GEORGE BOWLES.

Returns From a Visit, and Says Southwest Texas is Good Enough For Him.

WELL, friends, I have returned from my voyage! Didn't know that I had been on a voyage, did you? I was not on the briny sea, but I saw plenty of water. From central Texas to North Missouri the whole face of the earth was covered with it. Crops are in a very poor shape in all that country, and Kansas and Oklahoma will have to ship their hogs to this country next fall and winter them on the mast. Many acres of fine grain will be either a complete loss, or greatly damaged by the wet weather.

A fellow asked me how I liked that country, and I told him that I would not live there if he would fence the thing and pay the taxes on it for a thousand years. He wanted to know why, and I told him it was because the country was too slow. Then he pointed to a hog about the size of an elephant and told me that Texas had nothing like that. I told him he didn't know a fine hog when he saw one, that there was not a hog in this state that could not out run that short-legged son-of-a-gun. Then he tried to tell me a lot of other things about the country, and mentioned the fact that the niggers had the balance of power there, and that a white man stood almost as high there as a nigger, as long as he kept a white man's place. I told him that we Texans would enjoy such a state of affairs as that for a while, but it would be a fleeting joy, for the condition would not last long, and then our people would get tired of the carnage. I saw some little symptoms of awakening in Missouri, but I think the case of Kansas is hopeless. Missouri went Republican four years ago, but a leading Republican ex-official, who used to steal watermelons out of the same patch with me, told me that there was a strong sentiment among even Republicans in that state, the same as there is among Texas Republicans, in favor of a "Jim Crow" law for Missouri. I would have felt pretty good over that, but I was walking along the street and a fellow showed me a big, fine looking man who was elected to the Missouri legislature two years ago upon the Democratic ticket and a platform of a separate coach law for that state, but when the thing came to a vote he voted against it, and then told his people that he did it because he was afraid of the niggers, and afraid that he would lose his nigger trade if he voted for the bill. I sized him up all around, and then I told my friend that he was a good looker from a beef stand point, and that I guessed he had been to college, could read latin, eat pie with a fork and do a lot of other civilized things, but that if such a man as that should attempt to butt in to Texas politics he would have about the same swift and fleeting career as a feather in hell. Said I, our boys may have cotton seed hull and cactus needles in their hair, and they may not know anything about latin, dead languages, or anything else dead, but you put them up against live propositions and they will make good, and if they don't they will find themselves studying the diametrical opposition of a six inch post hole to the cerulean arch of a Texas sky, and seeking the point of least resistance between a crowbar and a bed of lime stone concrete. If the people in Petteis county Missouri would do their whole duty they would paint their representative the color of a mildewed saddle and put him to work on the county road.

Speaking of roads, that country has more roads, and poorer roads than any country on earth. There is a county road every two hundred yards because the people are so hdebound that they won't join fences, and the roads remind one of Charles O'Malleys cousins, "Each one tries to be more damnable ugly than the other." But I found some beautiful spots there, one in particular. When I left sedalia, after writing my last letter to you, I had a long tiresome buggy ride across the country. The roads were next to impassable. Finally, after passing through a muddy lane that ran for miles in a bee line, we came to a house on a hill in the prairie. Great, spreading, waving maple trees surrounded the house, bees were buzzing in and out the hives, hens were clucking to their broods, and there were the Maiden Blush roses looking over the gate and nodding a welcome to me. As I approached the house I looked through the window, and there in the sunlight, with my little niece upon her lap, sat a white haired old woman.

There was the beautiful place that I had come all those weary miles to see. There is something wrong with a man if environment can keep the place where his old mother is from being beautiful. She took me in her arm and carried me back to the times when I fell off the "banisters" and bumped my head, and to another day when I buried my head in her bosom to ease the pain while they split my thumb for a felon. You may talk about your books and your preachers as a means of making men and women good, but I want to tell you that the whole thing hinges upon the love we have for our mothers. God made mothers before he made the bible, and next to the goodness of God himself comes the goodness of mother and the great work she can do toward making the world a better place. Sometimes I think the young mothers of the present do not realize what a potent power they possess for doing good in this world.

I spent a week very happily there, and many of my relatives and childhood friends. I went to the old homes of my grandfathers and looked at the old "scaly bark" hickorys that I used to climb when I was a boy. There have been many, many changes since I scampered across the old blue grass lawn in the happy abandon of childhood, but there are many old landmarks that time has changed but little. I found the four-o'clocks blooming in the fence corners the same as they did forty years ago, and the wild Larkspur is still standing on the rocky hill sides.

There are a lot of things in that country that I don't like, but there are a lot of things there that any man with a good appetite does like. Old home made ham and red gravy, white clover honey, fried chicken, cherry preserves, "pie plant" and goosberry pie, and a lot of other things that made a fellow feel good all over when he was a boy, and that made him eat himself sick now, just for the sake of old memories.

The elder states, that thirty years ago, were almost entirely devoted to agriculture, are now largely engaged in stock raising. The old farms have been planted in grass. All along the way where many years ago I saw fields of corn and grain are now pastures. In those pastures I saw many of the finest beef cattle that I have seen in a life time.

I wore the collar Mrs. Bowles insisted on me taking along, twice. The folks up there seemed a little surprised to see a fellow from this country with a collar on. They will finally get it into their heads though that all Texans do not sleep on the ground, cover with a wet rope, and wear nothing but a six-shooter and a reputation for being desperate. I have peeped around the country a little the last few years, and every time I make a trip I am the more fully convinced that as people Texans are guilty of less real cussedness than of any other state in the Union.

