CITY TO VOTE TUESDAY ON BOND ISSUE OF $78,000 FOR MODERN SEWER SYSTEM

Voters Will Be Called Upon to Decide Whether or Not Sanitary Conditions in Kerrville Shall Be Improved and the Health of Citizens Safeguarded.

BIG MASS MEETING TO BE HELD AT COURT HOUSE FRIDAY NIGHT

M. Griffin O'Neil, President Municipal Engineering Company, and Prominent Local Speakers to Outline Benefits and Explain Questions Raised.

Voters of Kerrville will be faced next Tuesday when they go to the polls with one of the most important questions that has ever been brought before them for decision. Effects of a far reaching scope depend upon the result of the balloting, affecting not only the present citizenship but future generations as well. If the $78,000 bond issue carries it means that Kerrville will take her place among the real cities of the State, that sanitary and health conditions will be greatly improved and that a steady march of progressiveness will take place with a resultant growth and prosperity. Should the measure be defeated, several significant facts face the citizenship of the city.

It has been intimated from reliable sources that the time is not far distant when it will be absolutely necessary to build a sewer system or stand the loss of thousands of dollars in business and in public property for Kerrville. This pertains to the U. S. Veterans' Hospital No. 93, just a short distance south of the city.

Although the Federal Government has but a one year lease on the property, it is thought this will be extended for a long time or that eventually the Government may purchase the institution. In either case, Federal authorities will demand the building of a modern sewage disposal system, it has been learned from authentic sources.

Along with this demand will go the intimation that unless it is complied with the sanatorium will be removed from this section. Such an action would be a loss of thousands of dollars to the community. The hospital has brought a great deal of money here and its removal will take away an equal amount of money and business.

Mass Meeting Friday
A mass meeting will be held at the Court House Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Every taxpayer in Kerrville is urged to attend this meeting as a number of questions pertaining to the proposed sewer system will be discussed and explained and the questions of any one answered.

M. Griffin O'Neil, president of the Municipal Engineering Company of Dallas, whose engineers made the survey of Kerrville and prepared the plans, specifications and estimates of the plant, will be present to address the meeting and explain in detail the questions concerning its construction, operation, etc.

In addition several local speakers, including Judge H. C. Geddie, Dr. P. B. Matz of the Veterans' Hospital, and several other eminent speakers, will deliver addresses along the same lines, pointing out what will mean to Kerrville to have sewers and to be without them.

The sewer proposition will also be discussed tonight at the membership meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. Polls at Court House
The election will be held at the Court House, the polls opening at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning and closing at 6 p. m. Although the city lies in two precincts, all votes will be cast at the one polling place.

It seems that interest in the proposed bond issue and sewer system is steadily growing from day to day, numbers of property owners gathering at the maps showing the locations of the mains and discussing the advantages it has to offer them. The maps are posted at the Court House, Post Office and Lee Mason & Son Garage.

The Municipal Engineering Company has at regular intervals during the past few weeks mailed to every taxpayer in the city personal letters in which pamphlets were enclosed outlining benefits accruing to cities that have installed modern sewage disposal systems and plants.

The Sun also carried each week stories on the advantages of such a system to Kerrville, showing benefits to be derived here. Hence, every citizen is well acquainted with the value such a project would mean to the Gem of the Guadalupe and to themselves.

Benefits Summarized
Building of a sewer system in Kerrville would mean the banishment of all outdoor surface toilets in the city with the resultant eradication of flies and mosquitoes and the removal of a most unsanitary condition that constitutes a menace to the health of every citizen.

A sewage disposal system would mean that every home in the city would ultimately be equipped with bath, lavatories, sinks, etc., that would not only add to the convenience of the home but to its healthfulness as well. Elimination of cesspools would also be a big benefit derived from a sewer system. As a rule a cesspool causes some trouble after several years, becoming filled, caving in, etc. These and many other undesirable features of them are done away with by sewers. Thousands of dollars are saved in money formerly paid for cleaning and all of Comfort, also remain to mourn his death. Funeral services were conducted at the residence at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon by Rev. W. P. Dickey, followed by burial in Glen Rest Cemetery under the auspices of Cypress Camp No. 58, Woodmen of the World, of which deceased was a member. The Sun joins a wide circle of friends in extending heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved ones in their dark hour of grief.

The last work Mr. Flach performed was at the Fish Hatchery; in fact, he lacked only a few days of finishing up when he was forced to take to bed. He had been complaining of not feeling well for several days, but his public-spirited interest in the project kept him on the job.

The men who had been working under his direction asked each day as to his condition and were saddened to learn of his death. All join with the writer in expressing profound sympathy to his loved ones.

