SCIENCE SAYS CONTAGIOUS TO HUMANS

Agricultural Department at Washington Pronounces Stock Disease.

MILK SHOULD BE STERILIZED
People Rarely Take the Disease But Caution is Advised.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 12.—Foot and mouth disease now raging among cattle in fourteen states is communicable to humans, the Department of Agriculture announced today, but its effect rarely is serious. The department urged, however, that humans keep away from diseased cattle to avoid spreading of the infection and recommended the use of pasteurized milk.

The statement said in part: "Anxiety expressed in regard to the effect on human health of foot and mouth disease is regarded by government authorities as somewhat exaggerated. The most common fear is that the milk supply might become contaminated, but in view of the precautions local authorities are taking there is comparatively little danger.

HENDRICKS-BULWER

Ernest Hendricks and Miss Ora Bulwer were married at St. Mary's Catholic church Thursday morning at 8 o'clock, Father Kemper officiating.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with ferns, palms and chrysanthemums. The attendants were Miss Irene Bulwer and Mr. Chas. Clements. The choir sang the high mass, with Chas. Kuesse as organist. The bride, as organist, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bulwer, and is a most estimable young woman. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hendricks, who reside near Kerrville, and is a young man of many sterling qualities.

At the home of the bride's parents a delightful noon luncheon was served to the bridal party and their relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Hendricks left in the afternoon for San Antonio, where Mr. Hendricks is in business, and where they will reside.

Sharp Increase in Exports Cotton From United States.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 11.—Constantly increasing demand for American cotton today carried the total of clearances from ports of the United States above total port receipts from the interior. Only on a few occasions when unusually large shipments have figured in port transactions has any day since the war demoralized overseas transportation ended with port stocks showing a decrease. Of the 61,056 bales sent from American ports today, 48,368 were billed to foreign destinations. Coastwise shipments amounted to 12,687. Port receipts were 57,443. Foreign clearances thus far this week amount to 127,644 compared to 108,189 for the corresponding period a week ago, and traders point to this fact as a revival of export as a lasting sort.

England continues the chief buyer, her takings today being 22,644 bales. Spain bought 5463 and the United States 4,300. Clearances to Europe and scattering ports elsewhere. Southern spot markets again responded to the increased foreign demand today and traders optimistically predicted that the rise in price which began late in October, would continue until a normal had been reached.

War Tax Swelled by Many Millions

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—Under a ruling by Solicitor Johnson of the treasury, collections from the war tax may be several million dollars in excess of estimates by congress. The new ruling will require payment of the stamp tax on all loans of building and loan associations throughout the United States. It is said to affect more than 6400 associations, having nearly 3,000,000. The opinion of the solicitor differs from the opinion of the commissioner of internal revenue and an assistant attorney general who interpreted the revenue tax of 1898.

The language in both the present law and that of the Spanish war days is held by loan association officers here to be identical. It is probably an effort will be made by the associations to fight the present construction of the law. The language of the act is in part as follows: "That stock and bonds issued by co-operative building and loan associations, or companies that make loans only to their shareholders, shall be exempt from the tax herein provided."

Solicitor Johnson held that under this provision loan associations have no exception except for their own stocks and bonds.

Secret Wireless Hidden in Woods.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 9.—Persistent reports that hidden stations along the coasts of the United States are serving as information bureaus for belligerent cruisers at sea have caused the navy to join the State Department in efforts to locate and destroy such stations if they actually exist.

According to the reports, both Germans and Japanese have the concealed wireless outfits. One is said to be in the woods off the Maine coast, another in the Northwest and still another on the Florida peninsula.

Take Sam Jones' word for it and try a little liver tonic along with the spiritual advice you take. It can't hurt you, and it may help a whole lot to relieve you.

Announce Rules For New Regional Bank.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 12.—Regional banks will not exercise all the functions given them by Congress during the first few months of their existence. An announcement of the federal reserve board, which reaches bankers in all parts of the country today, outlined this plan of operations:

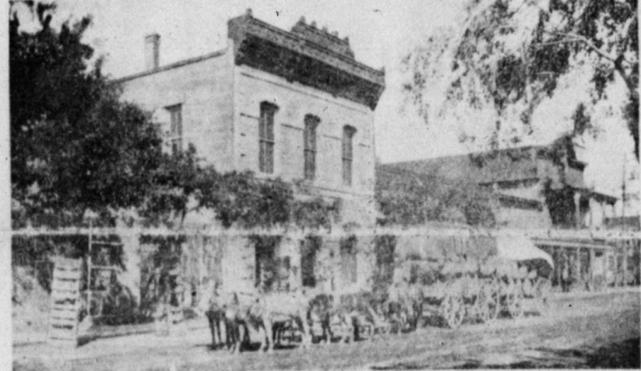

"Acceptance of deposit of reserves

COMMISSIONERS' COURT

County Solons Devote Regular Term Largely to Routine Business.

The regular November term of the commissioners' court for Kerr county met Monday with all the officers present.

The first day of the term was devoted to canvassing the ballot in the general election. The remainder of the term was spent mostly in disposing from member banks.

"Discounts of bills of exchange and commercial paper.

"Acceptance of deposits of checks drawn by member banks on any reserve bank or member bank in a reserve or central reserve city within their reserve districts."

Sections, it was announced, would be inaugurated as the establishment of efficient organization permitted. The banks will be opened for business Monday.

The board's announcement included a definition of commercial paper but the rate of discount was not given. Discounting war conditions the board said that although American exports were showing a "gratifying increase," a large cash balance was due to European countries for which gold might be demanded.

Basic principles in the definition of commercial paper included: That no bill shall be admitted to rediscount by a reserve bank, the proceeds of which have been or are to be applied to a permanent investment. Maturities of discounted bills should be distributed so a reserve bank could liquidate one-third its investments in 30 days. Bills presented for rediscount should be essentially self-liquidating.

Swallows Dentist's Drill and Loses Life.

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 11.—While away from home to attend the exercises at Galveston attending the presentation of the silver service to the Battleship Texas, Ed L. Tinker's father died in New York after swallowing a dentist's drill while the dentist was working on his teeth.

The son was a member of the Governor O. B. Colquitt's party and left at once from Galveston for New York.

An order was issued creating a new county line school district between Kerr and Kendall counties and changing the lines existing districts nine and eleven.

The reports of the county treasurer, county clerk and justice of the peace of Precinct No. 1, were received and approved.

A balance of $404 in the road and bridge fund for the year was appropriated as follows: Precinct No. 1, $157.56, No. 2, $117.16, No. 3, $76.76, No. 4, $52.52.

Hotels Will Use Cotton Cloth in Table Service.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 11.—Cotton hereafter will be used for table service by members of the Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma Men's association, which, in convention here today, passed a resolution to that effect.

It was asserted that it was the duty of hotel men to use every means in their power to assist the Southern cotton farmers in moving their crop and that any way cotton is cheaper, wears better and looks as well as linen.

Hotel men throughout the nation must go into politics and do active work if they do not want to see the speedy passing of the hotel bar, urged a delegation of Colorado hotel men.