Texas is the best thing there is, and southwest Texas is the prime cut of the whole carcass. Our people are in better condition than these of any other section of the country. We have less to kick about, and we kick less than any other people. I am glad I went, and I am glad I come back.

Sore Nipples.

Any mother who had experience with this distressing ailment will be pleased to know that a cure may be effected by applying Chamberlain's Salve as soon as the child has done nursing. Wipe it off with a soft cloth before allowing the babe to nurse. Many trained nurses use this salve with best results. Samples free at all druggists.

NOT SLANG.

"You must be the whole push," said a passenger as the fat man forced his way aboard during the rush hour.

"I guess I am the main squeeze," responded the fat man.

"Flattening against each other, the rest gave silent assent."

UNHEALTHY.

"Aren't you ashamed, Georgie, to make such a fuss about having your hands washed? See how much better they look already."

"I don't care. I don't like to see 'em so pale."—Harper's.

TAFT AND SHERMAN.

REPUBLICAN STANDARD BEARERS IN THE NATIONAL CAMPAIGN.

The Republican Presidential convention, after exploding the usual amount of fire works that are a part of the performance in all presidential convention, ratified the nomination of Taft and Sherman, that was made several months ago by President Roosevelt. The convention also ratified on Thursday the Republican platform, which had been standing in cold metal in all the big printing offices in America since the Monday before awaiting the word "release."

It was a harmonious convention, and the only thing in connection with it that had the appearance of being "woolly" was a pair of goat skin breeches eight feet square that were presented to Taft by the Texas delegation. The press reports didn't say whether the goats were "black and tan" or "lily white."

No Need Suffering from Rheumatism.

It is a mistake to allow any one to suffer from rheumatism, as the pain can always be relieved, and in most places a cure effected by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. The relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. It makes sleep and rest possible. Even in cases of long standing this liniment should be used on account of the relief which it affords. Do not be discouraged until you have given it a trial. For sale by all druggists.

CHICAGO'S "GOOD ANGEL."

Jane Addams, the Chicago social worker, is said to have a larger constituency than any college president in the world. Nine thousand men, women and children go to Hull House to attend clubs and classes, to learn how to cook, to sew, to make hats, to dance, to paint, to model in clay, to drink a social cup of tea, to witness and take part in dramatics, to study literature, philosophy and political economy.

ROYAL COUPLE LONG MARRIED.

It is not generally known that King Edward and Queen Alexandra of England, though far from being the oldest of reigning couples, have been married for more years than any other pair of crowned heads in Europe.

WILL CELEBRATE JULY THE FOURTH.

There will be a grand barbecue at the fair grounds, Kerrville, July 4, under the auspices of the Kerr county lodges Modern Woodmen of America. Everybody is invited to attend the barbecue. There will be two grand balls at night, one at Pampells opera House and one at The Fawcett Hall. Let all the people attend and make the entertainment a pronounced success from a social view point.

PROFITS OF AUTHORSHIP.

Anne Warner was "doing accounts" the other night, and—apropos of the comparative wealth accruing to playwrights and authors—she discovered that for each day spent on "Susan Clegg and a Man in the House" she had received about $200; whereas, if "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" runs successfully through a second season, at the end of that season she will have received in all about $50 a day for the time she spent on it. People who are persuaded that playwrights make more than authors may remind her that she could not write a book every few days; on the other hand, she may tell them that a second play would place her hors de combat for life. So, from Mrs. French's point of view, honors are easy!—Putnam's.

IN THE SPRING, ETC.

"Perhaps it's oversensitiveness on my part," remarked the old bachelor, "but from this time on until autumn sets in again in earnest I am going to be continually embarrassed by public love making. Last Sunday afternoon I went for my usual stroll in the park and I suffered any number of minor shocks from coming on couples spooning on the benches along the paths. Later on I had to ride down town in the subway and I saw two more couples talking into each other's faces as if there wasn't a human being within a mile of them. Of course they don't mind me. But I hate to be put in the attitude of an intruder on love's young dream."

LEON GOODMAN KILLED.

STOPPED OFF THE KERRVILLE TRAIN AT WEST COMMERCE STREET CROSSING, AND BOTH LEGS CUT OFF.

Leon Goodman, a traveling salesman of Louisville, Ky., fell under the wheels of a San Antonio & Aransas Pass train this morning and was mortally injured. Two trucks passed over his legs above the knees and his limbs were literally ground into a shapeless mass.

The accident occurred at the West Commerce street crossing of the Aransas Pass railroad shortly after 9 o'clock. An ambulance was called and Goodman was taken to the Santa Rosa infirmary. Dr. Amos Graves, Sr., was called and announced that his injuries were fatal, and that he would live but a few hours.

After the train had been stopped and as Goodman lay with his mangled legs still pinioned, he showed his gameness by shouting to a Mexican:

"Don't stand there waiting for me to die; go and get a doctor."

A moment later he lost consciousness.

Mr. Goodman has traveled for the firm of Laub Bros., trunk manufacturers of Louisville, for many years and has made San Antonio his headquarters. He was formerly with Joske Bros., in this city.

