VOL. 2.

KERRVILLE, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JUNE 25, 1914

NO. 36

Baptist Church Notes

Rev. J. F. Huckleberry pastor of the Baptist Church at Mount Calm, Texas, filled the pulpit for the Baptist congregation at this place last Sunday morning and evening, preaching to large congregations at each service.

In the afternoon at 3:00 o'clock the ordinance of Baptism was administered to eleven of the Mexican converts in the Guadalupe river witnessed by a large crowd. Rev. C. D. Daniel of Waco administered the ordinance to the candidates assisted by Rev. Felix Buldian of San Antonio and Rev. J. F. Huckleberry of Mount Calm. After the baptism the organization of a new church was entered into at the Ida Nation Mexican Mission at which was present a large number of the membership of the First Baptist Church of Kerrville. The presbytery for the organization was composed of Rev. C. D. Daniel, Rev. Felix Buldian, Rev. J. F. Huckleberry, J. T. S. Gammon, and T. A. Buckner. Rev. Daniel conducted the service. The church was organized with 17 baptized members, who called Rev. Buldian as its first pastor and elected Mr. Lee Rodriguez as church clerk. At night Rev. Daniel again preached and two more of the Mexican men professed faith and requested baptism. The name of the new church is The First Mexican Baptist Church of Kerrville.

Mrs. F. Duderstadt

Mrs. Henrietta Kennille Duderstadt, wife of F. Duderstadt, died Tuesday, June 23, at the family home on Johnson Creek, after a short but severe illness. Mrs. Duderstadt was a native of Gonzales County, having come here with her husband several years ago. She was a woman of noble Christian character, and with her husband had the honor of raising a family of noble men and women, several of the sons being residents of this county. The funeral took place at Glen Rest cemetery in Kerrville yesterday afternoon attended by a large concourse of sorrowing friends and loved ones.

Ernest Gibbens Makes Good

Ernest Gibbens has returned to his home here after graduating from the A. & M. College in Scientific Stock Farming, Agriculture, and Veterinary Surgery. Ernest is a young man of whom Kerr County can justly feel proud. He went through his five year course without receiving a single demerit in his department, and it is said of him that one secret of his splendid record in school is that he never touches whiskey, beer or tobacco. He won 8th highest honors in the National Stock Judging Contest at Chicago last year, and holds the State championship in this science in Texas. He will leave on July 1 for Alabama where he has a contract to conduct one of the state experiment stations at a good salary.

A. G. Morriss was in town Saturday from his Divide ranch.

Kerrville Post Office Advanced to Second Class

Postmaster W. G. Carpenter has received notice from the department that the postoffice at Kerrville has been advanced to an office of the second class. This means an advance in the salary of the postmaster and also gives an increased allowance for clerks. It also places this office under the civil service and requires that clerks of the office shall be appointed by competitive examinations as is the case with fourth class postmasters. The examinations to fill the three clerkships will take place during July, notice of which will be given the press in a few days.

It is regrettable that a requirement has been made by the department or postoffice officials that the places of the two young lady clerks shall be filled by men on the first of July. Miss Mosty and Miss Williams have given faithful and satisfactory service so far as we can learn, and their many friends will miss their smiling faces and prompt attention at the windows when they have to give up their positions. Mark Mosty, always on the job and one of the finest boys in Texas, it is hoped will take the examination and retain his position.

Art Class

I have secured a room in the Lowry building which I have turned into a studio to be used for a class in drawing and painting which I opened on Tuesday the 16th. Those who are interested may see me at Pearson's Confectionery, or at the studio on Tuesdays and Fridays.

I have studied under such men as Du Mond, Johansen and Blumenschein in New York and feel sure I can do something for the advancement of art in Kerrville.

Rev. C. E. Painter was ordained as a Minister of the Gospel at the Baptist Church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Presbytery was composed of the following ministers: Rev. C. D. Potts, Bandera; Rev. S. F. Marsh, Medina; Rev. J. M. Witt and Rev. J. D. Overton, Center Point. Rev. Witt was moderator of the meeting and Rev. Marsh clerk. Rev. Potts preached the ordination sermon and Rev. Witt delivered the charge to the church.

Threshing is under full headway but the grain crop is very short. Oats are averaging about 25 bushels and wheat about 10. The price being paid for oats today is 40 cents.

Corn and cotton are looking fine but the weevil is beginning to work on the cotton.

Frank Allen and Morris Hood are still holding the championship in the aquarian art.

