A Lame Horse in Business

For many ordinary purposes, a lame horse may be all right hitched with one that is sound. The two may draw the load perhaps without difficulty, but when it comes to a hill or a rough road, the going is handicapped by the lame horse.

The man without the aid of a bank's service in his business has a lame horse. Some men can carry on their business in a way, perhaps satisfactory to themselves, without a bank's help. They have never experienced the real advantages of a bank's help.

There are times in any business when the best methods and every available assistance is necessary. A lameness means failure when the road is rough.

The man with a bank account has the benefit of the bank's service for his every-day needs, he can depend upon the bank when unexpected occasions arise that require outside help.

The Brady National Bank has a service that is good for every man's daily needs, it is adjustable to the demands of the various businesses, and is also a reserve help for unexpected and arduous times.

Our service will be a necessity to your business after you have experienced its many advantages.

Cotton Receipts.

Cotton is coming in slowly according to the opinion of Public Weigher Jordan who reported 132 bales yarded up to Wednesday morning. He says he had expected 500 bales ere this and is at a loss to account for the slowness of the movement as the dry hot weather should have made early picking.

The market opened better than last year, and 13 1-2 to 14 1-2 cents middling basis has been paid the past week. Receipts will probably pick up from now on.

A. W. Tipton returned Tuesday from a trip to the northern markets.

J. E. Willis and Lee Yates, of Voca, were here Tuesday on business.

SELLS FOR $18,000.00

Fitzgerald Business Property on West Side Square Bought by Fort Worth Investor Recently.

A news item of considerable importance which has escaped The Standard's notice for several days is the sale by B. J. Fitzgerald, the popular Frisco passenger conductor, to W. P. Portwood of Fort Worth, of the former's brick business house on the west side of the square, the consideration being $18,000. The deal has been closed for some time and the deed recorded.

This is a good piece of property and Mr. Fitzgerald has made a nice profit on his investment. He bought 100-foot frontage on the west side about a year ago and immediately built two 50-foot business houses thereon. They are now occupied by the dry goods firm of C. B. Watters & Co., the Brady Piano Co. and the Weeks restaurant. Mr. Portwood bought the property as an investment.

Mr. Fitzgerald, since the change in schedule on the Frisco, makes his home in Fort Worth and only gets out to Brady every fourth day. He had hoped to make this his home, and had made a number of investments in city property, but the change in his run knocked his plans all in the head and he was forced to move to Fort Worth. His many Brady friends hope yet to see him locate here permanently.

Compliments Brady.

Lometa, Texas, Aug. 30.
Editor Brady Standard.

In response to several requests I write this letter for publication in your valued paper.

One among the best meetings I have held this year was in your excellent city. Our meeting was splendidly attended. We had an excellent choir of good singers. The attention and interest were very commendable throughout the meeting. Bro. Matthis, our pastor, I found to be in high favor with his people and held in high esteem by all the community, and he is doing an excellent work.

Bro. Matthis and his good wife were very kind to me and I enjoyed my stay in their home to the fullest degree. In fact all the people were very kind to me. I have never been treated more royally by any people than by those of Brady. I had the privilege of meeting many of my old friends which was indeed a great pleasure to me. In all I consider Brady as one among the best appointments of the West Texas Conference. My impression of Brady was that it is one of the most moral, religious, cultured and enterprising towns I have visited this year. I shall always be glad of the privilege of visiting your town and meeting her good people.

Respectfully,

M. J. ALLEN.

West Texas Conference Missionary Evangelist.

The city authorities are to be congratulated on the success of their "clean-up" crusade inaugurated several weeks since. All streets and alleys in the fire limits are now in the care of the city scavenger whose duty it is to keep them in a sanitary condition without cost to the property owners. His work is easily observable.

READ-DIGEST

IN Ladies' Ready-to-Wear we wish to offer a few thoughts to prospective buyers. Our buyer having just returned from market, we are in a position to offer some suggestions that will be of vital importance to the lady who wants to appear correctly dressed. First of all, the garment should be strictly tailored. Secondly, it should be made in keeping with the latest styles. It should also be made of the newest weaves and lined with genuine Skinner satin, and last, but not least, the garment should fit perfectly.

