Killing at Brownsville.

Brownsville, Tex., Oct. 4.—Another tragic killing shocked this community when A. Y. Baker, Sergeant of Captain J. A. Brooks' company of State Rangers, shot and killed Alfredo Cerda, a young ranchman.

The tragedy occurred in the entrance to the dry goods store of Geronimo Fernandez & Bro., on Elizabeth street. Cerda was standing a few feet inside of the store when he was shot. Baker was walking down the street with his Winchester in his hand and claims that on reaching the door of the store he saw Cerda make a motion to draw his pistol, and he then raised his gun and fired. The bullet entered Cerda's right side and came out on the left side near the heart. Baker at once walked to the army post at Fort Brown, two blocks away, and put himself under the protection of the commander of the post.

Baker was seen shortly after and asked for a statement, which he gave to the above effect. Cerda fell fatally wounded and did not recover consciousness.

Alfredo Cerda, was the brother of Remon Cerda, who was killed by Sergeant Baker last summer in the discharge of his duty for which Baker is now under indictment. Cerda was accused of being implicated in the murder of Ranger Roebuck and the attempt to kill Ranger Baker a few weeks ago, and was under indictment for these crimes. He was released on a bond a few days ago, and it is said by reliable parties that he had threatened to kill Baker before leaving town for his ranch.

Cortez Case Sent to Goliad.

Karnes City, Tex., Oct. 2.—Sheriff Hunter, accompanied by Captain McDonald and three State Rangers arrived here last night from Columbus, having in charge Gregorio Cortez. This evening the prisoner was taken before Judge Wilson and a motion made by the defense for a change of venue in which all the counties adjoining Karnes were excepted.

Judge Wilson stated that in his opinion the prisoner could get a fair and impartial trial in Goliad county, and accordingly granted a change of venue from Karnes to Goliad county. After the proceedings were over the prisoner was remanded to jail until the evening train when he was taken to Columbus, where he will remain until court convenes at Goliad, Oct. 13.

Frisco Will Soon Reach Brady.

Austin, Tex., Oct. 5.—Congressman Jas. L. Slayden, who passed through here last night on his way home from a visit to Llano, McCulloch and other upper counties of his district, says that the extension of the Fort Worth & Rio Grande railroad from Brownwood south to Brady will be ready for the rails in about two weeks, and that it is expected that the road will be completed and in operation to Brady in about two and one-half months. Mr. Slayden said that he had been informed by reliable authority that the extension would be continued to San Antonio without delay. The coming of this road has greatly stimulated the development of that section of country. A number of important irrigation enterprises are on foot and many new settlers are going into the counties through which the road will pass.

May Unravel Mystery.

Beeville, Tex., Oct. 4.—While hunting in the McMurry pasture on the Nueces river, in Live Oak county, a few days ago, several young men discovered the remains of a deserted camp, which will probably cause the unraveling of the mystery of a murder supposed to have been committed two years ago. A number of camp utensils and several articles of clothing were found, and in the pockets of the clothing were letters and memoranda by which the person to whom the clothes belonged could be identified. They proved to belong to a young Mexican whose home was at Mier, Mex., where he had a sweetheart to whom he had written a letter to be mailed at the first postoffice reached. In this letter he stated that he was traveling with a companion, who was also in love with the same seniorita. He asks the girl not to forsake him for his friend. The young men had been east picking cotton, and were on their return to Mexico, when they camped at the spot where the articles mentioned were found. They passed through Mineral City in the northern part of this county, and purchased a number of things which were left in the camp. The peculiar circumstances surrounding the deserted camp interested W. J. McMurray, the owner of the ranch, and he wrote to Mexico asking for information about the young man whose name appeared on the letters. He received a letter a few days ago from the young man's father stating that his traveling companion had returned to Mexico in due course of time, and reported that his friend was drowned while trying to cross the Nueces river, six miles below Oakville. The fact that no one living in that section ever learned of any such occurrence at the time has aroused the suspicion of the officers and they have gone to work on the case.

It is believed that the young man who wrote the letter was murdered by his companion and his body thrown into a lake near where the camp was found.

W. T. Eldridge Stumbled.

Eagle Lake, Tex., Oct. 4.—Last night between 10 and 11 o'clock Mr. W. T. Eldridge left the Drummers' Home to go to his residence on the same lot. As he ascended the steps he stumbled, and as he did so a load of buckshot from the sidewalk passed over him into the corner of his house, part of the load passing through the window of the parlor and into the wall opposite the Drummers' Home Hotel. Mr. Eldridge gave the alarm, when he says he saw two men run from where the gun was fired. Mr. E. escaped injury. So far there is no clew to the shooters.

Engine Inverted.

Navasota, Tex., Oct. 3.—A freight occurred on the International and Great Northern Railroad within the city limits here this afternoon, the engine, tender and one oil tank turning upside down in the ditch. The wreck was the result of the road-bed giving away on account of the heavy rain last night. The engine is about half covered in water. Traffic will be delayed about 12 hours.

