HAGERMAN WOMAN HAS NARROW ESCAPE IN HIGH WATERS NEAR ARTESIA

Mrs. Perry Andrus, small daughter of Hagerman, and sister, Mrs. Luckabee of Brownfield, Texas narrowly escaped drowning when their car stalled in a dip a half mile north of Artesia during the flood caused by heavy rains at Artesia.

Mrs. Andrus was driving the car when they arrived at the dip which was running moderately deep in water, and was afraid to try to make the crossing. Two Mexicans arriving in a Ford volunteered to drive the car across, but stalled the engine. Mrs. Andrus lifted the five months old babe over her head and the two women climbed out in water up to their arms. When the car was pulled out last night, the water was up to within six inches of its top.

GEO. W. LOSEY PIONEER RESIDENT OF HAGERMAN DIED HERE SATURDAY

George W. Losey, 80, for eighteen years one of the foremost residents of Hagerman and president of the First National Bank, passed away quietly last Saturday afternoon about three o'clock.

Mr. Losey's death was not unexpected nor a surprise to the community as he had lain for many months between life and death, and several times it seemed as though the end was near, but his strong vitality enabled him to rally and live on till last Saturday afternoon.

For the past eighteen years he had been prominent in the life of the community, and as president of the First National Bank, had won a wide reputation as a safe and capable banker. Until later years had lessened somewhat his activities, he had been actively prominent in all the affairs of the community. His had been a varied, busy and useful life.

Born in Tuscarawas County, Ohio, December 18, 1849, the eldest of three children, of whom two sisters have preceded him in death, he removed to Iowa at an early age, where he preempted forty acres of government land. He married Eliza Van Buskirk in Davis County, Iowa, and to them were born two children, Nellie and Lon. He moved to Madison County, Nebraska in 1882, where he married his second wife, Mary Ellen Heath, and to them were born five children, William, Ed, Willard, Ray and Mayre, three of whom were present at the funeral, William, Willard (Pete) and Mayre.

Mr. Losey was sheriff of Madison County, Nebraska for 12 years, a successful and capable officer. He moved to Fremont, Nebraska in 1910 to educate his children. He served in the legislature of Nebraska for one term. He came to New Mexico in the fall of 1912 purchasing the First National Bank, of which he has been president since that date.

His family came in the spring of 1913. Mrs. Losey died here in 1918. Two of his children have preceded him in death, Nellie, who died in 1919 and Ed, who died in 1928.

The funeral was held in the family residence Tuesday, a large number of friends gathering from the communities of Roswell and Dexter to pay their last respects to his memory. The funeral services were under the direction of Rev. James A. Hedges, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Hagerman, assisted by Rev. John G. Anderson, pastor of the Dexter Presbyterian church.

BALL PLAYER CASHES LOT OF WORTHLESS CHECKS AND SKIPS

Officers are making a diligent search in an effort to locate "Slim" Roberts, baseball pitcher, who left town after cashing and forging checks in the amount of about $200.00. Roberts made a hurried departure Sunday after a good days work among the business men Saturday, when he passed a dozen or more worthless checks and in the number were two alleged forgeries.

Roberts joined the Oiler baseball club here about three months ago as a pitcher, coming from Arizona. He recently finished the season with the local club and had remained apparently for a visit. When he decided to leave town, he evidently thought it best to leave with a full purse and worked overtime Saturday evening cashing checks at various stores, sometimes making a purchase and sometimes getting the cash without the trouble of buying a small article in connection with the transaction.

According to officers, Roberts is known to have gone to El Paso after leaving here Sunday morning and is believed to have taken a plane for the west coast. El Paso officers are also seeking Roberts on a cold check charge, it was said.

FAMILY GATHERING

Monday evening, the Nazarene parsonage was the scene of a very happy gathering when Mrs. Hartline's mother, Mrs. M. H. Rigdon, son, D. F. Owens and family, and son-in-law, C. J. Wilde and family, brought their supper and spent the evening.

DEMOCRATS OPENED STATE CAMPAIGN IN THE VALLEY YESTERDAY

Both democrats and republicans have opened the state campaign. Judge Carl A. Hatch, newly elected democratic state chairman arrived in Santa Fe Thursday to assume his duties. Early itineraries of democratic speaking dates have been mapped out and started. The first group, which includes United States Senator Sam Bratton, former Governor James F. Hinkle, nominee for land commissioner, Arcenio Velarde, candidate for auditor and Mrs. Marguerite Baca, candidate for secretary of state opened a speaking engagement at Bernalillo yesterday.

Arthur Seligman, nominee for governor may also speak at the meeting. From Bernalillo the group goes to Gallup today, to Aztec on October 3, to Tierra Amarilla for an afternoon meeting October 4 and to Chama that night. There will be no Sunday campaigns.

The second democratic group will be composed of Dennis Chavez candidate for congress, E. K. Neumann, candidate for attorney general, Mrs. Georgia Lusk, candidate for superintendent, Andy Hockenull, for lieutenant governor and Warren Graham for state treasurer. This group stopped at Roswell yesterday, visiting Carlsbad today and Lovington tomorrow.

