SIXTY THOUSAND BLACK BASS PLANTED IN RIVER

Twenty cans of small black bass were received in Kerrville Tuesday noon from the Government Hatchery at San Marcos and were at once "planted" in the Guadalupe. Robert Stiles, foreman of the hatchery, was in charge of the shipment and stated that each can contained at least two thousand of the baby bass.

Adolph Dubus hauled out four cans to pools close to town, and Gene Butt and Al Manny took the remainder up the river in a truck, placing the majority in the pools of South Fork which was not planted last year.

Wednesday another shipment of eleven cans arrived, in charge of D. E. Bourland, from San Marcos. Like the first received they were all black bass and averaged two thousand to the can. J. J. Dent and S. H. Huntington took out the last consignment, and the greater part were placed in the large pools of Johnson Fork.

The two shipments make a grand total of better than sixty thousand young bass planted this season so far. Twenty more cans will be received some time in the late summer and included in that shipment will be some half dozen cans of crappie.

The sportsmen of Kerrville are making strong efforts to keep the Guadalupe well stocked, not only for the benefit of our home people but also the large number of tourists and campers who come to this section every season.

This month and next are closed for the use of artificial bait, and at all times of the year bass under eleven inches in length must be returned to the water. Last year was the first in which the eleven-inch limit was provided and a close check was not made, but this season the law will be strictly enforced and offenders will have to pay a stiff fine. A close inspection should always be made by those seining minnows for bait and all young bass at once liberated. A little co-operating from all who enjoy fishing will aid materially in keeping the Guadalupe well stocked in spite of the large number who enjoy the sport each season.

APPROPRIATE DATE NAMED FOR COAL STRIKE—"FOOLS DAY"

Indianapolis, Ind., March 21.—A formal call for a strike of both anthracite and bituminous coal miners on April 1st was sent out today from the headquarters here of the United Mine Workers of America.

Chicago, March 21.—Announcement that the coal mine strike orders would be issued today was characterized by Dr. F. C. Honnold, secretary of the Illinois Coal Operators' Association, as "just a gesture intended to bolster up the miners' spirits."

"It means less than it sounds," said Dr. Honnold. "The miners' leaders are just trying to improve the morale of their men by telling them that they actually are going to exercise punitive powers and go on strike if their wage demands are not granted."

THIRTY INDICTED IN OKMULGEE, OKLA., BANK FAILURE PROBE

Okmulgee, Okla., March 21.—Twenty-three indictments, naming more than 30 persons, were returned by the District Court Grand Jury here early tonight in its final report on an investigation of bank failures in Okmulgee County.

Okmulgee, Okla., March 22.—A joint indictment charging Gov. J. B. A. Robertson of Oklahoma, and Fred G. Dennis, former State Banking Commissioner, with accepting a bribe to permit the Guaranty State Bank here to continue to do business after it had been found insolvent, was returned by the District Court Grand Jury yesterday, it was learned today.

The Governor and Dennis were named as recipients of $25,000 bribe to deposit $150,000 in State funds in the Guaranty State Bank and allow the bank to continue to operate while in an insolvent condition in the indictment returned against John P. Cook, former president of the bank, and John H. Rebold, vice president. Cook and Rebold were arrested shortly after noon today.

TOM JAMES' RESIDENCE BURNED AT EARLY HOUR SUNDAY MORNING

About 4 o'clock last Sunday morning, Tom James, who lives in the Lowry Addition, was awakened by a roaring sound, and when he got up to ascertain the cause found the kitchen of his residence all ablaze.

The high wind caused the building to burn up in a few minutes. Mr. James and his family barely had time to escape in their night clothes. Friends later came to their rescue and supplied them with clothing and shelter.

It is not known how the fire started, but as it evidently started in the kitchen, possibly was from a stove there. The loss is between $3,500.00 and $4,000.00, while there is insurance of $2,500.00, which the many friends of the family are glad to know, although it does not make the entire loss good, and especially is the burning of heirlooms regretted by Mr. James and his family.

METHODIST CLASS WINS FIRST VICTORY IN SPELLING CONTEST

Monday night of this week in the Baptist Church, the classes representing the Methodist and Presbyterian Sunday Schools had a spelling contest, which resulted in the former winning.

There were ten in the Presbyterian class and only five in the Methodist. Four of the Methodists were men and one lady, Mrs. H. C. Geddie, who won for her class, while there were three men and seven ladies in the Presbyterian team, and the men were the first to miss words in each class. Mrs. R. L. Scherbeck was the last speller of the Presbyterians. Four or five of the Methodist class were ill and could not be present.

Rev. J. B. Holt gave out the words, or did the pronouncing, which is no easy job. The old-time Webster's Blue-Back Speller was used.

Next Monday night the Methodist class and the Baptist class will contest and if the latter is "the loser" it will then have to spell with the Presbyterians to see who is to get second place.

Quite a number attended the spelling match and considerable interest was manifested.

"AMERICA HOODWINKED BY UNTRUE REPORTS," SAYS LILLIAN RUSSELL

New York, March 18.—Declaring that the American people were being hoodwinked by untrue stories of conditions in Europe, Lillian Russell, famous stage beauty, who was sent abroad as a special commissioner of immigration, said today she would recommend in her report to Secretary of Labor James J. Davis that all immigration to this country be stopped for a period of five years.

Miss Russell returned last night on the Aquitania.

"I have a detailed report that will amaze Secretary of Labor Davis," she said today. "Our representatives at Washington have no real conception of the immigration situation that actually exists."

"America is 'over propagandized.' Stories of suffering humanity in Europe and oppression all have the dollar sign back of them. It is my own personal belief that there are organizations financed for the sole purpose of making money out of what they call 'humanity.' Many well meaning people are hoodwinked by these parasites who are trying to bring to this country men and women who do not understand our language.

"It seems to me a crime that American boys have to wait until they are 21 before they have a vote, when such aliens as I saw aboard can within a period of five years have the privilege our forefathers fought for. Our slogan should be America for Americans."

As a result of her investigations, Miss Russell is convinced that there should be the most stringent tests before immigrants are permitted in this country.

All that is needed to change a flapper into sweet, wholesome American girl is to interest her in the outdoors and provide recreation and work that will give her the stimulation she now gets from jazz dances and the movies, according to the national executive of the Campfire Girls.

