WHEN BOOSTERS MEET

BIG DOINGS IN BRADY TUESDAY NOON.

People Live Wires—250 of 'Em Triumphantly Take Possession of City of Brady.

Like an army of invaders, the booster excursionists in possession of Brady last night and captured the city citizens and the citizens. But theirs was a campaign of peace; their weapons pleasant smiles, hearty and good words.

The music to which they marched was not the call to arms, but the triumphant music of peace and good will; and, on the other hand, the greetings with which they were met were the greetings of friends, and the open-hearted hospitality of a peaceful and prosperous people.

Arriving on schedule time at 1:25, the excursionists were met at the depot by a large delegation of citizens and escorted to town in automobiles, the procession circling the square and proceeding to the Syndicate building where dinner had been prepared by the Calvary Circle of the Christian church.

Numbering 220 strong, not including the band of twenty pieces, and neatly attired in light crash suits with uniform white hats, the Temple aggregation made a most imposing array. They were a noisy, rollicky bunch of good fellows, and undoubtedly made a better impression upon our citizens than any bunch previously here.

Arriving at the Syndicate building, which the ladies had converted into a most attractive dining hall and where tables decorated with flowers and laden with an abundance of everything good to eat, stretched the entire length of the building, the hungry visitors were treated to a dinner which will always be remembered by them as the most famous chicken dinner they ever saw. There was chicken of every variety, cooked as only the Brady ladies know how, and flanked on all sides by the best of everything the market affords.

While the visitors were satisfying their hunger, Hon. Sam McCollum, one of Brady's most popular young orators, bade them welcome to our city in an address that was frequently interrupted by cheers and applause. H. F. Lemley responded for the Temple bunch, and was followed by Wm. Woodall, secretary of the Temple Chamber of Commerce and by Col. P. L. Downs, the latter bringing down the house by his reference to "the ladies, God bless 'em."

Amidst the screaming of the steam siren upon the locomotive, and with cheers and the waving of hands the excursionists took their departure from Brady, but left behind was a feeling of greater fellowship for the city and the citizens at the other end of the Santa Fe western branch, and upon the part of the excursionists their feeling toward Brady and her citizens is best expressed in their own phrase "that Brady is a good town to tie to."

PLANT COWPEAS.

After Oats or Wheat, Advises Industrial Congress.

Floating in the air over every acre of soil, there are over seventy million pounds of nitrogen, and yet nitrogen is the element of plant foods in which soils are most deficient and for which plants most often suffer. To buy nitrogen in the form of fertilizers costs twenty cents a pound, and the nitrogen bill makes up over one-half the total cost of all fertilizers ordinarily used. Yet nature has provided plants that if grown upon the ground and then turned under are able to reach up into this vast supply and drag it down into the soil, and put it where plants can get it at a very small fraction of this cost. These are the legumes of which the ordinary cowpea is a very important member. To those who know the benefits to soil of a crop of peas it never ceases to be a wonder that they are not grown to a very much greater extent upon every farm in the South, and it is to teach their value that an acre has been included in the Model Farm contest of the Texas Industrial Congress. It is astonishing, judging from the number of inquiries, the knowledge of this plant by so many farmers, and the fact that a bulletin is written as a means of answering these known as the ordinary cowpea is really a bean, and there are many different species included under this one name. They differ all the way from their habits of rooting, time of maturity, and from making scarcely any vine at all to very heavy vine producers. For pounds of nitrogen collected from the atmosphere these many varieties differ very little in proportion to the number of pounds of vegetable matter made. But that variety will be manifestly best is purpose that makes the best growth under given conditions. Like all plants that are grown over a wide area, there are many varieties of peas, and the same variety often bear a widely different name. In selecting a variety, then to plant for soil renovation it is well to study closely its growing habits and plant that variety which experience and other information teaches will make the most vine. Peas are probably less affected by change of soil than any other plants, so it is not, as a rule, necessary to pay much attention to where the seeds were sown, although, all else being equal, it is advisable to take the grown seed. Peas are subject to the disease known as root-rot that is so common in corn, and, for that reason, should be exercised in planting them upon such land. There is one variety of peas, however, that will resist, or is subject to this disease which is known as the Iron pea. Formerly, it is one of the best producers known, so it is always best planted where affected with root-rot. These peas have a wonderful power of making a fairly good crop even the poorest prepared

TEXAS WONDER.