TURNING ON THE GAS

The way everything is getting organized nowadays, it should not surprise you to hear some Pecos valley farmer refer to his hired hand as the "third vice-president in charge of cows," to his crew of cotton pickers as the "collection department," to his wife, as the "firm's junior partner, head of the department of internal sustenance," to his daughter as, "buyer at large," to his tractor as, "publicity director," (because of the noise), to his planter as "sales manager of seed," and to his old hound as "sergeant at arms, custodian of jack rabbits and disciplinarian of cats."

Whenever it starts to rain, my wife stops it by making me put out the tubs.

Advertised my shot gun one day and sold it the next which caused Jim Michelet to stick a few words in this paper in regard to his Remington Automatic shotgun. Please don't buy it, because he said that I could shoot it till he sold it, and it's the shootingest piece of furniture that I ever punctured the atmosphere with.

Bryan Hall is sittin' on pins and needles these days. After the conference at Portales, he may get to come back here and he may have to go somewhere else. If he goes somewhere else, he may be better off than he is here, and if he stays here he may be in a better place than somewhere else would be.

Now, if he were a Baptist, he could stay here until the board of deacons advised the church to dismiss him, and if he had as much foresight as the writer, he could eliminate the board of deacons, and everything would be hunky-dory.

Op's Note—Hagerman Baptists have been wonderin' why they were unable to oust the parson. Now that they know, the only way to get rid of him is to shoot him. Maybe some mornin' the headline will read "parson, half shot leaves town."

A fellow handed us a bunch of "hooey" the other day and said, "Here this will help fill up your paper." That is analogous to two things. One of them is a gink's wife handing him a box of concentrated wind, namely "puffed wheat" and telling him to fill up on it, and the other is her setting before him a plate stacked high with half raw pancakes with the admonition to "fill your stomach." When will people learn that our task is not to fill the paper, but to print news and articles that are worth while. We frankly admit that this column does not come under the latter head, but then every boiler must have its pop-off, or it will blow up, and this is our excuse for this baloney. But if you think it would be a hard task to crowd the columns of the paper every week—take a peep at my waste basket.

Most of Arizona arrived Tuesday to pick cotton. Texas and Oklahoma were also largely represented, with more delegates on the way.

Tanner with arms akimbo looking at the huge holes in the roof of his office. Orley Brock climbing onto the top of his theater and attempting to count the leaky places which stood out like freckles on an Irishman's map, but giving up in disgust. Two citizens pointing to a suddenly open space on the roof of the Pecos valley Alfalfa Mill. The boys of the C. and C. Garage sweeping out the oceans of water. Dr. Lindberg inspecting the damage to his new Ford coupe. Ten thousand farmers, more or less, standing on the street corner comparing damn-tryng to trade car tops with the Baptist clergyman, and getting tak-

Rue joking courageously with his cotton crop wiped out, 25 turkeys killed, one horse beaten almost to death apparently gasping its last, and his feed all ruined. Cotton pickers in tents spreading soaked bed clothes out on fences to dry. A run on the lumber yard for roofing materials. A half dozen men making resolutions to re-roof their houses with tin. Farmers saying that they were just as well off without any cotton as long as the republicans were in office, and it was selling on the market three pounds for a quarter, etc., and some more.

LET'S CHANGE THE PARTY EMBLEM?

If political propoganda gets much stronger we expect to see the time when old time democrats may have a price on their heads. Did you know that this specie of political faith has been responsible for all of the hard times we've had and we are almost convinced now that it was a democrat that caused the locusts to invade Egypt during the ancient times and may have been back of all the pestilence that has persisted and persecuted the human race since that time. It was Cleveland and the democrats that caused hard times in the early nineties and it was Wilson and the democrats that caused the panic and hard times after the war.

Mr. Coolidge was elected on the prosperity program and so was Mr. Hoover, but Mr. Hoover's prosperity program miscarried and the republicans tell us that it was on account of the democrats notwithstanding the republicans had control of the administration and both houses of congress. You see that shows you what kind of a worm the democrat is always tearing down somebody's playhouse. The democrats haven't been connected with the nation wide drouth yet, but the campaign isn't over. We expect to hear a plausible explanation of the connection. Likely as not the durn democrats got next to the weather man a gave him a little hush money to hold off the rain. If the democrats can't be definitely connected with the drouth and hard times of the present, the period will go down in history as a temporary business depression, otherwise the harsher term democratic panic will be applied to the period.

If the democratic party had been so unfortunate as to have elected a president during the 1928 campaign, it would have been definitely established by the propogandists that democracy and hard times was a synonymous term. Under the present circumstances, it would seem a logical step for the democrats to adopt the goat as a party emblem. They seem to get the blame for everything anyway.

The Roswell Record comments on the diversity of the climatic conditions in New Mexico. During July the thermometer ranged from a maximum of 110° F. to a minimum of 32° F. You can find almost any kind of climate that you want in the sunshine state.

About the only people who suffer in silence are those who suffer when required to remain silent.

THE TWO TICKETS

This is one election year that the democrats won't have to offer any apologies for the ticket nominated at the state convention. As a whole the ticket appears to be an exceptionally strong one, at least as far as this section is concerned. If we may lend ear to the current comments, the men and women composing the recent ticket, make it one of the strongest, if not the strongest offered since New Mexico was admitted to statehood. This of course will be a big party asset in asking the public's support and combined with party harmony should give cause for optimism for the success of the ticket.

