

Bull Town Bulletins

By Bill Ellis

THE SPECIAL SESSION of the Texas Legislature convened this week in Austin. The main reason for the special session is for lawmakers to pass some public school legislation.

No one knows at this point just what the legislature may pass, but just about everyone agrees that before the special session has adjourned, Texas taxpayers will feel the results in their hip pockets.

Virtually everyone has heard by now about the "Select Committee on Education," headed by H. Ross Perot, which has made a number of fairly liberal recommendations. These include a longer school year, a longer school day, and less emphasis on the extra-curricular activities and more emphasis on the basics.

The committee's recommendations go a lot further than that, but this is a simplified analysis.

Just what direction the legislature will go in overhauling our school system is anyone's guess, but regardless of what new legislation is passed--and you can depend on something--it will cost state residents more tax money.

For most of the last decade, our state lawmakers, from the governor on down, have been harping about the fact that they have "passed no new tax laws."

This may be true, but what they have done, on the school situation, is withdraw a big portion of state funds from the educational system, with the local school districts having to make up the difference. As a result, the schools have had to raise real estate and property taxes to the hilt, in order to keep their school systems operating.

Now that the local tax base has been taxed more heavily, the state lawmakers are more or less admitting that they will have to raise taxes on a state level in order to fund whatever new program they decide upon.

And the route that the new taxes may take are making taxpayers jump like they've just been hit by a needle in a doctor's office.

Some of the proposals include raising the state sales tax by another penny or two. Also, there is the proposal to eliminate the sales tax exemption on such things as groceries and services, such as doctor bills, and fees from other professional people.

And, if you don't think your local school taxes are high enough, maybe you need to be aware that one proposal has been advanced which has a "Robin Hood" type of basis. This proposal would take money away from the school districts which are deemed "wealthy," or at least able to pay, and give it to the poorer districts.

It should come as no surprise that those who may do such overhauling of the tax structure will consider districts in the rural areas as "wealthy," due to the large amount of farm land. (Most legislators have never farmed, so they probably don't know about the sad plight of agriculture).

Since our area's legislators, James (Pete) Laney and Bill Sarpalus, are life-long residents of the district, they know the problems our residents are facing. Perhaps if you feel inclined to contact a state representative or a senator, you should pick out one from Houston or Dallas, since they are the ones most likely to do our area "fiscal harm."

Having been a longtime political observer, ye editor always has been inclined to be a little bit nervous when the legislators are in session. However, this season may well call for a double-dose of the tranquilizers.

UNCLE AUSTIN ELLIS of Tennessee says he plans to retire next year when he is 77 years old. "I am to have some fun. If I'm going to kick up my heels I'm going to have to do it before I get old."

HIT THAT BALL! says dad, Don Teague, to his eight year old son, Lance, who plays Pee Wee League in Bovina. Don is always at the ball park if someone needs him to help out. Teague farms at Pleasant Hill and is looking forward to Father's Day and being with his three sons, Mike, Mark and Lance and his wife, Dona.

Don Teague Plans To Celebrate With Family

Don Teague will celebrate Father's Day at home with his family, wife, Dona; and sons, Mike, Mark and Lance, on their farm near Pleasant Hill, New Mexico.

The Teagues have lived in the Pleasant Hill area 22 years and moved there from Muleshoe.

They have a son Mike, who is a florist in Clovis; a son Mark, who is a junior at West Texas State University and continues to help on their farm. Their youngest son Lance, who is eight years old, is with his dad most of the time.

The Teagues are members of the Pleasant Hill Baptist Church and have always been very active in church work. He and his wife Dona have been youth directors for the past seven years. Don also teaches Sunday School and has been on the Bovina School Board for the past two years.

Teague is looking forward to Father's Day this Sunday and feels it a treat to have his family with him on this special day. He will also spend time visiting with his dad and mom, Noel and Elva Teague, who live in Bovina.

County 4-H Horse Show

Bovina will serve as host for the Parmer County 4-H horse show Saturday, June 16, beginning at 10 a.m.

There are two age divisions: Pee-Wees (under nine years) and 4-H Club members (9-19). Contestants will compete in 23 events, including halter events, pleasure events, timed events and roping events.

Matching head stalls and reins will be given, one for high point performance and one for high point timed event winner.