People usually live longer on islands and small peninsulas than on continents.

Negro Lynched by Mob at Columbus.

Columbus, Tex., Oct. 4.—Davis Dunkin, a negro, accused of having attempted assault on Miss Lena Harris, night telephone operator at Eagle Lake, last night, but who was foiled in his attempt by the timely arrival on the scene of Mr. Best of this city, was captured shortly after the assault and brought to this city and placed in jail before the commission of the crime became known at Eagle Lake.

Sheriff Burford, who was in Eagle Lake this morning, on attempting to board the noon train for this place was prevented by armed men. He was held in that city under guard while an orderly mob of sixty or seventy men boarded the train, came here and after four or five hours, succeeded in securing the negro, whom they hanged in this city about 6:00 p.m.

The negro was about 21 years old, lived at Eagle Lake, and was identified by the young lady. There was no excitement. The deputies held the jail as long as possible, but the doors were forced by the mob, the officers overpowered and the prisoner taken from the jail.

ASSAULT AROUSES EAGLE LAKE.

Everything is quiet here now, news having been received that the negro had been lynched at Columbus. There was considerable excitement for a time caused by the attempted outrage and the desire for vengeance.

The attempted assault was committed this morning about 2:00 o'clock. The young lady, Miss Lena Harris was alone in the telephone building, when the negro entered. She screamed as soon as she saw him, and George Best, who was awaiting a train at the depot a short distance away, hurried to her rescue. In the meantime the negro had pulled a knife and was threatening to kill the young lady if she persisted in screaming. She continued to scream and the negro struck her.

Hearing Mr. Best coming the negro fled, but was tracked by his bare feet to his home by the city marshal who placed him under arrest, caught a freight train and hurried him to Columbus to prevent lynching.

As soon as the alarm was given a crowd gathered, and left on the first train for Columbus, taking measures to prevent the interference of Sheriff Burford, who had arrived here in the meantime. He was suddenly beset and disarmed and was prevented from getting on the train. He followed as soon as he could get a horse, but it is understood that he had to travel part of the way on foot arriving at Columbus too late to prevent the execution.

SOLDIERS ORDERED TO COLUMBUS.

Governor Sayers was wired this evening that a mob was forming at Columbus, Tex., for the purpose of taking a negro, accused of rape, from the jail to lynch him. At the Governor's direction, Adjutant General Thomas Scurry ordered the State military company at La Grange to proceed by special train to Columbus, and protect the prisoner from the mob.

Father Killed by His 14-Year-Old Son.

Austin, Tex., Oct. 4.—Sidney Hall, aged 45 years, a wood hauler, residing at the foot of Mount Bonnell, two miles west of the drill grounds, was shot and instantly killed about sundown last evening and his 14-year-old son, Ed. Hall, occupies a cell in the county jail, charged with the crime. The boy claims that the killing was wholly accidental and his mother defends him in his story, but the defendant will be held to await the action of the grand jury, which convenes next Monday.

The deplorable tragedy occurred at the Hall homestead, and the deceased was shot through the head with a load of bird shot, discharged from a single barreled breach-loading shot gun. The boy was close to his father when the shot was fired, and the small bullets ploughed their way through the body, producing a very ghastly wound.

From what can be learned of the affair it seems that young Hall had been out hunting during the afternoon without his father's permission, and when he returned the elder Hall attempted to reprimand him. The boy, to escape a thrashing, started to run away, but before he had gone far he turned around and started back to where his father and mother were standing. When within a few feet of the former the gun was suddenly discharged, and the elder Hall fell to the ground and expired within a few moments. Young Hall when arrested acknowledged that he ran away from his father after having a difficulty, but declares that the gun was discharged accidentally. His mother, who was the only other eye witness to the tragedy, also states that the killing was an accident. She says that the boy stumbled when he was within a few feet of his father, and it was then that the gun was discharged.

It was 8:00 o'clock before the news of the killing reached this city, and Deputy Sheriff Geo. Matthews and Judge M. M. Johnson, immediately left for the scene. Judge Johnson held an inquest over the dead body of Hall, but he has not yet rendered a verdict. Young Hall, who had not attempted to escape, was arrested by Officer Matthews and brought to jail. He did not seem to be the least excited and seemed as if he had not yet realized what he had done. The deceased leaves a wife and several children in very poor circumstances.

Stomach Full of Nails.

Brenham, Tex., Oct. 3.—Mr. Herman Zschappell had a fine milk cow to die yesterday evening from causes which are considered both remarkable and mysterious. The symptoms of her malady were somewhat puzzling to local veterinarians, and for this reason an autopsy was determined on to learn the causes from which the animal died. Augustus Zocary, a colored man, was employed to perform the task. As soon as the stomach was entered wire nails, wire staples and pieces of melted lead were produced. This solved the problem involving the cause of the cow's death, but brought up another question equally as mysterious and remarkable; that is, how these things found their way into the cow's stomach. Mr. Zschappell does not attempt to account for the mystery, but says he had the fence around his barn yard repaired lately, and it is probable that a few nails and wire staples were left.

