PIONEER WOMAN PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Caroline Karger Died at Her Home in Comfort, Saturday, July 3.

FUNERAL TOOK PLACE SUNDAY

Deceased Was a Pioneer of the Comfort Community, and Came to this Country From Germany in 1860

The passing of another pioneer of this section of Texas was witnessed in the death of Mrs. Caroline Karger, who died at her home in Comfort, near midnight, on Saturday night last. Mrs. Karger was 86 years old, and is survived by seven children, five sons and two daughters. The daughters are Mrs. Peter Ingenuett and Mrs. Fritz Dietert, of Comfort. The surviving sons are County Commissioner P. A. Karger, of Kerrville, August Karger of the Cypress Creek community, and Paul, Julius and Ernest Karger, of Comfort.

The funeral was Sunday, July 4, at 6:00 p. m. The body was buried at the Comfort cemetery. A large attendance was present at the funeral, and among those present were many old settlers. Deceased came to America from Germany with her husband, John Karger, and settled at Comfort in 1860. In 1862 the husband died and left the widow with a family of nine children to support on the Texas frontier. Seven of the nine children still survive, as above stated. There is no feature of the life of the American frontier more compelling in interest than that of mothers, who, left widowed with large family of dependent children, have made the fight against adversity, and have won every battle. This Mrs. Karger did. Her sons are all representative citizens of this section of the country, and her two daughters, both of whom are well advanced in years themselves, have made estimable women, who have themselves borne a noble part in the frontier life and the development of this part of Texas.

Thus, one by one, the aged pioneers of this section are passing away. The men and women who have made possible the wonderful prosperity of this section of Texas, are fast passing to their reward. Peace to those who still remain, peace to the ashes of those who are gone.

Will Give Prize for Best Colt.

M. F. Weston will give a prize of $10 for the best foal of 1909 sired by his stallion, Santa Gertrudes. The only requirement entitling animals to this entry is that they be sired by this horse, and have been foaled since the first day of last January. The animals will be regularly entered and passed upon by the judges of the West Texas Fair the same as any other animals entered in the prize contests of the association.

Manager Hoon Says Sufficient Number of Tents Have Already Been Taken to Eclipse All Former Seasons

Great interest is being manifested in the fourth annual gathering of the Westminster Presbyterian Encampment at the grounds just below the city.

The encampment proper does not open until the 22nd, but more than one hundred people have availed themselves of the camping privileges offered by Mr. Hoon, the manager, most of whom will remain through the encampment. The cool nights and pure atmosphere of the mountains are revelations to many of the campers who are this year becoming initiated to what Kerrville has to offer. All parts of the state are represented in the ninety-one campers found on the grounds yesterday afternoon. Among those are J. W. Davidson and family, Prof. J. W. Culver and family, Perry Gregg and family, Prof. W. W. Bondurant and family, L. J. Farnsworth, Prof. A. R. Thomas, Thomas E. Ramsey and family, Mrs. W. E. Springall and Mrs. H. L. Brunham of San Antonio; Prof. D. F. Eagleton, Mrs. T. S. Glyce and family, Chal Vinson and Miss Brice Vinson of Sherman; Miss Edmonia Percin, Rockport; A. K. Regsdale of Epworth by the Sea; Miss Guyton, Dallas; Mrs. A. R. Harwood and family, Miss Mattie Harwood of Gonzales; Mr. V. Weiss and family of Beaumont; T. P. Lenoir and family of Victoria; Miss Esther Sarrett of Laredo; Mrs. W. A. McLeod, Ennis; Miss Leil Waggoner, Austin.

In discussing the prospect for a successful encampment Manager Hoon said: "Some of these people came to stay over night and stayed a week and will remain until the encampment closes in August. I now have booked for the encampment the largest number, by far, that has attended the encampment any one year in its history."

The encampment proper will open July 22 and will close August 11.

The following letter is self-explanatory:

New Orleans, La.,
June 22, '09.

Dr. A. F. Thigpen,
Kerrville, Texas.

Dear Sir:

We have read the glowing account of Kerrville in the San Antonio Express of June 14th and are much interested in your little city.

My son, a boy of 18 years contemplates a visit to Texas next month and thinks he would like to spend some time out on a ranch with some nice respectable private family, or where only a few boarders are taken, near Kerrville.

If you can recommend some one to me you will indeed do me a great favor and will be much appreciated by Mrs. Stacy Crane, 2400 Baronne St., New Orleans, La.

Four Good Habits.

There are four good habits—punctuality, accuracy, steadiness, and dispatch. Without the first of these time is wasted; without the second mistakes the most hurtful to your own credit and interest; and that of others may be committed; without the third nothing can be well done; and without the fourth opportunities of great advantage are lost which it is impossible to recall.

KERRVILLE SUMMER NORMAL CLOSES

Summer Normal With Encampment Feature Will Become Permanent

COUSINS WILL CO-OPERATE

Faculty is Elated Over Result of Session Just Closed

At the conclusion of the State Summer Normal held in Kerrville from June 1 to July 8, the teachers in attendance passed the following resolutions by a unanimous rising vote:

The committee on resolutions for the Kerrville Summer Normal submitted the following, which were unanimously adopted:

RESOLUTION I. We, the students of Kerrville Summer Normal, after a most delightful period of five weeks study, return sincere thanks to the school board for the use of the building and to the citizens of Kerrville for their kindness, hospitality and attention that they contributed in so many ways to the comfort and pleasure of our stay in their midst.