Texas Wonder cures kidney troubles, bladder troubles, rheumatism, lame backs, rheumatism, irregularities of the bladder in both men and women. Regulates bowels in children. If by your druggist, will be mailed on receipt of one small bottle is two treatment and seldom perfect a cure. Dr. E. J. 26 Olive St., St. Louis for Texas testimony by druggists.

land, they do much better when proper care is taken in this respect. Deep plowing always pays with them, and the better condition the soil is in the more certain and remunerative will the crop be. The nitrogen gathering power of peas is due to the action of certain organisms that attach themselves to the roots of the plants. Sometimes these organisms do not exist in the soil, and, as a consequence, the peas will not do well. Many of the failures, especially in the drier sections, can be traced directly to the absence of this germ. When absent, however, it can be supplied in a number of ways. The best, cheapest and surest way of doing this is by the addition of a few loads of stable manure. Scatter it broadcast and harrow it in some little time in advance of planting the peas, and there will generally be no trouble upon this score. One can also inoculate soils for peas by scattering a few hundred pounds of soil taken from a field that has already produced peas, or one can buy a material specially prepared for this purpose. Peas, of course, do not require nitrogen in the fertilizers used upon them, but they are very heavy users of both phosphoric acid and of potash, and it is well to see that they are well supplied with these materials. On ordinary loam soils it generally pays well to apply three to four hundred pounds of acid phosphate for peas. On the more sandy soils equal parts by weight of acid and of kainit would probably give better results. If the soil is very poor it sometimes pays to add also about a hundred and fifty pounds of cotton seed meal at the time of planting so as to enable the peas to grow off while waiting for the nitrogen germ to get in its work. All fertilizer should be added about the time, or just before, planting. It can either be placed broadcast upon the land and harrowed in or it can be placed in the drill just ahead of the planting. With favorable weather conditions peas will grow until frost, especially those that make most vine; so, while they can be planted almost any time after the weather gets warm, the sooner they are planted the more growth they will make and the greater will be the benefit from them. While using large quantities of moisture peas at the same time require well drained land, and are able to make good growth on dry soils because their long tap roots enable them to draw moisture from great depths. They can be sown broadcast, in which event they will not require any further working, or, better still, they can be sown in drills eighteen inches to two feet apart and given one or two workings. If the season is dry or it is late in the season the land had best be broken flat, and the drilling done thereon. Early in the season or with poorly drained lands it is well to sow them upon a slight bed. When sown broadcast it is well to use from a bushel and a half to two bushels of seed to the acre, depending somewhat upon the size of the peas, as they differ very materially in this respect. In drilling them aim to place one pea plant every two inches in the drill. They will require no thinning. After-cultivation consists simply in keeping down weeds and grass, and keeping the soil loose. Ordinarily they will require not more than two cultivations as by that time the vines will cover the ground. Peas are sometimes planted in corn, and in the more humid sections this is always to be recommended. They may be planted in a drill upon each side of the row of corn, or may be sown broadcast between the rows just before the last working. By following this practice and then turning under everything after the corn has been gathered the land is much improved for the next year's crop, and at the same time the corn that is growing on the land is helped. This practice is not so advisable, however, in the drier sections as the peas are apt to rob the corn of needed moisture.

Immediately after wheat or oats are cut cowpeas should be planted on the stubbleland.

GET A SILO

Interesting Statement Fe Expert, J. D.

J. D. Tinsley, the new demonstration agent in this section, who spent the seventeen years in demonstration work for the Santa Fe New Mexico, makes the following statement:

"You don't know what hard time it is; I've had seventeen years of it where they had to eat up the jack rabbits to keep from starving. The silo has changed conditions. Get one quick; dig a hole in the ground if you can't spare the money to build one right. With a silo you will learn what it is to see feed turn into money; no other way will it do so well. Borrow some cattle; get a couple of milk cows—you'll soon have a dozen. Milk checks are easy money; skim milk makes good hog meat, and chickens and eggs are good for the grocery bill."

MUST BELIEVE IT.

When Well Known Brady People Tell It So Plainly.

