MAYOR OF SAN ANTONIO DEAD

Mayor Augustus H. Jones Died Monday.

APPARENTLY IN GOOD HEALTH Had Been In Office Not Quite Seven Months.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 7.—Augustus H. Jones, Mayor of San Antonio, died of apoplexy at 12:15 o'clock last night in his room at the St. Anthony Hotel.

He had returned from a caucus of his party at which preparations were made for the convention at Beethoven Hall Friday night, when he was to have been nominated to succeed himself. Earlier in the day he had presided at the meeting of the City Council. He was apparently in the best of health, his rugged frame, presumably housing the iron physique that had its making on the prairies of Texas.

Mayor Jones had retired. Mrs. Jones was reading in an adjoining room. She heard a gasp. Hurrying to her husband's side she saw at a glance he was unconscious.

She called over the telephone in the room Dr. T. T. Jackson, the family physician, who lives in the suite of rooms directly under those occupied by the Mayor and Mrs. Jones. Dr. William E. Luter was talking to Dr. Jackson at the time the call was received from Mrs. Jones. Both rushed upstairs. They arrived in time to see the Mayor dying.

The announcement of the sudden death of the city's chief executive spread with almost incredible swiftness. Within a few minutes the lobby of the St. Anthony Hotel, the great structure A. H. Jones, public spirited citizen, had helped to build, was crowded with silent, shocked men and women. It was recalled that it lacked just one day of seven months since his election.

Without a word of farewell Mayor Jones passed from this life. He did not realize death was at hand; his wife did not realize that his illness of such brief moment was to prove fatal.

The day had been a busy one for the Mayor. At the City Hall yesterday it seemed that more than the ordinary amount of routine affairs engaged his attention. Patiently and accurately he discussed the affairs of the city and the coming election with subordinate officials. In the City Council meeting he ruled as firmly as ever. Nothing in the meeting indicated his hours were numbered. After the meeting he talked with his friends among the Aldermen and went to the St. Anthony Hotel.

At dinner last evening the Mayor seemed to be in the best of health, and, surrounded by his wife, his daughters and his sons-in-law, he ate a splendid meal. After dinner he left the hotel to attend a meeting of his political friends, at which the coming convention at Beethoven Hall Friday night and the municipal campaign were discussed.

He left the meeting in splendid spirits and walked to the hotel. In the lobby he talked with several friends for a few minutes, then went up to his rooms. This was about 9:45 o'clock. In his home he chatted with his wife for a few minutes, then proceeded to undress. After he had removed his clothes he complained that his neuralgia was worrying him and asked that he be given a piece of wire that had proved helpful in the past. This done, he bade Mrs. Jones good-night and retired to his bed.

A few minutes later Mrs. Jones heard him gasping. She hurried to his room. There she found him unconscious and fighting for breath. She called Dr. T. T. Jackson over the telephone. Dr. Jackson resides in the St. Anthony on the floor below, and fortunately he was in his room. He was talking to Dr. William E. Luter. Responding instantly the physicians hurried to the Mayor's suite.

Hardly had they entered the doors when the angel of death summoned the stricken. Death came at 10:10 o'clock. At the bedside were Mrs. Jones, Mrs. R. J. Boyle, his daughter, and her husband.

Apoplexy was the cause, Dr. Jackson declared.

The ladies will be pleased with our line of hair ornaments of all kinds. CHAS. SCHREINER CO.

BEE MEN THANK HORNEY

Work of Uvalde Representative at Austin is Appreciated

UVALDE, Tex., April 6.—H. P. Hornby, who recently returned home from Austin where he had been representing this district in the Legislature, has been receiving many letters from bee men over the State thanking him for his labors in securing the passage of the bill for the protection of the bee industry. Governor Colquitt has approved the measure.

Considerable amusement was derived by correspondence regarding regulating the bee after the introduction of this measure. Few people have any idea of the extent of the bee industry in Texas. According to the industrial bulletin issued by the Texas Commercial Secretaries' Association, the bee and honey business of Texas exceeded the combined goat and sheep investments in Texas by $2,000,000 and Mr. Hornby thinks it would be as reasonable to maintain a lobby for the protection of the "busy bee" as for the wool industry of Texas.

It is also shown that there are less bees in Texas than ten years ago, largely due to the spread of the disease this measure seeks to eradicate. Representative Hornby also secured the passage of the bill for a public health exhibit, and also of the fraternal insurance law known as the New York conference bill, which will give Texas a uniform measure with thirty-two other States.—San Antonio Daily Express.

San Antonio, Texas, April 7, 1913 Hon. H. P. Hornby, Uvalde, Texas.

My dear Sir:—In this morning's Express, there appears a favorable mention of your successful efforts during the recently adjourned session of our Legislature. And the correspondent states that "Few people have any idea of the extent of the bee business in Texas." According to the industrial bulletin issued by the Texas Commercial Secretaries' Association, the bee and honey business of Texas exceeded the combined goat and sheep investment by two millions dollars. Thinking that possibly you may not have examined the federal census reports for 1910, as bearing on these industries, and realizing that you wish to be in possession of facts relating to the industrial affairs of our state, here below are stated the census reports for 1910, as relating to these industries in Texas.

"The number of colonies of bees decreased (1900 to 1910) from 392,644 to 238,167 or 39.4 per cent and their value decreased from $749,483.00 to $675,327.00 or 9.9 per cent." The value of the honey gathered in 1909, is reported as "$308,458.00 worth; value of wax $14,310.00." "The true totals are doubtless somewhat above these figures" (for honey and wax). Total value of bees in 1910, and honey and wax gathered in 1909, $998,125.00.

Now as to the value of sheep and goats in Texas in 1910, as shown by the census report.