RESOLUTION II. To our conductor, Prof. Morelock, our appreciation for his skill and thoughtful management in the affairs of the Normal, and especially do we wish to express our sincere gratitude to our able instructors for their patient and tireless energy in illuminating the dark and devious paths of knowledge with the sunshine of their wisdom.

RESOLUTION III. In view of the fact that our Normal has been so profitable we desire for the benefit of others to perpetuate the good work and make the Kerrville Summer Normal a permanent institution with the present corps of instructors as a faculty, adding others of like ability, as the requirements demand.

The many natural advantages of Kerrville justify us in wishing to establish a permanent normal here. The picturesque mountain scenery delights the eye and mind wearied with the low plains, while the high altitude and fresh invigorating breeze renews life and energy in the tired frame. A handsome, commodious, well ventilated school building, with a good library and fine laboratory appeals especially to the student, while the "legendary river" with its cypress shaded banks offers many resorts for pleasure to those who must mix fun with work, else "Jack grows a dull boy."

MRS. MINNIE RILEY,
ALICE R. BREEDING, Com.
MRS. LULA PECK,

On Monday night, July 6, the Board of Trade met in conference with the faculty to consider the question of making the Kerrville Summer Normal an annual institution. The greatest interest was manifested by all present and the Board of Trade offered to guarantee a bonus of $500.00, if so much be necessary to further the work for next summer. Hon. R. B. Cousins, State Superintendent of Education, has given assurance of his co-operation, and the faculty are arranging for early advertising. It is confidently expected that the attendance can be made to reach one hundred or more, in addition to those that attend from Kerrville and Kerr county.

The present faculty consists of Horace W. Morelock, Superintendent of Kerrville city schools; D. F. Eagleton, Department of English of Austin College, Sherman, and A. R. Thomas, of the San Antonio High School. Mrs. Bee Cullen Brooks of the San Antonio city schools, has been in charge of the primary work, and has given entire satisfaction. The faculty are unstinted in their commendation of Kerrville as an ideal place for Henry Hamblen Dead.

Henry Hamblen, an old citizen of Cuero, died at his home in the southern part of the city this morning at 10:30, after some weeks of intense suffering from a cancerous affection of the face.

His death had been expected at any time for the past ten days.

He was born November 18, 1827, and was therefore nearly eighty-two years of age. He was a man of great vitality and until a few months ago was very active. He leaves two daughters, Misses Salie and Rose and three granddaughters whom he raised from childhood. These are Mrs. J. A. Reed of Bartlett, Mrs. Ophay Broussard of Beaumont and Miss Eloise Hamblen. A brother, Judge E. P. Hamblen of Houston; a cousin, Judge W. P. Hamblen of the same city and a niece, Mrs. Dr. Blaisdell of Ballinger, were here with him for some days before his death. Mrs. Broussard is also here.

The funeral will occur tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock promptly under the auspices of the Masons from the late residence of deceased. The interment will be at Hillside cemetery.

To the bereaved ones a large number of friends tender sincere sympathy.—Cuero Record.

Mr. Hamblen at one time lived in Kerrville and resided at the corner of Jefferson and Clay streets, and has many friends here who will learn with regret of his death and who extend sympathy to bereaved ones.

Married.

Mr. Warren S. Patton and Miss Nellie Ridgway were married at the Gerdes Hotel, Kerrville, Sunday afternoon June 27, Judge Lee Wallace performing the marriage ceremony. The newly wedded pair left immediately after the ceremony for San Antonio, where they will reside.

The bride is a daughter of W. P. Ridgway, of the Turtle Creek community, and is one of Kerr county's fairest young women. Mr. Patton is a rising young mechanic, of San Antonio. Many friends will join in wishing the young people happiness.

A Labby Witticism.

The appearance of a question on the paper of the house of commons as to the mental condition of Osman Digna reminds me of a much enjoyed witticism on the part of Mr. Labouchere in the late '80s. Frequent inquiries were made as to the whereabouts of this dervish leader, and the facetious "Labby" grew tired of them. Rising one afternoon, he solemnly asked who this man was and where he was. "I can assure the house," said he, "that my constituents at Northampton care no more about Osman Digna than they do about Osborne Morgan." Members roared, but the late Sir George Osborne Morgan was very indignant.—London Daily News.

Money Well Spent.

"I suppose to educate your daughter in music costs a great deal of money?"
"Yes; but she's brought it all back for me."
"Indeed!"
"Yes; I'd been trying to buy out my next door neighbor at half price for years, and could never bring him to terms until she came home!"

PRISON DOORS NEVER LOCKED

Odd Place for "Confinement" on Sark, One of the Beautiful Channel Islands.

Sark, the loveliest of the channel islands, possesses a quaint old prison of two cells, more as a matter of form than of necessity; for serious crime is almost unknown in the island, which has no paid police, but simply an elected constable. It is some years since the prison was called into requisition, and on the last occasion the bolt was found to be so rusty that it had to be broken before the door could be opened. The prisoner was then put in, left all night with the door open, and made no attempt to escape.