The Albuquerque Journal in discussing the two tickets, says "on arriving at the merits of the democratic or republican nominees, the people of the state must take into consideration the party leaders responsible for the selection of the tickets, as well as the candidates themselves, the party platform pledges and whether there is any likelihood of the promises made being fulfilled."

The Journal alleges that the republican ticket dictated by the old guard has nothing to offer the people of the state who are desirous of clean government. The republican nominee for governor owes his nomination to Mr. Springer of the highway commission and his hands are tied so far as promising any reforms in the highway department. The Albuquerque newspaper further states that both candidates for governor and the senate on the republican ticket are corporate minded and have little or no sympathy for the progressive legislation for the laboring class of people. The republicans likewise ignored requests for a plank amending the workmen's compensation law, while the democrats pledged themselves to improve the law.

Arthur Seligman of Santa Fe, democratic nominee, is a business man whose length or residence in the state has enabled him to know the conditions of New Mexico. His knowledge of the state combined with his business ability should enable him to handle the affairs of the state in a business like manner. The average citizen, who isn't hunting a political job, has or should have interest enough in state affairs to want to see the maximum results from a minimum expense. With this point of view, we believe this is one year when Mr. Average Citizen isn't going to be herded into the republican ranks without a thought of the consequences. If Mr. Seligman has made a success of his own business, it is reasonable to suppose that he can do as much for the state. And a successful administration should mean at least that we are to have no further increase in taxes.

The remainder of the democratic ticket, without exception, is strong enough to command the respect of the public.

HAGERMAN LOSES BENEFACTOR

In the death of George W. Losey, pioneer resident, Hagerman loses one of its greatest benefactors. We owe much of our development as a community to this man of energy, clear cut opinions, sound judgment, and faith in the possibilities of the Pecos valley agriculturally. Those who knew him, can best realize his part in the building of the district. Those of us who are comparative newcomers can appreciate the foundation which this man of vision laid. We cannot overestimate the value of a public spirited banker in any community—and such a man was George W. Losey. He drops the mantle of his usefulness to his son, who will "carry on," and leaves with the citizens of the town the inspiration of his faith—which will not die.

SHOULD BE LARGER FAMILY

It is really too bad that there are not more children in the LaFollette family as some of the political jobs in Wisconsin may have to be filled by some one other than a LaFollette, with young Bob in the U. S. Senate and Phil as Governor, there ought to be one or two members of the family in the house of representatives in congress.—Inland Oil Index.

The federal prohibition officers liked to have been too late with the announcement that wine making in the home is legal, the grape season is just about over.

INSIDE INFORMATION

Serve hot foods hot on hot plates. Serve cold foods cold—not lukewarm. It is astonishing how many homemakers ignore this simple and obvious detail of an attractive meal.

Apple butter may be made with or without cider and is a good means of using up windfall and other imperfect apples that must be cooked to be saved. The U. S. Department of Agriculture will tell you how to make it.

Use sturdy washable materials for kitchen curtains. Make them with a tuck in or near the heading to allow for shrinkage. Unbleached muslin, gingham, glass toweling, English prints, or Japanese crepe are good materials to use.

To make old fashioned creamy rice pudding put a tablespoon of washed rice in a baking dish with 1 quart, of milk, 1/3 cup of sugar, 1/2 teaspoon of nutmeg or cinnamon, and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Cook very slowly in the oven for 2 or 3 hours, stirring often. A cup of raisins may be added.

Water containing iron can usually be improved for laundry purposes by adding a little limewater or washing soda to the water. Stir it thoroughly, let the iron settle to the bottom, and draw off the clearest water. It is better to filter the water thru cloth or other material.

STANCILL FORMER ROSWELL MAN KILLED

Leo Smith, Hot Springs mayor, who is alleged to have shot and killed C. N. Stancill, a Hot Springs garage operator at Hot Springs last week, has been liberated under a $2,000 bond. Stancill was shot and killed during an altercation with Smith, after he refused admission to Smith, who is said to have wanted to search the Stancill home for stolen jewelry. Smith claims that his gun went off accidentally. Stancill, who died Friday morning at Hot Springs made his home in Roswell for more than thirty years. Dick Welch, shot by officers at Engle, after they had attempted to arrest him on charge of robbery of the Smith residence, was also a former resident of Roswell.

POHOE HARVE A ED INDIAN SCOUT
S AT KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, Missouri—Arapaho, the only white man who has averted the Indian massacre on the banks of the Big Horn died Saturday. He was 80 years old. He was an associate of General Custer, and only that his horse gave out preventing him from warning the general of the massacre which awaited the army in 1876.

He was warned of the massacre under Chiefs Sitting Bull and Crazy Horse. He was 290 miles away at the time and started out to warn Custer. His trip took 20 hours of riding and before he could get to the scene of the massacre, he was captured and was tied to a tree and wood was heaped over him, but he was saved when the Indian scout pleaded for his life.

