

THE KERRVILLE ADVANCE

VOL. 3.

KERRVILLE, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JULY 8, 1915

NO. 3743

Wool Sale Involves Approximately $150,000.

Approximately $150,000 worth of twelve-months wool was disposed of by Captain Charles Schreiner of Kerrville at his semi-annual wool sale held at noon Wednesday at the St. Anthony Hotel. He offered more than one million pounds of eight-month's wool, but refused all bids on that cut.

The twelve-month's cut was sold to Henry Burns of San Antonio, representing Hallowell, Jones & Donald of Boston, and represents the largest wool transaction of the year in Texas.

The offerings of Captain Schreiner at his semi-annual sale Wednesday embraced the largest wool accumulation in Texas and a number of buyers, representing concerns all over the country, submitted sealed bids for the respective cuts. The prices bid nor the figure at which the sale of 700,000 pounds was made will not be made public until the next semi-annual sale is held by Captain Schreiner. It is estimated however, that the price per pound ranged between 22 and 25 cents.

None of the bids on the million pounds of eight months' wool came up to the minimum figure Captain Schreiner had established in his own mind and for that reason he refused all of the sealed bids submitted on that portion of his offerings.—Light.

Mrs. J. W. Henderson.

The body of Mrs. J. W. Henderson was interred at Glen Rest Cemetery Monday afternoon. Mrs. Henderson died at Fredericksburg Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Henderson formerly lived at Kerrville while Mr. Henderson was in charge of the Western Union Telegraph Office at this place. They had many friends here who will sympathize with Mr. Henderson in his bereavement.

Look out for the red stamp!

Celebration at Center Point.

The writer and family went to Center Point to the picnic Saturday and are glad to say the Glorious Fourth or Independence Day was fittingly celebrated. A large crowd gathered at ten o'clock to see a baseball game played entirely by girls. This was amusing and considerable skill was displayed in the game. After this the Center Point Concert Band rendered some splendid music. Then the ladies spread one of those old time basket picnic dinners and everybody were invited to partake.

After dinner Judge H. C. Geddie of Kerrville delivered the address of the day which was along patriotic lines and was indeed a splendid discourse. This was followed by more music by the band interspersed with various contests, such as fatmens' race, fatwomens' race, slimman's race, boys race, girls race etc. Later a baseball game between the "pros" and "antis" held the crowd till late in the afternoon.

Center Point has a band that is a credit to the town and to Kerr County. There are twenty pieces and every instrument is as fine as money can buy. Prof. Knox has done fine work in organizing and training this band. They render splendid music and are an enthusiastic and splendid bunch of young men. They deserve the encouragement of the entire county. We hope to see them play in Kerrville at an early date. They will come and give us a concert if invited. The picnic was given under the auspices of the band and was a splendid success. They have our thanks for a good and enjoyable day.

Tour in Ford Car.

Ingram, Tex.—Advices have been received here that T. J. Moore, a merchant of this place, has just arrived in San Diego, Cal., after traveling overland from here in a five-passenger Ford car, containing himself, Mrs. Moore, their six children and a complete camping outfit with provisions.

The Moore party left here May 7, going by way of New Mexico and Arizona and stopping at various places of interest. Bedding and other camp material were packed in places formerly filled with seat cushions and other luggage was packed along the "inning boards." They expect to leave California in a few weeks, returning by way of Colorado and Oklahoma. The tour is being made for Mrs. Moore's health.

BEEKEEPERS NOTES

By E. G. LeStourgeon

Any question pertaining to Beekeeping or Honey-making will be gladly replied, either directly or through these columns. Address letters to P. O. Box 1048, San Antonio, Texas.

A LIVING FROM BEEKEEPING

"I am a business woman, but expect to have to get out of business life very soon. As I am dependent entirely upon my own efforts, I must get into something that will bring me in fairly good income, and I would live very much to know what is your opinion of beekeeping for women, from points of the nature of the work and the income therefrom? What is a fair season's profit per hive, and how many hives would you advise one to start with? I must do the work myself, and have no idea of how many hives one person can give proper care to."

There are many women beekeepers that are making a big success. Almost everything depends upon the woman, just as in any other line of business. Not every man will make a success of beekeeping, neither will every woman. Don't for a minute imagine that success in any line of business is achieved without a knowledge of the business, and beekeeping is no exception to the rule.

You cannot jump into a full-fledged beekeeper at one bound, but if you are willing to go slow, study hard and be willing to work hard (for there is lots of hard work connected with beekeeping), there is no reason why you may not make a success of it.

But if you are thinking of giving up all other means of earning a livelihood and depending entirely upon beekeeping from the start for a fairly good income, don't do it; you will be disappointed. Even experienced beekeepers have years of failure, owing to conditions over which they have no control, when their bees are an expense instead of a profit. At such times one must have a reserve fund to draw on. To overbalance this, there are years when the profits are great.

There are other things beside money to be considered in beekeeping. Health is wealth, and the chance to work in the open air instead of being cooped up is a matter of no small consideration. In many ways beekeeping is especially adapted to women.

What is a fair season's profit per colony is a pretty hard question to answer, so much depends upon conditions. A colony may yield a crop amounting to $25 or more, while another crop standing beside it may yield nothing. One beekeeper may average in a series of years $10 per colony, while with others it may taper down to those who are failures.

As a rule, it is safer to start with only two or three colonies and increase in numbers as you increase in experience, when you will be able to manage a hundred or more.

MISS EMMA WILSON.

OLD-FASHIONED BEEKEEPING

There are many beekeepers who keep bees in box hives and in "gums," and continue the old-fashioned way of honey production. There is not much culture to be given bees in such hives, but they can and should receive much more than they usually do. They should be examined a few times a year to see that they have plenty of stores and the proper room to store honey in. A limited amount of honey can be expected from such bees. Care should be exercised in robbing them not to deprive the brood-chamber of sufficient stores for the needs of the colony.

Of course, the best thing to do would be to transfer these bees into movable frame hives next spring or at the commencing of any extended honey flow. Like everything else, beekeeping pays better when proper tools are used.

THE VOICE OF THE QUEEN.

Before the virgin has time to emerge from her cell, go to the hive each evening after the bees have stopped flying, when it is still, and put your ear to the hive. You will hear all sorts of hummings and buzzings and squeakings, but pay no attention to them unless you hear something especially distinct, loud, and entirely separate from the other noises. Continue listening each evening until you hear that noise, and when you do you will have no sort of question that you are hearing a new sound, the sound of a queen piping. It will be a sharp, clear, long drawn out tone, p-e-e-p, followed by several other tones, each one shorter than the one preceding. In response to it you will hear one or more virgins in their cells replying in a more hurried manner, "quahk, quahk, quahk." Then for a few minutes you will hear nothing but the usual murmurs in the hive, to be followed again by the shrill and deliberate tone of the queen which is at liberty.