Also, 15 belt buckles will be given for class winners, and winners of grand and reserve for the mare and gelding divisions. Ribbons will be awarded for the top six places.

The public is invited to attend the show, which will be an all-day affair. Contestants earn points toward the district 4-H show in Lubbock June 26.

PUC Approves Rate Increase

The Public Utility Commission of Texas has approved a slight increase in charges for intrastate long-distance calls within the regional calling areas called local access and transports areas (LATA) established by the federal judge overseeing the divestiture of AT&T and the Bell operating companies.

The new charges, effective June 1, do not apply to intrastate calls made between the regional calling areas which are carried by the long-distance carriers rather than the local telephone companies.

The new rates apply to customers of all local telephone companies, including General Telephone.

Service Sets Dad's Day Fete

The Bovina Ambulance Service will be sponsoring a Father's Day Spaghetti Dinner to be held Sunday, June 17 at the high school cafeteria. The dinner will begin at 11:30 a.m. and last until 2 p.m.

The charge for the dinner will be adults $3.50 and children $2.50. Everyone is invited to come.

Area Students, Teachers Attend Science Symposium

Safe nuclear energy that does not produce nuclear waste is the goal of a research project studied for four days by area high school science students and teachers at a symposium at the University of Texas at Austin.

If the students are like some of their predecessors at the symposium, they may end up helping conduct the research and experiments after they enroll in college, said Jim Greene, administrator of the university's Fusion Research Center.

Included among high school students and teachers from throughout the state attending the symposium June 5-8 was Blake Scaff, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Scaff of Bovina.

He was among 38 participants from the Panhandle and South Plains sponsored by Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS). SPS is one of ten electric utilities in Texas that compose the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation.

SPS does not own or operate any nuclear power plants, but since 1957 SPS and the other utilities have sponsored fusion research at the University of Texas. Berl Springer, chairman of the board of SPS, has been president of the research foundation the past two years.

Nuclear power plants in operation today use a process called fission--the splitting of atoms--to produce electricity. Fusion is the opposite of fission; it is the fusing together of atoms, said Greene.

If the fusion process can be controlled, Greene said, it may enable the development of power plants that get their fuel from water and that don't create large quantities of radioactive waste.

Deuterium is one of the fuels that can produce fusion, Greene said. Deuterium comes from hydrogen. Because water consists of two parts hydrogen and one part oxygen (H₂O), almost limitless supplies of fuel are available in the earth's oceans, rivers and lakes, he said.

Meeting Is Slated Here June 19

A follow-up meeting of business leaders of the Bovina community, who are discussing ways and means of revitalizing the community, will be held on Tuesday, June 19 at First State Bank, beginning at 8 p.m.

The first meeting was held on May 15, and was attended by 18 business leaders.

The possibility of holding a monthly flea market locally is one of the things discussed at the first meeting. Billy Whitecotton, Don Spring and Keith Knight were named to a committee, and will report back to the group on their findings.

A number of other possibilities also were discussed, and are expected to be brought up again next Tuesday.

All of those who attended the first meeting, as well as those who could not attend for one reason or another, are urged to attend the meeting.

Comptroller's Aide To Visit

State Comptroller Bob Bullock has announced that Lloyd Allred from his Lubbock field office will be at the Parmer County Courthouse on Wednesday, June 20 from 2-3:30 p.m.

A comptroller's representative is available to assist local residents at the courthouse the third Wednesday of each month.

Bullock urges anyone with problems or questions concerning state taxes to contact Mr. Allred at the courthouse in person or call the Lubbock field office at (806) 795-0691. A toll-free number (1-800-252-5555) is also available to Texas taxpayers.

BLAKE SCAFF

"As long as there's an earth here, and there's water on it, we've got electricity if fusion power is developed," Greene said.

The deuterium in a swimming pool of water could furnish the energy needs of a city for a year, according to the research foundation.

Fusion is the energy source of the sun, Greene said.

