CITY COUNCIL MEETS.

Committee to Solicit Subscriptions for Street Sprinkling.

The city council met Tuesday night in regular session.

The report of City Attorney E. P. Lea was received, showing the collection of delinquent taxes to the amount of $131.43.

The action of the council at the last meeting, ordering the purchase of twenty fire hydrants was rescinded, it being decided that the reduction in the key rate which would result from the placing of the hydrants would not justify the expenditure.

A committee composed of Mayor F. M. Richards, W. D.

Crothers and A. W. Tipton was appointed to solicit subscriptions toward street sprinkling in order to enable S. J. Durnett to continue the service. The committee was given authority to add as many others to the committee as was deemed advisable.

The report of the finance committee was received, and $3.00 per day was ordered paid them for their services.

The following accounts were allowed:

Hardin & Jones	$164.77
G. W. Helms	4.80
F. M. Newman	16.65
J. M. Anderson	12.01

See us for your hardware. O. D. Mann & Sons.

A HOME INDUSTRY.

Speaking About Hen Fruit--Dozens of 'Em.

There is scarcely any sort of home industry that can show profits to compare with the hen, and a flock of chickens is one sort of industry that should be encouraged to flourish upon every farm, and every rural citizen should be interested in the matter. It is wonderful what the production in the way of eggs amounts to in the course of a few weeks or months. Just to give an idea of the magnitude of the egg shipments from Brady, and the amount of revenue derived by McCulloch county citizens from the sale of eggs, we have secured figures from H. P. Roddie & Co. upon the amount of eggs shipped so far this month. They report a total approximating 5,310 dozen, or about 177 cases. The average price paid for the eggs was 12 1/2c, which means that $663.75 was paid for eggs by this one firm alone during the past twenty days.

When one stops to think that this is merely part of the surplus produced in McCulloch county—that there are many eggs sold in Brady as well as other points in McCulloch county to other firms and individuals in addition to the eggs consumed at home by the producers, the ordinary individual begins to have some sort of a faint conception of the importance of the Great American Hen. Let's all boost for more and better hens—and better laying hens.

Evers, the saddle and harness man, which Mr. Evers will distribute among his friends and prospective customers. A. N. Bryson Invests in Durhams at Fort Worth.

A. N. Bryson was so carried away with the fine stock he saw on exhibition at the Fort Worth stock show that he could not resist the temptation to buy some of the very best, and accordingly he paid fancy prices for two 2-year-old red roan Durham bulls. Both animals are registered, and were numbered among the finest type at the fat stock show. They will be placed on Mr. Bryson's ranch about six miles below town. Mr. Bryson's herd of Herefords and Durhams is well known throughout the Brady country, and at present numbers about 350 head.

WALDRIP WHOOPS.

Waldrip, Texas, March 16.
Editor Brady Standard:

Don't be surprised if this letter sounds rough, for we West Texas people are awfully "gritty" after our three days' sand storm. I am sure there is an impassable wall of sand somewhere east of here, from the amount that has passed over us. It seemed as though we were living on the Sahara desert.

Grinding Up Mustard Seeds

is not by any means all to good mustard making. In the first place there's just one mustard seed that will make thoroughly satisfactory mustard—that seed comes from England. Then there has to be extraordinary care taken in the handling and the grinding of the seed so that strength and delicacy of flavor will not be lost.

White Swan Dry Mustard is made from the best selected English seed and is ground by a special process which retains all the "mustardy" goodness of the seed. A little White Swan goes further and gives better results. Not only pure—better than the law requires.

Every Home Needs This Fine Remedy.

Every home needs this fine remedy. A Mild, Reliable Laxative Tonic Is Something No Family Should Be Without.

MRS. J. W. ANDERSON.

No well regulated home should be without a laxative for there is scarcely a day in a family of several persons that someone doesn't complain of a headache, of sleeplessness, or show the first signs of a cold.

A laxative then becomes a necessity or what was a trifling congestion at the beginning may run into a serious cold or fever. No harsh remedy is needed, but simply a mild laxative tonic that will make the liver active and stir up the bowels. People who have tried a great many things, and are themselves heads of families who have seen the little ills run into big ones, will tell you that there is nothing better than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which you can obtain at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, the latter being the family size.

Among the great believers in Syrup Pepsin for constipation in old or young, and as a general household emergency remedy, is Mrs. J. W. Anderson, Asawatomie, Kans., who writes after using one sample bottle and two dollar bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin: "On the plea of the duty everyone owes to fellow-sufferers, I appeal to all such who are bowed in spirits, broken in health and discouraged with life, not to give up until they have given Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin a fair trial." Syrup Pepsin is scientifically compounded and its purity is vouched for. Mothers give it to tiny babes, and grown people, taking a little larger amount, find it equally effective. It is mild and gentle, pleasant-tasting and free from griping.

It does not hide behind a high-sounding name and is absolutely free from any prohibited ingredient. Families who once use Syrup Pepsin forever avoid cathartics, salts, pills and other harsh medicines, for these only do temporary good, are nauseous and a shock to any delicate system. Such things should never be given to children.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

COW GAP MOOINGS.

Lohn, Texas, March 18.
Editor Brady Standard:

Here I am again. I somewhat have the big head over the compliment the Lohn writer paid me last week. Yes, Ploncy, your letters would certainly be entertaining if you could only write such letters as Violet.

Mr. Conner and daughter, Miss Pearl, of Brady visited Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cottrell the past Sunday.

Dances were the order of the day last week. All the young folks gave Miss Minnie Shaver a storm party last Wednesday night. On Thursday night Mr. Cottrell entertained his friends with another fine dance; and on Saturday night Mr. D. H. Campbell also entertained. The guests began to leave for home at three o'clock in the morning, and some stayed till four. Refreshments of cake and coffee were served to the many guests.