The Printzess garment is strictly tailored, made in the very latest styles and of the newest weaves, with full Skinner satin lining.

Every Garment Will be Properly Fitted Before Leavin the Grand Leader

Ladies, you can find suits in Brady now represented to be the latest, but beware of hand-me-downs. In other words, last year's suits, which were long but have been cut short for this season's style, the length may be right, but the lines and style are entirely different to the stylish garment of today. We could have stacks of hand-me-down suits, coats and dresses in stock now, but we do not handle that class. Our shipments will be made in plenty of time for you to supply your every want.

The Printzess Garment is made especially for the Grand Leader in Brady; no other store will have them, and they are made for us after we place our order, the same as if we should take your special order. We truly believe we will show the prettiest and niftiest garments this season we have ever seen, and the price will not bother you. We are receiving new goods every day, so come to the Grand Leader and see something new every day.

Brady Baptist Association.

Rev. Wade D. Vinson, of Rochelle, was here Wednesday enroute to Aemon, Menard county, where the Brady Baptist Association was due to begin its annual labors yesterday (Thursday) continuing through Sunday. Rev. W. A. Knight and Rev. H. R. Moran, of Brady, are also in attendance, Bro. Knight being on the program for the introductory sermon.

John Martin returned the first of the week from a trip to Ozona. He reports that section suffering severely from the drouth, Coke county particularly being hard hit.

The 16-month-old child of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Neal was made quite ill for several hours Friday by drinking a quantity of coal oil. Prompt action on the part of the family physician put the little one in good shape again.

C. H. Vincent and wife and Mrs. I. G. Abney returned the first of the week from a visit to points in Oklahoma and the Panhandle. Mr. Vincent also visited the northern markets while away and laid in a big stock of fall and winter goods for his firm.

Will Tisdale has resigned his position with the firm of Rainbolt & Plummer, where he has been a popular clerk for several years. Mr. and Mrs. Tisdale will move to Eddy, Texas, where they will make their home, and where the best wishes of many friends will follow them.

WILL RUSSELL KILLED

Fatal Accident Occured at Crumrine Camp on Menard Railroad Extension Wednesday Afternoon

Will Russell, of this city, was the victim of an accident Wednesday afternoon which cost him his life. Mr. Russell was working with the pile driver outfit on the Frisco extension, being a member of Fred Crumrine's crew engaged in driving piling for a bridge about fourteen miles from town. It seems that something about the machine broke, letting the heavy pile driver fall at the wrong time. The weight struck the pile at an angle and split off a large section of the wood which was hurled against Mr. Russell with great force, striking him in the head. The accident occurred in the afternoon and the injured man lived until midnight.

Deceased came to Brady about a year ago from Arkansas City, Ark. He was about 26 years old and leaves a wife and one child. The funeral was conducted from the residence of his brother, R. M. Russell, at 3:00 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the interment being at the Brady cemetery.

Laxative for Women Free

There is a great difference in the purposes to which a laxative should be put. Tablets and pills, salts, etc., are usually violent purgatives or cathartics, and altogether too powerful for the average person.

A woman at all times needs only a mild laxative—in fact, none other is needed by anyone, weak or strong though they may be, for the object is simply to move the bowels, and if a gentle laxative will do it, what is the use of a violent one?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has earned a well-deserved vogue among women and children and old folks—people who must necessarily be careful of what they take. It is a liquid laxative tonic and admittedly the greatest stomach, liver and bowel remedy before the American people. The price is only 50 cents or $1 a bottle, as it comes in both sizes, and all druggists sell it. Its pleasant taste and gentle action make it an ideal remedy for women in constipation, torpid liver, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn and such like digestive complaints. Its use for a short time will remove the trouble entirely so that future medication will be unnecessary. Its tonic properties build up the stomach and intestinal muscles so that they act naturally again. That this is so is the experience of many heads of families, like Mrs. Brannan, of Alvarado, Va., Mrs. K. L. Stout, of Louisville, Ky., and numerous others; in fact, way out in Williams, Cal., as Mrs. J. E. Blackmore, of that place, writes, the whole town seems to be using it.