On another occasion a young English servant, who had stolen some clothes, was sentenced to three days' imprisonment. The prospect so terrified her that the authorities took pity on her loneliness and considerably left the cell open. The little maid sat in the doorway and was consoled by kind-hearted Sark women, who came to keep her company.

A still more curious incident is told of a man who was convicted for neglecting his wife and children. He was ordered to betake himself to the prison and there wait for the arrival of the constable. This he did, sitting outside until the door was opened to let him in.

Flattered.
 "What are you looking so pleased about?" asked one shade of another.
 "Well," replied the one addressed, with a noble chuckle, "I took a little trip back to the old home and saw what was on my tombstone."
 With an unconscious puffing of his plumage he passed on.

Be Natural.
 Sidney Smith said, by way of advice: "Whatever you are by nature, keep to it; never desert your own line of talent. Be what nature intended you for and you will succeed; be anything else and you will be a thousand times worse than nothing."

Bowel Complaint in Children.
 When six months old the little daughter of E. N. Dewey, a well known merchant of Agnewville, Va., had an attack of cholera infantum. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was given and effected a complete cure. This remedy has proven very successful in cases of bowel complaint in children and when given according to the plain printed directions can be relied upon with perfect confidence. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take, which is of great importance when a medicine must be given to young children. For sale by all druggists.

FIRST HAT WORN IN EUROPE

History Records That It Adorned the Head of Charles VII. on His Entry Into Rouen.

Charles VII. on his triumphal entry into Rouen in the year 1449, we are told, astonished the whole city by appearing in a hat lined with red silk and surmounted by a plume of feathers. It was the first time the citizens had ever seen a hat.

From this entry of Charles into Rouen the beginning of the custom of wearing hats in Europe is dated. It was all very well for the rich citizen to follow the example of royalty, but when the clergy began to sigh for similar splendor it was regarded as a falling away from grace. Priests or religious persons were at last forbidden to appear abroad in anything except "chaperons, made of black cloth with decent coronets."

A still more striking development took place in the sixteenth century. By the statute of Elizabeth every person above the age of seven years, and under a certain degree, was obliged on Sundays and holidays to "wear a woollen cap—made in England—and finished by some of the fraternity cappers," under the penalty of three shillings fourpence for every day's neglect. They understood how to support native industry in those days.

Tea Table Etiquette.
 Tea table etiquette was somewhat complicated in the days of that "hardened and shameless tea drinker," Dr. Johnson, when many people thought nothing of drinking ten or twelve cups at a sitting. It was considered proper for the cups and saucers of a party of tea drinkers to be all passed up to the hostess in one batch when replenishment was considered necessary, and in order that each person might be sure of getting back the right cup the teaspoons were numbered.

When the cups were passed up those who did not require any more were supposed to place the spoon in the cup. This writer remembers a very ancient dame teaching a small boy to place his spoon in his cup after the first cup had been emptied. He wondered for the reason. Now he knows that tea was once very expensive and little boys were not expected to ask again.

Trees as Educators.
 More children are trudging along the country roads to the country schools than are walking on paved streets in cities attending the city public schools. There is a liberal education along the country road if only right use be made of right material. It is the writer's firm belief that the physical condition of the country schoolhouse and grounds must be greatly improved if we expect the early training of the country child will give it wholesome appreciation of all that is richest and best in country life. All this can be done with but small expenditure of money. Trees do not cost much, neither do flowers, vines and shrubbery. While the expenditure of money for paint is economy and the expenditure of money to make a schoolroom sanitary is humane.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Not as Lucky as He Might Be.
 The man who doesn't care enough for his wife to think it necessary to have an excuse when he stays out late at night may be envied by his friends, but he is really to be pitied.

The World's Demand.
 The world does not demand that you should be a great man, but that with a noble purpose, a high endeavor and a useful end in view you shall make yourself a master in your line.

A Unique Specimen.
 "The rain may fall on me, but not on thee, sweetheart," sighs an Alabama poet quoted in the Washington Herald. There's the first man we ever heard of who could carry an umbrella to a lady's satisfaction.

The atmosphere of good books makes for a refinement that levels rank and social position. The woman who knows intimately the master minds of the world, who keeps up with current events, has within herself a well spring of content, and rarely is a source of discontent to her friends.

Proper Treatment for Dysentery and Diarrhoea.

The great mortality from dysentery and diarrhoea is due to lack of proper treatment at the first stages of the disease. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is a reliable and effectual medicine, and when given in reasonable time will prevent any dangerous consequences. It has been in use for many years and has always met with unvarying success. For sale by all druggists.

GARDEN UNDER FRUIT TREES

English Horticulturists Can Give Lesson in Concentration to American Confreres.

Evesham, the Vale of Evesham, designated "the very hub of the garden beauties of England," has lately been sitting for a charming pen picture that makes the beholder or the reader long to possess its lovely chain of blossom and flower and fruit. But there can be only one Evesham, and it is England's. They claim the Evesham gardener has the supreme title to fame, that he has done the impossible—he has made the cabbage almost beautiful.

One who plants this garden world in mere words says what most astonishes the visitor there at first view is the garden underneath the fruit trees. On the floor of a very closely planted orchard of apple of plum you may find a carpet of any sort of fruit, flower or vegetable. On the platform of Evesham station itself the heavy scent of wallflowers is carried from a neighboring orchard, where the trees are so close that you would think the carpet of flowers had as little chance of sunlight as it has of draft. How singularly this concentration impresses the American horticulturist, who having greater spaces at command, yet wastes them and their fruitful possibilities.

