THE FARMER—AND ORGANIZATION

The recent developments at Sioux City, Iowa, where over one thousand farmer strikers are forcefully seeking to put into effect a holiday on the selling of farm products until the market advances, is a revelation of the power of the farmer—if he were solidly committed to an intelligent organization.

Why couldn't the farmer govern the price of his commodity to large extent? He has the most powerful economic weapon in the Universe. People must eat, and they must wear clothing. These things are the necessities of life. The merchant who sells these actual needs is protected by the most rigid legal machinery. The farmer should also be protected against loss, but the eternal question here arises, H-O-W?

The answer must be ORGANIZATION. The greatest difficulty to the perfecting of this organization is the barrier erected by the farmer's suspicions. He is the most suspicious human that breathes. The psychology of his thought is this: "Every man is trying to rob the farmer," and its effect upon his life is to rob him of serenity; of stable markets for his produce; and ultimately to bring about over-production, and with it, bankruptcy. He invariably thinks of the man in the "white collar" as a crook—here we are speaking of the average farmer—and he believes that if the farmers of the United States were to organize, that the man at the head of the organization would be his graft, and his treachery, reduce the members of the economic fraternity to poverty. Such reasoning must necessarily be fallacious. To apply it to our government, would bring chaos; adherence to it in religion, would result in spiritual ruin; in educational circles, disaster must follow such a program. Every form of human endeavor must rest upon the foundation of faith, and trust, and every worthwhile concerted effort, must be placed in the hands of a capable leader.

To be sure, we have some graft in our national, state, and county governments—more than we like to think about. Certainly, there are hypocritical leaders in every religious denomination. Undoubtedly, there are traitors in the world of business, educational, and benevolent systems, but the incontrovertible fact remains that all organizations move forward finally under the impetus of the right leaders. A farmers' organization could function properly only when a competent man was in control—and a competent man could hold such a position only after the most numerous, and the greatest of all classes revised its mass thinking, and made trust the foundation for a new program.

Investigation is all right—and the proper exercise of our brain cells, advisable, but it is also right that after such investigation, carried on intelligently, proves a subject worthy, to ACT IN FAITH.

Some day the world will awake to the wisdom of the organization which we are advocating; but it may be only after the farmers have been driven to a deeper disaster than even the present market crisis.

HIGHWAY WORK BOARD NAMED

SANTA FE.—Commissioned to set up machinery for immediate operation to take care of unemployed men for the highway department's $3,000,000 federal aid emergency highway program, Governor Seligman's bi-partisan emergency unemployment committee received its instructions last week.

The committee of seven, Governor Seligman said, will serve as a central board to undertake the appointment of committees in each of the 31 counties. The county committees will make four lists of the unemployed in the following order: one for ex-service men with families, non ex-service men with families, single ex-service men and single non ex-service men.

These lists will be furnished to contractors engaged on federal aid highway projects only and the contractors are required to select labor from the lists giving preference to the classes as listed above.

The county committees will be composed of three members, one ex-service man, one laboring man, and a woman from some church welfare or civic organization, and will be organized in all of the counties regardless of whether the county has any federal aid work included in the highway department's program.

Governor Seligman explained that it is the intention of the highway department to comply with federal regulations to the letter on the employment of men and urged that the committee start work at once in setting up the machinery to provide the labor for the projects.

Counties not having federal aid project work will draw up lists of unemployed just the same and the highway department will figure the percentage of men which that county will be allowed to submit to contractors doing work in another county close by.

For example: No project is provided in Lea county, the governor said, but a project will be taken in Eddy county nearby. The highway department will figure on the percentage of Lea county men who can be employed on the Eddy county project along with the Eddy county men.

Governor Seligman is anxious that unemployed in non-federal aid project counties also be given a chance to benefit from the program. The $3,000,000 provided by the government must be apportioned among the counties according to population, therefore the governor and the highway commission takes the stand that counties not having federal aid projects should be entitled to have some of its unemployed taken care of through projects in adjoining counties.

HEALTH COLUMN

Conducted by Dr. J. R. Earp, Director, New Mexico Bureau of Public Health.

FATAL APPENDICITIS

Not long ago one of the New Mexico newspapers told the story of the untimely death of a little girl, twelve years old. "She became ill last Thursday, but her condition did not become critical until Monday morning. . . her appendix had ruptured and peritonitis had set in." If the child had had an operation on Friday her life would almost certainly have been saved. By Monday morning when she did have an operation, it was too late. Her condition really was critical on Friday but it was not recognized as such.

This story is altogether too commonplace. In New Mexico eighty persons died of appendicitis last year, thirty of them youngsters from five to twenty years old.

Why were these people not operated upon in time? Because the most dangerous kind of appendicitis, the obstructive type that kills, is the most difficult to recognize. Where there is least smoke there is most flame.