This morning he was returning from a trip on the Kerrville branch of the Sap and intended leaving at once south on the International & Great Northern railroad.

As the train passed the West Commerce street crossing he saw the south-bound International & Great Northern train waiting at the depot. He lifted his suit case in his hand and stepped from the moving train, which was going at a rate not exceeding six miles an hour. Two Mexicans who were standing at the crossing saw the accident.

HIS FOOT SLIPPED.

As he stepped from the car step his foot seemed to catch on the street car track and he fell to the ground, his legs being thrown across the track. The wheels caught him and he was dragged a distance of 150 feet, turning over and over again. Someone shouted to Conductor R. S. Bodkin, who promptly stopped the train. Dr. Graves, who chanced to be near the scene, was summoned and he took immediate steps to stop the bleeding. Goodman was then placed in an ambulance and removed to Santa Rosa infirmary.

Mr. Goodman is one of the best known commercial travelers in southwest Texas. For many years he has traveled in this section and was a general favorite among San Antonio merchants. W. H. Braswell, a life-long friend, was summoned to the scene of the accident and assisted in bearing the unconscious man to the ambulance.

The dying man is 35 years of age and has a wife and children residing at 1960 First Eighth street, Louisville. He was a prominent Mason and a member of the Blue Lodge, A. F. & A. M. He was also a member of the Travelers' Protective Association, Post D.—San Antonio Gazette.

Born in Iowa.

Our family were all born and raised in Iowa, and have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy (made at Des Moines) for years. We know how good it is from long experience in the use of it. In fact, in Elpase, Texas, the writer's life was saved by the prompt use of this remedy. We are now engaged in the mercantile business at Narcoossee, Fla., and have introduced the remedy here. It has proven very successful and is constantly growing in favor.—Ennis Bros. Dear Colonel:

The receipt of your superb souvenir "Harvest Edition," brought to my busy self my seeming neglect in acknowledging the many courtesies received at your hands and from the good people of your enterprising city, during my brief sojourn there this winter.

That Harvest Edition is not only a credit to you as published, but it certainly is one of the most concise exponents of the wonderful resources of the Guadalupe valley and Southwest Texas that I have ever seen.

The crispness of its text-telling much in little, the many handsome illustrations, and the artistic conception of the whole, appeals to all who have seen it, and it has received numerous compliments from visitors to my office.

This artistic souvenir will find a fitting place in my library, and in the afternoon of life it will certainly be a pleasure to look over its scenes, and recall to my mind the best little city in Texas on the cypress-shaded banks of the Guadalupe.

With best wishes for your continued prosperity, I am,

Very Sincerely,
GEO. W. BIEHN.

Greeley, Colorado,

Hon. J. E. Grinstead,
Kerrville, Texas.

Dear Sir & Friend:

I have just finished reading, from cover to cover, your illustrated Harvest Edition of the Kerrville Mountain Sun.

Beginning with your original poem, "Fishin on the Guadalupe", which takes me back, but a few years ago, to boyhood days and scenes, continuing right through to the advertisement on the last page, your Special Edition is a work of art, and is the result of a lot of hard work coupled with ability.

I shall not attempt to itemize, but must make mention of the first part of your story of "Kerrville fifty years ago." Of special interest to me was the history of establishing the county seat at Kerrville, Comfort taking it away, and Kerrville regaining it. I read with much interest the copies from the old county records, as they contained the names of my good father and uncle, J. M. Starkey and D. A. Rees, and many other old timers who have gone to their reward.

The "Present," you treated in an admirable manner, showing that Kerrville is forging to the front commercially, and that you are making long strides ahead in an agricultural way in old Kerr county.

The latter part of your story "Fifty Years Hence" reads like a novel. Rather makes a fellow "Shy off" at first, but who can tell, Kerrville may in fifty years become all you predict or even more.

Upon the whole you are to be congratulated, and personally I feel to thank you, as to me it was almost like taking a trip "back home."

Am enclosing a one dollar bill, please mail to me four copies of your Harvest Edition.

With best wishes for yourself, the Mountain Sun, Kerrville and Kerr County, I am,

Sincerely yours,
EDWIN STARKEY.

Mr. J. E. Grinstead,
Dear Sir:

I wish to THANK you for sending me a copy of your "Harvest No." of the Kerrville Mountain Sun. I have read it with pleasure—and I trust, profit. Your "Fishin on the Guadalupe" makes me think that there might be something in that portion of Texas "That Poets are made of." Please tell George Bowles for me that I still admire his writings VERY much, but that he broke the record when he wrote "Jes weary as can be," and that a man up in Missouri thinks that he struck the key note of American Patriotism squarely in the CENTER and on BOTH sides all at once. I had a letter from Mr. Bowles during the winter and he said if he was to tell the WHOLE TRUST about your portion of Texas that I would not BELIEVE it, and if he was to lie about it that I would catch him when I go out there in the fall. I am sure to go in September or October and fetch some of my friends out there too, that is unless sickness or something of that kind should prevent. I'll like the country if its as you describe it. We are having too much rain up here in Missouri, corn very small and weedy, oats fine, wheat not much, meadows and pastures excellent. Hurrah for the MOUNTAIN SUN.

Your friend,
J. W. DAY.

The Strongest Fence

Science proves that the strongest fence, because constructed throughout on scientific lines, is the

ELLWOOD FENCE

SIMPLE—SCIENTIFIC—STRONG

The Reasons:

1st—Each horizontal extension of the ELLWOOD is a steel cable, consisting of two heavy wires intertwined.