If the remedy is new to you and you want to make a trial of it before buying, send your name to the doctor's address as below and a free test bottle will be sent you. Then, if results are satisfactory you can buy it of your druggist.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 500 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

BAD ROADS COSTLY.

GREAT HANDICAP TO FARMERS

They Suffer Heavy Losses Getting Their Products to Market Over Ill Kept Roads—Land Values Advance With Improved Roadways.

Two hundred and fifty million dollars a year are wasted on bad roads in the United States.

write. In four good road states out of 6,000,000 population there are 20,000 illiterates.

The interstate commerce report shows that the railroads yearly haul 295,000,000 tons of farm produce

The results of bad roads are yearly tolls of $12.50 against every person who eats farm produce.

The beauty of the relentless scheme of things is when we mend our ways—in this case, mend our roads—nature not only wipes out the deficit, but she puts a plus to the account where there used to be a minus.

The good road moves the remotest farm right next to the market. A farm twenty miles from the market on an all the year round good road is nearer market than a farm seven miles away on a bad road.

Fruit, $80 per acre; flowers, $2,000 per acre; corn, $8 per acre; wheat, $7 per acre; oats, $7 per acre; vegetables, $42 per acre.

Out in the Dakotas and Minnesota and Manitoba farmers haul their product thirty and forty miles, but they can haul it only when the roads are dry in the early fall, and at that season the price is lowest.

With good roads Dakota farmers who under present conditions drive hub deep in gumbo mud during spring could market their crops when prices ruled the highest. Instead of selling their wheat at 70 and 80 cents in the fall they could sell it at $1 during the winter and in the spring an additional price of even 25 cents a bushel would mean $15,000,000 more in the pockets of the Minnesota farmers.

New York farmers do not raise vegetables in quantities because until recently roads did not permit them to market such a perishable product in quantities.

With access to market and best ruling prices, net returns increase and farm lands jump in value.

The effect of good roads on school attendance needs no proof.

With these figures on schools it is not surprising to find that ignorance and bad roads go together.

The movement for good roads is so recent that it need not be retailed here.

It's a pity when sick ones drug the stomach or stimulate the Heart and Kidneys.

Tell Some Sick One It Is Free If It Fails.

Will you do an act of Humanity? Will you tell some sick friend of this, my remarkable offer?

Tell him or her, that you have learned of a medicine so certain that its maker dares say to the sick, "It is absolutely and unconditionally free if it fails."

And you, no doubt, already know of Dr. Shoop's Restorative and its popularity.

For 20 years it has been the standard remedy for Stomach, Kidney and Heart ailments everywhere in America.

When the "inside" or controlling nerves of these vital organs begin to fail, it is Dr. Shoop's Restorative that has quickly vitalized, and strengthened, and brought these nerves and organs back to health again.

I do not dose the stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys—for that is all wrong.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes direct to the cause of these ailments—the falling, laboring, inside or controlling nerves. And herein lies the keynote to my success.

When these nerves are again made well and strong, then that is the certain end of all such sickness.

That it is a great satisfaction that I am the only physician able to say to the suffering sick, "Take my prescription for full 30 days, and if it fails to help you, the entire expense is mine—not yours."

These should the sick take any chance on any other medicine, whose maker dares not back it just as I do by this remarkable offer!

I also have a Rheumatic Remedy—and that remedy is covered by the same identical "No help, no pay" protective plan.

Besides, you are free to consult me just as you would your home physician. My advice and the book below are yours—and without cost.

A TRUE STORY.