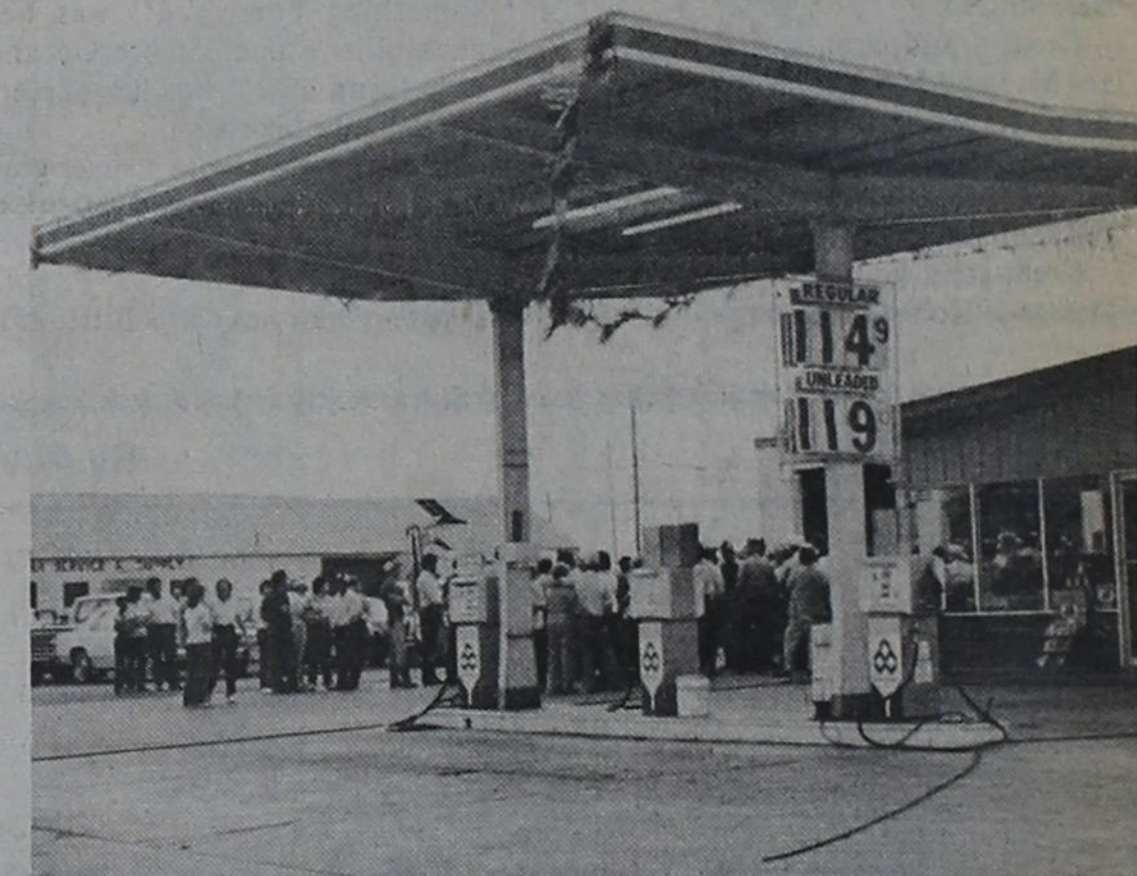

In order to create a fusion reaction on earth, temperatures of about 100 million degrees are needed. The hot gases created also must be confined for a long enough period of time for the fusion reaction to take place.

Several projects are under way around the world to create fusion and confine the reaction. The heart of the research at the University of Texas is a machine called a tokamak. A tokamak uses magnetic fields to attempt to confine the reaction, Greene said.

High enough temperatures have been reached to create fusion, Greene said, but the reactions last only a fraction of a second. Because of the brief time of the reaction, it takes more energy to create fusion now than the fusion process generates.

An immediate goal of scientists is to reach "breakeven"--the point when fusion reactions last long enough to create as much or more energy than it takes to get the process started, Greene said.

That point could be reached in the next couple of years at a much larger tokamak at Princeton University, Greene said.

BOVINA RESIDENTS attended a barbeque on Tuesday of last week hosted by Bovina Fuel and Supply, owned and operated by Don Murphy and Gaylon Rhodes. About 250 to 300 people enjoyed a meal of barbequed pig, barbequed goat and smoked turkey. John Mars of Friona assisted Don Murphy with the cooking and Mike Ellis of Friona provided the cooker.