PROBABLE PLAN OF HANDLING CHARITY QUESTION IN CITY

There have been several committee meetings considering the charity question in Kerrville, and conferences of some committees with directors of the Chamber of Commerce during the past few weeks, in an attempt to agree upon a plan that would prove feasible, fair and equitable.

It is believed that a solution has been found in the suggestion by a committee of five composed of directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

In substance, the plan would provide for the charity work to be an adjunct to the Chamber of Commerce, and the same secretary perform the work for both.

There would be solicitation made of the people of Kerrville for a charity fund and one for sustaining the work of the Chamber of Commerce. Anyone could donate to each of these, or only one, and the amount so subscribed would be used exclusively for the purpose indicated, but it would be better for everyone to contribute to both.

The idea is to have these funds secured from the city as a whole with the expectation that those most able to contribute would give most.

As the case has been for quite a while, charity work has been done mostly by the ministers and churches of the city. They are expected to continue to do their full part—and they undoubtedly will—but not let theirs be the principal burden.

Owing to our environments, Kerrville has more charity to carry than is usual with towns its size, and this burden is going to increase instead of diminish. While the citizens do not intend to shirk any duty, nor to close their hands from giving, still, it is only fair, that there should be a limit, and the undeserving refused aid.

It should be ascertained who are really deserving of charity, and when this is proven, let there be extended the necessities required instead of indiscriminately disbursing money. Let there be committees to pass upon who are entitled to charity, another to secure what is needed, and if necessary another to look after a proper distribution of this aid.

However, the details can be worked out after the work is once properly started.

EX-SERVICE MEN AT LEGION SANATORIUM FEW IN NUMBERS

Austin, Tex., March 21.—There are 60 patients in the American Legion Memorial Sanatorium at Kerrville, of which number only twelve are Texas ex-service men. There are 33 patients transferred there by the Federal Government and fifteen civilians admitted by the Board of Control. Two more units, accommodating 32 patients each, will be completed in 45 days, said Chairman S. B. Cowell of the Board of Control, thus doubling the Sanatorium's capacity of 64, or a total of 128.

Texans Have First Call
"It is the policy of the Board to give the Texas soldiers every preference," said Chairman Cowell, "but so few asked for admission that we made the contract with the Federal Government on a per diem basis and also admitted worthy civilians who couldn't enter the State Sanatorium at Carlsbad."

Under its contract with the Federal Government, the Board collects $3 per day for each patient hospitalized there for the Government. This is an entirely adequate charge, the chairman says, and more patients on that basis will be admitted when the new units have been completed, provided there are no Texas soldiers applying. The latter have first call for admittance.

To Have Capacity of 600
While only twelve Texas, ex-service men are in the hospital at this time, the Legislative appropriation is to increase the Sanatorium capacity to 600 beds, and contracts have been let to that end; in fact, much construction is well under way. However, thus far, the demand of the Texas soldiers has been quite small.

A 13-year-old girl has been granted a license to preach by the Northeastern Oklahoma Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Tulsa.

B. Y. P. U. HAVE ST. PATRICK PARTY AT HOME OF MR. AND MRS. BURTON

The members of the Senior Baptist Young Peoples' Union and their friends enjoyed a most delightful St. Patrick's Party Thursday evening of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Burton.

The first part of the evening each guest received an Irish name and they had to be called by that name all evening, anyone failing to call a person by the Irish name had to pay a forfeit. Many forfeits were received, and later each one had to perform some "stunt" to get them back again.

Other games, such as a potato race, Shamrock race and Irish jokes, were enjoyed; also a "Pat" contest, which proved most interesting. Charles Wesch received the prize in this contest and Mrs. Roebuck in the Shamrock race.

Delicious refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

WALL STREET TO BE KEPT OUT OF MUSCLE SHOALS, SAYS FORD

Washington, D. C., March 17.—Authority was granted by the House today to its Military Affairs Committee, now investigating private offers for purchase and lease of the Government's Muscle Shoals properties, to visit the projects. A resolution authorizing an appropriation of $2,000 for the trip earlier reported by the House Accounts Committee was adopted without a dissenting vote.

Shortly before the House voted to grant authority for the trip the Senate Agriculture Committee decided to leave Washington on a similar trip March 25th. The general belief was that the two committees would go together.

Detroit, Mich., March 17.—Declaring "if it is the last thing I do in this world, I'll exert every resource and influence at my command to keep the hands of Wall Street off Muscle Shoals," Henry Ford today broke his silence maintained during the last two months with regard to his offer to lease and operate the Government water power project in Alabama.

Mr. Ford made the statement to the Detroit News in response to an intimation reaching him to the effect that because of his silence the people of Southern States had begun to wonder whether he had lost interest in the project.

"Tell these people of the South," Mr. Ford said, "that Wall Street will have no part either in financing or operating Muscle Shoals if I can help it. If it's the last thing I do I'll exert every resource and influence at my command to keep the hands of Wall Street off the shoals project and perpetuate it as a great example to the American people—a living example of what they can do if they will safeguard the country's water power and develop it."

"In Muscle Shoals lies the freedom of American industry," Mr. Ford continued. "During the war the country turned its every resource to help free the world from militarism—a militarism fostered by an international money power. Now in the same way we are going to fight to the last ditch to free American industry and American agriculture from that same money power. If the American people once can catch the idea of what water power means—how it can be put to service in a thousand ways, cutting the cost of industrial power to a minimum, and thus, through better service, make possible a higher standard of living for all people, at a greatly reduced cost—they never again will submit to the proposition that to get power they must pay tribute to Wall Street."

Example at Muscle Shoals
"All the people need to catch the idea is an example. A potential example lies at Muscle Shoals. In a sense the destiny of the American people for centuries to come lies there on the Tennessee River, because whoever controls a nation's power controls that nation's people.

"America's power today is dependent on the steam power of coal. The great private financiers own the bulk of the country's coal mines. These financiers, centered in Wall Street, have a strangle hold on the industry and transportation of the country.

"If Muscle Shoals is developed along unselfish lines it will work so splendidly and so simply that in no time

Evidence of Good Service

Fifty-three years of safe, helpful banking—through good times and years of adverse conditions—is a record of careful management with the interests of our patrons ever in mind. Such a record is evidence of our pledge for good service in the years to come.

Time is a test of a bank's strength and permanence, also its management. This institution has served continuously since 1869.

