SIMPLIFIED FARM BOOKKEEPING

No method of keeping a record of receipts and expenditures is more convenient for the farmer than the check account.

He deposits his money in the bank and pays his bills by check. Promptly on the 25th of each month we mail every customer on our books, who has not a pass book, a statement of his account, returning all paid checks. These checks are legal receipts for money paid. Bills paid by check stay paid.

You cannot afford to be without the check account--it costs you absolutely nothing.

WE KNOW YOUR WANTS and WANT YOUR BUSINESS.

Railroad Surveyors.

The survey of the proposed line of road from Boerne to Coleman has been completed to Mason, and both surveying corps arrived here last week. F. W. Steber, who was in charge of the work from Boerne to Fredericksburg, has returned to Coleman for further orders. One corps of the workers have been discharged. W. P. Halliday is now at work with the other corps making the survey to Brady, following the recent survey of the Frisco. At present nothing is known of the plans of the promoters, but it is hoped that there will soon be something doing.—Mason News.

C. J. Hendrickson, wife and children, of Sweden, were in the city Saturday evening, enjoying delicatessen delicacies and taking in the theatre.

County Convention.

The county democratic convention Saturday was a warm proposition and was in session about three hours. After the body outlined it took only a few minutes to select the three delegates to the state convention, as follows: Tom Beasley, A. C. Baze, and J. F. Montgomery. All three are submissionists.

San Saba Officers.

In San Saba county Hugh Miller was elected sheriff, W. W. Skelton tax collector, W. N. Ellis district clerk, W. V. Dean county clerk, J. T. Hartley county judge, A. B. Wilson county attorney, Mitch Johnson tax assessor, Mrs. Doris Oliver treasurer. J. T. Hamilton received 753 votes for representative against 417 for J. H. Jones.

A young man by the name of Trawick who lives at Brady happened to a serious accident Friday. It seems that he was running and thinking that his horse was going on one side of a tree leaned that way, but the horse changed his mind and went on the other side, throwing the young man against the tree and bruising him severely about the head and hip. Drs. Burleson and Nelson were summoned and dressed the wounds. They said no bones were broken and thought he would recover.—Richard Springs Eye-Witness.

Mercury Physician Dies at McGregor.

Dr. J. W. Moore, who has for the past fifteen years been engaged in the practice of medicine at Milburn and Mercury in McCulloch county, died Wednesday at McGregor after an illness of a few weeks with typhoid fever. He was at McGregor when the disease developed. Dr. Moore was an unmarried man and a member of the Brownwood Commandery, and was quite popular as a physician and as a man. Messrs. Jack Matlock and John Cox, of Mercury, passed through this city last night on their way to McGregor to attend the funeral which took place there today.—Brownwood Bulletin.

The News notes with pleasure that P. A. Campbell was nominated for district clerk of McCulloch county in the democratic primaries Saturday. Those McCulloch county sovereigns seem to know a good thing when they see it and whenever a San Saba county man offers for a representative position they proceed to elect him. RESIGNS AS SECRETARY

Frank Bennett, Secretary of Brady Commercial Club, Tenders Resignation in Order to Accept Better Job.

At a called meeting of the directors of the Brady Commercial Club Friday afternoon Secretary Frank Bennett tendered his resignation, to take effect at once. The resignation was accepted and the directors extended Mr. Bennett a vote of thanks for his work during the past several months, characterizing it as efficient and satisfactory. Mr. Bennett's resignation was in writing and was as follows:

Brady, Texas, July 27.
To the Directors of the Brady Commercial Club:

Gentlemen:—Owing to better positions having been offered me, and knowing that the time of year has come when the needs of Brady demand a more experienced and a better qualified man, I hereby tender you my resignation as your secretary, to take effect September 1, or sooner if possible.

I feel that were I to resign without giving you plenty of time to secure my successor you could justly accuse me of unfair and underhanded proceedings. Therefore, I am giving you until September 1st, in which to secure a man who is competent to successfully carry on the great work of making Brady the metropolis of this section of Texas.