"The total number of sheep of shearing age in Texas, on April 15, 1910, was 1,379,009, (representing a decrease of 4.3 per cent as compared with the number on June 1, 1909 (1,440,000), the value of same being $5,489,068.00. The number of lambs born between January 1, 1910, and April 15th was 430,985, valued at $812,296.00, making an aggregate value of sheep and lambs on April 15th of $6,301,364.00. Quantity and value of wool produced in 1909, 10,258,000 pounds, valued at $2,202,004.00. Number of goats, (including kids) April 15, 1,150,145, valued at $2,542,349.00. Quantity and value of mohair produced in 1909, 1,997,924 pounds, valued at $468,219.00. The value of mutton sold from sheep and goat stock in 1909, is not given clearly, but it is believed that it exceeded $1,250,000.00. Therefore, the aggregate value of the sheep and angora goat stock of Texas in 1910 was $8,842,313.00, and the aggregate value of one year's production of wool, mohair and mutton (in 1909) was $3,899,219.00, making an aggregate value of the sheep and goat stock of Texas, and one year's production of wool, mohair and mutton of $12,738,832.00, (exclusive of all investments in lands and necessary improvements) as compared with $998,125, as the value of the colonies of bees and one year's production of honey and wax, at the same time. If any very serious changes have occurred in these industries since the census of 1910 was taken, it is not the department history and it is made with a view to correcting a gross error allowed to appear in the public press, in regard to existing and necessary statistics, also for the purpose of entitling consideration at the hands of our legislators, and also for the purpose of enabling business people to realize the more clearly that guesses, made by zealous local associations, are sometimes found to be not wholly accurate, when confronted with ascertained facts.

With sincere good wishes for your wife and daughter, believe me, Most respectfully,
B. L. CROUCH.

Railroad Commission Receives Setback

AUSTIN, Tex., April 9.—In reversing and rendering the case of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railway Company of Texas, vs. the state of Texas, the railroad commission received a setback in its thirty-minute ruling. This ruling, made by the Third Court of Civil Appeals, provides penalty for non-operation of trains within 30 minutes of scheduled time unless accident prevents. The case was from Travis county and involved $14,000 damages.

The reversal and rendition was based upon the fact that the passenger trains violating the rule were interstate carriers and subject to the regulations of the Interstate Commerce Commission rather than the state railroad commission. As an interstate carrier, which it was held by the court to be limited, the offender is not under the jurisdiction of the state commission.

All other trains in the state are practically also ruled out of the authority of the commission, inasmuch as the International & Great Northern, Santa Fe, Rock Island, Texas and Pacific, and others running trains through from points outside of Texas to points within Texas are interstate carriers. The case will be appealed and a Supreme Court decision requested.

Will Kill Boehmer Bill

AUSTIN, Tex., April 8.—The Boehmer election bill will be vetoed. That much was learned definitely from the Governor today. But it will have plenty of company, as several other bills, including two or three special court measures, are adorned with a memo of a death sentence. The Boehmer bill forbids any assistance being given voters in the preparation of their ballots. Its consideration during the recent session was marked with much oratory. It was time wasted, as the bill will go to its death.

At the closing hour this evening the Governor had on his desk fifteen Senate and ten House bills, a total of twenty-five. Some of these will be disposed of tomorrow and the remainder taken to Marlin tomorrow night when the Governor leaves for a week's rest, though he may not stay that long. He did say that the fate of all of the bills would be determined by the time he returned to Austin. He will work on them while in Marlin. He has until a week from Monday to dispose of the bills.

Among the twenty-five bills yet to be passed upon, six of them are court measures. The general mining and irrigation bills are also in the lot.

Gas Pipe Line Mileage Increased

FORT WORTH, Texas, April 9.—Natural gas is fast supplanting coal and wood in Texas as a fuel, both in industrial and domestic uses. According to a record kept by the Texas Commercial Secretaries and Business Men's Association, 149 miles of gas pipe lines were laid in the state during the past year. The Lone Star Gas Company constructed 130 of this mileage and the Pioneer Gas Company laid 17 miles. The line of the Lone Star Company tapped the main line from the Clay county field at Bowie and supplies gas to cities of Denison, Sherman, Gainesville and Denton, while the Pioneer Company's line connects the Shackelford county fields with the towns of Moran and Albany.

The total gas pipe mileage of Texas is 416 and supplies gas to 25 Texas cities and towns. T

President Wilson Rises to an Emergency.

The recent situation caused by floods and storms was the first emergency to confront the new federal administration, still only a month old yet there was no delay or lack of readiness to rise to the occasion. President Wilson promptly offered the help of the entire country to the stricken communities. Tents, cots, blankets and food were ordered into the storm-swept and flooded districts, in the most expeditious manner possible. But the President did more than this. Within twenty-four hours after the development of the floods in Ohio he directed three steps to be taken, which, so far as we are aware, are unprecedented. Yet they were taken so quietly and so much as a matter of course, that probably nine out of ten of those who read the dispatch from Washington saw no significance in the orders which had been given.

The first was that the crews and equipments from the life-saving stations on Lake Michigan and Lake Erie were ordered to proceed at once to the flooded districts to assist in saving lives. Like all simple but unprecedented acts, the common sense of this move commends itself at once to all. Boats were lacking, and the government had them. Experienced men were needed and the government had them.

The second was to direct the Secretaries of the Treasury and of War to send at once into the afflicted districts all of the available medical officers of the Public Health Service and of the Army. Government surgeons have been sent before to establish quarantine and to stamp out existing epidemics. But, so far as we know this is the first time that the health officers of the federal government have been ordered into a region to prevent the breaking out of epidemics and diseases. Again the quiet common sense and disregard of the official red tape on the part of the President must win the commendation of every sensible citizen.

The third thing the President did was to order ten thousand vaccine points and a thousand ampules of anti-typhoid serum sent at once into Ohio and Indiana for use in preventing epidemics of small-pox and typhoid. He did not expect the government surgeons to go to their work without being properly equipped. They were to be given all the aid that science could give them. Small-pox, which generally breaks out following great disasters, can be prevented and stamped out by vaccination. Extensive experience in the United States Army has proved that typhoid can be prevented by proper vaccination.

The nation is fortunate, says the Journal of the American Medical Association, in having as its chief executive a man who does not fear official red tape, mossgrown precedents or the opposition of the ignorant and fanatical followers of fantastic cults, but who will calmly, fearlessly and sensibly place at the disposal of any stricken or afflicted community all the available resources of the government and of modern science for the prevention of disease and the saving of life.