Following a plan formed at a meeting of the American Hotel Protective association in Buffalo last spring, plans were made to conduct a nationwide straw vote among hotel guests before Christmas to learn their attitude toward prohibition.

of this. Pasteurization, however, is recommended.

"It has been demonstrated by experiments made in Denmark and Germany that pasteurization will serve as a safeguard against contagion from the foot and mouth disease just as readily as it does against typhoid fever, but in any event it must be thoroughly done—the milk must be heated to 145 degrees Fahrenheit and held at this temperature for 30 minutes.

"In this country the foot and mouth disease has been so rare that there are few recorded cases of its transmission to human beings. As long as the disease can be confined by rigid quarantine to certain specified areas, the dangers from this disease is very small. Should the pestilence become so general as it has been at various times in large areas in Europe, the problem would become more serious. Under any circumstances, however, pasteurization would be an efficient remedy. Where pasteurization is not possible the precaution of boiling milk might be advisable.

"Cows affected with the malignant form of the disease lose practically all of their milk. In mild cases, however, the decrease may be from one-third to one-half of the usual condition.

Men who come in contact with diseased animals may also become infected. In adult human beings the contagion causes such symptoms as sore mouth, painful swallowing, fever and occasional eruptions on the hands, finger tips, etc. While causing considerable discomfort, however, the disease is rarely serious.

"The disease, in short, is dangerous because of the loss that it occasions to property and not because of its effects upon the health of mankind."

Presbyterian Ladies Serve Mexican Dinner at the Pearson & Shand Building.

The Womens' Society of the Presbyterian church will serve a Mexican dinner at the store known as the Pearson store on Saturday, the 14th. They have the use of this attractive place through the kindness of Mr. Strohmman, who is opening a new business there. A menu of Mexican dishes will be offered. A regular dinner for 35 cents.

They will appreciate your patronage and will endeavor to provide for your comfort and convenience. They will begin serving at 11 a. m. and continue into the afternoon.

CATHOLIC CHURCH NOTES
BY FATHER KEMPER

The holy sacrifice of the altar will be offered tomorrow at 7:00 a. m. owing to Father Kemper's engagement in Comfort. Details relative to the nuptial high mass at which Mr. Ernest Hendricks was united in the sacrament of matrimony to Miss Ora M. Bulwer, cannot be prepared in time for publication this week, and will therefore be reported in the next communication. The feast of St. Elizabeth of Hungary, pioneer settler-worker of the thirteenth century, will be observed on Thursday by the Franciscan Tertiaries, of which society she is the heavenly patroness. Next Saturday, the Presentation of the Blessed Virgin, will be the occasion for the formal blessing and acceptance of three very artistic and almost life-size statues of Our Lady for some of the glass-rooms in Notre Dame Institute.

On all Souls Day a requiem high mass was sung for the deceased parishioners of St. Mary's congregation. The following day a mass was read for the repose of the soul of the deceased founder of our parochial school, Mr. Wm. Kemper. Last Saturday was the fifth anniversary of Mr. Alex Mosel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mosel. The youngest child of Mr. Philip Via Real received the sacrament of baptism after the Sunday vesper services.

Mr. Franz Lange of Harper was one of the guests at the Rectory during the week. Another visitor was Mr. George Menkes, who had performed the uncommon feat of walking nearly the whole way to Kerrville from the Coast. After a brief stay in our town, he resumed his westward journey, to fully test his power of endurance.

It may interest those who are following the events in war-fraught Mexico, that one of the candidates for the presidency is Senor Edward Hay, who was a school-mate of Father Kemper's at Notre Dame University. The distinguished Latin statesman graduated from that Alma Mater in 1901. One of the Notre Dame instructors, namely Prof. Vera, was on his way to Spain in order to become a Dominican priest when the European war broke out. On account of his English sympathies he enlisted in the British navy, and recently numbered among the captives taken by a German dreadnought.

Lax Divorce Laws and "Baby Talk"
Scored by Bryant.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 9.—Go swimming with your boy, run races with him, play marbles with him and help him at his chores and you have the solution to the "boy problem," according to the Rev. Daniel Bryant of Zion City, Ill., who spoke before the final session of the International Purity Congress here today.

"American parents' live in one world and their children in another," he said. "More child life in the souls of the parents would make them trust more and worry less. If we possessed some of the merriment of the child there would be laughter in our eyes, where there are often tears."

Dr. Bryant made a plea against "baby talk," asserting it tends to create on the mind of the parent the imagery of a senseless babe "while really the child is more of a man than you take him to be and the man is more of a child than he realizes himself to be."

We cannot expect to annihilate interstate white slave traffic while we authorize interstate traffic in divorce, according to the Rev. J. M. Wylie of Kansas City. He scored States having liberal divorce laws.

"A divorce which gives the privilege of remarriage to the guilty party is one of society's greatest menaces," he said.

Dr. Wylie pointed out that 80,000 divorces are granted in the United States every year, one out of every ten marriages. He asserted that divorces are too frequently "interlocked" with the desire to marry another prompting the petitions.

The Rev. Ernest A. Bell of Chicago presented a letter addressed to the Austrian, British, German and Russian Emperors and the President of France urging them to recall their armies and remember that they are brothers. It was referred to a committee. The Rev. R. B. Perry, president of Midland College, at Atchison, Kan., made a plea for a greater interest in the morals of the Orient, saying that the loose standard of moral ethics prevalent there is bound to have its effect on other nations.

Red Cross Seal Sale.
 Miss Lynn Burnett, chairman of our Red Cross Christmas Seal Campaign Committee, has received Red Cross Christmas Seals from Mrs. O. B. Colquitt, General Chairman of the Texas Red Cross Christmas Seal Campaign Committee. The Red Cross Seals are again being sold throughout the United States for the benefit of public health and anti-tuberculosis work. The price of the Seals are one cent each. In the past three years, over 4,000,000 Christmas Seals have been sold in Texas, or one for every man, woman and child in the State. Because of the great interest in Red Cross work, due to the European war, it is believed that this year's sales will exceed all previous records.

Splendid results have been secured from the sale of Christmas Seals. The Texas Public Health Association introduced and secured the passage of a bill providing for the erection of county hospitals. Under this act five hospitals have been and are being constructed—Tarrant County and Fort Worth have opened their institution, costing $50,000. Ground has been broken for a $30,000 hospital at El Paso. The Kingsville $35,000 hospital is nearly completed. Plans are being made for the $50,000 Wichita County and Wichita Falls hospital; also for the Bexar County and San Antonio $250,000 institution. In addition to the five hospitals mentioned above, Delta County and City have erected a $50,000 hospital for tuberculosis patients, and the Texas Public Health Association built the $15,000 Walter Colquitt Memorial Children's Hospital for bone tuberculosis, at Galveston.

In addition to the effort being made to secure hospital care for the sick of Texas, the Texas Public Health Association, organized and is financing the Southwestern Conference on Tuberculosis, of which Governor O. B. Colquitt is chairman, and the Southwestern Conference is working to secure the passage of a bill by Congress, providing for the care of indigent stranger consumptives in the Southwest. This bill is now pending in the Interstate Commerce Committee of the House.

