BID IS MADE FOR M. E. ENCAMPMENT

KERRVILLE HAS GOOD CHANCE TO LAND THIS IMPORTANT
PROPOSITION.

FAIR GROUNDS SITE OFFERED

Directors of Chamber of Commerce
Unanimously Adopt Resolution
Favoring Project.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce last Thursday afternoon, at which Rev. F. A. White and Judge H. C. Geddie of the local Methodist Church were present, the proposition of making a strong bid for the location of the permanent encampment of the Methodist West Texas Conference Assembly was taken up.

After a thorough discussion a resolution was unanimously passed, pledging the Board of Directors as being heartily in favor of the project and promising to do all possible to carry out the following proposition:

Old Fair Grounds property, including buildings and 26 acres of land, $15,000.00; A. C. Schreiner and L. A. Schreiner to subscribe $7,500.00, town to subscribe $7,500.00. Option on Rees field, including dwelling, all north of road, including part of river front, about 75 acres, at $100.00 per acre for all or part, 60 days' option. Deed to 150 feet through Tourist Park to give opening to river opposite site.

To represent the Chamber of Commerce in the matter, the following committee was appointed: Rev. F. A. White, chairman; A. E. Self and D. H. Comparette.

The consensus of opinion was that Kerrville has a good chance to land the Encampment and it was felt that should the Methodists accept the Fair Grounds as a site the $7,500.00 necessary to secure same could be raised, although it was realized that it would be a big undertaking at this time. However, the proposed Encampment is a big project and the benefits to be secured from same are generally understood by the citizens.

A standing Fish Hatchery Committee was also appointed as follows, to look after that matter and report at the next membership meeting: C. E. Salter, chairman; Howard Butt, Ben Smith, J. L. Pampell and M. E. Bogle.

The date of the September membership meeting was set for Tuesday, the 18th, at Lake Side Park, and special efforts will be made for a large attendance of members, especially the farmers and ranchmen of this section.

CITY'S PUBLIC SCHOOLS TO REOPEN MONDAY MORNING

Prospects are Bright for One of Best
Years in Their History—Expect Greater Enrollment.

The Kerrville Public Schools will open for the 1923-24 term next Monday morning with the opening exercises in the Tivy High School auditorium at 9 o'clock. This program will be followed by the registration of pupils.

The prospects for the coming term are very bright, according to officials of the school. The population has been somewhat increased by the addition of numerous families who have moved to Kerrville to make their homes during the past summer. Consequently the school authorities expect the opening enrollment to exceed by a goodly number the initial registration of previous terms.

In view of this fact a number of improvements are being made in the buildings at Tivy High School. Several new classrooms are being added by the alteration of the interior of the buildings and these new rooms will add much to the capacity of the schools.

Among the most valuable improvements is the corridor connecting the second floors of the old and new buildings. A stairway is also being built from this platform to the ground between the buildings. This one addition alone will mean an inestimable saving of time to faculty and classes in passing from one building to the other and eliminates a great deal of the disturbance to other classes in their movement.

Judging by the steady increase of the enrollment for the past few years, it seems possible that before many more terms have gone by the present buildings and facilities will be outgrown by the ever increasing number of students.

The following program will be rendered at the opening exercises Monday morning:

Song, "America"; Invocation; "Co-operation," T. C. Johnston, president of the School Board; "Why You Should Belong to the Parent-Teachers' Club," Mrs. Bobb. Knox; recital solo, Miss Harriet Garrett; "The Public School and Democracy," J. E. Grinstead; "The Advantages of a Public School," Dr. W. P. Dickey; announcements, Supt. R. A. Franklin.

R. A. Franklin is superintendent of the schools for the coming term, and the faculty of the different departments is as follows:
High School: Guy C. Moses, principal; Miss Harriet Garrett, history; Miss Mabel Thorburn, English; Miss Nellie Horne, mathematics; Miss Anabel Collins, home economics, and Mrs. Lucile McCreary, Spanish.
Grammar Department, fourth, fifth and sixth grades: Miss Mary Holdsworth, English and reading; Mrs. J. D. Rose, geography; Mrs. R. A. Shelburne, arithmetic, and Miss Ruby Sutton, history and physiology.

Primary Department, first, second and third grades: Mrs. C. W. Moecks, high third; Miss Bessie Biehler, high second and low third; Miss Mary Swayze, high first and low second, and Miss Lynn Burnett, first grade.

SAN ANTONIO LIGHT CARAVAN TO VISIT KERRVILLE NEXT SUNDAY

Tour Will Be An All-Day Affair and 100 to 200 Cars Are Expected to Make Trip.

For some weeks past, the San Antonio Light, in conjunction with a local automobile dealer of that city, have formed a caravan of automobile owners and visited points of interest in the trade territory of the Alamo City each Sunday.

Kerrville and The Hill Country have been selected as the destination of next Sunday's trip and Leonard P. Scott, automobile editor of The Light, states that it will probably be an all-day tour, the caravan reaching Kerrville for dinner.

Tentative arrangements are for a committee from the local Chamber of Commerce to meet the caravan below the city and, after showing them the Legion Hospital, Schreiner Institute, Presbyterian Encampment and City Park, they will be escorted to the Fair Grounds for dinner. Coffee will be served to go with the visitors' lunches.

In addition to the publicity which Kerrville and The Hill Country will receive from the members of the caravan, Mr. Scott states that next Sunday's Light will carry a page of Kerrville views, together with a description of the many attractions of this section.

DELEGATE TO REPORT AT LEGION MEETING TONIGHT AT LAKE SIDE

Many Important Matters To Come Before
Organization—Auxiliary To Meet Also.

This evening at Lake Side Park the American Legion will hold one of the most important meetings of the year, for at this time Cecil Robinson, delegate to the State Legion Convention at Galveston, will make his report.

Mr. Robinson reports a very enthusiastic State Convention and that Kerrville is on the map in Legion circles over the State. Also the Legion Hospital at this place came in for a goodly share of praise from the State Legion officials and the delegates in attendance. He also reports that Garrett-Baker Post received some very favorable concessions from the State Convention, which will be explained fully at the meeting tonight.

In addition to the report from the State Convention, there are several local matters of importance to be taken up tonight.

The Auxiliary to the American Legion will also meet at Lake Side tonight, at which time their delegates to the State Convention will also report. Both Kerrville delegates were honored by the State Auxiliary, Mrs. Kuhlmann, being elected State Hospital Chairman and Mrs. Doyle one of the State Vice Presidents.

After the business sessions of the two organizations are over, the ladies will join the Legion members in refreshments and a social time. All former service men, whether members of the Legion or not, and all ladies entitled to membership in the Auxiliary are cordially invited to attend. Meetings begin at 8 o'clock.

FOOTBALL TRAINING CAMP TO OPEN MONDAY AT INSTITUTE

Coach Oehler Expects More Than 30
Candidates to Report.

The 1923 football season will be inaugurated here next Monday morning when Schreiner Institute opens its first grid training camp on the campus of the new school.

Coach Oehler states that the prospects are bright for a fast squad at the Institute the opening year. More than 30 candidates are expected to report Monday morning and it is thought that workouts will begin probably Tuesday.

The grid men will be taken care of at the new dormitory of the Institute and meals will be served at the Encampment dining hall until the school is opened.

A schedule is being arranged to include games with the strongest academic and high school teams of the State and will probably be announced within a short time.

SEEING TEXAS FIRST; THE HILL COUNTRY

BEAUTIFUL SCENERY, CLEAR

SWEET AIR.

MECCA FOR HUNTERS

Some Seek Big Game and Others
Health—Battle With Tuberculosis
Making Progress.

Credit for the excellent writup of Kerrville and The Hill Country, which was published in the Dallas Morning News, Sunday, August 26th, is due Tom Finty Jr., editor of the Dallas Evening Journal and member of the Executive Staff of the News. Mr. Finty visited in Kerrville the latter part of July, at which time he gathered data for the following:

Those persons who have heeded the advice to "see America first" and later have traveled abroad had cause to feel proud of the fact that they had seen the wonders of their own country. Abroad they have fumed to hear fellow-Americans tamely admit, "No, we have nothing like that in America," but they have exulted in their own preparedness truthfully to say, "No, we have nothing exactly like that in America—but, you know, we have our Niagara, our Grand Canyon," etc., and then they have glowed with pride to hear the challenger, who has been somewhere himself, say, "I compliment you, madame; you know your own country."

Today, more than ever before, Texans are seeing Texas first, and finding that the Lone Star State contains things that are worth while. For thirty-six years I have been industriously on the job of seeing Texas first. In that time I have traveled the Big State intensively, but until July of the present year three or four small stretches of territory and as many sizable towns within its borders remained as "pleasures yet in store." Among these were Kerrville and its surrounding country. And, strangely, Kerrville was the first town in Texas of which I had specific information. As a child, I heard that Kerrville was in a land of "sweet air," and I then determined to visit it. If the contrasts between natural airs had been as great as that between natural waters, probably the Spaniards would have named some place in that region Sweet Air, or its Spanish equivalent, for they did not fail to do the Western map with "Agua Dulce" (Sweetwater).