Long and Short Men Causing Much Worry

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 8.—The tall and short men, traveling together, are causing no end of worry for the police department the last few days. Following the street car holdup and shooting of a passenger on a Nolan Street car Monday night, two men—one tall and the other short—yesterday morning robbed Fred Sohl of $4.75 in cash. The robbery occurred at the intersection of Medina and Matamoros Streets. Sohl was on his way to work when one of the robbers grabbed him by the neck in a vice-like grip. The other went through his pockets, removing his money.

The police believe it is these men who robbed Dr. H. M. Carroll, a dentist, whose office is at 323 West Commerce Street, of a quantity of gold used for filling teeth. An entrance was effected through a rear window.

Complete new line of Linens, Crashes, Handkerchief Linens, Frontings, etc., just arrived, direct from Belfast, Ireland. Most complete line ever shown in Kerrville.

Proclamation by the Governor of Texas.

WHEREAS, one of the greatest economic wastes of the country is the result of not exercising proper care and precaution in preventing destruction of property by fire, and allowing various and sundry kinds of waste material to accumulate on the premises of all persons owning property that is subject to destruction by fire; and

WHEREAS, it is necessary that some united action be taken on the part of the citizenship of this state to prevent the accumulation of waste material which subjects property of all kinds to destruction by fire.

D. 1913, as a general clean-up day, and I especially request that owners of property give personal attention to the removal of all rubbish and debris from their premises; that all chimneys and flues be carefully examined, and that the carelessness in permitting the burning of rubbish and combustible refuse near adjoining buildings be discontinued; that the various boards of education throughout the State and those who are charged with the responsibility of the safety of school children and students and wards in hospitals, shall use special effort to protect such property and lives from injury and destruction by fire, and it is especially recommended that city and village councils throughout the State shall observe the above mentioned date as "clean-up day" for the purpose of awakening the proper sense of responsibility of our people, and minimize as much as possible the damage from fire with in our state; and that the boards of education, public officials and teachers having the responsibility and care of the children, especially in public schools, shall set apart this day for the inauguration of fire drills and such instruction as it is possible to give in regard to fire hazards and the simple methods of fire prevention and rescue work, and that these fire drills be made a permanent feature and practiced at frequent intervals throughout the school year.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto signed my name and caused the great seal of the State of Texas to be affixed hereto at my office in the City of Austin, this 2nd day of April, A. D. 1913.

Attempt to Wreck Train.

Wednesday evening as the incoming passenger train on the "Sap" neared Split Rock the engineer saw an obstruction on the track, and applying the air and reversing his engine stopped the train just before striking it. The obstruction was a cross tie placed across the track. When the train arrived in Kerrville Sheriff J. T. Moore was notified, and on the following morning he went to the scene of the trouble, and after making investigation placed under arrest a Mexican, whose name was not learned. The man was working near the place, and circumstantial evidence points to his guilt.

Card of Thanks.

On this account there will be no preaching at the Presbyterian church on the 13th and 20th of this month. Other services as usual.

Border to be Patrolled.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 8.—Adequate provision to insure the enforcement of the neutrality law on the Mexican border has been made by the War Department, according to advices given Representative John N. Garner today by Major General Wood, chief of staff of the army, who communicated to Mr. Garner the substance of a telegraph report just made to the department by Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, commanding the Department of the South, at San Antonio. General Bliss suggests the belief that most of the talk about neutrality law violations, however, is based on vague rumors.

After a conversation with Marshall Hicks of San Antonio, who was one of the several persons to complain of laxity in the enforcement of the law, General Bliss says that Mr. Hicks wanted more secret service men, rather than troops, on the frontier.

Patrols, with headquarters at Eagle Pass, have been ordered to connect with Laredo, and to extend from Eagle Pass to Del Rio. A detachment of troops is to be kept at the Pecos high bridge. Another patrol will be stationed at Sam Fordyce to link the patrols working out of Brownsville and Laredo. Any known revolutionists, traveling to or from the Rio Grande on American soil, will be apprehended says General Wood.

Insurance Rates Are Cut.

AUSTIN Tex., April 8.—The State Insurance Board has approved the data for a number of additional Texas cities to receive reductions in their rates as a result of low fire loss records. Fifteen per cent, the maximum allowance, off the final rate on each individual risk is allowed policy holders in these towns. It is noticeable that with two or three exceptions all of the fortunate towns are all in Southwest Texas.

Pre-historic Carving on Giant Cave Walls.

OGDEN, Utah, April 6.—With what appears to be prehistoric hieroglyphics carved on its walls, a mammoth cave, rivaling the famous caves of Kentucky, was discovered in this vicinity yesterday. Thomas Whitaker, a rancher, made the discovery. He will head a party of University of Utah professors on a tour of investigation.

The cave is located in the mountains near Promontory Point, 15 miles from Ogden, and has probably never been visited by white men, as the surrounding country is a bleak desert.

The front chamber is 75 by 150 yards, 41 feet high, and the walls bear pictures of Indians crudely drawn. There is an Indian legend current in this locality to the effect that a great battle was fought years ago between two tribes near the point, the vanquished perished in a mammoth cave.

"Sure Cure"
 "I would like to guide suffering women to a sure cure for female troubles," writes Mrs. R. E. Mercer, of Frozen Camp, W. Va. "I have found no medicine equal to Cardui. I had suffered for about four years. Would have headache for a week at a time, until I would be nearly crazy. I took Cardui and now I never have the headache any more."
Take CARDUI
The Woman's Tonic
 The pains from which many women suffer every month are unnecessary. It's not safe to trust to strong drugs, right at the time of the pains. Better to take Cardui for a while, before and after, to strengthen the system and cure the cause. This is the sensible, the scientific, the right way. Try it.

