Arrested for Gaming.

Upon information furnished by Constable Bill Johnson of Lampasas to local Constable Ed S. Clark, Deputy Sheriff John Martin yesterday went out to Tucker and arrested a young man named Howard Nixon, who is wanted in Lampasas county on several charges of gaming. Nixon has been living with relatives near Tucker for some time, and was only located after a long search. Constable Johnson arrived here from Lampasas Saturday, and will return with his man today. It is said that Nixon is also wanted for participation in a cutting affray near Austin.

G. A. Rudolph was in town yesterday on business. Mr. Rudolph has been keeping his threshing busy over McCulloch county the past month or longer and says he has covered quite a bit of the country by reason of the oat crop being short, his threshing running from seven to twenty bushels, the latter being counted a good yield. Only in the Pasche and Salt Gap communities has the yield been exceptionally good, and at the latter place 50 and 60 bushels to the acre has been the average run.

My repair department is always busy. There is a reason. H. C. Boyd, Jeweler.

R. E. Luhn tendered his resignation as clerk of the Woodmen lodge at the last meeting, the resignation to take effect on the first of this month, and W. K. Gay was elected and installed in the office. On account of other duties, Mr. Luhn has found the office burdensome, which led to his resignation.

The county commissioners and county officers who attended the convention of county officials in Fort Worth last week are at home—that is, all but Sheriff Wall, who has made his escape, leaving no clue. He is thought to be somewhere in Arizona, and it is very likely that the first time he thinks of McCulloch county watermelons he will backtrack it home. Henry Miller was the first to get home sick, arriving here bright and early Saturday morning. Judge Walker and Commissioner J. L. Smith stopped over in Brownwood and failed to hear the whistle blowing as the train left, Brady bound, consequently they brought up the rear Monday morning. All those who attended report a great meeting and a good time.

ONLY HOPE FOR MEXICO

IS EDUCATION OF MASSES SAYS NATIVE.

E. L. White, Dallas News Reporter, Gives Interesting Interview With Former Peon

In last Sunday's Dallas News appeared an interesting article upon the situation in Mexico in the form of an interview by E. L. White, local representative of The News, of a Mexican named Arcadio Florez, now living in the Melvin neighborhood. Florez is fairly well educated, and speaks the English language well. His life's history is interesting, he having at one time been a peon of the father of the present Gen. Carranza. He escaped to the United States and after being here several months learned for the first time that ideas could be expressed in writing on paper. After learning to write, it is interesting to note that he sent a letter to his former master telling him of the abuses of peonage and recommending changes, among which was the education of the masses.

The following is the interview as it appeared in The News:

"I was born near the town of Monclova, Coahuila, Mexico, some time in the year 1860. My early life was spent as a peon, having nothing of my own except the scanty clothing I wore and sometimes hardly enough to satisfy the cravings of my body. When I was large enough to be of service I was attached to a well-to-do Mexican family as a house servant. In general, my duties were varied. I cleaned pots, washed dishes, swept floors, fed burros and did many other things. For this service I received my board and $1.50 (75c United States money) per month, which was considered a good wage.

"When Diaz raised a revolution and seized supreme power in Mexico, I, with a number of other young men, joined his forces. After several months' hardships with few clothes and little to eat, I deserted, having been engaged in only a dozen or so skirmishes.

"At the age of 16 I was placed on the ranch of the father of a present rebel commander. For two years I worked on the ranch steadily, never having any set work to do, but always busy from 3 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock at night. One day I herded sheep; another goats; sometimes I drove cattle and donkeys, and at other times worked in the fields. I was paid $4 per month and my board. The board being often insufficient to properly nourish the body, the $4 was usually spent in getting more to eat. Then came a change: I was told that I must work for $6 per month and board myself. I found that the actual food I ate cost more than $9, so every month I got deeper and deeper in debt to my 'employer.'