Community Co-Operation

R. V. HOLLAND.

When we mention the advantages to be derived from community co-operation we usually think of the united efforts of citizens to promote the growth and welfare of a town or community in which they live, thus bringing about individual prosperity. But there is still another aspect which it behooves us to consider.

A town may be prosperous; it may have the co-operation of its citizens in all matters pertaining to its commercial life, and yet not be an ideal community in which to live. Why? Because of its unsanitary condition. 'Would it not be well, therefore, to go a step further and never be satisfied until every home and backyard, every place of business, every public building and street is made as clean and sanitary as individual and co-operative effort can make it.

What brought about the splendid results in our recent clean-up campaigns? Community co-operation. But we learned that we could not be rigid today and lax tomorrow any more than the housewife could neglect her housekeeping for a week or a day, and expect the same results as by systematic, daily effort. Eternal vigilance is the price that must be paid for an ideal community from a sanitary standpoint.

Remember, too, that every consumer has a right to have the fullest and frankest knowledge concerning the food commodities purchased—the meats, canned goods, milk, etcetera. This is a strong argument in favor of insisting on standardized, trademarked advertised brands.

Y. M. C. A. Camp News

The Y. M. C. A. camp at Chataqua which came to a close Tuesday, in many ways was the most successful ever held. The boys were brown, happy, and hungry and all were sorry when the time came to leave.

Friday and Saturday were the big days at "Camp Kerrville." Friday morning a track meet was staged, including twelve events. Practically all of the boys participated, and a number of the competitors showed creditable form. In the afternoon a baseball game with the Kerrville Athletics was played. Ralph O'Hair and Charles Sherrill formed the battery representing the "Y" team. The game resulted disastrously for the camp boys, the final score being 13 to 9 in favor of Kerrville. O'Hair pitched creditable ball in all but one inning, which proved the undoing of the visiting team for their adversaries piled up eleven runs, an advantage that it was found impossible to overcome.

Saturday the aquatic meet occupied the center of attention. Almost every form of swimming and diving contest imaginable was held. There was the endurance swim, 50-yard and 100-yard races, the dive for perfection in form, long distance dive, and other stunts of interest. Probably the biggest event was the long distance swim under water. There were a great many entered in this as well as in all the other events.

Camp was broken early Tuesday in order to permit the boys to take the first train back to the city.

Camp Verde Letter.

(Regular Correspondence)

Everything is stormy in Camp Verde this week. Threshing is the order of the day, and everyone is in good humor, even if wheat is making only six bushels to the acre.

We are very sorry to report the death of Mrs. L. Klein on June 17. All of her children were with her except one son, Robert, who was on his way home from Kerrville, and they were not able to get him over the telephone.

Mrs. Tom Davis had a severe spell with her heart Sunday night, but is better at the present writing.

Mrs. Julia Ridgway and daughter, Miss Amelia, are visiting friends and relatives on Verde this week.

Jack Lytle and mother were Camp Verde visitors Tuesday.

Among those who went to the children's services at Center Point Sunday were Miss Vera Dozier and sisters, Mr. Arthur Edwards and sister, Laura. They report a fine service.

Mr. Jack Lytle and mother, Mr. Ed. Blatherwick and family, and some friends from Lytle, Texas left for the Medina Dam the first of the week for a weeks fishing.

Rupert Bush of Medina was in Camp Verde Tuesday.

Chas. Landry visited his wife and boy in Comfort Sunday. He reports them both doing nicely, and the boy growing so fast that he will be able to take charge of the blacksmith shop when he brings him home, and he (Chas.) will sit down and take his ease.

"MEDIATION USELESS," SAYS CHIEF CARRANZA

IN REPLY TO MEDIATORS SAYS AFFAIRS OF MEXICO CAN NOT BE SETTLED OUTSIDE.

PEACE MAKERS HAVE NEW PLAN

They Propose to Have Constitutionalists in Separate Conferences—No Telling What Will Be Outcome. Other News of Mexico.

El Paso, Tex.—General Venustiano Carranza has forwarded his reply to the two notes of June 2 and 3 sent him by the mediation commissioners at Niagara Falls, it was learned Sunday.

According to information at El Paso his reply to the A B C mediators was sent to constitutionalist headquarters at Washington to be forwarded to Niagara Falls.

Carranza's note, it is understood, reiterated his willingness to participate in conferences whose sole object he recognized to be the pacification of Mexico and whose good offices he tentatively recognized. The futility of discussing Mexican internal affairs, however, is pointed out.