The Texas Public Health Association is also responsible for securing the appropriation for the work of the Public Health Exhibit Car now being carried on by the State Board of Health, and is co-operating with the State Board of Health in this public health educational work.

The Association plans next year to secure legislation increasing the powers, authority and appropriation of the State Board of Health, and also to secure other public health legislation of importance. The present work of the Association will be conducted with the proceeds of the sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals.

The Seals are sold to business houses, who in turn sell them to the public. Seals are to be placed on the back of all mail matter; also on checks, bills, and statements, on invitations to social functions, on Hotel menu cards, on children's school books; and they are used in many other ways as a reminder of the Christmas spirit of helping one another.

Christmas Seals may be secured from any of the following members of the local committee.

Election Results Satisfied Bryan
 WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 9.—Secretary Bryan back at the state Department after his campaign trip west, issued a formal statement summarizing the results of the election and declaring that they could not be otherwise than an indorsement of President Wilson and his policies.

Pointing to the slump of the progressive vote as the outstanding feature of the election returns, Mr. Bryan said this had resulted in no change in the leadership of the regular republican ranks; that Senator Penrose and former Speaker Cannon would represent their party in congress and the progressives returning to that party would have to accept all they had protested against and more. The statement follows:
 "The election of 1914 can not be considered otherwise than as an indorsement of the president and his policies. I am so convinced of the merits of the remedial measures enacted under the president's leadership and of the righteousness of his foreign policy that I expected the voters to support the candidates who represented his views. There were a number of causes which operated against our party, namely, the efforts of the beneficiaries of protection who out of resentment sought to make the tariff law onerous; the 'disturbed condition' caused by the European war, and the fact that the excellent laws passed by congress had not time to prove their worth. Too, more progressives have returned to the republican party—this alone counted for most of the republican gains in the house of representatives. The victory, however, was sufficiently complete to show that the people are with the president and he is now able to continue the splendid program upon which he has entered.

"The gains in the senate are especially gratifying—not a single democrat defeated for re-election and three senatorships taken from the republicans.
 "There is every reason to believe that the administration will grow in popularity as the laws go into effect and as democratic policies bear fruit. The new currency law is just beginning to operate—before the next election it will have vindicated its claim to public confidence.

"The new tariff law cannot be repealed until after the people have had a chance to try it out and now that the election is over the protected manufacturers are already resuming work. Some of them suspended operations or cut down their forces before the election; and they did it under conditions which left little doubt that they hoped to arouse opposition to the new tariff law. Seeing that the law is here to stay they will now proceed to demonstrate the fallacy of the arguments which they used in opposing reductions.

"The president's foreign policies are indorsed and his hands strengthened.
 "The outstanding fact in the late election returns is the slump in the progressive vote. A large percentage of the progressive republicans have returned to the republican party and that, too, without any surrender on the part of the 'stand-patters' and the reactionaries. The leadership of the regular republican party has undergone no change. Senator Penrose and former Speaker Cannon will represent that party in the senate and house and the returning progressives must be prepared to accept all that they protested against and more, for the stand-patters, after having overcome the defection, are even further from reform than they were two years ago.

"The democratic party deserves the support of all real progressives and in the next two years it will draw to itself those progressives who understand the radical nature of the issue which separates the democrat from the aristocrat and the autocrat."

THE NEW KERRVILLE SANITARIUM-HOSPITAL
 The Pride of the Southwest
 Tubercular Patients Not Admitted.

A general Sanitarium and Hospital with modern building equipped for the application of the most up-to-date methods of the diagnosis and treatment of disease by Drugs, Surgery or Drugless Methods.
 The finest operating room in the Southwest, with a complete sterilization plant, makes the highest grade of surgery possible. We believe in surgery and prompt action when surgery is needed, but on the other hand we have so much faith in other modern methods of treatment that we have invested a lot of money to provide facilities for the application of Medical Baths, Electricity High Frequency, Vibration, Massage, X-ray, etc., etc. Also special facilities for treating the Eye, Ear, Nose, and Throat.
 Our rates are low when the quality of service is considered.

This institution places the facilities of the best eastern sanitariums and hospitals within the reach and means of all who live in the Southwest and it is open to all physicians on an equal basis.

Foot and Mouth Disease.

The foot and mouth disease which the Federal Bureau and Animal Industry and the State sanitary boards are bending every energy to stamp out in Michigan, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Indiana, is a malady comparatively unknown in America. There have been, however, spasmodic outbreaks in the past fifty years, principally in the Eastern States. The authorities go to considerable length to wipe out the disease in the quickest possible time.

The disease is first heralded by a champing of the jaws or lips of the animals. Soon after, the lips become red and swollen, the tongue swells and breaks out with sores and the animal drools from the mouth. At the same time the sores appear above the hoofs of the animal.

The disease is not necessarily a fatal one, but the results are, as it is thought best to kill all affected animals, because there is no cure and because the disease is so contagious the strongest methods to stamp it out are necessary.

The contagion is carried on the wind much as hog cholera is spread, Dr. Kinsley points out, and his dissemination is so rapid that only the most vigorous means are effective. This means to kill and burn all affected animals, to disinfect the premises and barns. If it is an old barn, burning is recommended. If it is newer, a solution of corrosive sublimate sprayed over it inside and out is made.

So much is the disease feared that the Government takes very vigorous measures to prevent its spread. The Government has a fund for paying half the value of the animals condemned and the States usually pay the other half. In 1908 the Government spent $200,000 in this way in Pennsylvania, Maryland, New York and Michigan. Now it has broken out in two of these States.

Missouri and Kansas do not have any fund for the payment of their half of the cattle that might be destroyed by an epidemic of the disease, but it is believed they would surely follow the lead of the other States and pay for such losses if any occurred. In this way the disease can be controlled, for the farmer becomes a more willing agent in helping to stamp it out.

The disease is not new. Its first appearance in the United States was in 1870. Next it gave some trouble in 1884. In 1890 it recurred again and in 1902 and 1908 other outbreaks were quelled for the time being.

 It is usually referred to as a cattle disease, although it affects hogs and sheep, but not so virulently.
 The outbreak in Michigan and Indiana is believed, tentatively, to have come from water buffalo hides from the Philippines and from tannery supplies from South America, shipped to Niles, Mich., tannery. Inspectors have found the disease only in the northwest part of St. Joseph County, in the northeast part of LaPorte County, both in Indiana, in southeast Berrien County and in Cass County, Michigan.

There are 32 Indiana and 122 Michigan herds affected, according to the United States Live Stock Association. A part have been killed and the remainder are awaiting slaughter. The Bureau of Animal Industry and competent stockmen appraise the condemned animals and the Federal and State governments pay for them, 50-50. This payment includes cost of disinfecting, which includes spraying ground and buildings with strong germicides.
 The stock quarantine is no joke to the people in affected districts. Children cannot go to school, highway traffic is stopped, dogs tied up or killed and shipment of all stuff from affected areas stopped. Deputy Sheriffs guard the highways to enforce the quarantine. The carcasses are burned or buried deep, cut open and covered with quicklime and then earth. Infected animals are not dragged to the pits, but are led there, so they may not scatter germs more than necessary.