PRELIMINARY WORK STARTED ON THE SCHREINER INSTITUTE

J. J. Delaney of Dallas, who will be the head of the Schreiner Institute, T. E. Clyce of Sherman, the architect in charge of the building operations, and Mr. Gilbert, a surveyor from Sherman, were here last Friday on business connected with the building of the school.

Messrs. Delaney and Clyce returned to their homes Saturday, Mr. Gilbert remaining to lay off the grounds preparatory to the work of construction, which will begin this spring.

TOURIST CAMP SITE NOW READY; HAVE CARE-TAKER IN CHARGE

The Tourist Camp Site at Kerrville is ready and there is a care-taker there to see after the property, as well as make it pleasant for the tourists. The care-taker is Mr. Hatcher, who comes highly recommended.

There is needed at least $25.00 to finish making the improvements considered necessary, so the Sun trusts that this amount will be readily subscribed.

Water connections have been made, the grounds cleaned and everything looks inviting.

The Civic League of some one who desires, could put out some shrubbery, flowers and plants, which would add much to the attractiveness of the Camp Site.

ELMER RUFF IS CANDIDATE FOR CITY COMMISSIONER OF KERRVILLE

Elmer Ruff authorizes The Sun to announce his candidacy for City Commissioner of Kerrville. Mr. Ruff has been a citizen here for thirty years, during much of the time he has conducted a restaurant. He is capable of performing the duties of the position, and he especially desires to be elected for the purpose of improving the streets of Kerrville.

Mr. Ruff feels that his long citizenship, together with his knowledge of the affairs of the city, gives his candidacy merit. He solicits the votes of the people and promises faithful performance of the duties of the position should he be elected.

C. E. Salter and Bruce Magee made a trip to Brackettville last week-end to secure some black perch for a trial plant in the Guadalupe. The fish were secured, but only two survived the return journey, due mainly to inexperience in handling. However, another trip will be made later and better success is expected, at which time a full description will be given of this species of perch.

After an investigation of each of the schools making such application for aid, Mr. Rasco agreed to recommend the following amounts for these schools:

Ingram, $365.00; White, $300.00; Japonica, $385.00; Sunset, $500.00; Reservation, $150.00; Center Point, $800.00.

NOTRE DAME INSTITUTE Notes Edited by the High School Dept. ST. PATRICK'S PLAY

"The day we celebrate" could not have been observed more enthusiastically if all of us hailed "from the old sod." There was enough evidence of Celtic blood and Gaelic brogue to make the simon-pure Illinoisans proud of our profession of sympathy for the new-born Irish at St. Kate.

At chapel exercises the Cecilian choir sang the glories of the saintly apostle, who fifteen hundred years ago converted pagan Erin into a Catholic nation, noted for its tenacious faith and scholarly achievements. So widespread became Ireland's influence in the civilization of Europe, that Germany alone counted 150 Irish saints, France counted 45, Belgium 30, Italy 13, Sweden and Iceland 8, and so forth for the rest of the Old Continent. Historians ascribe a pre-Columbian discovery of America to the Irish St. Brendan.

In the afternoon the annual St. Patrick's entertainment was given in Washington Hall by the Brownson Literary Society. Tricolor streamers in orange, white and green offset overcast banners with their golden fringes. "Erin Go Bragh" was inscribed in letters big enough for all to read without spectacles. Friends of the Isle of Saints had remembered their kinsfolk in our community with fresh sprigs of shamrock.

Ireland's latest martial air was sung as a curtain-raiser by a band of Sinn Feiners. Madeline Sinn recounted some of the wonders of her forefathers' history. Other aspects of this fascinating study were analyzed in research essays by different High School pupils.

Sword Dance

Besides the firs and reels of modern and ancient Gaelic popularity, the most applauded terpsichorean number was a difficult sword dance executed by a quartette of minims. It may be remembered that a sister of one of our sons won the golden harp, not many years ago, as the best dancer in Ireland.

An entirely new repertoire of songs was offered to the audience. The duet by Frances and Stella Michon, eulogizing Irish and American independence, was particularly appreciated. Another duet was a plaintive appeal of an Irish immigrant begging her husband to take her back to the hallowed land of St. Patrick. Miss Stella Ruff captivated her hearers with an Irish love solo.

Bursts of laughter almost downed the actors who staged a comedy, depicting the first railroad trip of a garrulous Irish peasant woman. Miss Aleida Michon in this role wishes to go to Mauro with her hungry son, John (Viva Ethridge), but the station agent (Wilhelmina Mosel) understands her to mean "tomorrow" and does not prepare the ticket until the final flurry at the arrival of the train.

Echoes of the festival were resonant in the luncheon that followed the entertainment. An ornamental cake was crowned with a candy snake—the only kind that are said to exist in the Emerald Isle. Other home-made candies were decorated with shamrocks and kindred Celtic allusions.

Peanship Awards

More honors have been conferred on Notre Dame pupils by the Palmer School of Business Writing in Chicago. Miss Louise Colbath won her final certificate. An improvement certificate was earned by Margie Farish, Frieda Raff, Jack Flye and Warren Rogers.

The following won their Progress Pin: Charlotte Carpenter, Lois Ethridge, Irene Kolodsey, Goldie Doyle, Imelda Boudreaux and Lawrence Staudt.

The Chicago examiners awarded a Palmer Button to William McDonald, Walter Meyer, Ernestine Meyer and Dolores Strauch.

Willie Mae Kaiser and Estelle Ethridge earned their Gold Star Button.

The conferring of these honors is entirely out of the hands of the Notre Dame faculty, and dependent on the judgment of Palmer teachers in Chicago.

Bro. Anthony's Visit

The superintendent of San Fernando Cathedral School for Boys, Brother Anthony Wolf, spent the week-end at Notre Dame as guest of Rev. Dr.

Kemper. He was accompanied by his cousin, Anthony Blum, of Chicago, whose latest book on metallurgical engineering will issue from the press this week. Having completed this scientific treatise, Mr. Blum recreated in our mountain home for several days. He and his cousin were amazed at the up-to-date conveniences offered to Notre Dame scholars. The directress of the San Fernando Cathedral School for Girls is Sr. Ita, a member of the first faculty at Notre Dame.

Willie Wolf has returned to his parents, who are constructing a modern club house and hotel at Medina Dam.