The Hill Country
In 1899, long after I had landed in Texas, Jesse E. Grinstead began publishing the Mountain Sun in Kerrville, consolidating it with the Old Frontier. The title, The Mountain Sun, and certain of the contents of that newspaper, increased my desire to see the country of "towering peaks," "beetling cliffs" and "castled rocks," as I then imagined it to be. Also about that time I met Capt. Charles Schreiner, pioneer captain of industry of all the surrounding country, and founder of the great goat-raising business of that section, and I believe that his home was bound to be worth while. But I procrastinated and in 1907 the enactment of the anti-free pass laws set up impediments to travel.

Two years ago Grinstead, having sold The Mountain Sun, launched his magazine, Grinstead's Graphic, and I became a subscriber. He soon destroyed my dream of "towering peaks," but he wrote so enticingly of "The Hill Country" as a land of scenic beauty and romance that in July of this year I executed my long cherished plan to visit that country. Thus it will be seen, if my visit to Kerrville and "The Hill Country" was of any value to them, that it pays to advertise, when the advertised thing possesses merit.

Truth in Advertising
I found Kerrville and "The Hill Country" up to my expectations and the specifications. But there are two differences to the good:

1. There is more farming land in that country than I had believed, and
2. The hills are not bare as I thought they were. Upon the contrary, they are verdure clad—with cedars and live oaks that remain green the year around. And the valleys are heavily wooded—with cypress and pecan, a growth promoted by the clear water streams. Persons who have traveled extensively tell me that the Guadalupe Valley reminds them of the Rhine Country; the Pedernales Valley of Italy and the Medina Valley of Greece, and many have termed "The Hill Country," "The Switzerland of America."

There is yet another difference. I had been led to believe that goat-raising was almost the sole industry of this country. It is the leading industry, but by no means the entire thing. There is the farming in the valleys, already alluded to. And this country

Sea in Southwest Texas
Last Sunday's San Antonio Express carried the above heading over a half tone cut of the curve in the Kerrville-Junction Highway just this side of Fessenden Branch. The cut was made from a photo taken by Percy Tyrrell of San Antonio, who has been lavish in his boasts of the beautiful scenes to be found in The Hill Country. Below the cut was the following:
"Five hours auto driving from San Antonio will lift the tourist half a mile above sea level if he selects the road from Kerrville to Junction. The picture shows a curve in the road which has an altitude of 2,500 feet."

SCHREINER INSTITUTE SECURES ADDITIONAL DEPARTMENT HEAD

Prof. J. C. Patterson to Be in Charge of History and Assistant in Military Department.

Due to the heavy opening enrollment of Schreiner Institute an additional instructor had to be secured and announcement has been made of the selection of Prof. J. C. Patterson of Uvalde to fill the position.

Mr. Patterson comes highly recommended and will head the History Department at the Institute. He has been an instructor for the past two years in the Uvalde High Schools, teaching history and Latin there. Mr. Patterson will also be assistant in the military department and will be in charge of the new barracks being erected to accommodate the overflow enrollment.

The new instructor is a native of Uvalde and a graduate of the University of Texas in 1920. He was in the army during the late World War and saw a year's active service in France as captain in the 359th Infantry, 90th Division. He had received his commission as a lieutenant at the Leon Springs Training Camp and was promoted after going overseas.

Returning home after the war closed he reentered Texas University and received his degree in 1920. He then went to Uvalde and taught in the high school until accepting the work at Schreiner Institute.

Prof. Patterson is expected to arrive about Sept. 15th to take up his duties at the Institute.

Workmen began the erection of the new temporary barracks on the grounds Monday morning and hope to have same completed within a short time. The building is 22x118 feet and will accommodate about 30 students.

KELLY FIELD BAND LEAVES AFTER TEN-DAY VACATION IN KERRVILLE

Made Many Warm Friends While on Vacation in City—A Fine Musical Organization.

Band Master Witt and the thirty men making up the personnel of the Kelly Field Band left Tuesday morning to resume their duties at the Kelly Field near San Antonio, after spending ten days in the Hill Country as the guests of the Kerrville Chamber of Commerce.

The boys all left Kerrville loud in their praises of the city and her citizens, and assuring the Chamber of Commerce if the city ever needed a band again, the Kelly Field Band would be glad to come if possible to get away from their duties at the flying field.

And the admiration is not one sided by any means, for the citizens of Kerrville are indeed grateful for the visit of this fine musical organization and the many courtesies extended while here, as well as for the clean, manly conduct of the individual members of the band while on and off duty. Many of the concerts given by the band while here were entirely unsolicited by the citizens and were given voluntarily by the band.

The majority of the members are young men and they all are warm admirers of their band leader, Mr. Witt, who apparently has the rare knack of being a born leader of men. Consequently they all strive to do what he wants done, and during the entire visit of the organization in Kerrville there was no show of authority on his part in directing his organization.

The entertainment of the band while here cost the business men of the city something around $400 for the ten days' playing, and that this money was well spent is evidenced by the activities of the band while they were here. If the committee of the High-

KERRVILLE, TEXAS

KERRVILLE ROUTE RICH IN SCENERY; AN EXPRESS MOTORLOGUE TRIP

Automobile Trip From Kerrville
Through Medina City and Bandera
Is Attractive.

In the automobile section of last Sunday's San Antonio Express, the above heading was run over a paneled layout of seven views and an account of the trip made by the Express motorlogue car. The views were as follows: "Main Building, Schreiner Institute, Kerrville"; "Concrete Bridge Across Medina River, Pierce-Arrow Car on Bridge"; "Looking Up Medina River from Concrete Bridge Shown in Previous Picture"; "Scene on Westminster Campus at Kerrville, Pierce-Arrow Car in Foreground"; "J. J. Delaney, President of Schreiner Institute and Manager Westminster Presbyterian Encampment, Standing Beside Pierce-Arrow Car"; "Picturesque scene on Guadalupe, Near Comfort, Where Express Party Cooked Breakfast"; "Fine View on Road From Kerrville to Medina City."

The writup of the trip, as it pertained to this section, follows:

It seemed as if every third or fourth car met on the road to Kerrville and return by the Express motorlogue car last Sunday was filled either with family parties intent on a Sunday outing, motorists on camping trips or fishing parties out to try their luck at their favorite fishing place along any of the innumerable streams that are found in the Kerrville country.

Happy, care-free expressions, well-filled lunch baskets, fishing tackle, camping equipment, etc., all betokened outing parties intent on spending a day in the open country, amid the beautiful hills and innumerable camping spots that abound throughout the country north and west of San Antonio.

The Express party, also on pleasure bent, carried along well-filled lunch baskets, a camp stove and everything necessary to make the day's enjoyment complete. In order to live the life of a camper, the big, comfortable and luxurious Pierce-Arrow car used for the trip, was turned off the main road, at a comfortable looking spot along the Guadalupe River, a short distance before Comfort was reached, where breakfast was cooked, and where an ideal camping spot was found.

Continuing on the trip, Kerrville was reached somewhat later and the party visited Westminster Presbyterian Encampment as well as the new buildings of Schreiner Institute, which opens its doors in September.

This new preparatory school, made possible by Capt. Charles Schreiner, is housed in modern, well-equipped school buildings that would be a credit to any of the older seats of learning in other sections of the country. Located as it is in the beautiful Kerrville country, surrounded by the health-giving atmosphere that has done so much for visitors to that section, with a fine view of the surrounding country, it is bound to be a success from the start.

J. J. Delaney, president of the Institute, courteously showed the Express party over the grounds and buildings and made their visit there one to be remembered.

Primarily the object of the day's outing was to drive from Kerrville to San Antonio via Medina City and Bandera. On a previous Sunday, in outlining Percy Tyrrell's favorite trip, which was to Kerrville and Junction and return via Medina City and Bandera, a log was published of the main highway as far west as Junction. As Mr. Tyrrell spoke of the beautiful scenery along the road from Kerrville to Medina City and Bandera, and how little known it is to a large number of San Antonians, the Express motorlogue car returned over that route, not only for the purpose of logging the road, but to see for themselves the many beautiful spots along the clear waters of the Medina River, admire the wonderful vistas that unfold before the eye as the car ascends to the top of a high hill, where the country for miles around can be seen and where, in the soft haze of a day late in August, Nature seems to have done her best.

This is indeed a beautiful trip, although along portions of the route, where the road winds down a narrow canyon in descending Medina Mountain, before Medina City is reached, with a steep embankment on one side descending down in some instances 100 feet, calls for slow and careful driving.

Here and there up on the hillside a log cabin will be perched, flocks of goats are frequently seen (this is a goat-raising country), while from a scenic standpoint, there is not a drive within a day's journey of San Antonio to exceed it. For miles the road winds along the picturesque Medina River, offering alluring spots for the camper and to the fisherman.

Here one can commune with Nature in its primitive state and oh, what a setting for an artist's brush. Many beautiful spots in other sections of the country have been made famous by being reproduced on canvas under the magic spell of one gifted with the art of picturing Nature with the brush and colors, but here is an opportunity that seems to have been neglected—a chance for some unknown artist to rise to fame by placing on canvas the beauties Nature has lavished throughout this entire section.

LOCAL RED CROSS CHAPTER ASKED TO RAISE JAPANESE RELIEF FUND

Quota of $300 Allotted to Kerr County
Organization—Money to Be Sent as Soon as Possible.