"Ignorant as I was I knew there must be some better means of making a living. I was beginning to hear of the great United States, where all men came and went as it pleased them and where they were well paid for their work. One morning upon being denied sufficient food to appease my hunger, I told my 'boss' that I would leave. He told me I could not leave. I replied that I would run away. He then swore he would have me caught by the law, and that after being brought back, if I showed a disposition to run away again, he would have one of my legs cut off so that I could not get away so easily.

"In a few days I was sent for some donkeys. I went afoot some miles into a wild, mountainous region infested with wolves, panthers and Mexican lions, having with me only a small steel knife for protection. I revolted and started to make my way to the United States, which I knew to be somewhere to the north.

"For nearly four years I worked my way northward. By hard work I managed to get food enough to keep my strength and procure rags sufficient to hide my nakedness. I was followed by 'officers of the law,' but escaped by hiding in the wildest places. Finally, with the assistance of a few friends I reached the Rio Grande and crossed it, and I have never returned.

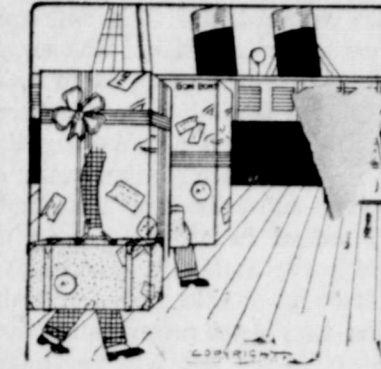

"In Zapata county I worked on a farm at the hardest of labor for $9 and two bushels of corn per month. I liked the place so well that I stayed there for ten years. There it was that I learned that thoughts could be recorded on paper. I eagerly learned a little reading and writing and arithmetic, and at the end of two years with my own hand I wrote my old employer a letter thanking him for teaching me how to work, and for the strength his work had given me. I then told him of the abuses practiced on his estate and pleaded with him to give those in his power better treatment than had been accorded me. He did not answer my letter, but some one wrote me in reply, probably the senora, who was a very kind woman, that the senor was very much worried over my 'escape' to the United States.

"I have lived in many places in Texas, and have always been treated justly by the American people. I am married and have two married children, a daughter in San Antonio and a son in San Angelo. What education I have been able to acquire has been from a few teachers, talking with people and reading the newspapers. I do not rely upon the Mexican papers to print the truth, but read the state papers when I have a chance. I am eager to get The Dallas News.

"I have no desire to return to Mexico, but I wish that the veil of ignorance might be lifted from before the faces of my people so that they might have some enjoyment in this life. But that will not come under the present conditions in the 'Republic' of Mexico. The right of the few to buy for a paltry sum hundreds of acres of fine lands will forever keep the Mexican people in bondage. From what I can learn, the land of the entire Republic is in the hands of twenty-seven powerful families.

"Madero was a good man, and while he understood the condition of the peons, he did not understand the condition and motives of those higher up. He sought to help the poor, but did not reckon with the wealthy. His motives were good, and he thought his advisers good men, but while his attention was employed with helping the common people, his destroyers were plotting for his undoing. The common people expected great things of Madero, but they expected them to come as soon as he was placed in office.

"If the rebels succeed in downing the Huerta regime and in saving the Constitution, there will be but a continuation of the policies of Porfirio Diaz. Before the average Mexican may enjoy the blessings of civic liberty, some man, yet unknown and perhaps unborn, good enough and big enough must rise in his might, unite the masses into one grand army and deliver his people from their enslavers.

First Mexico must be partially purified by war, then the purification must be made complete by education of the masses. Then, and then only, will my native country be the land of the free and the home of the brave."

MOTORCYCLE STOLEN.

Smooth Stranger Makes Get-Away Last Saturday.

A smooth stranger late Saturday afternoon rented a single-cylinder Excelsior motorcycle at Sherrrod's bicycle shop stating that he wanted it only for a short time. He paid 50c for the rent of the machine for an hour and left. Failing to return Saturday night, Mr. Sherrrod notified the officers, but stated that the delay might have been occasioned by a breakdown, and that he did not think steps to apprehend the man necessary. After waiting until about 2:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Deputy Sheriff John Martin phoned to San Angelo and there learned that a stranger had passed through that city Sunday morning on a motorcycle, stopping only long enough to purchase some oil and gasoline. He stated that he intended to make a short run out into the country and would pay for his purchase upon his return. He did not return.

