Good Rains Fall Over County

Welcome spring rains didn't wait until the customary turn of the calendar to April to arrive in Coke County.

The area received up to nearly four inches last Saturday and Sunday, turning the dry land into moist soil which will bring grass and small grain to life as well as provide moisture for planting crops and gardens.

Heaviest rainfall reported to the Observer came from the Teddy Pitcock ranch at Sanco where 3.8 inches was recorded. Other reports showed that most of the area received two inches or more. Gauges in the City of Robert Lee recorded from 2.1 to 2.3 inches.

High winds Monday dried out some of the moisture, but they became lighter on Tuesday and Wednesday was a nice still day with bright sunshine.

Coke County residents are hoping they have had their last frost and freeze of the season. Some damage to fruit has been reported but if no more freezes occur, orchards of the area should make a fruit crop in 1977.

Rainfall reports received include:

Teddy Pitcock 3.8 inches; Reba Roberts 3.6; J. M. Prine Jr. 3.3; Floyd Harman 3.15; J. W. Service Jr. 3.0; Finis Harmon 2.9; H. L. Bloodworth 2.8; C. C. Millican 2.8; Frank Percifull 2.5; Dot Childress 2.0; Bobby Roberts 3.0.

Weather forecasters predict continued mild temperatures for the next few days.

County Agents News Column

By Sterling Lindsey

Several persons have called or inquired about the private applicator certification program. Several counties have conducted programs to certify private applicators. We will be having one or more such programs a little later in the year.

In case you are not familiar with the program, I will mention the basic information that may be of interest to you as a farmer, rancher, gardener, etc.

The Texas Pesticide Control Act will go into effect in October 1977. When the law goes into effect persons using restricted pesticides will be required to be certified as private applicators. The Texas law was passed to meet Federal requirements for use of regulated pesticides. A list of Federally regulated pesticides, fungicides and herbicides will be published some time later in the year.

Once the law goes into effect persons desiring to purchase and use chemicals on the list must have met one of the certification standards.

The private applicator standard is the one that will apply to farmers, ranchers, home owners, etc. Commercial applicators have a different certification requirement.

Two methods of certification will be used. The Texas Agricultural Extension Service will conduct educational meetings at which you will go through the necessary requirements. If you prefer, you may be certified through a self-study program. We have the materials in the county Extension office if you prefer to use this system.

The Texas Department of Agriculture will administer the program and certify the applicants. The Extension Service will conduct the educational programs required for certification (private applicator only) and/or provide you with the necessary materials for the home study certification if you wish to go this route.

Because of the number of conflicts in the immediate future we will probably wait until May or June to hold a certification meeting. We will make every effort to notify everyone when the meeting or meetings are scheduled.

CANCER CRUSADE IS SET FOR APRIL 11

Alpha Kappa Pi sorority of Robert Lee will sponsor the annual Coke County Cancer Crusade for 1977. Mrs. Dorene Mashburn, drive chairman, made announcement of plans at the March 23 meeting of the group.

The drive will be conducted April 11 in Robert Lee and Bronte. The '64 Study Club will canvass the business district of Robert Lee and the '69 Study Club will be in charge of the drive in Bronte.

Workers on the campaign urged everyone to keep the date in mind and to give generously to this fund which is used for research on cancer and to aid cancer victims.