While we have not accomplished a great deal during the three months existence of our commercial club, yet we have successfully organized one of the best clubs in Texas, secured quite a number of desirable citizens, worked up a list of several hundred good, prospective home-seekers, gotten the much longed for up-town Western Union Telegraph office, secured a first-class marble works, a good music school, and two more first-class business firms. In addition, we have boomed Brady and the Brady country, secured several hundred dollars free advertising, and matured plans for several enterprises which we think, if carried out, will be great factors in the upbuilding of our city.

All this has been accomplished in the hardest and dullest time of year. Brady has a great future before it if the proper amount of enthusiasm is displayed by her splendid citizens. If you wish, I can work on until September 1st; or, if you so desire, I can turn the position over to my successor on August 1st.

Thanking you for your kindness to me during my term of office, I beg to remain,
Yours truly,
FRANK BENNETT.

It developed at the meeting that Mr. Bennett had been offered a very flattering position with the Draughton Business College people who desired him to go to work for them as superintendent of all their West Texas branches and active manager of the Brady school soon to be established. They desired him to begin the work on August 1st, therefore the directors decided to release Mr. Bennett immediately, so that he might assume his new duties at once. An order was so made, and on motion the offer of Director Thos. Bell to take temporary charge of the secretary's office was accepted, without salary, and Mr. Bell was instructed to conduct the business of the club to the best of his abilities until a permanent secretary could be had.

Mr. Bennett's financial statement was presented and audited and found correct. Mr. Bennett's new position carries with it a splendid salary, more than the Club was paying, and is right in line with his talents and training. He will have the direct management of the Brady branch of the Draughton schools, and the superintendency of all the branches in West Texas as far out as El Paso. It is a splendid position, and The Standard congratulates Mr. Bennett, at the same time being aware of the fact that the Draughton people could not have secured a better man for the work.

BRIDGE IS CONDEMNED

Street Committee of City Council Inspects Bridge Over Brady Creek and Takes Immediate Action.

It's up to the people of McCulloch county to build a bridge over Brady creek in this city. By instruction of the city council the street committee visited the present structure Monday morning and made a careful inspection of the bridge in all its points. They found it to be in such a bad shape that they characterized it as dangerous and condemned it at once.

"It's a wonder to me," said Alderman Martin to a Standard reporter, "that something hasn't already happened. The big timbers on which the floor is laid are absolutely rotten, while the rock supports for the approaches are badly decomposed, and the one on the north side is especially bad. The rocks have bulged out and seem ready to cave in."

The committee ordered signs posted on the bridge calling attention to its condition, and started the street foreman to work at once in shaping up the ford crossing one block further east so that traffic might be turned that way with as little delay and inconvenience as possible. It is altogether possible that the bridge will be closed to traffic entirely within the next few days. City Attorney Matthews is out of town and as soon as he returns to advise the proper course to be pursued this point will be definitely decided.

It is a matter of wonder that Brady has put up with this bridge as long as she has. It was once a good bridge and sufficient to the purpose, but the town and country have long since outgrown it. It sets at an angle so that in crossing it one describes an angular figure similar to the letter Z. With anything like heavy traffic the bridge beag but congested and much want your inconvenience is occasioned. Illustration of this was Mrs. A. B. Wray when the fire alarm, several hundred vehicles to that part of town. It became tangled and it took lockers, time to get the people across bridge.

This bridge is used more than all the other bridges in the county, present and prospective, would be used in three months. Every farm living north of Brady creek and comes to Brady must cross and making the bridge as much of necessity to them as it is to town people themselves.

Manufacturing

The factory is the farmers' market house and he must travel until he reaches it and pay the freight all the way. Building factories in Texas to manufacture the raw material we produce, will increase the market value of the products $150,000,000 per annum.
The terms of Texas produce annually $2,000,000,000 of raw material for the country and of this amount $75,000,000
is shipped out of the state and $452,000,000
is shipped to other countries. The net loss shown below clearly exhibits
the proportion of raw material manufactured and shipped out of the state.