At the time of the man's visit here, Mr. Sherrrod was busy and paid no particular attention to the man, consequently he was unable to give any manner of description. However, at Angelo a description of the man was secured, together with the information that he gave his name as J. H. O'Neal. Following this clue the officers are hot on the trail of the party and it is very likely that he will shortly be apprehended.

POOL HALLS STAY.

Vote Stands 104 Against Prohibition—87 For.

The vote in Saturday's election resulted in a majority of 17 in favor of the pool halls remaining in Brady, the vote being 104 against the prohibition of pool halls, and 87 for the prohibition. While 291 votes were cast, the voting was not heavy inasmuch as all qualified voters in the Brady Independent school district were entitled to a voice in the deciding of the question. There is no doubt but what, owing to the wording of the ballots, a number voted the exact opposite of their wishes.

Regardless of the result of the result of the election, the pool halls probably would have remained in Brady, the constitutionality of the law permitting of voting upon pool halls having been attacked. A dispatch from Hillsboro in the state press Saturday reads as follows:

"On the ground the law enacted by the thirty-third legislature providing local option for the pool hall as for the saloon is unconstitutional, as it makes no provision for the refunding of any part of the license tax paid by proprietors, a temporary injunction restraining the Hill county commissioners court from canvassing the returns of the election held August 2nd, when a 10 to 1 majority was cast for prohibition of pool halls in this county, has been granted by Judge O. L. Lockett at Cleburne.

"Argument will be heard at Cleburne Saturday. The case is that of J. W. Wright, proprietor of a Hillsboro pool hall, against the Hill county commissioners court."

WHY SO GLOOMY?

In mentioning his impressions of Brady following his recent visit here Editor John E. Cooke in the Rockdale Reporter aptly says: "We actually believe West Texas people suffer more from anxiety than from drouths."

This appears to be the key to the situation. As long ago as four and five years ago, we heard Brady and McCulloch county citizens—a few of them —declare with a solemn shake of the head that they did not see how they were going to live through a hard year. Those same folks are still shaking their heads and still making the same declaration—but they are still alive; still well fed; still clothed. They have an aggravated case of the blues—they are suffering with an infectious disease more deadly to one's peace of mind and happiness than any disease known to medical science, and for this reason we favor quarantining against the calamity and hard-times howler. There is nothing to be gained from association with them. They are of little faith. They are willing to lay down in the traces and rebel against their beclouded vision of the future, rather than get up in the harness and do their dead level best, trusting to an All-Wise Providence to make all things come out for the best in the long run.

If but some of this class could realize how much they have to be thankful for; how blessings have been bestowed upon them; how they have prospered even in adversity, their sighs and words of distress would change to hosannas and words of thanksgiving.

Note the following clipping from the Tribune-Chief, published at Quannah in the Panhandle country, and compare the conditions there with your own: "John R. Good lost several fine cows last Tuesday while driving a herd toward the stock pens. Johnson grass was growing in the lanes and the cattle, dying for something green to eat, went for it with a relish.
As a result fourteen died shortly afterwards. We learn the same thing happened to a Mr.
Jackson near Medicine Mound a few days ago."

If the above article does not smooth the frown from your brow, go talk with your fellow citizens who have traveled about the state and outside the state; ask them about conditions elsewhere, and nine times out of ten the answer will be that McCulloch county folks have every reason to be thankful over crop conditions in this section.

Then, for goodness sake, brace up; get a smile on your face! let your hand clasps be hearty and sincere—we'll guarantee you to feel better, to live longer and do more good for yourself and for your fellowman.

TOMBSTONE ENTERPRISE.

Tombstone enterprise is doubtless an unusual caption for an editorial, but it is appropriate to the occasion. The enterprise of which we desire to make mention is that of a monumental works in a neighboring city the enterprising proprietors of which subscribed for The Brady Standard in order to keep up with the deaths in this county.
After a suitable period of waiting they send advertising literature to the relatives surviving, and the chances are they land the order.