CHEAPEST FEED FOR RANGE LIVESTOCK

Cheapest feed for range livestock in New Mexico is the forage made by the animals, according to studies made by J. L. Lantow, of the animal husbandry department of the New Mexico Agricultural College. Tests were conducted feeding various amounts of alfalfa and other feeds to pens of livestock grazing on the college range. It was found over a period of years, that large amounts of cottonseed were profitable unless it became necessary to feed due to heavy other emergency conditions. Generally speaking, if cottonseed is overstocked or poor practices have been followed, it is more profitable to cull the heavy or move the entire herd rather than damage the heavy over grazing. Average price conditions it may be to feed over one-half ton per day to calves in the fall, unless they are sold in the spring. If the calves are to be sold in the spring, Lantow, one pound per day may usually be profitable. For cows, one pound per day will give the best results. While this small amount may not seem to have much effect on the gain of the calf when dropped, it enables her to produce a considerably more milk which will give rapid gains in the suckling calf next summer. Studies further show that it is better to feed cattle a small supplement when they are in fairly good condition rather than merely to reduce losses from starvation. Information in regard to these experiments may be obtained by writing to the experimenter, State College, New Mexico, for a copy of bulletin 185, "Feeding of Range Livestock."

BERRYHILL DEAD

Berryhill, 78, well-known in Eastern New Mexico died in the East Grand Plains on Sunday evening. He had been in ill health for three or four years and was suffering from a heart ailment. Berryhill had lived in this country more than 17 years. As he had gained a wide reputation with livestock men throughout the state. He holds ranch properties near Tatum.

TOADS LIVING FOUND SEALED IN AN OLD OKLA. INDIAN MOUND

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla.—Three toads taken alive from an Indian mound in northwestern Oklahoma where scientists said they probably had been imprisoned for three or four centuries, were on display here Tuesday at the State Historical Society Museum.

J. B. Thoburn, curator of the historical society, said the age of the amphibians depended largely upon the origin of the mound. If the elevation was made by hand, he said, it is probable the toads were imprisoned 300 or 400 years, if it was of natural origin, the age of the toads might be even greater.

Thoburn and two other archaeologists made the discovery while excavating the mound, believed to be the ruins of an imitation pueblo. The toads were dormant with lips and eyes sealed, Thoburn said, but within a few moments after being liberated, hopped about with agility, their lips and eyes open.

Each was in a small pit about three or four feet below the surface of the ground with on means of egress on ingress. Above them but still some distance below the surface was the remains of a sunken fire pit of a lodge believed to have belonged to a band of Comanche or Kiowa Indians who until approximately 50 years ago roamed the plains of this section. The curator pointed to this fact as proof that the toads had lived in their dormant positions for centuries.

The discovery was made two miles northeast of Gate.

SOUTH CAN REDUCE COTTON ACREAGE AND RETAIN SAME OUTPUT

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Carl Williams of the federal farm board outlined to the United Press Saturday a far-reaching, long time program for southern agriculture which might eventually take 15,000,000 acres out of the cotton production without materially reducing the cotton output of the south.

Williams said the farm board had begun a land utilization study to determine how southern acres best could be used. There are about 45,000,000 acres in cotton now. Williams believes the interests of the south best could be served if that were reduced to about 30,000,000 acres without reducing the yield. Fertilizers and improved production methods could be adopted, he believed.

A NIGHT IN HOLLAND TO BE PRESENTED AT THE COTTON CARNIVAL

"A Night in Holland" a mammoth fireworks display will be a feature of the second night of the Cotton Carnival which starts at Roswell next Wednesday, October 8. In this program will be wind mills, fountains, beautiful shell numbers. This is just one of the unusual and new features which have added to the four day program at Roswell.

A rocking chair endurance contest is scheduled to start on the opening night of the carnival. On Saturday afternoon there will be a day light fire works display which is entirely different from anything ever shown in eastern New Mexico.

Interest continues to grow in the big parade on the opening day of the carnival when organizations, communities and business firms will put out their best in the way of floats. There will also be many unusual features in the parade.

Old timers day on Friday will draw men and women who have been residents of New Mexico thirty years or more from all parts of the state. A big parade in the morning will be limited to these residents and there will be a way for every man and woman to ride. Incidentally it will not be in an automobile. No modern features will be permitted in this parade.

Sixty-one has been the high number of contestants in the rodeo in previous years and according to Edd Amont, one of the managers of this year's show, there will be close to a hundred this year, and among them will be some of the best ropers and riders in the game. There will also be novel entertainment features each afternoon of the rodeo. The rodeo will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons. The carnival continues through Saturday, which will be one of the big days of the four.

TOMATOES GOOD FOOD — RICH IN VITAMINS

Soon the frost will be here and fresh tomatoes will not be available. Let us serve them often while we still have them, says Carolyn F. Wetzel of the New Mexico A. & M. College. There was a time when tomatoes were called love apples and were considered poisonous, so they were not used as food. We have learned that tomatoes are a good food and are rich in vitamins A, B, and C. Vitamin C is of especial value in preventing scurvy. Tomatoes also contain calcium, phosphorus and iron, which are needed to replace the body processes.

Before the frost comes, pick the larger and better developed tomatoes, pack each separately in a lot of newspaper and lay away side by side, not piled, in a cool place. They will gradually ripen during November and December.

Fresh tomatoes may be used in combination with other foods to make a salad. The tomatoes may be sliced or quartered. A few combinations are given here:

Tomatoes, cabbage, celery; tomatoes, cucumber, green pepper; tomatoes, pepper, hard cooked eggs, olives; tomatoes, cooked lima beans, celery; tomatoes, alligator pears, lettuce; tomatoes, cream cheese.