VIOLIN EASILY AT THE HEAD

Peculiar Qualities Have Caused It to Be Crowned King of Musical Instruments.

Restricted as is its range of dynamics, the violin has had for its votaries men of such widely different temperaments as Paganini and Spohr, Wilhelmj and Sarasate, Joachim and Ysaye. Its literature does not compare with that of the piano, for which Bach, Beethoven, Schumann, Chopin and Brahms have written their choicest music; yet the intimate nature of the violin, its capacity for passionate emotion, crowns it—and not the organ; with its mechanical tonal effects—as the king of instruments. Nor does the voice make the peculiarly poignant appeal of the violin. Its lowest note is the G below the treble clef, and its top note a mere squeak; but it seems in a few octaves to have imprisoned within its wooden walls a miniature world of feeling even in the hands of a clumsy amateur it has the formidable power of giving pain; while in the grasp of a master it is capable of rousing the soul.—James Humecker, in Everybody's.

Effect of a Shave.
 "Men have one advantage," said the woman, "and that is when they are shaved they are so sure of themselves. If they are not all right it's the fault of the barber; but if they have a good barber, why, then their self-assurance is complete. I sat in the lobby of a big hotel yesterday looking at a big fat man who had come out from under the hands of his barber, and I never saw anything so placid with pure complacency as his large, fat face. I wish I could have been so certain that mine was all right as he was of his."

Story of an Egg.
 Burman Hunter while on a trip near Unadilla found an egg beside the railroad track. He brought the egg home and set it under a hen, and now Mr. Hunter has one of the finest 11-days-old wild ducks ever seen.—Cordele Rambler.

Life 100,000 Years Ago.
 Scientists have found in a cave in Switzerland bones of men, who lived 100,000 years ago, when life was in constant danger from wild beasts. To-day the danger, as shown by A. W. Brown of Alexander Me., is largely from deadly disease. "If it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery, which cured me, I could not have lived," he writes, "suffering as I did from a severe lung trouble and a stubborn cough." To cure sore lungs, colds, obstinate coughs and prevent Pneumonia, it is the best medicine on earth. 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed by the Rock Drug Store. Trial bottle free.

The terrible itching and smarting, incident to certain skin diseases, is almost instantly allayed by applying Chamberlain's salve. Price 25 cents. For sale by all druggists.

A PERMANENT SUMMER NORMAL.

The Kerrville Business Men's Club took another step in the right direction when it decided for a permanent Summer Normal. Seventy-five to one hundred and fifty school teachers spending six weeks in Kerrville each year means a great deal in a business way. It means the spending of several thousands of dollars with Kerrville business people. That is merely the cold, practical business view of absolutely visible returns from the enterprise, in dollars and cents.

The chief value, however, is having that number of people to sojourn in the mountain city, spend the time happily and profitably and go away with a pleasant word for Kerrville and the "Hill Country." Again, by looking about we find that the towns with the best name are those who have reputations as educational centers. Kerrville wants more schools. The indisputable fact that students can accomplish more in the "Hill Country" than in the low, heavy atmosphere, can readily be demonstrated by normal students, during the most trying time of the year. By all means let us have the normal. We are ready to donate to the fund today.

PROGRESS IN CUBA.

With the beginning of the present fiscal year the Republic of Cuba established a Bureau of Information, President Gomez appointing Leon J. Canova, an American newspaper man, who has resided in Cuba eleven years and has a wide acquaintance with the Island, as its director.

Parties wishing any information of any nature concerning Cuba can obtain same free of charge, by writing to Leon J. Canova, U. and I. Bureau, (Utility and Information Bureau), Department of Agriculture, Commerce and Labor, Havana, Cuba.

It is now only a little more than a month until the West Texas Fair, which will open the 25th day of August. Get something ready for the fair. It is your fair, and it is as much your duty as it is the duty of any one to make this the best fair that Kerrville has ever had. Get busy today, and prepare something for the fair.

WHEN the tobacco men have had their say before the Senate committee, in regard to the tariff on "flat terbacker," it will be up to the solons to hear the night riders.

FEARS are expressed by some southern men of affairs and some southern newspapers that Mr. Taft will appoint biggers for census enumerators in the south. Such a thing is hardly probable, but if he does his little spasm of 'possum and 'tater popularity will vanish like a dream.

FROM the lack of casualties reported in the columns of the daily press the first two days of the week, one can but infer that American patriotism has taken a turn toward decency and order.

CONTRACT has been let for the building of the causeway at Galveston. The Texas port is humping herself, and in ten years will run New York close for first place in point of shipping in the list of American ports.

ATTORNEY GENERAL DAVIDSON delivered a Fourth of July oration at Cameron, and discussed the enforcement of the anti-trust laws of Texas. There is no man more competent to discuss such a question.

DR. MARDEN says "fear is the foundation upon which the temple of 'hate' is erected," or words to that effect. That is probably the reason the chief emissaries of the trusts hate R. V. Davidson so cordially.

THIS is powerful hot weather for the Governor of Texas and the Santa Fe railroad to be having a mix-up. Looks like a fellow could get enough exercise attending to his own business these hot days.

BEAUMONT is getting in the front row. A street-car strike tied up traffic in the derrick city the first of the week.