That's what we call enterprise—tombstone enterprise.
The method pursued by this firm is a neat way of touching upon a delicate subject. It's tact—excellent tact. Much more tactful than if they were to write a man, "If your wife dies you can rest assured she will never haunt you if you will place one of our ten-ton, solid granite, ornamental tombstones over her grave."

THE HAS-BEEN.

The Brady Standard says:
"Menard is fitting herself for entry in the 'Deserted Village' class contest." Evidently Bro.
Schwenker read only the opening lines of Goldsmith's "Deserted Village," and they are indeed a true description of Menard—the "loveliest village of the plain, where health and plenty cheered the laboring swain, where smiling spring its earliest visit paid, and parting summer's lingering blooms del-ay'd."—Menard Messenger.

We read the opening lines, and what particularly impressed us was the past tense—the village that "had been." If the dead past buries its dead, Menard is awaiting the trumpet of judgment day.

Menard folks are going to erase that flyspeck from the map entirely. They are agitating a prohibition election over there.

A St. Louis girl slept almost 150 hours and when she woke up asked if her new slit skirt had come. Pleasant dreams!—

EX-BRADYITE'S VIEWS

JOHN E. COOKE TELLS OF HIS VISIT TO BRADY.

Still Master in Art of Bouquet Throwing—Brady Enterprise Is Commended.

In his paper, The Rockdale Reporter, Editor John E. Cooke writes entertainingly of his recent visit to Brady, and speaks of Brady and Brady enterprise in the following glowing terms:

"The unusual excellence of The Reporter last week was due to the fact that the editor was off on a week's vacation and the boys in the office, the society editress and a few kind friends had full sway. Hereafter we shall take a week off at least once a year, for we believe our readers are entitled to at least one good paper per annum.

"We spent the week at Brady, our home prior to coming to Rockdale something over two years ago. Brady is in 'West Texas,' that is, it is so spoken of, though strictly according to geographical location Brady is almost directly in the center of the state. However, they have drouths out there, and that makes it 'West Texas;' popular opinion is a great thing, and it is useless to try to stem it in some instances.

"We lived at Brady two years, and both were dry, and since we left there the country has gone through two more still dryer. Consequently we were agreeably surprised to find the old town looking so well. It looks fifty per cent better than we anticipated, and a week's stay showed us that it was full of life, vim and vigor. In spite of the four bad years there has been a lot of building in Brady, chief among which is a department store building, a mammoth three-story structure of beautiful design, two large brick stores and a splendid ice plant. A large number of residences were also noted, one of them costing $30,000. But the biggest improvement the town has ever made is in its waterworks system. Two years ago Brady people were drinking the dirtiest of ditch water. Today they have one of the most complete and thoroughly modern water plants in the state, filtered water in inexhaustible quantities. The city voted a bond issue of $40,- 000, and by careful, and we might say unusually excellent management, they bought the water and light plant, made thousands of dollars worth of improvements and secured abundant water—something the town had never had before.

"A road bond issue of $75,000 has also been judiciously used on the roads leading into town, and anyone who has ever traveled the rocky roads of McCulloch county will be able to appreciate the seventy-five miles of good roads built by bond issue.

"McCulloch county is facing the best crop year she has had in five years. They have already made the biggest feed and grain crop in the history of the county and cotton prospects are very bright. Cotton was beginning to need rain, and we understand a good rain fell out there this past week; if this report is true Brady and McCulloch county will come into their own again this fall, for that is a fine country and a fine soil when given plenty of rainfall. Our observation is that with sufficient rain McCulloch county will produce as good crops as the best in Texas, and when the season hits right a bumper crop always results.

