How She Shopped

"I wasn't responsible." Baird said. "I always had known better than to venture into a department store with a woman bent on shopping, but, you see, I was on my wedding trip. So when Anne suggested going shopping I smiled fatuously and consented.

"Anne made for the elevators and led me to the topmost floor. Being totally ignorant of the correct method of storming a women's store, I too it for granted that starting in at the top was the rule, and that you got docked if you didn't begin that way. I believe it was the floor where you get fitted and altered when you buy readymades. I bashfully slunk along behind Anne as she strolled down mahogany corridors through the doors of which came wails and complaints and storms from women in the process of being altered and fitted.

"Just as I opened my mouth to rsk Anne what she had bought to be fixed and when she had bought it, she turned on me blandly and said she was ready to go down to the next floor.

"There was a furniture display there and I think she priced every piece of it. In half an hour my head was a mixture of Flemish bookcases, mahogany dining room sets, rococo screens and tea wagons.

"Much as I loved Anne, I began to feel pale. I figured out that my whole annual income would just about pay for what the dear girl apparently had

"When she began talking with the attentive salesman about an $800 carved chest I drew her aside. 'My dear,' said I in quavering tones, 'rea! ly, you know, we can't afford an eight

"That girl tried on thirty-three hats by actual count and, as each one was more expensive than its predecessor, you can imagine the state of mind I was in. I never knew there were so many different kinds of birds and feathers and things in the whole world until that day. I saw myself proceeding through the rest of our trip lugging bandboxes and just as I was working up an extremely bitter frame of mind Anne smiled sweetly at me and said she believed she was ready to go.

"We left the saleswomen reviving each other and proceeded to the silks and velvets. It was perfectly wonderful how much Anne knew about qualities and wearing abilities. She routed six salesmen before she descended to the linens and lingeries. I won't attempt to relate our visit to that floor, but some time I want to tell you about a $500 tablecloth and napkins to match.

ALWAYS TIME FOR COURTESY

Even in This Age of Rush and Hustie the Wise Person Will Never Neglect It.

"Life is not so short but there is always time enough for courtesy." So says the wisest of American philosophers, Ralph Waldo Emerson, and all will agree with him. It is said, however, that this most pleasing quality has deteriorated since the days of chivalry, and since the time has grown so short for the accomplishment of all that we have to do in this busy, bustling world. But this should not be. Gracious courtesy is well worth the trouble which it entalls. It costs but so little to bestow, and yet means so much to the recipiof the charm and pleasure to be gotten from insect music depends on the emotional coloring associated with it. We are enraptured with the notes of the peepee in spring, or the earlier piping of the frogs, not because these sounds in themselves possess any intrinsic sweetness, but because they recall endearing memories of many happy, hopeful springtimes. They are always the harbingers of another verdant season. Their plaintive notes add to our minds an emotional warmth and sunshine. The yawaken for us an inner, subjective springtime.

In a similar way the crickets and katydids gladden and inspire us with their music in proportion as their minds with the emotional coloring of past memories.-Country Life in