Jno. H. Ward, chairman of the Kerr County Chapter, American Red Cross, received the following telegram Wednesday from the St. Louis office of that organization:

"President Coolidge has today charged the Red Cross with the responsibility of raising $5,000,000 Japanese relief fund. Your Chapter executive committee should meet immediately to organize campaign for raising your quota of $300. It is important to remit amounts collected each day so the money can be cabled to Japan as raised. Disaster is of such magnitude and suffering is so intense that no time can be lost. American people will answer humanity's call. (Signed) Wm. M. Baxter, Jr."

Immediately on receipt of the telegram steps were taken and the campaign to raise Kerr County's quota of $300 is now under way. It is thought that the amount will be raised within a short time.

THE WEEK IN SOCIETY

Surprise Shower

Rev. and Mrs. W. T. C. Briggs were the recipients of a most enjoyable surprise Wednesday evening of last week, when members of the Baptist Church and friends gave a shower in their honor.

The affair occurred in the basement of the church immediately following the prayer meeting services. The gifts had been secreted in the building by the surprisers and after Rev. J. A. Heath of Austin had concluded the program F. E. Garrett, Sunday School superintendent, made the presentation.

A large number took part in the entertainment and Rev. and Mrs. Briggs received many worth while articles for their household.

Mrs. G. F. Schreiner Gives Dance

Mrs. Gus F. Schreiner complimented Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harrison with a dance at her home last Thursday evening.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harrison, the honorees; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Schreiner, Mrs. Irvin, Dr. and Mrs. S. E. Thompson, Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Schreiner, Mrs. A. C. Schreiner Jr., Mrs. Warren Colvert, Mrs. Pearl Grates, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Weston, Mr. and Mrs. Ally Beitel, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Prescott, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Baker, Mrs. Amy Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Hinds, Dr. R. L. Cook, Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Schreiner, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schreiner of San Antonio, Hal Peterson and Rex Redwine.

TALENTED VICTORIA ARTIST NOW LIVING IN KERRVILLE

The Victoria Advocate of August 19th contained the following regarding Miss Dollie E. Spidle, who is sojourning in Kerrville for the purpose of spending several months sketching and painting some of the beautiful scenery along the Guadalupe:

"Miss Dollie E. Spidle, the talented young understudy to Victoria's noted artist, J. F. McCann, leaves today for Kerrville, where she will spend some time sketching and studying nature preparatory to filling some winter commissions.

"Through her excellent work and pleasant manners, Miss Spidle has become very popular among the lovers of art in Victoria and her fame as a portrayeur of the woods along the lower Guadalupe River has traveled throughout the country—to Colorado, to the Middle West, to New York, in fact, to wherever South Texans live and still cherish in their memory the beauties of the Guadalupe.

"Miss Spidle's pronounced capacity for truthfulness, both in form and color, of the locality in which she paints is one of the most delightful and endearing qualities of her work. Her studies of individual trees, such as the live oak, sycamore and pecan, show that she is not only a careful student of nature in its various moods and seasons but that she has an un-failing knowledge and a fine handling of the technicalities of her art. Pictures of live oaks and blue bonnets in combination, which Miss Spidle does beautifully, have been exceedingly popular and the demand for these studies for wedding gifts kept the young artist quite occupied at her easel during the early summer months.

"Victoria is justly proud of Miss Spidle, and while her many friends rejoice that she is going to see the beauty of the country around Kerrville, still they hope the mountains and brilliant fall colorings will not keep her away too long."

Gasoline bootleggers are operating on the outskirts of Los Angeles, Calif. The bootlegger buys casing head gasoline at the oil fields close by for nine and ten cents a gallon. It is then either blended with benzine or kerosene or sold straight. The result is a wild and dangerous fuel, causing the motor to back-fire and overheat.

SEEING TEXAS FIRST; THE HILL COUNTRY

goes it strong in sheep growing. The word "strong" is purposely employed, for a reason hereinafter to be indicated. The raising of fine cattle also holds an important place.

The word "goat" has been extensively and derisively employed in American conversation for some years past, the implication being that the goat is a very inferior and obnoxious animal, and also that it is very much imposed upon.

Aristocrat of the Hills

Well, the goat of "The Hill Country" does not answer that description at all. He is a proud beast of royal blood, of Angora birth or ancestry. He carries his head high, and his coat of glistening white mohair is as clean as the driven snow. He is the gentleman, the aristocrat of the hills, presenting a sharp contrast with the sheep. The sheep wears a very dirty coat.

"Been dipped?" a visitor asks. "No," it is explained, "a sheep exudes a grease, lanolin, and it mops up the dust."

Goat, sheep and cattle raising and farming are the leading industries of "The Hill Country." But Kerrville and the other towns in that country also annually harvest a considerable "tourist crop," the size of which is growing year by year.

There are no towering peaks in this country, but with its elevation of 1,800 to 2,000 feet, it has its beetling cliffs and its castellated rocks, often with a wealth of coloring, in the hills that skirt the rivers, and its climate, its "sweet air," exhilarating, "peppering." The clear streams are a joy to swimmers and anglers and picnickers. It is a country of big game, and in season many men come from great distances to hunt. It is a great country for motoring. A number of good roads radiate from Kerrville, and tourists drive to Boerne, San Antonio, Fredericksburg, the head waters of the Medina and to Junction City. A drive of 100 to 200 miles in a day is very common.

Civic Attractiveness

Junction City is at the confluence of the North and South Forks of the Llano River. It is a mecca for men with rod and gun. Nearby it are the famous "Seven Hundred Springs," the roar of which can be heard miles away. And it is worth while to visit Junction City just to see its "example of civic attractiveness"—the beautiful court house lawn. This court house yard was well planned and it is well kept. The sward is like a fine carpet, rich green, embellished with brilliant flowers. It is surrounded by a privet hedge, well trimmed.

And in this court house yard the people of Kimble County have done something that the people of Dallas have yet to do—they have memorialized the soldier dead of that County.

At one side of the yard stands a fine granite shaft, erected to the memory of Bart M. Fleming, a Kimble County lad, who made the supreme sacrifice in the Argonne in October of 1918, only a few days after he had been cited for bravery in a previous engagement. And on the wall of the court house, there is a bronze tablet in memory of the seven Kimble County men who gave their lives in the World War.

The court house itself is a rather plain stone structure, but its surroundings make it look like a million dollars.

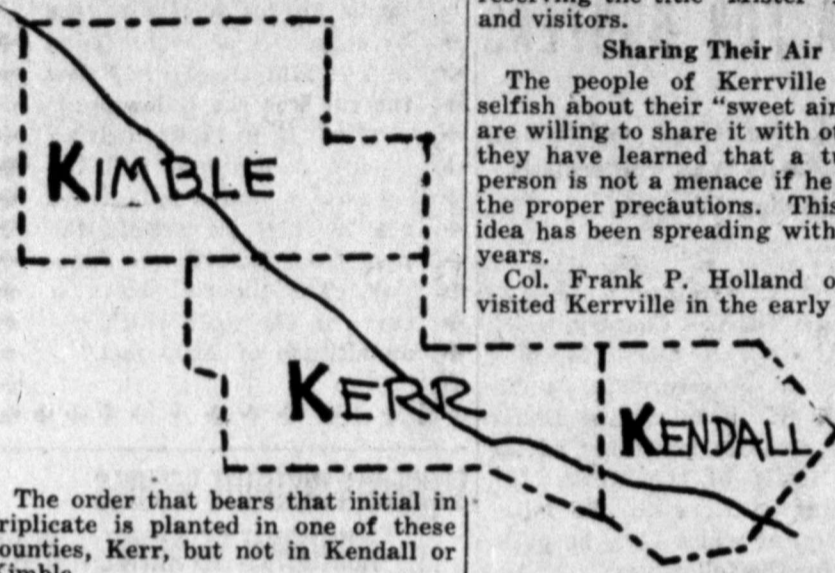

"The Hill Country" is rich in romance. It abounds in legends of the Indians who once inhabited it; of the Spaniards who explored it in search of gold, and of the Anglo-Saxon pioneers who conquered the wilderness. One thing Spanish remains; the Old Spanish Trail that was laid out from coast to coast, and which now is being developed as a great National Highway. This trail leads out from San Antonio, through Boerne and Kerrville to Junction City, and thence on west to the Pacific Coast. From San Antonio it leads easterly to the Atlantic Coast in Florida.

Within the last year that portion of the trail between Kerrville and Junction City has been developed as a modern highway. A fine piece of engineering work has been done, and the road is wide and smooth. Portions of the old trail that were inundated by the Guadalupe River have been abandoned, and the highway carried along the hills, instead.

Three of a Kind

Through "The Hill Country" this Old Spanish Trail crosses three counties, in juxtaposition, all having a common initial, like this:

The order that bears that initial in triplicate is planted in one of these counties, Kerr, but not in Kendall or Kimble.

In addition to the regular run of tourists who come to Kerrville and stay in the hotels or who camp impromptu, there are a number of organized groups who swell the total materially. The larger of these is the Presbyterian Encampment. On the beautiful grounds that were presented to the church by Capt. Schreiner many Presbyterian families have erected cottages, where they spend their summers. There are provisions also for Presbyterians to spend short vacations, and all summer long they come, according to a definite program, to take part in the various programs. Always there is a throng on the camp grounds. Recently an invited guest exclaimed: "I didn't know there were so many Presbyterians in the world. Is there anywhere that one can go and not encounter Presbyterians?" He was promptly reminded of this story:

No Presbyterians There

Two fresh young men took a seat on a street car just ahead of an old Irish woman. They proceeded to say mean things about the Irish.