Miss Emerson is Freed.
 LONDON, April 8.—Miss Zelle Emerson, a suffragette of Jackson, Mich., was released from Holloway jail at 9 o'clock tonight. She was taken by her mother to a nursing home, where she will be given medical treatment. Mrs. Emerson feels grave anxiety for her daughter's condition and will not permit her to see any one.
 Certain of the more militant friends of Miss Emerson, including a number of Americans, who were displeased at Mrs. Emerson's abandonment of the campaign to force intervention by the American embassy, planned to take away the daughter without her mother's knowledge in an automobile, so that they might get an interview without the mother's moderating influence.
 The militants placed a relay of pickets to watch for Miss Emerson when she left the prison, but were forestalled by her unexpected early release. The Home Secretary had announced that she would be set at liberty tomorrow. Mrs. Emerson had been informed of the date of her daughter's release by the American embassy. She took her immediately

 The more radical among the Americans held the belief that the case offered a chance to make the question of forcible feeding an international matter, while the militants generally welcomed it as another opportunity for getting the government into hot water. The more moderate members of the Women's Social and Political Union, including their attorney, support Mrs. Emerson and some of her American friends in their opinion, believe that Home Secretary McKenna had made an extraordinary concession to an American suffragette.
 Miss Emerson, who was taken from the jail in a motor ambulance, was cheered by a large number of suffragettes, who had gathered in a momentary expectation of the release of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst.

A MODERN FABLE

Once upon a time there was a dog—two dogs, in fact, but one was a small fice. The fice was part fox. The other dog was just a good average cur dog, that new better to get in the gate and bark when he saw you trying to run a pig out of the yard, and perhaps had a few other good traits, along with plenty of bad ones.

Now, the fice was so little and ornery that nobody paid much attention to him, but being part fox he decided to make a throw for a little notoriety. He reasoned that if he tackled a really big dog he would just about get chewed up. He tried to get a row off several dogs of greater or less degree, and failing finally selected the poor, homely cur, thinking that as there was nothing better he would at least get a rep for nerve if he raised the row, and would be quite safe if he stayed inside the picket fence.

So, late in the evening, when the little children had come home from school at the house where the cur lived, and he knew it was time for him to be going home to do what was required of him, and to make what pleasure he could for the homefolks, he left his master who was not ready to go, and trotted down the street.

As the cur, was passing the house where the fice, lived, that ferocious canine bolted out from under the gallery floor, and flew at the pickets, snarling, and blustering, and telling the cur in the best dog language he had that he was an all round tough, and named over a lot of bad things that were not fit even for a dog to say—even if they were true. At first the cur got mad, and started to tell the fice what he was. Then he decided it would look pretty bad for even a medium-sized dog like him to jump onto a measly little fice. So he told the fice that he should not worry himself so. That he himself was not worried, that he was not afraid the fice would bite him because he had been used to fleas and chiggers all his life, and another insect or two made very little difference. Then he gave the fice the parting admonition that the time he spent quarreling with passing dogs would not keep the chickens out of the flower beds, and that he was not fit to do a real dog's work, he should go back and do the little he could. Then the cur trotted on home, wondering all the way what makes a really little bit of a dog, and one that is almost all fox at that, feel so big and important sometimes.

Once in a while you see a human critter so good that you feel like you would like to buy about a thousand dollars worth of violets and roses, wrap them up in a nice clean box with tissue paper and fern leaves, and send them—to his funeral. We stole that from a funny paper, but haven't you seen them? Put yer gum on the other side and talk plain.

Splendid rains over this and adjoining counties in the early part of this week are a godsend to farmers and ranchmen. The precipitation amounted, at Kerrville, to a little more than one and a half inches. In some sections it was a little lighter, and in others heavier, but on the whole a good general rain fell.

Belgium on Eve of Strike For Suffrage Grant.

BRUSSELS, April 9.—The last hope of the Socialists of intervention by the King to prevent the granting by the government of manhood suffrage, now appears to have disappeared. That the government will now accept a compromise also is highly improbable.

Orders for the departure of a large body of troops for camp have been countermanded, and the troops will be distributed among the various industrial centers to safeguard the gas and electric plants, the railroads, tunnels and bridges. Large forces of gendarmes also have been drafted and will be stationed in places regarded by the government as danger points.

The first active move in preparation for the strike was made today by the sending out of the country many children of the 300,000 or 400,000 workers who will lay down their tools on Monday, April 14, at the bidding of the Socialist party. It is expected that train service will cease or be greatly impeded after Sunday and the wives and daughters of hundreds of workmen are crossing the frontiers on every train, placing the noncombatants, as it were, in safety in neutral states. Offers of provisional homes abroad have arrived this week at the rate of 1,000 daily, and the directing committee of the strike has received 11,000 offers thus far, 6,000 from France, 4,000 from Holland and 1,000 from Germany.

The strike has been decided on by the Belgium Socialist party as the last desperate measure to make the government give Belgium a system of manhood suffrage instead of the system of plural voting now in practice. Its success or nonsuccess will be of consequence to the world at large, for, if it succeeds, it will demonstrate the practicability of the strike as a political weapon.

Many Belgians believe that this strike will prove a turning point in the history of Belgium and that it will result in political changes of incalculable importance, and some even predict a revolution, the separation of Walloon and Flemish provinces, and a dynastic crisis.

The country is in complete gloom and it is felt that every person is likely to suffer in some way, whatever position he or she may occupy.

Protracted Meeting

The protracted meeting will begin at the Methodist church Friday night, April 11th and continue ten days. Rev. N. B. Reed of San Antonio will do the preaching. All are invited to attend.

HUERTA DEFENDS WILSON

CITY OF MEXICO, April 8.—Indignation has been aroused in official circles by the charges alleged to have been filed at Washington by Luis Manuel Rojas, second vice president of the Mexican House of Deputies, against the American ambassador, Henry Lane Wilson. Both President Huerta and Senor de la Barra, the Foreign Minister, have made a statement to the Associated Press denying the alleged charges.

President Huerta recited efforts made by Ambassador Wilson to protect his nationals and continued:

"The charge that Ambassador Wilson is 'morally responsible' for the deaths of Madero and Saurez is slanderous. The blame for their unfortunate deaths rests entirely upon their imprudent partisans. This government will shortly show by the publication of the detailed findings of the investigation which the courts are conducting.

