Generalissimo Foch Finds Time to Pray

Los Angeles Times.

A California boy—Evans by name—with the American Expeditionary Forces in France, has recently written a letter to his parents in San Bernardino, in which he tells of meeting General Foch at close range in France.

Evans had gone into an old church to have a look at it, and as he stood there with bared head satisfying his respectful curiosity, a gray man with the eagles of a general on the collar of his shabby uniform, also entered the church.

Only one orderly accompanied the quiet, gray man. No glittering staff of officers, no entourage of gold-laced aides were him; nobody but just an orderly.

Evans paid small attention, at first, to the gray man, but was curious to see him kneel in the church, praying. The minutes passed until full three-quarters of an hour had gone by before the gray man arose from his knees.

Then Evans followed him down the street and was surprised to see soldiers salute this man in great excitement, and women and children stopping in their tracks with awestruck faces as he passed.

It was Foch. And now Evans of San Bernardino counts the experience as the greatest in his life.

During that three-quarters of an hour that the generalissimo of all the Allied armies was on his knees in humble supplication in that quiet church, ten thousand guns were roaring at his word on a hundred hills that rocked with death.

Millions of armed men crouched in trenches or rushed across blood-drenched earth at his command; generals and field marshals, artillery, cavalry, engineers, tanks, fought and wrought across the map of Europe absolutely as he commanded them to do, and in no other manner, as he went into that little church to pray.

Nor was it an unusual thing for General Foch to do. There is no day that he does not do the same thing if there be a church that he can reach. He never fails to spend an hour on his knees every morning that he awakes from sleep, and every night it is the same.

Moreover, it is not a new thing with him. He has done it his whole life.

The University of Texas boasts one of the most perfectly organized and efficiently conducted woman's gymnasiums in the South. This department is under the direction of Miss Eunice A. Aden, director of woman's athletics at the University. Two years of gymnasium work is required of every University girl. It is the aim of the gymnasium department to supply each girl with that form of recreation which is most beneficial to herself. The roomy, well ventilated building in which the woman's gymnasium is located is admirable fitted for the purpose which it serves. The main room may be converted into a basketball court or a baseball diamond as the occasion demands. It is used also for the regular calisthenic drills and aesthetic dancing lessons. Other parts of the building are equipped with lockers and showers. Swimming lessons are also offered, the basement of the Woman's Building being used for that purpose. Cross-country hiking and field hockey are very popular outdoor sports, the girls enjoying these outside athletics, if anything, more than the indoor games.—Bulletin.

Sergt. Andrews at Chateau Thierry

Manufacturers Record.

The victory of Chateau Thierry, that furious engagement which turned the tide of the war forever in favor of the Allies, was made possible through the performance of a single motor truck. How this came about is related by Capt. Guy A. Whitcomb of the motor transport corps.

"The marines, who were smashing the last German offensive, were running short of machine gun ammunition," said Captain Whitcomb. "Their commander telephoned back for more. The motor transport commander called for four volunteers from among his ninety trucks, and every driver volunteered."

"He chose four, loaded the trucks with 50,000 rounds apiece of machine-gun bandoleer ammunition, and they set out. Three of them were caught in the German barrage and their cargoes blown up and their drivers killed. The fourth made his way through with the priceless 50,000 rounds that put the finishing touch on the American victory and saved the day at Chateau Thierry."

"The driver made his way back to the transport park and reported in these words: 'Sergeant Anderson reports, sir, the delivery of 50,000 rounds, and requests permission to make another trip.' But his captain noticed the blood pouring from the sergeant's wounds, ordered him to the hospital, and the brave Anderson died ten hours later from fourteen shrapnel wounds."

Captain Whitcomb said that fourteen per cent of Pershing's entire force is classed in the motor transport, and that the number of trucks under the American flag overseas would be hardly believable to most people.

The total number of motor vehicle license numbers issued for the entire State of Texas since the present State registration law became effective in June, 1917, is 292,049 license numbers. Eighty numbers have been assigned for fire engines. Forty-eight numbers have been assigned for motor-driven hearses. Dallas County leads with 19,167 licenses, Harris is next with 15,200, Bexar 13,220 and Tarrant 11,863. Kerr County is credited with 430.