When public endorsement is made by a representative citizen of Brady the proof is positive. You must believe it. Read this testimony. Every sufferer of kidney backache, every man, woman or child with kidney trouble will do well to read the following:

C. V. Globber, Brady, Texas, says: "For many years I was troubled by a dull pain in my back and across my kidneys. I consulted a doctor and he said I had lumbago. He gave me a prescription, but it brought me no relief, and I tried other remedies. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and procured a box. Before long I noticed that my trouble was beginning to disappear and I have not lost a day from work since. After taking two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills I was cured. I think this remedy is well worth recommendation."

Excuse Me!
Four days of fun and frolic on board a trans-continental limited train with sixty laughs to the minute—and then some.

SYNOPSIS.
CHAPTER I.—Lieu. Harry Mallory is ordered to the Philippines. He and Marjorie Newton decide to elope, but wreck of taxicab prevents their seeing minister on the way to the train.
CHAPTER II.—Transcontinental train is taking on passengers. Porter has a lively time with an Englishman and Ira Lathrop, a Yankee business man.
CHAPTER III.—The sleepers have an exciting time getting to the train.
CHAPTER IV.—"Little Jimmie" Wellington, bound for Reno to get a divorce, boards train in maudlin condition. Later Mrs. Jimmie appears.
CHAPTER V.—She is also bound for Reno with same object. Likewise Mrs. Sammy Whitcomb.
CHAPTER VI.—Latter blames Mrs. Jimmie for her marital troubles. Classmates of Mallory decorate bridal berth.
CHAPTER VII.—Rev. and Mrs. Temple start on a vacation. They decide to cut loose and Temple removes evidence of his calling.
CHAPTER VIII.—Marjorie decides to let Mallory proceed alone, but train starts while they are lost in farewell.
CHAPTER IX.—Passengers join Mallory's classmates in giving couple wedding hazing.
CHAPTER X.—Marjorie is distracted over their situation.
CHAPTER XI.—Ira Lathrop, woman-hating bachelor, discovers an old sweetheart, Anne Gattie, a fellow passenger.
CHAPTER XII.—Mallory vainly hunts for a preacher among the passengers.
CHAPTER XIII.—Mrs. Wellington hears Little Jimmie's voice. Later she meets Mrs. Whitcomb.
CHAPTER XIV.—Mallory reports to Marjorie his failure to find a preacher.
CHAPTER XV.—They decide to pretend a quarrel and Mallory finds a vacant berth.
CHAPTER XVI.—Mrs. Jimmie discovers Wellington on the train.
CHAPTER XVII.—Mallory again makes an unsuccessful hunt for a preacher.
CHAPTER XVIII.—Dr. Temple poses as a physician. Mrs. Temple is induced by Mrs. Wellington to smoke a cigar.
CHAPTER XIX.—Sight of preacher on a station platform raises Mallory's hopes, but he takes another train.
CHAPTER XX.—Missing hand baggage compels the couple to borrow from passengers.
CHAPTER XXI.—Jimmie gets a clinder in his eye and Mrs. Jimmie gives first-aid. Coolness is then resumed.
CHAPTER XXII.—Still no clergyman. More borrowing.
CHAPTER XXIII.—Dr. Temple puzzled by behavior of different couples.
CHAPTER XXIV.—Marjorie's jealousy aroused by Mallory's baseball jargon.
CHAPTER XXV.—Marjorie suggests wrecking the train in hopes that accident will produce a preacher.
CHAPTER XXVI.—Marjorie tries to induce the conductor to hold the train so she can shop.
CHAPTER XXVII.—After marrying Lathrop and Miss Gattie the preacher escapes Mallory by leaping from moving train.
CHAPTER XXVIII.—Mallory's dejection moves Marjorie to reconciliation.
CHAPTER XXIX.—The last day on the train brings to Mallory the fear of missing his transport.
CHAPTER XXX.—Mallory gets a Nevada marriage license from Reno divorce drummer who boards the train.
CHAPTER XXXI.—Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie make up.
CHAPTER XXXII.—Kitty Lewellyn refuses to return Mallory's bracelet.
CHAPTER XXXIII.—Robbers hold up the train.
Wedgewood broke in impatiently: "Well, I consider it a dastardly outrage. I'll not submit to it. I'm a subject of His Majesty the—"
"You're a subject of His Majesty the Man Behind the Gun," said Marjorie.
"I shall protest, none the less," Wedgewood insisted.
Mallory grinned a little. "Have you any last message to send home to your mother?"
Wedgewood was a trifle chilled at this. "Don't talk of such things," he said.
And by this time the train-robbers had hastily worked their way through the other passengers, and reached the frantic inhabitants of the sleeper, "Snowdrop."
"Hands up! Higher! Hands up!"
With a true sense of the dramatic, the robbers went ahead of them the most hair-raising yells. They arrived simultaneously at each end of the aisle, and with a few short sharp commands, straightened the disorderly rabble into a beautiful line, with all palms slob and all eyes wide and wild.
One robber drove ahead of him the conductor and the other drove in Mr. Manning, whom he had found trying to crawl between the shelves of the linen-closet.
The marauders were apparently cattlemen, from their general get-up. Their hats were pulled low, and just beneath their eyes they had drawn big black silk handkerchiefs, tied behind the ears and hanging to breast.