Gardner Declares an Adequate Army and Navy.
 WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 9.—Representative Gardner of Massachusetts today wrote to Representative Henry, chairman of the House Rules Committee, asking that the committee assign two days early in December for a hearing on Gardner's resolution providing a commission to investigate the adequacy of the army and navy for National defense, which was introduced at the last session.

 It is reported scores of Congressmen, civilians and army and navy experts want to testify before the committee.
 Gardner today made the following statement in connection with his letter to Henry:
 "I have received thousands of letters from all over the United States, four-fifths of them favoring my resolution.
 "I have received many letters from persons who claim to be Democrats, expressing great concern over President Wilson's attitude and their fear lest his influence may be used to draw the veil of silence over the situation.
 "During the campaign just closed I spoke continually on the need of an investigation into the adequacy of our army and navy and I freely expressed my opinion that we were utterly and entirely unprepared to defend ourselves if attacked by a real power.
 "I do not pretend to any special political astuteness, but it required no subtlety to discern the solemn feeling which pervaded my audiences.
 "I will cheerfully wager my political future that the sentiment of the people overwhelmingly favors the creation of any army and navy absolutely and unquestionably adequate for our defense against any nation on earth."

Mrs. Daniels is about fifteen years late in telling southern women to teach their children reverence for the national flag. It was pretty thoroughly demonstrated at the time of the Spanish-American war that there were as many patriots at the south as at the north. That little speech was just as easy to make as any, and a speech had to be made. It would have been just as effective, however if the lady had talked about the best methods of making "salt risin'" bread, instead of taking a veiled shot at the patriotism of southern people. The burden of being the wife of a high official appears to be resting rather heavily upon Mrs. Daniels.

No telling what noise is that some of the nations at war think are whisperings of peace proposals. It is just possible that some one is scared, and instead of seeing things is hearing things.

The hoof and mouth disease among stock appears to be spreading rapidly over the country. Just at this time when meat is so high it will engender a terrific loss to the stockmen and farmers of the quarantine states, now fourteen in number.

The latest in the Mexican situation is that some of Villa's troops have revealed and gone over to Carranza. Of all the people on earth the men of Mexico appear to have the hardest time trying to stay put.

The Red Cross crusade is a worthy enterprise and should have a liberal support.

The agricultural department at Washington is cautioning the people against the foot and mouth disease, which the scientists of that department say is contagious to humans. It is quite probable that if some people in the world were cured of a kind of dysentery of the mouth that has long been prevalent, and could keep their mouths from setting open under normal conditions, it would add quite as much to the general welfare as the findings of the department in the present instance.

Ventilation.

In the light of more modern studies in ventilation it would seem that the real explanation of the ill effects of bad ventilation is not to be found in the chemical composition of the atmosphere breathed. One is constrained to ask wherein the disagreeable or detrimental influence of poorly ventilated spaces lie. The various phases of this vital and timely, though not new subject were dispersed in a symposium on ventilation at the Chemists' Club in New York City. There is unanimity among them regarding the possible significance of the chemical vitiation of the air. Pure air contains nearly 21 per cent of oxygen. This may be reduced to 17 per cent, a proportion too small even to support ordinary combustion, before its diminution becomes harmful. Except in extreme conditions the amount of oxygen in the closest halls crowded with people practically never falls below 20 per cent. Oxygen will, therefore, take care of itself and may probably be wholly left out of consideration in ventilating systems. Indeed, Menderson has reminded us that it is necessary to go only a short distance up into the mountains to come under an atmospheric pressure such as to reduce the oxygen supply much more than it is reduced in crowded assemblies, and yet mountain air is especially healthful. The amount of oxygen in the air apparently has little or nothing to do with the stimulating or depressing properties of the atmosphere breathed in ordinary life.

The air, under the usual conditions, contains about 4 parts of carbon dioxide per ten thousand parts (0.04 per cent) and the "standard" of desired purity for the air of dwellings was long placed as low as 6 parts per ten thousand. Experimentation indicates, however, that it does not become harmful to man until the carbon dioxide accumulates to above 1 per cent, or nearly forty times its usual amount. The air in crowded rooms very rarely reaches 0.1 per cent, so that evidently a quantity of carbon dioxide far exceeding the highest hygienic limit which has hitherto been set up as a "standard" can be breathed with impunity.

The long-debated idea that expired air contains organic matter which is toxic has been abandoned by most physiologists. The bacteria in the air need not be considered, since the comparative unimportance of the air as a vehicle of infection is recognized. We may conclude with reasonable certainty that the discomfort in a badly ventilated place is due to the physical condition of the air in respect to temperature, humidity and movement, and not to any chemical properties. The symptoms noted in closed, crowded rooms—restlessness, headache, dizziness, nausea, etc.—are to be attributed to heat retention. Overheating is the chief evil to be guarded against in ventilation at present. The chief danger of our torrid summer days is not the heat alone, but the combined heat and humidity; it is the same factors which are responsible for the evil effects of the confined air of rooms. There is no doubt that the air of our American living-rooms and many school-rooms and other assembly chambers is kept too warm.

Further investigations of the conditions actually existing in the midst of what is assumed to be inadequate ventilation are called for, according to The Journal of the American Medical Association. The extraordinary thing about the shifting practices in the ventilation of public buildings is that sweeping conclusions and far-

Otto Koehler Shot by Nurse. Who Empties Her Revolver.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 13.—Otto Koehler, president of the San Antonio Brewing Company and several times a millionaire, was shot and killed a few minutes before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the home of Miss Emma Burgemeister, 322 Elmstock Avenue. Mr. Koehler had shortly before entered the house to call on business with Miss Burgemeister, who is a trained nurse, and who for several years has been the almost constant companion of Mrs. Koehler, an invalid.

Miss Burgemeister, 36 years old, a medium-sized blond, stated to the officers she had fired at Mr. Koehler in an effort to defend herself and protect her friend, Mrs. Emma Daschel, also a trained nurse, and residing with Miss Burgemeister. It was Mrs. Daschel who admitted Mr.

Zeppelin a Confederate Soldier

An Illinois paper declares that Count Zeppelin, the inventor of the great dirigible airships which have so frightened the English, served in the Confederate army during the civil war. It is authority for the statement that he enlisted in the Southern army and fought until the close of the war.

Count Zeppelin's experiments with airships date from the end of his experiences on United States battlefields. It was here that he conceived his idea of military balloons and although 43 years old at the time, he began to invent schemes for sailing in the air.

The emperor of Germany appointed a commission of military and scientific experts, which promptly and officially "turned down" his plans as visionary. "Such a balloon," declared one of the technical professors "can never attain the necessary speed of 39 feet a second. Zeppelin went ahead with indomitable energy, optimism and humor, spending all his fortune, and then making use of a large legacy which fell to him at the right moment. On July 2, 1900, his first ship made an ascent of 18 minutes. This craft was hardly successful and brought ridicule rather than recognition. When his funds were about gone, the count sent out in 1903 an "urgent appeal," explaining that his labors would be forever wasted unless help was given at once.