"Texas Manufactures."
A few general rules governing manufacturing are of interest in this connection. As a rule the factory doubles the price of the raw material. A factory investment of $2,000 gives employment to one man. One factory laborer creates $1,000 of wealth annually. These are general averages and may not apply in every specific instance. We need a billion dollars invested in factories to manufacture the raw material we ship out of the state.
The advantages of the factory may well be illustrated by the bale of cotton, and what we say of cotton applies with equal force to most all products.
Texas produces a bale of cotton valued at $50. This cotton is shipped to England and manufactured into cotton goods and its value doubled or $50 added to it. The finished product is shipped back to Texas and at the port of entry the Federal Government levies a tariff of $50 per bale making a total value of $150 per bale instead of $50 as at present.

"Increased Value of Manufactured Bales of Cotton"

If Texas only received all the cost of production, we would have to pay the expense of transportation and other expenses, and the net profit would be very small. Instead of this,
we receive a profit of $100 per bale,
which is a profit of 200 per cent.
This profit is the result of the manufacturing process. The cotton grower receives $50 for the raw cotton, and the manufacturer adds $100 of value to it. The finished product is worth $150. The manufacturer's profit is $100, which is 200 per cent of the raw material's value. This is the reason why we need more factories in Texas. The more factories we have, the more value we add to our raw material, and the more profit we receive. This is the key to the prosperity of Texas. We must manufacture our own raw material, and we must add value to it. This is the only way to increase the wealth of Texas. We must build more factories, and we must encourage manufacturing. This is the only way to make Texas a great state. We must build more factories, and we must encourage manufacturing. This is the only way to make Texas a great state. We must build more factories, and we must encourage manufacturing. This is the only way to make Texas a great state.

TWO STOCK DEALS.

Sherwood Took Flood's Boat and Later Handed It Back.

In Joseph L. King's "History of the San Francisco Stock and Exchange Board" is this story of Flood and Sherwood:

In the early days, in the seventies,
quite a number of operators would gather together in Cahill's office on Montgomery street, near California.
Among them were Mr. James C. Flood and Mr. Robert Sherwood. Sherwood had 1,000 Consolidated Virginia, the stock selling at about $100. One day Sherwood, on looking at the prices, remarked that he was getting tired of that Consolidated Virginia; it did not move much. Mr. Flood said: "What are you growing about? If you are tired of that stock I will take it off
your hands at $100." "Sold," said Sherwood, and the stock changed hands.

In course of time the Nevada bank building was erected on the corner of Pine and Montgomery streets. On meeting Sherwood one day Mr. Flood remarked, "We built that Nevada block on the profits of that 1,000 shares
of Consolidated Virginia you sold us."
Subsequently, in the Sierra Nevada and Union deal, Mr. Flood approached Sherwood on the street and bought from him 5,000 Union at $200 a share,
the transaction footing up $1,000,000.
Sherwood built the Union block, on the corner of Pine, Davis and Market streets. Meeting Flood one day, he remarked, "I built that Union block with the profits of that 5,000
Union I sold you."

A WARM GREETING.

She Overcame the Rules and Met Him
at the Station.

She was rushing through the gate past Bill Gibson, the gateman, like a passenger train by a flag station, but Gibson stopped her.
"Let's see your ticket, lady," he asked politely enough.
"Oh, I have no ticket," she said.
"But won't you please let me through,
I want to—"
"It's against the rules," cut in Gilson.
"Yes, but I want to be there on the platform"—all this breathlessly—"I'm so anxious to meet him."
"Well, go on through," Gibson told her. "I guess it'll be all right." Then to himself he soliloquized: "Why not?
Perhaps she won't always be so keen to meet him; probably hasn't been married but a month or so; maybe isn't married yet at all. Far be it from me to interrupt her in such nice little attentions."
The train came in. Gibson sort of looked out of the tail of his eye for a chance to witness the happy reunion. Such sights illumine the dark recesses of the dingy old depot.
In a moment he caught sight of her.
But her husband or sweetheart—if she had one or the other—was not with her. However, she was not alone.
Under her arm she clutched tightly a compact and English bulldog with a countenance like a dissipated gar-goyle.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Price of Eloquence.