Over their shoulders they had slung the feed-bags of their horses, to serve as receptacles for their swag. Their shirts were chalky with alkali dust. Their legs were encased in heavy chaparejos, and they carried each a pair of well-used Colt's revolvers that looked as big as artillery.
When the passengers had shoved and jostled into line, one of the men jabbed the conductor in the back with the muzzle of his gun, and snarled: "Now speak your little piece, like I learned it to you."
The conductor, like an awkward schoolboy, grinned sheepishly, and spoke, his hands in the air the while: "Ladies and gents, these here parties in the black tidies says they want everybody to hold his or her hands as high as possible till you get permission to lower 'em; they advise you not to resist, because they hate the sight of blood, but prefer it to argument."
The impatient robbers, themselves the prey of fearful anxieties, broke in, barking like a pair of coyotes in a jumble of commands: "Now, line up with your backs that way, and no back talk. These guns shoot awful easy. And remember, as each party is finished with, they are to turn round and keep their hands up, on penalty of gittin' 'em shot off. Line up! Hands up! Give over there!"
Mrs. Jimmie Wellington took her time about moving into position, and her deliberation brought a howl of wrath from the robber: "Get into that line, you!"
Mrs. Wellington whirled on him: "How dare you, you brute?" And she turned up her nose at the gun.
The anxious conductor intervened: "Better obey, madame; he's an ugly lad."
"I don't mind being robbed," said Mrs. Jimmie, "but I won't endure rudeness."
The robber shook his head in despair, and he tried to wither her with sarcasm: "Pardone, mammsell, would you be so kind and condescendin' as to step into that there car before I blow your husband's gold-blame head off."
This brought her to terms. She hastened to her place, but put out a restraining hand on Jimmie, who needed no restraint. "Certainly, to save my dear husband. Don't strike him, Jimmie!"
Then each man stuck one revolver into its convenient holster, and, covering the passengers with the other, proceeded to frisk away valuables with a speed and agility that would have looked prettier if those impatient-looking muzzles had not pointed here, there and everywhere with such venomous threats.

The Scandal Monger.
(Contributed.)
It is considered legitimate to cheat a man in a horse-trade. It is considered legitimate to deceive a man in a stock transaction. It is considered lawful to skin a man in trade for a piece of property. But there are just two classes of people that mankind has despised from the beginning of the world and will continue to despise till the end of time: The scandal monger and the informer.
Sometimes we wonder if the scandal monger is not the worst of the two. He, without provocation in most instances, with malice pretense, with design and purpose destroys or attempts to destroy the reputation of his fellow citizens. We will not say his associates, because nobody, not even the thief slinking from the light of the sun, will associate with a scandal monger. He peddles the miserable, the sordid, the disgusting details of life. He dwells in an atmosphere of slime. He is the typical "gruttersnip." He lives in the caves and the cellars where the sunshine never penetrates, where goodness is not recognized, where forgiveness is a crime and attempts at reparation or repentance taboo. His breath is the sins of his fellow man and his life the recounting of them. He is never happy as when telling the faults of somebody far worthier than himself. He is never content to say a good word about anybody or anything. He is a parasite, a microbe, a persistent pest.
And there are women scandal mongers. They delight to tear to tatters and shreds the reputation of other women. And in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred their own skirts are not so clean that they would stand a laundry test. They gossip, gossip, gossip, about things they do not know, suppositious stuff, guesswork, but that is sufficient for them to tear to pieces the character of some other woman whose skirts they are not worthy to hold up.
It is a miserable business. Nobody ever profited through speculation in scandal. Nobody ever destroyed a supposed rival by dealing scandal. Nobody—man, woman or child—ever improved their standing in the community by dealing in the frailties of their fellows.
We think that people ought to attend to their own business. We believe that every human has enough to do to attend strictly to their own business. We believe that if everybody attended to their own business the world would be a better place to live in. We are opposed to the scandal monger, to the gossiping, mouth-ing wart or wasp who retails the details of the lives of their fellow beings, be they men or women.