2d—Each of these cables is tied to each other cable by a continuous heavy wire lapped tightly about every cable—NOT tied in a crooked "knot" or twist to weaken the strength of the tie wire at the bending point. (Wrap a wire around your finger and the wire is not weakened; tie a wire up in a hard knot and you cannot undo it without breaking, it is so much weakened.)

THAT IS ALL THERE IS TO ELLWOOD FENCE—

Heavy steel cables lapped about and held together by steel wire, forming uniform meshes. Simple, isn't it? No chance for weakness in any part; uniformly strong. The reasons for the superiority of ELLWOOD FENCE are not hard to find. This company owns and operates its own iron mines and furnaces; its own wire mills and six large fence factories—either one of the six being larger than any other fence factory in the world. These facts should be convincing.

"A CLEAR, BOLD STATEMENT."

In our issue of June 6, we published an editorial headed, "Putting the people right." The article was published for the benefit of some misguided individuals who were laboring under the impression that because the editor of the Sun is a candidate for office he ought not make honest expression editorially upon public matters. In the article the following paragraph appeared:

"This article is not intended as a statement of the policy of the editor from the view point of an office seeker and a politician, but a statement of the policy of Kerrville Mountain Sun, as a newspaper."

There are probably very few voters in Kerr county who did not read the article in question, and our knowledge of the intelligence of the people of this section leads us to believe that most of them understood it. The editor of the Center Point News, in the June 13 issue of that paper, devoted considerable space to a discussion of the editorial. In the course of his comment he says of the opening paragraph of our editorial:

"We could not write words that would more clearly and fully express our sentiments than the above." A little further on he says: "But when through reading the editorial we were disappointed to find that it did not contain even the mildest view of its author upon any question, now before, or to come before, the people."

Tut, tut, neighbor, you have been losing sleep. That was not a political editorial. It was not a veiled shot at anybody. It was not designed to make expression upon political issues. The purpose was to declare that the fact that the editor was in politics was not a reason why any one should dictate the policy of the Sun. Here are a whole bouquet of the "bold, clear statements" we made:

"To begin with, it is my personal opinion that there is no place in the civil or military service of any country that can be rightly filled by either a physical or a moral coward. * * * A man who will attempt to secure his own election, or that of any other person, by subterfuge and deceit is unworthy of confidence. * * * A public official is a public servant, and the people who employ him have a right to know what his position is on public matters. * * * A man who is too big a coward to deal the cards openly, above the table, in his dealings with the public is unfit to publish a newspaper. * * * I here and now state that there is no man, nor class or society of men in the world who can dictate the policy of the Mountain Sun for a single issue, either by threat of opposition, privately or politically, or by promise of reward. * * * Whatever may be the result of any political contest, whether I shall be retained in office or not, my first duty to the people of Kerrville, of the 98th district, and of Southwest Texas, is as a newspaper man who will continue in the future, as I have in the past, to stand up bravely and boldly for their interests."

We are mailing out the complete announcement of the Editor this week, but are not publishing it in the Sun, because it is too long. We want every newspaper in Texas, that so desires, to comment freely upon the announcement. If we have overlooked any item in making the announcement, we will be glad to have someone advise us and will issue a supplement. The Editor of the Sun would not have a public office won by subterfuge and deceit. The people of the 98th district shall not purchase a political "pig in a poke" if the Sun can prevent it.

Ex-president Grover Cleveland died on the 24th of June. Thus the United States is again without a living ex-president. Flags were at half-mast during the day, that was the only sign of mourning for the passing of a man who had been for eight years the chief ruler of the greatest nation of the earth. It was fitting tribute. It was emblematical of the fact that the nation mourns the death of a great man. Not the vulgar unseemly mourning that is sometimes indulged in at the death of rulers of other nations, but the refined sorrow of a nation of people who realize that a grand man has finished a wonderful life career, has laid down the gauge and the rowel with which he had been wont to work upon the edifice of human history, and has been called to exercise his craftsmanship under the immediate direction of the Master builder. Gone to rest, after many years of toilsome journey that led to the topmost step of fame's ladder. Passed over to the other side, never to tread again the paths of earthly ambition, or to feel the laurels of achievement press his brow. Mourn, at half mast, oh, ye flags, and let your voices, blending, become the voice of a nation's sorrow for a fallen chieftain. Cleveland is dead.

DISTRICT COURT.

The Kerr County District Court, June term, convened Monday, with Judge R. H. Burney on the bench, and District Attorney C. C. Harris in attendance. The civil docket was taken up Tuesday and the parties to the Boyd vs. Schreiner mill pond case, by their attorneys, having announced ready for trial, the cause came on to be heard. The entire week has been consumed up on the trial of the case, which is still in progress.

Among those in attendance at court are, Hon. W. C. Linden and Judge Thos. H. Franklin, of San Antonio, of counsel for defendant; Judge Ewing Boyd, of Houston, assisting counsel for plaintiff; Alfred Miller, court stenographer.

Dr. W. M. Brumby, of Austin, State Health Officer, and Dr. Amos J. Graves, of San Antonio, were in Kerrville yesterday to give expert testimony in the Boyd-Schreiner mill dam case.

Grand Jury's Report.