A Brady business man who believes in advertising and is a constant and consistent advertiser was approached the past week by a gentleman representing a "directory" advertising scheme who wanted to sell him space. He was quoted a price of $15 for a certain space in a book with a circulation of 1500 copies—a rural route directory for McCulloch county, worked up by non-residents and to be printed in another town. The advertiser got out his pencil and did a little figuring for the solicitor. "Let us see," said he. "At $15 for 1500 books it will cost me a cent a piece to put my ad into that many homes. After it is in these homes my ad may be read and it may not." (As the directory, like all directories, is principally composed of advertisements, with just enough information of doubtful value to give an excuse for the edition). "Now," continued the advertiser, "I can buy the same size space in The Brady Standard, which will carry my ad into 2500 homes twice each week, for one-tenth of a cent a family, and when I do that I know beyond doubt that my advertisements are read. I can change the wording in my newspaper ads each issue, carrying a different message to my readers each time they open the paper. Your proposition may be worth the price you ask, but I have a better medium and shall stick to it." The solicitor frankly acknowledged that this business man's reasoning was good and passed on.

This was an actual occurrence, and illustrates a point that every advertiser in this town should study carefully. What is the use to throw away your good money on questionable advertising schemes when right before your eyes is a legitimate and profitable method of reaching the very people you most desire to reach? If the money spent in Brady (and most other towns of like size in Texas) for fake advertising schemes were expended upon the local newspaper that paper would prosper and the advertisers' business increase by leaps and bounds. Newspaper advertising is no longer considered an experiment or a doubtful proposition by any thinking business man. He knows it is the best, yet he will cut short his newspaper advertising appropriation each year and bite at all manner of fake schemes—and he can't tell himself why he does it. Barnum was probably right when he said that the American people love to be humbugged.
At 12-1-2 cents per inch The Standard offers the business people of Brady the cheapest proposition for advertising that has ever been placed before you. Think about this next time you are approached by a solicitor for any sort of advertising scheme.

THE AUTO IN TEXAS.

The Texas Commercial Secretaries Association has compiled some statistics regarding the automobile investment in this state, and the figures are startling in their magnitude. There are 30,000 machines in use in Texas and the average cost of these machines is $1500, making an investment of $45,000,000 in automobiles. This is more than one-half the capital of all state banks combined. It is estimated that three years is the average life of an automobile, which indicates that Texas suffers the loss of $15,000,000 per annum on deterioration of the machines. This is about four times the annual fire loss of the state. Statistics show that the principal use of the automobile is as a pleasure craft, only 11 per cent of the machines being used for transportation service. They are, however, coming more into use as such every year, and the farmers are beginning to buy them for business purposes. These figures lead Homer D. Wade, secretary of the Stamford Commercial Club, to say: "I try to see the good in everything, but as a prosperity proposition I shy at the automobile. I wouldn't give the forty carloads of plows unloaded at Stamford last year for all the automobiles in Texas so far as developing the country is concerned. The amount invested in autos in Texas would build and equip a railroad from here to Chicago." Mr. Wade thinks the deterioration losses on the machines is alone sufficient to develop and maintain a big, healthy panic, and he isn't far from right.

The redeeming feature of the automobile situation is that they are, as a rule, owned by those who can best afford luxuries, and the wear and tear and expense for parts and supplies gives opportunity for thousands of men to work at a good trade, thus helping to distribute the money of the rich among the laboring classes. To that extent the automobile contributes to the general prosperity of the country.

An Experiment Farm.

Secretary Hardison has been in correspondence with the Frisco officials looking to the establishment of a railroad experiment farm near Brady, and with good results. Vice President Drake writes that they will be glad to take the matter up and push it provided a suitable tract of land for the purpose can be secured without expense to the company. This point has been arranged, there being several tracts entirely suitable, both as to quality of soil and convenience to town, and which are available for the purpose at a moment's notice. A False Report.

A report has been circulated that the old Perry gin on the north side of the creek in Brady would not be operated this season. This is a false report. I solicit a share of the ginning of this locality, promising fair and courteous treatment and as clean work as any gin in West Texas can turn out. Also in the market for your seed at highest price.

There is a noticeable falling off this summer in the number of cases of typhoid fever in Brady. This condition is attributable to two causes: 1st, the town has been kept cleaner; 2nd, the citizens have given battle to the house fly. Brady is in a better sanitary condition than ever before, while almost every house in town, regardless of its dimensions, is screened against the filthy fly. The campaign of education begun last spring a year ago, and continued throughout the entire summer, seems to have brought about the desired results.