Saw It in a Dream.

Brenham, Tex., Sept. 30.—Judge J. J. McCain of Burton, related a most remarkable incident in connection with the assassination of Julius Yelder in his gin house near Burton, on the night of August 31.

"Two days after this crime was committed," Judge McCain said, "I was walking to my office in Burton when I was stopped by Fritz Booth, a business man of the town, and told of what he had dreamed that night. 'I dreamed,' Mr. Booth said, 'that the assassin armed with Winchester, went to the gin house where Mr. Yelder was sleeping. He made friends with a fierce dog chained at the foot of the stairway by speaking kindly to him and stroking him on the head.

"When the dog was thoroughly pacified the man quietly ascended the stairway, thrust the barrel of the gun through a hole cut in the wall of the gin house near the door, immediately opposite which Mr. Yelder was lying. His little son happened to be between his father and the wall, which threw Mr. Yelder out of range. He raised up, stepped to the door, which was half ajar, rested the gun on a piece of plank nailed to the door facing, used as a fastening, and fired over the boy's face. He then descended the stairway, went to a water tank about 100 yards from the gin house, threw the Winchester in the tank and absconded."

"Now the remarkableness of Mr. Booth's dream will not be appreciated unless it is stated that he had not been to the Yelder gin house for two or three years, remembered little or nothing about the surroundings and it is more than probable that the hole in the wall had been cut, and the slat nailed to the door facing since he saw the house. He did not know Mr. Yelder and his son were sleeping in the gin house, and did not know the dog was chained at the bottom of the steps, for the reason it was never done except at night, and had only been done a few times recently. As to the assassin throwing the gun in the tank, it was of course utterly and entirely impossible for him to know anything whatever about it."

Neither Mr. Booth nor Judge McCain is the least superstitious, or attach any importance to dreams and nothing was thought of it until the gun was found in the tank, working on entirely different clew. Then it was that Mr. Booth's dream was recalled, and upon investigation the assassination had been accomplished precisely and exactly as he had seen while soundly sleeping five and one-half miles away, without any knowledge or means whatever of knowing such a thing had been planned, or even contemplated.

Sambo Drew The Color Line.

Col. James L. Slayden, congressman from this district, while in Brownwood the other day related a highly amusing anecdote of an occurrence at a recent republican convention in Uvalde county. The convention met and organized in due form and afterwards elected an executive committee. After electing a chairman and a secretary of the committee it was decided to elect also a treasurer to disburse the campaign funds of the party and a prominent republican of Uvalde was placed in nomination, whereupon a colored delegate arose and said: "Mr. Chairman, I move that this committee have two treasurers, one white treasurer and one colored treasurer."—Pecan Valley News.

World's Largest Topaz.

Which is the largest topaz in the world? A few days ago parties from Marlow, says the London Post, recently acquired by some Neapolitan nobleman as a gift for the pope, but that topaz now lies in how to another.

The Neapolitan topaz weighs over two pounds, but Messrs. J. Thompson & Sons, jewelers, of 31, Clerkenwell road, E. C., possess a stone weighing three pounds four ounces, and as big as a prize potato. It is of good color, almost flawless, and its owners say that it is the largest stone of its kind.

Like most topazes, it comes from Brazil, and was purchased a couple of years ago in a small German town noted for topaz cutting, where it narrowly escaped falling into the hands of a topaz hunting grand duke. Since then it has led an adventurous existence, having gone on four to various places in the United Kingdom.

George Washington a Witness.

George Washington, a great-grandnephew of the immortal president, was a witness in a New York city court a few days ago. His great-grandfather, William Washington, was the general's brother, but, being a Tory, left this country for England during the war of the Revolution. Later he settled in Belgium. The twentieth century George does not care for the reflected glory that comes with his name, though no man has greater veneration than he for the man who was first in the hearts of his countrymen.

What Has Happend.

On Friday Shakespeare, Washington and Napoleon were born, Queen Victoria was married, the battles of Bunker Hill and New Orleans were fought, America was discovered, Moscow was burned, Richmond was evacuated, the Bastille was destroyed, the Mayflower arrived and the Declaration of Independence was signed.

An "I O U" in the Collection.

A singular incident is reported from Marlow, says the London Globe. The vicar was accosted at the flower show by a visitor who inquired if he had found an I O U for a shilling in the collecting bag in the church service last Sunday.

The vicar replying in the affirmative, the visitor remarked that he would discharge the debt, and tendering a shilling, he explained that when he arrived at worship on Sunday he discovered that he had left his purse behind, and thereupon made out the I O U which he placed in the offertory bag.