The common appendicitis comes on gradually and is accompanied by more or less constant pain, a rapid pulse and fever and often gets well of its own accord. In the obstructive type that quickly bursts and kills the patient the pulse and temperature are normal. Fever comes after the appendix has burst, but then the operation is often too late.

The obstructive type comes on suddenly with spasmodic colicky pain and vomiting. To the patient and his friends it is just like indigestion. Even the doctor may have difficulty in finding out that it is not a simple indigestion. But he has ways of investigation that are all important and that should be used at once.

Never give a purgative to a patient with symptoms described above, unless the doctor after investigation tells you to do so. To give a purgative in obstructive appendicitis is the surest way of bursting the appendix and killing the patient. Remember that with an obstructed appendix the patient's condition is critical while the temperature and pulse are still normal. Immediate operation is necessary to save life.

SPOT OF BIBLE MIRACLE FOUND

VATICAN CITY—Church archaeologists believe they have found at Tiberias on the Sea of Galilee the spot where Jesus multiplied five loaves of bread and two fishes to feed a multitude.

According to tradition a church was built at the scene of the miracle, and church ruins have been uncovered by a German priest, Father Evarist Andrea Mader, director of the German Oriental Institute at Jerusalem.

In an article to be published in the Illustrazione Vaticana a Jesuit, Father Chrysologus Spellucci, announces that the discovery corresponds to all known religious history. The scene, which is described in John in the Bible, is the edge of a mountain close to the sea.

Ruins of a basilica were found by Father Mader under seven feet of clay. A large area of fine vividly colored mosaics was well preserved. And six illustrations will be published.

TWO-THIRDS OF LEGION FAVORS BONUS

WASHINGTON—A generous two-thirds of the voting strength of the American Legion's national convention is shown by headquarters records to be pledged for cash payment of the soldiers' bonus.

Of the thirty-five state and territorial organizations including New Mexico, which have instructed their delegates to vote for cash payment at the Portland Ore. convention next month, twenty one reversed positions taken last year.

As a majority rule will govern, headquarters officials regard it certain that the national meeting beginning September 12 will change its stand of a year ago opposing cash payment. This action was taken at Detroit after President Hoover personally appealed to the delegates to do so.

Robert C. Dow Candidate for District Attorney

LETTERS OF CHAVES COUNTY:

A few voters in this County realize or apprehend of lawlessness that has been prevalent in New Mexico during the past few years. The in the past few months two officers have been seriously wounded, while in the discharge of duty bandits and that a citizen of Roswell was robbed in his own home is well known and has to recently, but this is comparatively a small extent of lawlessness existing in this jurisdiction. Parts of this district are organized bands of bootleggers, thieves and other law breakers.

People of Lea County are familiar with this that is why they voted by a large majority to elect Bob Dow for District Attorney. The importance of under present conditions cannot be over-estimated. It is extremely serious and fraught with great danger to life and property, and will get beyond control unless a fearless, able and vigorous prosecution follows every violation of the law. To deal with the situation a man of mature years and sound judgment is needed and how to act; a man of legal ability with the physical courage that cannot be intimidated by political punishment or physical violence.

Bob Dow is a man qualified to handle this situation and these bands of criminals. His experience as a prosecutor; his integrity is beyond reproach and his moral and physical is unquestioned. By all means voters of Chaves County should take advantage of the opportunity to place in the District Attorney's office one qualified to meet the situation now confronting the this section of the state.

BARKER WARNS HUNTERS AGAINST HUNTING QUAIL

Elliot Barker, state game warden, has warned all dove hunters to refrain from shooting quail during the dove season which opened today.

and any dove hunter caught killing quail out of season will be subject to a "stiff" penalty for violation of the game laws. Hunters and sportsman throughout the state were asked to co-operate with the game department in seeing that the regulations against shooting quail are observed.

INCLUDE SOME PICKLES IN HOME FOOD SUPPLY

No supply of home canned food is complete without some pickles and relishes, says Veda Strong, of the New Mexico Agricultural College.

Pickles may be made of either fruits or vegetables. Usually the whole product, or large pieces, are used in pickles. Relishes are made of vegetables chopped fine. Although pickles and relishes do not rank high in actual food value they do add zest to a meal thru their spicy, characteristic flavor.

A few general suggestions to observe in making pickles are given. Use only a good grade of vegetables, fruits, vinegar and spices. Fruits and vegetables should be fresh, crisp and free from blemish.

There is a great difference in the acidity of vinegars. Vinegar should be diluted if too sour, but if diluted too much the pickles will become soft from fermentation. Cider vinegar is a good kind to use. If boiled too long vinegar loses its strength. Pickles heated too long in vinegar become soft from overcooking. If vinegar is too hot when poured over pickles, they become shriveled. Too much sugar will also shrivel them.