Following the Fashion.

Many women, and men as well, are disturbed if they feel that the clothes they wear are in the slightest particular obsolete. They cannot buy a pocket handkerchief without the anxious inquiry whether it is what everybody else is wearing, or purchase a shoeing without critical scrutiny and comparison. Not merely in clothes is the fashion followed, but in social diversions. One game gives place to another, one popular ballad with a whistle refrain ousts its forerunner completely; no sooner is a tune learned than it is gone like the snows of yesterday. Books suffer the same incessant vicissitudes of the favor of "fortune in men's eyes." In most things it does not matter if there is a continual cycle of changes. It is only when it comes to our beliefs and our opinions that it is not well to try to keep pace with the vagaries and eccentricities of fashion.

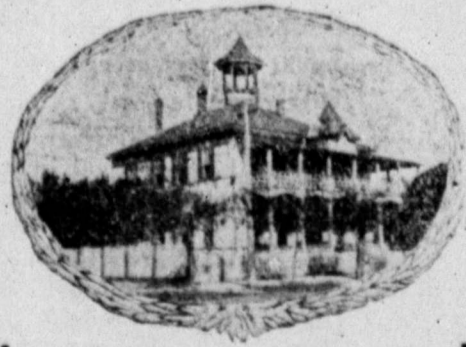

Words Would Fall Even Then.

There are 2754 languages. A man who has been knocked down by an auto or had a street car transfer refused to him would need to use all of them to express his feelings.—New York Press.

Wells in Race for Governor.

Denison, Texas, July 6.—Tom Wells of Bells formally announced his candidacy for Governor of Texas here today. In answer to questions, Mr. Wells said:

"I would favor all legitimate capital, both home and foreign. I believe that there are millions of dollars of idle money seeking investments in the state only waiting for proper protection. I believe that most adequate support should be given by the state to educational institutions. It is a disgrace and a shame that young people are compelled to leave the state to get educational advantages. The Agricultural and Mechanical College and the State University should be enlarged and better equipped. I believe our eleemosynary institutions should be enlarged for the reception of all unfortunates. Jails and poor houses are no place for them.

"I believe in honest administration of government and think it a shame that it has ever cost a man the sum of $8000 to be Governor. This is a disgrace to our boasted civilization and puts the office out of the reach of a poor man. I cannot think of spending anything like this in making the campaign. I do not intend to spend over $500 or $1000 during the race, and I believe there are enough old-fashioned Democrats to elect me."

FROM INGRAM.

Well, we celebrated the Fourth of July by going to a primitive Baptist meeting at South Fork church. We met there some three or four score people, and all seemed to be of the most sociable class. At eleven o'clock Bro. Hare of Floresville preached, "Christ Selects Us," and was followed by Bro. Collier of Morgan Gee, who said he indorsed every word that Bro. Hare had said, and said that once while he was in Arkansas, he one day saw a man selling books on the street corner and went over to see the books and hear the book vender talk. While there he saw a pretty little book with the pictures of children on the cover. He asked the agent what kind of a book it was, where on the young salesman handed him the book, at the same time saying, "My old friend, that is infant baptism in a nutshell." "Oh!" said Bro. Collier, "that accounts for the trouble I have been having." "How is that?" said the salesman. "Why," said the preacher, "I have hunted for infant baptism in the Bible until I have nearly put my eyes out and could not find it, and now find you have the infant baptism over here in Arkansas in a nutshell. And I suppose I would never have found it if I had not come to Arkansas and looked in a nutshell. Who ever heard of infant baptism in a nutshell?"

Services over at one p. m. Soon thereafter we found a long table set with the most choice food, enough to feed a hundred or more persons, and we were urged to eat our fill, which we did. Met again at three for the purpose of taking the Lord's supper, which was very solemn and impressive, dismissed at 4:30 with every one seemingly happy. TRÖTTER.

SEEDS ADAPTED FOR FLYING

Good Working Aeroplane May Be Seen Any Time by Those Who Will Watch Them.

It is strange that man has been so long in learning to fly. Nature in the seed has for aeons shown him a good working aeroplane. The seed of the silver maple and the ash often fly in the summer 40 or 50 yards. The seed's wing is an extension of the pod. When the seed breaks loose from its bough the wing whirls rapidly round the body as an axis, its front edge striking the air higher than the rest of its surface, and thus producing air pressure in an upward direction that carries the tiny aeroplane on and up in its flight.

The hidden seed clusters show an aeroplane of tremendous strength. The seeds hang on a single stem from the center of one large wing. When this seed-aeroplane gets forth the wing revolves and points upward, bearing on its weight of seeds with a power greater than any bird puts forth. The box elder, the pine and the catalpa are other trees whose existence is perpetuated by the aeronautical skill of their little seeds.

"Speed" Means to Acquire Success.

When we use the slang "too slow" as applied to non-success we are speaking correctly, according to etymology, for "slow" conveys an idea opposite to that of "speed" and for more than 10,000 years the root from which "speed" has grown has preserved its influence in a dozen languages and has continually signified the idea of quickness in grasping, in drawing to, in extending, in making room for action, in bringing prosperity and success by reaching out. Our Aryan ancestors used the little word "spa" and from it has grown, among scores of other words, our word "speed" which, through the centuries, has not been restricted to its meaning of velocity. It conveyed the thought of velocity that reached out for success. It meant having room for action, an increase in the direction of prosperity. Without "spa" there was no "success."