A Venerable College President.

Pembroke college, Cambridge, does not believe in young presidents. It has elected as its master, Sir George Gabriel Stokes, the great mathematician, who is 83 years of age. He was senior wrangler in 1841, sixty-one years ago. It was an era of great mathematicians; the senior wrangler of the following year was Cayley, and of 1843, Adams, the discoverer of Neptune. Two years later Lord Kelvin was second wrangler.

Women Runs Airship.

"The honor of being the first woman to navigate an airship has fallen to Mrs. Stanley Spencer, the wife of the well known aeronaut," says the London News. "She successfully navigated the Mellin airship around the polo ground at the Crystal palace. The aerostat behaved admirably and was under perfect control. Among those who witnessed the flight and offered their congratulations were Sir A. Conan Doyle and Dr. W. G. Grace."

Glaciers in Montana.

One hears a great deal about the glaciers in Alaska, and it is satisfactory to know that Uncle Sam possesses a few more important ice rivers of his own. But few people are aware that there are in Montana some of the finest glaciers in the world, even rivaling those of the Alps.

An Unique Monument.

Standing in Mount Hope cemetery, at Logansport, Ind., is one of the queerest monuments ever erected to the memory of any individual. It is over the grave of William H. Reighter. The statue part of the monument represents Mr. Reighter as he was attired when stricken dead by heart disease some time ago. At the time of his death he was wearing a broad-brimmed hat, a mackintosh over his suit of clothes and his trousers legs were in his rubber boots. The members of his family wished to remember him as he looked when last he bade them goodby. They secured a man his size to wear the same suit of clothes, had him photographed and placed a recent picture of Reighter on the photograph. This combined picture was sent to a sculptor in Italy, with a request that a life-sized statue be made from it in Italy. The statue is true to life and cost $5,000.

Louisiana Purchase Dollar.

The gold coinage act in favor of the Louisiana Purchase exposition omitted the hole in the proposed gold-dollar souvenir. We ceased coining the gold dollar in 1890, because of its small size, which rendered it inutile and easy to lose. Its entire coinage in a period of half a century amounted to less than $2,000,000, and it is likely that each dollar is now held as a souvenir. Millions of our people never saw one—the faintest little thing imaginable, with the head of crowned Liberty surrounded by thirteen stars on one side and on the other a large figure, 1 above 1803, and the date in a wreath, "United States of America" near the rim. It is as thin as a wafer, and just half an inch in diameter. The price of this dollar is quoted at $1.50 to $2.

Fleas Called "Wild Animals."

A custom house decision on fleas has been rendered in Switzerland. A package marked "Trained Fleas" reached Geneva. The nearest analogy the collector could find was that of June bugs, which had been ruled to be "edibles." The case went from one official to another till it reached headquarters, at Berne, whence after much investigation and deliberation, the conclusion was reached that the fleas came under the head of "wild animals in a menagerie."

Abolished the Tip.

The tipping system is not encouraged in China. An execution recently took place outside the gates of Tai-yuan-fu. The decapitated corpse belonged in life to a telegraph messenger. On the occasion of a great festival he asked for "tips" from some leading merchants who habitually used the telegraph office. The governor of the province heard of it, and took prompt steps to suppress the nuisance.

Valuable Piece of Work.

In the treasure rooms of the Maharajah of Baroda is stored a piece of woven work which cost $1,000,000. It is only 10x6 feet in size, but it is woven from strings of pure pearls, with a center and corner circle of diamonds. It took three years to make it.

Justice Shiras as a Fisherman.

Justice Shiras, who will resign next spring from the United States supreme bench, is an ardent fisherman. His summers are spent among the lakes of Canada with his son, George Shiras III. There have been three of the name living at the same time, all well known public men, and they had to be numbered to distinguish father from son and grandson.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S recent failure to manage the trusts in the coal strike, arbitration matter, very forcibly reminds us of an ineffectual attempt to rope and throw a maverick that has fattened too long on a free range.

New surprises arise daily for us in this life. We are in a position to know that statements that appear in the leading daily newspapers are in the main true, hence we regard the following paragraph, clipped from the middle, as being very remarkable:

"He has been identified with republican politics in the east, and for a number of years, and has always been known for his integrity and honesty."

MR. ROOSEVELT'S physicians say that the strain on his nervous system in his recent efforts to settle the coal strike was too great for his physical well being. A few more hard falls like that will convince Mr. Roosevelt that there is a difference between riding a bad broncho with out getting his ribbons tangled, and dexterously welding the reins of state. Especially when the aforesaid reins of state are hooked to the snaffle of a critter that don't belong in the stall corral.