"One of the greatest assets of which Brady and McCulloch county can boast is The Brady Standard. This statement is not inspired because of the fact that this writer is the "daddy" of The Standard. True, we established that paper and conducted it for two years, but we sold it to a young man who has made good in every sense of the word. Harry F. Schwenker is the man, and we are frank to admit that he has given his constituents a better paper the past two years than we could have done; better, we believe, than any other editor in Texas could have done. Never discouraged, ever cheerful, The Standard carries its bright and breezy messages twice a week to every home in McCulloch county. Bad crops and drouths have had no terrors for The Standard, but it has been a consistent booster, giving the news and ever holding out the brightest and most optimistic of hopes for the future, at the same time never overdoing it. We are glad to note that Brady business men were loyal to The Standard, for if ever an editor deserved loyal support that editor is Mr.
Schwenker. We trust that he will receive his full share of the prosperity which seems to be in store for McCulloch county this fall.

"Returning home by the Santa Fe through San Saba county we noted that that county, which adjoins McCulloch on the east, is in quite bad shape. The western portion of San Saba county is primarily a good stock raising country, and the pastures looked bad—in some places bar-ren. Crops all along the route through the county looked very bad, cotton being badly wilted, and in some places even dead.
We were informed that the feed crop is short.

"One thing that impressed us most of all on the trip is the perpetual anxiety that is felt by the people. We actually believe West Texas people suffer more from anxiety than from the drouths."

We have no fault to find with Brother Cooke's narrative, except that he used the short and ugly word, "drouth" with reference to this country. So far as we are aware there has been but one "drouth" known to the world, and that was 'way back in Bible times—and in Egypt.
We have had a few dry spells in West Texas—but drouths are an unknown quantity.

On behalf of Brady and Brady citizens, we wish to express unbounded appreciation of the kind and complimentary references to our city and our enterprise. As for ourself, amidst a blushing of blushes we say, "Thank you," "Thank you," and again, "Thank you."

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Muesel's Hearing Tube. When this tube is inserted into the ear, it carries the sound of the voice directly to the eardrum, and when it is removed, the hearing is restored, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. NEAR DEATH BY SMOTHERING

But Husband, With Aid of Cardui, Effects Her Deliverance.

Draper, N. C.—Mrs. Helen Dalton, of this place, says: "I suffered for years, with pains in my left side, and would often almost smother to death."

Medicines patched me up for awhile but then I would get worse again. Finally, my husband decided he wanted me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, so he bought me a bottle and I began using it. It did me more good than all the medicines I had taken.

I have induced many of my friends to try Cardui, and they all say they have been benefited by its use. There never has been, and never will be, a medicine to compare with Cardui. I believe it is a good medicine for all womanly troubles.

For over 50 years, Cardui has been relieving woman's sufferings and building weak women up to health and strength.

If you are a woman, give it a fair trial. It should surely help you, as it has a million others.

Get a bottle of Cardui to-day.

win, accompanied by little Miss Dorothy Nell Broad, left Saturday night for Hamilton, where they will visit Mrs. Sayle's daughter, Mrs. Steve Ballou. Mr. and Mrs. Ballou are now cozily quartered in their handsome new home just recently completed.

J. L. Jordan left Friday night for Pecos to visit his daughter, Mrs. George Yantis, who has been quite ill for several weeks. Owing to an unfortunate misunderstanding, Mrs. Jordan, who was attending her daughter, was unaware of his coming, and left with Mrs. Yantis for Brady shortly before his arrival.

G. W. Schoolcraft, who has been looking after the Model market during the absence of J. C. Irwin, will return tonight to his home at Wylie, having been called there by an accident which befell his little son. The lad stuck a nail in his foot, injuring the member quite severely, but it is thought the consequences will not be serious.

Mrs. George Yantis, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. J. L. Jordan, arrived yesterday morning from Pecos to spend some time here. Mrs. Yantis has been quite ill for several weeks, and it was thought best to move her to Brady. Her condition is not thought to be serious, and her many friends hope that she may soon regain complete health and strength.

Dr. Hicks Martin, accompanied by his brother-in-law, W. M. Owen, was here from Katemey yesterday. They were enroute to the Eastern states, Mr. Owen going for a visit with relatives at his old home in Alabama, while Dr. Martin will visit his father at Mt. Zion, Carroll county, Georgia, for about three weeks, it being his first visit home in three years. Dr. Martin's father is 92 years of age and is still hale and hearty and expects to round out the full 100 mark.