During the period of the "second empire" in France the "cent guard" were one of its sights at the Tuileries. It was hard to distinguish them from statues. Their commander, Col. Verdy, once declared to Empress Eugenie that "nothing could make me more than a statue." Their commander, Col. Verdy, once declared to Empress Eugenie that "nothing could make me more than a statue." Their commander, Col. Verdy, once declared to Empress Eugenie that "nothing could make me more than a statue."

Rabies Laid to Strange Cause.

In Baluchistan even the wolves go mad. In his book, "The Frontiers of Baluchistan," G. P. Tate writes: "The shepherds give a strange reason for the epidemic of rabies. According to them it was caused by the wild beasts eating dead larks. In some years, they said, the larks develop extraordinary vitality and pour forth such a flood of songs as they rise on the wing that they become suffocated and fall to the ground dead. A wild animal which eats one of those dead birds infallibly develops rabies. This is a widespread superstition and seems not unfamiliar to the natives of India who were with me."

Change of Evils.

SPREAD OVER LONG DISTANCE

Grandma's Good Reason for Referring to Her Courtship as a Lengthy One.

"Grandma," asked one of the little girls, "what was the longest courtship you ever heard of?" "What a question, child!" exclaimed grandmother. "What put that into your head?" "Oh, I just wanted to know." "Well, deary," said grandma, with a pensive smile, "I think the longest one I ever knew anything about was the courtship between your grandfather and me, more than 50 years ago. Listen, and I will tell you about it."

It was a few years after they had discovered gold in California, and people began to flock there from all over the country. You know there were no railroads running out that way then, and everybody had to travel in wagons. In the little town away back east where we lived several families that had the California fever clubbed together and went in a sort of caravan. Our family was was one of them. I was a girl of about 20.

Your grandfather, who was a few years older, belonged to one of the other families. He began courting me almost as soon as we started, and he kept it up all the way across the country, but I didn't say 'Yes' till we got to California.

"How long did it take you to go there?"

"Six months."

"Six months? Why, grandma, that wasn't so awfully long a courtship!"

"Why, child," said grandma, "it was three thousand miles!"—Youth's Companion.

The Etiology of Pain.

E. G. Janeway of New York says that we should be cautious in labelling a severe pain as hysterical. Pain due to toxic influences may baffle us unless we make diligent inquiry of the patient and his friends. Sciatica should be carefully scrutinized, since a condition that seems simple may be caused by pressure of a malignant growth. Pain in the abdomen may come from the kidney instead of the appendix, and it requires careful search to know whether pain comes from the kidney, gall bladder or appendix. Pain of ataxia may simulate some of these conditions. Pain in angina pectoris is severe and characteristic when combined with increased blood pressure and ashy lips. It should not be mistaken.—Medical Record.

Verne's Life of Routine.

Jules Verne, author of "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," required no legislative enactment to make him get up early. He rose at four in the morning, in the summer, and climbed up a sort of watch tower which dominated his house in the Boulevard de Longueville, Amiens, where his study was situated. He called this room his "cabin." There he used to work until ten o'clock. In the winter when he awoke he would await daylight, either reading in bed or evolving scenes for his novels. After lunch it was his practice to walk along the boulevards, which form a beautiful green cincture around the old Picardy town. Then he would make for his club and read the newspapers and study the scientific reviews, from which he derived great aid in the composition of his books.

Defrauded the Government.

Franking privileges were greatly abused in days gone by. The government employe's friends shared in his opportunities. In a letter written by Wordsworth in 1815 the poet said: "By means of a friend in London I can have my letters free. His name is Lamb, and if you add an 'e' to his name he will not open the letters. Direct as below without anything further—Mr. Lamb, India House, London." Coleridge, too, saw that a postage saved was a postage gained, and made use of the Mr. Lamb of the India house.—Charles Lamb.

That's About All.

"What, then," asked the professor, "is the exact difference between logic and sophistry?"

"Well," replied the bright student, "if you're engaged in a controversy, it's just the difference between your line of argument and the other fellow's."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Reflection.

The solitary side of our nature demands leisure for reflection upon subjects on which the dash and whirl of daily business, so long as its clouds rise thick about us, forbid the intellect to fasten itself.—Proude.

Something Missed.

"A rich man misses much." "You're right," declared Paw Hoptoad. "I missed a good dog fight in the hotel lobby yesterday. Thought it was the orchestra playing something from a grand opery."—Kansas City Journal.

GREAT PAINTER THRIFTY MAN

Even to Generous Patron Turner Begrudged the Opening of Bottle of Wine.

Apropos of Turner's meanness, it is told how Gillot, a patron of Turner, called upon the great painter to purchase his work and said:

"Now, Turner, I have bought many a picture of yours, and have spent thousands of pounds, but you have never even offered a glass of wine. Yet I am told that you have some of the best—grand old stuff you buy down the Thames when you go to your favorite haunts among the smugglers and others. Out with it! I will not leave your studio until I have tasted it."

Turner reluctantly produced a bottle of old port and grumbling all the time, poured out a glass. The connoisseur drank it.

"Well, I never! That's the finest glass of wine I have ever tasted. You mean old fraud! I'll be equal to you next time."