"As president, permit me to say that the diplomatic effort of the American ambassador had eventually only the effect of re-establishing peace in the country, for which motive I publicly thank him."

Senor de la Barra was equally insistent in defending the actions of Ambassador Wilson, declaring that he worked always within the bounds of diplomacy and with impartiality.

Rob Collection Boxes

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 10.—Effecting an entrance through an unlocked window into St. Mary's Catholic Church last night, thieves overhauled a number of collection boxes and took, it is believed, about $4 in small coins. All the various boxes in the church were opened, but as it is the custom of the fathers in charge to remove the contents every evening, the only box from which anything was obtained was the St. Vincent de Paul box which is opened but once a week.

Escapes From Death But Loses Hand

PALESTINE, Te., April 8.—Hit on the back of the head with a blunt instrument, robbed and tied to the railroad track near Moore's Crossing, within 500 yards of Palestine's great white way, and left on the track to die a horrible death, was the experience of W. L. Gibbons of 710 Lacy street, tonight.

Gibbons was returning from collecting shortly after dark and says his assailant hit him on the head, stunning him. He was tied with one hand on each rail and managed to work partly out of the bonds before he was hit by passenger train No. 7, which was leaving Palestine. One of his arms was severed at the wrist, his face was bruised and part of one foot injured. He was rushed to the hospital for treatment and officers are working on the case. It is said a negro has been arrested as a suspect.

Gibbons was picked up by train No. 5 and brought to town. His condition is serious.

RURAL CREDIT BANKS

BEEVILLE, Tex., April 9.—Dr. E. Caswell Ellis, director of Extension Department of the University of Texas, in a letter to the parties at Tuleta promoting a rural credit bank, to be known as the Bee County Credit Union, states that he believes the plan that has been outlined will be successful after making a few necessary modifications. Dr. Ellis has called to his assistance Mr. Edwin Chamberlain of San Antonio and the law faculty of the University. Mr. Chamberlain stated, after an investigation of the Tuleta plan, that it would in no way interfere with other banks, as it would extend a line of credit not possible under the present system.

Trial Set by Texas Courts.

The men are charged with killing Pedro Ortega and seriously wounding another Mexican in a dance hall now at Brackettville, Kinney County. Agriculture Estimates Cotton Crop Value.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 9.—The Federal Department of Agriculture estimates the total value of the 1912 cotton crop at $267,274,000 in a report which has just been issued showing the Lone Star State as ranking first with all other States in agriculture. This value is only for fine cotton and does not include cotton seed, which when added to this total will be approximately $300,000,000. The figures are preliminary estimates and will probably be changed when the Census Department issues its final report on cotton production in June.

Brazil Favors Republic.

PEKING, April 10.—The Brazilian government, anticipating similar action on the part of the United States has cabled to the Chinese government its recognition of the new republic. The Brazilian and Chinese flags were displayed together over the government offices today.

Reports circulated abroad yesterday that Li Yuan Shung, vice president of the republic, and Long, the rival of President Yuan Shi Kai for the leadership, has been assassinated, are declared untrue. Both the president and the vice president are constantly guarded, however, in fear that their political opponents may be plotting against them.

CALCUTTA, India, April 10.—A detachment of Chinese troops today attacked a battalion of police attached to a British surveying party on the frontier of Burma. The hill men, in considerable numbers, joined forces with the Chinese. The British column repulsed the attack, but sustained few casualties. Among the wounded was Sir Charles Bernard, chief commissioner and head of the surveying party.

KENDALL COUNTY FAIR.

Institution Was Formally Organized March 14. Fair Grounds Donated

The Kendall County Fair was formally organized on the 14th of March. Officers and directors were elected and work put in motion for a grand fair this fall. Committees were appointed, and the business of the association will be pushed with all possible dispatch. The fair will be held some time in September, the exact dates will be set soon.

It will be remembered that the fair grounds at Boerne were donated by the Herff brothers. They comprise 57 acres lying along the S. A. & A. P. railroad track, just south of the depot. The spot is a beautiful park, having already many beautiful native forest trees. Work has already begun putting the park in shape, and by the time the fair meets a well-equipped fair grounds will be ready.

Don't fuss at your boy if he is inclined to want to play baseball. This sport is considered one of the cleanest games, and in addition is one of the best means of developing a child physically. As a matter of fact, the game as played today combines the best physical exercise with an excellent school of fairness and manliness. Play ball, boys, play ball.

Chinese Consul is Against Tong War.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 10.—Lai Wing Yew, Chinese consul general, voluntarily gave testimony at the Tong inquiry yesterday. He declared that if officials here, in order to put an end to Tong wars, would break up the Tong organization, the Chinese government would approve the action. He added that his government would co-operate with federal officials in the effort to disband the Tongs which are not permitted to exist in China, he said.

"What is a Chinese Tong?" he was asked.

He said that originally the Tong was a family organization created to aid members in a benevolent manner, but that they had fallen into bad purposes here and he said many good merchants had been forced into Tong membership as a matter of protection.

"I think that deportation would be a good method of breaking them up," he added.

The inquiry officially is an inquest in connection with the murder of a victim in the present Tong war.

Germany Will Stand Ready For Conflict.

BERLIN, April 7.—"If outside forces should threaten us, Germany must stand ready with her last man" declared Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, imperial chancellor, in parliament today, while submitting the government's bills for increasing the army and providing new forms of taxation. His speech was a striking one, although he qualified his warning with the admission that "a European conflagration in all probabilities will not occur."

The good intentions of the French and Russian governments are beyond question, declares the chancellor, but Germany "must reckon with the great force of modern public opinion which, in the form of French warlike patriotism and Russian pan-Slavism, threatens the world's peace against the wishes of the great masses of both people."

It was noteworthy that in the chancellor's speech Great Britain was referred to only as a pacific factor. Herr von Bethmann Hollweg, although indicating by his manner that he had little belief in the practicability of the suggestion by the British admiralty for a year's naval holiday, said Germany was willing to consider concrete proposals from the British government.