DR. C. C. MILLER.

Mr. E. G. LeStourgeon—Why do some bees hatch crippled brood, both drones and workers? They seem to have no wings, or if any, only very short ones.

J. W. R. Rustwell, Texas.

At first sight I would answer this question by asking another one. Are you careful with your smoker? In smoking the bees be very careful that no hot smoke or flame be blown upon the bees or combs and this is especially true of the brood chamber. The delicate filmy wings of the larvae just before its entrance into the pupa state are often singed and injured by a hot blast from the smoker and practically wingless bees are sometimes hatched from this cause. Plenty of cool white

LUSITANIA REPLY HAS NOT BEEN DRAFTED

Berlin Official Intimates, However, That Reply Will Be Friendly in Tone.

Berlin.—Official circles in Berlin are authority for the statement that no intimation respecting the actual contents of the forthcoming German note in reply to the American note bearing on the sinking of the Lusitania has reached Washington for the reason that those engaged in drafting the document have themselves not determined its tenor as yet.

The admiralty professes ignorance of its probable contents and nothing has been issued from that quarter. The foreign office is understood to be working on four different drafts and trying to select one that will reconcile the viewpoint of Germany and the United States.

The possibility that a satisfactory solution to the Lusitania problem might be reached was hinted at by an official of the foreign office, who recently declared:

"President Wilson's note showed that the matter could be adjusted. It was in the nature of a bridge across the trouble; our reply probably will be another girder strengthening that bridge."

The German note will probably be ready for transmission at the end of this week or early next week.

smoke is what is needed to subdue the bees. When the smoke begins to be bluish in color it is a warning to the operator that it is getting too hot—especially for work in the brood nest.

It is barely possible in rare cases that an old queen might deteriorate to such a point where a portion of her offspring would be imperfect. But there are other surer signs of waning value on the part of the queen—such as patchy laid brood, scattered eggs and abundance of drones out of the regular swarming season—to determine if this be really the cause of the trouble.

GERMANY EXPROPRIATES GRAIN CROP

Berlin.—The German government has decided to adopt the same measures for the conservation of this year's crop of grain as were employed last year, expropriating all grain and fixing maximum prices for its sale. The expropriation will be in the hands of the communes, however, and the maximum prices will not be fixed until it is seen exactly how the harvest turns out. The same measures will apply to fodder.

YAQUI STRIP ENTIRE POPULATION OF TOWN

Guaymas, Mexico.—Advices received here by messengers from the interior state that 200 Yaqui Indians raided the mining town of Saucze, fourteen miles inland from Guaymas, assembled the 300 inhabitants and stripped everyone naked, then, while a detail guarded the gathering, others looted the town, packing everything transportable on a pack train. When the raiders departed they took with them four young girls. No casualties are reported.

The Indians approached the town mounted with bugles flourishing and drums ruffling. The inhabitants assumed they were a body of troops, approaching to protect them and offered no resistance.

BRITISH NAVY CROWDED.

London.—That the recruiting for the British navy thus far has been in excess of the actual needs came out in Parliament when the House of Commons voted a resolution adding 50,000 men to the navy.

Thomas J. McNamara, financial secretary of the admiralty, explained that the government already needed at present but that in asking this vote the admiralty were looking well ahead. He said that so keen had been the desire to join the navy that more men had been enrolled than were required by the current estimates.

When a girl tells a young man that the best is none too good for her it is up to him to offer himself.

"ARMENIAN" IS SUNK BY GERMAN SUBMARINE

Eight White Americans Are on List of Missing After Destruction of Ship.

Washington.—The Dominion freight liner Armenian, flying the British flag and carrying mules from Newport News, Va., to England, was torpedoed and sunk by the German submarine U-28 on Cornwall, England, and nearly a score of American muleteers aboard are reported lost, according to messages received by the State Department from Consul John S. Armstrong Jr., at Bristol. Twenty-nine men were lost and ten injured.

The news created a sensation in official quarters, as it was the first case of loss of American lives since the sinking of the Lusitania. The gravity of the incident, however, and the action of the Washington government, depends almost entirely on whether the Armenian was chartered by the British government and was in fact a transport of war, aboard which Americans would sail at their own risk, or whether she was an unarmed merchantman. In the latter case, even though carrying contraband, the ship should have been subjected to visit and search and those aboard transferred to a place of safety before the destruction of the vessel.

In the absence of official information on these points, officials declined to say what effect the sinking of the Armenian would have on pending negotiations between the United States and Germany.

Immediate inquiry was directed to Ambassador Page at London to procure more details and when Secretary Lansing returns Ambassador Gerard will be instructed to inquire of the German admiralty as to its report.

From the message received it appears that in addition to the torpedo at least one shot was fired from a disappearing rifle. The consul's report said the wireless was "taken by the second shot." It was not made clear whether the Armenian was first ordered to halt and resisted capture, requiring a second shot, or whether the submarine attacked without warning. The fact that the number of the submarine was given indicated that she had come to the surface to make the attack.

Mules are contraband of war, according to all the lists of the belligerents, so there can be no doubt as to the contraband character of the Armenian's cargo. Officials will make an effort to learn if the vessel was armed and whether she was a part of the British naval forces before the opening of the war.

All the dispatches received were telegraphed to President Wilson at Cornish, N. H., and Secretary Lansing at Amherst, Mass., and it was considered probable they would communicate with each other while in New England.

The messages from Consul Armstrong did not show clearly how many Americans were lost. In his list he named twenty Americans missing—eight whites and twelve negroes, unaccounted for, but later telegrams spoke of Dr. J. S. Vise, a Porto Rican picked up and transferred to two British destroyers, which brought them into Bristol.

The list of missing as finally made up from Consul Armstrong's reports included the following white men:

J. M. Monroe, New Orleans; B. M. Granberry, Montgomery, Ala.; S. R. Hutton, Cartersville, Va.; E. Williamson, New York City; Harry Stone, New York City; — Brown, cattle carpenter, Harrisburg, Pa.; Dr. J. S. Vise, Porto Rico; R. H. Brooks, or West, chief foreman of muleteers, London, naturalized American.

ORDERS MAY HAVE BEEN DEFIED

Washington, D. C.—Unofficial advice reported the Armenian had been chartered by the Leyland line to the Dominion line, which is understood to have a contract for the shipment of mules for the British government. Officials here will inquire whether the vessel carried any British officers and what measure of control the British government had over the ship. It is taken for granted that the Armenian was unarmed. Officials were inclined to believe the case would hinge largely upon whether the Armenian was given warning and whether she attempted to escape after being ordered to stop.