Mr. Cleve Hemphill says he hopes they won't give any more dances soon as he has already worn a hole in the sole of his shoe dancing so much.

W. M. McMorries and family were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. McShan last Sunday.

Mr. Jack Huie and Miss Annie Lee Dillard were seen out driving in the Gap Sunday evening.

Mr. B. D. Dillard and Mr. Hemphill returned Sunday morning from down below Menard. They have been off on a turkey hunt.

Mr. H. E. Winstead made a business trip to Brady Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Campbell visited Mr. Cottrell Sunday.

Mrs. McMorries has been on the sick list this week, but am glad to say she is improving now.

What was the matter with all you writers last week? Did not half of you write. Come on, one and all, let's make the page just as interesting as possible.

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS
For Backache Rheumatism Kidneys and Bladder

A TONIC LAXATIVE

Per-una, an Up-to-Date Family Medicine That Should Be In Every Home

S. E. HARTMAN, M. D.

Nearly everybody is obliged more or less to take a laxative. There are of course a few exceptions. A great many people also need occasionally to take a tonic. Probably few households exist that do not make use of tonics and laxatives.

The remedy Peruna is a laxative tonic. It not only operates as a gentle laxative, but also as a tonic.

The benefit derived from such a remedy is a great deal more in the prevention of disease than in the cure. After a person has really become sick, either with an acute or chronic ailment, the rule should be to employ a physician, or some one who can give the case his personal attention. But long before this happens the person will complain of this or that symptom, which is not severe enough to interfere with his regular activities. If at this place before the disease has really gained a foothold in the system, a person has to take a dose or two of a good tonic laxative the great majority of cases of sickness would be prevented.

Peruna is a remedy that should be kept in the house. Its virtue as a preventive to disease is the thing I wish chiefly to emphasize.

A slight condition of constipation may lead to serious sluggishness of the bowels, biliousness, re-absorption of poisonous material and finally sickness. Or apathy of the stomach in which the food is not retained, may gradually lead to atonic dyspepsia or to the acquisition of some acute disease. For either one of these conditions a few doses of the tonic laxative Peruna would set matters right. This is why the remedy should always be kept handy by.

When once the value of Peruna as a household remedy is understood no home would be without it. Cathartics, pills and powders would be discarded. Irritating tonics would be no longer taken. Alcoholic drinks would have no place. With a few doses of Peruna a vigorous appetite is produced and if there be any sluggishness of the bowels their function is gradually restored.

Most laxatives are weakening in their effect. A tonic laxative guards against this weakening effect. Until right living has become so thoroughly established that all medicines are superfluous, Peruna will be needed. It is exactly the remedy that meets numerous necessities of the household. Sold at all drug stores.

Mr. John B. Perkins, 22 Whiting St., Plymouth, Mass., writes: "I think Peruna is a number one medicine. I was troubled with catarrh and bowel complaint. I tried several doctors, but could only find temporary relief. I took Peruna and am glad to say that it cured my catarrh and corrected my bowels." PERUNA IS FOR SALE AT ALL DRUG STORES.

SPECIAL NOTICE—Many persons are making inquiries for the old-time Peruna. To such would say, this formula is now put out under the name of KA-TAR-NO, manufactured by KA-TAR-NO Company, Columbus, Ohio. Write them and they will be pleased to send you a free booklet.

A Picture of Heaven.

What heaven is I know not, but I long have dreamed of its hills and its fields of light blossoming with immortal beauty; of its brooks of laughter and its rivers of song and its palace of eternal love. I have dreamed that every bird which sings its life away here may sing forever there in the tree of life, and every consecrated soul that suffers here may rest among its flowers and live and love forever. I have long dreamed of opal towers and burnished domes, but what, for gate of pearl or street of gold if I can meet the loved ones who have blessed me here; and see the glorified faces of father and mother, and the baby brother who died among the bursting buds of hope; and take into my arms my baby who fell asleep ere her little tongue had learned to lisp, "Our Father who art in heaven." What care I for crown of stars and a harp of gold, if I can love and laugh and sing with them forever in the smile of my Savior and my God.—Bob Taylor.

EAST BRADY.

Brady, Texas, March 18.

Editor Brady Standard:

Hello! How are my good old correspondents and dear old editor getting along this week?

Mr. Arthur Hall has returned home from Pontotoc. He passed through East Brady Wednesday.

Mr. Ed Miller and his father-in-law, Mr. Jim Wade, have gone to Voca on business today.

Miss Millie Castleman returned to her home Wednesday from Pontotoc, where she has been for several weeks. She had a pleasant trip.

Mr. Neal Davison was shopping in Brady Saturday and spent the night in East Brady.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Docwra and daughters spent Sunday night in East Brady, and did some shopping Monday morning before returning to their home at Calf Creek.

Little Miss Larue Wood happened to a very difficult accident yesterday morning after Sunday school. While riding a wheel it fell with her and broke her right arm just above the wrist.

Mr. Will Tindel returned to his home at Granger yesterday.

Mr. Dock Morrow has been very ill for the last two or three days with the la grippe.

Master Fred Miller is still very ill from his sick spell, but do hope he will be better at the next writing.

Come on, good old correspondents, we sure missed your letters last week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Davison and little daughter, Willie Marie, were the guests of Mrs. Davison's mother, Mrs. I. J. Castleman.

Mr. King Davison is in town on business.

Mr. Marion Miller is in town on business this week.

Miss Garland Castleman left this morning for Whiteland, where she will spend a few days with her sister, Mrs. F. H. Davison.

DUSTY DOINGS.

Voca, Texas, March 17.

Editor Brady Standard:

Well, good morning this evening; how you all be today?