Fields in Hamilton County, Ohio, that were acid in soil and broken by stone outcroppings have been made more productive and easier to plow by the one step of crushing the stone and spreading it over the ground. The stone is lime-stone with a high percentage of calcium. This method of solving the liming problem was developed by the county agent. Some men bought stone crushers and entered the business of grinding limestone. Of the 5,000 tons of lime applied in Hamilton County on the county agent's recommendation 2,500 tons were ground on the 50 farms where the stone was found.

Secretary Groner loves to tell the story of his experiences in Dallas when he assumed his duties as secretary. His first night in Dallas was spent at one of the leading hotels. When the Negro porter admitted him to his room, the shades were down, and he asked the attendant, "George, can't we have a little illumination in this room?" George answered: "What'd you say, Cap'n?" "Can't we have a little illumination in this room?" "No, sir, boss, you can't get a drop in Dallas."—Baptist Standard.

Camp Stanley is To Be Permanent

San Antonio Express.

What is construed to indicate that Camp Stanley will be maintained as a permanent training site for units of the United States Army, is the fact that an elaborate program for road building and road improvement at the camp is to begin within the next few days. Orders issued from the headquarters of the Southern Department Thursday named Maj. Wilburn H. Henderson, Engineer Corps, to head a construction unit to complete the work.

Labor Companies A and B, with officers and non-commissioned officers, were mentioned in the department orders as assigned to the command of Major Henderson to carry out the construction program. In addition to these units, First Lieut. Charles E. Bretz, Corps of Engineers, has been ordered to report to Major Henderson for duty.

Camp Stanley was fitted out for use as a civilian training camp shortly after the outbreak of the late war, and was the scene of graduation for three separate bodies of officers, hundreds of whom went to the theater of conflict in France, serving with signal honors in leading their men to victory. The camp has also been the training ground for numerous units of cavalry, more especially the 2nd Texas Cavalry, whose officers completed a 90-day training course there in December of 1918.

Obituary

Mrs. Cordelia Dony Vanhoozer Jan. 3, at 9 a. m. She was born at Holden, Johnson Co., Mo., Sept. 8, 1879, being at the time of her death 39 years of age. May 13, 1900, she was married to Mr. L. W. Vanhoozer, to which union one son was born, Floyd, who is now 13 years of age. She has been a patient sufferer from tuberculosis for eleven years. She was a true Christian, a kind and loving mother and a devoted wife, and in her great affliction she always had a smile and kind word to all whom she met. She would often speak of death, and of being prepared when her Savior called her home.

She will be missed, oh so much, in the home and by friends and neighbors. She leaves besides her husband and little son, four brothers and three sisters. They are Frank Pettigrew of North Dakota, Blue, Harry and Matthew, and Mrs. Belle Foster, Mrs. Tilda Stevens, Mrs. Bettie Lewis, all of whom now reside in Missouri. Her niece Mrs. Eva Ransier was present when the end came.

May God bless and comfort the loved ones, as no one else can.

A precious one from us is gone,
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in the home
That never can be filled.

By a Friend.

The Woman's Church and Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church held a call meeting Thursday, Jan. 9, at the home of Mrs. Simmons, for the purpose of reorganization of the Society, which had been discontinued for some months past owing to the flu and other causes. On next Thursday they will again meet with Mrs. Simmons and a program on Home Missions will be given, with Mrs. L. D. Garrett as leader. The meeting will be held at three p. m. and all members are urged to be present.

Captain S. J. Scott Dies In San Antonio

San Antonio Express.

Captain S. J. Scott, 81 years old, died at the home of his daughter Mrs. J. W. Davidson, 423 Pruitt Ave., San Antonio, Monday morning. He was a native of Alabama and had lived in San Antonio for the last ten years. Captain Scott was a member of the first volunteer company which left Mississippi to take part in the Civil War, and served all through the war. He was wounded twice in the battle of Thompson's Station. He is survived by his widow, to whom he was married just two hours before leaving for the war, and three daughters. He was a member of the Albert Sidney Johnston Camp of Confederate Veterans, and of Alamo Lodge No. 44 A. F. and A. M. Captain Scott spent about two years in Kerrville several years ago and owns property here.