A lottery brought funds for a new ship, which was soon wrecked. This seemed to end the matter, but Zeppelin immediately built a third ship out of his last funds; this had a decided Koehler, although she was not a witness to the shooting. In a statement made last night to attaches of the District Attorney's office, she said angry words had been employed by both Mr. Koehler and Miss Burgemeister immediately preceding the firing of the shots.

Entering the room where Mr. Koehler had interviewed Miss Burgemeister two or three minutes after the shooting, Mrs. Daschel and Mrs. R. Nell Campbell, a next-door neighbor, found Mr. Koehler, fully dressed, lying dead with blood pouring from three wounds, one immediately beneath the left eye, a second in the right side of the neck and the third in the chest. Miss Burgemeister was kneeling by the body, her face buried in her hands and blood flowing from the left wrist, which had been backed with a caseknife.

Mr. Koehler's body was removed to the chapel of the San Antonio Undertaking and Embalming Company, on Blum Street, where his brother H. C. Koehler, called and gave directions for its removal to the palatial Koehler home, West San Pedro Place. There it was received in the silence of deep grief by many of Mr. Koehler's friends and business associates. Definite funeral arrangements will be perfected today, pending advices from several of Mr. Koehler's relatives in St. Louis.

The news of the death spread in a few moments over the entire city and there was a practically universal sentiment that San Antonio had lost one of her staunchest friends and one of her most representative citizens.

Intervention in 30 Days Forecast.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 12.—The open conflict between the Carranza and Villa forces reported today in Mexico has given fresh impetus to the belief that the United States will proceed after reasonable delay, in a final attempt to restore order to solve the problems involved in the only way seemingly available by intervention.

The cabled information from Provisional President Carranza, received tonight, that hostilities had actually begun between his forces and those of General Gutierrez, the provisional president selected by the Aguas Calientes convention controlled by General Patecho Villa, fell with the force of a bomb to blast the peace hopes of Secretary of State Bryan. His hope that order may yet be brought out of the chaos daily growing worse had already been severely strained by the reports of fresh complications brought by the cable from day to day.

The latest advices aggravated the problem confronting President Wilson. While not convinced that the domestic tangles are again approaching a crisis demanding radical and decisive steps, there is reason tonight to believe that he is considering such a course as affording the sole solution of the problem.

It is the general belief that the President's patience is being subjected to intolerable tension and pretty nearly all Government officials except Mr. Bryan are satisfied that the breaking point is not far away. But there are reasons today which justify the statement that even the Secretary, for the first time, is slightly skeptical of the results of his good offices. There is further reason to justify

English Warships May Enter Canal

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 9.—

Whether a fleet of British dreadnoughts can pass through the Panama Canal will depend on the size of the vessels. Last advices from Governor Goethals reported thirty feet of water in the channel through the recent slide in Culebra cut. Heaviest ships could not make a passage that depth. The cost, allowing the British vessels to be average size of the European dreadnoughts, would be $87,000.

PANAMA, Nov. 9.—Panama Canal

officials and members of the British legation here say they have no information concerning the report taken into New York by a United Fruit Company steamer that seven British dreadnoughts were in the Atlantic bound west, possibly with the intention of proceeding through the Panama Canal to Pacific waters. Colonel George W. Goethals, Governor of the Panama Canal Zone, says he has heard nothing from Washington relative to the use of the canal by warships.

The whereabouts of the German warships in the Pacific is not known here.

Switch Was Turned.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 12.—The turning of a switch by some unknown person caused the derailment of a fast passenger train on the Alabama Great Southern railroad, near Livingstone, Ala., on September 15, 1914, according to a report made today by H. W. Belknap, chief of the division of safety, to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

As a result of the crime, eight passengers, one mail clerk and one train employe were killed, and twenty-eight passengers, five mail clerks, three trainmen and four Pullman porters were injured.

"In this accident the performance of cars of different types," the report concludes, "very strongly supports the view that the greatest degree of protection to passengers can be afforded only by all-steel cars."

THE LOVED ONES

Have been faithful to you during the times of hardship and worry. They have willingly helped you bear the burdens that have fallen upon you within the year that is just drawing to a close. Maybe it was the wife, who looked after her household then helped you to catch up with your field work; maybe a dutiful daughter who has stood by you in your hour of trial; maybe a son whose stalwart shoulders have been placed under the load that was pressing you down, then you felt the burden lighter; maybe a sweetheart who has cheered you up when you foolishly thought the whole world was against you.

Are you going to let Chris pass without showing them some appreciation for their goodness to you. If you are a MAN you will let the Christmas spirit take possession of you and do what you know to be right.

Nothing else so appropriate for Christmas Present as a Watch, a Kodak, or some piece of Jewelry. Did you ever receive a pair of shoes for a Christmas present, and then feel like you were "stung." They are useful. You have to have them; but it did not seem much "CHRISTMASSY" did it.

President Mezes of University Resigns

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 12.—Dr. S. E. Mezes, president of the University of Texas, today officially tendered his resignation as president of that institution to the board of regents of the University.

The board of regents of the University this afternoon accepted the resignation of President Mezes, to take effect December 15. No appointment of his successor was made, as the full membership of the board of regents was not present.

The board will meet Monday to consider the appointment of a new president. It is rumored that Dr. W. J. Battle, dean of the faculty, will be chosen by the regents. Dr. Battle asserts that he has heard nothing to this effect. President Mezes was dean of the faculty when elected to the presidency.

The resignation of Dr. Mezes came as a surprise; he having been head of that institution for the past six years.

Dr. Mezes resigned to accept the presidency of the University of New York City.

Roar of Gas Well Heard For Miles.

SINTON, Tex., Nov. 12.—A strong flow of gas and oil was brought in from the well being drilled ten miles south of this place at noon today. The discharge of oil ascends to a height of 150 feet. About 800 feet of pipe was blown out and two men were injured. Two wells are being drilled at present. This is the third effort in this immediate vicinity to find oil or gas.

Many people have gone from here to the well and enthusiasm is evident throughout the city.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Nov. 12. With a roar that can be heard for miles around a huge gas well was brought in today at the White Point field, seven miles from this city. This is the second well in the field to be brought in during the past six months.

Gas was reached at a depth of 2,325 feet after drilling through fifty feet of rock strata. The drill was blown out and thrown 500 yards away and throughout the day the well has been blowing gas and water 150 feet above the derrick. The field is owned by an association of business men and operations have been in progress for the past year.

TAFT, Tex., Nov. 12.—The roar of the escaping gas can be plainly heard at Taft. It is reported from Sinton that the column of gas can be seen rising to a height of apparently 150 feet. The pressure at present is so great that it is impossible to state when the flow can be placed under control.

J. W. HENDERSON

J. W. Henderson died at his home in Kerrville, Thursday, Nov. 12. Mr. Henderson was born in Alabama, and was 65 years old. He came to Texas at about 20 years ago, and about a year ago removed from Rockport to Kerrville.

The funeral took place from the residence at 10:30 yesterday morning, conducted by Dr. W. P. Dickey, pastor of the Presbyterian church, of which church deceased had been a member for many years.