Tomatoes may be stuffed with many different combinations of eggs, olives, meat, fish, celery, shredded pineapple and nuts. Cucumber may enter in these various combinations, before stuffing the tomato mix the combination with salad dressing. Tomatoes may also be stuffed with bread crumbs or cooked meat mixtures and be baked. Broiled tomatoes and escalloped tomatoes are tasty and lend variety.

Tomatoes are the easiest of all vegetables to can. They are so full of water it is suggested that the jar be packed as full as possible with tomatoes, then filled with a puree made by running the riper tomatoes through a strainer. Remember that canned tomatoes retain the food value. Chilled tomato juice is being served as an appetizer. Tomatoes in soups and stews all also a pleasing flavor.

The old saying is, "Eat what you can and what you can't eat can."

60 ILLEGAL RADIO STATIONS TO BE MADE SILENT SOON

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The federal radio commission has declared war on pirates of the air and with the cooperation of the justice department, expects to silence nearly sixty stations operating illegally.

After months of intercepting code messages, the commission has turned over to the justice department data on three score stations, most of which are suspected of being used by international smugglers and other lawless organizations.

Most of the illegal radio stations radio supervisors have found, operate on short wave lengths with receivers fixed to receive messages only on a specified channel. The outlaw stations were found through the use of automobiles equipped for testing frequencies and power used.

Commissioner Harold A. LaFont believes when the monitoring radio station being erected at Grand Island, Nebraska, by the Commerce department is placed in full operation, the detecting of the renegade stations will be expediated.

FISH WILL BE TRANSPLANTED

SANTA FE—State Game and Fish Commissioner Edgar L. Perry will supervise moving black bass from the state fish hatchery near Dexter.

Eugene Catte, government fish hatchery operator in Kansas, has agreed to remove the fish. If the endeavor is successful the fish will be planted in the Pecos river, its tributary streams and other streams and lakes of southeastern New Mexico.

An attempt was made this summer to partially drain the hatchery pond and remove some of the fish. The bass however, took refuge in the high moss on the bottom of the pond. Removal of the moss, a procedure followed in other bass hatcheries, was found almost impossible due to the soft muddy bottom.

Catte, however, has promised Commissioner Perry to show his men how to transplant the fish. This pisciculturist long operated a private fish hatchery in Kansas. His success attracted the federal government's attention. The government leased his hatchery and placed Catte under its employment to raise fish for Kansas streams.

OIL SHALE QUESTION WILL BE PROBED AFTER CHARGES MADE MONDAY

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A full investigation of the whole oil shale question was welcomed by secretary Wilbur after charges had been made by Ralph S. Kelley, head of the general land office at Denver, that the interior department had shown favoritism to large oil companies in administering western oil shale lands.

Kelley, who has held land office posts at Salt Lake City and Denver for 25 years, made his charges recently when he announced his resignation in a statement to the press. Secretary Wilbur Monday defended his oil land policy in a lengthy statement. He said he had declined to accept Kelley's resignation because of the "seriousness" of his charges, but had suspended the Denver official and directed him to file immediately the names of the companies he claims have been favored, "with dates and nature of the transactions mentioned."

The resignation came as a surprise, Wilbur said, because Kelley had been ordered on July 7 to come to Washington to take charge of the "very work" he criticized and had not yet reported to the secretary. He did, however, come here about August 5 and worked approximately a month at the land office during the secretary's absence, Wilbur said.

Kelley asserted that for the past five years large oil companies, "because of great political and other pressure brought to bear on the secretary" had received favorable consideration in attempts to gain possession of valuable oil lands.

Wilbur said no leases for oil shale had been issued under his administration and that the majority of claims on shale land not invalidated by the coming into force of the general leasing act of 1920 were held in the name of "individuals or associations of individuals, made up largely of local people in the immediate vicinity of the deposits."

"Whether so-called large oil companies purchased these claims after patent is a matter over which the department has no information or control," the secretary added. He said further that President Hoover's conservation policy did not extend to claims located under the old mineral leasing act and that this law left intact such claims so long as they were maintained in accordance with the law.

Prior to 1920, he added, several thousands of these claims had been located in Colorado, Utah and Wyoming, covering more than 3,000,000 acres.

PRES. HOOVER'S PUBLIC LEAD COMMITTEE TO VISIT THIS SECTION

ALAMOGORDO.—President Hoover's public land committee investigating the public lands situation visited Alamogordo Tuesday. This was their third stop in the state.

Otero county has two million acres of public domain. Of this one and a half million acres are in the Lincoln National Forest. Less than five per cent is privately owned land.

The party was met here by State Engineer H. W. Yeo, his assistant, Mr. Powell and Land Commissioner A. D. Crile.

The committee's itinerary has included Utah, California, Nevada and Arizona before reaching New Mexico. The object of their inspection is to determine for recommendation the best disposition of the lands remaining in the public domain.

The committee's next stop is Carlsbad. They will also visit Hobbs and parts of the oil field in Eddy county before leaving the state.

JUDGE HATCH APPOINTED

Judge Carl Hatch of Clovis was appointed democratic state chairman at Santa Fe Saturday afternoon. Hatch's appointment came somewhat as a surprise, as he had once refused to serve in that capacity.