J. D. Benson was in town Saturday, and reported the rains of the week having been accompanied by a hard wind that carried his chicken house about 100 yards. The rain in his community was spotted, the back end of his pasture not receiving any at all. Cotton received very little benefit from the moisture, but it was sufficient to bring up maize. Mr. Benson is keeping in good spirits over the prospects, and though it is getting very dry, he thinks the crop will be far from short this year, while a good rain within the next few weeks would practically insure a big crop.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Anderson and daughters, Misses Esther and Ella May, returned last Thursday from a visit of several weeks with relatives and friends at Austin, Georgetown and other points. They report having had a most enjoyable time, and urgent invitations were extended them by their former friends to come back to Austin and again make their home among them. Mr. Anderson says it was too hot, however, and after having lived in the glorious Brady atmosphere as long as he has, he could not begin to think of going back there. Their daughter, Mrs. Bailey Jones, accompanied them upon their return home, and will visit here several weeks.

NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE

(Real Estate.)

State of Texas, County of McCulloch—By virtue of an order of sale issued out of the honorable district court of Parker county, Texas, on the 9th day of August, A. D. 1913, by the clerk thereof, in the case of R. W. Davis vs. W. C. McFall, No. 4834, and to me as sheriff directed and delivered, I have levied upon this 11th day of August, A. D. 1913, and will between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. on the first Tuesday in September, A. D. 1913, it being the 2nd day of said month, at the court house door of said McCulloch county, in the town of Brady, proceed to sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash in hand all the right, title and interest which W. C. McFall had on the 1st day of November, A. D. 1912, or at any time thereafter of, in and to the following described property, to-wit:

All that certain tract or parcel of land situated in McCulloch county, Texas, described as follows: Two hundred twenty-eight and 2-10 (228 2-10) acres of land out of the south half of H. & T. C. R. Co. Survey No. 41, Abstract No. 622, Certificate No. 33-3220, Patent No. 532, Volume 18, which patent is hereby referred to for description, and being all the same land deeded by Henry Rogers and wife to J. and H. Meers about August 9, 1910, and by J. and H. Meers deeded to John Martin, and by John Martin and wife deeded to W. C. McFall about December 13, 1910, which deed is recorded in Volume 23, page 479 of the Deed Records of McCulloch county, Texas, and is here referred to for a fuller description; said land being located twenty-three miles northwest from the town of Brady, in the northwest part of the county, and known as the Meers land.

Said property being levied on as the property of W. C. McFall to satisfy the balance due on a judgment amounting to $6,600.32, in favor of R. W. Da-

15 CENT COTTON SELLING PLAN.

The plan of the Southern States Cotton Corporation is startling in simplicity and easily understood. It is the same as placing the cotton in a warehouse and borrowing three-fourths of its value, except it is sold to the Corporation and the Corporation borrows the money and makes definite arrangements for holding it off the market in a business way. The people, as a legal association, are doing it instead of each individual acting blindly in the matter. The seller, instead of being a borrower, becomes a lender, receiving interest on the difference of his cash settlement and fifteen cents.

Five million bales is the balance of power and enables us to contract the price.

Three-fourths value with this amount held means more than all the value under the old system, with no promise of more. For twenty-nine years we've tried to raise more cotton than the world needed, but never a large surplus.

I will be at the Commercial National bank, Brady, on Saturdays. Call and get free literature. We invite investigation. We are able to satisfy you.

On Wednesday morning Mr. J. M. Graham of Del Rio was married to Miss Margaret Callan, Father Gagnon of the Catholic church performing the ceremony. On the same morning they left for Del Rio, where they will make their home. The bride is the sister of a distinguished newspaper man of Menard, but modesty prevents our calling his name.

One of subscribers told us that he liked last week's issue of the Messenger. He was probably not in earnest about it, but it pleased us just the same. We should like for more of our subscribers to drop in occasionally and say, "old man, you're getting out a pretty fair one-hoss paper—here take this dollar and buy yourself an automobile," or some equally intelligent remark.