Well, the first thing I am going to do is to compliment Aunt Susan on the verse she wrote last week. Let me tell you correspondents, she is a poet if you did but know it. She can make a rhyme most any old time. Come again, Aunt Susan, we like to read your verses.

Well, I'll give in the news from old Dusty, as it is so thick you can't slice it with a stick. Ha, ha! How's that for news?

I want you all to know this is news, and what I call good news. I got a vote—Violet of Cow Gap cast her vote for me. Many thanks to you, Violet, you can't imagine how much I appreciate it.

This place sure has the right name now. After all the rain we have had, a sand storm blowed for two days. Farmers are very well up with their work; grass and weeds plenty for stock.

Mr. Bert Williams made a very important trip to Camp San Saba Friday evening. He was in such a hurry he went off without his dinner.

What has become of the "Old Woman," or has she married and now writes under a different name? Come on, old lady, and let's not let our page fall short. Our kind editor has already had to give more room and we will soon take two pages instead of one.

Little drops of water, Little grains of sand, Make the mighty ocean And the pleasant land.

Little short letters And big letters grand Will make The Brady Standard Read all o'er the land.

Think the way our page is filling up the editor will have to leave his continued story off or ask the correspondents to excuse him until he gets another sheet in his paper.

You are quite right, Old Bachelor, better have "bachelor" hitched to your name than "grass widow."

Well, I've just gotten back from the entertainment at Voca. Feel like I can write better. It was simply fine; the crowd was entertained with nice music, recitations, dialogues and drills till a late hour. It being cold, they cut the program short and did intend to have the rest of the pieces tonight, but it's most too disagreeable. They will have it Monday night if the weather is suitable.

When he had asked Mallory the necessary questions and taken his fee, he passed over the document by which the sovereign state of Nevada graciously permitted two souls to be made more or less one in the eyes of the law.

"Here you are," said Mr. Haumann. "Vit dat you can get married anywere in Nevada."

Mallory realized that Nevada would be a thing of the past in a few hours more and he asked:

"It's no good in California?"

"Himmel, no. In California you bot' gotta go and be examined."

"Examined?" Mallory gasped, in dire alarm.

"Vit questions, potsonally," Mr. Haumann hastened to explain.

"Oh!"

"In Nevada," Baumann insinuated, still hopeful, "I could marry you myself—now, right here."

"Could you marry us in this smoking room?"

"It's not a bad idea," said Mallory. "I'll let you know."

Seeing Marjorie coming down the aisle, he hastened to her, and begged her good-morning with a new confidence.

Dr. and Mrs. Temple, who had returned to their berth, witnessed this greeting with amazement. After the quarrel of the night before surely some explanation should have been overheard, but the puzzling Mallorys flew to each other's arms without a moment's delay. The mystery was exciting the passengers to such a point that they were vowing to ask a few questions point blank. Nobody had quite dared to approach either of them, but frank curiosity was preferable to nervous prostration, and the secret could not be kept much longer. Fellow-passengers have some rights. Not even a stranger can be permitted to outrage their curiosity with impunity forever.

Seeing them together, Mrs. Temple watched the embrace with her daily renewal of joy that the last night's quarrel had not proved fatal. She judged her husband:

"See, they're making up again."

Dr. Temple was moved to a violent outburst for him: "Well, that the darnedest bridal couple—I only said darn, my dear."

He was still more startled when Mr. Baumann, cruising along the aisle, bent over to murmur: "Can I fix you a nice divorce?"

Dr. Temple rose in such an attitude of horror as he assumed in the pulpit when denouncing the greatest curse of society, and Mr. Baumann retired. As he passed Mallory he cast an appreciative glance at Marjorie and, tapping Mallory's shoulder, whispered: "No wonder you want a marriage license. I'll be in the next car, should you meet me." Then he went on his route.

Marjorie stared after him in wonder and asked: "What did not person mean by what he said?"

"It's all right, Marjorie," Mallory explained, in the highest cheer: "We can get married right away."

Marjorie declined to get her hopes up again: "You're always saying that."

"But here's the license—see?"

"What good is that?" she said; "there's no preacher on board."

"But that man is a justice of the peace and he'll marry us."

Marjorie stared at him incredulously: "That creature!—before all these passengers?"

"Not at all," Mallory explained. "We'll go into the smoking room."

Marjorie leaped to her feet, agitated: "Elope two thousand miles to be married in a smoking room by a Yiddish drummer? Harry Mallory, you're crazy."

Put just that way, the proposition did not look so alluring as at first. He sank back with a sigh: "I guess I am. I resign."

He was as weary of being "follid again" as the villain of a cheap melodrama. The two lovers sat in a twilight of deep melancholy, till Marjorie's mind dug up a new source of alarm:

"Harry, I've just thought of something terrible."

"Let's have it," he sighed, drearily.

"We reach San Francisco at midnight and you sail at daybreak. What becomes of me?"

Mallory had no answer to this problem, except a grim: "I'll not desert you."

"But we'll have no time to get married."

"Then," he declared with iron resolve, "then I'll resign from the army."

Marjorie stared at him with awe. He was so wonderful, so heroic. "But what will the country do without you?"

"It will have to get along the best it can," he answered with equality. "Do you think I'd give you up?"

But this was too much to ask. In the presence of a rejected career and a heroless army, Marjorie felt that her own scruples were too petty to count. She could be heroic, too.

"No!" she said, in a deep, low tone. "No, we'll get married in the smoking room. Go call your drummer!"

This opened the clouds and let in the sun again with such a radiant blaze that Mallory hesitated no longer. "Fine!" he cried, and leaped to his feet, only to be detained again by Marjorie's clutch:

"But first, what about that bracelet?"

"She's got it," Mallory groaned, slumping from the heights again.