OCTOBER 27 will be Irrigation Day at the San Antonio Fair. The fact that the irrigation question has come to stay until settled to the satisfaction of the people, and the further unquestionable fact that irrigation lies the key to the future of Southwest Texas, should assure a large attendance at the fair on that day at which time a regular irrigation congress will be held. Some of the best thinkers and talkers on this subject have consented to be present and address the meeting. The meeting will be held in the auditorium at ten o'clock on the morning of date mentioned, and as the convention will have the absolute use of the auditorium on that day there is no reason why a great deal should not be said and done on that occasion to enhance irrigation matters in this territory.

Death of Brock Wells.

The many friends of Brock Wells will learn the particulars of his recent death, at Glen Rock, Wyo., from the letter given below. Mr. Wells was a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wells, who reside near Mountain Home, this county:

Glen Rock, Wyo., Sept. 18, '02
Mrs. Wells, Mountain Home, Tex.

My Dear Mrs. Wells:—I am a stranger to you, but I am sure you will thank me for writing to you, for mother and I nursed your poor boy for just one month; we thought lots Brock, for he was so kind and good natured.

From what you wrote in your letter to Brock, I believe you are under the impression that he had lots of enemies here, but that was not so. I will tell you everything I know about him, for I think he was better than most boys would be according to the life he was led, for he did not drink or gamble nor spend his money on the women; he always wore the best kind of clothes.

I got acquainted with Brock 4 years ago, this fall, while I was here on a visit, but I did not know him well for a long time, in fact, not till last spring after he had been at Thayers a long time; he came to our house several times, but, even then, I don't think I ever talked to him half an hour, until after they brought him here to be nursed.

Brock and Dave Nighten (a very good friend of his) were hoeing cabbage at Thayer's ranch the 28th of July and they got through about 4 o'clock and went to the bunk house and Brock sat down on a bed and took up a 22 pistol and told Dave he was going to shoot the head off a sunflower out of the window, and as he loaded the gun it went off and the bullet went in a little above the knee, and came out a little below; it went near enough through so the bullet could be seen. They brought him to town about 6 o'clock in the evening and they wanted the doctor to cut the bullet out then, but he would not till the next morning; so they took him to the hotel and he was there until the 15th of August, and he did not receive good care and was left alone upstairs in a little hot bed room and one of the men just brought him down here, and, I can honestly say, we did everything in our power for him and there was nothing he wanted but what we tried to get for him and I know he was satisfied.

After Brock was here several days, his brother, Jim, came to see him for a few days; he came on Monday and stayed till Saturday; then he had to go back where he was working and as we did not send for him, he thought Brock was getting along all right and he was out in camp, he did not get our telegram in time. He did not get here until last night and Brock was buried about 3 o'clock yesterday. While Jim was here, he was not satisfied with the doctors that Brock had, and he called in a young doctor that had just come here, by name of Laughlin, and Brock seemed to get better, but was in lots of pain. So Dr. Laughlin sent to Casper last Saturday for another doctor, and when he examined him they thought he would have to open the wound and when they opened it they found out that a vein had been shot into and as the first doctor had not given him the care he needed at the time, the blood had clotted on the inside and they took all that out and then they thought he would have to lose his limb and they sent to Douglas for an old army surgeon and he thought he could save his limb. So

Sunday morning they operated on him again and fastened the end of the blood vessel, but he had such a weak heart and they did not dare to give him ether. The loss of blood and the shock were too much for him. They operated on him about 10 o'clock Sunday morning and he died 9:30 Monday morning. He died very peacefully; he realized that he couldn't live; so he attended to his business as much as he could.

Mr. Thayer came Saturday night and Mrs. Thayer came Sunday morning and stayed till after the funeral was all over.

Brock had the finest funeral ever held in the town of Glen Rock. The hall was decorated with flowers and greenery and we had the picture taken of the decorations and Mrs. Thayer will send them as soon as possible along with a lock of his hair and some other things.

I hope you will be glad to get this letter for I feel so sorry for you, because you were so far away, but let me assure you everything possible was done for poor Brock and when Jim comes home, show him this letter and he can explain things more fully than I can by writing.

You may think from the way I write that Brock and I were more than friends, but we were just simply good friends and that was all.

I will close for this time and as I was Brock's friend and am Jim's friend, I would also like to be a friend to you. Yours truly,

GIRTRUDE WHITING.

Aid Society.

On Thursday afternoon, October 16th, at 3:30 p. m., a meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Mosby for the purpose of permanently organizing an aid society. The organization will be for the purpose simple and untrammelled charity, regardless of religious creed or political affiliations. All denominations are requested to join the society and lend a hand toward the noble purpose for which the society will be organized. Kerrville is wonderfully blessed with a salubrious climate and a thrifty, prosperous people. Cases of destitution are very rare among us, yet it is very essential that we prepare, by concerted action to aid those upon whom the hand of unavoidable misfortune may chance to fall.

To the Voters of Kerr County.

The report has been scattered broadcast all over the county, that I have withdrawn from the race as a candidate for County Treasurer. This is absolutely false and without any foundation whatsoever. I will not only stay in the race, but hope to be elected, and will try to make you a good official.