FARMERS OF THE HILL COUNTRY MAKE PLANS FOR INCREASE IN PRODUCTION

Representative Meeting Held Here Tuesday—Other Gatherings to Be Held in Communities.

A meeting of farmers from nearly every community in the county was held Tuesday at the Court House at which the "Greater Production" campaign of the Chamber of Commerce was discussed.

Plans were made to take up the proposition by communities and thus learn in what ways and to what extent each community can and will help out. Dates were set for meetings as follows: Camp Verde, Friday, December 14, 6:30 p. m.; Hunt, Saturday, December 15, 6:30 p. m.; Center Point, Saturday, December 22, 2 p. m. Dates for other communities will be announced later.

At these meetings the work will be discussed and leaders or community men elected to get together to outline and plan the work for the entire county.

The following men were present at Tuesday's meeting: J. A. Peril, Vernon Powell, Geo. Meeks, D. S. Griffin, Herman Schulze, E. L. Griffin, Richard Hokekamp, B. L. Wiedenfeld, Hal Peterson, K. A. Hokekamp, Ally Beitel, A. B. Williamson and County Agent J. C. Yeary.

In addition W. H. Darrow, District Agent, J. L. Thomas, Dairy Specialist, both of A. & M. College, and County Agent J. A. Oswald of Kendall County were present at the meeting.

SHRINE BAND FROM SAN ANTONIO ENTERTAINS PATIENTS AT LEGION

One of Finest Musical Organizations in Alamo City Gives Concert at Veterans' Hospital Sunday.

Patients and employees at the U. S. Veterans' Hospital No. 93 were given an excellent treat last Sunday afternoon when the Shrine Band of Alamo Temple, San Antonio, entertained them with a two-hour concert.

The organization, accompanied by a number of prominent Masons of San Antonio, arrived in a special car over the S. A. & A. P. Sunday noon, and were guests of the hospital. During the afternoon the band gave a number of selections at the various wards for the benefit of patients who were unable to go to the Red Cross recreation hall. Following these concerts a tour of inspection over the reservation was made. A great deal of favorable comment was excited because of the excellent arrangement and facilities of the institution.

Alamo Temple is considered one of the best musical organizations in San Antonio and Sunday's concert afforded the patients a great deal of pleasure and amusement.

The band returned to the Alamo City on the afternoon train.

LEGION AUXILIARY PLANS TO BRING CHRISTMAS CHEER TO EX-SOLDIERS

Chairman State Hospital Committee of Auxiliary to American Legion Asks for Contributions.

The State headquarters of the Auxiliary to the American Legion are planning big things in the way of a Christmas celebration for the patients at U. S. Veterans' Hospital No. 93 and for the numerous ex-service men in and around Kerrville.

Mrs. H. H. Kuhlmann, chairman of the State Hospital Committee of the Auxiliary, has sent out circular letters to the various Auxiliary units over the State asking for contributions of presents, particularly useful gifts, to be distributed to the needy. Part of the circular letter follows and is self-explanatory:

"We now have nearly 400 veterans in the American Legion Memorial Hospital, and by Christmas we will have more, seventy or seventy-five men outside the hospital and forty families of ex-service men."

"Our committee is planning six, perhaps seven, Christmas trees. One large tree in the Red Cross Building, a small one in the surgical ward, one in the infirmary ward—these trees to be put on rollers as so many of our boys are bedridden. We can bring Christmas to them if they are unable to come to the tree. One tree, perhaps two, in Ward 8, but will ask Galveston Unit to take care of that as they have adopted Ward 8."

"Then we want a big tree somewhere down town for our men not in the hospital, their children and the children of about forty-five men in the hospital. So many of our men are living in one or two rooms, I fear

INSTITUTE BOYS ENTERTAINED BY MEN'S CLUB AT ST. CHARLES HOTEL

Tuesday Night's Meeting Enthusiastic and Marked by Large Attendance in Spite of Bad Weather.

The boys from Schreiner Institute were guests of the Presbyterian Men's Club at the St. Charles Hotel Tuesday night, and it was hard to tell who enjoyed the session most—the boys or the members of the club.

In spite of unfavorable weather 53 boys from the school were in attendance. Owing to the inclemency of the weather and business cares, only 19 members of the club were present, but those who were present played the part of hosts in admirable fashion and their guests were apparently delighted with the entertainment offered, judging by the applause given each speaker.

Owing to unforeseen circumstances the regular program arranged for the evening had to be abandoned, so an impromptu program was hastily arranged, consisting of music by the orchestra and addresses by Rev. W. P. Dickey, Dr. S. E. Thompson, Miller Harwood and others. The address of Dr. Thompson was especially appropriate and inspiring and all who heard it, men and boys alike, could not help but get inspiration therefrom.