IT'S GOOD TO BE IN TEXAS, says Bob Wieland as he journeys from California to Washington, D.C. Wieland lost both legs in the Vietnam War and is walking on his hands cross country to help bring an end to world hunger. His "Walk for Hunger" began in September 1982 and hopefully he will be in Washington, D.C. by 1985. Pictured with Bob are friends he met along the way. They are Friona residents.

R. Hodnett, R. Smallwood Exchange Wedding Vows

Rebecca Robin Hodnett and Rusty Joe Smallwood were united in marriage Saturday, June 9 at the First Baptist Church, Bovina.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the bride's pastor, J.L. Bass, of First Baptist Church, Bovina, at 4 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hodnett of Bovina.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smallwood of Farwell.

Organ music was provided by Cindy Bradburn of Bovina and piano music was provided by Susan Johnson of Farwell.

Johnna Pointer of Shallowater, Susie and Sindy Preston of Friona, cousins of the bride, were the candle lighters. The five brass candelabras were adorned with 59 votive cups, filled with lilac candles, lilac satin ribbons and silk orchids. Two large bouquets of flowers completed the altar setting.

The mother of the bride and the mother of the bridegroom lit the small white candles on each of the unity candle as they were ushered and seated in the auditorium.

The bride's attendants wore floor length dresses of lilac satin with a white coin-dott over-lace and white lace trim. The bodice was accented Kit Anderson Preston of Friona, cousin of the bride, was the ring bearer. He wore a tuxedo of silver gray with a lilac ruffled shirt. He carried a silk pillow trimmed in lace, satin, pearls and ribbon, embroidered with the bride and groom's names.

Accompanied by strains of the traditional wedding march, the bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a gown of white satin with a white coin-dott over-lace. Her gown was a victorian classic in schiffli embroidered net and venice lace with a chapel train, edged in rows of matching lace. The lace appliques were dotted with small pearls and iridescent sequins. Features of the dress were a high neckline bodice, long sleeves and pearl buttons down the back. The bridal hat had overlays of beaded venice lace and schiffli net, coordinating with the dress. It was accented with satin roses and a turned up brim. A net train flowed from the back of the hat.

Her bridal bouquet consisted of stephanotis, orchids and lillies, carried on a white Bible given by the groom's home church in Farwell.

For "something old" the bride wore her great-grandmother's wedding ring and pearl earrings. "Something new" was her dress. "Something borrowed" was her grandmother's diamond bracelet and "something blue" was her garter, given to her by her sister.

The bridegroom wore a silver gray tuxedo and a white ruffled shirt. His boutonniere was of small lilac flowers with stephanotis.

The best man was Chris Bristow of

Mrs. Rusty Smallwood

Farwell. Groomsmen were Mac Langford of Lubbock and William Martin of Lariat. Ushers were Danny Davis of Clovis and Donald Long, cousin of the groom. They wore silver gray tuxedos, matching the groom and lilac shirts.

Stacy Sorrels of Dallas, cousin of the bride, registered the guests. During the wedding ceremony, Grady and Dorothy Sorley of Bovina sang "When You Fall In Love." Jack Smallwood, brother of the groom, sang "Up Where We Belong." I Corinthians, the love chapter, was repeated by Rev. Pat Riley, pastor of the groom's home church, First Baptist Church of Farwell.

The reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

Stacey Whitecotton, Randee Cupit and Gail Turner served at the bride's table, featuring a white three tiered cake, adorned with a "Precious Moments" bride and groom in a gazebo. Punch, nuts and mints completed the table setting.

Tonda Fulcher, Kara Mills and Cindy Long served chicken puffs, ham dainties and shrimp pate, fruit and vegetables from the groom's table.

Following the reception, the couple were taken from the church in a helicopter for a wedding trip to Pennsylvania in the Pocono Mountains.

The couple will make their home in Levelland where they will be attending South Plains College this fall.

NONAGENARIAN.... P. O. Dixon was honored on his 90th birthday May 25 with a party at his home. Forty members of his family were present. Perhaps life begins at 90 for P. O., as he is busy making plans to go to Austria and Switzerland the latter part of June. At that time, some of the sights to see on the list include the Danube River in Germany and he plans to attend the 350 year old passion play at Oberammergau, Austria. Pictured with Dixon are his daughter Dixie Baker of Longmont, Colorado and Robert Dixon of Houston.