We, the Grand Jury for the June term of Kerr County District Court, beg leave to report to Your Honor, as follows:

After a diligent search and investigation, we find that, with the exception of some turbulence among a certain element of the colored population, practically no violations of the criminal laws of the state have been made in Kerr county since the January term of court. We congratulate our citizenship upon our present efficient Judicial officers, and the county peace officers, to whom, we feel sure, the absence of crime in our county is largely due.

B. M. HIXSON,
Foreman Grand Jury.

"My Ranch" is Open to the Public.

Mr. A. B. Davis has opened the beautiful new resort, known as "My Ranch," to the public. The Sun and the people of Kerrville welcome this enterprise to this part of the country. It will fill a long-felt want. It does not antagonize hotel business in any way. Its distinctive features are that it is not a hotel, but a real country ranch, although the property joins city limits. There is no other just such a place as this in all Texas. Guests at "My Ranch" can combine beautiful scenery, pure wholesome food, invigorating mountain air and out door exercise, while at the same time they have every convenience that can be had in the modern hotel.

PRESBYTERIAN ENCAMPMENT

WILL BEGIN JULY 2, AND LAST UNTIL THE 21ST.

The third annual encampment of Texas Presbyterians will be opened on the beautiful grounds at Kerrville this year on the second of July. It is confidently expected that there will be a large attendance, as this encampment has grown in the favor of the people each year that it has been held. The general business affairs of the assembly are in the hands of the Rev. John H. Green of Kerrville, assisted by a strong committee of local citizens. Everything is in readiness to care for any number of campers and a general good and edifying time is expected. The program is as follows: Each morning there will be a devotional service, the purpose of which is to set the spiritual note of the day. This service will be led by the Rev. Frank E. Fincher, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of Houston. Following this for an hour on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of each week there will be a Bible class conducted by the Rev. Robert E. Vinson, of the Theological Seminary at Austin. On Saturday the fourth and continuing until Tuesday the seventh, the entire time of the conference will be given to the consideration of the Sabbath school and Young People's Societies of our Assembly, led by the Rev. W. L. Hickman of the Texarkana Branch of the Publication Committee, assisted by a list of able speakers. Mr. Hickman will also have on exhibition during the entire period of the encampment specimens of the literature published by our committee. On July 11-14, corresponding to the Sabbath School Conference, the Home Mission work of the Assembly and especially of the Southwest will be presented to those assembled, in charge of the Rev. Homer McMillan of the Atlantic Committee. He will also be assisted by such speakers as the Rev. Dr. Clyde of Austin College, the Rev. A. G. Jones and the Rev. H. W. Hoon of San Antonio, the Rev. Dr. McEachy of Sherman, the Rev. Walter S. Scott of the Texas Mexican work and others. The Laymen's home-Missions Movement will also be strongly presented by such leaders as Mr. John S. Kerr of Sherman and Prof. D. F. Eagleton of Austin College. Foreign Missions at the Conference will be in charge of Dr. Reavis, assisted by the Rev. A. D. Rice of China and the Rev. Motte Martin of Africa. It is necessary only to mention these speakers to assure those who attend of an interesting and instructive program. Wednesday, July 8, will be known as Kerrville night, when the entire program will be in the hands of the citizens of Kerrville, led by Mrs. A. C. Shreiner, Mrs. F. L. Fordtran and Miss Herzog. Miss Herzog has charge of the special music of the encampment, and will furnish the program for the nights of July 10th and 17th. Two nights will be known as "Camp Fire Nights," when the entire assembly will gather around the fire in the open, old popular melodies will be sung, stories will be told, on at least one night we shall "scoop the looscious meelon," and the jolity will then be ended by singing the old familiar hymns and by family prayers, the whole camp joining. These nights will be held this year on July 9th and 16th. The general music of the whole assembly will be in charge of the Rev. Thos. F. Gallagher, of Honey Grove, Texas, and the books used will be the new song book of our Committee, and kindly furnished by them. Remember the date, July 2-21. Refreshment and rest for body, mind and soul. All Texas will be there.

The Value of a Beginning.

Too many people look down on small beginnings. They think they will open a bank account when they get a hundred dollars. We have seen a good many more really substantial accounts developed from a start of One Dollar and a determination to get ahead, than from hundred dollar starts without any determination. We like these small beginnings. They show the true saving spirit. Open that account today.

FUNNY THINGS

FROM THE PAPERS.

A doctor can hardly be blamed for losing his temper when he gets out of patients.—Ex.

A missing New Orleans banker has been indicted for "misapplication and abstraction" of several thousand dollars of his institution. How relieved his family must be to note that he is not a common thief.—Ex.

Up to Him.

"Look here, my lady," exclaimed the thrifty man to his extravagant wife, "you're carrying too much sail."

"Why should that worry you?" she retorted.

"Because I have to make the wind, that's why."—Ex.

Serious Complications.

"I've just been to see the Garlicks," said Mrs. Lapsling, laying aside her wraps. "They're all well except Mr. Garlick. He's got an awfully bad knee. As near as I can make out, from what the doctor says the poor man is threatened with diagnosis of the bone."—Ex.

His License For Being Born.

"As I was about to enter one of the schools the other morning," said Dr. Luther H. Gulick, the superintendent of physical training in the New York schools, "I met a little chap who was crying bitterly. After a long questioning to learn the cause of his distress he informed me: 'The principal won't let me go to school. He sent me home because I forgot to bring my license for being born.'"—Ex.

