INSTALLS NEW MACHINE

Accurate Time-Saving Machine at Brady National Bank.

The Brady National Bank has just added a remarkable machine to its equipment—a machine that posts ledgers and makes out customer's statements. There won't be any more night work balancing pass books at the end of each month, for the bank has done away with the old pass book system and adopted the statement system, which the banks in the largest cities are using.

People who are not acquainted with the inside workings of a bank will not fully realize the great advantages of machine work over hand work in posting to the ledger. The big advantages of using the machine are the saving in time and in the improvement in the appearance and legibility of the ledger sheet.

Heretofore the clerks when posting to the ledger have had to first make a list of checks and then a list of deposits, on each account, add each list separately and then subtract to get a balance. This is all accomplished in one operation by the new machine.

The machine automatically adds the deposits to the old balance and subtracts the checks as they are listed. The new balance is computed and proved simply by taking a total.

The bank will save at least 25 per cent in time by the machine method. Then, too, there is no possibility of an error, as the machine cannot make a mistake. The saving in this means something to the patrons of the bank for this time can be devoted to the improvement of the already excellent service which the Brady National Bank is now giving to its patrons.

The bank is also using the machine in connection with its system of sending out monthly statements.

The statements are written entirely on the machine, which means absolute accuracy and printed figures. The big feature, of course, is that the customer will no longer have to wait for his pass book to be balanced.

Heretofore if a customer wanted a statement of his account in the middle of the month, he would be compelled to wait until the clerk went through the ledger from the first of the month, made a list of checks and deposits, listed each check and deposit and added each check and deposit and added each list and then subtracted to get a balance or an overdraft.

In addition, the machine can be used just like an ordinary adding machine on all kinds of bank figure work. The machine has caused no little excitement at the bank and interested business men and regular depositors at the bank have marvelled at the wonderful machine with the "steel brains" which has cut out the drudgery formerly connected with the regular bank routine.

Clerks at the bank will be glad to demonstrate the machine to anyone interested.

CARNIVAL IS GOOD.

DeKreko Bros. Shows Open Opened Monday; Big Crowds

DeKreko Bros' carnival opened a week's engagement here Monday night, showing under auspices of the local fire department.

The DeKreko Bros., aggregation is one of the largest and best carnival attractions ever seen in Brady, ten large railway cars being used for transporting the property from town to town. There are ten shows and an equal number of concessions on the grounds this week, the entire west side and more than half the south side of the public square being used. In addition to this, one of the largest shows is located on a lot just back of the west side of the square.

Just shows are all clean and moral in every respect, while on the midway there are no gambling devices, such as usually found with the carnival. One of the most popular attractions is the motordome, which, for sensational thrills, is all that could be desired. Nothing like it has ever been seen in Brady. The walls of the dome are set at an angle of 78 degrees and around this wall the riders drive their machines at a rate of more than a mile a minute and at the same time pull off all kinds of hair-raising stunts, such as standing with both feet on the pedal on either side of the machine, standing on the seat, riding on the handle bars and doing the motordome tango dance without touching the handle bars. Another thriller is given when three riders are seen on the track at the same time going at a terrific rate of speed, changing and interchanging their positions at will.

Another show which proved popular with the big crowds Monday and Tuesday nights was Texas Bud's Wild West, where some excellent bronc "busting," trick shooting and lariat handling is to be seen. Other attractions worthy of favorable mention are the "International Theatre," "Mexican Circus" and a collection of freak shows that are worth going miles to see.

On account of rain, the crowds Wednesday and last night were small, but quite a few braved the mud and came out to enjoy the festivities.

The company will close the engagement here Saturday night. They are booked in Brownwood for next week, and the following week in San Angelo, where they are to be one of the main features of the big fall fair.

HEAVY RAINS

Practically Four Inches Have Fallen This Week.

Rain began falling Tuesday night about 11:00 o'clock, continuing through the night and until the afternoon Wednesday, the total precipitation to last night, according to the rain gauge at the Commercial National bank, being 3.3 inches. This morning the wind changed to the north, accompanied by a steady downpour and a considerable drop in the temperature. At the time of going to press rain was still falling.