Abraham Lincoln would split rails all day in the forest and then after his day's work, would walk five miles to borrow a book to study and improve himself. It is said that George Washington, in answer to a question of his mother as to why he studied so late at night, replied that he was working out the destiny of his country, and he did.

There are hundreds of young people today who are desirous of gaining a practical education, but, for one reason or another, cannot have time to spare it, so they drag along from one year to the next in the same old rut. There are hundreds of others who cannot attend our school in person but who are availing themselves of the opportunity offered by the Correspondence Department of our College, saving their leisure moments and investing them in an education that will mean thousands of dollars to them in the coming years.

You may say that you are not able to take a course, but the person who can least afford it is the one who needs it most, who should get it by all means at any sacrifice; it does not cost much.

Young friend, take advantage of your opportunity to gain a business education, use the moments that would otherwise be wasted. Spend an hour after nightfall in the long winter evenings qualifying yourself with a knowledge of the famous Byrne Shorthand, Practical Bookkeeping, Typewriting, Arithmetic, Grammar, Writing, Salesmanship, and Business Efficiency, Advertising and Telegraphy, by which you will make the business world readily pay cash for your services.

The Home Paper

When the evenin' shade is fallin' at the endin' o' the day,
An a feller rests from labor smokin' his pipe o' clay,
There's nothing does him so much good, be fortune up or down,

As the little country paper from his ol' home town.
It ain't a thing o' beauty an' it's print ain't always clean,
But it straightens out his temper when a feller's feelin' mean;

It takes the wrinkles off his face an' brushes off the frown,
That little country paper from his ol' home town.

It tells of all the parties an' balls of Punkin Row,
'Bout who spent Sunday with his girl an' how the crops'll grow;

How it keeps a feller posted 'bout who is up an' who is down,
That little country paper from his ol' home town.

Now I like to read the dailies an' the story papers, too,
'And at times the yellow novels an' some other trash—don't you?

But when I want some readin' that will brush away a frown,

I want that little paper from my ol' home town.

New Year's Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. S. Gammon entertained on New Year's Day with their annual dinner, an institution of more than ten years' standing. On this day the members of the family and a few friends meet together year after year, the guests being practically the same for ten years in succession, to renew old ties and cement new friendship.

The table was beautiful in crystal and green; cedar boughs encrusted with frost marking each place, with a tiny New Year candle burning brightly as a happy omen for each guest. The center-piece of crystal and green with frosted candles of pink and white, was beautiful.

The invited guests were: Mrs. K. H. Dewees, Miss Dewees, Mrs. Robert Renschel, Miss Claribel Renschel, Robert Renschel, Jr., Walter Coleman and wife, L. W. McCoy, Mrs. L. W. McCoy, Misses Lucile and Ruth McCoy, Laurens McCoy, R. S. Newman, Mrs. R. S. Newman, Miss Newman, Harris Newman, Chas. Ray Newman, and the host and hostess.

"Higher shoes and shorter skirts," is the slogan of the National Shoe Travelers Association. Those roosters surely must belong to the baldhead row.

A SUGGESTION.

The Mountain Sun has a suggestion to offer our people. It is that Kerr County erect some kind of lasting memorial to her boys who responded to our country's call in the war for world liberty. The form this memorial should take could be determined later, after it is seen what funds would be contributed for the purpose.

It could take the form of a tall observation tower, a memorial hall in which to gather mementoes of the great struggle, and in which our patriotic meetings could be held, a massive arch spanning the intersection of two of our principal streets—these or any other form that presented itself as practicable and desirable.

The first step would, we take it, be the forming of a preliminary organization to raise the funds and to later arrange for a permanent organization. Our idea is that no large contributions should be asked for, but that small ones from a large number of people be asked instead.

United in Control of Lakes.

The boundary line between the United States and Canada runs through the center of each of the four border lakes that lie along or between the two countries, and jurisdiction over the lakes is shared. There is a permanent international waterways commission, consisting of three Americans and three Canadians, that has control of the use of the waters of the lakes for power and other purposes.