"I wonder," said one of them, "if there is any place one might go and find no Irish there."

"Yes," said the old woman. "Yes, you can go to h—; ye'll find no Irish there!"

The pride of the Presbyterians in this encampment has been heightened by the erection, on a fine farm adjoining it, of the Schreiner Institute, a Presbyterian School for boys. The farm and the fine buildings, only recently completed, are the gifts of Capt. Schreiner. The school is to open next month, but in the meantime the buildings are doing service as dormitories for the campers.

Another of the institutions that brings in tourists is Camp Rio Vista, a summer camp for boys. This is located at a beautiful place on the Guadalupe River, a few miles above Kerrville. Each summer it is inhabited by a bunch of fine boys, who bear the names of some of the best-known citizens of Texas. There they play and work all summer—swimming, rowing, fishing, hiking, playing baseball and other games, and studying, too. A part of this studying is from books; much of it is from nature—out in the fields and the woods. The director, Herbert L. Crate, a Y. M. C. A. man, formerly lived in Dallas. He is rather unusual in that he has a head for business, for management, and yet plays like a boy with his boys. Another striking thing about Camp Rio Vista is that the boys—ranging from 9 to 21—have no thought of difference in ages; they address each other by given names, reserving the title "Mister" for Crate and visitors.

Sharing Their Air

The people of Kerrville are not selfish about their "sweet air." They are willing to share it with others, for they have learned that a tubercular person is not a menace if he observes the proper precautions. This sensible idea has been spreading within recent years.

Col. Frank P. Holland of Dallas visited Kerrville in the early summer.

While there he and Mrs. Holland lived in one of the cottages of Dr. Sam E. Thompson's Tubercular Sanatorium.

"Fortunately Dr. Thompson had a vacant cottage at the time, and Mrs. Holland and I were glad to get it," Col. Holland told some friends upon returning to Dallas. "It is a pleasant, well-appointed place, and one is safeguarded against tuberculosis best in a tubercular sanatorium, where all the precautions are used."

The Thompson Sanatorium is located on the hills overlooking the Guadalupe River, about a mile out of Kerrville, and across the river from town. The demands upon it have grown so that many cottages have been erected within the last year, and a new main building is now under construction.

About three miles below the city the American Legion a few years ago undertook the construction of a tubercular sanatorium for soldiers of the World War. The State of Texas completed the plant, but leased it to the Federal Government for operation. It is now partly occupied, and as soon as it has been fully equipped it will accommodate some four hundred patients.

The people of Kerrville are willing to share their "sweet air" with the afflicted; they are not afraid of tuberculosis, if proper precautions are observed. But they do not welcome indigent tubercular patients, for the reason that these are not in position to observe the precautions. And in this attitude they are not hard-hearted.

ed, according to modern scientific thought.

Rest, Food; Then Climate

"Rest in bed and nourishing food are the two main items in the program for the cure of tuberculosis," says Dr. Thompson. After these comes climate; a mild, dry climate is helpful. But if an afflicted person hasn't the means to provide rest in bed and nourishing food where there is climate, he would better stay at home, where he can get the rest and the food. He will be better off without the climate than he will without the rest and food. Years ago tuberculars would go into a dry climate and rough it. A few of these got well, and therefore the idea obtained that climate was of first importance. A close study of the subject has revealed the fact that the cures were exceptional and that rest and nourishing food count for more than climate."

But the attitude of the public toward the subject is changing, partly because the cure of tuberculosis is getting to be rather common and partly because it is realized that a tubercular person is not dangerous if he observes the rules against transmitting the disease. These two things are worthy of note: A tubercular person is very considerate of others and observes the precautions. Almost without exception, a person who has been cured of tuberculosis is refined, is an evangel, a crusader for better health measures. Having fought a battle he has a world of sympathy for others who are fighting, and he has a yearning desire to protect his race from war with "the great white plague."

I asked Dr. Thompson if the increased number of cures of tuberculosis was due to reaction to a more tolerant and sane view on the part of the public; to the fact that the afflicted now are more willing than formerly to acknowledge that it is tuberculosis that they have.

"That has something to do with it," he answered. "But the main reason is that physicians now recognize tuberculosis in the earlier stages more frequently than they did some years ago, and we are now getting many patients in time to do something for them. Until just a few years ago physicians generally based their diagnosis on the clinical description of the disease given by Hippocrates 2,000 years ago. Therefore, their patients already were in the advanced stages of the disease and the chances were decidedly against them. Within the last few years physicians have been taught to recognize the earlier symp-ptoms of the disease to rely less on the stethoscope and the microscope, and more on the thermometer and common sense. Therefore, the opportunities to cure have increased. With the ability to recognize the disease in time and with an increase in facilities for treatment, the fight is progressing, but it remains for society to deal with the problem heroically."

A few years ago the State of Victoria dealt with the problem heroically. It quarantined against tuberculosis to keep cases from coming within its borders; it offered a reward for every report of a case within its borders; it hospitalized all of these cases; it conducted a campaign of health education. It is reported that within three years it had stamped out tuberculosis, and as all of its people had gotten the habit of sleeping out of doors, there was a marked falling off of all diseases.

The State of Texas has made some progress in combating tuberculosis, but has not dealt with it heroically, although much of its territory is a land of "sweet air."

CAMP VERDE BARBECUE AND RODEO A SUCCESS

One of the biggest crowds ever gathered at Camp Verde was in attendance at the barbecue and rodeo given in that community Saturday, August 26th, for the benefit of the Camp Verde School.

The crowd, which was estimated at about 1,200, gathered at the spring for dinner. Barbecue, pickles and coffee were served and reports reaching here state that it was one of the most enjoyable affairs ever given in that section. It is reported that a neat sum was realized for the school.

The prizes for the various contests were given by merchants of Kerrville, Center Point and Camp Verde. Winners in the different events are given below:

Wild cow milking contest, Booker Davenport and Fred Ross; mule race, Bonnell Ranch Shetland mule; mule riding, John Aaron; broncho busting, Amos Smith; steer riding, Howard Tackey; steer roping, John Stevens; prettiest girl on the grounds, Miss Nellie Strohecker of Turtle Creek.

A dance was given that night at the Bonnell Ranch which added much to the school fund. The proceeds realized will enable the trustees to repair the building and to employ an extra teacher the coming term, according to the reports.

The Lost Needle

There's an old English play known as "Gammer Garton's Needle." Its plot is woven around the loss of the family needle—no trifling misfortune in the days of old.

Today, in this era of ours, life is so rich in comforts that we seldom wonder how folks got along in the ancient world. And we sometimes forget what an important role advertising has played in making life pleasant and altogether livable.

Advertising has one of the leading parts in the eternal drama of dollars. To it is directly due much of the multiplication of products and services which has come about during the last half century.

It has smoothed the mechanics of existence—made life easier and more pleasant by bringing countless necessities—once considered luxuries—within our easy reach and into continuous use.

Think of this when you read these columns. You owe much to advertising.

And You Miss Much When You Fail to Read It!

Going off to school?

Then send your soiled frocks to us for a thorough cleansing and add their resulting freshness to your dainty school wardrobe. You'll need them, too—for school makes such heavy demands!

A TRIUMPH OF PUBLIC SPIRIT

Houston Chronicle: The fifty-seven miles of public road from Kerrville in Kerr County to Junction in Kimble County is a triumph of that kind of public spirit and unselfish public service which deserves editorial recognition and commendation.

Public roads of gravel and clay and rock and macadam are being planned and built in many sections of Texas, and it is a work interest in which extends far beyond local bounds, and the men who built the Kerrville-Junction road have set an example worthy of State-wide imitation.

Bonds to the amount of $200,000 were voted in 1918, and there were those who advocated their sale at 75 cents in order to hasten the work.

The County Judge and County Commissioners stood firm against all appeals for nearly, if not quite, four years, and the bonds were sold at par.

Like every other enterprise in that section of Texas, the name of that grand old man, Charles Schreiner, was honorably and helpfully associated with the building of the road.

The work presented difficult engineering problems and the procuring of the right of way required time and patience and infinite tact, but it was carried on in a spirit that no obstacles could daunt, and it is today complete, and complete untainted by jobbery or graft, but as a monument to official fidelity to duty and to unofficial citizens who gave unselfishly their services to promote the public convenience, comfort and pleasure.

The road is well nigh as smooth as a city street, it is marked by graceful curves, with strong railings next to the bluffs, with long and graceful declines and easy ascents, with the river on one side and the low range of mountains, clad in vivid green, on the other, and clear, purling, dashing spring-fed streams running under the bridges, or crossing the road, on a level with the wheels of a car where no bridge is necessary.

The mail car, a large and comfortable one, makes the trip easily in three hours though serving three postoffices and fifty rural mail boxes, and the fare is only a trifle more than it would be if the trip were made by rail.

The men responsible for so valuable a work so well done deserve the thanks of all the people of Texas for their enterprise, public spirit and official fidelity. They have set a lofty standard of service.