The Laughman children of Beaumont are temporarily boarding at the Convent.

Requests for summer reservations have been received from ten or more Catholic young ladies in and around San Antonio.

Junction Jots

Eagle, March 17: Mrs. C. Gardner Franks of Rocksprings and her brother, Pierce Stevenson, went to San Antonio from here Monday, returning Tuesday. They went in response to a telephone call, stating that there was serious illness in the Walter Tinsley family.

A rainfall approximating one-half inch fell in Junction Monday. The rain extended southeast as far as Segovia and up South Llano about twenty miles and about six miles up North Llano. A strong wind followed it and did much towards destroying the good that the shower did, but maybe it will rain again some time.

Monday morning Russell Wilson passed through Junction on his way to Kerrville with a section of a large walnut tree taken from the G. W. Farmer Ranch on Bear Creek. The section was a bit over five feet long and about five feet in diameter. Mr. Wilson is shipping walnut from Kerrville. Recently, there have been quite a number of shipments of walnut from this county.

L. C. Smith, Kansas City banker, and Clay Fowler, Llano County stockman, were in Junction Monday and Tuesday of this week. Mr. Smith has important financial interests in this section of the country, and is in touch with conditions here and in the financial centers. He is very optimistic as to the final outcome of the present condition, and advises that if the people will not lose heart and will continue to hold things together, that much better times will soon come. He went from here to Menard Tuesday.

Bandera Budget

New Era, March 16: The fruit trees are now in blossom all over the county and a big fruit crop is in prospect.

T. A. Buckner was over from San Marcos this week visiting friends. Mr. Buckner informs us that he is closing a deal to purchase the interest of his partner, G. C. Jones, in the San Marcos Record.

The radio apparatus in the New Era office, operated by Warren Hunter, is now successfully picking up wireless messages from all parts of the country. Sermons, concerts and conversations are easily heard, mostly from Denver, Colo. A description of the New Braunfels bank robbery was picked up within a very short time after the robbery occurred. Warren made this apparatus himself, and is now engaged in constructing a radio transmitting outfit, which when completed will enable him to send as well as receive messages.

A deal has been closed whereby F. D. Atchley disposed of the old McRae Ranch near Pipe Creek for $22,000. This is one of the prettiest ranch properties in the Pipe Creek neighborhood and consists of 1,274 acres, well improved. The purchaser is J. A. Bachman of Austin, who put in some Austin property on the deal. E. C. Clabaugh of Austin will manage the ranch, and is moving his family thereto this week. Mr. and Mrs. Atchley will leave for Austin Saturday to make their home in that city. They are most excellent people and we sincerely regret to lose them from our midst, but our best wishes follow them and we hope they will come back to Bandera some day.

CHIEF JUSTICE TAFT WOULD STOP COLLEGE ATHLETICS

Washington, D. C., March 18.—Chief Justice Taft, speaking at a meeting here last night of the Yale Alumni Association, said he believed the growth of the big collegiate athletic exhibitions was militant against the intellectual life of the institutions, and should be curtailed.

"These games for the entertainment and edification of the people are not really for the good of the universities," the Chief Justice said. "I would be glad to see a stop put to them and rejoice to see several institutions leading to that end."

THOMAS COLLIN NORTH

He was born in St. Francisville, La., September 25th, 1825, afterwards moving to Mississippi, where he married Miss Elizabeth Robertson. The following children were born into his home: Tom, William, Charles and Joe, Mrs. Bettie Riddley, Mrs. Joe Byas, Ellen Corbell and Mrs. Elethia Elwood. Of these, William, Charles, Mrs. Joe Byas and Mrs. Ellen Corbell are dead.

Mr. North was a faithful Confederate soldier, serving in the 28th Mississippi Regiment under Gen. Bedford Forrest.

In 1868 he moved to La Grange, Tex., and afterwards to Center Point, where he lived for a number of years. He was converted about 30 years ago and joined the Upper Guadalupe Church, of which he was a member when he died.

He was, perhaps, the oldest Mason in Southwest Texas, having joined in 1852, and he was high up in rank in this great order.

He died at Sonora, March 16th, and was brought overland to the Sunset Cemetery, where he was quietly laid to rest beside other deceased members of the family.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Rodger C. Walker of Hunt and Pastor Judd B. Holt of Kerrville.

Mr. North was an accommodating, good hearted man and had many friends.

It was Mr. North's desire to live 100 years, see the World War close, and be buried at old Sunset. He only missed the century mark two years.

The sympathy of friends and neighbors goes out to all the bereaved ones.

Woman's Missionary Union

The Woman's Missionary Union of the Baptist Church met on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Landrum, the members of the Osborne Circle being hostesses.

A splendid program was given, those taking part were: Mrs. C. H. Richerson as leader, and topics by Mrs. Welborne, Mrs. Anglin, Mrs. Gammon, Mrs. Roebuck and Miss Faye Tarley.

After the program a social hour was enjoyed. During this time Miss Edith Tallis gave a humorous reading.

A contest, "Pass the Hat," was thoroughly enjoyed by all. A salad course, and cake and coffee were served.

Presbyterian Men's Club

The Men's Club of the Presbyterian Church will hold its regular meeting at the St. Charles Hotel on Tuesday, March 28th, at 8 p. m.

This meeting will be especially interesting, because in addition to the usual interests, the club will have as guest and principal speaker Charles Dubose, a prominent business man and manufacturer of San Antonio.

The village "jug" of Mansfield, Missouri, is really a jug. The little jail building is constructed of concrete, 16 inches thick and is the replica of the half of the old-time whiskey bottle.

GUIDES AND WRECKERS

San Antonio Express: In Travis Park Methodist Church, Sunday, the Reverend Arthur J. Moore, beginning a series of sermons on the patriotic bearing of law, order and social decency, offered this opinion:

There are today many forces at work to overturn and destroy our National life. America must within the next few years witness either a great spiritual revival or a revolution—I prefer the revival. Religion is not only an essential in individual life, but in national life, as well; and not only will the soul that sinneth die, but the nation that forgets God will die.

On the same day, addressing a Chicago club, Bishop Wise (Episcopal) of Kansas said "the time has come to require that violators of the prohibition amendment are encouraging the breaking of all law; they are the ones who are giving the country the reputation of being the most lawless nation on earth."