Respectfully,

OSCAR ROSENTHAL.

Wolsley an Englishman.

Most people imagine that Lord Wolsley, who completed his 60th year on June 4, is an Irishman. As a matter of fact, the commander-in-chief, although born on the Emerald Isle, belongs to an ancient Staffordshire family. Lord Wolsley has probably been in more engagements than any other general. Since entering the army in 1852, he has served in Burmah, India, Canada, China, Ashantee, Egypt and finally the Soudan.

Dead Shots From the Philippines.

A wiry-looking, bronzed youth in a khaki uniform walked into a Philadelphia shooting gallery the other day, and, picking up a rifle, began to make things hum. There were four stationary hullseye targets, representing men and animals, at the rear of the gallery, and on these the marksman rapped out a series of clangs that resembled realistic rendition of the anvil chorus. Then he took a fresh rifle and beat a tattoo on a pair of swinging targets. A rattle of several scores of clay pipes next attracted his attention, and the proprietor of the place spent a bad five minutes figuring out the time and money it would take to replace the dhudeens that were snapped off. Several glass targets in motion were pie for the youth behind the gun. The only thing breakable remaining was a glass ball, supported by a dancing water jet. This the marksman failed to smash, though he spent half an hour and considerable ready money in an endeavor before leaving. "Darn these fellows from the Philippines!" exclaimed the shooting gallery man. "That's the second one, to clean me out today. If it hadn't been for that glass ball on the water, I'd have come out to the bad both times."

The Growing of Walking Canes.

Few men who use walking canes are aware that the growing of walking stalks is a special industry, and that certain kinds of canes are not merely collected as they may be found growing in forests. One may find at any store where the sticks are sold, many canes of almost precisely the same length, weight, shape and material. Canes having a tangle of roots at the handle, for instance, are much sold in the land. They are grown by a "ferrier," who makes it a specialty to trim and shape young ash plants. In some instances the canes are secured by the process of grubbing and pruning furze and wild shrubbery, and the men who engage in this occupation are said to make money out of wild stuff that goes to waste in many other places. The furze is not cultivated, though it might be, to a profit, especially in areas that are good for little else.

Has Had a Remarkable Career.

William H. Garlond, now living at Washington at the age of 67 years, entered the navy when a youth and served several years on foreign stations. He visited Napoleon at Waterloo and has seen every president of the United States except Washington. When the civil war broke out he responded to the call for volunteers and served till the close of the war. He was instrumental in having female nurses substituted for male nurses in the government hospitals and homes. He lost his entire family, consisting of a wife and four children, in the flood at Evansville, Ind., in 1884. He himself escaped by climbing a tree, where he remained thirty-six hours. He is receiving a pension of $12 a month, on which he subsists.

Grow to Quit Politics.

Galusha A. Grow, congressman-at-large from Pennsylvania, will not be a candidate for re-election in his home district. Mr. Grow celebrated his 80th birthday last week. He was speaker of the house during the civil war. The venerable statesman is quoted as saying: "I have appreciated highly the honor that has been done me in electing me congressman-at-large, and I am satisfied with the regard that has been made already."

In the Good Old Days.

A letter written sixty-one years ago brings forcibly to view the change in medical practice which has occurred during that period. The writer was the 9-year-old daughter of a clergyman, and she describes how the doctors dealt with her father in a case of sore throat. First they bled him, the next day they gave him calomel and jalap, and the third day they dosed him with a powerful emetic. The effect upon the good clergyman is shown in a letter from him dwelling upon the unsatisfactory state of his spiritual condition and rejoicing that life is short so that the end at the most will soon come. There is unconscious humor in the apparent absence of any suspicion that the doctors had anything to do with his state of spiritual gloom. As he lived forty-five years longer and to the age of 85, it is apparent that he had a constitution which was too much even for the old school doctors.

Money On Its Travels.

Mrs. Sara Knowles, who has charge of the forthcoming woman's exchange at Madison Square gar-an-interesting $5 note, number 513-624, series of 1899. It was covered on both sides with the names of persons who have handled it. On the face is stamped "Moona Kader, sultan, Singapore," in blue ink, the design including a number of Indian characters. Underneath is the trade mark of "Gordon & Co., Sydney, N. S. W." Then follows a signature, "Mazuel Prieto San Salvador, Salvador, C. A." and the date, "June 7, 1900." So far so good. "Leon, Grand, Prag, Prag," is the fourth mark. The fifth is written in so large a hand that it covers the others, "Louise Moran Avenue du Trocadero 7, Paris." On the back of the note is this "Paid by Fred Nemeyer to Ells Larkin, Washington, October 28, 1900." Mrs. Knowles has autographed the bill and will exhibit it in a glass case.

Three in One District.