INDIGESTION GOES

Central Drug Store Sells Best Prescription on Earth on Money Back Plan

Almost everybody knows that sick headache, nervousness and dizziness are caused by a disordered stomach.

Upset stomach and indigestion happen just because the food you eat does not digest—but lies in the stomach and ferments or turns sour.

You can stop fermentation and stomach distress in five minutes by using Mi-o-na stomach tablets, a prescription that has done more to cure indigestion and put the stomach in fine condition than all the specialists on earth.

A large 50 cent box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets is all you need to get quick and lasting relief.

Mrs. Altie Etson of 93 Dun Road, Battle Creek, Mich., used MI-O-NA and within two months was in as good health as ever, and has a good strong stomach and eats anything she likes, she attributes her present good health to the use of MI-O-NA.

If you have heartburn, belching of gas, heaviness or any stomach trouble no matter how chronic, try Mi-o-na stomach tablets on money back plan. Sold by druggists everywhere and by Central Drug Store, who guarantee them.

Notice to the Public.

After Sept. 1st we will charge no day fees at our respective wagon yards, but the following schedule of prices will be in force for the night:

25c for wagon and team.

15c for single buggy and horse.

10c for saddle horse.

5c per head for all extra horses.

These prices are a little higher than have heretofore been in force, but cutting off the day fees brings it down to a reasonable basis and will enable us to make a small profit. Feed is higher, rent is high and water is scarce, and we trust that our patrons will see the necessity for this small increase in price.

Our School Board Commended.

CONTRIBUTED.

Henceforth the "Young Idea" in Brady, in "learning to shoot" will not find school duties so irksome and distasteful, and there will be no such tendency to undermine the health among school children, from one, the main and principle source as was formerly so. By the kindness, forethought and deep insight, to say nothing of their humanity, the school board at a very moderate additional cost have supplied real comfortable and hygienic seats for the new school. Both seats and desks are adjustable to the occupant, and it is only a question of making the seat and desk fit the child instead of the child's vain efforts of making himself fit the desk. There will be no more humping and stooping, thereby closing the cells of the apex of the lungs and furnishing the soil and season for the seed of that dread disease, tuberculosis.

It is no little strain upon a child to adapt himself to an ill fitting seat, consuming much of the energy that would best be applied to his studies. In many cases it is overwork with nothing accomplished. Overwork will cause depressed vitality, and overwork coupled with depressed vitality may give rise to one or more of the following troubles: dyspepsia, headache, nervous derangements, epilepsy, neurasthenia, backache, and too frequently, consumption. The main cause of spinal and other deformities, and defective eyesight is usually found in the faulty construction of seats associated with other conditions, the correction of which our board has made as far as possible, independent of the pupil himself, by supplying a sanitary building, another monument to the voters and board of the incorporation.

Much could be said in favor of the seats purchased by our honorable board, but let it suffice to say that if these seats contribute to saving the health or a limb of one little one, or the life of one child to some fond parent, then the small additional cost of one dollar per seat is a better investment than thousands in other channels to the neglect of this.

HER SMILE.

Where Other Things Failed It Worked Wonders.

By EDWARD C. BINGHAM.

[Copyright, 1916, by American Press Association.]

I am an attorney in a village about which cluster a number of prosperous farmers.

One day a man named Hugh Jorbert came into my office and asked me to take a case for him. Jorbert was thirty-two years old and a fine specimen of a man. He was well looking, well off and a bachelor. When he stated his case I was astonished. A young widow from the city, twenty-four years old, had spent a summer in the neighborhood and had turned the heads of half the young men who had met her. Jorbert wished me to bring suit for him against her for $25,000 for breach of promise to marry him.

No such suit had ever before been brought in the county. Such a suit had rarely anywhere been entered by a man against a woman, and Jorbert was the last man I should ever suspect of wishing to demand damages for his blighted affections.