These pastors and bishops are the carefully-chosen moral guides of the people, even as the National and state legislators responsible for establishing the Eighteenth Amendment are their legal guides of their own election. Church, government and the mean-living family are in bitter conflict with those who break the law, those who sneer at the law, those who encourage general lawlessness through fomenting or condoning "special" lawlessness.

The Express has faith and patriotism enough to be confident that government, church and the right-living social units will win the fight, and the spiritual revival, of which Dr. Moore speaks, will be directed particularly against this common foe from within.

The Sun is keeping out of all kind of elections—it can stand anything a majority of the people can.

There should be more irrigation put in operation in this section. It requires a little expense and some work, but how are you going to make anything a success without these?

A majority of the Democratic Senators are continuing to show the same incapacity for meeting a big situation that they have shown for some time. The people want PEACE, and they are not so particular about the dotting of "i" nor the crossing of a "t."

BONUS FOR BANKERS' BENEFIT

Dearborn Independent: Bonus legislation, or attempts at it, is putting the political interest in Congress at a disadvantage. Bonus talk long ago lost its last pretense of patriotism, and has become crass politics, with the next election in view. What the soldier must feel, can only be surmised. He would probably be willing to wipe out the whole account—and it is not he who insists that an account exists!—if assured of a steady job in a prosperous country.

The proposals put up to Congress grow steadily worse. They were bad enough to begin with, in that they gave the bankers more than they gave the soldiers. Bonus interest usually runs one and a half times more than bonus payments. The soldier would always receive more if given the interest instead of the principal.

But the worst proposal of all is the latest, the issue of 20-year certificates on which the Federal Reserve banks would be authorized to lend up to 50 per cent of their face value, the soldier paying interest fixed by the amount of the regional discount rate charged by the Federal Reserve Bank, plus two per cent.

That is, by making himself a borrower, binding himself to pay a plus interest, and putting up a certificate worth more than twice as much as he is able to borrow on it, the soldier may be handed a few dollars. Otherwise the bonus is postponed to the safe period of 20 years.

But that is not all. The ex-soldier is not paid this borrowed money on Government account, he is only loaned it by the Federal Reserve. He still owes for the money that he is given—owes principal and interest to the Federal Reserve. If the ex-serviceman defaults in his payments, the bank can go to the Government and get the money. The Government does not come to the rescue of the soldier, it comes to the rescue of the bank, and redeems the certificate for the bank, which it would not do for the soldier. It is openly figured that "through borrowings and forfeitures" the soldiers would lose one billion dollars!

In this way—putting off the soldiers for 20 years, and profiting by their emergencies in the interim, burdening the taxpayers to the tune of about four billion dollars, fattening the now ravenous interest system and the private bankers' organization known as the Federal Reserve—this way politicians play timorously and dishonestly with a big question. The proposal is neither generous nor just, but it illustrates once more the collapse of the old methods.

It is reported that Ban Johnson, the baseball magnate, was in Kerrville Thursday of last week. He might have gotten an extended write-up if he had called at The Sun office. We can't chase around after even the great or near-great—our time is too valuable.

Those who advertise in The Sun have the better regular trade. You may try all kinds of substitutes, but the newspaper is the better means of reaching the people than any other that can be devised. This is proven by the millions spent in this country for newspaper advertising by the largest stores and all lines of business. The Sun urges its readers to patronize those who advertise in its columns, and especially to give home people the preference of your trade.

WILL THE DEMOCRATS DO THIS?

Fort Worth Star-Telegram: The unanimous consent agreement for a final vote on the four-power treaty on March 24th, which was reached in the Senate, is equivalent to an admission on the part of the Democrats that it is impossible to have any of the proposed reservations adopted.

What the Democrats must decide now is whether they will support final ratification of the treaty itself.

The vote so far has been practically a partisan vote, the Democrats being joined by only four Republicans, Senators Borah, Johnson, La Follette and France, and only four Democrats, Senators Underwood, Williams of Mississippi, Pomerene and Ransdell, voting with the Republicans. That partisan considerations have been paramount in this lineup there can be not the slightest doubt, and if the treaty is defeated the paramount motive of the defeat will be partisan.

It is to be hoped, therefore, that the Democrats will not go to this final extremity of partisan politics, for such action will do irreparable injury to our prestige among the nations. The four-power treaty is none of the dangerous things which Senators Borah and Johnson have sought to make it appear, just as the League of Nations covenant was none of the dangerous things they pictured it to be. The League of Nations covenant was defeated because of a partisan squabble. If the four-power treaty is to be defeated in the same way, the United States will stand before the world as incapable of entering into any kind of serious agreement on international affairs.

Such a condition of affairs would not reflect the real attitude of the American people. The American people are willing to enter into any kind of an agreement and shoulder any kind of responsibilities calculated to promote the preservation of peace in the world. So far the United States Senate has stood in the way of anything tangible being done in this direction. The sumtotal of the contribution of the United States to international action in the interest of peace has been a lot of high-sounding talk. We have said a great deal and done practically nothing. And such a condition does not reflect the purpose and intention of the American people.

If the Democrats now become guilty of the same kind of tactics by which the Republicans defeated the Treaty of Versailles, it will be a blow to every aspiration of statesmen of this country and of other countries looking toward international organization for peace. For if the richest and most powerful nation in the world will do nothing, what can be hoped for? The United States will stand at the bar of world opinion convicted of being too small of spirit and too provincial to give any assistance to any movement looking toward amity among nations.

In such times as we are now going through the great advantage can be seen and appreciated in having financial combinations with ample capital to meet these emergencies. With the U.S. Schreiner Bank and the Chas. Schreiner Company uniting their capital and credit they are enabled to carry the ranchmen for the great quantity of feed that has been necessary to take care of the stock of this section, which includes several counties. In addition to this extra expense, the regular loan and credit clients have been supplied, the total of which for the two go into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. This kind of aid extended without stint has kept up the general business of this section and furnished the foundation for a condition that is more favorable than in other sections where there are not even the exceptionally drouthy conditions that we have here. These strong financial institutions are to be commended for so loyally standing by the people in such emergencies. Of course, they make a profit, if all turns out well, but theirs is the principal risk.