While thanking the mediators for their efforts, General Carranza made it plain, according to word reaching El Paso, that among the subjects he considered it impossible to discuss are the proposed armistice, military movements of the constitutionalists, the agrarian question and the designation of a provisional president of Mexico.

Carranza stated that he believed he only complies with his duty as first chief of the constitutionalist forces when he declares a grave error has been committed in attempting to solve such questions of transcendental importance to the Mexican people. It devolves on the constitutionalists themselves, he held, to decide what is best for the interests of their country. The settling of such questions as the result of mediation, arbitration or even intervention would not be acceptable to the constitutionalists, he asserts, and he therefore is convinced that the conference at Niagara Falls will be without the definite result expected by interested parties and foreign nations.

The feeling in Saltillo, where Carranza has established his capital, is that the chief's reply has ended the diplomatic incident connected with the interchange of notes between the mediation commission and Carranza. The lack of conformity on Carranza's part with the request of the mediators does not necessarily preclude a further exchange of notes, but it is not believed an attempt will be made to renew the correspondence. In extending his sincere thanks to the mediators for their efforts, Carranza places himself at their "attentive consideration."

The South American mediators Sunday at Niagara Falls proposed a new course of action which not only would prolong mediation proceedings, but eventually may work out a solution of the Mexican problem.

The nature of the plan designed to prevent the deadlock between the American and Mexican delegates from abruptly ending the conference has been more closely guarded than anything that has transpired at the conference.

It became known, however, that another effort was being made to bring the constitutionalists into close touch with the purposes of mediation without formally admitting them. The suggestion contemplates separate conferences between the American delegates and representatives of the constitutionalists. Justice Lamar and Frederick W. Lehman would continue their dealings with the Huerta delegates through the mediation board. In this way all factions in the Mexican situation would be drawn together and there would be no necessity for declaration of an armistice until some agreement was reached and approved by the constitutionalists. The plan was said to be a result of the visit of Minister Naon of Argentina to Washington, where President Wilson is understood to have emphasized the written statement of Justice Lamar that any agreement not approved by the constitutionalists would be a "paper agreement," and would not accomplish the sole purpose of the United States, which is pacification of Mexico.

West Virginia in Dry Column. Wheeling, W. Va.—The State of West Virginia will be dry territory on and after July 1 next if the amendment added to the constitution by more than 100,000 majority of the voters of the State at the general election in November, 1912, is properly enforced. Brewery proprietors valued at fully $6,000,000 must be abandoned as breweries on that date.

AIRCRAFTS COLLIDE; NINE KILLED

ATTACKING AEROPLANE RIPS OPEN DIRIGIBLE BALLOON.

Winged Machine Accidentally Plows Into Big Gas Bag Near Vienna While Making Mimic Attack.

Vienna.—Nine burned and mutilated bodies, the splintered fragments of an aeroplane, and the charred remnants of a big dirigible balloon are the mute records of one of the most tragic, certainly the most sensational, disasters which has occurred since man learned to fly. The catastrophe which resulted in the death of all concerned, nine officers and men, followed a mimic attack Saturday by the aeroplane on the dirigible at a great height during the Austrian maneuvers and served to show more than any previous accident to flying machine have done the horrors that would be likely to attend aerial warfare.

The dirigible military balloon Coertling early Saturday left Fischamend eleven miles from Vienna, manned by Captain Johann Hausworth in command, Lieutenant Ernst Hofstetter, Lieutenant Buer, Lieutenant Haidinger, Corporal Hadima, Corporal Weber and Engineer Kammerer.

At the elapse of half an hour a military biplane, with Lieutenant Platz and Lieutenant Hoosta aboard, started in pursuit.

It was the intention of Captain Hausworth to take photographs of the movements of the troops below and then to join in the maneuvers. At the same time he was to keep out of range of any of the mosquito craft which might seek to attack him.

Like a wasp, bent on attacking a clumsy enemy, the aeroplane circled several times around the balloon, now darting close to her and then away, always apparently steering off just in time to avoid an actual collision.

Meanwhile the balloon continued to rise until it was about 1,300 feet from the ground. The aeroplane, at a still greater height, maneuvered until it appeared to be nearly over the airship. Then it began its descent. It was the evident intention of the pilot of the aeroplane to take up a position directly above the dirigible, within striking distance, but owing either to a fatal miscalculation of distance or speed, the nose of the biplane struck the envelope of the airship and ripped it wide open.

A tremendous explosion followed, the balloon burst into flames, which enveloped the biplane, and in a moment the wreckage began to drop, crashing like lead to the slope of a hill. Almost at the same moment the wife of Lieutenant Hofstetter arrived in a motor car.