The auctioneer held up a battered fiddle.
"What am I offered for this antique violin?" he pathetically inquired. "Look it over. See the blurred finger marks of remorseless time. Note the stains of the hurrying years. To the merry notes of this fine old instrument the brocaded dames of fair France may have danced the minuet in glittering Versailles. Perhaps the vestal virgins marched to its stirring rhythms in the festivals of Lupercalia. Ha, it bears an affection—perhaps a touch of fire. Why, this may have been the very fiddle on which Nero played when Rome burned."
"Thirty cents," said a red nosed man in the front row.
"It's yours!" cried the auctioneer
cheerfully. "What next?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A South Arabian Food Plant.

Jowari, a tall, slender plant resembling corn and headed with a grain
something like millet, is the Abdali's chief crop. He feeds the stalk to his camels and eats the grain himself.
Three crops a year are produced. Jowari requires little cultivation except weeding, which the Abdali does by hand, and when ripe he cuts it off close to the ground with his hunting knife.
New shoots spring up from the roots
to become the next crop. For a camel load of about 125 pounds he receives at Aden an average of two rupees, or $64.88. A fair yearly yield is twenty camel loads an acre.—Consular and Trade Reports.

Fairly Warned.

"Mr. Smith," spoke up the young lawyer. "I come here as a representative of your neighbor, Tom Jones,
with the commission to collect a debt
due him."
"I congratulate you," answered Mr.
Smith, "on obtaining so permanent a job at such an early stage in your career."—Success.

TO BID ON GRADE WORK

Contractors Figuring on Grade Work For the Brownwood-Rockwood Road.
Interest Reviving.

Contractor O. E. Gammell, of Shreveport, is in the city this week looking over the survey of the Brownwood Southwestern railroad with a view of submitting a bid on the grade work,
which will probably begin about September 1st. Mr. Gammell is an experienced railroad contractor and a man who figures pretty close on the job. He is of the opinion that the line can be constructed at an average cost of grading and is pleased with the rich and fertile country such a line would tap.

Interest in the new line has been lagging some while the promoters were getting things ready for the beginning of the work, but now that contractors are looking over the field with a view of offering bids it is beginning to look like business and the people are beginning to take a new interest. Col. Love is not talking much for the simple reason that he has not had his plans perfected and it does little good to talk about something that is yet undecided. It is known that the line will be constructed but the minor details are to be worked out before the work begins. The townsite proposition and right of way have been settled at Trickham and Rockwood.

Within the next ten days Col.
Love expects to have some definite announcement and within the next four weeks the grade
work should be started.—Brownwood Bulletin.

Property Values

Some people are born wealthy, others
acquire it, and still others have it thrust upon them. The Texas property owner is now having wealth thrust upon them.
The real estate values in Texas are increasing at the rate of $1,000,000 per day.
The total increase in wealth from property and property values approximates $9,500,000 per annum. A careful study of the tax rolls indicate that $350,000,000
of this amount is increase in property values and $250,000,000 in property moving into the State, as shown in cut below:

Every dollar of new money coming into the State gives added value to investments already made. The money which is flowing into our State will triple and quadruple the price of unimproved investor is sure of a comfortable future through the natural increase of land an-without effort on his part. There are $700,000 per day coming into Texas and making investment in farms, factories,
railroads.

There are two classes of property—
natural and artificial.
Natural property, such as land, cannot
of course, be created by man; we can only increase its value. Artificial property, such as buildings, machinery, etc.
can be created by man, and its value can also be enhanced. With natural property we are limited in our methods of increasing values, while there are no restrictions to development through artificial property. We may grillroads, we may build railroads, dot it with factories,
build cities and fill the valleys with happy
homes, but we cannot create another acre of land. The investor may come to Texas and buy land, and if he cannot do so, can sell it later and leave the State, with all the property he brought into the State, but the investor
who builds railroads, factories, irrigating canals, etc., cannot take that back with him, and he has established permanent

MAY GET MR. WOODALL

Brady Commercial Club Now on a Deal to Secure Best Commercial Secretary in Texas.