The orchestra, under the direction of H. C. Robinson and J. J. Charlter, and the vocal music, under direction of Prof. McCurdy, was heartily enjoyed by all and assisted materially in dispelling the gloom of the outdoor weather.

After an hour's program, refreshments of a delicious nature were served the club and their guests by Mrs. Geo. Morris, who was assisted by Mesdames Wm. Thornburn, Amy Wallace, W. P. Dickey, J. J. Delaney, E. H. Prescott, G. M. Doyle and Miss Erna Young.

VAN HORN ELECTRIC COMPANY INSTALLS MODERN APPARATUS

Fairbanks-Morse Lighting Plant Put in Short Time Ago and Battery Charging Machine This Week.

Several important improvements have been made in the plant equipment of the Van Horn Electric Company within the past few weeks. Among them is a constant potential battery charging machine which was installed this week.

This machine is considered the last word in battery charging appliances and makes possible the charging of storage batteries in from four to six hours. This method will enable auto owners to leave batteries at the shop in the morning and get them back the same day.

Another improvement made is the installation of a 110-volt Fairbanks-Morse lighting plant, which furnishes the current for recharging batteries. This equipment was put in some two or three weeks ago.

During the past few months the increasing business made necessary the enlargement of the shop. The workroom has been enlarged several times until it now occupies the entire floor of the building.

FOURTEEN TIVY GRID STARS GET LETTERS AT BANQUET THURSDAY

Coveted "T"s Awarded Members of Fast 1923 Squad at Chicken Dinner in Guadalupe Cafe.

Fourteen members of the fast 1923 football team of Tivy High School were awarded their letters for grid honors at a chicken dinner in the Guadalupe Cafe last Thursday evening.

Arthur Saenger, captain of the team, acted as toastmaster and carried off the honors in that role as well as he did the pigskin on the gridiron. His witty remarks caused a great deal of merriment and the players responded with fine spirit.

Supt. R. A. Franklin gave a short talk on school spirit and Coach Guy C. Moses praised the team for their fine work, pointing out each man as a star at his particular position.

Each member of the squad responded with appropriate remarks, thanking their coach for his faithful and steady work with them during the season and saying they all hoped to be back for next year's team. Several of the girls gave short toasts to the team and coach and a general good time is reported by every one.

Following are the names of the players who were awarded letters for the past season: Saenger (capt.), Wolfmueller, Inscore, Osborne, Lloyd, Wall, Spinks, Tarver, Jonas, Miller, Radeliff, Hardin, Hatch and Brandon.

Only the members of the squad with their lady friends, Mr. and Mrs. Moses, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Dent were present at the entertainment.

The team and coach wish to thank O. M. Salmans, owner of the Guadalupe Cafe, and his assistants for the excellent banquet they provided and for their fine hospitality.

A TIP TO TEXAS TOWNS

Texas Commercial News: To want more people seems to be a failing of every Texas town.

There is merit in that desire, yet it should have more than the increase of the price for real estate and the addition of customers as a basis.

In nearly every instance the effect to secure increased population takes this well-worn course: The boosters get up a catalogue of the "natural resources" of the town, then expand on the possibilities for business and industry, and broadcast the country with it.

They make it so attractive that one is prone to feel that to succeed there would be the easiest task in the world. As a result, people often do tear up and move over to that town with "wonderful possibilities."

When he gets over there he finds the same sort of folks he left; the same opportunities—may be not so good—in fact, he finds everything he left except a JOB.

Texas Commercial News has a different vision of boosting population. It is this: Spend the money and energy you put into telling the outside world what a wonderful town and country you have on the installation of one of those new industries you tell your neighbor would prosper there. When you have done that, you will find that you lack man power to run that new industry. Then send out this simple message: "Progressville needs ten families to work in its cotton mill. Good wages; wholesome living conditions; fine citizenship."

That course will add ten families; aye 100 families more often than the usual sort of boosting will add one, and the 100 will remain contented whereas the one soon leaves, a disgruntled! Quitteerboosting and Commenceyer building.

THE SOFT SNAP

Granbury News: It is interesting to hear the young men and women talk about their jobs, the things they are going into and the ends they cherish.

You will find, were you to hear many such experiences, that the question is frequently asked as to what the hours of labor are. "I've got a mighty good job, the hours are easy and I do not have to work hard," is a common report.

Now a fellow who has that ideal will not probably climb far unless something comes along to wake him up. His main aim is apparently to draw his pay, and get through the day's work with the least effort. Employers do not quickly pick such a fellow for promotion.