EUROPEAN WAR NEWS

June 28.

Without pause, the Austro-Germans are continuing their efforts to sweep the Russians out of Galicia. The French still are hammering at the Germans in the Arras region and on the heights of the Meuse. The Germans have launched another attack against Warsaw, moving from the north through Przasnysz, which is not far from the East Prussian frontier, down toward the Polish capital over that section embraced by the Omulew and Arze rivers.

Dr. von Bethmann Hollweg, the Imperial German Chancellor, and Gottlieb von Jagow, the German Foreign Minister, have been in conference at Vienna with the Austrian Foreign Minister and the Chancellor has conferred also with Emperor Francis Joseph.

According to unofficial reports, the Turkish ambassador at Rome has asked for his passport from the Italian foreign office, although no declaration of war has passed between Italy and Turkey.

Galicia remains the scene of the most important military operations. The stubborn resistance which for several days has been offered by the Russian forces southeast of Lemberg after their retreat from the Galician capital has been overcome after a protracted and violent engagement. The Teutonic forces have penetrated the Russian main position in this sector, according to Vienna, and thrown the Russians back.

In the section on the heights of the Meuse, known as the Calonne trench, a violent engagement has been characterized by the use of flaming liquid and asphyxiating gases by the German, behind which they succeeded in reaching their former first line, which had been carried some time previously by the French. Here hand-to-hand encounters ensued, and, according to the French war office, the Germans were repulsed with heavy losses. This territory in almost its entirety is now held by the French.

June 29.

Berlin reports the fall of the Galician town of Halicz, and says that the Austro-Germans have crossed the Dneister river, which means that the five days' desperate rear guard action by the Russians has ended in their retreat. However, the stubborn resistance of this flank of the forces of Grand Duke Nicholas, commander-in-chief of the Russian army, has undoubtedly enabled him to reform his lines along the River Bug, virtually without interference.

The River San now takes the place of the Dneister as the scene of a sanguinary battle in the Russian efforts to prevent the investment of Warsaw.

Petrograd admits the retirement of the Russians to the River Gnila Lipa, eighty miles from the frontier, and which joins the Dneister at Halicz, but military experts do not expect heavy fighting along that river. They believe the next serious battle probably will occur along the Zlota Lipa, which runs parallel to the Gnila Lipa, further eastward, where the Russians would benefit by the railroad with which the Tarnopol line connects. These operations and plans, according to military men, confirm the theory that the Dneister forces were merely covering for the northern army.

Through passes 5000 feet in altitude the Italians have entered Austrian territory south of Riva, on the western side of Lake Garda. They are now within six miles of Riva, which is the only important town on this lake.

On the western front the important actions, according to the brief French report, consisted in the repulses of German attacks on the Calonne trench and near Metzeral. On the other hand, Berlin claims the French attacks were repulsed.

June 30.

The Russians now are making their stand on the Bug river. This great stream, which offers many advantages for a strong defense, rises near Zlocow in Galicia, runs almost north, forms a great part of the eastern frontier of Russian Poland and joins the Vistula eighteen miles northwest of Warsaw. It is along the Galician course that the army of Grand Duke Nicholas is believed to have taken up strong positions, the loss of which would mean the further retirement of the Russian forces.

Already the Austro-Germans are making their headlong rush have pushed the Russians back to the Bug river near Kamionka, northeast of Lemberg, and further north have penetrated Russian Poland, capturing the important town of Tomaszow; they have also, according to the official report from Vienna, driven the Russians holding ground near Sielec northward as far as Krystianpol, a distance of about eight miles, and have taken Burstyn, north of Halicz. In fact, the masses of Austrian and German troops are advancing along their entire front in the southeast, forcing the Russians before them in a broad sweeping movement and in the northeast pushing forward, with Warsaw, the Polish capital, as their objective.

Should the Austro-Germans succeed in crossing the Bug river in strength the complete evacuation of Eastern Galicia by the Russians would seem probable.

An interesting incident of the war is the occupation of Scutari, Albania, by the Montenegrins. Two years ago, in the Balkan war, the Montenegrin troops captured Scutari after a long siege and held it for a time against the protests of the great powers, Austria and Italy being mostly concerned, but its evacuation was ordered by King Nicholas when the Montenegrin coast was blockaded by an international squadron. Serbia had already sent troops into Albania when Montenegro decided to make a second descent on

SONS OF GERMANS DISLIKE BRYAN'S TALK

Meeting at Which Commoner Was Scheduled to Talk Suddenly Called Off.

Chicago.—William Jennings Bryan did not deliver his address on peace before the Sons of Teutons. G. F. Hummel, chairman of the committee on arrangements called off the meeting after telegraphing Mr. Bryan at New York, suggesting that the topic be exportation of ammunition to Europe. Mr. Bryan said he would discuss the change when he arrived in Chicago. In the meantime it was learned the hall desired for the meeting could not be obtained and the affair was abandoned. Mr. Bryan may address the organization when he returns to Chicago late in the summer.

Mr. Bryan left tonight for Lincoln, Neb. In speaking of his plans, Mr. Bryan said: "I shall spend such time lecturing as may be necessary. It will not be more than three months a year. I expect to devote some time each year speaking to students at colleges on subjects connected with citizenship. I shall continue my newspaper editorials."

Hummel, in speaking of the calling off of the mass meeting, said:

"We wanted him to talk on the exportation of ammunition, and he offered to repeat his lecture on peace. That talk would do us no good. Stop the exportation of ammunition and there would be peace in a month."

Scutari, which has long been an object of her desire. The western zone is strangely quiet.

July 1.

A brief Austrian communication received indicates the Teutons are being held up along the Gnila Lipa, but a subsequent and fuller official statement made no such admissions, although conceding hard fighting was in progress.

On the eastern front, north and northwest of Lemberg, it is claimed the Russians are falling back precipitately, the Austro-Germans having occupied another Polish town, Zawichost, just over the frontier. The position of the Russian forces covers a great semi-circle around Lemberg, the two tips of which, north and south of the capital, the Austro-Germans are attempting to roll back. In the meantime, they are hurling great forces at the center, near Tomaszow. The success of this movement would so sever the Russian armies a to leave Warsaw unprotected from the rear, and the desire to checkmate this apparently explains the continued Russian retirement to the north.