JACKASS STATISTICS.
Furnished By Commercial Secretaries Association.
In the spring of 1910 the enumerators of the Federal Census department visited every farm house in McCulloch county and made inquiries pertaining to the various phases of our agriculture. The result of the canvasses have just been published and reveal some unique as well as interesting information. According to the reports there are 87 jackasses on the farms and ranges of this county and their total valuation is given at $8,575.
The jackass population of Texas is 20,408, which have a total value of $1,720,074. Only two farms out of one hundred reported jackasses at the last census and the total number of Texas farms reporting was 8,151. The average value per head is $84.28, or $12.47 more than that of the Texas horse.

SHOWERS.
Very Good Rain at Melvin and Pasche.
Showers fell in many parts of McCulloch county yesterday morning, the rainfall coming very slowly, and amounting to nothing more than laying the dust. However, Melvin had good rain of two to three hours duration, while Pasche had very good rain also, the down-pour beginning at 3 o'clock yesterday morning and continuing up into the day. Lohn had rain of about one and a half hours. Light showers were reported at Brownwood, M. Voca, Hext, London and Fifth.
The rain, while not needed in McCulloch county, will frost everything up and help other crops. The farmers have been working almost out leup the past week having their oat crop, and a rain would have doubled much feed for them, consequently they are glad to have the rain and glad also that it came so nicely as it did.

Forty-Two Club.

John Schaeg entertained the club on Wednesday afternoon at his home near the Five players participated in the game until a late hour. The invited guests present were Mesdames Lyle, Trigg, Roberts, Shropshire, Jim Willoughby of Eldorado.

Refreshments consisting of cream and cake were served in the afternoon. Lizzie Souther will be the next hostess.

Girls Embroidery Club.

The Girls Embroidery club was pleasantly entertained on Wednesday by Miss Leslie Bradley at her home. The parlor was beautifully arranged in red blossoming plants.

Delicious ice cream, cake and candy were served the following young ladies present: Misses Carrie Sessions, Lucile Benham, Mary Wall, Sallie Miller, Flora Haag, Lessie Samuel, Sarah Hanson, Ruby Nussbaum of Mexia.

The girls will meet on next Wednesday afternoon with Miss Wall.

Mothers-Teachers Society.

The Mothers-Teachers society of the Presbyterian Sunday school met June 2nd in the basement of the church, and a very interesting and enjoyable session was held. A mid-summer picnic articles were agreed upon to raise a fund for the purchase of the primary department of the Sunday school. Seventeen nominees were appointed: Bonnets, Mrs. S. J. Trigg; Cake and Candy, Mrs. Ford; Miscellaneous, Mrs. Campbell Gavitt; Aprons, Mrs. Trigg; Clothes Line, Mrs. Trigg.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Wm. Dawson and the meeting closed by singing the Lord's prayer. The next meeting of the club will be on July 7th.

Announcement.

The Souther home was a scene of blue and yellow on Tuesday afternoon when Misses Ida Mae and Lizzie Souther announced the approaching marriage of Mr. Brack Simpson and Miss Minnie Wiley on Tuesday June 17th.

Decorations of the wedding color lent their beauty to tall vases of cape jasmines and hanging mistletoe. In the hall was arranged a pretty punch stand, where delicious punch was served upon the arrival of the guests.

Six tables of players enjoyed games of "42" at tables designated by the letters in the two names, "Minnie Wiley, Brack Simpson." At the end of the games Mrs. J. S. Anderson received a guest towel, crocheted in blue as high score, and as consolation prize a silver coin purse was given Mrs. Jack Nussbaum. The bride-elect was presented with a night dress hand embroidered in blue.