CATHOLIC CHURCH NOTES
BY FATHER KEMPER

Last Sunday the students of Notre Dame Institute celebrated the feast-day of their school directress. Classes had resumed with a vim on the previous Thursday, after having devoted New Year's day to the time-honored religious and social customs. The faculty judges from the cooperation of parents and students in accordance with their plans, that the period lost through the epidemic will be regained before this session terminates.

An increased enrollment was recorded at both parochial schools. Moreover, four new scholars entered the business course.

Two of the Sisters went to San Antonio on Sunday to spend the day at the mother-house.

On Thursday Miss Angeline Kemper took her twin nephews and Clarence Mosel back to St. Louis College. At the same time she repaid the visit of Mrs. W. D. Jamieson, who is staying at the home of her father Mr. Seelling. Professor Jamieson has returned to his duties in St. Paul, Minn.

Rt. Rev. Monsignor O'Hern, who had charge of arranging President Wilson's interview with Pope Benedict, and who was interpreter for the public audience, was a schoolmate of Father Kemper's at the American College in Rome, of which Alma Mater Msgr. O'Hern became the rector after the death of Archbishop Kennedy. The last-named arranged the papal audience for Dr. Wm. Leo Secor, and other friends of Father Kemper.

A delightful tea was enjoyed on Sylvester's eve at the hospitable home of Mrs. R. Galbraith by the immediate neighbors of the Notre Dame block.

Mrs. H. P. Drought gave a Christmas house party at her country place known as "Droughtfels."

Mrs. G. A. Stowers and daughters have returned to their apartments in the St. Anthony hotel, San Antonio.

Father Kemper attended the military funeral of Sergeant Terry, who was buried simultaneously with his mother in San Antonio last Friday. Both were victims of the influenza, and three sisters were still so ill from this disease that they could not witness the obsequies. Mr. Terry of the Sap Railway was longed for a time to the Comfort congregation, where he occupied the house that served as provisional rectory.

Many Kerrville citizens will remember Mr. and Mrs. McKenna of Galveston and their two little children. On Christmas day the mother died, and a few days previously the father.

Mrs. Rafael Herrera died at Privilege and her children are being cared for by their grandparents in the Guadalupe parish.

At the close of last year, Louis Seidemann's youngest daughter received the sacrament of baptism and the name of Marcella Wendelin. Roque Arreolo, who was born a few hours before his father died of the flu, was baptized on Monday.

Barney Michon re-entered married life by taking to himself Mrs. Lucy Smith on Christmas day. Both families will live at the old Biehler place.

Millard V. Stephens, the former Notre Dame caretaker, received his discharge from the navy and is back with his family, likewise his brother-in-law Hilmar Lott.

Dan Sullivan was sent from Washington by the postal department to assume a new position in the local office.

Miss Mary Lange of St. Charles hotel went to Harper to spend two weeks' vacation with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. Cooper of San Antonio spent the Christmas holidays with Mrs. Jas. F. Rogers, at her country home on Fredericksburg Road.

On Sunday Miss Louise Stackbein came here from Conway, Ark., where she has been teaching in St. Joseph's School. After a brief stop-over she went to her parents in Rocksprings.

The feast of Epiphany was celebrated on Monday. In order to represent the adoration of the Magi, three oriental kings were added to the Crib statuary. This group and the Christmas tree will be removed before Oandlemas-day. The story of St. Winfred and the Christmas tree told in a Mountain Sun article last week refers to St. Boniface, as he was better known among the Germans whom he evangelized in the first half of the eighth century. As a Catholic he had to condemn their practice of image-worshipping and at Hesse he accepted their challenge of hewing an oak tree consecrated to Jupiter. The pagan idolators thought the oak and divine vengeance would crush him, but through miraculous intervention the tree fell in a direction contrary to the laws of gravity. He preached the Gospel to these idolaters and used the oak wood to build a chapel in honor of St. Peter, prince of the Apostles. At the age of seventy-five St. Boniface, Archbishop of Mainz, was martyred for his faith. The writer saw the assassin's dagger at Fulda.

The United States Food Administration has rescinded the twelve General Orders with reference to public eating places but in connection with such action special attention has been called to the continuing need of economy in the use of food in order that this country may be able to carry out its plans for the furnishing of large quantities of food to relieve famine conditions in Europe.