If you inquire of successful men how they attained their rise, almost all of them will tell you how they worked very hard for many years. They were as keenly interested to see their sales go up or their product increased, as they ever had been to win a football game.

If a job was given them, they were rather pleased to get something difficult. It indicated that their employer thought favorably of their abilities, and willing to give them a chance to make good in a place where success would count. Anyone can handle a soft snap job. But it takes a real man to swing a hard position. That is true not merely in commercial pursuits, but in manual labor also. The uneducated laborer who is not afraid of work attracts attention. People like to employ him, and throw opportunities in his path. If he does the simple task well and is not afraid of effort, they give him a job where he gets a chance to show what is in his head as well as his muscle. Countless numbers of such fellows have risen from low beginnings to wealth and power.

ONE-SYLLABLE WORDS

Texas Commercial News: Since our very, very foolish teacher, years ago, enjoined us of the furrow in the mellow soil, and sent us along the highway of life observing and criticizing the ways of men we have heard and seen time and again her admonition, "Keep close to the one-syllabled words!"

While the reason has usually seemed incomprehensible—a bit of an old saw

CATHOLIC CHURCH NOTES

By Father Kemper

FRUITFUL REVIVAL

The spiritual retreat conducted by Rev. Bernard Kalvelage C. S. S. R. came to a solemn close Sunday night after nearly all of the parishioners had seriously and profitably attended the soul-inspiring exercises of the week. After the concluding sermon on the necessity and means of perseverance, the eloquent Redemptorist imparted a three-fold blessing: sacerdotal, papal and eucharistic. This was followed by the hymn of thanksgiving, "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name," sung by the entire congregation.

A thoughtful appendage was added to the mission Monday morning by remembering the departed parishioners at a Requiem Mass, and making a touching reference to their lot in the great Beyond. Although this revival was principally for the Catholics, there were many non-Catholic inquirers who attended eagerly and expressed their heartfelt approval. No polemic or apologetic topics were broached. Sound scriptural and moral themes were driven home in regular Liturgical fashion.

A General Communion was observed on the First Friday and also on the feast of the Immaculate Conception. The students' retreat was conducted in the Convent Chapel for three earnest days, and terminated Thursday morning.

One of the most impressive functions of the memorable week was that which the evangelist outlined for Saturday night when he led the boys and girls into church and knelt with them at the feet of Mary, our heavenly patroness. At the richly adorned shrine of this celestial queen, the young ladies, clad in white dresses with bridal wreaths and veils, consecrated themselves under her protection. Many adults who had failed to attend previous exercises were found that night in the overflowing congregation. Every evening after the major sermon the church bell was tolled five times to call the spiritually dead to this golden opportunity of resurrection. This ghostly summons did not remain unheeded, because the nightly crowds kept getting bigger, and Providence blessed them with better weather as the enthusiasm grew stronger.

In the school library room a regular religious store was conducted during the mission week. Complete Bibles were sold at cost. Beautiful prayer books, crosses and Christmas cards were offered at one third valuation in order to accommodate the poorest of the faithful.

Episcopal Visitation
Immediately after the close of our mission, Rt. Rev. A. J. Drossaerts, D. D., came here from Harper to make his official visitation at both local

THE best footing your car can get on rain-swept streets and slippery hills is the gripping All-Weather Tread of a Goodyear Tire. The high, thick, sharp-edged blocks of that famous tread take a slipless hold and hang on with a wedgelike action that prevents side-slip or skidding.

As Goodyear Service Station Dealers we sell and recommend the new Goodyear Tires with the beautiful All-Weather Tread and back them up with standard Goodyear Service.

METHODIST CHURCH

METHODIST CHURCH

(By Member)

They were very satisfactory services last Sunday, thanks to the good weather at that time; and Dr. White preached fine sermons. We will have to try to go through the bad weather, too, at times, and not lose the benefit of these good messages.

This week is Orphanage Week, the time for the annual donation, (Christmas gift), to our Methodist Orphanage at Waco. Many will remember the good quota that this church raised last year; well let's make it larger this year. We ought to do every bit we can for the Orphanage, for they are turning out some splendid young citizens down there. With the added improvements in equipment they are doing a wonderful work. Some people have said that, judging from the output of the institution, they would like to send their children there to school. This is certainly a good recommendation, and shows what a church orphanage can do for children who have lost the blessing of parents. So let us not forget it this week; pay your contribution to Mr. Will Reed of the pastor, Dr. White.

This is also Christian Advocate Week. The Christian Advocate has been taken under a new management recently and all subscribers are expected to renew their subscriptions whether the time has run out or not; and that part which is paid for beyond that will be refunded. A Methodist can scarcely afford to be without the Advocate, since it gives all the church and missionary news of Texas and Mexico. Pay your subscription to the pastor this week.