John Bingham was reappointed secretary of the central committee and will act as treasurer temporarily until a man can be found to take the place of Clyde Tingley, elected by the central committee but unable to accept because of private business.

Secretary of War Hurley hits it off about right when he says an oil prospector is a man who doesn't know whether he is four feet from a million dollars or a million feet from four dollars.—New Orleans States.

NEW RULES GOVERNING MINERAL LEASES ON STATE LANDS POSTED

SANTA FE—Regulations relating to miscellaneous leases of state lands were posted at the state land office Friday.

They outline the conditions upon which the land office hereafter will execute potash, sand, gravel, gypsum, clay, stone placer and lode mineral, coal and salt leases and the terms which will be incorporated in contracts for the sale of timber on state lands.

There is very little material departure from the practices in the past, Charles B. Barker, land office attorney said, and for that reason the rules were made effective immediately although technically they do not become operative for ten days after posting.

Regarding timber sales, Mr. Barker said, the rules are largely informative. They are not intended to be adhered to rigidly for circumstances will be taken into consideration in determining the conditions of sale.

Ordinarily timber is not sold except after appraisal by a forest service expert. There is a positive rule that a sale will be made only at a public auction which has been advertised.

The terms of payment are one-fourth in one, two and three years thereafter without interest. No cutting will be permitted in advance of payment of a sufficient amount to cover the timber cut.

The land office policy is described as opposed to the sale of lands containing timber in commercial quantity. However, exceptions may be made where the timber is scattering, is of poor quality, and where it can be shown that the lands are not adapted to timber growing and that cutting will not adversely effect streams or water supplies.

The office has taken no objection to local residents taking dead timber from state lands for domestic use, but has no authority to grant a permit covering that subject, and purchasers of state timber may prohibit the carting off of dead timber.

Gypsum, clay and sand, gravel and stone leases are restricted to a maximum of 40 acres and the rental is fixed at a minimum of $25 a year for the tract. The royalty is not less than five per cent of the net proceeds, after treatment and transportation charges have been deducted.

For placer deposits of all kinds the area is not to exceed 640 acres. The rental and royalty is the same as in the case of gypsum and clay leases.

Lode leases are to be on the same basis except that the locality will be taken into consideration in fixing the acreage. Under the law a claim may not exceed 600 by 1500 feet, approximately 20 acres.

The regulations provide that no more than one claim will be included in any one lease except when it is shown that mining operations are to be of such a character as to reasonably justify the inclusion of more than a single claim.

The coal regulations are determined largely by statute. The maximum tract is 640 acres and the rental $25 annually. The royalty is ten cents a ton and must be at least $3 for the first year, $4 for the second and $5 a year thereafter.

Prospective permits are granted for lode minerals for a term of 90 days and upon payment of $1. The prospecting permit for coal is for a year and the payment is not to be less than $10.

For potash leases the maximum acreage is 3,000 acres, and the rental is ten cents an acre with a minimum down payment of not less than $100. There is a requirement for development in the leases upon discovery of the mineral. The minimum royalty is five per cent which is to be computed on the mineral delivered at the nearest or most accessible railroad shipping point.

The same terms apply to leases for sodium, phosphorous and the salts and compounds of these minerals.

As to common salt, the law is followed. The royalty is ten per cent of the sale price at the place of extraction and the advance royalty payments are required as in the case of coal.

In all cases a bond is required for the faithful performance of terms of the lease.

ROOSEVELT COUNTY ROAD OPEN TO TRAFFIC SOON

SANTA FE—The federal aid road project under construction between Portales and Elida is now being finished with caliche type surfacing and will soon be open for traffic, a report from project engineer J. R. Isler to the Highway Department states.

The work is being slowed somewhat as it nears completion because of the large amount of caprock which it is necessary to crush in order to get into the chalky pits of caliche. Despite this difficulty however, the job is moving steadily toward the open for traffic stage.

The road is slightly more than fifteen miles in length and the contract price is $105,401, let to Armstrong & Armstrong of Roswell.

HOLT vs. BRATTON SIMMS vs. CHAVES BOTTS vs. SELIGMAN

—BY—

REPUBLICAN STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE

MR., MRS., and MISS VOTER:

The Republican party of New Mexico again comes to you with a ticket. It is one of the best tickets ever nominated in this or any other state.

Herbert B. Holt of Las Cruces, is the nominee for United States senator. Opposed to him is Senator Sam G. Bratton. Each is a man of high character and known ability. We ask you to consider which of the men would best serve the interests of New Mexico.

H. B. Holt would support the policies of President Hoover. Senator Bratton opposes them. If the Democrats should have a majority in the senate, none of the president's policies could be carried out. That would be unfair to him and bad for the country.

Holt And Simms For New Mexico

H. B. Holt would stand for the protection of New Mexico's products from foreign competition. The Democratic party wants to write another tariff law. Each time it has written a tariff law, that law has brought ruin to this state by placing cattle, sheep, meats, wool, wheat, corn and other products on the free list. Each time there has been the blackest disaster to the business of the country. As a result of the last Democratic tariff, sixty-one banks failed in New Mexico. Merchants went into bankruptcy, livestock men failed. The tax values of the state shrank ninety million dollars. Sixty-six million dollars of the shrinkage was in grazing lands and livestock. The disappearance of almost one-fourth of the taxable property of the state forced higher taxes on the remaining three-fourths.