The redistricting of Mississippi had a curious result. Three Democratic congressmen—Patrick Henry of Vicksburg, John Sharp Williams of Yazoo, and Charles Edward Hooker of Jackson—suddenly found themselves in the same district. All three wanted to go back to the house; only one could. Williams has won out in the primary, and remains in congress. Williams' canvass is spoken of as one of the greatest ever seen in Mississippi. The last day of it found him in his shirt sleeves, in a reputedly hostile ward of Jackson, speaking alternately in English, German and French. His own county went for him solidly, and he made surprising inroads in the counties of his competitors.

Wrote His Own Resolutions.

The late General Franz Sigel had the singular felicity of writing resolutions on the death of General Joe Hooker, twenty-three years ago, which were so eminently appropriate to his own career that the Association of the Eighth New Jersey volunteers, "Hooker's Old Guard," for which they were written, adopted the magazine, with only the change of name, in honor of General Sigel himself.

Caste Modified by Religion.

It is said that the caste system of India has been so greatly modified by the preaching of Christianity that the Indian princes who recently visited England seem to have had no fear of losing caste after their return, although they may have broken caste while away a constant supply of blood-making material or their systems break down under the constant drain. The very moment there is lack of blood, or when the blood is impoverished, the signal appears upon the face in sallowness or pallor. The remedy needed is Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic. Nothing else meets this particular condition so well. Use of it has made hundreds of thousands of women look younger and made them feel even younger than they looked. It not only restores strength, energy and beauty, but it is a prompt and certain cure for all ailments peculiar to the sex. It cures because it removes the first cause. It supplies just what nature needs to bring health.

Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic

strengthens debilitated organs, gives tone and elasticity to muscles and ligaments, rounds out wasted tissues and renews the vigor of the nervous system. It helps quickly and just as surely and permanently.
Loss of appetite, of ambition, nervousness, pains in the head, back, kidneys, limbs, muscles, etc., are all cured by Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic.

The following is one of thousands of similar endorsements that we have received:

Houston, Texas, Dec. 4, 1901.
"My father has used your medicine since the War, and when I married in December, 1872, I commenced house-keeping with one bottle of Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic, one bottle of his Wild Cherry Bitters, and two boxes of his Little Liver Pills. I am now nearly sixty-two years of age. Looking backward I feel attached to the old medicines and would not change them for any of the new ones made."
Mrs. J. A. Pickett.

DR. HARTER'S
Every bottle of Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic has our "Crescent" trade-mark on the label. Don't accept a substitute— insist on Dr. Harter's.

Another Thru Train To Kool Kolorado.

Beginning July first, we shall have two thru trains to Colorado each day. One will leave Fort Worth at 9:45 a. m., the other, 11:10 p. m., after the arrival of all evening connections.

For guests who wish to retire early, a sleeping-car will be ready each evening at 9 o'clock.

Both trains will be run thru to Denver. Each will carry thru coaches and sleeping-cars, and meals will be served, en-route, in cafe dining cars. Tho this doubles the thru train service to Colorado from this territory, there is still "Only One Road" which has any at all. We have also the only direct Colorado line; make the best time, and very nearly everybody who goes. And, using our line, "You Don't Have to Apologize," you know.

Mr. Roosevelt's Fingers.

Prince's latest photograph of Roosevelt shows the hand of the chief executive to be positively spatulate, says Tip in the New York Press. The spatulate hand, according to highest authorities has a good muscular development, especially at the finger tips, which are almost club-like in appearance. It indicates love of movement, persistency and great natural managing abilities. Its possessor is unambitious, appreciating wealth rather than luxury; is very strict, and his language is inclined to be forcible rather than ornate. He is of a logical turn of mind, not over-religious but with morality of his own; is restless when doing nothing in particular, and most happy when engaged in real hard work. His motto is "Self Help." He has a justice-seeking nature, and never stoops to unworthy means to accomplish an end. He has the quickening spirit of advancement, is inventive, and endowed with great constructive and mechanical powers. Spatulated fingers, excessively developed, will produce a tyrannical desire for action.

Helped Out by Lincoln.

When Joseph Jefferson, the famous American actor, was a boy he used to tramp from town to town in the United States as a small member of his father's traveling company. They once struck the town of Springfield, Ill., at a time when a great religious revival was in full swing. In the hope of preventing any play-acting at such a period, the town council demanded a heavy fee for permission. This was a serious matter for the strollers, who had to earn their daily bread, and a local lawyer took up their case out of good will. So persuasively did he plead that the fee was not insisted on, and the performance took place. The lawyer, whose wit and humor served the players so well, afterward became president of his native country, and is known to fame as Abraham Lincoln.

To Prohibit Baseball.

The legislature of Mississippi will probably be asked to consider a bill to prohibit the game of baseball between the 1st of September and the close of the year. The reason given for this is rather peculiar. It is said that when the season for picking cotton arrives the negroes become profoundly interested in baseball. In one little town the other day nine games of baseball were in progress at one time, thereby taking 162 men from the cotton fields, without counting the spectators. As the negroes keep their ball teams organized the year round in some of the cotton regions, it is held that they can get enough of the game in eight months of the year.