There will be no ex-soldier bonus in this Congress. It was mainly an electioneering scheme by those Congressmen who must stand for reelection this year. President Harding is opposed to a bonus bill that does not provide a means of bearing the expense of it. Later, the National Treasury may be able to stand the strain, but not now. The President is also more interested in taking care of the sick and disabled, and to this end he is pushing those having that work in charge to redouble their efforts. The able-bodied ex-soldier surely is willing to wait, if he is really a patriot, that his less fortunate brother may be cared for.

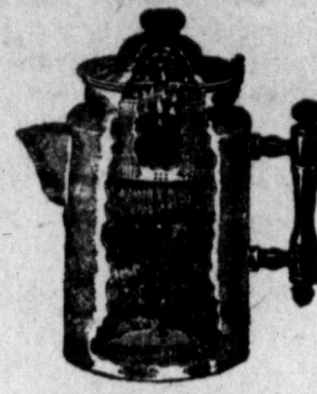

The cow, hen and pig are still showing a profit wherever properly handled. They are mortgage-lifters and leave a surplus for the family. Try either one or all of them.

Mrs. Robt. L. Schmerbeck was hostess to the Women's Society of the Presbyterian Church Thursday afternoon of last week. Mrs. Lee Wallace led a most instructive lesson on Bible study, assisted by a number of the members. The next meeting will be held at the church Thursday afternoon of this week at 3:30 o'clock.

Last Friday evening a large number of ladies from town motored to the American Legion Memorial Sanatorium as guests at a St. Patrick's Party, given for the patients by the American Legion Auxiliary. Streamers of green paper were festooned about the pillars in the Recreation Hall and Shamrocks scattered over the walls made an artistic decoration. Mrs. Ola B. Gammon was in charge of the entertaining and a number of amusing contests were enjoyed. Hats cut from green paper were given as favors. Ice cream was served to the guests by Mrs. Hy. Kuhlmann, assisted by Mrs. Utterback.

R. E. Barnett, who has been here in ill health for the past three years, recently received a letter, containing $20.00 in currency, sent him by the Mina Klan No. 94, Knights of Ku Klux Klan of Bastrop, Texas. Mr. Barnett formerly lived in that section, and doubtless has friends who belong to the Ku Klux Klan there who had heard of his need of some aid, so sent him the $20.00. The Ku Klux Klans in many parts of the country are distributing cash to ministers, who are outspoken in their condemnation of wrong doing, and also give aid to those in need that are deserving.

FAMOUS WRITERS OF HUMOR

Americans Who Made Their Names Celebrated Were Essentially Men of Highest Character.

"Bill Nye," our own Edgar Wilson Nye, leaped into fame while writing humorous sketches for the Laramie Boomerang, of which he was editor. The name of "Bill Nye" was bestowed on him by his office associates. His book, "Baled Hay," was very popular for a time, but, like much humorous writing, its popularity was ephemeral. "Bill Nye" was much loved by all who knew him. He was considered "the greatest American liar."

William T. Adams was the noted "Olive Optic," who wrote more than a thousand stories. He died much mourned by young readers, for whom most of his books were written.

Under the name of Artemus Ward, Charles F. Browne made a worldwide reputation as a lecturer and humorist. He was an inimitable wag; his humor was irresistible and kept all about him in a constant state of merriment. He was the first writer to adopt phonetic spelling. He died in 1889.

"Eli Perkins" was contemporary with "Artemus Ward," and it was Ward who bestowed the nom de plume upon him. Melville D. Landon was essentially a "funny man," but not truly a humorist. He was a gentle, kindly man and one who loved his fellows.

Henry W. Shaw was the "Josh Billings" of humor and homely philosophy. He was kicked into fame by his "Essa on the Muel," which netted him $1.50, his first money earned in literature. He traveled and lectured extensively on "The Probabilities of Life; Perhaps Rain, Perhaps Not." He said: "There's cheats in all things; even pizen is adulterated." He was a delightful man and never did a mean thing in his life, and never had an enemy among good men. "Josh Billings" died of apoplexy in Monterey, Cal.

TEST FOR WRITERS OF PROSE

One Who Can Describe Clearly Proper Way of Tying Knot Is Master of Language.

Ropes more than any other subject are, I think, a test of a man's power of exposition in prose. If you can describe clearly the proper way of making this or that knot, then you are a master of the English tongue. You are not only a master—you are a sign, a portent, a new discoverer, an exception among your fellow men, a unique fellow.

For no one yet in this world surely has attained to lucidity in this most difficult branch of all expression. I find over and over again in the passages of those special books which talk of ropes, such language as, "This is a very useful knot and is made as follows: a bight is taken in the standing part and is then rub over right-handedly, that is with the sun, then under the running part, and so through both times and hauled tight by the two ends."

But if any man should seek to save his life on a dark night in a sudden gust of wind by this description he would lose it. He would drown.

Take the simplest of them. Take the clove hitch. Write a sentence in English which will explain (without a picture) how to cast a clove hitch. I do not think you will succeed.—H. Belloc in the New Statesman.

A Note by Wordsworth.

Treasures are never exhausted; only, sometimes, there is a painful dearth of treasure seekers.

Not long ago a book buyer, rummaging in a second hand store at Oxford, unearthed a copy of Coleridge's Biographia Literaria, which he bought for $4.31. A little later, examining his purchase at his hotel, he found on a blank page some notes initialed "W." Reference to the Bodleian library revealed that the notes were by Wordsworth. He sold the book back to the dealer the same day for £12 ($60)—which to the true book lover will be the only painful part of the story.

A curious illustration of the enhanced value that an autograph gives a book is to be found in a volume that turned up at Dobell's, London, not long since. It cost Thomas Gray is 9d (34 cents) which the poet no doubt thought dear enough. He wrote his name in it, however, and now it fetches £4.10 ($22.50).—From the Living Age.

He Was Stumped.

Back in an inland town in Illinois in the early days there was a justice of the peace who was very nearsighted. One super day he made out some subpoenas to be served on witnesses, and dozed off. A fly lit in his inkwell, extracted itself after some difficulty, and crawled onto one of the subpoenas.

The constable, who was something of a practical joker, picked up the paper, and pointing to the fly tracks, said: "Judge, what is that name?"

The judge held the paper close to his eyes and squinted at it for a few minutes. Then scratching his head in perplexity, he answered: "Looks like my handwriting, all right, but darned if I can make out the name."—Wall Street Journal.

The Lure of Office.