Mr. Henderson is survived by his widow and three sons, John Henderson, of Kerrville, Jim Henderson, of Fredericksburg, and Joe Henderson of Karnes county, all of whom were present at the funeral.

Puts Canada Under Ban of Quarantine.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—Intershipment of live stock from Rhode Island, Delaware and Canada were prohibited today by the agricultural department because of the spread of the foot and mouth disease in these sections. This makes 12 states and one foreign country affected by the quarantine.

Heroic efforts are being made to confine the disease east of the Mississippi and prevent its getting a foothold in the West. Only the western stockyards are left open, but the department of agriculture expressed the belief that they would and the state would remain free from the disease.

The Kind of Service We Give Expresses Our Appreciation of Your Patronage

Paying For Looks.

The least fraction of a cent spent in the refinement of the sugar lessens perceptibly its sweetening value. In other words, we pay more than we need to for sugar in order to have it less serviceable as a sweetener. All refinement carried further than to a light yellow is labor and sorrow. Rice of the color which we eat as a vegetable and in broths has been denied a place in the armies of China and Japan. It is there spoken of as "robbed" rice, because brushed, scoured, polished, and in some instances talcum-coated, in order to "look well," according to our expected standards. We thus pay more for rice in order to get rice which is worth less.

Of course, the supreme example in this line is wheat flour. The loaf of white bread, the pride of the New England housekeeper, has been deprived of three-fourths of its natural minerals, including iron, lime, phosphorus, etc. We go out promptly to replace these in drugs and mineral waters, incidentally visiting the dentist on our journey.

One might go through article after article of every-day life. Why should we pay for having butter colored into unnaturalness? Why should we object to whitish butter, when we taboo yellowish sugar? Who will have the courage to start the fashion of eating the products of the earth in the form in which nature intended them, instead of frittering away their serviceableness in order to be in fashion.—Boston Herald.

Mexicans Torture and Kill Texans.

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 8.—Fighting doggedly behind a wagon barricade until their ammunition gave out, three Americans were killed by mounted Mexicans at Chocolate Pass, Chihuahua, according to word brought into San Ysidro, Chihuahua, today by a Mexican servant of the American party. He declared the Americans were captured alive, shot and tortured to death, and their wagon robbed.

The Americans, Carl Eck, William Biskop and Charles West, all of this city, were traveling from El Paso to Look's ranch, south of Casas Grandes in Northwestern Chihuahua, through a mountainous and little inhabited country. They left here several days ago. As the wagon entered the narrow defile of Chocolate Pass, the Mexicans charging on horseback, opened fire on the party. The Americans, seizing rifles and pistols, dropped behind the wagon and returned the fire, wounding a Mexican, killing a horse and routing the attackers, the servant related. The Mexicans withdrew a short distance, paroled by bullets, and dismounted. Hiding in the undergrowth and behind pine trees, they opened a steady fire on the Americans. The horses attached to the wagon were shot down. Eck, a boy of 17 years, was wounded in the leg, but continued firing as steadily as his companions. The Mexican servant was unarmed, he said, and took the first opportunity to hide.

The fight continued more than an hour. Then the American's ammunition gave out, and the Mexicans, numbering eight or ten, rushed in. There was a brief hand to hand fight, and the Americans were bound.

The servant, watching the fight from a distance, said the Mexicans beat, knifed and clubbed their prisoners, and then fell to looting the wagons. After they rode away with two wounded companions, the servant said, he started to San Ysidro.

William Eck, uncle of the murdered man, today headed a party which left for Chocolate Pass to recover the bodies if possible and urge the Mexican authorities of the district to pursue and punish the Mexicans.

Texas Industrial Congress Contest For 1915 Will Include Home Gardens in Town and Country.

In connection with its competitive contests next year for the largest net profits per acre from corn, cotton, kaffir, milo, Peterita, peanuts, cowpeas, wheat, oats, barley baby beets, and hogs, the Texas Industrial Congress is planning to offer prizes in a home gardening contest in town and country.

The plan contemplates conducting the contest as far as possible in connection with the city and country schools, although boys and girls not attending school will also be enrolled. Dr. P. P. Claxton, of the United States Bureau of Education, is strongly in favor of gardening in connection with the schools, and that with proper direction, the average child can produce an eighth of an acre from $50 to $100 worth of vegetables, adding "more to the support of the family than could be purchased with the same child's wages, working in factory, shop, or mill." Dr. Claxton also says that "if children can contribute to the family's support while in school, it will make it possible for them to attend three or four years longer than they now do."—a consideration of great importance in Texas where so small a proportion of children graduate in the high school studies.

Agricultural instruction in the Texas rural schools is in a more or less formative stage, and the aim is, or should be, to work toward a better development in this respect. The Texas Industrial Congress very much desires that its home gardening contest shall prove of benefit in bringing this result about.

While the details are yet to be worked out, some of the purposes of the Congress in adding this feature to its work may be stated.

In a bulletin of the Congress entitled "A Living at Home," the importance of the garden in the income of the farm family is given its due weight, but nothing is said as to the part a home garden plays in the economy of city family life. Yet there is no investment of the same time and labor that will pay bigger cash dividends than the garden, and almost every family can have one.

The returns in better health from out-door exercise in a man's most arduous employment and from a food supply made better by the addition of the right vegetables are in addition to a considerable monthly saving of family expense. In almost every city home there is a back yard that may be put to better use than serving as a receptacle for garbage, and if the family is so unfortunate as to be domiciled in apartments on an upper floor, there are always vacant lots within a short distance that the owners would undoubtedly prefer to have planted in garden rather than growing up in unsightly, unhealthy patches of weeds. If the vacant spaces in the cities of this state were utilized for beneficial purposes instead of serving, as many of them do, for garbage repositories, waste catchers, and parking places for weeds, nettles, and mosquitoes, there would not only be an appreciable gain in the food supply, but a great improvement in the appearance of the streets, an increase in property values, and a change for the better in public health.

Efforts will be made by the Congress to make the home-garden con-

The Knocker's Prayer.

Lord please don't let this town grow. I've been here for thirty years, and during that time I've fought every public improvement. I've knocked everything and everybody, no firm or individual has established a business here without my doing all I could to put them out of business. I've lied about them, and would have stolen from them if I had the courage. I have done all I could to keep the town from growing and never have spoken a good word for it. I've knocked hard and often. I've put ashes on the children's sliks and I've made the marshal stop the boys playing ball on my vacant lot. Whenever I saw anyone prospering or enjoying themselves I've started a reform to kill the business or spoil the fun. I don't want the young folks to stay in this town and I will do all I can by law, rule and ordinance to drive them away. It pains me, O Lord, to see that in spite of my knocking it is beginning to grow. Some day I fear I will be called upon to put down sidewalks in front of my property and who knows but what I may have to help keep up the streets that run by my premises. This, Lord, would be more than I could bear. It would cost me money, though all I

Cotton Mattress Time is at Hand.

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Nov. 9.—Five million families in the South should refurbish their homes this fall with nice, fine cotton mattresses and top coverings.