Russia is in the midst of a campaign to speed up the munitions output in a manner similar to England's. The seven days allotted by David Lloyd-George, the British minister of munitions, to labor to come forward voluntarily expired tonight, and although figures are not available, it is predicted that the response has been such that all idea of compulsion has been abandoned.

July 2.

The captures by the Austro-Hungarian armies in their operations for the month of June numbered 194,521 officers and men and vast supplies of munitions, according to the latest official communications from Berlin and Vienna. A continuance of the advance of the Austro-Germans along the great extent of the fronts in Galicia and Poland is also reported, with the Russians continuing their backward movement at nearly all points, regarding which the Russian war office has given no explanation.

The old British torpedo boat destroyed Lightning, the British admiralty announces, has been sunk by a mine or torpedoes, fifteen members of her crew being lost.

In the western zone the district north of Arras and west of the Argonne have been the scene of heavy bombardments and in the latter region the Germans by the use of heavy shells and shells containing asphyxiating gases, according to the French, forced the first French line, but were checked by the second line and driven back by counter attacks.

GERMAN RUSH INTO GALICIA IS UNCHECKED

Sudden Recurrence of Heavy Artillery Fire at Many Points in France Feature on Western Front.

London.—The sudden recurrence of heavy artillery fire by the Germans at many points in France is a market feature of the fighting on the western front, but in the meantime the Austro-German advance in Galicia and in Poland is unchecked and the Teutons have shown no disposition to diminish the intensity of their eastern offensive.

The Polish fortress of Zamosc has been captured and progress in other sectors of strategic importance in the east is claimed by Berlin. For weeks it has been the story in this theater of war—an Austro-German rush, a Russian retreat—and the end is not in sight.

There has been during the week no official news whatever from the British front in Flanders, but General Sir Ian Hamilton, commanding the allied land forces at the Dardanelles, in his second official dispatch of the week, records the repulse of a vicious counter attack by the Turks, who were bent on recovering the lost ground south of the fortified hill of Achi Baba on the strong position at Krithia, which the British have for some time been attempting to envelop.

The British forged forward Monday and the following day the Turks, after sapping and mining, launched a counter stroke with the bayonet. This was crushed, while the French forces operating on the right in Kereves Sere Valley, toward the east coast of Gallipoli, advanced and consolidated the ground won the latter part of June. The distances are not stated.

Despite the hard fighting ever since the landing, April 25, the Franco-British expedition only lately has achieved anything notable toward the strengthening of its hold on the tip of the Gallipoli Peninsula, Archi Baba being a small Gibraltar, bristling with machine guns, surrounded by barbed wire and terraced with trenches.

This is the reason why an allied progress was hailed with great satisfaction in England. It is interesting to note the tributes to the Turks' bravery and even gallantry paid in almost every dispatch from the British correspondents at the Dardanelles. At no time during peninsula fighting have the Turks been accused of atrocities.

The munitions measure, giving David Lloyd-George, Minister of Munitions, wide power to whip up the ammunition supply, passed the House today and will be a statute when the King affixes his signature.

There are manifold indications throughout the United Kingdom that the people only now, after nearly a year, fully sense the seriousness of the war. Only a few months ago the boast was "business is as usual." Theater patronage was undiminished and the restaurant trade normal. The cabinet ministers are now demanding the necessity of the most rigid economy by individuals, and school children are being besought to invest in the war loan. The newspapers daily are carrying full-page advertisements of the war loan.

The Teutonic success in Galicia, the slowness of the Dardanelles operations and the failure of the allies to inaugurate the much-discussed offensive in the west are responsible for this change in public demeanor.

The closing of the German-Swiss frontier is taken as an indication that the Germans are sending large reinforcements to the French front.

The Italians in their Austrian campaign are now coming up to the more strongly fortified positions held by the Austrians. Their operations have been hampered by the heavy snows and swiftly-flowing mountain streams in Tyrol, while along the Isonzo front their numerous attacks, though in some instances, have been in large measure held in check by the Austrian guns.

All things come to those who get tired waiting and go after them.

ARMENIANS EXILED.

Tiplitz, Trans-Caucasia, (via Petrograd, July 2, 11:30 a. m. and London 3:30 p. m.)—A message from Melazgard, Asiatic Turkey, says seventy prominent Armenian residents of Diarbekr, engaged in efforts to better the condition of their unfortunate countrymen have been exiled by the Turkish authorities to Erzingan, 150 miles to the north. Typhus again has broken out among Armenians in the Erivan district and is spreading. Enormous crowds of Armenian refugees are making their way on foot to Urumiah, Tariz, and other points in Azerbaijan province in Persia.

The Visitors Are Coming.

The banks of our beautiful Guadalupe are becoming lined with camp tents and our hotels and boarding houses are filling with people who come from all parts of the State to spend a few weeks or months in this delightful climate and to enjoy the fishing, bathing and outdoor life in these beautiful hills. Many are heard to say that the scenery and general conditions here are more desirable for an outing than any place in the Southwest.

To prove that Kerrville is known and appreciated abroad as a delightful summer resort, we copy from the Galveston News a re-print of an editorial clipped from the Advance last year and the comment of the News on the same:

The river banks are becoming dotted with camp tents. Many people from San Antonio and elsewhere always come here to take their summer outing, where there are all the requirements to make life pleasant and the body comfortable. The Guadalupe probably never was more beautiful than now. The water is clear and the shades are delightful. Many fine cold springs are bubbling on the banks, and the wild flowers and birds give the nature touch that is a pleasure to all, not to say anything of the balmy breezes that always fan the brow and give rest and comfort to the pleasure seeker. Come to Kerrville. —Kerrville Advance.

A lovely stream is the Guadalupe, and happy are they who are privileged to summer on its verdant shores. The singing flood, the leafy trees which shade its course, the chirping insects enthroned on grassy blades, the clouds overhead which sail the blue expanse of the celestial main, the matin songs of the early birds, and the vesper chants of the choir invisible—these all may be had by those who pitch their tents in the arboreal glades of the Guadalupe. And, thus embowered, how quickly fade the limping ghosts of former fears, how promptly go the vague alarms that erstwhile stirred the consciousness of the tired man who seeks surcease within those woodland temples hard by the Guadalupe! —Galveston News.

Prevent Malaria

Malaria and typhoid are great foes of rural efficiency and happiness in summer. The vaccination treatment will save you from typhoid and freedom from mosquitoes will save you from malaria. Or if you live where mosquitoes and malaria prevail despite your own efforts against them, notice the North Carolina Board of Health statement:

"No one need have malaria or 'chills and fever' no matter where he lives, nor how many other people around him fall sick from this disease. All that is necessary is to take a five-grain capsule of quinine every day during the mosquito season. This will not cause even the slightest discomfort or ringing in the ears."—Progressive Farmer.