In addition to the fine publicity Kerrville and the Hill Country has received from the leading newspapers and magazines this summer, it must be remembered that the large number of pleased vacationists will spread the fame of this section as a vacation resort. As a result of this fine boosting, it can be easily expected that more than double the number of summer visitors will spend their vacation in the hills next season.

On behalf of the citizens of Kerrville and the Hill Country, The Sun wishes to extend to Tom Finty Jr., warm thanks and deep appreciation for the excellent writeup of this section, which was published in The Dallas Morning News Sunday, August 26th, and is reproduced in this issue of The Sun. Mr. Finty is one of the best newspaper men in Texas and his article on Kerrville and the Hill Country shows that the distinction is well earned.

While the many summer visitors in the Hill Country this season have been loud in their praise of the delightful climate and beautiful scenery, many compliments have also been passed on the hospitality and interest shown by the citizens of this section, who for the most part have done all in their power to get acquainted with the strangers in their midst and make their stay such that they will come again, and urge their friends to do likewise. This is as it should be and will be the means of making this section the Playground of Texas.

J. M. Hunter, editor of the Bandera New Era, went on an alliterated jag last week and the front page of that newsy paper carried the following headings: "MEDINA MISSIVES—Minor Mention of Miscellaneous Matters, Methods and Manners," "TARPLEY TOPICS—Tersely Told, Typographically Tendered and Tolerably True," "VANDERPOOL VISIONS—Voicing Views of Very Valuable Vocations, Visiting and Vacationing," "TUFF TIDINGS—Timely Topics Telling Tales of Truthful Tint," "WINAN'S CREEK WINDINGS—Warblings of Welfare and Welcome Wisely Written." And on the same page was a story about a Jug of bootleg liquor disappearing at the Camp Verde Barbecue.

DINING ROOM REFLECTIONS

Of all the house, here is where comfort, good humor, smiles and satisfaction should prevail—for Good Health's sake, for dining room reflections certainly govern digestion. Unsightly, wobbly, worn-out dining room furniture is a detriment to the home in more than one way. Our new designs in tables, buffets, china closets and chairs will make your dining room the pride of your home, and meal-time a great pleasure.

Hundreds of the Hill Country people are enjoying a membership in our Household Club and securing their new furniture on most advantageous terms. Ask about it.

WHY HOME INDUSTRIES SHOULD BE PATRONIZED

The following editorial was awarded first prize by the Colorado Editorial Association. The prize was offered by the Dry Climate Ink and Roller Co. Do manufacturers generally really appreciate what the local newspapers do for the community in their efforts to encourage industrial development and make a better market for the factory output? Read what Editor Byrnes says in the Pueblo (Colorado) Indicator:

"When a resident of any city, town or community makes the casual remark that he cannot see why he should buy of home merchants or show a preference for home manufactured goods he sets the more thoughtful individual to thinking, and he is apt to think along straight lines. He has heard a strange sentiment expressed that wakes him up, and he is apt to reflect somewhat after this fashion:

"Now, if all the citizens in this town talked and felt as this man does we couldn't and wouldn't have much of a town, and neither community nor State would be getting just returns for the expense and trouble it has gone to in building up the community, and for the civil government it has established for safeguarding the lives and property and other interests of its citizens. It would be poor appreciation for providing schools and parks and jobs for the wage earners and business for the merchants to enable them to make a good living. Such a man is not giving value received for what he gets out of the community of common interests.

"On the other hand the home-patronage and home-industry proposition works something like this: If the local merchant neglects or refuses to reciprocate in patronizing those who patronize him, he is not doing his fair share either. If he does not buy his boxes, brooms and mattresses, for instance, of the home manufacturer or the State manufacturer, and sends his orders away for such goods, he gets the goods, to be sure, but the out-of-the-State firm gets the money, and thus it is taken out of the home circulation market and it lessens the wealth of the community by just that much.

"And, moreover, the box and grocer makers, the mattress makers and the candle stick maker is deprived of so much needed employment and it hurts for the local laborer and salaried person in town has less money to spend with the grocer, the clothier, the dry goods man and everyone else in business, and so, because a link in the chain of natural trade has been broken, the entire chain of economics is made weaker and less efficient.

"It works the same way when a family sends its orders off to Squeers, Sawbuck & Co., or other big mail catalogue house in Chiyork for household supplies, the struggling home merchant or jobber and the State manufacturer or jobber is deprived of his legitimate trade, but he is called on just the same to contribute to a multitude of small benevolences and enterprises, and he must submit without protest to being plucked about every so often and occasionally in between times.

"So let it be understood that the business man is a very useful and necessary adjunct to any community, for he not only affords employment to others but he is among the heaviest of taxpayers of the home government for offensive and defensive purposes, so that he is entitled to consideration and support. It is thus seen that home patronage has its selfish side and its loyal side that appeal to us both good and coming.

"Reciprocity is a grand and noble institution when made to work both ways. It then falls upon the community like manna from heaven. It radiates a sustaining and soothing influence upon all persons and interests alike. It is a human sort of sentiment that needs to be more generally as well as more generously practiced. It is the Golden Rule applied to home building and business affairs: It relates to everybody and everything. "If the rule were more universally observed there would be bigger and better home and State mercantile, manufacturing and jobbing concerns, more employment and lower taxes, and there would be fewer voluminous dog-eared catalogues of the big out-of-State mail order houses in use."

NO MORE BOND ISSUES

Dearborn Independent: Milwaukee is attracting some attention through a plan for the retirement of her debts. It is announced that the Wisconsin city has a plan, sanctioned by legislative act, whereby her debt will be wiped out. An amortization plan has been adopted whereby the entire city debt will be paid within 40 years, and taxes will be reduced by a third, provided no new debt is created. It is planned to set aside annually $250,000 for a fund which is to accumulate until it reaches an amount equal to three-fourths of the bonded indebtedness. Thereafter, three-fourths of the annual income from this fund will be paid into the city treasury and the principal will be added to by the city's annual contribution plus one-fourth of the annual interest on the invested fund.

Milwaukee's intention to pay her debt is a wise one. If succeeding generations of public officials can resist the temptation to create new debts, her situation in 1963 will indeed be a fine one. She will be a sort of taxpayer's heaven. But one feature of the Milwaukee plan may well challenge the attention of the curious world. Milwaukee intends to make money work for her, as it does for a few idle rich individuals. Many other cities have sinking funds which consist of bonds bought by the sinking fund authorities.

Such bonds must come from somewhere. If other cities in the country followed Milwaukee's example to its logical conclusion the country would be filled with municipal investment funds. Whence would come the bonds or other investments which would provide the interest and compound interest on which the city of the future might plan to live? If no cities or states were issuing bonds, there would be none to buy, except those of industrial institutions, or railroads. And such bonds often do not fulfill the requirements public investments demand.

Obviously, Milwaukee's plan of payment will not spread so rapidly as to make it reach the logical conclusion of absurdity. Someone must work, and neither cities nor men may look forward to a millennium when all can live on the interest of invested money. The main feature of Milwaukee's plan is the one which must engage the serious thought of the country—the payment of public debts by some means, and the resolution to contract no new ones. Honesty with the future generations requires that the burden of principal and interest be not passed on to those who will not be benefited by this generation's expenditures.

UNITED STATES FORMALLY RECOGNIZES OLD MEXICO

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—The United States and Mexico have agreed to resume full diplomatic relations. Formal announcement of the agreement was made today by the State Department.

The restoration of relations carries with it full recognition by the United States of the government of President Obregon. It results from the negotiations recently concluded in Mexico City by Charles B. Warren and John Barton Payne.

The American embassy at Mexico City and the Mexican embassy here are to be restored at once to official standing, for the first time since the collapse of the Carranza regime in 1920 and all pending claims will be submitted to specially appointed commissioners for settlement.

The signing of two claims conventions provided for in the report of the American commissioners will be one of the first acts after the resumption of relations.

These conventions have been approved by the two governments and the affixing of signatures is expected to take place within two or three weeks.

CONFIRMED PROOF

Residents of Kerrville Cannot Doubt What has Been Twice Proved.

In gratitude for complete relief from aches and pains of bad backs—thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of this vicinity who so testified years ago, now say the results were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Kerrville kidney sufferers.

Ed. Naegel, prop. of grocery, 509 Seguin St., New Braunfels, Texas, says: "I suffered from rheumatic pains and lumbago across my back and through the muscles of my loins. My kidneys acted irregularly and plainly showed that they weren't in good order. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and a few boxes cured me completely."

Nearly four years later, Mr. Naegel added: "My faith in the curative qualities of Doan's grows stronger yearly. Doan's have so strengthened my kidneys that now I am enjoying the best of health."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Naegel had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y. (Advertisement).

CATHOLIC CHURCH NOTES
By Father Kemper
NOTRE DAME'S BIRTHDAY

This Saturday, the feast of the Nativity of Our Lady, Notre Dame Institute celebrates the eleventh anniversary of its foundation. The heavenly namesake, patroness and protectress of our parochial school, will be honored in suitable chapel exercises on her natal festival.

Notre Dame started her twelfth scholastic term this Tuesday in full blast, with three times more applicants than there were vacancies made by last year's pupils or graduates.