This is the very latest suggestion offered in the solution of the cotton question, and it comes from W. F. Proctor, state agent of the Federal department of Agriculture, and from the extension service of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas. Mr. Proctor says:

"It is figured that it will require from forty-five to fifty pounds of cotton for each refurbished bed. With two refurbished beds to each family one million bales of cotton would be absorbed.

"Delving a little deeper into statistics, it is estimated that ten million Southern people sleep on excelsior or straw mattresses, neither comfortable nor sanitary. Why not plan to rest easy and at the same time help the distressed condition which confronts us. While our great staple cotton crop is suffering from lack of market, why not help ourselves—help to use up a part of the surplus.

Old Things Appeal to Us

Sometimes when a fellow gets bilious and his tobacco don't taste good, he thinks he wants to try something new. Generally he finds the old things that have been tried in the crucible of time are best suited to his tastes after all. When he reaches that conclusion he very wisely goes back to them, and finds the same old excellence of flavor is there, the same old friendly feeling that he has known so long, and he says: "I just thought I wanted a change, but there is nothing like the old established things in life.

It is the same way in business. It is the old-established things that count. Things cannot become old without a starting point, it is true; but you and I know that a pipe never smokes just right until it is old, a violin never makes the sweetest music until age has ripened its tone, friends are never fully cherished until time has placed the seal of genuineness on them. So, in the matter of business concerns, it takes time to try them. Time and years of experience smooth out the rough places of business policy. A good, safe, just business policy, like an old violin in the hands of a master, has its tone ripened and all the friction and discord removed. It is a pleasure to do business with such a house, an "Old House" with such a ripened, perfected business policy as has stood the test of years and is still strong and full of life.

This is the "Old House" in the lumber trade of this section of Texas. We not only appreciate our friends who have made such a business possible in Kerrville, but extend a cordial invitation to all to visit us and find out about our way of handling orders for lumber and supplies in any quantity.

Conference Takes up Farm Problems

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 9.—The financing of the present crop and the devising of ways and means of aiding the farmers of Texas in inaugurating a system of diversification, particularly in the matter of financing such a step, were the chief subjects that occupied the crop conference held here this afternoon.

The practical result of the conference was the appointment of a committee, the purpose of which is to co-ordinate the activities of all of the forces at present working toward the solution of the present situation. The program of the Texas Bankers' Association, as embodied in the report of the special committee of which J. A. Kemp made chairman of the committee appointed by the conference.

Summed up, the conclusions of the conference were that the problems to be solved are:

First, the financing of the present cotton crop in such a way as to insure that it will not be sold at a price below the cost of production.

Second, the insurance of adequate curtailment of the cotton acreage of 1915.

Third, the providing of ample financial help to the agricultural producers in the matter of raising feed stuff and live stock.

Fourth, the providing of proper market facilities for the new products which it is proposed that farmers produce.

It will be to these problems that a special committee will give its attention during the next few weeks.

Texas Live Stock to be Protected.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 9.—Additional steps were taken Monday by the State Live Stock Sanitary Commission to further protect Texas cattle and other live stock from the ravages of the foot and mouth disease, an epidemic of which prevails in many Northern States.

In addition to the quarantine which has been established against the importation of cattle from States and east of Texas, with the exception of Oklahoma, and against the District of Columbia and all of Canada. The proclamation will be sent to the Governor at Austin Wednesday with the request that he sign it.

Terror of Seas, Emden, Destroyed.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—It was officially announced in London today that the German cruiser Emden has been driven ashore and burned.

The Emden was destroyed by the Australian cruiser Sydney. She was driven ashore on an island of the Cocos, or Keeling, group, southwest of Java in the Indian Ocean.

Previous to the engagement with the Sydney, the Emden cut the British cable connecting the Cocos Island with the outside world.

The Emden has sunk twenty-two ships, mostly British, and has captured one.

No accurate estimate can be made of the value of the vessels destroyed by the Emden, or of their cargoes. Shipping men have variously placed the extent of the damage at from four to twenty-one millions.

An immediate effect of the capture of the German cruiser Emden, which during her career as a commerce destroyer, has destroyed British shipping estimated here to be worth $10,000,000, was a drop of 50 per cent in the insurance premiums on vessels bound to points east of Suez.

Carl Lody Dies Death of Spy in Tower of London.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—It is officially announced that Carl Hans Lody, alias Charles A. Inglis, who was found guilty, by a court martial, of espionage, November 2, has been shot as a spy.

When arrested Lody claimed to be an American, but later confessed he was a German. He had lived in New York and Omaha. In the latter city he married the daughter of Gottlieb Storz, a brewer, who later divorced him.

Lody met his death in the Tower of London after having been found guilty by a court martial on charges of espionage communicated with the enemy. The statement concerning the execution is brief, merely saying:

"Sentence was duly confirmed. It is understood that Lody died calmly, refusing to the last to reveal the name of the superior officer from whom he received his instructions to spy on the British navy."

This was the first execution in the Tower of London since 1799. The scene of the execution was the tower barracks, not far from the spot where Anne Boleyn and other persons famous in English history were put to death.

Lody was about 28 years of age.

Troops Prepare For Winter

CAMP GARRISON, PRAIRIE CREEK, Ark., Nov. 9.—Arrangements were made late today for what appears to be a prolonged stay of the Federal troops in the Hartford Valley mining regions. Major N. F. McClure sent requests to department headquarters at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., for winter bedding and other supplies, which indicated the soldiers would be here for some time.

President Cunningham of District No. 21, United Mine Workers, was in Fort Smith yesterday in conference with several of the miners' leaders. It was said peace and quiet in the valley was conserved.

Scores of miners continue to flock to Camp Garrison, where the unusual sights of camp life prove interesting, but there has been no sign of hostility to the presence of the troops.

Modern Surgery Seen at its Best.

PARIS, Nov. 8.—Advances made in surgery during the last few years are being utilized with remarkable results in the treatment of wounded soldiers. American surgeons who have gone to the front, in particular, are reconstructing men physically, in performing frequent operations which, while new to science, have been rare in the past.

Dr. Joseph Blake of New York, at the American Ambulance Hospital, is making a new nose. Over an artificial bridge he is grafting flesh and skin from the wounded man's forearm. Surgeons at the Vel-de-Grace Hospital constructed a new chin of rubber, covered with a beard trimmed according to the soldier's photograph. In the American Ambulance Hospital a powerful electric magnet is installed for the removal of shrapnel, making unnecessary the long and difficult operation of probing.

Apply Sloan's Freely For Lumbago

Your attacks of Lumbago are not nearly so hopeless as they seem. You can relieve them almost instantly by a simple application of Sloan's Liniment on the back and loins. Lumbago is a form of rheumatism, and yields perfectly to Sloan's, which penetrates quickly all in through the sore, tender muscles, limbers up the back and makes it feel fine. Get a bottle of Sloan's Liniment for 25 cents of any druggist and have it in the house—against colds, sore and swollen joints, rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and like ailments. Your money back if not satisfied, but it does give almost instant relief.