"Do you mean to say she's still wearing it?"

"How was I to get it?"

"Couldn't you have slipped into her car last night and stolen it?"

"Good Lord, I shouldn't think you'd want me to go—why, Marjorie—I'd be arrested!"

But Marjorie set her jaw hard: "Well, you get that bracelet, or you don't get me." And then her smouldering jealousy and grief took a less hateful tone: "Oh, Harry!" she wailed, "I'm so lonely and so helpless and so far from home."

"But I'm here," he urged.

"You're farther away than anybody," she whimpered, huddling close to him.

"Poor little thing," he murmured, soothing her with voice and kiss and caress.

"Put your arm round me," she cooed, like a mourning dove, "I don't care if everybody is looking. Oh, I'm so lonely."

"I'm just as lonely as you are," he pleaded, trying to creep into the company of her misery.

"Please marry me soon," she implored, "won't you, please?"

"I'd marry you this minute if you'd say the word," he whispered.

"I'd say it if you only had that bracelet," she sobbed, like a tired child. "I should think you would understand my feelings. That awful person is wearing your bracelet and I have only your ring, and her bracelet is ten times as big as my ring, boo-boo-hoo-oo!"

"I'll get that bracelet if I have to chop her arm off," Mallory vowed.

The sob stopped short, as Marjorie looked up to ask: "Have you got your sword with you?"

"It's in my trunk," he said, "but I'll manage."

BRADY, TEXAS, Mar. 21, 1913

ABOUT GOOD ROADS.

We can't keep off the good roads subject, because there is so much to be said in favor of them. And now that we have good roads in Brady Road District No. 1, these good road reminders are all the more urgent if we would keep the good roads.

We are headquarters for complaints, compliments, suggestions and innovations for public, corporate and private enterprises, and in order to keep the boiler from bursting we are obliged to "blow off" some every occasionally.

But speaking about good roads. It has been reported to us that the Brownwood road is in splendid shape, the overseers on that road being evidently "on the job" and alive to the importance of their work. Also the Coleman road is reported in good shape, especially through the Sweden community, with the exception of the first mile from the bridge out. This last named stretch is said to be badly in need of working. The other roads are reported in very fair shape, but our attention has been called particularly to the condition of the Coleman road nearest town.

The commissioners court should inquire into the cause for the neglect of this road, and in all good faith let us suggest "Maintain Brady's good roads at all hazards."

UP-TO-NOW.

Brady is "right up-to-now." The latest in that live burg is the installation by one of its progressive business firms of a dictaphone. This is a machine made on the order of the phonograph equipped with a wax cylinder which holds from three to ten ordinary letters. The letters are dictated into the dictaphone and the record is then set aside to await the convenience of the stenographer. When convenient, the stenographer places the record back on the machine, adjusts a head piece similar to one worn by telephone operators, the machine is started and the operator writes the letters on the typewriter. It is said to be a great time saver and is fine for permanency.—Brownwood Bulletin.

Yes, the dictaphone, the filter plant, model and modern store buildings, the union depot, good roads are a few among the many "right-up-to-now" articles of which Brady can boast. And, if you will look over this issue of The Standard, you will find that the Brady merchants are right up-to-now on up-to-the-minute advertising—that's Brady Standard advertising, you know.

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

Of course it's none of our business, but it would seem that Governor Colquitt would hesitate to act on that petition for a pardon for the Haskell county boy who was fined $100 and given thirty days in jail for kissing a girl unless he could see a photograph of the girl.—San Antonio Express.

Why should there be any hesitation? If the girl was a beauty, the boy was (and is) pardonable; if the girl was ugly, it was an act of charity, and a Carnegie medal should go along with the pardon.

Wholesale paper houses have sent out notices of another increase in the cost of paper stock. This is no surprise to the printers, all of whom have received about a dozen such notices in the course of the past year or two. The paper houses realize that the printers are all accumulating vast fortunes, and are merely trying to keep them from monopolizing all the legal tender in the United States.

CORRECTS ITEM.

J. O. Ware Writes Newsy Letter From Mercury.

J. O. Ware was up from Mercury recently and told the editor so many interesting items concerning the Mercury neighborhood that it is not to be wondered we formed the impression that Mercury was the garden spot of the world, and Friend Ware was principal owner. Mr. Ware corrects any mistaken impressions in the following cheery and spicy letter:

Mercury, Texas, March 18.
Editor Brady Standard:
I've just read your last paper. The Standard, and it was like meeting and having a chat with an old friend, as it has been about a year since I have read it. I feel that I cannot do without my county paper—the best county paper in the Southwest.

On last Saturday and Sunday I visited Fort Worth and had a good time and saw lots of fine stock, and many people. I also visited the little city of Arlington and stayed Saturday night with an old friend of my boyhood days whom I had not seen for thirty years. It goes without saying that I had a grand time.

Say, Mr. Editor, you stated in your paper in regard to an interview with me that I was milking thirty cows and shipping cream to the Brownwood creamery. It seems you have me mixed up with neighbor R. B. McCarty. He has that number of cows and is shipping cream. I am only milking four, having lost six of my cows, and in the flourishing little city of Mercury I sell all my surplus cream and butter.

Will you kindly make a correction of this item? I fear my friends of Mercury will object to me going to our county capital and reporting such yarns, and put me down as the Annanias of this community.

So please keep The Standard coming.

With best wishes, I am,
Very respt.,
J. O. WARE.

PHONE IMPROVEMENTS.

Inspected By Officials of West Texas Telephone Co.

F. W. Greber, general manager, and G. N. Harrison, vice-president and attorney for the West Texas Telephone Co., were in the city Wednesday from Brownwood looking over the improvements in progress with the local system. Mr. Harrison was greatly interested in the reports of excellent service being given, and stated that the company's intentions were to eventually give Brady a system that would equal that of Brownwood, which is acknowledged one of the best in the state.