The number of young lady boarders exceeded all previous records. At the Mexican School, however, the yearly exodus into the cotton fields was the cause of the usual weak enrollment at the very outset compared with the crowded attendance in winter time.

Mr. Farrish, care-taker of Notre Dame, deserves much credit for the thorough house-cleaning and fumigation that he gave to all class-rooms and out-houses, including the overhauling of the entire fire department.

Our library of over three thousand bound volumes has been made more serviceable by a systematic card index with cross references.

One of our keener regrets last week was to lose the bright and amiable children of Mrs. L. W. Laughman, who has moved back to Beaumont.

Sr. Eugene will again be in charge of the musical conservatory and hopes to have at least one for tenth grade graduate next May. She came back last Friday from Santa Rosa Infirmary after attending the patronal feast there on Thursday.

Miss Katherine Kremer, who was with us last summer and is now a student at Santa Rosa, was one of the singers at the dramatical entertainment.

Program Resumed.
With the resumption of classes the old schedule is restored, that is to say, the morning Angelus bell will ring at 6:30 instead of 7:00 a. m., and Mass will be read at 7:35 a. m. except on Thursdays when the Holy Sacrifice will be offered in the Mexican Chapel.

Until the choir is reorganized, congregational singing will be continued. This holds also for the First Friday devotions.

St. Mary's Auxiliary conducts its monthly business session this (Thursday) evening at 7:30 p. m. The next social contemplated by this Auxiliary is scheduled for Friday, Sept. 21st.

Next Sunday an early Mass will be read in St. Mary's Church at 7:00 a. m. so that the candidates for the Knights of Columbus can motor to club headquarters in time for the initiation exercises.

Mexicans keenly felt the loss of Mrs. Lee Rodriguez whose funeral they attended last Saturday.

ROBS CALOMEL OF NAUSEA AND DANGER

Medicinal Virtues Retained and Improved—Dangerous and Sickening Qualities Removed. Perfected Tablet Called "Calotabs."

The latest triumph of modern science is a "de-nauseated" calomel tablet known to the drug trade as "Calotabs."

In biliousness, constipation, headaches and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles calomel was the most successful remedy, but its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities.

Now it is the easiest and most pleasant of medicines to take. One Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No taste, no griping, no nausea, no salts. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are feeling fine, with a clean liver, a purified system and a big appetite.

Calotabs are sold only in original, sealed packages, price thirty-five cents for the large family package; ten cents for the small, trial size. Your druggist is authorized to refund the price as a guarantee that you will be thoroughly delighted with Calotabs.

Queer Feelings
"Some time ago, I was very irregular," writes Mrs. Corn Robie, Ky. "I suffered a great deal, and knew I must do something for this condition. I suffered mostly with my back and a weakness in my limbs. I would have dreadful headaches. I had hot flashes and very queer feelings, and oh, how my head hurt!" I read of

CARDUI
and of others, who seemed to have the same troubles I had, being benefited, so I began to use it. I found it most beneficial. I took several bottles and was made so much better I didn't have any more trouble of this kind. It regulated me."

Cardui has been found very helpful in the correction of many cases of painful female disorders, such as Mrs. Robie mentions above. If you suffer as she did, take Cardui—a purely vegetable, medicinal tonic, in use for more than 40 years. It should help you. Sold Everywhere.

MRS. NARCISIA C. RODRIGUEZ PASSED AWAY LAST THURSDAY

Wife of Local Merchant Succumbs to Slight Operation—Funeral Held Last Saturday.

Mrs. Narcisia C. Rodriguez, wife of Lee A. Rodriguez, prominent in local mercantile circles, succumbed to the effects of a slight operation at her home last Thursday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock.

Funeral services were held at the First Mexican Baptist Church Saturday afternoon with Rev. M. C. Garcia of Del Rio, assisted by Rev. Felix Buldain of Waco and Rev. Emmett Rodriguez of the local church, conducting the services.

Deceased was born at Laredo October 29, 1894, and at the age of three months was taken by a Mrs. Reed, a public school teacher, who raised her. She was a graduate of Laredo High School and was a teacher for several years.

She was married to Lee A. Rodriguez June 16, 1913. Three children, who survive their mother, blessed this union. They are Rebecca, Eva and Lee Jr.

Besides her husband and children, she is survived by her father, Fernando Cardenas of San Antonio; a sister, Mrs. Alex Cardenas of San Antonio; five brothers, John Cardenas of Beaumont, Ponciano, Pedro and Pablo of San Antonio, and Antonio Cardenas of San Diego, Calif. All were present to attend the funeral.

A host of friends join in extending sympathy to the bereaved ones in their dark hour of grief.

BAPTIST ASSOCIATION MET AT INGRAM LAST WEEK
The thirty-sixth annual session of the Medina River Association met with the Ingram Baptist Church last Thursday evening and continued until Sunday afternoon. It was preceded by the meeting of the Association of the Woman's Missionary Union.

This meeting of the women was a great inspiration to all who were present and interesting. Among the reports that were given by Mrs. Faye Turley Parks gave a very graphic report of student life at the Woman's Missionary Training School at Seminary Hill, Texas, and of its great blessing upon the lives of those who go there for training.

Mrs. Parks and her husband return to Seminary Hill this week to take up the work again as students in the Southwestern Baptist Seminary and Training School. Mrs. J. M. Carroll of San Antonio, who is district president of the W. M. U., was also present and in a splendid way presented the claims of the proposed Southwest Baptist Hospital.

The Association sermon was preached Thursday evening by Rev. Scott, pastor of the Bandera Baptist Church and returned missionary from China. He interested the assembly with a vivid description of life in South China.

Friday morning the Association was called to order by the corresponding secretary, Rev. S. F. Marsh, the moderator having moved from the Association. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: S. F. Marsh, Junction, moderator; W. T. C. Briggs, Kerrville, corresponding secretary; B. H. Hill, Center Point, clerk; and F. E. Garrett, Kerrville, treasurer.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
W. T. C. Briggs, Pastor

Calendar for the week:
Wednesday, 7:45 p. m.—Prayer meeting. Every member of the church is especially urged to attend these prayer meetings, as well as all visitors and others.

Friday, 8 p. m.—Meeting of choir.
Sunday, 9:45 a. m.—Sunday School. We have a live Sunday School—come and join us.

11 a. m.—Sermon by the pastor. Subject, "Ten Characteristics of the Strangest Animal Created." It was announced that the pastor would preach on this subject last Sunday night, but as we were so fortunate as to have Dr. T. Y. Adams speak to us on the proposed Southwest Texas Baptist Hospital, this sermon was not delivered.

6:45 p. m.—E. Y. P. U. meetings. All young people who do not attend some other religious service at this hour are cordially invited to attend our E. Y. P. U. meetings.

7:45 p. m.—Song service. The interest in singing is great at our church.
8:00 p. m.—Sermon by the pastor. Subject, "Encouragement from the Valley of Dry Bones."

Among the visitors at our church last Sunday night was Mrs. Owen Morris of Olney. Mrs. Morris is visiting her parents in this city and we are glad to have her back home with us for the next few days. We were also happy to have with us Mrs. A. J. Penland of Waco. Mrs. Penland is a native of the same section of North Carolina from which the pastor comes.

She is, better than that, the sister of the most outstanding Baptist preacher in the world—Dr. George W. Truett. She is stopping at the St. Charles Hotel for some days and we are delighted to have her attending our church while in the city.

Peter A. Herbert and Mrs. Elizabeth Nolley were united in matrimony at the home of the pastor Wednesday evening of last week at 7:30. May they live long and happy lives together.

At the prayer meeting last week the pastor and his family received a great shower of things worth while from members of the congregation. They wish very much to express their thanks for these expressions of love.

Card of Thanks
I want to express my thanks to my many friends for their sympathy and kindness shown me during my recent bereavement, and for the beautiful floral offerings.

L. A. RODRIGUEZ.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH NOTES
By Member

A very goodly number were present at the Sunday morning service, but we missed several of our regular members. We were glad so many visitors came to fill the pews, even though they could not fill the places of the absent ones, for truly we cannot attend the House of God by proxy.

As usual, Dr. Macdougall gave us an excellent discourse, taking for his subject, "The Healing of the Ten Lepers," their readiness to obey the Saviour without question, resulting in their cure; His power and willingness to cure us especially from the worst sickness—that of our souls—if we will only come to Him in faith; the lack of gratitude when only the Samaritan returned to give thanks; how much we still see of this in this respect and yet it did not stop our Lord from continuing in all His good works; how sometimes good church workers get hurt or cease their labors because they are criticized or not appreciated by other members, forgetting (as is very human) that they are really at work for the Great Master whose approval is after all the only thing that really counts.

Sunday School was resumed and we would be so glad to have any attend who do not already belong to other Sunday Schools. All church members should help build up this branch of the church work. If you know of children not attending elsewhere, bring them to Sunday School next Sunday. Let's grow.

SUPERIOR STOCK & POULTRY FEEDS
The Molt
Hens at this time of year are going through the molt. It is the trying time with them, as old feathers are being shed and new ones grown.

There is no time of the year when a good mash is so essential as during the molting period. Feathers themselves are largely protein and the hens MUST HAVE a good protein feed to help them through with it in the quickest possible time. Grains are deficient in protein and a mash should be used if your ration is to be balanced.