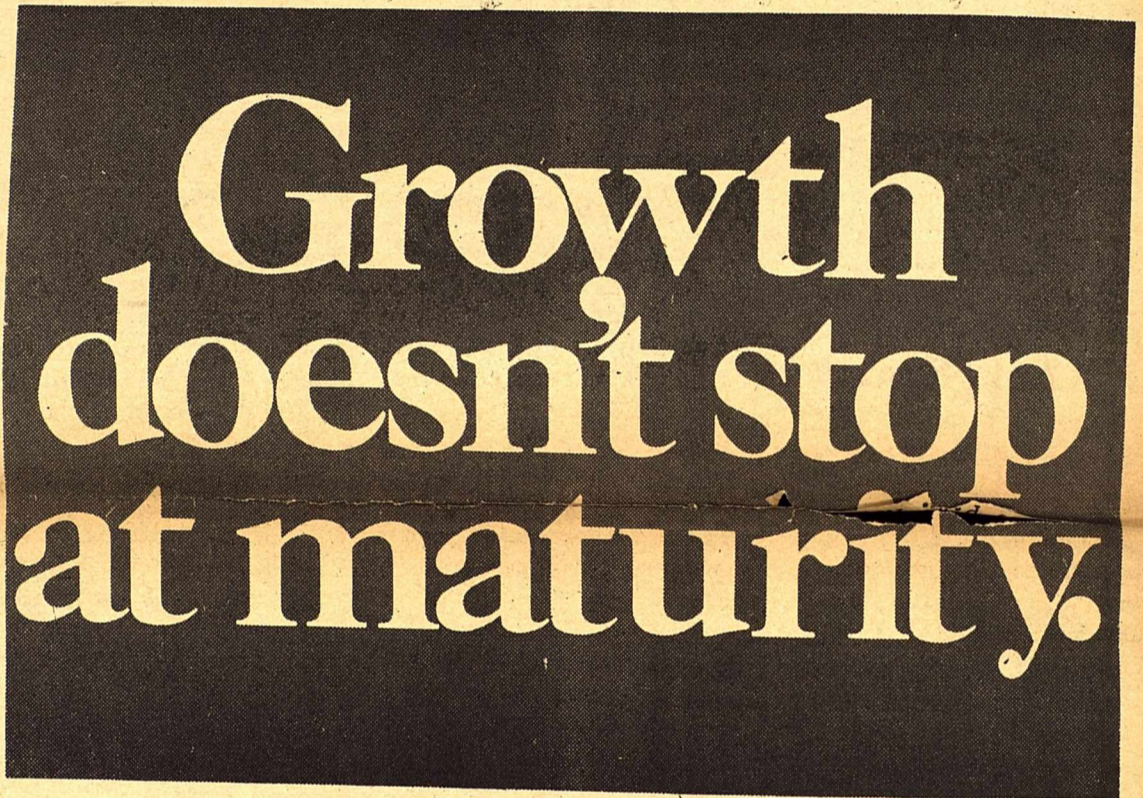

GRANT FOR TELETYPE

Governor Dolph Briscoe has approved a criminal justice grant affecting the Concho Valley region.

An award of $10,537 will continue the law enforcement teletype network used by law enforcement agencies throughout the region, which includes Coke County.

The local grant was among 109 approved by Governor Briscoe statewide from Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) funds under the Crime Control Act of 1976.

Everyone knows U.S. Savings Bonds reach full maturity in just five years.

But they don't stop there.

Bonds keep accumulating interest year after year after year after year.

So if you're enrolled in a Payroll Savings Plan at work (or the Bond-A-Month Plan where you save), you don't have to rush out and cash your Bonds at maturity.

You can sit back and watch them keep growing.

The older they get, the better they look.

Series E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4 1/2% the first year). Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Meeting Is Set For Discussion of Federal Money

A meeting will be held April 11 at 10 a.m. to discuss the use of Federal Revenue Sharing Funds received by Coke County. Judge W. W. Thetford said the Commissioners' Court is interested in obtaining the opinion of county residents on how the money should be spent.

Revenue sharing funds received the first couple of years were used for construction and furnishing the exhibit building in Robert Lee and recreation halls in Bronte and Robert Lee. Subsequent funds have been budgeted for Road and Bridge and County Park use. Judge Thetford said the funds have replaced local tax dollars and their use prevented an increase in county taxes which would have been necessary due to increased costs of operations. The Commissioners' Court is considering use of the funds for construction of a building on the Courthouse square to house agricultural agency offices which are now in the Courthouse. The crowded conditions which now exist would be alleviated if these offices were moved into a separate building. Judge Thetford said the commissioners would like opinions of Coke County citizens concerning the matter.

He pointed out that the cost of the structure would pay out in about 10 years, since the federal government would pay rent to the county on the offices. Offices which would be involved are the County Extension Service, Soil Conservation and Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation. Judge Thetford urged all citizens to attend the hearing and let their opinions be known.

When purchasing a mobile home, look for factory-installed anchoring straps under the skin of the mobile home, advised Mrs. Jane Berry, of the Extension Service, Texas A&M University.

TWO FROM COUNTY ON BAYLOR LIST

Baylor University has named 693 students to its fall 1976 University Dean's Academic Honor List and University Dean's Distinguished Academic Honor List.

Dr. Herbert H. Reynolds, Baylor executive vice president and dean, said that 282 students were named to the Dean's List and 411 to the Dean's Distinguished List.