The West Texas people have already accomplished a wonderful amount of work on the system, all of the north side having been placed in cable distribution. Another mile and a half of cable is now on the road, and will be used in putting the south and west parts of town also in cable distribution. When this work is completed the entire local system will be on a metallic circuit, instead of the old ground circuit. This immense task will be taken up as soon as the cable is received, and will mean the replacing of the present unsightly wires with a single line of cable.

The construction gang, which has been engaged in the work of improvement here the past several weeks, was called to Brownwood this week to lay the underground wires preparatory to the construction of the viaduct and other improvement by the Santa in the building of the shops.

HOW CHRONIC COUGHS

Are Being Cured by Vinol.

Did you ever cough for a month? Then just think how distressing it must be to have a cough hang on for three months.

Mrs. Maria Primrose, of 87 Newell Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I had a very heavy cold which settled into a chronic cough, which kept me awake nights for fully three months, and felt tired all the time because my rest was broken so much. The effect of taking your cod liver and iron remedy, Vinol, is that my cough is gone. I can now get a good night's rest, and I feel much stronger in every way."

It is the combined action of the medicinal elements, cod's livers, aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron which makes Vinol so efficient in curing chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis—at the same time building up the weakened, run-down system.

Try a bottle of Vinol, with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. Central Drug Store, Brady, Tex.

YOU ARE ENTITLED TO THE BEST.

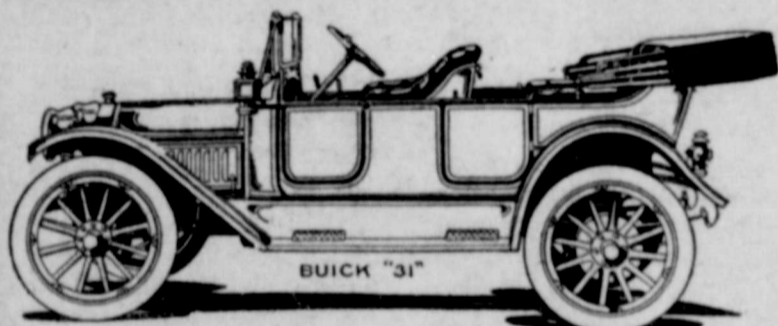

No person in McCulloch county has lost his land, who held an abstract showing perfect title, with our modern certificates. You have no means of knowing the condition of your title unless you have a complete abstract of the title compiled by us. We are now putting out one of the most modern and one of the completest abstracts yet devised. It shows everything. If there are any defects in your title it will show them. It is a good idea for you to insist on our certificates, just as you would on your favorite brand of coffee. The people in general today are taking more interest in titles because they are doing some deep thinking along the line of bad titles. Would it be wise to wait for the truth to be brought home to you by loss of your land before you investigate your title. Take no such chances. You are intelligent. Why not act so? Demand an abstract of your lands. Demand the best abstract the market affords. We are compiling an abstract that is recommended by your attorney. It's the abstract that tells the truth—the abstract they all want. In it you will find something you never knew. Insist on having our abstracts, backed by our certificates. What a Buick Has Done for Others, a Buick Will Do for You

Records of the past are the best promises for the future.

At the beginning of the 1913 season there were 100,000 Buicks on the road, and every one of those 100,000 Buicks has a record.

It is nothing unusual to see a Buick which has run from 25,000 up to 100,000 miles and even more. And you never hear of a worn-out Buick.

"I started out in my model 17 Buick in six inches of snow on the morning of Feb. 3rd, to post some sale bills. I covered 94.4 miles over roads nobody else had traveled since the snow, and was in high every minute, up hill included. I left my motor running all the time I was posting, and used 9 1/2 gallons of gasoline for the trip. "I have watched several other makes of cars in the past two years, and every time I have seen a Buick, it has always been doing the work. When a Buick has gone 30,400 miles and still seems as good as new, it is quite enough to convince me that Buicks are built the way they ought to be built."

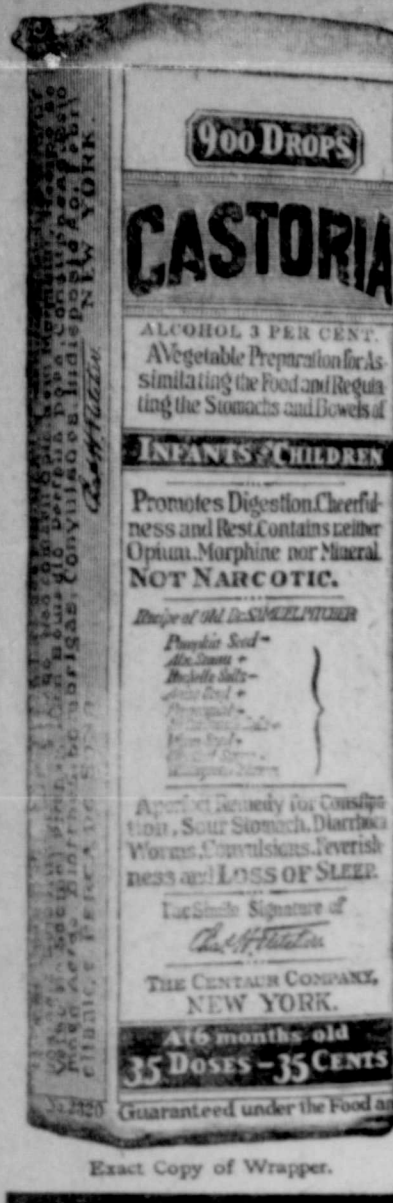

J. H. GRABER, Portland, Kansas.

THE FAMOUS BUICK OVERHEAD

Valve Motor is guaranteed to have more power and more speed than any other type of motor on the market. It will pull stronger on low grade gasoline than any other type of motor ever built and the fuel consumption is less.