The envelope of the balloon still was burning when it struck the ground. Lieutenant Platz, when extricated from the wreckage of the aeroplane, showed faint signs of life but almost immediately expired. All the others were killed.

Military officers who witnessed the disaster said that the maneuvers had been undertaken with instructions to carry out as far as possible actual war conditions, in which an aeroplane was attacking a dirigible, the latter trying to repel the assault. The occupants of both craft had been ordered to conduct themselves as they would in actual combat. According to some experts the catastrophe seemingly was caused by the aeroplane being caught in the eddies from the balloon. They attribute the accident to a species of whirlwind caused by the airship's propeller which drew in the smaller machine.

COTTON SEED CRUSHERS END BIG MEETING

Next Meeting Place to Be Selected by Committee—Texas Industrial Congress Indorsed.

Galveston, Tex.—With the election of officers for the next year the twentieth annual convention of the Texas Cotton Seed Crushers' Association, which assembled Monday, adjourned Wednesday. The next meeting place will be selected by the executive committee, which is yet to be appointed. One city besides Galveston asked for the 1915 convention. That was Corpus Christi.

The officers for the next year are: President, P. S. Grogan of Houston. Vice president, B. W. Couch of Fort Worth. Secretary, Robert Gibson of Dallas. Treasurer, J. A. Underwood of Honey Grove. Chairman of the publicity bureau, Jo W. Allison of Houston.

All other officers and members of the various committees will be announced later by the new president. In addition to the election of officers the convention heard many interesting and important reports from the various committees. One of the most vital of these was the committee on rules. Part of the convention wanted to change the rules as regard the reading of refined oil from the 35 basis to something which could be used under all circumstances and conditions. After an hour's discussion the matter was allowed to remain as it is.

The organization went on record as heartily indorsing the work of the Texas Industrial Congress. The association had for years been closely connected with and assisting in the work laid out and fostered by the late Henry Exall of Dallas. To show its appreciation of the work approximately $2,000 was subscribed to the congress and the statement was made that more than that much more would be given by the cotton seed crushers before the year is passed. Many of the oil men donated as much as $200. Others came along with $100 donations and still others added contributions of $50 and $25.

The association listened to two very important addresses. One of these was on the subject of the "Value of the Association to the Whole Trade," by J. J. Culbertson, and the other was by C. M. Evans, superintendent of the extension work of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas. Mr. Evans addressed the convention on the "Value of Cotton Seed Meal and Ensilage as a Feed for Cattle." He dealt at length on the subject and showed that it is to the advantage of the organization to encourage the construction of silos.

200 MINERS SEALED UP IN MINE

A TERRIFIC EXPLOSION SHOOK COUNTRYSIDE IN ALBERTA.

Fire Broke Out Soon After Explosion, and as Fast as Men Were Rescued They Died.

Lethbridge, Alberta.—A mighty explosion Friday entombed 250 miners employed in mine No. 29 of the Hill Crest collieries. Of the many miners rescued only four were found alive.

The effects of the disaster were: Men in the mine when explosion occurred 250, of whom 350 escaped. The number rescued 50, of whom 45 died later.

Miners still entombed 200, killed by fire which followed the explosion. The explosion shook the countryside, lifted roofs from many cabins and demolished numerous small buildings. A moment after the explosion a score of panic-stricken surface workers rushed from the mine followed by a dense cloud of smoke and poisonous fumes. Appeals for help were dispatched to many towns and residents organized an emergency crew and began the work of rescue.

When the first rescue crew arrived a large force of men set about to clear the shaft, working desperately as the means of the entombed men came feebly from the mine. The moans became fainter and finally ceased. Thousands of tons of rock have fallen into the mine and it is feared the men, even had they escaped death from the poisonous fumes, probably were crushed to death by falling debris.

No information as to what caused the explosion has been given, but it is believed it was due to gases.

Thomas Quigley, superintendent of the mine, is entombed. Friday two trains filled with expert mine workers, doctors, nurses and officials of the railways arrived and the work of rescue was begun in a systematic way. The experts found jumbled in a chaotic mass horses, timbers, wagons and mining paraphernalia, indicating the force of the explosion.

Fire broke out soon after the explosion, but died out, although gas fumes made it impossible for the men to work effectively for several hours. The explosion tore out both ends of the pit and blocked up the interior of the workings, making it almost impossible to gain entrance. Most of the miners were working about 400 feet inside the mine.