I endeavored to dissuade him from taking action in the matter, saying that it would only injure him in the community and would do no good. Now and again one of these fascinatons are let loose on the community and do a lot of harm among the men; there was no way to stop them or to punish them; the best way was to ignore them. If men were so foolish as to be duped by them they must take the consequences.

But Jorbert was bent on pressing his suit, so I wrote a preliminary note to the widow, informing her that I was instructed by my client to claim damages for his wounded affections and would be pleased to receive from her a proposition for settlement. Although it was September, she had not yet returned to the city, and within a day or two she came into my office.

Mrs. Kate Alvord was unique. Small, slender, with a bluish eye never at rest and a perpetual smile forever playing about a pair of exquisitely cut lips, she appeared to be quite able to walk through a whole regiment of men, moving them down as she proceeded. She had not been in the office five minutes before I began to feel myself coming under a spell. I endeavored to induce her to consider the matter in hand seriously, but failed. I asked her if she proposed to settle or stand suit. She smiled and said that she hadn't made up her mind. I proposed that she have an interview with my client. She smiled again and replied, "Not at present." When she left me not one step had been taken toward compromising the case or fighting it. I had gained no evidence from her as to how far the matter had gone between her and my client, whether he had a good or a poor case, whether she would settle or fight, whether she really cared anything for him or not. Indeed, I was no better informed than I had been before she came into the office.

Nevertheless one thing I had learned. It was this. Mrs. Alvord was a witch. I was a bachelor and had never been in the slightest degree affected by any woman. Yet here within half an hour a woman had infatuated me. When she had left me with such a smile as she might have given me had I been her attorney instead of Jorbert's, and the door closing shut her from my view, it seemed as if I had taken hashish or some other drug to set my brain waiting through paradise. I spent the afternoon attempting to fix my mind on my routine work, but despite all I could do I was still talking with the young widow about a suit I was to bring against her for breach of promise, which seemed to me ridiculous.

Within a week the widow came to see me three times. Her object, so she said, was to find a way out of the matter. It occurred to me that she was more likely to find her way into another matter of the same kind, with me for accuser. The second week she did not need to come to my office, for

I found myself constantly going to her home. We were still engaged upon the question of avoiding—at least I thought we were—a trial of the case, but got no nearer a solution. Then all of a sudden the lady returned to the city, leaving matters just where they had stood from the first.

I put into operation the legal machinery preliminary to a trial. I am bound to admit that Jorbert had a good case. There was very little evidence in writing, but what there was would count for a good deal. For my part, having made the acquaintance of the widow, I did not attach any serious meaning to what she had written, but the cold pen and ink words apparently meant quite enough to justify a finding for the plaintiff. I laid out my plan of attack, got my written evidence all where I could lay my hands on it and put all the papers in the safe pending the trial. But I did not put the widow in the safe. That is, I put her there, but she could not stay there. She was constantly looking at me from anywhere, nowhere, with those eyes of hers and that imperturbable smile, as much as to say: "Dear me! What a funny affair this is!"

When the case came up for trial I made the discovery that a young lawyer just admitted to the bar, one of the men whose hearts she had wrecked, was to conduct her case. I also learned that the defendant had been in town a fortnight, and although she had not been to see me, she had made the acquaintance of the judge before whom the case would be tried. I knew then that I had nothing to hope for in the way of rulings from that judge. I considered it fortunate that the jury would not be impeached until the beginning of the trial or she would doubtless hold every one of them by the heartstrings. As they were being selected and she was asked if she objected to a juror she said, "Oh, no, not the slightest," and smiled. Just smiled at him; that's all she needed to do to make sure that he would find a verdict for her.

For my part, I found a temporary antidote in my professional position. I became absorbed in my work of placing my evidence before the jury in its most favorable light. Though I say it myself, I did my work well and made a very strong case. As for the defense, there was no defense made worthy of the name. But all the while the widow sat in the presence of the court and smiled. If the judge was called upon to make a ruling she smiled at him and he ruled in her favor. If I was making a strong point against her she smiled at me and I desisted; she smiled at the jury, the spectators, the reporters—any one, every one in the courtroom.