Surveyor Mistook Pool of Water For Concho River—Comrades Call It Brady's Creek

Brady, Texas, Feb. 6.
D. R. Hardison, Sec.,
Brady Commercial Club,
Brady, Texas.

Dear Sir:—
In reply for your request for information as to how the city of Brady received its name, I beg to say that it is generally known by the old citizens of this county that the town took its name from the creek on which it is situated, but that is the extent of the information on the subject.

I came to Brady in 1887, when it was a very small village. The town was originally located in 1875 and was at first called Brady City to distinguish it from Brady creek. Brady creek runs, in a general way, through the center of the country from west to east and the creek was well known long prior to the location of the town. These facts are generally known to the public; but the facts relative to how the creek received its name are not well known to the general public, in fact the information about the matter is meagre. I have never seen any old settler here who had any information on this subject, but owing to peculiar circumstances I do have some accurate information about the matter.

This county is situated in what is known as Fisher and Miller Colony. In 1843 Sam Houston, president of the Republic of Texas, entered into a contract with H. F. Fisher and Burchard Miller, two Germans, whereby they were to colonize certain territory between the Llano and Colorado rivers, which included all of McCulloch and all of several other counties and parts of several counties. Under this contract Fisher and Miller were to introduce immigrants and settle them on the land and each head of a family was to receive 640 acres and each unmarried man 320 acres, and Fisher and Miller were to receive certain premium lands as their compensation. Fisher and Miller transferred their rights to a lot of prominent men in Germany, who organized what was known as the German Immigration Co. A great many colonists were introduced under the Fisher and Miller contract, but owing to the fact that they had to land on the coast of the Gulf of Mexico and travel overland to get to this part of the state, and the Indians being bad in those days and the country wild and undeveloped, and owing to the further fact that yellow fever was very bad when they were arriving, and many of them died with yellow fever, the immigrants scattered all over South Texas and did not arrive in the colony limits.

In the meantime Texas became a state in the United States. The German Immigration Co. sent surveyors into the territory included in the contract with Fisher and Miller in 1847 to sectionize the country, that is, to cut it up into sections, half sections and quarter sections, so that it could be allotted to the immigrants who were entitled to the lands. The legislature relieved the immigrants of the necessity of actually settling on the lands, and finally granted them unconditional certificates, and it was necessary to have field notes for the separate tracts of land in order to carry out the plans for granting certificates and locating them on the land. For surveying purposes this territory then was a part of the Bexar District, then being part of Bexar county, and it was necessary to have official surveying done and there were a number of deputy surveyors appointed and sent into the field and each one given a district to survey. Nearly all of McCulloch county, as well as part of Menard and Concho counties, was included in what is known as the Giddings District No. 3, J. J. Giddings being the deputy surveyor authorized to survey this district. He was a brother of Hon. D. C. Giddings, who lived in Brenham, Washington county, and who was in congress for a while and who was a prominent man in Texas for a long while.

I was raised in Washington county, and there was a man who lived there (I do not know where he was born) by the name of Thomas Brown. He married a distant cousin of mine though he was an old man and died probably twenty years ago. When I came to McCulloch county this man Brown, of course, knew about it, and he told one of my brothers shortly after I came to McCulloch county that he (Brown) was well acquainted with this country and territory, that he was with the party of surveyors who surveyed this county in 1847. I presume that J. J. Giddings probably made up his party in Washington county to do the surveying. Brown told my brother how the creek got its name. He said that in the party of surveyors there was a man by the name of Brady and that in their work the first time they came to the creek that they came to it at a large, long pool of water, and that this man Brady insisted that it was the Concho river, and when it was proven that he was in error they called it Brady's creek on account of the error he had made. I did not learn from Brown the given name of Brady or from where he was. I am sure that this information is correct and that the creek was named immediately when they began to survey in this territory, because all of the field notes that touch the creek call for Brady's creek and the land in the watershed of the creek is referred to as being on the waters of Brady's creek. These references are in the field notes clear through the county, the field notes being made in 1847.

I learned this same matter incidentally from another source five or six years ago. One day I was in Austin and on the street casually met an old gentleman and got to talking with him and he gave me his name, but I have forgotten it, and he told me he had lived in Austin for many years, probably most of his life, and when I told him I was from Brady he immediately told me that he was personally well acquainted with the man for whom the creek was named. He said he was a surveyor named Brady, that he either lived at Austin or some other adjoining vicinity; I have forgotten which; for many years, and that Brady was then living in Arizona and that this man had recently been out to visit him. This man told me that Brady was then very old. He said that Brady had told him all about surveying this country and that he was one of the surveyors and that the creek was named for him. This man did not tell me the incident about his making a mistake and getting it named for him, as Brown did. I have an impression that I saw in the paper two or three years ago about the death of this man Brady, though I am not sure.

YEAR BOOK of Stark Bro's Nurseries & Orchards Co. MAILED TO YOU FREE

Just say on a Postal Card: "Send me a copy of Stark Year Book for 1913." When writing, also tell us how many trees, shrubs, vines, etc., you will probably plant this season.

This Year Book is more than a mere catalogue of Stark nursery products, it is a practical, easy to understand text book for the guidance of the man who plants trees. Our own experience of nearly 100 years, the reports of experiment stations and the opinions of planters from all sections are condensed and reproduced for the benefit of busy people. An encyclopedia of orchard information, containing full size color illustrations of gloriously tinted fruits and many photographic reproductions in black and white; also information on many subjects in which the orchardist is interested.