Soft or slippery pickles will result if the brine is too weak to prevent the growth of bacteria. To avoid this condition, keep the pickles well below the brine and the brine at proper strength by adding more salt each week during brining process, which is usually about five weeks except in localities with low altitude and warm climate, in which the time may be shorter.

For further information on making pickles, see your county extension agent or write the extension service, State College, New Mexico.

TRUE LEGIONISM

During the present unsettled condition throughout the country among the ex-service men, many are wondering about the American Legion. Many of the people not so familiar with the internal workings and undertakings of the organization are wondering where we stand during these trying times. What effect it is having on the membership of the American Legion? Are they gaining or losing members?

The last available figures, as of August 19, showed a total membership of 929,624, which is 98.34 per cent of the national quota for 1932.

"True, the Legion may have lost a few members due to its stand against requesting the government for additional financial aid for the able bodied, but these ranks have been more than filled by outstanding citizens "ex-service men" who have not seen fit to join our ranks before, but now realize that the American Legion is living up to the preamble of the constitution, in particular that part which is as follows: "To inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the 'community state and nation' and 'to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses.'"

This obligation has so been instilled into the minds of the true legionaire that a recent check made public of the concentration of ex-service men in the nation, capital proved that there was only one Legionnaire out of every hundred men in the camp and many of those were delinquent in their dues.

It is sincerely hoped that the Legion will always live for that standard which it has set and never place the able bodied men before the disabled buddy, his dependents and the widows and orphans. This is the best and only excuse we have for existence. This was the primary object of that handful of men who met in Paris in 1919 and had the foresight to think of those who had paid the supreme sacrifice and for those who are still living a life of hell in the hundreds of hospitals throughout the nation.

There is no true Legionnaire who will allow any one to say that he has a price for his patriotism, or did he have any expectation of receiving a price when he walked up to the recruiting station and said: "Here I am Sir; where to from here?" He did not complain about the sacrifice of the comforts, love and loyalty of the home left behind but was there to render a service to his nation and his people at any cost.

The Legion will be long after all other mushroom organizations have died a natural death and we will get stronger and stronger every day. Why? Because our service to our buddies, their widows and orphans, our "Community, State and Nation" places with us public sentiment and they know that the Legion has never demanded any thing from our government that we are not entitled to. "Viva la Americaine Legion."

Democratic Candidate for District Attorney

FAMILY ENDOWMENT IN PUBLIC OFFICE

In this Democratic Primary Campaign, Chaves County is seething and center of circumference with discontentment and dissatisfaction with the establishment of family relationship in public office holding.

There are signs of a volcanic eruption at the polls in Chaves County on September 15th—a protest against the husband and wife, father and son, brother and brother, preference in the matter of salaried jobs.

Everywhere, voters are expressing resentment at the "FAMILY ENDOWMENT" that appears to have fastened its tentacles so firmly upon the legal distribution of public office.

There are complaints that there has developed a system of interlocking relationships, because of the fact that the law permits offices to be held individual for four successive years only.

Perhaps the pendulum is swinging too far in one direction, because of the public opinion. That often happens. Voters are becoming somewhat frenzied about the situation.

Perhaps they are justified. The statement is going the rounds that if certain are elected there is in prospect the appointment of sons, fathers, brothers, and other relatives, as deputies, assistants and secretaries.

There seems to be no movement on the part of any one to deny, refute, or to attempt to assure the voters there shall be a discontinuance of these injustices.

And, they are injustices, now, when all over the world there is a justified protest against "double employment" in families, when there is such a vast need of employment.

Well, if these abuses, will not reform them selves, the voters can reform them by dictations are that a fairly good start is going to be made at the polls in Chaves County, September 15th.—(CONTRIBUTED)

TO THE VOTERS OF CHAVES COUNTY:

NEPOTISM.—This means "a preference shown in bestowing patronage to one's relatives or friends." For instance, the appointment by Mr. Osburn, the present District Attorney, of his brother, who is a lawyer, as his Assistant; or if George Reese, Jr., who is a candidate for the office of District Attorney, appoints his father, who is also a lawyer, his Assistant, this would constitute nepotism. It would be true also if Mr. Little, who seeks the District Attorney's office, should appoint his son, (who is studying to be a lawyer), as his Assistant. Mr. Little also might appoint one of his other boys as his Secretary.

Nepotism is prohibited and punished by severe penalties in a number of states. Unfortunately, we do not have a law in New Mexico prohibiting this practice.

I have no relatives in New Mexico who are lawyers and therefore, if I am appointed District Attorney, no patronage will be given to lawyer relatives. I also have no relatives in New Mexico who are studying to be lawyers. I also have no relatives in New Mexico who are studying to be lawyers. I also have no relatives in New Mexico who are studying to be lawyers.

NO RELATIVE OF MINE WILL BE APPOINTED TO ANY POSITION IN CHAVES COUNTY.

Sincerely,
J. G. ROBERTS,
Candidate for District Attorney