"Fathers' Role In Families"

The way you celebrate Father's Day--with a cake, special dinner or gift for dad--may not change much over the years. But a father's role in the family has and continues to change.

Family relations experts tell us that one of the biggest changes in the father's role is parenting.

For years a father's parenting role has been considered secondary to his work, especially for men in professional and managerial positions or for ambitious men in any occupation. In addition, society has tended to equate womanliness with being a mother while fatherhood was less frequently associated with manliness.

But changes in both women's and men's roles are having an impact on fathering. For example, increasing numbers of fathers take an active role in preparing for child birth and the actual delivery. Participation in all aspects of child bearing are being shared to a greater degree by both parents as well.

Many factors including divorce, the employment of women outside the home and more leisure time have increased men's involvement with children. But perhaps the most significant factor is society's recognition that fathers have an important role to play in their children's lives.

KORY MITCHELL holds ribbons and a trophy that he won at the Gymnastics Invitational Meet May 26 in Lubbock. Kory is a member of Bovina's Gymnastics Elite organization and came away from the meet with first place in all six events and also won first place in All-Around. Kory is the son of Larry and Donna Mitchell and his coach is Clay Burch.

Mitchells Do Well In Gymnastics Competition

Kevin and Kory Mitchell went to Lubbock May 26 to compete in the non-sanctioned men's and women's gymnastics invitational. They are the sons of Larry and Donna Mitchell and are part of the Bovina Gymnastics Elite organization.

These were the only ones from Bovina who qualified to compete in this meet. Kory swept his age division with a first place finish in all six events and first place "All Around." Kevin Mitchell placed fourth on rings, fifth on pommel horse, fifth on parallel bars, and sixth on the high bar.

Coach Burch stated, "This was one of the most impressive showings by our teams that I have ever observed. Our girls team looked more mature and professional than any team there. Our boys team had just finished with a very busy month. Both teams performed so very well that parents and judges came by to congratulate them."

Burch said that Kory made a good showing and his high score of the meet was 9.0 on the rings. His all around score was a 49.00 which was only eleven points from a perfect score.

"This was Kevin's first competition on the equipment and he made a great showing. It was a last week's decision to take him and he had a crash course on the different routines one week before the meet," Burch said and he also commented that Kevin was only six years old, but performed better than nine year olds there who had had previous meet experiences.

The gymnasts went to Plainview last month for tumbling competition. Bovina tumblers who performed were Kevin, Kory and Keri Mitchell, Darla, Andy, John, Wayne and Tammy Stormes, Leah Steelman, Carlos Garza, Bonnie Quintana and Sarah Chisom.

The meet came at a time when the coaches were so busy and they didn't have but a couple of days to prepare but they were able to maintain their usual standard of excellence and all but five tumblers captured first place finishes.

Bovina's Gymnastics Elite will be closed for the month of June but will resume again in July and that schedule will be on Tuesdays and Thursdays: beginners, 8-9 a.m., intermediates, 9-10 a.m. and advanced, 10-11:30 a.m.

NEWS AROUND TOWN.... We congratulate Mr. and Mrs. W.W. Wilcox and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Gray on the birth of their great-grandson, Tyler Steven, who was born May 31. He is the first born child of Steven and Anissa Roberts of Clovis and the first grandchild of Junior and Ruby McCormick, also of Clovis.

Robbie Moody, grandson of Sid Lloyd, was hospitalized in Lubbock for several days at St. Mary's Hospital suffering with symptoms caused from a virus. He was in the hospital about four days but is now out of the hospital and getting along much better.

Les McCain's mom, Leona McCain, was dismissed from the hospital and is now staying at the home of her daughter, Claudie Hill in Littlefield. Rose's sister-in-law, Janelle Sanders, is still in very critical condition. She is a patient at St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock.

We enjoyed dinner guests Sunday at our home, my mother Mrs. West of Hereford, my brother Fred West of Moriarity, N.M., and my nephew, Rodney, also of Moriarity.

You'll want to remember the spaghetti dinner, which will be held Sunday at the high school cafeteria. It is a Father's Day dinner and is sponsored by the Bovina Ambulance crew.