A notable example of home-planned utilities is found upon a farm in Northern Utah. By personal planning and hard work the owner of this farm gradually has equipped his house with a pressure water system, a laundry containing a power washing machine, wringer, mangle, and drying machine, a heating plant, electric lights, electric range, electric heaters for emergency use in chambers and a vacuum cleaning system.—Bulletin.

QUESTION ABOUT BIRTH

By MARGARET WARNER MORLEY. (Author of "Renewal of Life.") Some day your child will ask where he came from or where the new baby came from. In properly answering this natural question the mother has a chance to impress forever upon the young mind a clean and wholesome knowledge of one of the most important facts of nature.

Let the mother strive for two things: to start the child with a beautiful and reverent feeling concerning the origin of life; to give this knowledge before the child can learn it in a harmful way outside the home.

It is well to anticipate the direct question by getting ready before the child is old enough to ask it. How to do this? Begin, perhaps, with seeds. Show the seed-pods of any plant. The seeds are the children of the plant. The plant gives them protection and feeds them with its juices. They are part of the plant. The plant is the mother of the seeds. When the seeds are ripe the pod opens and the seeds leave their mother to live their own separate lives.

Dwell upon the care the mother plant takes of her little seed-children, of the beautiful flower petals she wraps about the tiny pod. Speak often and reverently of motherhood. Make the little boy as well as the little girl understand and love the mother.

Lessons From Nature.

In the springtime show birds' nests if possible. If not, show pictures and talk about the building and how both parents engage in it. Then show or tell about the eggs. Explain how the eggs grow inside the mother-bird. They are a part of her just as the seeds are a part of the plant. When the eggs are ready the bird lays them in the pretty nest and sits on them to keep them warm. The father bird sings to her and feeds her. Both birds love the baby birds and as soon as they hatch out, father bird and mother bird feed them and care for them and teach them to fly. A hen sitting on her eggs can be used to teach the lesson. The egg grows in the hen. How wonderful it is that a little egg can change into a beautiful bird or a cunning little chicken! As the child grows older lead him to notice that the seed grows into a plant just like the parent, that the egg becomes a bird like the parent. Tell the child how important it is for children to come from good parents. Speak of parents and children when talking of plants and birds; this will cause the child unconsciously to connect the ideas about plants and birds with human life.

When a chance comes to show the child young kittens or puppies or rabbits, or the young of any animal, tell him quite frankly whether he asks or not, that of course the young ones come from the mother, that before they were born they were a part of her. Make it all seem natural to the child.

Teach Mother-Love.

Detail upon the love and care the mother everywhere bestows upon her children. Include father-love wherever it is expressed in the lower animals. When at last the great question comes, the child will probably answer it himself: "Mamma, did I come from you?" "Yes, darling, you were once a part of mother. How mother loves her little son (daughter)!"

READING ALOUD TO CHILD

By HAMLIN GARLAND, (Author of "A Son of the Middle Border," Etc.)

The value of reading aloud to a child cannot be overstated. In the first place, it establishes a delightful comradeship between parent and child. It builds a lasting foundation of common interest and mutual understanding. The child associates with the face and the voice of his sire much of the dignity and poetry of the book he has heard read. He infers that his father has something of the quality of the author, and he carries with him a grateful memory of the busy man who laid aside his large affairs in order to give pleasure to a small boy.

A father's voice can vitalize the printed page; to his son even before the son can comprehend the written words. I commenced reading aloud to my daughters before they could understand the spoken words, for the reason that the very music of the lullaby or the drift of the story enthralled them. It was good to see them strive to comprehend. It developed their imagination. They are growing toward womanhood now and they are able to tell me that they remember those nights when I read to them, with an emotion which they find it hard to fitly to express. I gave them both, in this way, a feeling for glorious verse, and a love for choice words which has been of the highest value to them up to this time, and which will increase in value as the years pass.