When the evidence was all in and the rebuttal had been made—or, rather, had not been made—the case was submitted to the jury. I knew before they retired that the widow had made the impression on them, as she had on every one, that the whole affair was a farce, besides having captivated them. They were out ten minutes and returned, finding for the plaintiff and awarding a damage of 2 cents.

A very small sum to pay for a broken heart.

When the widow left the courtroom every man in it arose and bowed to her as she passed out. She smiled on us all. It was not a smile of triumph; it was a smile of good will. Any other kind than the latter was not to be conceived of from this woman, who seemed to possess a heart big enough to take in all mankind.

The matter being settled, I saw no reason why I should not call upon Mrs. Alvord. As I entered I met her attorney coming out. He looked like a man bent on suicide. Strange to say, his condition did not prevent me from taking his place, proposing to the widow and receiving in reply a smile and a refusal. I had not got a block away from the house when I saw the judge who had conducted the trial walking in the direction from which I had come. I knew that he was going to follow in my footsteps and to meet the same fate. I could not learn that any of the jurymen tumbled in on me and the judge, but none of them had any acquaintance with the widow.

A few days after the trial and our defeat Jorbert came into my office to settle up. He was the only man connected with the case who had had no connection with it except to bring the suit. Of all of us he seemed in the most contemptible position. The jury had virtually snubbed him by deciding in his favor and assuming that his broken heart was worth but two cents. But he showed no mortification at his defeat. I assumed that, having done the best he could to show the condemnation of the woman who had ensnared him, he was content to let the matter rest. He paid my charges and went away.

Soon after this I received a note from Mrs. Alvord asking me if there would be an appeal. I replied that I had not received from my client any notification of such. This brought another note in which the writer said that if the plaintiff thought of making an appeal she would prefer that he make it to her instead of in the courts.

At last after all this fuss, after winning over not only her opponent's counsel (myself), but judge and jury, this woman had shown her colors. Cramming back my feelings, I sent my client the note.

He wrote me a reply directing me to inform the late defendant to his suit that, having shown her methods to the world as a caution signal to all young men, he had no further interest in the affair.

This was my last official act in the case. The widow went back to the city engaged to the plaintiff and is now Mrs. Jorbert.

Fading death from shot and shell in the civil war was more agreeable to J. A. Stone, of Kemp, Tex., than facing it from what doctors said was consumption. Childhood Days.

Who is the man that will say he has had happier days than those when he was young. Even men who have won all honors that this world can give, those who have gained fortunes and glory, who now live in mansions, they are not satisfied with this life. They are longing for something that money can not buy. But no matter how long a life they may spend here, time will not permit them to have not even one day of childish glee. It is beyond human reach; is gone, gone, forever gone. You can not buy it; your fortunes have no value now. The great time keeper counts your hours and minutes and does not stop to listen to your argument or pleadings, and when he deems it fit he will call you away never to return.

Dear indeed, are the childhood days; free as a bird, no burdens to carry, glad and gay we roam unaware of what we shall meet. But the timer counts our days; soon we are called into the battle to fight or perish. We have no drum or life to lead the attack, all alone we must go. Now is the time when we know the value of our childhood, but alas! It's too late now. No more home to go to and probably no father or mother, not even the house in which we were born and where we spent so many happy days is there. The old brook still plays its melodious tunes, but even here time has made imprints, it is more rugged, its barren rocks show signs of hardships and work.

Yet, with all these examples to show, this world has nothing in store for us but trouble, trials and tribulations. We do not try to learn the value of our childhood days when we, as a lamb, play at mother's side, safe from these worldly storms, but they were indeed short; the moments passed swiftly by and now we find ourselves out on the deep life's ocean with our vessel.

Now the storm rages in fury and our vessel is tossed like a straw at the mercy of the wind, but in the thick of the mist we gather our thoughts together and bring them back to our childhood days, and oh! how it calms our troubled breast to know that once we have been young and gay; that these struggles have not always been and that they will not last long.