Reports from all sections show that the rain is general over the county, being heaviest south and southwest of Brady. While considerable damage will be done to cotton in the fields, this will be overcome in a large measure by the benefit to farmers who are planting small grain crops.

This is the first rain which has fallen in this section since the beginning of the cotton season the latter part of August.

Easy Picking.

Joe Matthews is spending a few days here this week from the Peg Leg ranch in Menard county. Mr. Matthews was formerly a lawyer, but has now graduated into a full fledged farmer of the most progressive type. He is of a mechanical turn of mind, and has a number of his ideas in practical everyday use on the ranch.

The latest "invention" put into practical use by Mr. Matthews is a small truck used in picking cotton. His experience in picking cotton is rather limited, and because of the scarcity of pickers this year, all of this work has been done by he, his brother, Jim, his mother and sister. Mr. Matthews states that it required only a few days to wear out both his back and knees, and he began studying out a more comfortable means of transportation up and down the long rows. He finally decided that a small truck on which the picker could sit down and push along with his feet would be a happy solution of his difficulties, and accordingly went to work and built one for each member of the family.

According to his statement, the experiment is a decided success, and he can now back up and down the cotton rows all day without experiencing the fatigue of the old-fashioned way of crawling.

A MISTAKEN IDEA

There are some people who still resort to drugged pills or alcoholic syrups to overcome colds, nervousness or general debility, and who know that the pure, unadulterated nourishment in Scott's Emulsion is eminently better, but refrain from taking it because they fear it may lead to excessive fat or obesity.

This is a mistaken idea, because Scott's Emulsion first strengthens the body before making flesh. Its blood-forming properties aid nature to throw off sickness by building health from its very source, and flesh is formed only by its continued use. Avoid alcoholic substitutes for SCOTT'S.

POULTRY AT STATE FAIR.

Big Organizations of State Will Meet in Dallas.

Dallas—This city will be the Mecca of poultry fanciers during the 1914 State Fair of Texas, which begins Saturday, October 17. The occasion will be the great annual poultry display, thousands of the bluest, blooded fowls in the Southwest entered for rich prizes, and also the annual meetings of the Texas White Wyandotte Club, the Texas Rhode Island Red Club and the Texas Barred Rock Club. Members of the American Poultry Association, residing in Texas, have been invited by the management of the Fair to meet some day during the run of the exposition. All of the standard breeds of chickens, turkeys, ducks and geese, pigeons and pet stock will be shown as never before. This promises to be a banner year in the poultry division. Prizes are more liberal than ever before. The three organizations named contributed specials that bring the grand total to higher figures than last year, and fanciers in appreciation of this are showing an interest that makes a big display most promising.

Director F. E. Sliney of this department declares no single department of the State Fair of Texas is of so much value as pertaining to a profit-making industry as the poultry department, especially if the cost of establishing and the work required to make it a success be taken into consideration, Mr. Sliney said.

The average farmer regards poultry as entirely too small a proposition to receive his attention. This is due largely to the fact that the average farmer is ignorant both as to the real value of the poultry industry in Texas and as to its possibilities as a money maker on the farm.

In Texas alone the egg and poultry sales amount to about $22,400,000 a year. Yet in Kansas, with less than a third of the farming area of Texas, the poultry business amounts to more than $20,000,000 a year, and in Missouri last year it footed up $48,000,000.

The State Fair of Texas by its liberal premiums and its splendid exhibit arrangements has been a dominating factor in developing the poultry industry of Texas more than a thousand percent in ten years. As the people of the Southwest awaken thoroughly to the importance of this industry, and they are rapidly doing so through the influence of the State Fair of Texas, this will be the great egg and poultry state of the Union.

Walter Burton of Arlington, Tex., is superintendent of the department, and fanciers are urged to correspond with him relative to the prizes, etc., that feature the department this year.