Superior Egg Mash is all food. The best quality of Coffer Meal, Shorts, Bran, Linsseed Oil Meal, Corn Gluten Feed, Cotton Seed Meal, Meat Scraps and Dried Buttermilk are used in its manufacture. You will find it more economical because it will produce better results.

EARTHQUAKE, FIRE AND TIDAY WAVE SWEEP JAPAN

San Francisco, Calif., Sept. 3.—Communication with Japan, interrupted by an earthquake at noon, Tokio time, today, still was virtually at a standstill 26 hours later. The only means of obtaining intelligence from the island Empire since the shocks has been through the Tomioka station of the Radio Corporation, located in an isolated position 144 miles from Tokio.

Each of the brief messages emanating thence brought word of greater severity or wider spread of the disaster.

By the Associated Press, Sept. 4.—Virtual destruction of Tokio and Yokohama is reported in the first direct communication received from Tokio by the outside world since earthquake and tidal wave, followed in places by fire, laid waste an important section of Hondo, chief island of Japan, last Saturday.

The first comprehensive view of the havoc wrought was received in cable advices from Osaka.

The minister of marine estimates the dead in Tokio alone at 150,000, the best estimations place the dead in Yokohama at 100,000; virtual destruction of Nagoya, town of 60,000, is reported, and Yokosuka, a town of 70,000, is said to have been wiped out by the successive attacks by earthquake, tidal wave and fire.

Grave damage has been done in the summer resort sections about Hakons and on the Izu Peninsula. Monetary loss in Tokio alone is placed at 5,000,000,000 yen. Martial law is effective in the stricken cities. None may enter without carrying their own food supplies.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—All members of the American Embassy staff at Tokio are safe.

Ambassador Woods advised the State Department today in the first message received from him since the earthquake that none of the embassy staff was injured, although all embassy buildings were totally destroyed.

Coincidentally the State Department received a dispatch from American Consul Davis at Shanghai saying that Tokio, Yokohama and Yokosuka had been "completely wiped out." Casualties among foreigners, he said, had been "very numerous."

New York, Sept. 4.—All Baptist missionaries in Japan are believed safe, according to a cablegram received early today by the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society from Charles B. Tenny, secretary of the Japan Baptist Mission.

Kobe, Japan, Sept. 4.—At least 100 foreigners, many of them Americans, have perished in the great Japanese disaster, refugees arriving here from the quake zone, said Tuesday night. The total deaths are now estimated at probably 500,000.

Turn on the Light

OWLS see better in the dark than they do in daylight. So do bats and one or two other freaks of animal life. BUT HUMAN BEINGS DO NOT.

Yet, it is peculiar how some of us persist in remaining in the dark on the very things that concern us most.

For instance: Now, more than ever before, we ought to see that every cent we spend buys its full quota of value. Yet, lots and lots of folks go blithely along making their everyday purchases with their eyes shut.

AND IT'S SO EASY TO BE SURE YOU'RE RIGHT.

Spend a few minutes each week running through the advertisements in The Kerrville Mountain Sun. Then buy the products that have proved up under the spotlight of consistent publicity.

Merchants and manufacturers who advertise invite the inspection of thousands of eyes.

Here in the advertising columns you see products that have made good before the critical audience of buyers. These products are full value products. They return you dollar for dollar.

Buy them. Read the advertisements and buy advertised products.

LEGION LIGHTS

One of the most pleasing programs of the week at U. S. Veterans' Hospital was the song recital Wednesday of last week, given by Mrs. O. W. Hinds, assisted by Mr. Hinds as piano accompanist.

him: "I want a box of canine pills." Frank asked her, "What is the matter with the dog?" Whereupon she became very indignant and said to him: "I want you to understand that my husband is a gentleman." In profound silence Frank put up some quinine pills.

It is remarkable that there is not at this time a magazine devoted to frontier history. But there will soon be started right here in Bandera a magazine of this character. For many years we have been collecting data bearing on the early history of Texas and we propose to launch the Frontier Times, a monthly publication, containing 32 pages, which will contain reminiscent sketches of the early pioneers. It will be pleasing to both old and young. The first issue will appear about the middle of September, dated for October. It will be fifteen cents per copy or $1.50 per year.

NEW YORK WILL RAISE BIG SUM FOR JAPANESE RELIEF

New York, Sept. 4.—This city Tuesday dug into its pockets to provide relief for the hundreds of thousands of hurt, hungry and homeless sufferers of the catastrophe on the island of Hondo.

American and Japanese joined in a campaign launched from headquarters of internationally known financial charitable organizations. By nightfall the fund, started with a check of $50,000 from a banking affiliation, was pouring into the hands of the American Red Cross at a rate which would indicate $1,000,000 would be recorded in a few hours.

In the meanwhile cable and wireless dispatches streamed in from the ill-fated island, adding detail to the story of the catastrophe and increasing the casualty list by the tens of thousands. Friends and relatives, Americans, Canadians and Japanese, of those known or believed to have been in the stricken area, clamored for news. Consulates, steamship agencies and newspapers were besieged, but were able to add little to the published information, because of the dearth of direct communication with the razed cities.

COLDEST ROOM IN THE WORLD IS IN TEXAS

Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 1.—Fort Worth folks have as much hot weather complaint as any other town's citizenry—yet right here is the coldest spot on earth. Furthermore, it stays that way—at a temperature of 317 below zero. That's right, 317 below.

The Government's helium plant is the scene of this extreme coolness. Natural gas is liquefied at this temperature, so the helium can be extracted for use in the army and navy dirigibles.

Special safeguards are maintained to keep the rooms insulated from the rest of the plant. There's a reason. Lieutenant R. E. Davenport, in charge, gives some. "If a person would just put his hand in that temperature, his hand would in one second freeze so solidly that it would drop off."

"Put a fresh piece of beefsteak in there and then drop it to the floor. It would break into a thousand pieces, flying in all directions."

"A lead pencil would do the same. Steel pipes, when subjected to but part of this temperature, shrink so quickly that all paint drops from them. A human body would also become so brittle it would fall to pieces."

Helium, which is extracted from the liquefied gas, is non-inflammable, and possesses 92 per cent of the buoyancy of hydrogen. Its use in dirigible airships will make them immune from the explosion disasters of the last few years.

After helium is extracted, the gas goes back into the city mains, as good as ever for cooking the family dinner. Meantime, Fort Worth folks choose to sweater under the August sun, rather than frequent the city's coolest spot.

Clinical Society Meets

The initial meeting of Clinical Society, U. S. Veterans' Hospital No. 93, was held August 31st in the officers' assembly room of the hospital administration building. After a cordial welcome and an invitation to the visiting doctors to become associate members were extended by Col. R. L. Cook, commanding officer, the meeting was devoted to the following:

"Some Laboratory Phases of Hypertension," a paper rendered by Dr. Philip B. Matz. Discussion of the paper were next given by Dr. R. J. Evans from the medical standpoint; by Dr. G. H. Garrett from the surgical, and by Drs. J. J. Klein and S. E. Thompson from the diagnostic.

Dr. A. G. Walker, surgeon reserve, formerly of Fort Bayard, N. M., presided over the meeting.

Those present from Kerrville were: Dr. S. E. Thompson of Thompson Sanatorium; Dr. J. D. Jackson of the Secor Hospital; Dr. H. Y. Swayze of Thompson Sanatorium, and Dr. J. E. McDonald.

Brief and Breezy Bits of Balanced Boosting.

New Era, August 30th: Fine rains have fallen throughout this region and these rains come at an opportune time to benefit the range.

The Farmers' Gin made its initial run for the season this week. It is expected that about 100 bales of cotton will be ginned here this fall.

A large delegation of Bandera people attended the barbecue and rodeo at Camp Verde last Saturday. The crowd from surrounding communities was large, the amusements offered were entertaining and the dinner was excellent, is the report that comes to us. Everybody enjoyed the hospitality of those Camp Verde people.

It is reported that a Kerr County officer arrested two young men at the Camp Verde barbecue last Saturday and captured a jug of bootleg liquor. He placed the jug in his car, it is said, and while arranging to take his prisoner to Kerrville the liquor disappeared, jug and all—just simply evaporated. As the evidence was gone, the young men were released, we are informed.

ATHLETICS CLOSE SEASON WITH DOUBLE WIN OVER KELLY FIELD

Both Games Slow and Loosely Played;
Barry Clouts Homer With Man on to Win Monday's Fray.

The Kerrville Athletics closed their 1923 season at home with a double win over the Kelly Field Flyers in loosely played games. Sunday's score was 9 to 4 and Monday's result was 7 to 6.

The percentage column for the season reads .714, not a bad average for an amateur team. Twenty-eight games made up the schedule for the year and twenty of them went into the score book as victories. Not a game was tied, neither were any extra inning contests put on, two unusual features of any ball club's record.

The domestics did not put out their usual strong lineup in the two closing games. Monday's affair was started with six men in uniform and three others picked out of the crowd. Sunday's lineup was a little different from the usual faces which appeared in earlier games.