New members taken into the church last week are: Mrs. Maggie Stanley and her daughter, Miss Robinson. We wish them to know that they are very welcome in our midst.

Preaching next Sunday at the regular hours.

Eels packed together in pipes of the city water system of New London, Conn., shut off the water in many parts of the city. Fire plugs were flushed and thousands of young eels flooded the ground.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH NOTES

The attendance at Bible School last Sunday was encouraging, and again the largest class was the young people's class.

Provision was made for a Christmas treat to be distributed at the close of the Bible School Sunday morning, December 23. Every member is urged to be present.

A letter from the Secretary of the Christian Church State Board relative to securing a pastor was read and the Church Secretary, Mrs. P. Tomlinson, was instructed to reply.

It is important that all interested attend the Bible School sessions regularly and assist in formulating plans for the advancement of the church.

Sunday School every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock in the Union Church Building.

Telling About Old Santa

To the man's amazement, he saw a pile of snow-white bundles before the door of the house. He looked at them dumfounded and speechless. "I surely am sorry about what I—" "That's all right, forget it. Here, take this along home with you for the kiddies," and he handed him the bag. The man confused and abashed, turned without another word and left. The grayed figure also wheeled around, chuckling all the while to himself. Turning the corner he approached an awaiting limousine. Still chuckling, he opened the door, saying to the chauffeur: "Home, James!"

A Question of Degrees

By MORRIS SCHULTZ

"Harvey, I do love you, but it's no use. I've just got to marry Elmer Meredith," sighed Vanna Delaine. The young planter scowled. "It's no better than slave-buying," he said morosely. "I suppose it's what's going on everywhere," said Vanna. "We must be satisfied just to be friends, Harvey." "I shall not give up hope until you're married, Vanna," said Harvey as he turned away. He rode back savagely. It was, as he had said, simply slave-buying. Colonel Delaine's orange orchard was all he had in the world; the price of oranges had gone down with a bang, and Elmer Meredith was going to foreclose unless Vanna married him. And that meant homelessness for the colonel, who was lying desperately ill. No, nothing else was to be thought of. The orange crop might have been sold on the trees, but Grace, the buyer, was hesitating about prices in face of the sudden decline in prices. And, even if Grace bought, it would only stave off the inevitable for three months. And Colonel Delaine was not likely to get any better.

"The meteorological bureau will notify us in time," said the girl. "Two days at most. Vanna, I'm going to set my men, Jim and Pete, to work piling wood between all my rows of trees, and between yours, Vanna. This may be like the frost of '95 that killed all the trees in this district." Vanna demurred, but Harvey insisted. "I've just got a sort of hunch, Vanna," he said. Three days later, when the work was completed, frost warnings appeared in the local papers. There was considerable bustle. Orange trees will stand three or four degrees of frost; not more. Three or four was the worst that had been known in nearly thirty years.

A few planters got some corn cobs and light stuff in readiness for a smudge—most took no notice of the warning. But the temperature was falling steadily. It was going down two degrees an hour, and when it touched freezing Harvey was over at Vanna's place. "I've told the boys to light up, Van," he said. "Come along and let's get busy. We need all the hands we can get."

Two hours later the thermometer stood at 27. An hour after that it was at 25. It touched 23 at midnight. But the fires on Harvey's and Vanna's land were throwing out heat and a cloud of smudge to shelter the tender trees. All night they and the blacks labored. And at seven in the morning it was just 32, and going up steadily. The danger was past. The golden fruit hung ripe upon the trees. But all around them lay ruined plantations and dead trees.

Grace was up post haste that morning. "I'll take that four dollars you offered, Miss Delaine," he said. Harvey, standing by her, laughed. "We'll wait and see what news the papers have," he answered. "See here, I'll make it five-fifty," stammered Grace.

"I won't sell under seven," said Harvey firmly. "You'd better hold out for that, too, Vanna." "You be d—d!" spluttered Grace, remounting his horse and galloping away in dudgeon.

Elmer Meredith was around a little later. He glanced invidiously at the crop. "Some smart work, Miss Vanna," he drawled. "I jest came over about that little matter of the mortgage." He glanced invidiously at Harvey. Grace came galloping up. "I'll make it seven!" he shouted.

"Eight's our price now," said Harvey, and Grace closed promptly. "All right, Mr. Meredith, we'll send you a check this afternoon," he said. "What the devil's it got to do with you?" demanded Meredith.

"Oh, perhaps you didn't know that Miss Delaine and I are engaged to be married," Harvey answered.