The Dallas News man has been making scientific experiments and has discovered that "there are microbes on even the reddest lips." Of course there are, but they are the health microbes that put red blood into man's veins and make him strive in the field and the factory, sail unknown seas, read the volumes that are in the heavens above and force old earth to give up the treasures that lay hidden in its depths—and occasionally they cause him to make an ass of himself.

Without considering the judgment of heaven, man suffers in this world for the evil he does to others. If he does another man an injury that may bring sorrow to the heart of that man's child, on many sad nights that thought will walk abroad in the halls of his memory and fight off wholesome sleep "that knits up the raveled sleeve of care." There is nothing grander in this life than to lie down at night, with the soft arm of innocent babes about you, and feel that in all the world there is no man, no woman and no child who may be feeling discomfort or shedding a tear because of any act of yours. Life is too dear to sacrifice upon the altar of greed and envy and hate. When you have learned to respect the rights of others you have learned to live, even if you have not food and clothing for a week ahead, and if you have made a fortune and think only of yourself, your life is a failure, not alone to the world, but for you.

When you are at home alone, and overcome with an awful loneliness, it is pleasant to go out under the stars, and as your eyes wander over the broad expanse of heaven, reading the story of your own littleness—it is pleasant then to recall some little deeds of kindness in your past. They shine out above all your successes—and the god mammon retreats in your mind before the mighty hosts of Heaven's King.

The Dallas News says that jokes should be put in the same class with notaries public—so that everyone will show when its commission expires. Our experience has been that a joke expires when we tell it, and the sad faces of our listeners are doubtless caused by watching the poor joke breathe its last. Jokes have come nearer making us a socialist than anything else, because some rich devil can get off something that his son said and the audience will laugh and roar until the roof of the house threatens to come off, while we can tell a thundering good joke and every devil in the crowd will look as if he had just received news that the world was coming to an end. The legislature ought to pass a law forcing people to laugh at a joke for some given period, so the poor people will have a chance. We once laughed for almost an hour at a joke told by a banker, when we had whipped our child for telling the same old joke years before, and had to pay the regular interest on the twelve dollars after all. It is time for the common people of this country to get together and demand their rights—a recognition of the principle that all men are created equal, and that the poor laboring men, upon whose broad shoulders rests the past, present, future, future perfect and every other tense of this country, have a right to expect the same applause at their jokes as is given to the jokes of those upon whom the false god mammon has lavished his golden treasure.

Scratching for Fun.

We would have great sympathy for those who have to scratch continually, if there wasn't a remedy for the trouble, but as Hunt's Cure is guaranteed to cure or money refunded, it would seem that those who scratch do so just for the fun of it. It's a special remedy for itch, eczema, tetter, ringworm, etc.

The signal for the opening of the big fair next week will be the drum tap for the magnificent street parade at 10:30 Tuesday morning. The thousands who have attended the fair in former years recollect the street parades. The parade this time will have not only decorated vehicles, footmen, etc., but there will be a number of automobiles. The parade will be headed by the San Saba band in their new uniforms in a large decorated float. Sheriff Miller will be mounted and in charge of the parade. After passing through the principal streets of the town the procession will proceed to the fair grounds, where the big fair and encampment will be formally opened by a speech from Lieutenant Governor Will H. Mayes.

So Many People Die of Blood Poison.
A little scratch on the hand, a splinter or small abrasion of the skin is often fatal because the poisonous germs start the infection. That's where Hunt's Lightning Oil comes in handy as an application on the abrasion kills all germs which may have lodged there, thereby preventing infection and death. ELECTION RETURN OF JULY 19TH, 1913

The commissioners met last Wednesday and canvassed the returns of the state-wide election held on July 19th, and declared all three of the propositions submitted as having been lost.

The first proposition related to the district judges and district courts; the second to compensation of county officers; the third to the issuance of bonds for state schools, etc. The first proposition was defeated nearly 7 to 1; the second 5 to 1, while the third was lost by an overwhelming majority of more than 17 to 1.