To be named to the Dean's List, one must be an undergraduate or post graduate student who has earned a grade point average of 3.6 to 3.79 while enrolled for 15 credit hours during the semester.

Coke County students listed include Larry

Hooper, senior English major, of Bronte, and Mary Lackey, freshman clothing merchandising major, of Robert Lee.

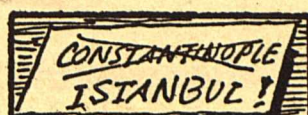

Use a microwave oven to heat baby's formula. A four-ounce bottle heats in 10 seconds and an eight-ounce bottle takes 20 seconds. This time in the microwave will not make the milk hot, but removes the chill. Add a few more seconds if warm milk is desired. The nipple does not have to be removed, and glass, plastic or disposable bottles may be used, says Lynn Bourland, family resource management specialist of Texas A&M University System.

The Importance of Rural America

The past few years have been of immense importance to rural America, both literally and figuratively. There has been a migration of both people and industry from the more heavily industrialized and urbanized North to the southern sun-belt states. Climate, labor factors, and the availability of energy resources have been among the reasons for that shift. There is another element involved, however, not frequently mentioned, and one which is not easily described. It is the spirit of our rural southern life style which seems to be most attractive to those coming to our part of the country.

Rural southern America came into its own this past year with the election of a farmer from a small town in Georgia as President. Many barriers were broken down during that election, such as north-south and urban-rural rivalries; certainly, these will continue to exist to some degree for some time to come, but there seems to be a trend now toward the accepting of one by the other.

President Carter recently re-emphasized his personal interest in small-town America by visiting Clinton, Massachusetts, in a town hall meeting setting. That effort, on his part, to keep in touch with what the grass roots of America are feeling is commendable.

I recently had the honor of addressing a Chamber of Commerce meeting in a rural Texas town. The leaders of that community understandably desire to keep their town active and vital. Although they do not want to do anything which would hamper the community's growth and prosperity, neither do they wish to see the beauty and spirit of their part of the country ruined by external forces. Combined with the small town conservatism is the spirit of progress, a desire to move forward without leaving behind the values that have made our people and our country great: a sense of the past, our families, and the things in our communities which hold us close to one another.

If my examination of small town, rural America sounds a bit sentimental, perhaps it is. But I am proud of what Texas and the South have become, how far they have traveled, and the prospects for the future. A dedication to progress coupled with a determination to hold fast to our values and our past will keep us on the road to continued prosperity.

FLOWERS FOR COLOR

Spring comes alive with the addition of flowering annuals to color your landscape, says a landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Annual flowers are excellent for use along footpaths or fences, around the patio or to trim the side of the home. They do best in a well-drained, fertile bed. Place taller plants in back in the bed to keep them from overwhelming smaller annuals. If the bed will be viewed from all sides, place tall plants in the middle. Apply about two pounds of a complete fertilizer per 100 square feet once a month.

A good nutrition rule-of-thumb is to serve liver once a week to help the family keep fit. Liver is rich in iron and supplies many necessary vitamins, explains a specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

GARDENS NEED CARE

General maintenance practices should not be overlooked once a vegetable garden is planted, points out a horticulturist with the Extension Service. First of all, thin plant seedlings to a proper stand. It's often better to pinch off unwanted plants than to pull them up. Side-dress root and leafy crops with nitrogen fertilizer--two to three pounds per 100 feet of row. Tomatoes and okra can use a sidedressing of a complete fertilizer--also two to three pounds per 100 feet of row. Keeping the garden weed-free is important--mulching with straw, compost, leaves or old newspapers will keep weeds down as well as conserve moisture. Finally, harvest vegetables at their peak of quality.

BEEF SUPPLIES SHORT

Despite some claims about "a large supply" of beef at the present time, actual figures show this is not true, says a livestock marketing specialist with Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Federally inspected slaughter through March 5 was running three per cent below a year ago. Although fed cattle marketings were up in January and February, cow and nonfed cattle slaughter was down sharply. Overall, total beef production will be down the first half of 1977.

More protein for world food

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — More protein for world food supplies may result from a University of Texas study that has yielded 20 times as much meat protein per square meter per year as could be produced through agriculture or animal husbandry.