Pool Hall Law Stands.

Attorney General Looney has advised prosecution in all violations of the pool hall law in forbidden districts notwithstanding the recent ruling of the State supreme Court to the contrary. It is known that in some localities parties have already begun to arrange to open pool halls where they have been voted out under the local option law. Local officers have been advised to prosecute rigidly in all such instances. This law has been in force and effect for some two years and in almost half the State pool halls are prohibited by vote of the people. The advocates of "local self government" are found trying to override the expressed will of the people in this instance just as they always do in the case of prohibiting the liquor traffic. They want to run the business regardless of the will of the people and when it is prohibited will use every means at their command to break down the law. But Bill Looney says, "don't open them up," and he means it. A Statewide anti-pool hall law will likely be passed at the next meeting of the Legislature.

Cost of High Living.

Eighty-eight million gallons of whiskey were made in the United States last year. Who drank it all? Fifteen billion cigarettes were manufactured in the United States last year. Who smoked them all? Thirty-two million pounds of snuff were manufactured in the United States last year. Who did all the sneezing? Two hundred and twenty million pounds of smoking tobacco were made in the United States last year. Who had all the pipe dreams? Eight and a half billion cigars were made in the United States last year. Who made all the smoke? Half a billion packages of chewing gum were manufactured last year in the United States. Who worked their jaws?

The Glorious Rain.

On last Sunday morning a splendid rain fell over this section. At Kerrville there was enough to thoroughly wet the ground and it is reported to have been general throughout this section. This will greatly benefit the corn crop and will insure a heavy crop of sorghum and milo maize. It will also benefit the gardens and put the stubble ground in fine shape for breaking. The stockmen are rejoicing over the great benefits to be derived by the pastures. Truly we are blessed and should send up our thanks to Him from whom all real blessings come.

Law Enforcement.

Yes, the Advance believes in law enforcement. We believe that the laws made for the protection of the peace and happiness of our people and for the promotion of a high moral standard should be enforced to the letter. Generally speaking, the laws are good. If they are bad they ought to be repealed and there is no better way to try them than to enforce them. There ought to be no difference made in persons of high or low standing, for in the eyes of the law all are criminals who are guilty, and the law is no respecter of persons.

FINE CHICKENS.

I have some six or eight fine young Cockerels, Rhode Island Reds, for sale. You can get them for $1.00 each, but by spring these same birds will be from $2.50 to $5.00 and $10.00 a piece.

Methodist Church Notes.

Next Saturday evening at 8:30, Rev. J. H. Crosclose, the Presiding Elder, will preach and the Quarterly Conference will be held immediately afterwards. I have been called to San Antonio to hold a meeting at Glen Ave., assisting Rev. S. L. Batchelor, do not know how long the meeting will last, but the pulpit here will be filled with some one each time I shall be away. All who can, hear the Elder next Saturday evening and also Sunday morning at eleven and Sunday evening at 8:30 again. S. C. Dunn, pastor.

Baptist Church Notes.

"Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you" will be the text of the sermon at the Baptist church next Sunday at 11 a. m. The night text will be "By the work of the law shall no flesh be justified". We expect every member to do their best during the summer times when people get lazy and want to go visiting and fishing. These are the hard times on church work but down in this country where people are coming in instead of going off we are fortunate.

Come Brother, wake up and put the armor on and fight the good fight of Faith, and you will feel like you had done your duty. How grateful we all should be for the refreshing rain. Think how helpless we would be if God should withhold the rain entirely. If you lay down on other things keep up your worship and gratitude to God. Be on hand Sunday sure. J. B. Riddle, pastor.

"LOOK OUT FOR THE CARS"
DO YOU know of anyone who is old enough to read, who has not seen that sign at a railroad crossing?
If everyone has seen it at some time or other, then why doesn't the railroad let the sign rot away? Why does the railroad company continue to keep those signs at every crossing?
Maybe you think, Mr. Merchant, "Most everybody knows my store, I don't have to advertise."
Your store and your goods need more advertising than the railroads need to warn people to "Look Out for the Cars." Nothing is ever completed in the advertising world.
The Department Stores are a very good example—they are continually advertising—and they are continually doing a good business.
If it pays to run a few ads 'round about Christmas time, it certainly will pay you to run advertisements about all the time.

POULTRY DEPARTMENT

RAISING YOUNG TURKEYS.

Farm and Ranch.
I will give my way of raising turkeys. I live in a woods county, Freestone County, Texas. I put my turkeys in a small pasture fenced with hog wire. Last year I had eight hens, one tom. I raised $61 worth of turkeys. In the spring when my turkeys commence to lay I keep the eggs gathered up every day and put them in a clean basket; turn them every day. When a chicken hen goes to sitting I put 10 turkey eggs under her, watch her and don't let her stay off the nest too, as the eggs might get chilled. In four weeks the eggs commence to hatch and in 24 hours I most always have a nest of 10 little turkeys. What a delight to have them going pep, pep. Now the trying time comes in raising the young turkeys.

First I fix a good coop, dig up the fresh earth and set the coop over it and put mother hen in it. Don't feed little ones until they are one day old, then feed them as often as they will eat. Keep the mother hen away from the house. Don't let her stand around in the yard. If you want healthy turkeys keep her out hunting grasshoppers and bugs. I am sure you will have healthy turkeys.

I never have a sick little turkey like chickens and they just stand at the back door and die. I always set my turkey eggs under chicken hens, as I can control the hens better than I can the turkey hens. Feed the lit-

TURKISH AMBASSADOR ASKS FOR PASSPORTS

London.—Naby Bey, the Turkish ambassador to Italy, went to the Italian foreign office and demanded he be given his passports, says a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company. No declaration of war between Italy and Turkey has been issued by either country.

The turkeys egg corn bread and give them all the fresh water they want, with fresh dirt stirred in it, as I find this is more healthy for them. Just as soon as they get large enough to fly make them roost and make them fly up to it. You will almost see them grow. Try to go by nature as near as you can.

RAISING CHICKENS.

Mrs. R. L. Jackson.

I recommend high, sheltered, well ventilated roosts, the higher the better. All germs and insects naturally go to the ground; chickens have sense enough to get as far away from them as possible at roosting time.

To produce eggs hens must have a mixed food, such as grain and cold bread and scraps from your table, and a good way to have this is to kill your dogs and cats, as they breed more or less insects, such as fleas.