"Senator Shortworthly says the greatest hardship of public life is the fact that it keeps him away from his home town and his old friends." "Maybe so, but I notice when election time draws near the senator acts like a man who would be glad to make the separation permanent."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

REFUSE TO ACCEPT "SMITH"

Members of That Family Have Hard Work Convincing Strangers That the Name Is Real.

"It isn't the fact that Smith is such a common name that I dislike it," said Miss Smith, according to a New York Sun writer, "but the fact that every one who wants to give a fictitious name just says she's Miss Smith. Every time I have to introduce myself somebody sort of sneers about it and supposes my name is Gugenheimer or Cafferey or something else. Take my sister and myself, for instance. We often go out together to the rink or down in the village for supper."

"There's always some nice boys around who want to dance with us or skate around a couple of times. Of course, you don't need any official introduction these days, and the boys know it. So they come over and in a little while they're telling us where they work and their telephone number and how we look like their sisters, and all that. It's all right, too, because you get used to that way of getting acquainted, and it's much better than some funny guys, who try to hand you a line that they're in the movies or doing fiction writing."

"Well, anyway, pretty soon, if they like us, they say, 'You're a pretty nifty little dancer. I'd like to see you again. You know all about me, so tell me your name, will you?' Then when I say Miss Smith, they say: 'Come on, quit your kidding. That doesn't mean anything to me. Tell me your real name.'"

"When I insist my name is Smith, they say, 'What's the matter? You're married or something.'"

"So we don't tell our real names any more. We say we're Miss Cooper or Stuyvesant or something else, and since we don't look like sisters we each have to use different names to be believed. Funny, isn't it?"

BELIEF HAS A FOUNDATION

Idea That Seventh Child of a Seventh Child Is "Gifted" Not Altogether a Fallacy.

The seventh child of a seventh child (sometimes "the seventh son of a seventh son") is supposed to be gifted with the power of curing headaches and more serious ailments by the laying on of hands, and to have other magical powers. In other words, he is supposed to have a "gift."

Among the later discoveries in eugenics was that the younger children of very intelligent men inherited more of their father's intelligence than did the older children; or, as sometimes happened, that the children of a younger son were supremely gifted with intelligence. The reason for this—according to eugenic theories—is that talented men or women, like many others, usually marry when fairly young if they marry at all. The older children of such a talented man have therefore the tendency to inherit only what mental qualities he may have developed at that time.

But supposing that the talented man, as is usually the case, continues to develop amazing mental qualities, then if he has children when his brain is completely mature, those children will probably inherit their father's matured mentality; or, if they do not inherit it, their children (the clever man's grandchildren) receive the inheritance.

Writers Got Money in Advance.

The Seventeenth or Eighteenth century author traded rather more on the trustfulness of the public than does the new school, for he peddled his book before it was written and sometimes spent the proceeds before he had completed half a dozen chapters. The only difference is that his peddling was particular rather than general; he went round the houses of the great and wealthy with his "plan," and the great and wealthy, generally in sufficient numbers, got rid of him by agreeing to have their names put down for a subscription. If they were very great or very wealthy they might expect a dedication thrown in, as it were, in which respect the modern peddler has no advantage, for no obligation is implied in the purchase of a copy of the book.—Manchester Guardian.

Known by Their Hats.

All the various tribes of Persia are to be distinguished and recognized by their headgear. So, at the capital, Teheran, there is to be seen a greater assortment of hats and headgear than in any other place in the world. Some are picturesque, some are ludicrous. The Kurds, of which there are 600,000 in the country, wear a hat which looks like an inverted coffee pot, black, bound round with gay-colored handkerchiefs. That of another tribe is of white felt, resembling in shape a preserving kettle. Hats are exclusively the privilege of men. Women do not wear headcovering.

"Playful" Indeed!

In his book, "Flashlights From the Seven Seas," the Rev. William L. Stidger, of Detroit, says the Battaks of Sumatra have what he refers to facetiously as a "playful" custom of getting rid of their old man. When a man gets so old that they think it is about time for him to tell his last tale, they put him up a coconut tree. Then all the young bucks of the village get together and try to shake him down. If he is too feeble to hold on, and comes down, that is a sign of Heaven that his days are through, and they proceed to cook and eat him.

Any one of her seven sons would be glad to have her make her home with them, but she prefers the old home place.

Some advertisers pretend to believe that people do not read advertisements, but let there be an error of some kind, and especially if the price given is lower than that the advertiser intended should be given, then you have no trouble finding out that the people do read them. In the advertisement of J. R. Burnett last week he quoted rubber hose at $5.50, but the twist of the type got the price at $3.50, so of course everybody wanted hose at that low figure. We regret the error, but they will happen. The hose is a bargain at $5.50.

Another one of our aged and highly esteemed citizens passed to the Great Beyond last Friday in the person of Mrs. Winnie Hall. She was in her 98th year, having been born in Mississippi in 1830. She came to Texas in an early day with her husband, settling at Lockhart. She has been a resident of this place for several years. She was an aunt of our fellow citizen, H. C. Barfield. The funeral was held at the home here, conducted by her pastor, Rev. W. L. Skinner. The remains were shipped to Gonzales for burial.

Edwards County Echoes

Leader, March 10: Some of the men, who are coming from Mexico, Texas, to build the nine miles of good road just south of town, arrived Wednesday, and probably all of the 22 teams and men and road machinery will arrive before we go to press. We have not learned as to where they will begin the work.

J. R. Tippitt has sold his ranch, about 30 miles south of Rocksprings in this county. He was in town Wednesday in connection with the deal. It is an improved five-section place, and he sold to G. W. Mayberry of Del Rio, and Mr. Mayberry is now in possession. The consideration was $750 an acre. Ed. Adams, who has been living on this ranch for the past two or three years, is on the lookout for another location.

Mrs. J. S. Brown, who lives on the Brown ranch, about fifteen miles west of Rocksprings, happened to a serious accident last Thursday evening at about dark. She was in the cowpen milking when another cow ran at the one she was milking, and she was run over. When the doctor arrived from town it was found that the bones in her hip were fractured. She is reported as suffering intense pain from it. Mrs. Brown is a woman considerably up in years. At the last reports she was somewhat better.