We enjoyed a visit Monday with Jeanne Bartley, who is in Bovina with her husband Bo and children, Renae, Todd and Jennifer. They are still at the orphanage in Guatemala but will be in our area until the end of August. They drove from Guatemala and arrived here last Thursday.

Mrs. Tom Griffith came home from Methodist Hospital where she spent a few days having tests run. Her condition has improved, according to her daughter, Barbara Charles.

Arther and Jean Judd will be leaving Bovina Friday of this week. Arther preaches at the Church of Christ and will be going into semi-retirement. He will be moving back and working part time at the Bosque Farms Church of Christ. This is where they were before coming to Bovina. We want to wish them lots of happiness and contentment.

Chester Rogers will be starting treatments in Amarillo and will be going five days a week for six weeks for radiation treatments. We are hoping for the best for he and Lillian and that all goes well for them.

We want to express our sympathies to Jerry Primrose, whose grandbaby died in recent days. The baby girl was born premature and too small to survive. She was Lowell and Billie Primrose's great-grandchild. We did not have the name of Jerry's daughter and husband but they live in Denver, Colorado. The entire family is there for the services. Anyway, we were very sorry to hear about it.

Velma Lide entered the hospital Monday of this week for the removal of cataracts. She will be dismissed on Tuesday of this week, if all goes well.

Buck and Dorothy Ellison went to Ute Lake one day last week and spent the night with son Howard and his wife June. Then they went to Conchas Lake and spent a day fishing. Several other people from Bovina were there also: Billy and Teen Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Wehunt, Jon Lin and Brenda Riddle and sons, Jon and Denver. While there, Jon caught a four-pound Pike. Also with the group were the Ellisons' son and daughter-in-law, Howard and June. They all enjoyed a good fishing trip and a nice visit.

We enjoyed having Maureen Schrock and her family in the office on Tuesday of this week. She and her husband Robert and children came to Bovina last Thursday. They flew from their home in Germany to Boston, Massachusetts on May 20 and spent a week, then drove to Detroit, Michigan. They enjoyed a trip to Niagara Falls and visited in Detroit with Robert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Schrock. They were able to visit with Robert's five brothers and one sister while there. They are expecting a visit with Robert's brother, Gerard, who will be flying in this week from San Diego. He is a Lieutenant Commander in the U.S. Navy.

The Schrocks will be in Germany for another year before retirement and they have not decided what they will be doing then. They said in Germany that the climate was mild and overcast most of the time and the high temperatures in the summer were only in the high sixties.

Cecil and Jessie Sisk's grandson was injured playing baseball in his back yard and had to have surgery to correct a crushed skull. We were unable to get in touch with Jessie or Cecil but understand the boy is getting along fine. The young man's mom is Judy, the Sisks' daughter.

A.M. and Mary Jane Wilson have returned home from attending a family reunion in Abilene. The Wilson reunion was held at the Ramada Inn with 36 members present. A.M.'s brother and sisters were there: Hubert of Lubbock, Elaine Bybee of Hondo, and Lucille Ford of Tulia. Their parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. A.M. Wilson of Tulia. The reunion was held June 9, 10 and 11. Mary Jane said Rodney and Suzanne Murphy were in charge of the reunion and did a fantastic job.

Scoops...

Visiting in the home of Nita and Donald Dale were Nita's brother and family, James and Linnie Moore and children, Jeff, Todd, and Nicki of Beaumont. They had been to Colorado and came by to visit the Moores. On Sunday they all went to Whiteface and visited with Nita's and James' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Moore.

Eugene and Molly Griffin and children Fonda and Allan Griffin, also daughter Carol and Johnny Saunders of Amarillo and their daughter Amber returned home June 9 from a trip to California.

They left home May 28 and visited a nephew and his family in Newberry Park, spent a day at play in the Pacific Ocean, traveled up the scenic route number one along the coast and went on a tour through Hearst Castle.

They visited Molly's sister in Concord, a brother and a host of nieces and nephews in Napa.

While in the Bay area, they went to Marine World near San Francisco, also toured Alcatraz Island and Fisherman's Wharf. They spent a fun day at Redwood Forest, picnicking and hiking.

In Marysville, they visited another brother and drove on to Grass Valley and saw another niece.

On their way home they spent a night in Sequia National Park.

Thank you for helping with the Scoops...have a great week...Scooter.