Case of Telepathy.

A curious case of telepathy is reported from Athens. M. Lazare Lyrites, a Greek sculptor, was quietly talking to his wife, when suddenly he became greatly excited and began uttering incomprehensible phrases. When his excitement had subsided somewhat he told his wife that he had heard a voice saying that his brother's wife was dead. The sculptor and his wife noted the date and hour of this strange occurrence, and some days later a letter was received announcing that the lady in question had died exactly at this time at a place 600 miles distant.

Was Sure Evans Was Angry.

When Admirals Evans and Schley were both assigned to duty on the lighthouse board, which convenes in rooms at the treasury department in Washington, the Philadelphia Post relates, the colored messenger at the door one morning stopped Admiral Schley.

"I wish," said the darkey, "you would speak a kind word to Com'dore Evans for me. He's done got it in for me."

"You must be mistaken, George," Schley replied. "I happen to know that Commodore Eevans like the rest of us, thinks highly of your distinguished services."

"Oh, F's sure," persisted the colored man, "that Com'dore Evans don't like me no more."

"What makes you think so?" demanded Schley.

"Well," explained the messenger, "usually when Com'dore Evans arrives in the mornin' he says, 'Hello, George, you blankety-blank-blank fool! How are you?' but dis mornin' he done say merely, 'Hello George!' The com'dore must surely taken a pow'ful dislike to me."

The Honest Chinaman.

One of Philadelphia's rich young bachelors returned from a trip to the Pacific coast with a Chinaman as valet, having been induced to engage him by San Francisco friends, who said that the Originals were admirable servants. Remarks, the Times. One morning the Chinaman found a half dollar on the floor, and was told by his employer to keep it for his honesty. Some days later the bachelor missed a scarfpin, and inquired of the valet as to its whereabouts. "Me found it on le floor, an' me kept it for my honesty," was the explanation.

California's First School Teacher.

J. C. Pelton, aged 76, the first public school teacher in California, has been given the Los Angeles Express some interesting reminiscences. He is a great-grandson of Joel Pelton, who fired the first shot at Bunker Hill and was killed by the first British cannon shot. His father used to tell with pleasure how Cornwallis bowed his head as he passed under his extended bayonet at the Yorktown surrender.

American Expenditures in Paris.

Four million dollars is the sum annually left in Paris by visiting Americans, according to a writer in the Petit Parisien. Mrs Charles T. Yerkes is credited with spending $20,000 a year on gowns purchased there and Mrs. Mackay sometimes orders $10,000 or $15,000 worth at a time. Among male customers the best are said to be Morgan, Carnegie, Schwab and Vanderbilt.

Burglarizing the Mint.

Before a burglar could tunnel into the money vaults of the Philadelphia mint he would have to pierce a solid rock so full of veins of water that the smallest opening is immediately flooded. The gold vaults are of steel seven inches thick, and the silver is protected by one inch of steel.

An Error.

Autumn's Triumphant March.

Magnificent autumn! He comes not like a pilgrim, clad in russet weeds. He comes not like the hermit clad in gray. But he comes like a warrior, with the stain of blood upon his brazen mail. His crimson scarf is rent. His scarlet banner drips with gore. His step is like a flail upon the threshing floor.—Longfellow.

Weevil Attack Johnson Grass.

Marlin, Falls Co., Tex., Oct. 4.—Farmers in this section report boll weevils attacking the Johnson grass. The reporter, believing the matter to be simply a jest, called on one of the substantial farmers of the county, and is informed that the blades of Johnson grass are lined with the weevil that has already destroyed the cotton crop.

Boquet of Fools.

Here's a bouquet of fools. The fool girl looking for a beau, a fool boy proud of his clothes, the fool widow looking for a husband, the know it all fool who will not admit there is a possibility of his judgement being at error, the egotistical fool who thinks he runs the community, and last but not least, the fool who thinks his money entitles him to be ranked higher in the scales of social excellence than his pauper neighbor. He stands on a self-erect pedestal and exhibits his asinine qualities to the mirth of his fellows. He excites more pity than contempt. Every community has its quota of her fools.—Sulphur Springs Gazette.

Wrong Number.

The telephone girl and the bill clerk to whom she had promised her heart and hand were sitting in front of a fire place talking about the happy days to come when they would be one. From one little detail to another the talk finally drifted to the subject of lighting fire in the morning. He stated it as his emphatic opinion that it was the wife's place to get up and start the fires and let her poor hard working husband rest. After this declaration there was a silence for the space of about three quarters of a second. Then the telephone girl thrust out the finger encircled by her engagement ring and murmured sweetly but firmly: Ring off, please; you have connected with the wrong number.—Western Publisher.