Katy Suit is Dismissed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 9.—The Supreme Court today dismissed the suit of the Missouri-Kansas & Texas Railway Company against the United States for $61,000,000 damages for failure to convey alternate sections of land through former Indian Territory to it.

The railway claimed Congress in 1866 offered alternate sections of public land in the Indian Territory to the first railroad constructed from the Kansas State line to the Red River in Texas. The predecessor of the Missouri-Kansas & Texas won a construction contest, but the Government declined to convey the land on the ground that the land was "Indian land and not 'public land' within the meaning of the act." The Court of Claims decided in favor of the Government and the railway appeared to the Supreme Court, which today affirmed the decision of the court.

Austin Carload of Toys For Europe Goes Astray.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 5.—A carload of toys, Christmas gifts for the children of Europe from Austin, Tex., shipped over the Katy, was lost for two days until found tonight in East St. Louis. When it was finally located it was hurried east in an effort to reach Brooklyn by sailing time Monday.

Railroad officials will make every effort to get the car there in time, but it is feared the two-day delay will make it too late.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of wonderful success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

Mined North Sea Threatens Famine.

THE HAGUE, Nov. 11.—In view of the ever-increasing difficulty of the navigation of the North Sea, which after the laying of mines by Germany, virtually has been closed to all neutral trade, by the recent order of the British Admiralty, the Amsterdam Handelsbad suggests editorially an immediate conference between representatives of Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Holland and the United States to discuss means by which the North Sea may be kept open and neutral countries saved from the threatened famine.

"Both Germany and England," the paper says, "which are fighting for possession of the North Sea as if it were private property, should be forced to restrict their mine-laying to their own territorial waters. The time has come for all neutrals to utter a strong word of protest. Otherwise in the future the principles of international law and the freedom of the ocean will be disregarded by any nation having sufficient power to break those laws and not be punished."

Denmark, Sweden, Norway and the Netherlands already have protested formally to Germany and England, against mines in the North Sea, other than at harbor entrances. Diplomatic representatives of those countries also have conferred with State Department officials here in regard to the interference with Trans-Atlantic commerce in which the United States is interested, caused by the dangers of navigation.

So far no direct proposal has been made that the United States enter into a joint protest against the mine planting. The apparent purpose of the communications was rather to intimate to the United States the propriety of following the example of neutral European states and making an individual protest to Germany and Great Britain.

Good Roads Best Agency Creating New Rural Life.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 11.—President Wilson today informed the American Road Congress, in session here, that he considered good roads a prerequisite to the betterment of rural life in a number of directions. "Improved roads, especially improved community roads from the farm to the nearest railway station, are an urgent necessity," said the President. "They are essential to the economical marketing of farm products and for the development of the educational and social institutions of the country."

The President's views were expressed in a letter to Austin B. Fletcher, State Highway Engineer of California and president of the congress. Relative to movements to obtain increased funds for the construction of highways, the letter said:

"As important as the matter of providing additional funds may be, even more important are the matters of better road administration and the better maintenance of roads already constructed. The Nation is expending more than $20,000,000 annually for the construction and maintenance of roads and it is clear we are not getting the results we should."

Technical discussion of road construction predominated in the addresses delivered today. The speakers included W. E. Atkinson, State Highway Engineer of Louisiana.

Secret Wireless Station Closed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 10.—The Navy Department was advised today that a secret wireless station at Ensenada, Lower California, had been ordered closed by the Mexican local authorities. The station, which was erected on Mexican territory close to the American border, is one of the several stations from which, according to British officials here, German cruisers in the Atlantic and Pacific have been receiving information concerning the whereabouts of English vessels.

The Navy Department's radio experts are continuing their search for secret wireless stations within the jurisdiction of the United States.

Daniels Orders Inquiry Made For North Carolina.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 10.—Secretary Daniels today ordered the division of operations in the Navy Department to get into communication as quickly as possible with the cruisers North Carolina and Tennessee in investigation of a rumor during the day that the North Carolina had been blown up by a mine at Beirut.

Officials said, however, they did not feel the slightest apprehension for the safety of either vessel.

So far as could be discovered, all of today's reports originated within the United States.

While cable communication with Turkey is slow, the department is in touch with Constantinople and Beirut from which points and accidents would have been reported.

The Navy Department last heard from the North Carolina and Tennessee November 2. The former was at Beirut, Syria, and the latter at Mytilene, off the coast of Greece.

Packing Plants Free of Disease.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Quarantine against two packing companies because of the foot and mouth disease was lifted today and progress towards removing the ban on other concerns was reported, despite the fact that forty-one new cases of the disease were found among prize dairy cattle impounded at the stock yards.

The firms relieved of the quarantine were the Omaha Packing Company, which has a plant outside the infected area, and the East St. Louis Packing Company, with a plant in East St. Louis, which the board of five stock commissioners, today declared free of the contagion. The East St. Louis yards may reopen soon, but the Omaha Packing Company announced that it would not resume business until the other Chicago firms were freed of restrictions.

It was charged today before the live stock commissioners that the carcasses of 100 hogs, held in the cooler of a serum company at the time that foot and mouth disease germs were found in hog cholera serum, were passed by city inspectors and sold as food in Chicago. It was asserted that these involved no danger to human beings, unless the meat were eaten raw, as cooking destroyed the germs.

Health Board is Praised.

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 10.—The Texas State Board of Health under the directorship of Dr. Ralph Steiner, has greatly improved the sanitary and health conditions in the State, and the work of the department is given high praise by Dr. M. M. Smith of Dallas, editor of the Texas Medical Journal, in its last issue.

Several new laws which have enabled the Health Department to enforce the sanitary code, to conduct bacteriological diseases among both humans and animals and to extend the scope of its work have been enacted during the past four years, states Dr. Smith.

"Largely through the efforts of the board the public health of our State has been well conserved," said Dr. Smith, "and but few epidemics of any consequence have devastated the land. The present State Board of Health, under the efficient leadership of Dr. Ralph Steiner, deserves the praise of every member of the profession as well as of the public at large, for the splendid showing it has made with the limited means at its command; for the health department of the State has always been more or less crippled through lack of proper appropriations with which to carry on its noble work."

The present State Board of Health is doing a great work through the pages of the State Board of Health Bulletin, published monthly. The size of this publication has been increased from thirty to ninety-five pages, while its circulation has reached from about two thousand to six thousand copies. The educational work carried on therein is producing splendid results over the State.

Miss Dunn Weds Mine Discoverer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Dorothy Dunn, whose pictures drawn by Plagg, Christy and Boileau, have appeared on the covers of many popular magazines, was married tonight to Henry Clay Carr, the discoverer and owner of the Broad Pass Mines in Alaska, the value of which is reputed to run into the millions. In the Stragglers, a prominent dinner club at 127 West Forty-ninth Street, Mr. Carr, who is a graduate of Harvard, met Miss Dunn last election night for the first time. It was love at first sight.

Miss Dunn is the daughter of State Senator Dunn of Minneapolis, Minn., a wealthy lumberman, and since arriving in New York three years ago she has been in several of the Broadway musical productions. Mr. and Mrs. Carr will leave for California next week and from there they will go to Alaska, where they will remain until next fall.