Most of the men are foreign born, but a large number of them are English speaking. The rescue work progressed rapidly and several miners were recovered alive near the entrance and a little further on a few bodies were found.

The mine in which the disaster occurred is but one mile from Frank, Alberta, where a disaster occurred ten years ago. The mines have been operated at intervals for twelve years. Because of the danger in working them it had been difficult to get men. This is the third great disaster in mines of this section. Four years ago thirty-five men were killed in the Bellevue mine and ten years ago Frank was wiped out by the neighboring mountain toppling over and burying 125 inhabitants.

Thomas Corke, an official of the miners' union, was one of those who lost their lives.

Several mine experts said it might take a week to reach the bodies of some of those entombed.

Empress Steering Gear Bad. Quebec.—Assertions by James Francis Galway, a quartermaster, that the Empress of Ireland did not steer well, that her wheel "jammed" only a few hours before the collision with the Storstad which sent her to the bottom of the St. Lawrence and a denial of these claims by officers of the lost Canadian Pacific liner, were the cardinal points in the mass of testimony heard Thursday by the Dominion commission investigating the wreck.

Warren McCarrick Was Drowned. Philadelphia.—The body of Warren McCarrick, 7 years old, who disappeared from his home March 12, was found floating in the Delaware river off Philadelphia, Tuesday. More than $5,000 was offered for his recovery and conviction of his supposed kidnappers.

Child Acts Surgeon's Role.

Sarah Shaffer, thirteen years old, of Los Angeles, Cal., developed into a little heroine when her five-year-old sister fell on the sidewalk while at play and shattered her elbow. Dr. Edward G. Wiley, chief police surgeon, explained patiently over the telephone how the splint should be put on, and Sarah made such a good job of it as to win the admiration of all who saw the tiny patient when she arrived at the receiving hospital with her little amateur nurse. The children's father is at the county hospital and their mother went to visit him. Maybelle fell and broke her arm. Sarah called up the receiving hospital, but owing to the distance was advised to call one of the district doctors. She could raise none, and again called the receiving hospital. Doctor Wiley told Sarah what to do to relieve the baby's pain, while the ambulance raced out to the Shaffer home, and Sarah obeyed instructions to the letter.

Minding the Doctor.

"It isn't strange that Bob Hillard should have won the heart and hand of a girl with three millions, for Bob, despite his years, is the handsomest and most elegant creature going."

The speaker, a dramatic critic of Chicago, smiled and continued: "The last time I met Bob here I met him one morning promenade. And he was superb—top hat, stick, black morning coat, spats fitting without a wrinkle, and one of those cigarette tubes that had just come out, a tube of gold and amber, a foot long, or possibly 18 inches.

"As we chatted, and as he smoked his Egyptian cigarette through this extraordinary tube, I said to him: "Why on earth, Bob, do you use such a long cigarette tube as that?" "My doctor has ordered me," he replied, "to keep away from tobacco."

THE KERRVILLE ADVANCE

Published Every Thursday at Kerrville, Texas, by T. A. Buckner.

SUBSCRIPTION $1.00 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

Entered in the U. S. Mails as second class matter at Kerrville, Texas, on Oct. 17, 1912, according to act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The Congressional Race

The people are not getting excited over the congressional race, but the partisans of Mr. Slayden and Judge Slaton are warming up. Mr. Slayden evidently made a mistake in retiring from the military committee in Congress, and he is not being helped by the letters of his private secretary and activity of some of his partisans. On the other hand, abuse of Mr. Slayden by Judge Slaton's partisans don't promote the latter's candidacy. Mr. Slayden certainly is a gentleman and has long been our representative in the general approval of the people, and as Henry Clay said, "if a tested rifle should miss fire, that is no excuse for throwing it away" though of course if it should continue to miss, a new one would be in order.

Both candidates are anti, and how they stand on the Governor's race is not publicly known. Judge Slaton is a Son of Herman and this organization, composed of Republicans as well as Democrats, at its late State meeting in San Antonio, pronounced against supporting any candidate who favored prohibition or submitting a prohibition amendment, and it is supposed Judge Slaton will support Ferguson for Governor, as he is pledged to veto all liquor legislation. Mr. Slayden no doubt personally is friendly towards Col. Ball with whom he served in Congress many years, but whom he will support we do not know. But we trust the campaign will not be one of abuse and recrimination, and will be lifted into a higher plane.