Conducting research in the Virgin Islands, UT marine scientists are engaged in a project to increase the protein yield from shellfish such as oysters, clams and scallops.

Called "artificial upwelling," the project brings up from ocean depths nutrient-rich water which, when it is mixed with nutrient-poor surface water, stimulates the growth of algae on which shellfish feed.

BILL TEDDER

Tedder Promoted To PSD Head

Bill Tedder, information and promotion assistant at West Texas Utilities Company, has been promoted to manager of the WTU Public Service Department effective April 1.

Tedder replaces Dan Jones Castles, public service manager since 1961, who is retiring from WTU after more than 25 years of service.

Castles began working for WTU in 1933 in the Ice Department at Anson. In 1934 he was transferred to Childress as merchandise salesman and the next year was transferred to Quanah. In 1936 he served in the Lighting Department in Abilene and was transferred to the Ballinger District Lighting Department in 1937.

He left WTU in 1938, returning to the firm in September 1956, as advertising assistant. In 1959 he was promoted to advertising manager, and in 1961 was named manager of the Public Service Department.

Tedder joined WTU in 1966 as an information and promotion assistant. He had formerly served as advertising and display manager for Thornton Department Stores in Abilene.

Born in Brady, Texas, Tedder attended schools at nearby Fife, but graduated from Lohn High School in 1948. In 1956 he received an Associate of Art degree from Ranger Junior College. He served in the U. S. Air Force from 1951 to 1953.

Historically, the family has provided economic, physical and emotional support and protection to its members, says Mrs. Ilene Miller, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University.

Sponsors Declare Pancake Supper A Big Success

The annual pancake supper, sponsored by Coke County 4-H Clubs and the Robert Lee-Silver Lions Club last Friday night, was declared a huge success. Approximately 500 persons turned out to eat pancakes and listen to the musical program which was held in conjunction with the supper.

Bill Green, president of the Lions Club, and County Extension Agents Mrs. Fay C. Roe and Sterling Lindsey were in charge of the overall program. However, dozens of other persons worked in preparation for the event as well as conducting its actual operation.

Mrs. Edna Havins and Add Davis were in charge of the musical program with Davis serving as master of ceremonies. Among the performers were: Richard and Scott Long; German Band made up of members from the Robert Lee Steer Band; Konny and Kaylan Service; Robert Lee Western Band made up of Davis, Ray Shandley, Jim Craig, David Meadows, Edna Havins, all of Robert Lee, Richard Beck of Winters and Jack Denman of Snyder; the Robert Lee Stage Band; a Country and Western group from San Angelo made up of Sammy Jo Duncan, Glen and Marilyn Whitworth and Lynn Duncan; and Grady Harlow, San Angelo pianist.

Those in charge of the supper and program expressed their appreciation to everyone who worked toward making it a success, as well as all those who "came to eat and listen."

H D Agent's News Dept.

By Fay C. Roe

Despite recent consumer concern, food additives are necessary to furnish the entire nation quality food, according to Mrs. Fay C. Roe, Coke County Extension Agent.

Before a processor can use an additive, he must present information to the Food and Drug Administration.

As such, he shows a particular additive will accomplish its intended effect in food--and the amount used doesn't exceed what's reasonably necessary.

Spices, natural and synthetic flavors, such as liquid derivatives of onion, garlic, cloves and peppermint, make up the largest group of additives--flavors and flavoring agents.

Stabilizers, on the other hand, prevent oxidation and spoilage of food.

For years, people have used salt, sugar, vinegar, heat, freezing, smoke and spices to prevent or delay spoilage. Modern developments brought preservatives such as antioxidants, mold inhibitors and fungicides on the scene.

Without such antioxidants as BHA and BHT, baked goods and other foods using fats and oils would turn rancid in a short time.

Another group of additives, non-nutritive sweeteners, are sugar substitutes. They are used in foods intended for people who can't tolerate sugar.

Certain additives actually alter food quality.

For example, bleaching and maturing agents speed up the aging process of wheat--improving bread-making quality of flour. Freshly milled flour is yellowish in color and makes poor quality bread.

Although they don't improve eating quality, colors play very important roles.

People become accustomed to a food being a certain color--and refuse to eat it if it looks too pale.

Additives have other uses besides those mentioned, Mrs. Roe added. These include hardening, drying, firming, crisping, anti-sticking, whipping, creaming and sterilizing.