A Christmas Spirit by Eleanor E. King

IT WAS early Christmas morning. The shadow of a tall gray form cast itself upon the wall of the adjoining building, then followed around until its ghastly shape was cast upon the door. It moved slightly, then remained there for several minutes. The boards of the small porch creaked under the heavy weight upon them. A sudden whirl of the cutting December wind brought the door knob from its dangling position on the battered door to an immediate reckoning with the floor. It took the full course, rolling down the flight of stairs into the street.

The gray specter started, giving a little grunt, as it rearranged some scattered heaps of something hardly discernible in the grayed atmosphere. The figure then picked its way over the creaky boards to a window nearby. Long thin fingers were put up to the window to enable the objects inside to be better viewed. Seemingly satisfied the phantom moved off down the stairs.

As the darkness began to lift a little, it looked as though he carried a large bag, sometimes upon his back, and then again on his arm. Perhaps this was some destitute person, and unable to bear Christmas dawn in his home with nothing for his children, he was taking this illegal means of getting it. But if so, why was he attempting to find what he wanted in homes which looked so unpromising? Only across the street the buildings did not appear quite so dilapidated and forlorn. Still the gray specter haunted the doorways along the block. Upon close observation he seemed to have a certain formula that he carried out at each place.

Soon, a door opened across the street and very cautiously a man crossed to the side where the figure was. The man watched the phantom awhile and after seeing him go through this performance two or three times he stole up behind the gray specter as he was on his way to the next shack. When he was close enough to the form lurking in the shadow he said in an uncertain voice: "Hands up, you low down thief! So that's the way you get those fine clothes! Drop that bag!"—as he flashed the star on his coat.

To the poor man's surprise his captive began laughing. "So it's all a joke with you, is it? Just tell that to the judge," said the man opening the bag. When his head emerged he looked at the tall gray-coated man in front of him with a puzzled face.

"You haven't much in this bag for all the places I watched you visit. Explain this idea of robbing these poor people anyway." "If you had left me a little longer, the bag would have been empty. Don't you think you have been a little hasty in your judgment? My arms are getting tired holding them up this way."

"Oh, come off. None of this sentimental stuff!" "Well, come over to this house and I will show you what I have been doing."

paniment on the piano. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Peril and family, Robert Peril and Miss Letha Stone. Bad weather and the condition of the roads prevented others from coming. Some, who could not come, listened to the music over the telephone. The evening was enjoyed by all listeners.

Box Supper at Hunt School House

A real live box supper was pulled off at the Hunt School house Saturday night, December 8, proceeds from same to be used for play-ground equipment and current expenses of school. Our running expense, equipping one room with new single desks, has been donated by the people, either by private subscriptions or box suppers for the last five years.

Our boys have been largely responsible for this, as they always respond when the call comes for bids for which we thank them. This last occasion was a bit out of the ordinary; the boxes were disposed of as usual at a fair price, then a big cake furnished by Mrs. L. L. Hardin loomed up to be given to the prettiest girl, the one getting the most votes. The married men present, some ten or twelve in number, lined up against the boys with a married lady, Mrs. T. C. Hall, against the girl selected by the boys, Miss Eula Zumwalt. The old guys were some sports for a while, but the boys, more accustomed to the game, came too strong and the old boys had to give up in despair. However, the cake netted the nice sum of $51.20. The total amount from all sources amounted to $93.40.

Everybody present had one more square meal and went away feeling much better for having done their bit toward keeping our little school, of which we are very proud, going. Here's hoping for a grand success when we next undertake to raise some cash for school purposes.

A program consisting of short comedy skits and Christmas features will be given by the pupils of the school Wednesday, December 19, 1923. We extend a cordial invitation to all that wish to attend.

A Patron of the Hunt School.

TIVY HIGH NOTES

By Lucille Taylor

Miss Carlette Tarver spent the week end in San Antonio shopping.

The Spanish III Class will give a short play next Monday morning during the Auditorium period.

The following new pupils enrolled Monday: Norma and Milton Kalsing from San Antonio and Nina and Clay Karnes from Ingram.

The entire school is busy practicing for the Christmas program to be given Thursday, December 20, at 7:45 p. m. A nominal fee of 25 cents will be charged, the proceeds of which will be used for the benefit of the school library.

The debate "Resolved that Calisthenics Should Be Compulsory," that the eighth grade had, was won by the affirmative. Those debating were: Edith Shultze and Harold Hagens, affirmative; King Canfield and Myrtle Brown, negative.

Last Friday afternoon the Seniors celebrated the birthday of their classmate, Miss Otha Albe, with party given in the Domestic Science Room. Delicious refreshments were served to the faculty of the High School and members of the class.