Farm Accounting in Theory and Practice

H. M. Elliott, Farm Economist, Extension Service A. and M. College of Texas.

The city business man believes that his farmer friend should keep accounts, and chides him for not doing so. The farmer agrees with his business friend, buys an account book, and on January 1, next begins to keep a systematic record of his business. He is now able to know by referring to his records how his account stands with each one with whom he has business dealings. He takes an inventory at the beginning and end of the year and knows how much he has got ahead during the year. From the inventory and from the record of sales and purchases he is able to answer the questions asked of him on the income tax blanks. This is all highly valuable and the farmer at the end of the year feels amply paid for his trouble.

But there is still another question confronting him. It is the question the business man really had in mind. What is this farmer making money on and what is he losing money on, and how can he modify his business so it will bring in more money in the future? To make his accounts answer this most important of all farm problems the farmer must keep certain records and summarize those records. The task is not so difficult as it at first seems. Any farmer has four important reasons for keeping accounts:

- 1. He should know how his accounts stand with his neighbors and others with whom he has dealings on credit.
- 2. He should know how his accounts stand with his neighbors and others with whom he has dealings on credit.
- 3. Successful farmers will that the victorious allies might fall out over a division of the spoils caused the foolish suggestion that all German ships surrendered be sunk. This would be such a rank piece of foolishness that the very monkeys of Africa would grin in derision.

Those ships are worth as much,
in times of peace at least, to the allies as they were to the Germans. As to quarreling over the spoils, no one nation of the allies will be allowed to hog more than a just share.

The teachers' convention at Dallas passed a resolution to petition the Legislature to pass a law providing that county superintendents of schools be elected by the board of education. Commenting on this, John E. Davis, representative from Dallas County, says in his paper, the Mesquite Mesquiter: "The passage of this bill is being urged by most of the teachers, who sincerely believe, we are sure, that a small body of men whose business it is to make a special study of school affairs can and will exercise better judgment (than the people) in the selection of a county superintendent." Admitting that such a bill would have passed two years ago but for his vote
in the Thirty-fifth Legislature,
Mr. Davis goes to say: "I oppose this bill because it proposes to take the power away from the people and place it in the hands of a few. I believe in the right of the people to rule and am willing to trust them, though they sometimes make mistakes. Board Boards do too, for that matter."
We have not studied this bill closely, nor heard any arguments pro or con; but the right of the people to rule is one of the basic principles of democracy. When you take away one of the foundation stones upon which a building rests you necessarily weaken the edifice. To place too much power in the hands of the few is a dangerous experiment. Germany tried it, and Germany is—John, we reckon you are about right.

Berlin is said to be the scene of terrific civil strife, hundreds being killed in the streets.

Neighbor Junction City shipped nearly a quarter-million pounds of pecans this season.

Former President Theodore Roosevelt, one of the world's most brilliant men, died Sunday morning.

Women of the United States
knitted 261,004,000 articles of comfort for the soldier boys during the seventeen months of the war.

Good roads are not so much an expense as an investment. Let Kerr County build a system she can point to with pride, and still better, travel over in bad weather.

The United States Supreme Court handed down a decision
Tuesday establishing the constitutionality of the Webb-Kenyon law, which prohibits the shipment of intoxicants into dry territory.

By proclamation of President
Wilson, all Government offices were closed and the United States flag hung at half-mast throughout the world, during the funeral of Former President Roosevelt Wednesday.

It is said that Col. Roosevelt had so generously contributed to various patriotic and humanitarian objects that he "died a comparatively poor man, with only half a million estate." It must be fierce to be that poor!

Apparently just to make us feel bad, a San Antonio bank informs us that it has over four million dollars deposits and a million and a half cash on hand.
Wouldn't you hate to have to worry with that much money?

Let's not adopt the "Arkansas Traveler" reasoning in considering the construction of good permanent roadways. You know how the old fellow explained the bad condition of his roof by saying that he could not fix it when it was raining and it didn't need fixing when it was not raining.
Let's build good permanent roads while it is not raining, then we can get the benefit of them when it is raining.

Kerr County hasn't had as much flu as some other counties
but—Kerr-choo!—she's had a plenty.

Looezyanner made 263,450
tons of short sweetening and nearly 30,000,000 gallons of long sweetening this year. Sweet patootie!

The King and Queen of England, the King of Italy and the President of France, it is reported, are to visit this country within the next two years. Uncle Sam and Columbia will be plumb glad to see them.