Brown started off in Sunday's game and was going good with a good lead when Bill Saenger was sent in to hurl in the seventh. Being out of condition, Bill's control was not at its best and two hits, a walk and a pair of hit batters netted four runs. Bill retired after striking out two of the Fliers and Brown finished the game. "Nigger" was nicked for but one blow and that came in the fifth.

The Athletics had played errorless ball until Saenger took the mound. The pair of bobbles made in that frame were responsible for two of the Kelly Field tallies.

Riley Cox, who has backstopped for the Athletics all season, started in that role for the Fliers but wound up on the mound. Riley worked the last two frames and actually fanned three of his former team mates.

Holchak and Jim Forgason led the domestics with the stick, Herbert getting two out of two and Jack connecting with a pair out of four.

The score: R. H. E.
Kelly Field 000 000 400-4 3 5
Athletics 500 031 00*-9 7 2
Batteries—Mansfield, Cox and Cox, Tompkins; Brown, Saenger and Vielock. Time, 1 hour, 47 minutes. Umpires, Fawcett and Sikes.

Cox opened on the mound for the Fliers in Monday's program, but gave it up after seven hits and a couple of misplays had piled up five runs for the home gang. Gargus relieved him and held the locals scoreless until the last of the ninth.

Braswell was in good shape and had nice stuff on the ball as twirler for the Athletics. Five blows and four errors figured in the scoring of the Fliers' tallies. With better support, especially in the outfield, the chances are that he would have been stingier with his markers and the game probably would not have had the sensational ending it did.

With two out in the ninth, a man on first and the locals a run behind (sounds like one of those story book ball games), Bob Barry—who, by the way, wore the mask and shin guards and backstopped in great style—waved at two of Gargus' offerings and the crowd began to percolate to the gate.

Then the veteran of many ball games connected center-midway with one of those said offerings and the ball hasn't been found yet. The last seen of it was when it soared gracefully over the palings in deep left. Two runs crossed the pan and the day was saved.

Arthur Saenger also connected for a four-base blow. Cox was the victim and Wilson was on the sacks ahead of "Choc" in the first frame. Old James S. Baker, the same one that played with the Athletics part of the season, led the Birdmen in the attack with three safeties out of five trips to the pan. Saenger hit four out of five, Holchak got a pair out of four and Brown cracked out a trio in five times.

The score: R. H. E.
Kelly Field 000 240 000-6 9 6
Athletics 410 000 002-7 14 4
Batteries—Cox, Gargus and Tompkins, Cox; Braswell and Barry. "Uncle" Ben Smith umpired.

way celebration had had to hire a band for that one day's playing it would have cost as much as what was paid for the expenses of the Kelly Field Band for the entire ten days' stay in Kerrville.

The Kelly Field boys were on their annual vacation, but the vacation they took can best be appreciated when one glances over their activities while here, as follows:

The band arrived from Kelly Field Saturday noon, August 25th, and played a concert and dance at Lake Side Park that night.

The next morning they played a sacred concert at the Presbyterian Encampment.

Monday night the band played a concert for the American Legion Post at Lake Side Park and for a dance afterward.

Tuesday they spent at the joint highway celebration between Kerrville and Junction, where they played concerts during the forenoon and afternoon, besides playing for the ball game and for the big platform dance at night.

Wednesday afternoon the band played a concert for the citizens and visitors on the lawn of the St. Charles Hotel.

Thursday night they played for the Mexican supper and entertainment of the Episcopal ladies given on the lawn of the Scott Schreiner home.

Friday afternoon the boys went out to the Legion Hospital and rendered a concert for the benefit of the former service men who were unable to come to the city to hear them. That night they played a concert and dance at Lake Side Park.

Saturday morning the band serenaded Capt. Charles Schreiner and afterwards played a concert at the corner of Water and Earl Garret Streets. That afternoon they played a concert at the Thompson Sanatorium and at night played for a dance at Lake Side Park.

Sunday morning a sacred concert was given at the Encampment grounds. Sunday afternoon the band played for the ball game between Kerrville and Kelly Field at the ball park.

Monday morning the band, apparently afraid that they had not given value received for their entertainment, were out at five o'clock serenading in the residential section of the city, playing concerts in four different sections before breakfast. That afternoon they played again at the ball game.

Monday night a concert was rendered at the Dixie Theater, after which they boys played for their own dance at Lake Side Park, the dance hall at that place being donated for their use this last night of their stay in the Hill Country.

This wound up the vacation, one that was filled with activity from morning until night every day they were here, and one that has endeared them to the people of Kerrville.

On behalf of the citizens of Kerrville and the Hill Country, The Sun wishes to thank Mr. Witt and his men for the many courtesies extended by them during their stay among us and assure them of a hearty welcome if they ever have an opportunity to come again.

CAMPAIGN POLICY OF G. B. TERRELL SOUNDS GOOD

Austin, Tex., Sept. 1.—George B. Terrell, Commissioner of Agriculture, gave out the following statement Saturday:

"For some time my name has been mentioned through the press as a probable candidate for Governor. I have not given the matter serious thought, until letters from all parts of the State urging me to become a candidate made it necessary for me to consider them, and to make some public statements as to my future course.

"I am convinced that we must have a change in the governmental policy of this State, as the people are almost bankrupt. We must have:

"(1) A reduction in the running expenses of the government, and a corresponding reduction in taxes. This can be secured by abolishing all useless boards and commissions, and transferring any useful work they are doing to existing elective departments of government, and by vetoing all laws establishing new institutions, departments or offices.

"(2) By separating the sources of taxation for State and County purposes, and collecting the State tax from incomes, inheritances, production taxes on natural resources, and taxes on public service corporations as many other States are doing. This would leave the counties free to fix their own rates and values for local purposes and relieve the homes, business houses and livestock interests of about $10,000,000 State taxes they are now paying. This would solve the tax question.

"(3) The penitentiary system can and should be placed on a paying basis, by working enough convicts on the farms to make all the food the system can use and by working enough convicts in factories to make the shoes and clothing for the system, and work the remainder on the public roads.

"(4) The pay-as-you-go policy should be adopted, and the State placed upon a cash basis and kept that way. I know that about $5,000,000 of the present appropriations could be saved, that would put the State on a cash basis and hurt nobody, except the fellows cut loose from the payroll.

"(5) A Legislature should be elected pledged to this policy.

"The Governor should be honest and possess a thorough knowledge of the needs of the institutions and departments of government, and he should have backbone enough not to be bulldozed or uncoined by propagandists who either want to connect up with the payroll, or keep their property disconnected from the tax-rolls. They have succeeded admirably in both undertakings and have been the primary cause of our present financial predicament.

"If I had the privilege of being Governor for two years and had a Legislature in accord with my views, this class of cattle would be scarce at the State Capitol, as they would have to hunt greener pastures.

"I am not financially able to make the race for Governor, as it usually costs from $15,000 to $20,000 to make the race. No man should be allowed to spend that much money to buy the office of Governor. If he 'buys his way in,' he might 'sell out' after he gets in.

"The people who want honest, faithful service in the Governor's office should finance the campaign. This is the only condition upon which I would consider making the race."

T. H. RIDGEWAY AGAIN IN THE SENATE RACE

San Antonio Express, August 31: Senator T. H. Ridgeway, member of the Texas legislature during its 38th session, will be a candidate for re-election next year, according to his announcement Thursday.

Senator Ridgeway declared that he had given considerable thought to becoming a candidate for Congress from the 14th District, but that he had decided he could do more good as a member of the Texas legislature.

It is the Texas legislature, he declared, that is in need of conservative men who are willing to give the best in them to the service of the State. Congress does not offer the wide field for service, particularly that of almost personal service to a representative's constituency, according to Mr. Ridgeway.

Among the factors that have led Senator Ridgeway to decide to seek re-election to the State Senate are several pressing State affairs, particularly finances, he explained Thursday. "This is one of the big problems facing Texas today, one that needs conservative men to settle it. The State expenditures are away yonder bigger than its income, and something has to be done about it."

He explained later that one of the principal services he had rendered his district during his first term had been to put a consistent fight against the 150 tax bills that came before both houses.

The Texas penal system and the tax values are two other big problems that Senator Ridgeway feels called upon to tackle.

During his first term of office he took active part in both these matters, though the tax revaluation bill lost out in the Senate by one vote after being passed in the house. Next time he feels confident he will pass.

He was a member of both the finance committee and the penitentiary investigating committee during the 38th legislature. Other committees that he served on were State affairs; roads, bridges and ferries; criminal jurisprudence and towns and city corporations.

At Washington there is a "Little Cabinet" composed of the under-secretaries of the various departments of the Government. Officially it has no power and its function is to co-ordinate the departments so that they may work as a team instead of separately or antagonistically. It includes such men as Dwight W. Davis, Assistant Secretary of War; Theodore Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy; James M. Beck, Solicitor General, and A. T. Seymour, Acting Attorney-General.

WHAT ABOUT "UNSEEN" PLUMBING?

It's unseen, but it's there—between walls, under floors, buried in the ground. One-third of the cost of any good plumbing job is for that unseen work.

We believe that no part of a plumbing job is more important than the "unseen" plumbing. We know that unless the "unseen" work is done right the first time, using the proper material and workmanship, there is sure to be costly trouble later.

Our "unseen" plumbing stands the test of time and constant use. Our customers will tell you so. It will be to your advantage to consult us about any new installation or remodeling job.