Hundreds of varieties of apples, pears, peach, plum, cherry, apricot, quince, grape and all small fruits are described; weaknesses of each variety are pointed out and good points are explained. We feel that planters should know both.

Those interested in growing fruits or flowers or shrubs or shade trees will find this book of inestimable value; totally different from the average nurseryman's publications. It is a book you will keep for reference, and one on which you can depend as being absolutely accurate. Write today for your copy.

STARK BRO'S Nurseries & Orchards Co. LOUISIANA, MO.

The man with whom I talked in Austin gave me the given name and probably knew all about Brady, but I made no note of it. I will endeavor to find the old gentleman, if he is still living, on some future visit to Austin and try to get something about his personal history. J. J. Giddings was killed by the Indians in the vicinity of El Paso about 1860. I had this information from depositions that I took in some land suit a few years ago.

On the 6th inst. I furnished you a statement of what I knew relative to the source from which the city of Brady received its name. Since then I have received some further information about the matter. Your request for this information was made about February 1st. On February 2nd I wrote a letter to Judge Z. T. Fulmore of Austin, who is now writing a history of Texas by names of counties, and stated to him substantially the information that I furnished you in my letter of 6th inst, and in addition I gave a personal description of the man at Austin who had told me something about Brady. I am in receipt of a letter from Judge Fulmore dated February 7th, in which he furnishes me some information secured by him from Major W. A. Pitts of Austin. My recollection is that Pitts is the name of the man with whom I talked in Austin, and I suppose that Judge Fulmore located him from my description. The information furnished by Major Pitts to Judge Fulmore is that the creek was named for Peter Brady, one of the deputy surveyors of Bexar Land District, and that he was educated at Georgetown college, Washington, D. C., and was a deputy surveyor under Jack Hays and some other surveyors. He left Texas, went to Arizona, became sheriff of one of the counties there, was afterwards a member of the territorial senate there, married a Mexican woman and amassed considerable property. While in Texas he resided or had his headquarters in San Antonio. Major Pitts does not know whether he is now living or dead.

Yours truly,
F. M. NEWMAN.

Easter Song.

Angel herald of this morn,
Swiftly speed thee o'er the skies,
Speed thee whilst the world forlorn
Wrapped in gloomy slumber lies.
Speed thee past this deadly hill,
Haste now while all life is still;
Fold thy wings and bend thee low,
Bow thy radiant head in woe—
Hush, ah hush! where Saints have trod,
Hush beside the grave of God!

Hark! The stone is rent in twain
See. The man, the Crucified!
Call him! Name Him once again
Jesus! Who bled and died!
Sound thy trumpet, wake the earth,
Wake it to this newer birth!
Lo! The shackles of its death
Riven by the Master's breath!
World, thy God, slain on the Tree,
Lives this morn, and lives for thee.

Silver Wedding Reception.

On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Anderson celebrated their silver wedding anniversary at their home in Crothers addition amid a throng of relatives and friends.

The parlor, the place of ceremony, had been converted into a bower of Southern smilax, with banks of ferns and palms, together with tall vases of pink American Beauty roses and an abundance of silver hangings. The bridal party entered thru a double doorway whose portieres were of tinsel silver, while Mrs. Tom Elliot, clad in black lace, softly played the first strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march. Little Miss Allie Mae Anderson as flower girl, carrying a pretty basket of pink carnations and ferns, led the party, followed by Miss Esther Anderson as maid of honor. Then came Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Jones, followed by the bride and groom. Rev. Thos. P. Grant spoke again the beautiful words which renewed all the vows made just twenty-five years ago.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held which afforded the vast number of guests an opportunity to extend their kindest wishes and congratulations. Included in the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Jones, Misses Esther Anderson, Allie Mae Anderson, Mrs. J. S. Moffatt, Miss Tilda Burk and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Moffatt.

Refreshments of a salad course, followed by an ice course with accompanying dainties was served in the dining room, which was beautifully decorated in smilax, hangings of festoons of silver with tulle reaching from the chandelier to the edge of the table, which was laid in hand-embroidered linen with a centerpiece of an artistic vase of white Easter lilies stationed on a mirror plateau surrounded by silver. On either end of the mantel, sideboard and china closet sat vases of pink carnations and maiden-hair ferns. Miss Anderson was assisted in the serving by Miss Mary Johanson, Messrs. Ben Moffatt, Curt Coleman and John Moffatt.

From the dining room the guests were led to the living room, which was also effectively decorated in smilax and silver, with numerous pots of blooming narcissus. In this room was the guest book, a pretty folder, with a cover of violets, presided over by Miss Sarah Johanson, wearing a girlish frock of pink chiffon cloth with trimmings of silver.

Delicious fruit punch was served throughout the evening in the reception hall by Miss Minnie Elliot, who wore pink lace over silk messaline.

Mrs. Jones was becomingly gowned in white satin draped in gray marquisettes, with ornaments of brilliants. Miss Anderson wore white voile, hand embroidered in baby blue, with baby blue accessories, while little Allie Mae Anderson had on a childish frock of white with pink sash and ribbons. The bride was beautifully dressed in silver grey brocaded satin entraine, with touches of purple, and the groom wore the conventional black.

The guests present were: Messrs. and Mesdames Thomas P. Grant, Abner Hanson, G. V. Gansel, W. D. Crothers, R. A. King, G. M. Bennett, Joe McCall, S. A. Benham, W. H. Ballou, N. G. CELEBRATE SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

MR. AND MRS. C. A. ANDERSON

Who celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding last Saturday night, March 15th. The above picture was reproduced from a photograph taken about twelve years ago.

Hymeneal.