My husband is truck farmer and sells off his hens in the spring with the exception of a few favorite ones, and one of these is a seven-year-old frizzled hen that lays, sits or carries chickens all the time. She is a scrub hen, but a profitable one. It pays to give chickens some cooked food. I only have 13 hens at the present and have a basket full of eggs in the house today.

Thin out your chickens, watch your hens in the yard as they go about their daily duties. You can tell the laying ones or the ones that are going to lay soon by the way they rustle for food and by the appearance of the comb. If it appears very red it denotes a laying hen.

RAISING GEESE.

Geese raising is one of the most interesting of the poultry arts. Geese raising pays well for several reasons; the eggs can be eaten. They are a little strong, but they can be used in corn bread, cakes, pies, etc., at only half the number of hen's eggs. The young goslings make splendid fryers at four or five weeks old.

After they are grown they are fine baked and dressed like turkey. Everything is useful; feathers may be saved for pillows and beds. I pick my geese every six weeks except in winter. It takes four weeks for the eggs to hatch. The mother goose is the best mother. I keep the young geese in orchard; let them begin to eat grass and bugs at once; feed them morning and night on mash (shorts wet); shut them in at night and never let them take a hard rain till well feathered.

After they get to be nearly grown they then make their own living, feeding them perhaps once per week. Always keep plenty of water for old and young. The feathers grow faster. A goslin at four weeks sells from 25 to 35 cents each. The grown ones, 50 to 60 cents each; feathers, 50 cents per pound.

It pays to raise geese. Winn Parish, La.

CHINAS OPEN POLICY MUST BE MAINTAINED

Both China and Japan Are Warned By the United States.

Peking.—Warning that the United States would not recognize any agreement between China and Japan which impaired American rights in China or endangered the so-called "open door" policy, was conveyed to the government of both China and Japan in an identical note from Washington which was delivered about May 15. The notes were handed to the foreign offices of both countries a week after China had acceded to the demands contained in the Japanese ultimatum insisting on concessions from the former nation. The United States' note, in substance, follows:

"In view of the negotiations pending between the government of China and the government of Japan, and of the agreements which have been reached as a result thereof, the government of the United States has the honor to notify the government of the Chinese Republic that it cannot recognize any agreement or undertaking which has been entered into, or which may be entered into between the governments of China and Japan impairing the treaty rights of the United States and its citizens in China, the political or territorial integrity of the Republic of China or the international policy relative to China commonly known as the open door policy. An identical note has been transmitted to the Japanese government."

RAISING YOUNG PIGS.

Young pigs that are being raised for porkers should have the best of care during the summer. Economy requires that they be fed properly and everything possible done to promote health and vigor. Since it will be desirable to make pork of them as early in the winter as possible, as many pounds of gains should be made as can be had with economy.

The trying days will be in the heat of summer when there is little green feed and when the weather is so depressing that the animals will not search out the pasture for food. Plans should be made to make the sows and pigs comfortable when this season comes.

Green feed of some kind should be had if this is possible. Soiling crops such as alfalfa, sorghum, milo, fetterita, green corn, will be of much benefit. It will not take very much time to cut and throw over to the hogs some of these crops, at least once a day, and they will be of much benefit to the animals.

Pasture will be very important. Without pasture it will be very difficult matter to keep the pigs growing, taking on flesh during the summer months. The stubble land may be pastured and other fields where the pigs will get both food and exercise. Some grain will be needed for best results. Where there is a grain and skimmed milk it will be a very easy matter to keep the pigs in a growing condition. Buttermilk is said to be very valuable for hogs during summer months.

Attention must be given sows that are nourishing large litters. They will need, in addition to pasture, protein feeds of a digestible character, as well as comfortable, sanitary quarters. Upon the sow you must largely depend for thrifty pigs and for cheap pork, for the start the pigs get while very young will very largely determine their weight as porkers.

MEXICAN CAPITOL IN HANDS OF RIOTERS

Desperate Conditions Portrayed in Dispatches Received by Department of State at Washington.

Washington, D. C.—Desperate conditions in the City of Mexico, with unchecked mobs rioting and looting, are told in dispatches cabled to the United States Government tonight from Vera Cruz by a courier who left the Mexican capital last Friday, June 25.

General Villa, according to advices to the State Department today, has removed Colonel Borboa from command of the San Luis Potosi district because he threatened foreigners with a forced loan and confiscation of mining property. A summary of Mexican advices issued by the department tonight says: "The department is in receipt of a telegram from Consul Simpich at Nogales stating that General Mayrena, the Villa governor of Sonora, and General Calles, the Carranza leader, have agreed to permit the repair and operation of the railway from Agua Prieta to Nacoza.

"The department is informed that an important change has just been made in the handling of exports and imports through Juarez, whereby all duties are collected through the customs house as in normal times, and not through the commercial agency of Hipolito Villa, as has been done since the beginning of the revolution. All rates will be without discrimination.

When the courier started practically the entire garrison had been withdrawn to join the Zapata army on the outskirts of the city, opposing the attacking Carranza forces under General Pablo Gonzales. Gonzales has been driven back with considerable loss and was waiting for reinforcements coming up from Vera Cruz before renewing the assault.

No mention was made of attacks upon foreigners, so officials assumed they were safe. Many stores had been looted, the dispatches said, and great mobs were rioting and seizing food wherever found.

The dispatches were forwarded immediately to President Wilson at Cornish, N. H., and the situation will be laid before Lansing tomorrow.

The Mexican capital has been cut off from communication with the outside world by wire and rail for twelve days. The last previous word from there came Monday night in dispatches from the British charge, sent by a courier who left the city June 23. At that time conditions were only less serious than the latest dispatches described them.

The Zapatistas are said to have nearly 25,000 men and although poorly equipped for battle against the force of Gonzales, which are well armed and plentifully supplied with ammunition, are preparing to fight desperately before leaving the capital to Callanza.

When Secretary Garrison's attention was called today to reports that a review had been held in Huerta's honor at Fort Bliss and that the ex-dictator had been a dinner guest of Colonel Morgan, he telegraphed Major General Funston, commanding the border forces, that he thought no honors be shown a man in Huerta's status.

General Funston at once telegraphed that no review had been given for Huerta. Mr. Garrison did not ask about the reported dinner, but sent general instructions to General Funston to guide army officers in their relations with Huerta.

"I think is manifestly improper," said Mr. Garrison, commenting on unofficial border reports, "for one branch of the government to be toasting and feting a man who is under arrest by another branch."

WOMAN IS STABBED BY NEGRO EMPLOYEE

People of Taylor Aroused to Dangerous Pitch by Brutal Crime.