Senator Bratton voted against the Republican tariff bill. The best bill for New Mexico that was ever written.

Both Senator Cutting and Congressman Simms voted for the bill.

Against Congressman Simms the Democrats have nominated Dennis Chaves of Albuquerque. Mr. Chaves claims to favor the highest possible tariff for New Mexico products. But he expresses himself no more forcibly on that subject than did Senator Bratton who voted against the bill when it came up for final passage.

Bratton's Real Reason

The real reason Senator Bratton voted against the interests of his state was because the eastern and southern Democrats have decided to make the tariff the issue in the campaign this year and in the presidential campaign of 1932. They expect to get help from the big manufacturers who have established plants abroad, where they can hire labor at a cost of from one-half to one-fourth the wages they must pay in the United States. They want to ship back their products of cheap labor to the American markets free of duty.

Holt and Simms will represent the interests of New Mexico, first, last, and all the time. Senator Bratton follows what he believes to be the best interests of the Democratic party.

Judge Botts

The Republicans have nominated former Supreme Court Justice Clarence M. Botts, of Albuquerque, for governor. Judge Botts is a distinguished lawyer. His private and public life is "as clean as a hound's tooth," quoting Theodore Roosevelt. He has lived in New Mexico for more than 25 years, as schoolteacher, lawyer, justice of the Supreme Court and public spirited citizen. He has been in every part of the state and knows its needs. If elected governor he will deal with state conditions impartially and for the public good. Like Governor Dillon, he loves people. He likes to meet them, shake hands with them, talk to them. He talks their language. He is one of them, and knows it. He is proud of it.

Seligman De-vilish Sly

The voters of New Mexico will choose between Judge Botts, the Republican nominee for governor, and Arthur Seligman, of Santa Fe, whom the Democrats nominated. Mr. Seligman is a banker, a salesman of bonds, a smooth politician. Like Joey Bagstock, of Dickens' Dombey and Son, he is "devilish sly," and takes great pride in his slyness, his slickness and sleekness.

As between Judge Botts and Mr. Seligman no one should hesitate. Judge Botts will make, by far, the better governor, notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Seligman is far richer than Judge Botts.

True Public Servant

The entire state ticket is a good one. Of the following candidates to succeed themselves to the voters of the state have knowledge due to nearly two years of excellent service. Mrs. E. A. Ferrault has been a most efficient secretary of state. She is a wonderful woman, a splendid, homey kind of mother, and as a public speaker has no superior in the state.

Victor Ulibarrie is making an excellent auditor. He is careful of the state's finances. As the "State's paymaster" nothing gets by him that shouldn't. As a member of the State Board of Finance he has shown conspicuous ability.

State Superintendent Atanasio Montoya has conducted his office with great ability. He has restored harmony between the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction and the State Board of Education. He has established thorough and competent supervision of the high schools. He has revised and improved the rules for certification of teachers. He has secured out-of-state financial help for the rural schools for the first time in the history of the state. He has done much else that is outstanding. He has been able to build up education sentiment in sections of the state where it is most needed.

The Land Commissioner

Dr. Austin D. Crile, Commissioner of State Lands, has the most important of all the State offices, except that of the governor. The income from state lands in the last fiscal year was more than eighteen hundred thousand dollars. The income from oil leases and royalties will soon run into millions of dollars for our public schools and the penal and charitable institutions. With absolute honesty and great ability, Dr. Crile has formulated rules for the conduct of his important office and has had them buttressed by decisions of the supreme court. The state is fortunate in the fact that it can retain his services as land commissioner.

Max Fernandez's record as a member of the Corporation Commission has been above criticism.

The candidates thus named to succeed themselves are entitled to reelection upon their records of faithful and efficient service. Of the new candidates we shall speak later.

Dear Mr., Mrs., and Miss Voter, you love your state. You want to see it make progress. You want to see good schools and good roads. The Republican party has promoted them and is pledged to a continuation of the policies of the Dillon administration. At the same time let it be borne in mind that the tax rate has been substantially reduced for the coming year.—ADV

DYED TOPICS

By Harold Dye

William Randolph Hearst, daddy of one of the world's most powerful newspaper chains, opened his radio address Sunday night with the statement that he was glad that he was an American. Before he was through with his speech, he was criticizing the government for not raising international cain over the can which the Frenchmen tied to his tail.

Somehow, we are not in sympathy with American citizens who have to go abroad to get into trouble. Our episode with Nicaragua a couple years ago arose over a few United States citizens who went there to get rich.

America should be good enough for Americans, and will challenge any man within its boundaries to a well-rounded, complete life if he minds his own business.

The only difference between a man at home who gets in trouble and the same gentleman abroad, is the fact that the former feels that he is insulted while the latter is certain that his country is suffering injury.

The right kind of man will hesitate to jeopardize the welfare of his country over the offended dignity of his own person. Let Mr. Hearst and his two reporters fight their own battle even if they are in the right.

SELIGMAN OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN LAST NIGHT WOULD LOWER TAXES

"The people of New Mexico have definitely made up their mind that they need and want a change in administrative affairs," Arthur Seligman said in his maiden speech as the democratic candidate for governor at Bernalillo last night.