No voter in Texas need be misled into the belief that if Ferguson is elected the question of prohibition will be settled, for it will only be stimulated. The people of this great State who stand for good government and the protection of our homes will never rest nor give up the fight till the last saloon closes its doors forever within our borders. One year of Ferguson in office as governor will create public sentiment against this traffic and the politicians who uphold it that will amount to a vengeance. The prohibition question will never be settled till it is settled right. Tom Ball for governor and the submission of a constitutional amendment for the prohibition of the liquor traffic is the solution. The saloons will then be closed forever and then the question will be settled, but not until then.

James E. Ferguson who is running for governor as the tenant farmer's friend is a large land owner, a banker, and saloon politician, who, while his farms netted him over $21,000 last year, operated them with Mexican hired labor while the tenant farmers of Bell County were working other people's farms for a third and fourth rent. Jim is a great fellow to lay down the rule for the other fellow to be guided by, but he does not follow it himself. The farmers are fast getting their eyes opened to the fact that Ferguson's land tenant platform is a joke from start to finish, and only devised to catch the vote of the farmers who he is so silly as to believe haven't sense enough to catch on to his scheme.

Felix D. Robinson, a prominent lawyer of Dallas, son of Gen. Felix Robinson, commander of the Texas Confederate Veterans, says the so-called Ferguson rally at Dallas should be called the Ferguson frost, and that booze was the only thing that kept the boys warm.

KERRVILLE, TEXAS

Gov. Colquitt vetoed a bill making it a crime for liquor dealers to contribute to political campaigns, and another not to permit a man to vote who could not make out his own ticket. Mr. Ball favors both these laws, but Mr. Ferguson stands with Governor Colquitt, and even goes further as he pledges himself to veto all liquor legislation. No one in favor of eliminating the liquor interests from corrupting our politics, or who opposes illiterate suffrage, can consistently support Ferguson.

Jim Ferguson knew he couldn't be elected governor if he ran on a straight out liquor platform, so he figured that he could fool the farmers into believing he was their friend and by getting a good percent of their votes and the solid saloon vote could land the governorship. But the farmers have caught onto his scheme and are nearly all flocking to Colonel Ball who is known to be a man of high character and standing and eminently qualified to fill the position the people have called him to fill.

It appears from press reports that Colonel Ball is gaining ground every day in his campaign for governor and Mr. Ferguson is losing out by his own reckless assertions which depict him as little less than a ruffian and blackguard. A landslide for Ball seems now inevitable.

Good roads are almost equal to schools and churches as the agents of civilization and good government. No community can maintain its proper place in the present day program without good roads.

KERRVILLE

Is the county seat of Kerr County, has a population of about 2500, is situated 70 miles northwesterly from San Antonio, and is the terminus of the Kerrville branch of the S. A. & A. P. railroad. It has two daily trains to and from San Antonio, and daily mail routes, carrying passengers in hacks, to Ingram, Junction, Rock Springs Harper and other places north and west of Kerrville, and also a daily line to Fredericksburg. From Kerrville to Fredericksburg is 25 miles; to Bandera and Medina City, 25 miles; to Junction 60 miles; Rock Springs 80 miles, Harper 21 miles.

Kerrville has electric lights and a splendid system of water works. The amount of $20,000 is being spent on the streets and $10,000 has been voted for road improvements in this precinct.

The elevation at Kerrville is 1750 feet. The Guadalupe river, which heads 30 miles north of Kerrville, runs through the city. On the east side where the city is located, there are high cliffs on the river, and on the west side is a fertile and beautiful valley, and mountains surround the city on the east and west. The Guadalupe valley is occupied by thrifty farmers and ranchmen, and the mountain regions, among which there is considerable valley, creek and arable land, there are large ranches of cattle, horses, sheep and goats, all of which do well in the Kerrville country. The land generally is well wooded, principally with live oak, Spanish oak and cedar, and the range is good, and water excellent.

Our farmers grow wheat, oats and all other small grain, cane and alfalfa, cotton and corn, and fruit and vegetables do well. Kerrville is one of the largest wool markets in the state, and large quantities of wool, mohair, cotton, oats, cattle, etc., are shipped from this point.

The climate of the Kerrville country is unsurpassed. The winters are short and generally mild and invigorating owing to the dryness of the climate and the prevalence of sunshine. The summers are cool and delightful, and the mountain air is pure and bracing. Game abounds in the Kerrville country, and fishing in the Guadalupe, especially north of Kerrville, is good. Kerrville and the adjoining towns are popular resorts for health and recreation.

The Kerrville Commercial Club, any of the different Realty Companies or any of our citizens, will be pleased to give prospective residents or visitors further information.
