of AT&T long distance calls placed during the evening rate period. In addition, an hourly rate of $12, or $.20 per minute applies for weekend and night rate calls beyond the initial hour of calling provided under the REACH OUT Texas basic rate.

AT&T estimates current annual revenues generated by the REACH OUT Texas service to be over $14 million.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information also may be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

With our multi-step wheat conditioning process.

Bring your harvested wheat to Bronco Seed Company in Stamford for our top quality conditioning process.

First, our air screen machine removes weed seeds, trash, underdeveloped and oversized seeds and cracked or broken seeds.

Quality continues as our three indent cylinders separate the wild oats from the good seed by length sizing.

For final finishing and improvement of germination, our gravity table separates immature, lightweight seed from mature, heavy seed to improve seed vigor.

We can treat your wheat seed with Vitavax-200, the systemic fungicide that controls loose smut, bunt, seed rots and seedling diseases. Since Vitavax is patented as a growth stimulant, you should be able to graze your cattle earlier because Vitavax-200 treated wheat normally emerges faster and shows more vigorous growth.

And, we offer you bulk grain storage before cleaning, and bag seed storage after cleaning.