The imperial chancellor said the strength of the army had not kept pace with the growth of the German nation and asked:

"Can Germany allow itself the luxury of dispensing with tens of thousands of trained soldiers?"

He continued:

"Conditions of Europe have been radically changed by the Balkan war, which has been substituted for the passive European Turkey and other states of feverish political activity. In all this there are great factors of progress, indeed, but should a great European conflagration between Germanism and pan-Slavism come, their change would alter the balance in Germany's favor. This does not alter the fact that I consider the conflict will be avoided."

The chancellor declared he had made special efforts to cultivate good relations with Russia and believed the Russian ruler and the Russian ministers reciprocated.

"But the events of the war," he added, "have greatly strengthened the pan-Slavic current in Russia and this is dangerous for peace."

Germany, the chancellor said, had been working to mitigate the Austro-Russian tension, "but should war break out the German empire would unhesitatingly fight beside her ally."

Rojas Charges Not Acted on By Mr. Bryan.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 7.—Charges by Luis Manuel Rojas that Ambassador Wilson at Mexico City was morally responsible for the deaths of Madero and Saurez, and had refused them protection, have been received by Secretary Bryan. The secretary declared he had not read the charges and declined to say what his course would be. Like wise he declined to discuss other published attacks upon the ambassador.

Soldier Killed in Fall From Auto.

TEXAS CITY, Texas, April 7.—Private Louis J. Chandler of the Twenty-sixth Infantry was instantly killed this afternoon when, in an attempt to regain his hat which had been lifted by a gust of wind, he fell from a moving automobile and broke his neck. When picked up he was still alive, but died before he reached the Field Hospital.

The deceased, with several other soldiers, were trying out an automobile owned by an officer after completing repairs and were moving along Eleventh Avenue at a speed of 15 miles an hour when a gust of wind blew off Chandler's hat. He was seated in a narrow rear seat and lost his balance in attempting to regain his hat.

Chandler was nearly 23 years of age and was born in Marifee County, Ky. He enlisted last June and came here from Fort Brady. His parents have been notified.

Rich Youth as Burglars, Killed

GREENVILLE, S. C., April 6.—Leonard Smith, aged 17, member of a wealthy Greenville family, and Rowley Martin, aged 20, his companion, were killed here early today in a pistol duel with three policemen. One of the latter was seriously wounded.

The policemen had concealed themselves in a store in anticipation of a burglary when, according to testimony at the coroner's inquest, the two young men forced an entrance to the building. Both were masked and armed with pistols, it was testified, and flashing pocket lanterns they advanced toward a staircase leading to the second floor of the store.

Patrolman Mayfield, with two other members of the police force, were concealed behind a counter. Mayfield challenged the boys, but according to the policemen, Smith and Martin opened fire at once. A fusillade of shots were exchanged, in which both Smith and Martin were killed and Mayfield was badly wounded.

Tammany Leader Killed by Gunmen.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Eugene Smith, a Tammany political leader, was shot and killed on Park Row early today by four gangsters. He was on his way from a ball of one of the East Side Democratic organizations at Tammany Hall. The gangsters, who were seen only by one witness, escaped.

A brother of the slain man said that Smith had been mistaken for someone else, but the police were told that Smith recently had become involved in a gang feud and had moved to Brooklyn because of threats against his life.

Atlantic City Was Dry.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 7.—Practically every saloon and other places where intoxicating drinks are dispensed, were closed here yesterday for the first time on Sunday in many years. Heeding a warning circulated by Director of Public Safety Barrett, acting under orders from Prosecutor Moore, proprietors of hotels and cafes declined, they said, "to take further chances in evading the Sunday closing law." Many curious signs were displayed in several of the big beach front cafes before midnight Saturday, notifying their patrons that they would not be served after 12 o'clock. One sign read:

"Bar closed at 12. Waiters will make their final call. Put in supply before the hour. No objection to using the tables."

Saloon keepers who were in doubt whether to close or not, were told by city authorities that arrest and conviction would almost certainly follow a violation of the law.

Pains in the Stomach.

"If you continually complain of pains in the stomach, your liver or your kidneys are out of order. Neglect may lead to dropsy, kidney trouble, diabetes or Bright's disease. Thousands recommend Electric Bitters as the very best stomach and kidney medicine made. H. T. Alston, of Raleigh, N. C., who suffered with pain in the stomach and back, writes: 'My kidneys were deranged and my liver did not work right. I suffered much, but Electric Bitters was recommended and I improved from the first dose. I now feel like a new man.' It will improve you too. Only 50c and $1.00. Recommended by The Kerrville Drug Company."

Suffragettes Are Hooted.

LONDON, April 6.—Rioting at the suffrage meeting in Hyde Park, which has become a regular Sunday afternoon diversion, was repeated today. The crowd, which numbered 15,000, was distinctly hostile and only the big force of police prevented the rioters from handling the women roughly.

Two suffragettes talked for half an hour, but were unable to make themselves heard above the uproar of horns and hooting. Misses of various kinds were thrown and Miss Brackenbury was struck in the face. Mounted police finally escorted the women's van from the park while the police on foot kept the crowd from following.

A similar disturbance occurred at Wimbledon Common, where Miss Annie Kenny attempted to speak but was howled down.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, who is on a hunger strike in Holloway jail, has been forcibly fed, according to the Express, and is in a state of collapse. Her condition is considered serious. She refused food and resisted all efforts to feed her.

The campaign of revenge for the sentence imposed upon Mrs. Pankhurst which the suffragettes threatened, is proceeding actively, and seems likely to spread. Many outrages have been committed during the last twenty-four hours. These included the complete destruction of the grandstand at the race course where the principal Scottish meetings are held, the damage being estimated at -15,000, and an attempt to burn the new grand stand of the Kelso race course, also in Scotland. Two women were caught after they had ignited oil-soaked rags which they had placed beneath the Kelso stand. Many shop windows in Glasgow, including those of the labor exchange were broken; telephone wires were cut at Llantarnam, in Monmouthshire; letter boxes were damaged at Liverpool; the flower beds in the public park at Newcastle were torn up, and letter boxes were burned or damaged in London.