The Texas Republic says:
"They call 'em doughboys because they spend their dough so freely." We thought it was because they were so badly kneaded. Anyhow, they don't loaf on the job. They are too well bread to do that.

The sentiment for an enlarged program of permanent road building seems to be gradually gaining force, and The Mountain Sun is glad to see it do so. Let's lift Kerr County out of the mud. It will save valuable time, expensive vehicles, teams and temper.

We know not how much of Mrs. Doppe's "exposure of prison cruelties" is true and how much of it may be "sob stuff," but this we do know, that if it is even fifty per cent true some of the guards and some of their superiors deserve to be given just what they have been giving the convicts.

Soldier Boy Writes From Over There

Dear Aunt Lou:
Will write you a few lines to let you know that I haven't forgotten you. It has been a good while since I wrote to you, but I guess you know how bad I hate to write. I have been seeing lots of the world. We sailed by the Statue of Liberty when we left New York. I did not enjoy the trip across, although it was something altogether new to me.
We sailed close to the coast of Scotland. I never thought that land could look as good as that did.

We came over with a transport of about sixteen ships. One night at twelve o'clock we were called to the life boats. There was an object sighted that was supposed to be a submarine.
The boat that we were on fired four shots at it and sank it.

We landed at Liverpool, Eng., after being out twelve days. I didn't like it there. We took train from there to Southampton.
We traveled all night, so I didn't see any of the country.

We crossed the English Channel to LeHavre, France. We went through the outskirts of Paris

The first work we did in France was in the Vosges sector. We were up in the mountains there.
They were the Vosges or French Alps, as they are called. We went through St. Mihiel and several other towns close to it. We were also in Verdun. We went through a corner of Belgium.
We were in Luxembourg for several days. It is a small dukedom between France and Germany.
The Germans had been there four years. The people were certainly glad to see the Americans.

We are now in Germany. We are in Erdorf, a small town just across the border. The people treat us as well as could be expected. Some of them are even glad to see us.

Well, as I can't think of much to write about I will have to wait and tell you all I know. Will close for this time.

With love from Willie,

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure
with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's

Botha's Strategy.
One day during the Boer war the arduous march to Windhoek in the broiling sun was particularly trying.
General Botha cheerfully told his men to buck up, as he hoped to finish the campaign and be home in time for his wife's birthday. His men cheered and told on in good heart. But by and by one of them asked the date of Mrs.
Botha's birthday. "Oh! that is a secret!" was the reply, and then the men realized that the laugh was against them.

Dr. Dickey returned Saturday from Austin, where he went to take Mrs. Dickey and Miss Anabel. Miss Anabel has reentered the State University.

Old Man Flu took a fresh hold on Kerrville this week, it seems, and numerous cases have been reported, one instance being the incapacitating of five men Monday from the Schreiner stores alone. Fortunately the disease is not in virulent form here, but is bad enough to call for every possible precaution.

January started off last week cold and wet and raw, and she seems determined to keep the play up on that line. A little bit of sunshine and warmth would be very acceptable, but guess we'd better take all the moisture we can get while we can get it. There'll be times when it will be a scarce article, y'know.

The Sunset Picture Co., Inc., returned Friday to San Antonio, having finished up their work here, which was mostly ranch scenes taken on the Sid Peterson ranch. There will be a big dance scene staged Tuesday, taken at the Company Studio at Harlandale, in which a number of San Antonians will take part.

J. G. Yancey, a prominent young manufacturer of Marion, N. C., who came out before the holidays to recuperate from an illness of two months, is delighted with the Healing Hills, and is roughing it on the R. A. Ramsey ranch sixty-five miles out, whence he came a few days since with a wagon train for feed. From a factory office on the Atlantic seaboard to a ranch in the wilds of the Hill Country, is quite a jump, but those of us who had the pleasure of meeting young Yancey when he first came out, and again at this time, can very plainly see the wisdom of his course. Asked when he would again visit us, he replied: "O, next Spring, I guess, when we bring in the ranch's clip of mohair."