Delicious refreshments of yellow and blue ice cream and cream cake were served the following guests: Mesdames G. R. White, James Stone, Paul Willoughby, Ernest Noble, Jim Willoughby of Eldorado, Chas. White, Jack Nussbaum, John Wall, J. S. Anderson, J. G. McCall, H. K. McCully, J. B. Chambers of Corpus Christi, J. B. McKnight, Misses Addie Conner, Laura Lee White, Chase Crothers, Harriet Cook, Gillie Macy, Louise Hardison, Bernice Wolf, Lillian Roberts, Ruby Nussbaum of Mexia.

Miss Wiley was most becomingly gowned in blue and yellow, which was particularly attractive with her style of beauty.

Hallum-Brooks.

At the First Methodist church at Navasota on Tuesday evening promptly at 8:30 Miss Maybelle Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Courts Brooks, and Mr. Robert Kent Hallum of this city were united in the holy bonds of matrimony, Rev. G. T. Story, uncle of the groom, speaking the words which joined their lives forever.

The musical program was given preceding the ceremony beginning with a vocal solo, "To the End of the World With You" followed by an impressive solo on the pipe organ. The wedding song, "O Promise Me," immediately afterwards was followed by the soft strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, during which the bridal party entered the beautifully decorated aisles and proceeded to the rostrum, which was converted into a bank of ferns, with tall baskets of pink and white sweet peas stationed here and there.

The bridal party included Miss Mavis Brooks as maid of honor, clad in white lace over pink and carrying an arm bouquet of bride's roses. Acting as matron of honor was Mrs. Geo. Schierbaum, also carrying roses and wearing an effective gown of pink crepe de chine. Misses Lena Moore, Verda Perry, Mary Terrell and Laura Ewing were bridesmaids and were gowned in dainty lingerie dresses over pink, with white aigrette as hair ornaments and carried baskets of sweet peas. Messrs. Tracy Terrell and Sam Welch were ushers, while Mr. Rupert Brooks, brother of the bride, was best man.

After the ceremony, in which the impressive ring service was used, the party left the altar by way of the main aisle, while Mendelssohn's wedding march pealed softly through the building.

A formal reception was held after the ceremony at the home of Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Emory, during which the happy couple received congratulations from their innumerable friends.

The bride wore a most becoming gown of white crepe de chine en traine, with trimmings of silk lace and wore full tulle veil with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and valley leaves, while the groom wore the conventional black. As a going-away dress, the bride wore gray silk ratine, with hat and gloves to harmonize.

Mr. and Mrs. Hallum left that evening on the 10:43 Santa Fe for Brownwood where they spent Wednesday, arriving here on Thursday morning, and will be at home to their many friends in their pretty bungalow home south of the high school building.

UNFAIR TO THE DRUGGIST.

The Old Joke About "Something Just As Good" Doesn't Apply to This Drug Store.

You have probably heard dozens of times the old story that a drug store was a place to get "something just as good." There is at least one druggist in the world that you can't say this about.

It is certain that an inferior article will never be substituted for a guaranteed one by Jones Drug Co. Take, for instance, a safe reliable remedy for constipation and liver trouble, like Dodson's Liver Tone. This harmless vegetable liquid has proved so satisfactory a liver stimulant and reliever of biliousness, and to entirely take the place of calomel without any danger or restriction of habits or diet, that there are dozens of preparations springing up with imitations of its claims.

But Dodson's Liver Tone is guaranteed to do all that is claimed for it, and if you are not satisfied with it, Jones Drug Co. will hand your money back with a smile. Any person going to this store for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will be sure of getting a large bottle of this genuine remedy in exchange for his half dollar.

AN IMPORTANT INDUSTRY.

Mule Raising Profitable in McCulloch County.

The Commercial Secretaries News Service gives the following statistics:

The Texas mule is gaining in prominence every day in the year, and the raising of these animals is becoming an important industry in McCulloch County. It is estimated that 20 per cent of the mules that are being used in the building of the Panama Canal were bred in Texas, and in selecting material for his cavalry Uncle Sam favors the Texas mule.

There are 2,806 mules on the farms and ranges of McCulloch county, according to a recent census bulletin, and their total value is $299,585. Of this number 2,439 are mature mules, 284 are yearling colts, and 83 spring colts. Besides the mules on the farms of this county there are 193 of these animals owned by the urban population which have a value of $28,852.