Too Much to Be Bourne.

This morning the Chronic Punster came in and rid himself of this one before we could get rid of him:

Roosevelt grouchy as he strolled along the Fairbanks of the Potomac. After all his hard Knox it certainly seemed tough to have tied his own Cannon. What's the Hughes! he murmured. "I like this job fine, and now I've got to quit it. Tafter only seven years. But I'll be bac (k) ortel-you the reason why."—Ex.

"Keep away from that," said a restaurant keeper to an Irishman, who was standing in front of a newly arrived box of turtles, holding his finger in evident pain.

"What are you doing there?"

"I wor investigating."

"Investigating what?"

"I wor trying to see which was the head and which was the tail of the beast over in the corner of the box."

"What did you want to know that for?"

"I have a curiosity to know whether I've been bit or stung."—Ex.

False.

The story is told of an actor, popular with the matinee girls, who is beset by the fear of being thought older than he is.

The last time this player was interviewed it was by a young woman reporter for one of the dailies. She wished to get his views touching the condition of the drama, a subject the actor was not particularly desirous of discussing.

"I'm not sure," said the young woman, laughingly, "whether I'm really finding out what you think.

You ought to be frank, for your eyes are gray and—

"Prematurely so, I assure you, my dear young woman," the player hastened to interject.—Harper's Weekly.

Guessed He Got It.

The story is told on Oscar Hammerstein: Recently, as he was going down town on a Broadway car, the street car conductor, one who acts like stockholders, stood over the opera manager and bawled:

"Did I get your fare?"

Hammerstein was in deep thought, and, without raising his head, quietly replied:

"I guess you did; I didn't see you ring it up for the company."

The conductor found business on the rear platform and the passengers enjoyed a hearty laugh.—New York Times.

When Christy Was Unknown.

"When I was in Howard Chandler Christy's illustrating class at the Cooper Institute," said a young New York grocer, "Mr. Christy told us that it paid to make ultra fashionable pictures, though sometimes such work had its disadvantages.

"He said that in the days before he had 'arrived' he had some things once in a New York exhibition—some rejected magazine offerings that he hoped to get a few dollars for.

"They were fashion pictures, the same kind he does now, and one day, as he was lounging near them, he saw a well dressed woman stop and level her lorgnette. Then, to his delight, she said:

"Ah, if I only knew this artist personally!"

"Mr. Christy came forward.

"Permit me, madame," he said, to introduce myself as the artist."

"What luck!" the woman exclaimed. "Now you'll tell me, won't you, the name of the dress-maker who made that tall girl's frock?"

Der Noise an Automobile Makes.

A large German woman held up a long line of people at the money-order window in the Boston postoffice the other day, and ail because her memory went back on her. She wanted to send some money to her son, a sailor on a merchant steamship, then in foreign waters, but when she presented the application at the window the clerk noticed that the address was lacking.

"Well, where do you want to send it?" he asked. We can't give you the money order unless you know the name of the place."

"Yah, dot's de trouble," she replied. "I didn't bring his letter and I can't remember der name of der town but it's some place out by China, dot sounds like der noise an automobile makes."

The two clerks looked at each other dubiously. "What kind of a noise does an automobile make?" asked one.

"Honk, Hohk," suggested the other.

"Yah, dot's it!" exclaimed the woman. "Honk, Honk, dot's der place."

"Fill it in 'Hongkong,'" said the clerk, and she paid over her money with a smile of relief.

Publisher Fails!
This Library of Universal History
Sent to Your Home FREE

The American Underwriters Corporation, receivers in Bankruptcy, invites you to examine this Library of Universal History in your own home for an entire week absolutely free of charge.

We wish to prove to you that our endorsed offer of the remaining sets of this magnificent publication, at less than cost, is the most stupendous book offer ever made. A new publication from cover to cover, prepared by a staff of great historians. Cost to produce nearly $250,000. Heartily endorsed by America's greatest scholars and teachers.

HERE is the greatest opportunity ever offered—an opportunity for our readers to secure at less than half price these fifteen beautiful volumes. The offer is made possible by the failure of the publishers, The Union Book Co. of Chicago. Hundreds of sets of this work have been sold at $6.00 each and they are worth every cent of it, but we now name you a rock-bottom bankruptcy price of only $5.00 after examination and $2.00 per month for 12 months. It is impossible to name a lower price for such a full, so this is less than half the publisher's price and it is made only to close out the few remaining sets quickly.

WITH THIS HISTORY you may at last be able to read the story of the world's greatest events, and gain inspiration from the genius of the Romans. Enter the ancient Colosseum and behold once more the martyrdom of the Christians, whose martyr and sacrifice of his amazing border of red and white robes, the story of the Christian religion in Rome. Side beside Alexander the Great, whose stern-headed glances dashes over the blood-stained battle fields of his career. Stand beside the mighty Nelson at Trafalgar, and hear his heroic commands as the English fleet sweeps the power of France from the ocean.

Look once more at the gay battle field of Waterloo; see English and French in mortal combat; see the mighty Napoleon trampling the great white plumed cities which flourished a thousand years before the days of the Christian era; see, before their eyes and feel the eastern empire, see Greece in her rapid progress by the hands of Rome, which she ruins to dominate power, only to fall and crumble and decay; see the triumph of the English and see the power of our own shores.