Brady may get Wm. M. Woodall, of Temple, for secretary of our commercial club. Mr. Woodall is the man who helped organize the Brady club last March. He is at present secretary of the Temple Commercial Club, and is also secretary of the state organization, known as the Texas Commercial Secretaries Association. He is recognized as one of the strongest men in the state in his line of work, and if we can secure his services the future of our club is assured.

Mr. Woodall, with his wife, was out here last week, spending a portion of his vacation. He was here only two days, however, being called back home by some important business matters. The directors of the local organization, anticipating the resignation of Mr. Bennett, talked with Mr. Woodall and made him a proposition which he promised to consider, and his answer is expected within the next few days.

In the meantime let all Brady citizens rally to their commercial club. If we don't get Woodall there are several other men prominent in club work available, and the selection of a good man is assured. The better the man the better the club, and the better the club the greater the results; therefore we all want Woodall or some other secretary of broad experience, and we will have him.

Our club has made good during its three months' existence. While there are no startling results evident on the surface, still the ground work for permanency and future good has been laid and now with a man like Mr. Woodall in charge, we may expect things to begin to happen. Things have already happened, and the secretary who has just retired has done well and deserves credit. Let every member resolve to redouble his energies, put his shoulder to the wheel and help make Brady the biggest and best city in West Texas. It can be done; it's going to be done, and you are expected to do your part.

Observe These Rules.

On the 1st of this month the undersigned assumed charge of the Brady Telephone Exchange, and in order to improve our service and make the phone of greater value to each subscriber, we ask you to observe the following rules:

Positively no one will be allowed in the operating room at any time while the operators are on duty.

Positively no conversation will be tolerated with any operator while on duty, unless of a strictly business nature. Failure to observe this will cause the dismissal of the operator violating this rule.

For any report you wish to make, or complaint you wish to file call for Chief Operator and same will receive immediate attention.

Notice.

To all officers and teachers of Sunday Schools in McCulloch county:

Notice is hereby given of a picnic to be given at Dutton Grove, Brady, Texas, Wednesday, August 3rd, in the interest of all Sunday Schools in McCulloch county. The object is to get better organized schools throughout the county, to give better training to the teachers, to get the Sunday School people in closer touch with each other. On the day of our county picnic we expect to perfect our County Association. Every Sunday School superintendent and secretary should insist upon a full attendance on that day. A regular program is being arranged and several prominent speakers are expected to be with us on that day.

Every school should have a banner bearing its name. Every man, woman and child in McCulloch county should be interested in this great movement. It is the "King's Business" and we want the presence of all who are interested in His work.

Come, bring your baskets and enjoy yourself.

C. A. TRIGG,

Boot and Shoe Repairing

Done With Machinery

In this day and age of machines, you don't think of doing by hand what you can do with machinery. Everything is done in an up-to-date manner, even the repairing of boots and shoes (which only a few years ago was thought to be the only way) is done with machinery and much quicker, neater and at a lower price than can be done by hand.

With this outfit we are prepared to do all the boot and shoe repairing of Brady and surrounding country, so don't throw them away just when they are getting comfortable, but bring them to us; we can make them as good as new.

About Broom Corn.

J. D. Moody, the broom manufacturer and raiser from Concho county, was in the city Saturday and placed an ad with The Standard asking for broom corn. Mr. Moody says the brush is scarce now and the crop prospect is not bright in this locality, for the reason that most of those who planted failed to properly care for the crop or were caught by the drought which has prevailed in his section. He has just bought a 15 acre crop from Jim Price near Menard, which was raised by irrigation. Mr. Moody thinks he will harvest 5 tons from this field at a cost to him of $100 per ton. Mr. Moody's own crop near Eden, will make a good yield if rain is had by the middle of August.

The Standard, $1 per year.

Phone System at Melvin.

Russell Bailey of Winchell, has just completed an office in Melvin and now has a force of hands at work putting in poles and stringing wire for his telephone exchange. He states that the enterprise is meeting with hearty encouragement from everyone, and that over fifty have volunteered subscriptions for phones. He has placed an order for a one hundred drop switch board to be installed.

FREEZING CAVERNS.

Subterranean Caves That Are Lined With Crystalline Ice.