The total mule population of the state is 709,231, divided as follows: 675,558 rural and 33,673 urban. The value of the mules on the farms and ranges of Texas is $73,979,145, and those in the cities and villages of the state is $4,123,183.

SOME FINE OATS.

Waist High at Pasche and Still Growing.

Bud Crawford was a smiling stranger in town yesterday, and reported rain having commenced falling at Pasche at 3 o'clock yesterday morning and when he left for Brady on the Santa Fe train yesterday morning it was still raining. Bud was smiling not only because of the rain, but because of the 60 acres of waist-high oats he has, which are still green and growing and which the rain will make still better. He solemnly averred that oats were the best he had seen in 40 years, and he is confident of making between 30 and 40 bushels to the acre. My long experience is a guarantee to please you. H. C. Boyd, Jeweler. What about that Standard or Case cultivator? O. D. Mann & Sons. Matting art squares. Broad Mercantile Co.

RUSSIAN THISTLE.

Warning to Farmers in Regard to Dreaded Pest.

Mr. James Finlay of Fife has brought to my attention the fact of finding some of the "Russian Thistle" weed in a patch of millet on the farms of himself and C. M. Coonrod at Fife.

I take this means of calling the matter to the attention of the farmers all over the county, so that they may examine their millet patch to see if they also can find this weed. It is a herbaceous plant of a spiny character. More strictly, it belongs to the species of carduus. It is a rather composite herb with very spiny leaves and countless numbers of tiny thorns or stickers, which makes it very difficult to handle or thresh small grain where this herb abounds. They produce seed very rapidly, and at the same time have an abundance of small roots, from whence they reproduce if a very small piece of root is left in the ground.

Briefly speaking, this is a very mean and dreaded weed, and when once started there is hardly any means of getting rid of the pest. It has been known to destroy thousands of acres in more humid climates. As this seed came up rather quickly in this particular patch, it is evident that the seed were mixed in with the millet seed the origin of which I have been able to find.

I will leave a few of the weeds at each of the banks in Brady and anyone who is not familiar with the weed can call at these places and see them. I earnestly solicit the co-operation of all the farmers of the county in helping to stamp it out immediately. We do not know how much of this batch of seed was sold over the county.

I appreciate the thoughtfulness and assistance of Mr. Finlay and Mr. Coonrod in bringing this matter to my attention of the farm. Respefully, J. W. ... N., Farm Demonstrator.

HOW ONE WOMAN WON

Her Health and Strength Brought Again by The Use of Cardui

Tampa, Fla.—In a letter from Mrs. E. C. Corum writes: "I had almost lost my reason thanks to Cardui. I did not feel and looked like a new woman. Cardui acts specifically on the end womanly organs, strengthening the muscles and nerves, and brings them up to health. It helps to refresh the worn-out system and relieves the overwork, both mental and physical. Fifty years' successful use prove the merit of this pure, tonic remedy for women in every community; there are many who have been benefited by it. The beneficial effects of Cardui, a tested woman's remedy, are themselves in many different ways. Try it."

QUALITY ---AND--- SERVICE

How often when you were in a tight and could least afford to have things go wrong have you been real forcibly reminded that "The sweetness of low prices never equals the bitterness of poor quality." Right then you wanted to lose your religion and do a little cussing. While on the other hand "The recollection of quality remains long after the price is forgotten."

QUALITY

The pyramids were built before the days of graft. No fourth-class materials (when the contract called for first) were put in them. Centuries may come and go and they will still stand as monuments to the men that built them. We have seen the great sand domes built by the wind, here today, tomorrow gone. They are of as good material as put in the pyramids yet lack that finish, that stroke of the master hand to make an article of lasting quality, an article that will stand the wear of time.

OUR SERVICE IS NEXT

It used to be a salesman that could out talk one, and by little tricks of trade and humbug get off an inferior article for a good one was considered a crack salesman. We are glad such is not the case now. The rising generation of merchants maintain that the public is entitled to received one hundred cents in value for every dollar spent and that if an article is not as represented come and get your money back. That is our policy. We believe in quality, service and a square deal. Your money back if things are not as we represent.

Come in and see us. We handle everything used in the city home, on the ranch and by the farmer. Our lines are the best and our prices right. We are here for service. If you want us to figure a bill, our pencils are sharpened. If you have anything to trade, we're it. If you have the money, we're glad to wait on you. If you want credit, come and see us.
