THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

To be Voted on July 19 Relate to the Judiciary, to the Payment of Salaries to Officers, and to the Issuance of Bonds by the Legislature.

July 19, 1913.

The first amendment relates to the judiciary. The only changes of Importance proposed is that if this amendment is adopted more than one judge can be elected for each judicial district, and instead of requiring two terms of the district court in each county each year, the terms of holding the district courts will be determined by the legislature. If you favor this amendment you should vote:

"FOR THE AMENDMENT of section 7, article 5 of the Constitution of the State of Texas, relating to district judges and district

If opposed, let your ballot read:

"AGAINST THE AMENDMENT of section 7, article 5 of the Constitution of the State of Texas, relating to district judges and

The second amendment provides that "all State, district, county and precinct officers within the State of Texas shall hereinafter be compensated by the payment of a salary to be fixed or provided for by the legislature." In other words, the adoption of this amendment will abolish the fee system. That is, instead of district, county and precinct officers being paid by fees, which in civil cases are collected from the litigants and in criminal cases, except felonies, collected from the party convicted of crime. The State pays the fees in felony cases. If you favor this amendment, your ballot should

"FOR THE ADOPTION of section 58, article 16, as an amendment to the Constitution, providing a salary compensation for certain

If you oppose it, scratch the above paragraph and leave the following: "AGAINST THE ADOPTION of section 58, article 16, as an amendment to the Constitution, providing a salary compensation for

The third and last amendment is known as the bond amendment and seeks to amend sections 49 and 52, article 3 of the Constitution. There are several subjects or propositions contained in this amendment. They are as

1. It authorizes State officials to create debts against the State to supply deficiencies in the current revenues to the amount of a half million dollars, which may be repeated as often as the debt is paid. The present limit is two hundred thousand dollars. The increase is three hundred thousand dollars. This debt may be converted into interest-bearing bonds at the pleasure of the legislature.

2. The legislature is given power to authorize the issuance of bonds to purchase additional ground and erect necessary buildings for the University of Texas. This is to include a Medical Department and an Agricultural and Mechanical College in connection with the State University at Austin. There is no limit to the amount of bonds that the legislature may issue under this clause, but the income of the university may be used to pay the interest and create a sinking fund to pay the bonds if the legislature so desires. It is left to the legislative will.

3. The legislature may issue bonds for the construction of necessary buildings for the "State institutions." There are some eighteen or twenty State institutions, and it will be left with the legislature as to what buildings are necessary. There will be practically no limit of the issuance of bonds under this provision.

4. The legislature may authorize the issuance of bonds secured by a lien on the real property of the penitentiary system for the purpose of constructing buildings and making permanent improvements. From the best information obtainable, the penitentiary system has lost anywhere years and a half. The recent legislature authorized the bonding of all the property of the penitentiary except the State railroad for two million dollars, three-fourths of which was to pay the debts.

5. The amendment authorizes the bonding of certain divisions of a county or any number of adjoining counties for roads and other public improvements by a majority vote. It now requires a two-thirds majority to

6. In the improvement of rivers, creeks, building of levees to prevent overflows the bonded indebtedness may be for an amount not to exceed onehalf of the assessed valuation of the lands. It is now one-fourth.

7. The issuance of bonds by a majority vote for the construction and maintenance of public warehouses or in aid thereof may be authorized.

As will be seen, there are at least seven distinct and independent propositions in the one amendment and the voter must vote for all of these or against all. He is not permitted to exercise his free will to vote for such things as he wants and against such things as he does not want. He must vote for all or none.

Under the present Constitution and laws of this State no bond or State debt, except as mentioned above, can be created or bonds issued except by vote of the taxpayers. This amendment, if adopted, will take this power away from the taxpayer in so far as State bonds and State debts are concerned and transfer it to the legislature. The legislature can, for the purposes enumerated, issue bonds in unlimited quantities without a vote of the taxpayers.

When the matter was first discussed, it was thought that six million dollars would cover the amount, but the demands and promises of the advocates of the bond amendment justifies the expectation of an immediate issue of nine million dollars' worth of bonds if the amendment is adopted.

If you favor the bond amendment, let your ballot read:

"FOR AMENDMENT to sections 49 and 52, of article 3, of the Constitution, authorizing the issuance of bonds for the University of Texas, Agricultural and Mechanical College, State Penitentiary System, and other public improvements and building of ware-houses for agricultural products."

But if you oppose the bond amendment, scratch out the words fust quoted and leave on your ballot the following:

"AGAINST AMENDMENT to sections 49 and 52, of article 3, of the Constitution, authorizing the issuance of bonds for the University of Texas, Agricultural and Mechanical College, State Penitentiary System, and other public improvements and building of warehouses for agricultural products.

Peter Schuttler Wagons and Staver Buggies have made Chicago Famous

Away back about 1843, when Chicago was a little town on Lake Michigan, a German, Peter Schuttler, had a blacksmith shop and began building wagons. He used only the best of material and with his thorough German workmanship turned out a wagon that was a wagon. Soon his wagons were in great demand. That was the time of the great immigration south and west, and in a little while these wagons were scattered from Texas to Oregon. Everybody that got one was well pleased and told his neighbor. His neighbor wanted one and tried to get one, and old man Schuttler had more than he could do. He put on more men, and his son and his son's son have put on more men and built larger shops until the factory is the present size, where they turn out thousands of wagons every year. Theirs has not been a mushroon growth. but the growth of years, founded on experience, honest workmanship and material.

About that time the Staver Carriage Co. began building buggies. They too, have became renowned. So well known have they become that whenever the average person thinks of Chicago he thinks of a Staver buggy or a Peter Schuttler wagon. THEY HAVE MADE CHICAGO FAMOUS.

A Schuttler wagon or a Staver buggy will give you service or pleasure you cannot get from any other line.

Russian Thistle.

Possibly all the farmers did not notice the warning given a few weeks ago to look out for this weed, and as it has been found in four other fields, I again ask the farmers to look in your millet patches for specimen of this thistle. From the fact that it is being found altogether in millet, it is very probable that there is more of it in the county. Go through your millet thoroughly and pull up all you can find before cutting if you have not already done so, and as soon as you can after the crop has been removed plow deeply or double disk with the disk harrow often enough to keep the plant from appearing above the surface. The leaves of all plants are their lungs or breathing pores, and if not allowed to get out of the ground, they will finally be smothered out.