"The burden of taxation has become too heavy for us to carry," said Seligman, adding that it was more his desire to help the people than an ambition to be governor that he went into the political race.

"Extravagance has mounted to a point that is out of all reason," he said. "Our tax rate has gone up by leaps and bounds under the republican administration. Citizens of every political creed want good roads and good schools, but they also want value received for every dollar of public money that is spent. That is only common sense."

That the state's payrolls have been gorged with political employes; that the state today is in financial difficulties; that the "widely ballyhooed new assessment system has been a flat tire failure," and the state is still waiting for equalization were among the indictments he brot against the present administration. Mr. Seligman promised a competent and business-like remedy for what he termed "The chaotic condition of the whole assessment fabric."

"Expenditures must be limited to income," he declared.

Referring to the announced cut in the state tax rate, he said "the assessed valuation has been increased to the extent that the authorities can put 60 cents in one of your pockets and then reach into the other pocket and take out $1.60."

He declared for the elimination of "political favoritism" in the assessment system.

He rapped the republican legislature for crippling the disabled soldiers bureau on one hand and giving the water commissioner a $25,000 appropriation on the other.

"We must obtain the utmost benefit from the immense oil resources of the state," he said. "We must have competent administration of the affairs of the land office."

"Elect a democratic legislature and you will get better laws and fewer bone heads laws," he declared.

Senator Bratton in his address told of the legislation he has obtained for the state in the six years he has been in the senate enumerating legislation for a vote upon a constitutional amendment to evolve a simple and satisfactory system of leasing of oil and gas lands; a bill granting to the state college 51,000 acres of land for establishing experimental development with livestock; securing of financial aid for the dry farming experimental station at Tucumcari; legislation for the Normal at Portales; legislation for a federal fish hatchery in the state, and for development of a government bath house at Hot Springs.

Change the horse's feed occasionally, though not suddenly. A horse—like a human being—likes variety in his diet.

Now is the time to dip livestock for lice, sheep for ticks, and mange. These pests will be more troublesome later on, when it will be too cold to dip stock.

In regions where parasites interfere with sheep raising, breed ewes in time to lamb early, and mangle the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and market the lambs before the worms share your profits.

Even the most careful feeding may leave the horse in poor condition if its teeth are not sound so as to permit proper chewing. Sometimes the milk teeth of young horses remain longer than they should, and cause the permanent teeth to grow crooked. Watch this and if necessary remove the milk teeth with forceps.

The saying "Three days of rain then a frost," has little basis in fact says the weather bureau. The weather conditions preceding a frost in fall and spring frequently are an area of low barometer, overcast skies and rain but not necessarily three days of rain; as a matter of fact three consecutive days of rain are of very infrequent occurrence; After the low barometer passes an area of high barometer with cold northerly winds comes on, and if the sky be clear, the wind light and the temperature sufficiently low, frost is imminent.

Young pigs are an easy prey for roundworms and until they are four months old special care must be taken to avoid worm infection. Fall pigs may be farrowed in individual houses on a clean pasture sown to a good forage crop on which no pigs have been pastured. Except in the extreme north, pigs born in early fall will be past the age of greatest susceptibility to worms when it is time to put them into winter quarters. However, winter quarters should be thoroughly cleaned before pigs are placed in them.

Careless disposal or offal from livestock slaughtered on the farm is one of the ways in which parasites are spread, according to the bureau of animal industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, which says that offal should be tanked or treated in such a way as to kill all parasitic material. Offal is often thrown out and allowed to decompose in an offensive manner. Dogs eat this material, and as parts of carcasses infested with tapeworms cysts are rejected as offal, the dogs become infested with tapeworms which they in turn carry to livestock and infest them with the bladderworms. Among the tapeworms spread in this way is the deadly hydatid which forms a cyst the size of an orange, or larger, in cattle, sheep and swine, and in man. Offal is also a prolific source of blowflies which breed in it in great numbers.

Proteins from animal sources are generally better for poultry than those of vegetable origin, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Meat scrap, fish meal, and tankage are good sources of animal protein, and supply valuable minerals in addition. Another advantage of animal proteins, especially milk and meat scrap, is that they are highly digestible. Protein in a good grade of fish meal is probably equal to the same amount of protein in meat scrap. Tankage is not so sure as the other proteins for poultry and needs to be supplemented with minerals. One of the best sources of animal protein is milk, which has a relatively greater feeding value than its actual protein content. It helps to prevent mortality of baby chicks, to increase the rate of grain of growing chicks, and to increase the feed consumption and egg production of laying stock.

ARTESIA WINS BASEBALL GAME

Artesia won a ten inning baseball marathon from Hagerman last Sunday by the bulky score of 20-18 in one of the most comical affairs ever recorded in local circles. Each nine was able to lead in four of the ten stanzas while two stood with honors even.

Although the home plate was nearly worn out by the steady stream of scoring runners, the huge crowd seemed delighted with the alternating bits of flashy and pitiful baseball antics. Errors were plentiful and clean base wallops frequently apparent. It was the most exciting game of the season and at the same time, probably the poorest played.

"Slim" Roberts and some of Artesia's regulars did not appear and the spectators were disappointed at missing a chance to see them perform again this summer.