Bandits Are Routed.

MEXICO, City, April 5.—Fighting, which has been in progress in and about Tenancingo, one of the most important cities in the state of Mexico ended yesterday in a defeat of the bandits. Government reports state that 200 followers of Zapata have been killed. The federal losses are not given.

The bandits outnumbered the 500 government troops, but the latter used machine guns and other field pieces effectively.

Bias Ruiz, a Mexican, but representing Japan as consul at Colima, has been arrested for alleged complicity in the revolt.

Who Will Be the Lucky 1000?

This month we will produce one thousand HUDSON cars. That is a small percentage of the number of people who will want them, for before a single HUDSON was offered, more than one thousand individuals had paid their deposit to assure getting cars.

Electric Self-Cranking-Electrically Lighted

Why This Great Demand.
People recognize now the importance of engineering brains in their relation to mechanical perfection. Without knowledge a smooth, simple, safe, satisfactory car is impossible.

These cars were designed by 48 skilled engineers gathered from Europe and America, representing 97 factories. They had a hand in building over 200,000 automobiles. These men represent about all that has been learned in motor car design. Some have made the greatest headway of all in designing six-cylinder cars. Some are specialists in other lines. So the combined skill and knowledge of all these men is focused upon the production of HUDSON cars.

All who are motor-wise recognize the importance of having a car built under such favorable conditions. That is why, with the maximum of 1,000 cars for delivery this month, only one out of three of those who will want HUDSONS will be able to get them.

What better assurance could be offered than that these men who possess about all the knowledge that has thus far been gained in automobile building have joined in saying, "The New HUDSONS are the best we know."

The HUDSON "37" is their four-cylinder masterpiece. It sells at $1875, completely equipped with electric lights, speedometer, clock, top, windshield and twelve inch upholstery. There is nothing more to buy.

The "54" HUDSON—a six, capable of doing 65 miles an hour and a speed of 58 miles in 30 seconds from a standing start, is offered as a car superior to any automobile on the market regardless of price. It sells at $2450, completely finished and equipped as above. Prices are f. o. b. Detroit.

A Skyrocket Flying Machine

F. Rodman Law, known for his foolishly daring feats in the air, surpassed himself in recklessness on the ominous 13th inst.

Law attempted to ascend in a giant skyrocket to a height of several thousand feet, tumble out, and descend safely by means of a new safety parachute. This parachute, the invention of A. Leo Stevens, has been used by Law many times for making perilous jumps, such as from the bankers' Trust Building and the Williamsburg Bridge in New York city and from a biplane at a height of a mile.

The parachute mentioned is made of Japanese silk, and is carried on the back of the aviator like a knapsack. It is claimed that a 6-pound parachute will carry a 170-pound man safely. The mere act of tumbling out of an aeroplane causes the parachute to open automatically. Law has used it many times, and always without a hitch.

The skyrocket which was to elevate the reckless Law was some 3 feet in diameter and 10 feet in length. It was carried on a heavy timber some 20 feet in length, forming the stick. A seat was provided in its upper end for Law, who sat inside the tube and was covered by the pointed top. The lower half of the skyrocket was constructed of sheet steel and was partially filled with fifty pounds of slow-burning powder—enough it was supposed, to send the rocket with its human load 3,5000 feet skyward. Unlike ordinary skyrockets, this giant structure was loaded at the head, so that it was top-heavy. It was placed beside a framing of heavy timber, as shown in one of our pictures.

After Law had taken his seat and put the cap of the rocket in position, the fuse was lighted. It sputtered for some time. Then followed a terrific explosion. The gases, instead of expanding downward as expected, burst the steel shell into many pieces. Law fell like a sack to the ground, a distance of approximately 15 feet. The parachute had no chance to open. Law was badly burned, and rushed to a hospital. He announced his intention of making another trial in the near future. Needless to say, the performance was arranged for the purpose of making a sensational moving picture, and several cameras recorded it. In this respect it was similar to Law's ascent in a balloon above the Hudson River and blowing up of the balloon with dynamite while in midair, which he accomplished without mishap several months ago.—Scientific American.

Tortures Wife; Then Kills Self.

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 6.—After torturing his wife Lydia with chloroform and carbolic acid while she lay bound and gagged in bed, Ralph Custin, for some time a dishwasher at a restaurant, shot and killed himself Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock at their home, according to the story told by his wife. Mrs. Custin is now at the medical college hospital, where her eyes are being treated, they having been badly burned by the acid. It is not thought she will lose her sight. Grace, the eleven-year-old daughter, was attending a funeral while the tragedy was being enacted. Mrs. Custin says her husband had been mentally deranged ever since he was injured in a railroad accident fourteen years ago when he was "trailed."

Ship Capsizes, Trapping 22 Men

BAY CITY Ore., April 6.—Twenty-two men, including the ship's captain, the president of a wrecking company of Portland and the representatives of the marine underwriters were trapped in the hold of the German ship Mimi, which capsized off a reef on which she had been fast two months. How many perished is not known. Figures were seen on the bottom of the wreck at dark. It was supposed they had cut their way out. A heavy sea was pounding the wreck and life-savers refused to attempt a rescue until it calmed. They said no boat would be launched and refused to let volunteers take their boat. The life savers are camped on the beach tonight watching for a chance to reach the wreck. The Mimi, in ballast for Valpariso

Don't Guess— Be SURE

A guessing contest is about the poorest sport in the world, but if one likes it there is no harm in guessing, as long as it is just done for fun and there is no money at stake. But guessing at anything in business is about the most inexcusable thing a sane person can be guilty of. When you want to buy something buy it from a firm that does not guess, but knows just what it is doing, and then insist upon the seller telling you what he is charging. Don't you do any guessing either, but know what you want, and insist upon having just that.