Let us each and every one, like men and women, stand up again and fight for right and truth, with the memories of our childhood days as a store of supplies where we can retreat and get courage. And at last when life's sun begins to descend low beyond the

A Good Way to Use Hyomei

Besides breathing through the inhaler a few times a day, many catarrh sufferers write that they find inhaling Hyomei from a bowl of steaming water each night before retiring a great aid in curing stubborn cases.

Try it; it's very simple; gives quick relief and makes you breathe easier.

Fill a bowl half full of boiling water; pour into the water a half teaspoonful of Hyomei, cover head and bowl with a towel and breathe through nose and mouth the medicated antiseptic and healing vapor that arises.

This method relieves that stuffiness at once and makes your head feel clear.

You can get a bottle of Hyomei at druggists everywhere or at Central Drug Store for only 50 cents. Ask for extra bottle Hyomei Inhalant.

But bear in mind if you want a Hyomei inhaler you must buy a complete outfit which only costs $1.00.

But as stated before; if you already own an inhaler a bottle of Hyomei costs but 50 cents.

Hyomei is guaranteed by druggists everywhere and by Central Drug Store to cure catarrh, sore throat, coughs, colds, rose fever, asthma and croup, or money back. Try it on that generous basis.

INTERESTED ALL ON BOARD.

Presidential Order Evidently Had Significance for Carload of Washington-Bound Passengers.

A gray-haired western man, known and beloved the world over, was sitting in the lounging room of one of the downtown hotels talking to a prominent New Yorker. He had just come up from Washington and was relating some of his experiences.

"On my trip in from the west to the capital I had for a companion a distinguished gentleman whose fame is international, who has a lively sense of humor.

"We had berths opposite to each other, and as we approached the capital early in the morning I concluded to have a little fun. I dressed before the others were up and bought a morning paper. After rustling it noisily for a moment, I called to my companion: "Here's the report of an order that the president has just issued. It's the greatest thing ever."

"What's that?" came from the opposite berth.

"Why, he's ordered all the office seekers rounded up at the railroad station and sent home."

"I'll never forget the general consternation that followed. From almost every berth on that car a head shot out from between the curtains, and with one accord nearly every man shouted:

"What's that?"—The Sunday Magazine.

INGENUITY OF THE PAUPER

Made Socks and Mittens from Workhouse Blankets and Bought Tobacco with Proceeds.

How a pauper obtained wool to knit socks and mittens, which he sold to enable him to buy tobacco, was described to the West Ham magistrates recently. The pauper was Thomas Ledgett, 49 years old, an inmate of the Stratford branch of the Poplar Union, and he was charged with damaging a number of blankets, the property of the guardians.

The master of the workhouse found that the wool binding the edges of blankets was being removed, and that in five days no fewer than 345 blankets were so damaged. A search failed to discover who was taking the wool, but when Ledgett was removed to the farm colony at Laidon it came to the knowledge of the master that he had been seen knitting with pink wool. Friday the master went to Laidon, and on searching the prisoner's bed he found a bag filled with balls of pink wool, evidently stripped from the blankets, and three socks knitted with pink wool. Ledgett, who denied that he had stripped 345 blankets, was sentenced to two months' hard labor.

Ask us which is our choice and we never hesitate to say The Mitchell. Do we make more money on The Mitchell? No Siree! Not by a jug full. In fact we make a whole lot less, but we do make friends and customers every time we sell a Mitchell wagon, for they never fail to satisfy the most particular customer. We sell the Mountain Type of Wagon exclusively. There is a difference, a vast difference in the Mountain Type and the ordinary farm wagon. Come and see for yourself.

Mr. Advertiser:—Figure up what it would cost you to print 2500 circulars, buy stamps and envelopes and address them to 2500 people. Then call The Standard's advertising man and get prices on a display ad. The Standard goes to 2500 people in Brady's trade territory twice a week. And there is no dead timber on the list, while your mailing list probably would contain names of people who have left the country, changed postoffices or died since it was compiled. The Standard is read and appreciated, and the best and cheapest way to advertise is to place your ad in our columns.