Next year Gillot came around again. After business, wine was suggested, and, after some difficulty, Turner had to produce his port. Gillot drank it, and then spluttered:

"Oh, good gracious! Am I poisoned? What's this? Some of your infernal bitumen, or what?"

"No, that's all right. It must be for you praised my port last year, and that is out of the very same bottle."

All Directors.

He was the wag of a merry party on the train, and when a conductor appeared he leaned back and assumed the expression of a man who owned the line.

"Ticket, sir."

The joker nodded.

"Ticket?"

Then the joker spoke freezingly:

"How long have you been stationed here, my man? Don't you know me? I'm Hank, director!"

But the ticket collector wasn't impressed.

"That's funny," he said, "so am I—we're all directors about here. I'll direct ye to the stationmaster, he'll direct ye to the policeman, and he'll direct ye to the magistrate, and he'll direct ye to pay the fine—unless he directs ye to jail—and then—"

But the joker directed his hand to his pocket and produced the ticket—

Sees Mother Grow Young.

"It would be hard to overstate the wonderful change in my mother since she began to use Electric Bitters," writes Mrs. W. L. Gilpatrick of Danforth, Me. "Although past 70 she seems really to be growing young again. She suffered untold misery from dyspepsia for 20 years. At last she could neither eat, drink nor sleep. Doctors gave her up and all remedies failed till Electric Bitters worked such wonders for her health. Be Square.

The young man who is tempted to depart from the straight path is apt to imagine "it to get and spend stolen money is an easy way to live. But it is, in fact, the hardest way of all. The awful consciousness of guilt presses continually down upon the mind. There is a ghost of remorse and apprehension at every feast, a knife thrust of guilty consciousness in every moment of otherwise happy hours with those who love and trust the unworthy one, a silent but unbanishable companion of rebuke and condemnation in every time of solitude—the last thought at night, the first in the morning, the terrifying dream of troubled and disjunct sleep.—Indianapolis Star.

Poets' Wills.

Famous poets make interesting wills. Browning's was written in his own beautiful hand, with the initials of all the nouns substantive in capitals, after the olden use; and the attesting witnesses were "A. Tennyson" and "F. T. Palgrave." Matthew Arnold's, also referred to, was remarkable for its brevity. A baker's dozen of words were deemed enough: "I leave everything of which I die possessed to my wife Frances Lucy." This, however, because no executor was appointed, had to be set aside for letters of administration, but the result was the same. These two famous wills form, with Shakespeare's, the most notable trio perhaps ever handled by probate in England.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy the Best and Surest.

"It affords me pleasure to state that I consider the preparation known as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, the best and surest of good results of any I have ever used in my family," says P. E. Herrington, of Mount Aerial, Ky. This is the universal verdict of all who use this remedy. Its cures are so prompt and effectual that people take pleasure in recommending it. Jap's Wonderful Nerve.

A Japanese laborer who was injured by an explosion of dynamite while clearing land on a ranch near Seattle, Wash., exhibited considerable nerve when it was found that the amputation of an arm was necessary. He refused to take an anesthetic and during the operation the Japanese coolly gazed into a looking glass and watched the amputation.

One of the World's Great Rivers.
The Nelson river may be described as one of the greatest rivers of the world as regards the actual volume of water discharged into the Hudson bay. Its total length is approximately 400 miles, and the drainage area is tremendous. Its tributaries cover the whole of Manitoba, the greater portion of Alberta, Saskatchewan, North Dakota and Ontario west of the Great Lakes, where they also enter Montana and Minnesota.

The Foolish Painter.

An interesting anecdote is told, on the highest authority, in connection with the little Matthew Maris picture of "The Four Mills," which realized 3,300 guineas recently. The late M. Goupil of Paris, paid the artist 100 francs for the picture, and at the same time gave him a lecture on the foolishness of painting such unsalable stuff!

Jan. Carson, of the Horse Valley neighborhood, on the Medina, was in Kerrville yesterday. Mr. Carson said a good rain would help some now, but that the people of that section feel good anyway. There will be a big barbecue and all round good time at the Horse valley picnic ground on July 20. Everybody is invited and a real good time is promised.

District Court Adjourns.

The regular mid-summer term of the Kerr County District Court adjourned Tuesday. The court was not the scene of any sensational events this term. The grand jury found only two bills. The civil suits were chiefly settled by agreement, and the criminal business did not extend beyond a plea of guilty to charge of pistol toting.

Poisons Long in Use.

Some poisons have been known for ages. Prussic acid, then called "the poison of the peach," was used by the Egyptians before the pyramids were built. They were the first to distill the poison from peach pits. Corrosive sublimate was one of the favorite poisons of Charles IX. of France. He offered a large prize for any one who would find an antidote for it. A physician came to him one day to claim the reward. The king sent for his cook, who had burned the meat that day, and made him take a fatal dose of corrosive sublimate. The antidote was administered immediately, but the cook died notwithstanding. The king had the doctor taken out and hanged, so his spirit followed the cook's in less than a quarter of an hour.

A Wayside Observation.

"What I want you to immediately do," said the woman with a determined look, "is to unceremoniously pick up that ax and before eating this lunch to carefully split some wood." "Alas!" exclaimed Flooding Pete, "how unreasonable some women are! They think wood is as easily split as an infinitive."