There are deep cavities and tunneled recesses in the earth far away from sunlight and held in the tight embrace of rocky strata where secret boards of glittering ice find habitation all the year round. Yet down in these queer places the ice is as clear and crystalline as any that nature maintains in the open air. Moreover, it occurs on a truly grand and massive scale.

Imagine thick underground ice walls and floors and craftily fissured columns beautiful in shape and color streaming from roof to floor of lofty rock chambers! And under the slow drip, drip, drip of percolating water this same ice learns to fashion itself into cave adornments—frozen water drops, curling slopes, stalactites and stalagmites of fantastic shape and rainbow hues.

Subterranean cold waves, or "glaciers," as they are frequently called, crop up in some 300 scattered localities in Europe, Asia and America, but all, with rare exceptions, whether true ice caverns or grottoes and deep hollows, are confined to the north temperate regions of these continents—that is, to places where there is a sufficiently low temperature at some portion of the year to reach freezing point and render snowfall possible.—Pearson's Magazine.

THEY SIT AND LOOK.

Women Who Watch For Celebrities In a New York Restaurant.

"I always wonder," said a New York woman who lunches out a good deal, "what satisfaction the women get out of life who flock to a certain fashionable uptown restaurant at lunchtime just to see celebrities.

"They look as if they cannot afford to be there, and the truth is they do not apparently go there for food. I have watched them ordering and noted what was brought them, and almost invariably it is some such thing as cafe parfait, or an ice of some kind, or a cup of tea or of chocolate and a sandwich.

"They sit and look. The moment some stage celebrity comes in there is a craning of necks, and you hear excited whisperings. 'Oh, there's So-and-so!' mentioning an actress or a matinee idol, and the neck craning keeps on until a fresh subject for scrutiny comes in.

"You can see this sort of thing every lunchtime at this restaurant. There is a regular contingent of these rubber-neckers, and they are not visitors from the far west, either."—New York Sun.

Growing Corn For Cob Pipes.

Probably not one smoker in a hundred who likes the "real American pipe"—the corncob—is aware of the fact that many acres in Ohio, Illinois, Missouri and Nebraska are devoted to raising corn for the especial purpose of producing cobs suitable for fashioning into pipe bowls. The grain itself is marketed, of course, but the cob on which it grows is the real harvest and is cut carefully into proper lengths, smoothed and polished, the soft inner pulp being gouged out by specially constructed machinery. The corncob pipe goes to every country in the world where men smoke and is especially in favor in Australia and New Zealand, where it is regarded as characteristically American, because it suggests the idea of Yankee ingenuity. The pipe is the favorite with Englishmen, who are probably the greatest pipe smokers in the world.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Waiting For The Note.

An English churchman tells the following:

"At one of our cathedrals the minor canon was ill and could not sing. A suffragan bishop had a good voice and volunteered to sing the litany. 'Go,' he said to the vergers, 'and tell the organist that I will sing the litany and ask him to give me the reciting note.' 'Please, sir,' said the vergers to the organist, 'the bishop has sent me to you to say he will sing the litany.' 'All right,' said the organist. Seeing the vergers remain, he said, 'You need not stay.' 'Please, sir, the bishop asked me to ask you if you would give him a something—I didn't quite catch—note.' 'You mean the reciting note.' 'That's it, sir; that's it.' Seeing the vergers still remaining, he said, 'You need not stay.' To which the vergers said, 'Please, sir, shall I take it to his lordship?'"

Camel Carriages.

Camel carriages are not common conveyances in most parts of India, but on the great trunk road leading to Delhi they are frequently to be seen. They are large, double story wagons, drawn sometimes by one, sometimes by two or even three camels, according to their size. Iron bars which give them a cage-like appearance were originally intended as a defense against robbers, and the carts were probably also used for the conveyance of prisoners.

Her Sad Fate.

"What a beautiful little girl she is!" "Yes, and, just think, she'll have to marry a mere American unless her father chirks up and exhibits more ability as a financier than he has ever shown thus far."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Stingy.

"He is a stingy old curmudgeon, isn't he?" "The worst I ever saw. Why, he'd haggle over the cost of building a spite fence."—Exchange.