Spanish Club The second and third Spanish Classes reorganized their Spanish Club Tuesday and plans were made for the initiation of Spanish I Saturday night in the Domestic Science Room, where an elaborate ceremony will be carried out. The following officers were elected: Ruth McCoy, president; Herman Rees, vice president; Anna Belle Council, secretary-treasurer; and Ada Nance, reporter.

San Antonio Express: One Kerrville firm, that founded by Capt. Chas. Schreiner many years ago and which is known wherever wool and mohair are items of consequence, has just sold the annual fall clip, this time aggregating 600,000 pounds, at prices that were satisfactory. The first shipment of 400,000 pounds, loaded into 13 San Antonio & Aransas Pass cars, moved out immediately after the consummation of the sale and the rest followed a few days later. There will be provision for a joyous Christmas in the Kerrville country because of this sale. One of the chief pleasures of living in Southwest Texas is that there is such a diversity of business interests and so many sources of prosperity that there is something coming in all the time. The finest truck, the rarest citrus fruit, unequaled spinach, wool and mohair that make Australia and Montana jealous—all these and more are already adding to San Antonio territory's bank roll at a time when less favored sections of the United States are pining over the fact that it's a case of "everything going out and nothing coming in."

HOLLY AND MISTLETOE

Holly grows in almost every country, and because of its thorns and its blood-red berries was associated, centuries ago, with the Passion of Christ. Mistletoe, which grows on oak trees, used to be held sacred by pagans because the oak was supposed to be the symbol of their god, Thor. At the time of the great pagan winter festivals it was customary to decorate with all kinds of green things. When people became Christians they held onto some of the old customs and continued to decorate their homes and places of worship with greenery. Holly, which was easily secured at Christmas time, naturally became a favorite, and the mistletoe failed to be forgotten, though it is not used in churches because it was once so closely allied with pagan ceremonies.

KRIS KRINGLE FUDGE

Pour one cupful of milk into a saucepan, add one-quarter cupful of corn syrup, four table-spoonfuls of creamed butter and two cupfuls of sugar, bring to boiling point and cook until it reaches the soft-ball stage. Take from the fire, add one cupful of preserved cherries cut in halves and one tea-spoonful rose extract and beat until creamy. Pour into a buttered pan and, when cool, cut into neat squares or rounds.

WHY AMERICA SHOULD PROHIBIT FOREIGN IMMIGRATION FOR FIVE YEARS

Below is given the text of the theme written by Charles Coppock of this city which won second prize in the State-wide contest conducted by the American Legion:

In this age of international unrest and complex uncertainties; of great problems, their solutions hanging in the balance for lack of decisive judgment and the absence of co-operation among the disrupted functions of society, the immigration situation becomes, in America, a disturbing menace to the foundations of our National unity and, like divers other international problems, its solution remains thus far a complex enigma.

The American citizen, through the perseverance of the press, and the lung-power of our esteemed solons, has become invested with a fair conception of the import and forbidding possibilities of this question, looming up on the near horizon in the form of a red cloud of radical smoke with its chaotic accompaniment of anarchistic mutterings. With these great questions unsolved, civilization is advancing by slow and tortuous stages, the commerce of the world is insecure and war and anarchy lurk in every corner of the globe.

Through the gold and influence of America's "big interests," there has been, and is being imported a vast army of alien workers, idlers and strife-stirrers who lodge in colonies in those organic centers of industry—the cities, there to live, not citizens, but foreigners in principles, ideas and customs. It is easily seen that these nondescript races, with anarchistic heritage, constitute a dire menace—an army, slow-moving and treacherous—which, if their condition is not altered for the better in the next five years or so, will undermine the ideals and fundamental principles of American citizenship and precipitate our cherished traditions in the dust.

To the thoughtlessly optimistic it seems but plausible that America has only to assimilate these peoples, deport the undesirable, and Americanize the useful classes. True, but the Government must have time—not less than five years—in which to accomplish this. Hence, for at least half of the next decade foreign immigration to America must be prohibited if the inevitable consequences are to be averted.

In prohibiting foreign immigration for a period of five years, America will be assisting in a large way the recuperation of Europe's war-devastated areas. It is small wonder that the European nations have been slow in recovering to an economic, political, and social basis, when their most useful citizens are forsaking their enterprises and coming to America—that fabled land of opportunities—in hope of material betterment. If the races of those countries are forced to accept the inevitable, we may feel secure in the faith that they will adapt themselves to their war-shattered environments, and imbibe the spirit of reconstruction and reorganization.

In America the native laborer, having been deprived of his rightful heritage and employment by the lower living-standards of the alien, will, with the more equal distribution and apportionment of foreign labor, be restored to his rightful position with a more satisfactory wage.