OVER A MILLION POUNDS

Big Wool Shipment Now Going Forward

EIGHT AND TWELVE MONTHS

The Product Brought Very Satisfactory Prices

The continuous chug, chug of the engine in the big wool warehouse has been announcing all this week that a wool shipment is being made. The shipment now on amounts to one and a quarter million pounds. The price received ranged from twenty-three to twenty-seven cents per pound. As usual Kerrville wools are a little in advance of those of other sections of the country. The spring clip of wool, some of which is still coming in, was very heavy. The flecks are in fine condition, and the outlook for a big fall clip is promising.

Play a Big Success.

The spectacular performance, "Texas Under Nine Flags" given for the benefit of the Ladies' Cemetery Association, at Pampell's opera house, on Friday night of last week, was a pronounced success in every way.

The great success of the entertainment is a splendid tribute to the quality of local talent, and to Prof. and Mrs. Z. A. Hall as organizers.

Nothing but praise has been spoken of the performance.

The amount netted to the cemetery association was $45.00.

Prof. and Mrs. Hall will be in Kerrville several days longer, and from here they will go to Fredericksburg, where they will put on the same play for the benefit of the Confederate veterans reunion fund.

Would Be Valuable Knowledge.

An Austrian physician insists that every man has a bad day periodically—a day when everything goes wrong for him and when his mental and physical powers are at their worst. It is too bad that the physician is unable to furnish a chart whereby every man's off days might be readily indicated, thus making it possible for his family to take steps to keep him from buying things on margins.

BUSINESS MEN'S CLUB MEETS

Effort Will be Made to Secure Permanent Summer Normal for Kerrville

WITH ENCAMPMENT FEATURE

Committee Appointed in Matter of Baptist Encampment

At a special called meeting of the Kerrville Business Men's Club held Monday night. The matter of the Southwest Texas Baptist Encampment was taken up and discussed. Rev. R. A. Cochran and H. V. Scholl were appointed as two of a committee of three, they to elect the third member, to confer with the church committee.

In the matter of a permanent summer normal for Kerrville, the faculty of the Normal, which closed Tuesday, were present. Prof. Eagleton, of the Austin College, Sherman, Prof. Thomas, of San Antonio, and Superintendent Morelock, of Kerrville Public Schools. All these gentlemen addressed the Club upon the permanent summer normal question and each was enthusiastically in favor of it. The normal this year has been a great success, said they, and considering the very short time given for advertising it the attendance was most gratifying. The encampment feature is a winner. The fine mountain climate is the greatest thing going. This year's normal is a splendid start and it will be easy to make a big success next year.

A committee of three was appointed to confer with the business people of Kerrville in regard to the matter.

MOVED TO RIGHTEOUS WRATH

Uncle Silas' Stern Rebuke of Youth Who Had Stolen Miss Ellen's Fat Pullet.

Uncle Silas had the culprit by the scruff of the neck.

"Whaffur you steal Miss Ellen's fat pullet?" he asked between shakes.

Uncle Silas may have had some weaknesses, but they did not extend to Miss Ellen's chicken yard. That was consecrated ground to Uncle Silas.

"I didn't steal no chickens, Uncle Silas," whimpered young Ephraim.

"Don't you lie to me, you black rascal," shaking him vigorously. "I done smell um cookin' fer supper as I come pas' las' night."

"Dat wuzn' chicken, Uncle Silas. He wuz—"

"Shet up, 'ou chile' ob sin," the old man interrupted, with another shake; "hit am de Lawd's pity ef I don' know de flavium ob chicken when hit comes floatin' out on de evenin' air 'trough de kitchen winder an' tingulates along my nostrums."

He gave Ephraim another shake and let him go. As the boy ran away Uncle Silas chuckled to himself: "Ise gott'er be mighty pertickler wid dese yer disresponsible niggers dat don' invite de right kin' of folks when dey has chicken fer supper. 'Deed I has!"

Virtues of Orange Sandwich.

If only I had known sooner about that little trick of the orange sandwich for giving castor oil to children, how many awful struggles both the baby and I would have been saved," said a mother who had been told by the doctor to give her baby this unpalatable medicine.

The orange sandwich is simply a small quantity of orange juice put into a spoon with the needed amount of oil added and over that enough orange juice to cover the oil. This is an excellent method for taking either castor or olive oil. It has been recommended several times, but is such a really valuable discovery for mothers that it is repeated for the benefit of the few who have not tried it and who still look forward to a scene every time such a dose must be given.

Degrees of Pain.

Pain is a general term. A pain which is local and of short duration is a twinge. If local and continuous, it is an ache. Agony, torment and the like, when not the mere hysteria of overstatement, are employed to designate the higher degrees of pain.

Money and its Uses.

Money is the clothing of a gentleman; he may wear it well or ill. Some carry great quantities of it gracefully; some, with a stinted supply, present a decent appearance; very few will bear inspection who are absolutely stripped of it.—George Meredith.

Bearing Our Own Burdens.

In the moment of stress into which a new grief or a great anxiety plunges all human folk now and then, it is quite natural to blab out our woeful story to the nearest listener. In nine cases out of ten the recipients of our confidences do not care. They listen with curiosity instead of sympathy and consider one a bally fool for telling all one knows. Heartaches wear out, just as physical wounds heal. We have but to wait in patience and silence. This is the stronger and better way.