Watch the starting line of gamblers battling against the wealth and power of the mother country; cross the head of Washington at Valley Forge, walk through the snow with him and hear his inspiring words to his starving, ragged army; sit with him on the ice and hear him talk with him at Mt. Vernon; follow the thrilling life of our own republic and see the world view all these thrilling events as if the world were making once more before your own eyes.

To own this history means you need never speed a lonely evening. It is enabling to converse with the children of destiny. To be surrounded with your own eyes to be so grand, and to see the world as it is in the past, which is given and to the pleasure of your life.

Rev. Dr. F. W. Gunsaulus,

President, Avenue Institute

and Father Central Church

(Auditorium Chicago) says:

"Without the slightest doubt of its literary or scientific value, the Library of Universal History is a work of great interest and value which has reached me in time. With great pleasure I have read it and I am convinced that it will be a work of great interest and value to all who read it. It is a work of great interest and value which has reached me in time. With great pleasure I have read it and I am convinced that it will be a work of great interest and value to all who read it."

Sen. William B. Allison,

The Great Old Man of Iowa, Says:

"I have recently bought the 'Library of Universal History,' and find the logical arrangement of the matter especially advantageous for ready reference and the pleasure in recommending this valuable work as well as the plan for its distribution."

The editor of this paper advises every reader to write for these splendidly written, authoritative and beautifully illustrated books for free examination in your own home for a week, without any expense or obligation on your part to purchase.

These are the words used by the great emancipator in his famous speech, delivered at his old home to his friends and neighbors at Springfield, Ill.

Recalling what little opportunity he had in his early youth to get an education, and looking back to the days when he walked miles and miles for a book (for he then owned none of his own), Abraham Lincoln pleaded with the rural and village people, his old friends and associates to give their children a better chance—a chance to fight the battles of life successfully.

SURELY YOU want to give your boys and girls a better chance, not necessarily a college education, but better still, a home education. It is not always the school that gives the education; you can give this same opportunity or better to your family right in your own home. Good books—valuable books. Oh! how Lincoln cherished these.

What would Lincoln have said had you asked his advice on buying a great History of the World, an entertaining and educational Library for your home. 'The Library of Universal History,' and especially if we offered it at less than half of the regular price and on easy terms?

We want you to see these volumes, examine them in your own home without any expense on your part, then you can decide. That is what the family in the picture below have done. Mail the coupon now before you forget it. See the volumes themselves—they cost you nothing.

Note the father, mother, happy boys and girls gathered around the table reading the books. They are the words used by the great emancipator in his famous speech, delivered at his old home to his friends and neighbors at Springfield, Ill.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The rates charged for announcements in this column are as follows: Congressional, $25.00; State, $25.00; District, $10.00; County, $5.00; Precinct, $2.50. No name will appear in this column until the fee has been paid.

For Representative.
To the voters of Kerr County:
I announce myself a candidate for the office of Representative of this 98th Representative District, subject to the Democratic primary election to be held in July, 1908.

I hope to meet as many of the voters in the District as will be possible before the primary election, and to those whom I shall not be able to see personally on account of the limited time, I wish to say, that my ability, and almost my entire life spent in the District, will enable me to fill the office with honor to myself and benefit to the District, and if nominated in the primary election, and elected at the general election, I will serve you to the best of my ability.
SAM O'BRYANT,
Bandera, Texas.

For District Judge, 38th District.
To the Voters of Kerr County:
I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of District Judge of the 38th Judicial District, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries to be held in July, next.

I hope to be able to see, personally, every voter in this district, before the election; and if nominated at said primaries, and elected at the general election, I shall serve the people of the district to the best of my ability.
W. D. LOVE,
Uvalde, Texas.

To the Citizens of the 38th Judicial District:
Announcing as a candidate for re-election to the office of District Judge of this District, I wish to say, that I am now, and always have been a democrat, but believing the office to be a non-partisan one, and as there exists in this district no good and sufficient reason for injecting political issues into the race for judicial offices, and because no fairly representative vote can be had in the primaries in the several Counties of the District, and as the law now provides for an independent or non-partisan ticket, I will run as an independent candidate, at the November election, and hereby submit my claims for re-election to all voters in the District, and solicit their support upon my fitness and qualifications for the office. In the discharge of the duties of the office, I have been prompted solely by an earnest and sincere desire to do my whole duty without fear or favor, and I submit my record as a pledge for the future.
Gratefully yours,
R. H. BURNEY.

For District Attorney, 38th District.
C. C. HARRIS.

To the Voters of the 38th Judicial District:
I hereby announce myself a candidate for District Attorney of said District, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries in the several Counties composing the District, if such primaries are held, if not, then to the voters of every party in the District. This office is a non-political one, and I have been requested by a great many of my friends in other parties as well as in the Democratic, to run as an independent, but as I am informed that several issues, the most important of which is an instruction to the next Legislature to prepare and submit an amendment to the State Constitution for State Prohibition, will be submitted to said primaries, and I intend to vote upon each and every issue presented, I do not see how I can consistently withhold my own candidacy from the same, hence I hope that all of you will attend said primaries and give me your support. I have only one promise to make, viz: If elected, I will to the extreme of my ability, do my duty, my whole duty and nothing but my duty.
Respectfully,
CHAS. MONTAGUE.

CAPT. BILL AND THEODORE.