Five years of barred immigration will, with the upbuilding of European countries, and the revival of trade between the Old World and the New, and with the renewal of international relationship among these nations, become a dominant instrument in the realization of the providences of a World peace.

SANTA FETCHED MY DOLLY

Generosity in Giving

By CHARLES FREDERICK WADSWORTH

(© 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

WHAT constitutes a generous gift?

Is it necessarily an expensive limousine with cut-glass bouquet holders and door handles? A diamond brooch set in platinum? A baby grand piano? A fifty-thousand-dollar check? A mansion or a bungalow?

Generosity is relative. You may be able and perfectly willing to bestow any of the named gifts upon a friend or relative and yet not be generous. Any one of them may represent to you a mere bauble, and to the recipient it may be but a duplication of one already possessed and of no particular value or enjoyment. In fact, the thought might be held that you should have done better.

A generous gift represents some sacrifice upon the part of the giver. It might involve a sacrifice of money, or time, or service, but often a little sacrifice of pride will make some one happy.

To suppress a real or imaginary wound to the feelings and sincerely and frankly re-establish cordial relations with a friend would be one of the most generous gifts one could bestow, even though that friend might lack nothing in the way of wealth or other apparent means to the normal enjoyment of life.

There are cases where a sacrifice of money would relieve real distress; a little time and sympathy might give new impetus to a disordered existence; a gift of utility might relieve physical pain and inconvenience; a gift of beauty might bring happiness for the moment; a gift of food might save a physical life.

All of these undoubtedly would add to the enjoyment of the recipient, for the time, at least, and the giver would have a certain satisfaction in doing something to that end.

But in the complexities of the modern life more people are hungry for some one's heart-interest than for any other one thing.

To give of your heart is a generous gift that will make every recipient glad, and also the giver. Such a gift will enrich the life and soul of him who receives it, and most of all, will fill the life of him who proffers it with the music of the eternal symphonies.

LEGION AUXILIARY PLANS CHRISTMAS FOR EX-SOLDIERS

"We are asking for candy, fruit, nuts, small cakes with nuts in them (or any small cakes that will keep), socks, ties, children's toys, children's stockings (ages, two to eight years), fountain pens, pencils, stationery, cigarettes, bath robes made of blankets or Turkish cloth, razor blades, talcum powder, tooth paste, shaving cream, outing flannel pajamas, and bed room slippers. Each boy has his own locker but no coat hangers, so we could use many. Some money for decorations, etc., would be acceptable. Checks from the State Hospital Fund will help supply the needs of the patients.

"My plan is to have a boy act as Secretary in each ward and find out what each man needs; for instance, not give a bath robe to a man if he has one. In this way, they will be more like individual gifts.

"Please fix these packages just the same as if they were for your own boys. Gifts tied with the silver or gold thread or ribbon, wrapped in tissue paper, stickers, etc., on them, make the boys feel that we have not forgotten what they did for us.

"Christmas boxes should be carefully marked with the name and address of the Unit sending and addressed to me (Mrs. H. H. Kuhlmann) Kerrville, Texas. All perishable things should reach us not later than December 18th. Our tree (if we have it in the city), will be on December 23rd, the ones at the hospital on December 24th. The children of patients at the hospital cannot attend the tree there.

"Of course some of these men on the outside don't need any help, but others do. We have some big problems here, but have so many lovely boxes sent in from units with things for mothers and babies. Boxes for the welfare work have been sent by units at the following places: Wellington, a box (weight 250 pounds), with quilts, pillows, blankets and clothing; four boxes from Colorado; three from Galveston; Port Arthur; a box of cake from Gonzales; Denison, sleeping caps; Westhoff, sleeping caps; Mercedes; Austin; and Amarillo sent a box of warm baby clothes. These boxes were all lovely and contained many useful things. The Bay City unit sent $15.00 ($5.00 per month

A CHRISTMAS RESOLVE

CHRISTMAS is especially a children's day, and one of the things which a proper Christmas attitude should bring about is a firm resolve on the part of each mother to learn what is best for her child, and do it irrespective of the child's whim or desires. This not only is true of gifts which the child receives at Christmas, but of its food and raiment, its sleeping room and its playroom. All of these should be as carefully guarded as the traditions on which the Christmas celebration is founded.

BE THANKFUL

That You Have Something To Be Thankful For

Over three hundred years ago the Pilgrims landed in New England. They didn't have any flippers, no electric lights, no indoor plumbing, no steam heat, no bathtubs. What they did have they were thankful for.

Today we have everything the Pilgrims had and a thousand things more. So be thankful, be thankful.