He who flatters you is your enemy—Cardan.

A SERIOUS DINER.

The Way the Great Emperor Charles V. Ate His Meals.

The diary of a German gentleman, Bartholomew Sastraw, who lived in the time of the Emperor Charles V., gives us a good idea of the gastronomic customs of those times. Sastraw's description of the table habits of the greatest ruler in his day is very interesting.

Young princes and counts served the repast. There were invariably four courses of six dishes. The emperor had no one to carve for him. He began by cutting his bread in pieces large enough for one mouthful, then attacked his plate. He often used his fingers while he held the plate under his chin with the other hand.

When he felt thirsty he made a sign to the "doctor" standing by the table; then they went to the sideboard for two silver flagons and filled a goblet which held about a measure and a half. The emperor drained it to the last drop, practically at one draft.

During the meal he never uttered a syllable, scarcely smiled at the most amusing sallies of the jesters behind his chair, finally picked his teeth with quills and, after washing his hands, retired to a window recess, where anybody could approach him with a petition.

SALT WATER.

Deep Seas Are More Saline Than Those That Are Shallow.

The density of sea water depends upon the quantity of saline matter it contains. The proportion is generally about 3 or 4 per cent, though it varies in different places. The ocean contains more salt in the southern than in the northern hemisphere, and the Atlantic contains more than the Pacific. The greatest proportion of salt in the Pacific is in the parallels of 22 degrees north latitude and 17 degrees south latitude. Near the equator it is less, and in the polar seas it is least, from the melting of the ice.

The saltiness varies with the seasons in these regions, and the fresh water, being lighter, is uppermost. Rain makes the surface of the sea fresher than the interior parts, and the influx of rivers renders the ocean less salt at their estuaries.

Deep seas are more saline than those that are shallow, and inland seas communicating with the main are less salt, from the rivers that flow into them. To this, however, the Mediterranean is an exception, owing to great evaporation and the influx of salt currents from the Black sea and the Atlantic. The water in the strait of Gibraltar at the depth of 670 fathoms is four times as salt as that at the surface.—St. James' Gazette.

Lore of the Clover.

Any one who carries about a four leaved clover will be lucky and will have the power of discovering ghosts or evil spirits. With it under the pillow the lover may insure dreams of the beloved one. A fragment in the shoe of a traveler insures a safe journey. Of the five leaved clover it is declared that if it be worn on the left side of a maiden's dress or fastened behind the hall door the Christian name of the first man who enters will be the same as that of the future husband. The power of the four leaved shamrock for good is familiar to all from Lover's pretty and once popular song, the speaker in which pictures what she would do should she find the magic plant:

I would play the enchanter's part and scatter bliss around, And not a tear or aching heart should in the world be found.

—London Globe.

The Nature of Friendship.

Friendship may be fostered, but cannot be forced. Two are as one, not because it is in the will of either, but because it is in the nature of both. When souls of similar fiber encounter each other the gods preside at the meeting. I may not cockily say, "I will make this man my friend." He either is or is not my friend without any decision of mine or his. The ages have been shaping the two of us, and if we fit into each other well and good; if not, we know it instinctively and are worlds apart though we toast our shins at the same fire and bandy words till doomsday.—Richard Wightman in Metropolitan Magazine.

Consolation.

There had been a little quarrel after the honeymoon.

"And just look at my pretty linen collar," sobbed the young wife; "the tears have trickled down and wilted it out of shape. You haven't a bit of feeling."

"Indeed I have," laughed the big husband; "I'm going to fix things up." "How, George?"

"Why, the next time I go downtown I am going to buy you a waterproof collar."—Chicago News.

A Special Brand.

Mrs. Recentmarrie—I want half a dozen red lemons. The Fruiterer—Red lemons? Mrs. Recentmarrie—Yes, sir; I want to surprise my husband by making him some red lemonade.—Chicago News.

The Two Periods.

The career of every successful man may be divided into two periods first, when he is not given credit for what he knows and, second, when he is given credit for what he doesn't know. Life.

Do not talk about disgrace from a thing being known when the disgrace is that the thing should exist.—Falconer.