Our business is run upon the "Know Your Business" plan. We know how to buy lumber just as well as we know how to sell it, and insist upon buying the kind of lumber that our customers should have. We run the lumber business upon the same plan that a bank is run. We get a profit on the lumber we sell, or we don't sell it. You get a profit on the things you sell, or at least you should do so. But there is a difference in profits. There are profits and PROFITS. The profit we take for handling lumber is a fair consideration for handling the material, for keeping it always in stock so you can get what you want, when you want it, and for giving you the very best possible lumber service.

Short figuring don't help any. If you want to build, we want to figure with you. No man buys a coffin because it is cheap. No man builds a house until he is ready to build. If you are ready to build we shall be pleased to make an estimate on your bill of material, and if you will give us the exact specifications we will figure the bill of material so that you will not have to buy from one third to one half more lumber than you contemplated. It is said there are tricks in all trades, and so there may be, but in the long run they don't pay. If there are tricks in our trade it is pretty plain that we have not used them, for had we done so we should have been caught up with good and strong in the almost quarter of a century that we have been doing business in Kerrville.

We are doing business now, and shall continue to do it, in the same old straightforward way that we have always done. When you bring in your spring clip of mohair and wool you will probably want to take back a load of lumber to floor the gallery, or some shingles to recover the kitchen. Perhaps you may want to build a new house. No matter what your wants may be, we are ready to serve you. Your order can't be too large for us to handle without embarrassment, nor can it be too small for us to give our most careful attention.

from Astoria, piled up on the reef on February 13 last. She was not seriously injured and the underwriters contracted with Charles S. Fisher, of a Portland construction company, to float her. Fisher, his secretary, and seven riggers, Captain W. E. Crowe, representative of the underwriters; Captain Wetfall, of the Mimi and eleven of his men were aboard the ship when she capsized. All were below deck when she turned over. It is thought no bodies or survivors have reached the shore. The Mimi was hauled off the rocks at high tide last night. It was determined to take her to deep water at once and she was at anchor off the beach when the rising wind and sea tilted her over. Life savers fought all day to reach her, without success. After they had given it up and as dark was falling, the men on the wrecker's bottom appeared.

Seas were sweeping the wreck at dark. Wreckage was seen and it was feared she was breaking up. Whether the men aboard can hold on until the sea abates and the life savers reach them, is a problem. The hull is low in the water and may sink from sight when the tide rises.

Land to be Settled.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 9.—Plans for the re-establishment of Philippine typhoon sufferers on rice plantations in the Cotabato district of Moro province, were outlined in a cablegram from Governor General Forbes, received at the insular bureau today. The people to be given a new start on public lands will be drawn from Cebu, the district which suffered severely in the typhoon which swept the Visayana group of islands in November and October last. The Cotabato, which will thus be thrown open to settlement, is considered one of the most fertile sections in the archipelago. It is now virtually settled. The Philippine legislature, in addition to appropriating money for the relief of the sufferers, also authorized the governor general to open the public lands to rice culture as the amount produced in the islands for many years has been less than that consumed.

$10,000 PRIZE CROP CONTEST

Approximately 11,000 farmers, by entering its $10,000 prize crop contest for the largest yields, cost of production considered, of corn, cotton, kaffir, milo and cowpeas, have agreed to study better cultural methods this year according to the instructions of the Texas Industrial Congress.

Entries in the contest closed April 1, with 10,816 contestants from 214 counties. In less than three years the number of farmers earnestly engaged in studying soil conservation, crop rotation, diversification and the best methods of increasing acreage yields under the direction of the Congress, has grown from 1746 in 1911 to almost 11,000 in 1913, and the number of counties represented has increased from 161 to 214.

The greatest interest has been shown by the boys and girls, the chief reason for this being due to the fact that the county school superintendents and teachers have taken a personal interest in the work. The school superintendents of Bexar, Ellis, Tarrant, Hunt, Kaufman, Cooke, Navarro, Dallas, Jack, Collin and Denton counties have been especially active in assisting the Congress.

County demonstration agents, officials of the A. & M. College, and the State department of agriculture have also been very helpful and the agricultural demonstration trains operated by the Rock Island, Texas and Pacific and the International and Great Northern railroads, have been of material assistance through the distribution of prize announcements and application blanks.

The great increase in the number of farmers who are now co-operating with the Congress entails a larger office force to properly conduct this practical school of agriculture. Thousands of questions are answered by personal letters, crop reports are prepared, read and recorded, bulletins on cultural methods at frequent intervals are sent to each contestant and numerous articles on agricultural matters are written and given publicity through the generous co-operation of the newspapers of the state.

Both press and public have united in unqualified endorsement of the work inaugurated by Col. Henry Exall, who, as president of the Congress, has directed its energies so wisely that Texas is rapidly taking rank as the foremost state in the union in the interest manifested by its citizens in agricultural development, resulting in increased acreage yields, larger profits and more prosperous and happier homes.

Binders For Fuel Briquets.

Experience in European countries and investigations made at the fuel-testing plant of the United States Geological Survey at St. Louis, and later by the Bureau of Mines at Pittsburgh, have shown that lignite may be successfully briquetted without the use of any additional binding material, and that the most satisfactory binders for anthracite, semi-anthracite, bituminous, and sub-bituminous coals are coal-tar pitch, gas-tar pitch, and asphaltic pitch, or inexpensive cementing mixtures that are practically waterproof. Of the 19 briquetting plants in commercial operation in the United States during 1912, 10, according to E. W. Parker, of the United States Geological Survey, used as a binder coal-tar pitch, or mixtures in which it is the chief ingredient; 1 plant used asphaltic pitch, two used water gas pitch; four used mixed binders whose composition is not made public, and two (one operating on peat and the other on carbon residue) used no binder. The number of plants using coal-tar pitch as a binder exceed all the others put together. Inorganic binders, such as cement, have not given satisfactory results, for although they may form efficient cements they have the serious objection of increasing the ash and adding nothing to the combustible elements of the fuel. Binders made of organic material, however, such as pitches from coal-tar, gas-tar, or asphalt, contribute combustible material and do not increase the amount of ash.