On Thursday, March 20th, at 5 o'clock p. m., at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Moore, Mr. R. O. Knight of Omaha, Neb. and Miss Ollie Moore were happily united in the holy bonds of matrimony, Rev. J. T. Morris of the M. E. church officiating. Only the family and a few intimate friends were present.

The bride looked charming in a lovely gown of silk pongee, while her traveling costume was a daintily tailored suit of tan and blue worsted imported serge. Mr. and Mrs. Knight left immediately for Shawnee, Okla., where they will visit a few days with the parents of the groom, after which they will return to Omaha, where the groom has a very lucrative position, and where they will make their future home.

We congratulate Miss Ollie on winning the heart and hand of this affable and clever gentleman for life, and who will, no doubt make her an excellent husband. And as for Mr. Knight he needs no congratulations, for he had all that any man could wish for when he won his bride—one of the purest, best, most noble and worthy young ladies that McCulloch county afforded. Kind friends, may your rosiest dreams be realized in this life, and when you enter into the Great Beyond, may all be perfect peace and love forever.

CIVIC LEAGUE NOTES

Burn Up Your Papers.
 Please burn your papers. John Schaege is the right kind of a citizen. He is still working on his block of tenant houses.

Teach your child to burn his lunch papers and not toss it on the school grounds to be an eyesore to everybody in town.

Who dumped the cans on the Episcopal church lot? Better move them.

After next meeting of the League all who have paid their dues are going to get their names on the roll of honor. Up to date there are only six, and they are modest so we won't publish it this time.

Burn the papers.

Scott & Co. have the prettiest lot in town decorated with canned goods. Brady Civic League. What's the matter with Wm. Connolly's alley? Go look.

Who cleaned the cotton yard?

Better have those tin cans hauled off before the heavy rains fill them with water. Soon they will be full of mosquitos, which will not only make you miserable by biting you, but will give you all sorts of diseases.

There is to be a clean-up day soon for the cemetery and all the good looking men and boys in town are going to help.

Don't laugh. You are next.

The lot in front of the residence of the president of the Civic League is a thing of beauty and a joy forever.

Why is not every householder in Brady a member of the Civic League? Don't you take a pride in your home or your town? Don't you care about the health of your family? Join it and burn your papers.

Who owns the jail? We want you to clean it up.

Who dumped cans on vacant lots in Crothers' addition? We know.

Have you seen the west fence of the cemetery lately? It's built of papers and tin cans. You, Mr. Citizen, are responsible for that.

BRADY CIVIC LEAGUE.

You will save money on feed at Abney & Vincent's.

Get a can of floor shine and brighten up the furniture. O. D. Mann & Sons.

The first shipment of the new nickels was received in Brady the first of the week, and the coin excited much interest. On the face is the head of an Indian, while a buffalo disports himself upon the back. The new coin is quite dissimilar to the old nickel, and more resembles a souvenir than it does the coin of the realm.

Jeff Meers visited the Trickham oil field the first of the week, and reported drilling still in progress there. Jeff said his visit has merely strengthened his faith in the McCulloch county field, and he is confident that if oil is found at Trickham it will also be found in McCulloch.

His trip also convinced him that Brady had roads of which she might well boast, and after driving over the rough roads of other counties, these good roads are appreciated more than ever before.

COMMERCIAL CORNER
 By the Secretary.

It has been suggested by some of the leading farmers that we secure a federal expert to look after the grasshopper pest that infest a part of this and parts of adjoining counties, and as the time is approaching when the grasshoppers will appear, we have no time to lose, as it takes quite a deal of correspondence to secure a federal specialist.

I wish to say to the farmers where the pests usually appear that I would like to be supplied as to the acreage or area of the infested district. And as I know of no better way than for the people who are affected by the pests to tell their respective acreage, I would be glad to have this information at once. This is one of the first questions asked by the government.

Should the government send a man at the time desired the people who are to be benefitted by his investigations will be expected to entertain him while in each neighborhood. This is possibly a small matter, but should be mentioned to save some embarrassment and expense. He will likely be in each community about three days.

I have already made application for a man to come at the time that may be named by the farmers that were affected last season. I feel sure that all will be interested and do their part to help exterminate this pest.

Those who have had no experience in plowing up and replanting the entire crop do not know how expensive it is, or how much trouble, anxiety and hard work it requires to do this.

Two enemies of the farmer should receive attention at this season—rabbits and doves. We are glad that our commissioners court still offers bounty on rabbit scalps, 2 1/2c and 5c. It does not take a close observer to note the damage that rabbits usually do to young orchards, gardens and small crops. Neither does it require careful observation when sowing small grain and also gathering small grain to see how much is wasted by the doves. We used to think that they were a great friend to the farmer by eating their part of the insects, but we have learned a few things. At no time or season do they eat any sort of insect—always seed of some kind. There should be a general war waged on both rabbits and doves at this particular season for both multiply very fast and continue to do so until winter comes again.

Let us have your order over the phone for corn, hay, bran and chops. We deliver to any part of the town. E. J. Broad.

THIS LADY'S GOOD APPETITE

Mrs. Hansen, in a Letter From Mobile, Tells How She Gained It.

Mobile, Ala.—"I suffered for seven years, with womanly trouble," writes Mrs. Sigurd Hansen in a letter from this city. "I felt weak and always had a headache and was always going to the doctor. At last I was operated on, and felt better, but soon I had the same trouble."

My husband asked me to try Cardui. I felt better after the first bottle, and now, I have a good appetite and sleep well. I feel fine, and the doctor tells me I am looking better than he ever saw me."

If you are sick and miserable, suffer from any of the pains of womanly trouble—try Cardui.

Cardui is successful because composed of ingredients that help found to act curatively on the system.

For more than fifty years, it is used by women of all ages, success. Try it. You'll be glad.