Taylor, Tex.—Mrs. Claude Taylor, wife of a young farmer on the Howard Bland Ranch, four miles southeast of Taylor, was attacked, stabbed in the neck several times, cut on the hand, choked and knocked down by a young negro by the name of Gene Lambert, a farm hand on the place. The injured woman was brought to the city hospital late this evening and physicians state that she will recover.

Shortly after the deed officers from Taylor reached the scene and found the negro in the cow lot milking. He was taken before Mrs. Taylor and she identified him as her assailant. He was immediately placed in an automobile and rushed to the county jail at Georgetown.

Feeling is running high here tonight and violence is feared. Large crowds congregated as soon as knowledge of the crime gained circulation and numbers went in cars to the Bland Ranch to search for the negro. Before they reached the scene, however, the officers had gotten away with Lambert and were on their way to the county seat. Several car loads of men left here this evening for Georgetown, it is reported, after it was learned that the negro had been taken there.

People are greatly worked up over the affair, the first of the kind ever happening in this community.

It is stated that the negro, who is about 25 years old, went to the house and told Mrs. Taylor that there were a lot of eggs in the barn upstairs. When she went to look for the eggs he followed her and caught hold of her. She fought him with her hands whereupon he began stabbing her with the knife. Several wounds were inflicted in her neck and shoulder and a deep cut across the hand. He also choked and knocked her down.

Mr. Taylor is a young farmer, a son of Jim Taylor, an old citizen of this community, and the young man and his wife have resided on the Bland Ranch for a number of years. Much excitement prevails here tonight and a big crowd congregated on the street.

Lambert denies his guilt but Mrs. Taylor is positive in her identification of him as her assailant.

The roll of honor is free from impure baking powder.

J. C. FINK OF AUSTIN IS ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

J. C. Fink Accidentally Shot While Cleaning His Pistol.

Austin, Tex.—J. C. Fink, 40 years old, prominent in business and social circles in Austin, accidentally shot and killed himself at his home about noon. He was cleaning a 44-caliber revolver, preparatory to a trip to the coast. Mr. Fink had been a resident of Austin for about fifteen years, coming here as secretary of the local Young Men's Christian Association, he having prior to that time been in the Young Men's Christian Association work for a number of years. For some time he was a member of the firm of Williams-Fink Company of this city, having retired from the firm about two years ago.

Neighbors heard a shot at about 11:45 o'clock and soon after Mr. Fink's little son Billie, ran out of the house crying that his papa was killed.

Mr. Fink and his little boy had cleaned his shotgun and a target rifle or two belonging to the boy, when the father told the lad that he would go get the pistol. This was in a closet next to the bathroom, where he had been in the habit of keeping it, loaded with one shell, for the use of Mrs. Fink in case it should be needed when he was absent from home.

The gun was a double-action revolver, and Mr. Fink was evidently mistaken in believing there was but one shell in it. One which he had thrown out was later found on the floor. It is believed he must have been looking down the muzzle of the gun when it exploded, for the bullet entered just under the chin and came out of the center of the head, toward the back. He fell on the bathroom floor.

Mrs. Fink was downtown at the time, but was soon taken to the house of a neighbor next door, grief stricken.

Sheriff George S. Matthews, Dr. Joe Wooten and Justice M. M. Johnson were summoned to the scene. As coroner, Justice Johnson made inquiry into the facts of the case, finding as above set out.

The family had been looking forward to a trip to Port O'Connor, which they were to make within the next day or so to spend a month hunting and fishing. A number of other Austin people were to be in the party.

It is not yet clear whether we ought to lay stress upon England's ammunition scarcity and the growing difficulty in recruiting up until now. We can only state that the waste of ammunition on the part of the enemy is still boundless and that the losses at the front have been replaced. We should be well advised to believe that England will succeed in reorganizing the production of ammunition and that the English armies in France will doubtless be able to maintain their present status."

BILLION TRADE BALANCE FAVOR OF UNITED STATES

Record Made in Year When All Commerce Is Depressed By the European War.

Washington, D. C.—A billion dollar trade balance—the greatest American—in a year which has seen commerce depressed by one of the most tremendous world wars, is the commercial record of the United States. Official announcement was made today at the Department of Commerce that with the closing of the fiscal year at midnight it was certain the billion dollar mark had been passed.

The figures are for eleven months ending May 31. It was shown in a favorable balance of $983,117,479. As thirteen ports which ordinarily handle 90 per cent of the country's foreign trade show for June an export balance of approximately $60,000,000, it is known that the excess of exports over imports has at this date exceeded $1,000,000,000, surpassing by nearly $1,000,000,000 the highest record heretofore made.

MIDSHIPMAN EXPOSES ANNAPOLIS SCANDAL

Examination Papers, Witness Testifies, Came to Him Through the Mail.

Annapolis, Md.—Midshipman James E. Moss of the former third class at the Naval Academy, was a witness before the court of inquiry which is investigating the cribbing scandal.

Judge Advocate Watt called Moss to the stand and subjected him to a long cross-examination. The witness said he received five papers relating to Spanish and French in a plain envelope which had been dropped in a mail box at the academy and delivered to him in the ordinary way. He did not suspect they were examinations to be given, he said, but thought they might have been sent by some friend with the idea that they would be helpful.

Moss said that no midshipman who had seen the papers gave him any intimation that he thought they were advance copies of examination. However, in response to a question by the judge advocate, the witness said the papers appeared to be examinations and so far as he knew were not old examinations.

YOUNG MAN ACCEPTS GOVERNMENT POSITION

San Antonio—Walter Knopp of 3420 South Flores street, San Antonio, left on the 27th for Washington, D. C., where he goes to accept a government position as stenographer and typist. His salary is to be $900. Mr. Knopp is a graduate of the Draughon Practical Business College of San Antonio. He has been employed by the Magnolia Oil Company since graduation.

LATE CULTIVATION OF COTTON

The cotton grower is interested in the largest yield of the best staple possible. No one knows what to expect of the market. The end of the year is not yet in sight and while the principal cotton manufacturing nations of Europe have been taking cotton in spite of war and depressed industrial conditions, a large crop might bring prices to a very low level. The acreage has been reduced and it does not now seem that we are to have a very large crop; that is, comparatively speaking.

Every farmer who has a few acres of cotton should cultivate it well and try to retain the supply of moisture for the plants when drouth is likely to come. Cotton should have late cultivation generally. A few weeks of drouth may ruin the crop or a moisture supply at such time may save the crop.

This season will call for late cultivation of cotton. The crop was planted late, it grew slowly for a while and it will be later than common maturing. Furthermore, recent rains will stimulate the growth of weeds, which should be kept down.