The Captain Charged the White House and Did Not Need a Bucket of Water.

When Captain Bill McDonald with his broad brimmed hat and his long coat tails wandered into the White House at Washington his appearance caused the door guards to perk up a bit. They took notice and so did the President. On the plains the ex-Texas ranger has been well enough acquainted with those of high station to give advice and sometimes to give commands. In the White House he was just as tall and his guns were just as prominent.

On Monday night, fresh from his experiences in the effete east Captain Bill was in Houston. He told about some of his adventures and left Tuesday for Austin. Sent by Governor Campbell as a representative of Texas, the former State ranger wandered about the streets of the National Capital as the picture of the plains personified.

"When I arrived in Washington I went up to the White House to see the President," says Captain Bill. "You ought to have noticed the way he shook hands with an old fellow 103 years old day before yesterday. It's all right to slap him on the back when we're out in the open and call him an old rascal because he's a Republican, but it was his call there in the White House.

"There was Mr. Roosevelt talking to Secretary Taft. About a dozen other people were waiting for a chance. The President looked up and saw me.

"By Joe," he exclaimed, "there is Bill McDonald. Come right on in Bill. You're on top."

"I went in ahead of a few senators and generals and prominent people and you should have seen them gaze. I felt like I did when I killed my first bear and that must have been a century ago according to my count. I tell you what, young squirrel, I was some 'punkins.'

"While I was in there gassing with Teddy—I mean in conversation with the President—somebody said the Cleveland base ball team was outside waiting for a chance. In they hobbled those great big fellows with strong arms. I reckon one of 'em could have thrown a ball swifter 'n my gun'll shoot.

"The President turned around. 'Look here, you baseball boys,' he cried, 'see how well protected I am. This is Captain Bill McDonald, of Texas, and I guess he'll outfield any of you once he gets the drop. I call him the bravest man in the world.'

"Then the President went on to tell about the time I went hunting with him in Oklahoma with Duke Burnett, Tom Waggoner and General Young.

"It was this way," said the President. "Burnett came round and told him it was up to him to keep the President safe.

"Bill just looked around and smiled, that way see, and drawled something about if there's any one killed on this trip they'll not have to try him for it. After I heard that I sent all the secret service men back.

"Wasn't that enough to make your head swell. I was about as proud of myself as when I stood off that bunch of Mexicans on the Rio Grande when I was a kid. The baseball fellows came crowding round and said things to me that helped things along still more."

Captain McDonald stayed longer in Washington than he expected. The President asked him to and who in the world could overlook a bet—not Captain Bill. Night after night under the stars he had watched over the President of the United States and guarded camp while others slept, he had hunted bear and eaten out of the same mess pan on the plains. Once in Washington it was Teddy's turn and now as Captain Bill says, and old country boy had a "Hell of a time."

"And say," continued the famous plainsman. "I'm wearing the same sized hat. When I left Washington I went up to say good-by. There was the President with his real strong hand.

"By George, Bill," he exclaimed. "I like your kind of men and there are not very many of your sort either."
Wasn't that great? He likes us because we breath fresh air and live in the open, I reckon. What do you think about it?

MISS SCHOLL ENTERTAINS.

Gives an Open Air Dance and Watermelon Feast to a Host of Friends at Her Pretty Home on Tehoupiuolas Street.

On Tuesday night of this week, Miss Alida Scholl, assisted by Misses Hazel Hamilton and Sadie Lockett, entertained a host of friends at an open air dance on the lawn at her home.

A platform especially erected for this occasion was placed on the front lawn, where the young people engaged in ever-pleasant and inviting dance, to fine music furnished by the Mountain Sun band and a string orchestra.

At an appropriate hour the guests were invited to take part in a watermelon feast, spread out on a long table. There was nothing formal about this feast and everyone ate to his heart's content and in the manner which best suited his fancy. The melons were cooled to a temperature that made them very inviting.

Dancing was again engaged in and kept up until a late hour, when the guests began to depart, each assuring the hostess of the amiable manner in which they were entertained.

For a Sprained Ankle.

As usually treated, a sprained ankle will disable the injured person for a month or more, but by applying Chamberlain's Liniment and observing the directions with each bottle faithfully, a cure may be effected in many cases in less than one week's time. This liniment is a most remarkable preparation. Try it for a sprain or bruise, or when laid up with chronic or muscular rheumatism, and you are certain to be delighted with the prompt relief which it affords. For sale by all druggists.

Charity For Another.

Have charity for a brother, Though he should fall from grace, For perchance your strength should fail you

Were you in your brother's place, Have charity for the fallen, Learn to live and to let live:

As you hope to be forgiven, Teach your own heart to forgive. Stop and think before you scorn him

In your haughtiness and pride: Has your life e'er been so holy

That you've nothing you would hide? If your hidden thoughts were printed On the leaves of open book,

Think you, would it bear inspection— Would you like the world to look? When you stand before your maker,

Looking o'er the paths you've trod, Will your record, think, be purer, Than your brother's before God?

Is your life so pure and spotless, And your heart quite free from guilt, Are you sure of such perfection,

Is your house so strongly built? If we're casting stones at others, Let us look before we aim: Ere the stone may reach another

We may find ourselves in shame. While we long for heavenly mansions, For that world so bright and fair, Without charity for others

We may never enter there. SUNNY JIM & PRETTY BOB.