An appreciated visitor to the Mountain Sun office Monday was Mrs. Wharton of Hunt, known to her host of friends as "Aunt Lou." Mrs. Whorton is one of the busiest and most useful women in this section of the State, and is highly respected by those who have the good fortune to know her. "I've been subscribing for The Mountain Sun ever since the paper was first established in Kerrville, under the name of The Frontiersman," said Mrs. Whorton. "As successive managements have taken hold they have several times changed the name of the publication to suit their individual tastes, but it has all along been the same old home paper." The Mountain Sun appreciates the friendship of the old timers who have so long stuck to it, and is glad that through the ups and downs of frontier life, later on changing to semi-frontier, and now in full bloom of modern updateness, The Mountain Sun has in turn stuck to them. It is glad to have had some small part in the conquering of the wilderness and the building up of such a substantial and progressive community as Kerr County and contiguous territory.

Miss Doris Holekamp of Junction spent Friday last with Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Johnston, enroute to San Antonio, where she is attending a commercial school.

Mrs. F. S. Bonnel died on Monday at her home at Camp Verde. Mrs. Bonnel was a member of one of the oldest and most prominent families in this section, and has many warm Kerrville friends who regret to lose her. She is survived by one son, W. H. Bonnel of Camp Verde.

Among the soldiers visiting in town last week and registered at the St. Charles were: Lt. N. H. Wright, Oberlin, Ohio; Lt. Stanley Corfman, Elyria, Ohio; D. O. Patterson Brooks Field; Forest Weldon, Brooks Field; Sergt. P. Richardson, Kelly Field; Wm. A. Clock, Kelly Field; Alex Fink, camp Stanley; C. Taylor, Camp Travis.

Instead of going to Old Mexico as he had intended, Capt. C. J. Seeber has accepted a position as commandant and military instructor at Peacock Military Academy, San Antonio, and assumed his duties there Monday. Mrs. Seeber and little Miss Seeber will join him there a bit later, much to the pleasure of the many friends who did not wish them so far away as Mexico.

Mrs. R. Galbraith and Miss Florrie Galbraith entertained a few friends on Monday, Dec. 30, with a neighborhood tea. The house was attractively trimmed in decorations featuring the Christmas suggestion. A delicious salad course and Christmas cakes and candies were served. Those present were: Mrs. R. S. Newman, Mrs. G. W. Walther, Mrs. W. G. Carpenter, Mrs. Henry Henke, Mrs. Sturgis, Miss Angeline Kemper, Mrs. Weir, Mrs. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. J. M. Doddy.

Kerrville has decided to perpetuate the names of the three Kerrville boys killed in action by naming three streets after them. Mayor H. C. Geddie has appointed as a committee to designate the streets L. G. Dubus, J. L. Pampell, L. A. Schreiner, Judge Lee Wallace, Mrs. Sid Rees, Mrs. Ed Fisk, and Mrs. H. C. Geddie. The Committee has decided to name Mountain St. after Lieut. Earl Garrett, Tchoupitoulas St. after Sidney Baker and Lytle St. after Francisco Lemos. The Mountain Sun is sure this graceful act will meet with cordial approval on the part of our people.

J. E. Paimer having traded his town property to Thos. James for the latter's place on Town Creek, will move to his new property soon, thus relinquishing his position of secretary of the School Board, which he has filled so acceptably. A new secretary will be elected by the Board at an early day, and the work of preparing for next term will be taken up, simultaneously with the work of the closing months of the current term. Supt. Jones reports matters running as smoothly as could be expected, considering the "flu" conditions. There is at present an opening for a math teacher in High, but this will doubtless be filled promptly.

Who cares for the farmer ?

That's what a farmer I know asked the other day. "Nobody," he went on. "The Army is being brought home. Industry is being reconstructed. Good jobs are found for labor. City folks are told what to eat. But who cares for the farmer?" "I'll tell you," said I. "It's

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

"Some folks forget who feeds the world—but not THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

"It's for the American farmer first, last and all the time—fighting his battles with him, sitting down with him to plan for next season's crops, helping him to find markets, and demanding fair, living prices for farm produce. You just bet somebody cares for the farmer—THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN does." That man bought a year's subscription—52 helpful issues for only a dollar. I'd like to show you why you'll like it, too. Just notify me and I'll come to see you.