After a lingering illness, if illness it was rather than a natural decline from old age, R. A. Winn ("Uncle Rufe"), known and honored by everybody in this part of the country, breathed his last Friday about noon. He is reported to have died as easily as would anyone in falling asleep—and that is really what he did—he is not dead but sleeping and resting from his labors until the Resurrection Morn. Mr. Winn was one of Edwards County's first settlers. He drilled the first well that was ever put down on the Rocksprings divide, on the Webb ranch. Another from our fast thinning ranks of pioneers has gone from us.

One of the Junction banks is using its advertising space in The Eagle in trying to induce the Kimble County ranchmen to plant more feed crops on their ranches. This is certainly commendable, and as bankers have a great deal of influence these latter days there should be good results from it. The Junction bank tells them that thousands of dollars are going out of Kimble County for feed—money that should be and could be kept at home, if the ranchmen were going the farming limit on their ranches. There should be barns on every ranch in West Texas, and during the wet seasons these barns should be filled against the time when we are up against a season of drought as we are right now.

The ranchmen of West Texas probably never before faced as many and varied varieties of trouble as they have been called upon to face this winter. We entered the winter season with the money stringency on and it is still on, with the ranchmen in a bad way financially, and they are having to buy feed on top of their other expenses. The drought continues—it has not rained since September, and not very much then. Then there was the first of March blizzard to freeze a more or less number of fresh sheared goats out of practically every herd. It's a good thing the West Texas ranchmen are inured to about every difficulty in the catalogue. There is one probable offset to the list of adverse conditions—the strong market for wool and mohair and sheep and goats. If it would only rain our ranchmen would quickly forget they ever had any troubles.

E. N. Lovelady, who has been working under Commissioner Babb for some time on the Sonora road not far from town, was the victim of a very painful accident last Thursday morning about 11 o'clock. He and some of the other men were blasting rock along the road. Mr. Lovelady went to a place where a blast had gone off, carrying with him a sack having in it about half a gallon of blasting powder. He laid the sack down, then he noticed a little fire in the sack. When he reached over to put it out with his finger there was instantly a big explosion, which caught Mr. Lovelady fairly in the face and inflicted severe burns all over his face and head and the upper part of his body. His glasses probably are all that saved his eyes. His clothes were set on fire, and if some of the other men had not been near there might have been a still worse story to report. As it is, a good man can't be kept down, and Mr. Lovelady is out on the streets this week.

CHRISTMAS TREES WILL LAST

Little Danger That in Years to Come the Children Will Be Deprived of Joy.

Don't join any gloom group that may be trying to form a society for the prevention of cruelty to Christmas trees, advises a writer in the Kansas City Star.

The forests are there to be used, and if, as we utilize the trees, we make it possible by replanting for our children and our children's children to have trees, there is no reason for not having Christmas trees as well as all the lumber we need.

That is the way the scientific forester, the man who grows trees like the farmer grows wheat, looks at this matter of Christmas trees.

While there is still some regrettable ruthless cutting of spruce and fir for the Christmas tree market in northern states, many Christmas trees are now a by-product of the forests. There are small trees in every properly managed woodlot that must be sacrificed so that the others may have room to grow. These make fine Christmas trees.

Christmas trees are also being raised in nurseries. Baby spruce and fir trees are planted by man so that the babies and children of man can have Christmas trees in their nurseries. And a Christmas tree is usually between the ages of five and ten years, just about the age of the child who enjoys Christmas most. In the future years, it is expected that nearly all of our Christmas trees will be raised by nurserymen from the forests.

DON'T SWALLOW THEIR YOUNG

Popular Idea Concerning Snakes Is Not Borne Out by the Observations of Scientists.

Snakes don't swallow their young. The ventral scales on a female snake are controlled by a muscle just behind the head. Ordinarily they are horizontal, but when the mother snake scents danger she contracts the muscle on the back of her neck, which immediately brings the scales to a vertical position. This opens a slit under the bottom jaw, and at the same time loosens the abdominal skin, thus forming a pouch. The younger ones dart through the slit and into the pouch, and this is what has led people to think they take refuge in the mother snake's stomach.

It requires careful and skilled dissection to detect the pouch, because the skin shrinks when a snake is killed. When the poison gland is removed it tightens the skin under the neck, and the youngsters can't get into the pouch. In the female snake, between the pharynx and the gullet, there is a peculiar, lid-like valve, and anything passing this valve can't possibly return.

Cat Took Nap in Limousine.

The cat that looked at a king was only slightly more ambitious than a Hyde Park tabby that took possession of a limousine standing by the curb, remarks the Chicago Post. The cat, a bedraggled stray, was pussyfooting through the rain of one of the recent cold days, evidently in search of a comfortable place for a nap. It passed by doorways and flutters as not up to its aristocratic demands, then spied the limousine standing at the curb and promptly decided to move in.

Unfortunately for the cat, the doors of the car were closed. Tabby found this out after a thorough inspection that started at the left side running board, included the top and then the right side running board. Finally the cat tried the front, but the windshield was closed, too. Then tabby picked out a spot on the hood that still retained some heat from the engine, curled up and went to sleep.

Tabby held possession until the owner appeared.

Weeds.

What hidden virtue is in these things that it is granted them to sow themselves with the wind, and to grapple the earth with this immitigable stubbornness, and to flourish in spite of obstacles, and never to suffer blight beneath any sun or shade, but always to mock their enemies with the same wicked luxuriance? It is truly a mystery and also a symbol. There is a sort of sacredness about them. Perhaps, if we could penetrate nature's secrets, we should find what we call weeds are more essential to the well being of the world than the most precious fruit or grain. This may be doubted, however, for there is an unmistakable analogy between these wicked weeds and the bad habits and sinful propensities which have overrun the moral world; and we may as well imagine that there is good in one as in the other.—Hawthorne.

Domestic Stuff.

"Oh, goodness gracious mercy, I'm most distracted! I've looked for it everywhere and I simply can't find it! wailed Mrs. Worrylotte.

"Why don'tcha look where you're sure yuh didn't put it?" inquired Worrylotte, who knew his woman.

An iceberg with the portion above water 200 feet long by 50 or 60 feet wide, was found near Honolulu, drifting westward in tropical waters of the north equatorial current. It is believed that the ice mass originated in the Bering Sea, was caught in the north Pacific current after rounding the Aleutian Islands and, passing rapidly south, continued on across the Tropic of Cancer and turned west in the north equatorial current.