Cultivation should follow every rain till the cotton bolls are nearly ready to open. One never knows when a rain comes that it will not be the last for some time. Should the land not be cultivated after a heavy rain it will "run together" and soon lose its moisture, thus making it impractical to cultivate it any more this season.

It will not take many days to cultivate the cotton and it is likely to pay when you cultivate after heavy rains late in the season.

REVISED WISDOM.

By a Cynic.
Silence gives contempt. Strays make waist.

Look before you sleep. Many are called, but few get up. A word to the wise is resented. As you sew so must you rip. Consistency, thou art a mule! A lie in time saves nine. Pride will have a Fall bonnet. Absinthe make the heart grow fonder.

Tamper not with fledged fools. Saint heart ne'er won fair lady. Eat your steak or you'll have stew.

STATEWIDE CAMPAIGN ON VICE LAUNCHED

Prof. W. T. Mather and Wesley Peacock of San Antonio Discuss the Matter

Austin, Tex.—Tentative plans for the formation of a State Law enforcement League were made at a conference held in this city between Prof. W. T. Mather of the Austin Anti-Vice League and Prof. Wesley Peacock of San Antonio. It was announced that the organization would be definitely formulated in Austin within the next two or three weeks, and citizens from every city in Texas who have been active in the fight against segregated districts will be asked to participate.

The waging of a constant campaign against social vice by education and by laws will be the object of the organization. It is proposed to maintain in Austin during the next Legislature a legislative committee to request that the present injunction statutes which have been used in San Antonio be strengthened and it is also proposed to use every influence to have all Texas cities abolish all segregated districts.

LEO M. FRANKS SAVIOUR LEAVES HOME STATE

Troops Withdrawn From Residence of Georgia's Chief Executive.

Atlanta, Ga.—Former Governor John M. Slaton, accompanied by Mr. Slaton, left Atlanta for the Pacific Coast by way of New York and the military guard stationed at his suburban home since the demonstration against the commutation of Leo Frank's death sentence began June 21 was withdrawn early tonight. The departure of Mr. and Mrs. Slaton was without incident.

The four men arrested at the Slaton estate early today will be released tomorrow, according to announcement tonight by the military authorities. The twenty-six taken into custody Saturday, however, are to be prosecuted. Governor Harris will decide whether the trial shall be a military or civil court. No formal charges will be placed against the men.

Governor Harris tonight issued a statement to the people of Georgia asking that there "be an immediate cessation of all efforts at violence or riotous demonstration" because of the Frank case. He asserted that he continued the martial law zone around the former governor's home because of representations of Adjutant General J. Van Holt Nash and Sheriff Mangum of Fulton County and added that the action of former Governor Slaton in the Frank case now "is past history."

An Austin man who never spends less than two dollars a day for whisky recently asked his wife how on earth she managed to use a whole paper of pins every thirty days. Some women are very wasteful.

I know a lot of politicians who always remind me of the small boy who dons his pantaloons wrong side in front. You can not tell whether there are really coming towards you, or going the other way.

Many church members go to Sunday services to get their religion warmed up, and when they get home put it in the refrigerator so it will "keep" till the next Lord's day.

It is not every man who can save his money and still remain popular.

A man can have smooth sailing on land or sea, if he won't get hung up on the "bars."

If hard work was the sole cause of death, I know a lot of people who would simply be immortal.

If you undertake to do anything, never doubt your ability. Other people will attend to that.

It is not what you say or write that makes you famous. It's what you succeed in making people remember.

WIFE WANTED THAW REMAIN IN ASYLUM

New York.—Dr. Charles K. Mills, of Philadelphia, a witness in the jury trial to test the sanity of Harry K. Thaw, testified today that Thaw believed his wife, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, wanted him kept in the Matteawan Asylum so that as an insane person he would be unable to make a will cutting her off from his fortune.

The question put by one of Thaw's attorneys was said to have been prompted by a published article quoting Mrs. Thaw as being fearful for the safety of her son if her husband should be released. Mrs. Thaw, who has been served with a subpoena, is expected to reach here tomorrow and to testify as a witness for the state next week.

"Thaw told me," Dr. Mills said, "that his wife had motives in wanting to keep him in Matteawan. He did not think she had anything against him personally, or was apprehensive for her son, but thought she believed that as long as he was in Matteawan he could not make a will cutting her off."

When Dr. Mills' cross-examination ended Thaw's lawyers announced they rested their case.

The state opened by reading into evidence the record of Thaw's career in Matteawan.

Testimony relative to Thaw's sanity, given by his mother at his second trial for murder, was next read into the record, and was unfinished when adjournment was taken until tomorrow.

KERRVILLE

Is the county seat of Kerr County, has a population of about 2500, is situated 70 miles northwesterly from San Antonio, and is the terminus of the Kerrville branch of the S. A. & A. P. railroad. It has two daily trains to and from San Antonio, and daily mail route, carrying passengers in hacks, to Ingram, Junction, Rock Springs Harper and other places north and west of Kerrville, and also a daily line to Fredericksburg. From Kerrville to Fredericksburg is 25 miles; to Bandera and Medina City, 25 miles; to Junction 60 miles; Rock Springs 80 miles, Harper 21 miles.

Kerrville has electric lights and a splendid system of water works. The sum of $20,000 has been spent on the streets and $10,000 has been voted for road improvements in this precinct. The elevation at Kerrville is 1250 feet. The Guadalupe river, which heads 30 miles north of Kerrville, runs through the city. On the east side where the city is located, there are high bluffs on the river, and on the west side is a fertile and beautiful valley, and mountains surround the city on the east and west. The Guadalupe valley is occupied by thrifty farmers and ranchmen, and the mountain regions, among which there is considerable valley, creek and arable land, there are large ranches of cattle, horses, sheep and goats, all of which do well in the Kerrville country. The land generally is well wooded, principally with live oak, Spanish oak and cedar, and the range is good, and water excellent.

Our farmers grow wheat, oats and all other small grain, cane and alfalfa, cotton and corn, and fruit and vegetables do well. Kerrville is one of the largest wool markets in the state, and large quantities of wool, mohair, cotton, oats, cattle, etc., are shipped from this point.

The climate of the Kerrville country is unsurpassed. The winters are short and generally mild and invigorating owing to the dryness of the climate and the prevalence of sunshine. The summers are cool and delightful, and the mountain air is pure and bracing. Game abounds in the Kerrville country, and fishing in the Guadalupe, especially north of Kerrville, is good. Kerrville and the adjoining towns are popular resorts for health and recreation.

The Kerrville Commercial Club, any of the different Realty Companies or any of our citizens, will be pleased to give prospective residents or visitors further information.