Here is the schedule for the athletic features at the 1914 State Fair of Texas, which begins at Dallas Saturday, October 17: Saturday, October 17, Trinity University of Waxahachie vs. Baylor College of Waco; Saturday, October 31, A. & M. College of Texas vs. Louisiana State University. Don't miss 'em!

Texas vs. Oklahoma.

Dallas—Much interest is manifested locally in the big gridiron contest between the eleven of the University of Texas and the University of Oklahoma, which will be held in this city Saturday, October 24, during the 1914 State Fair of Texas. This promises to be the premiere game of the season.

Is Enemy of Army Worm.

Austin, Oct. 14.—Wilton Newell, state entomologist, is being besieged with questions relative to the best means of combatting the army worm, which is said to again be abroad in the land. He offers to inform all who ask how to combat all insect pests and says if the remedy is applied soon enough thousands of dollars worth of farm crops may be saved each year in this state. The remedies he offers are cheap and highly practicable and may be had by addressing him at A. & M. college.

Distribution of Solar Energy.
Solar energy is not evenly distributed over the surface of the earth. There are privileged regions in the tropics which would become vastly prosperous if the sun's rays were suitably employed. Even now the strongest nations are rivaling one another in the conquest of the lands of the sun as if unconsciously looking forward to the future.

Poetry and Music.
If I had to live my life again, I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once every week; for perhaps the parts of my brain now atrophied would thus have been kept active through use. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness, and may possibly be injurious to the intellect, and more probably to the moral character, by enfeebling the emotional part of our nature.—Charles Darwin.

National Spirit is Aroused.
The world, this country, is gradually waking up to a realization of how ineffably ugly our cities are, how forlorn are the houses and the lives of people outside of the cities. They are beginning to demand something better. No, the spirit of art is not dying. It is preparing for a mighty revival compared to which the boasted Renaissance will be like a rush light in the full blaze of day.

TRUTH TRIUMPHS.
Brady Citizens Testify for the Public Benefit.

A truthful statement of a Brady citizen, given in his own words, should convince the most skeptical about the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. If you suffer from backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, urinary disorders or any form of kidney ills, use a tested kidney medicine.

A Brady citizen tells of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Could you demand more convincing proof of merit?
C. V. Glober, Brady, Texas, says: "For many years I was troubled by a dull ache in my back and across my kidneys. I consulted a doctor, and he pronounced the complaint lumbago. He gave me a prescription, but it brought no relief and I tried other remedies without help. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and procured a box. Before long I noticed that the trouble was beginning to leave me and after taking two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, I was cured. I haven't lost a day from work since."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Glober had. Foster-Millburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

THE REAL BENEFACTORS.

Not many days ago our attention was called to the fact that one of the largest mail order houses in the United States had decided upon the purchase of ten thousand bales of distress cotton at 10c per pound. The gentleman who mentioned the matter to us was of the opinion that this action upon the part of the concern was deserving of highest praise from the press of the country. We agreed that their decision in the matter was worthy of commendation, but we fail to see where they deserve any more credit for the purchase of ten thousand bales than does the small-town merchant who takes two or three bales at the 10c price.

At a glance, the purchase of ten thousand bales by this corporation looks like a great act of philanthropy, but a careful analysis will convince one that they are doing no more and deserve no more (if as much) credit than the home merchant.
There are fourteen cotton producing states in the South, all of which pour millions into the hands of the mail order house annually, with an average, perhaps, of a thousand towns in each state in which cotton is marketed. There will, therefore, be four thousand towns in which no cotton will be purchased for the corporation, and yet the merchants in every one of the fourteen thousand towns will buy a hundred bales to their one, and thus sink the "unanimous gift" of this great corporation into insignificance.

The business of this mail order concern from the cotton states alone amounts to millions of dollars annually, and there is no valid reason in the world why they should not come to the rescue of their customers at this time of need. It is undoubtedly the first time they have ever offered to assist them in any way, although they have been selling their goods and deriving large profits from the cotton farmers of the South for many years, and doubtless will continue to do so for many more years.

It is the home merchant who stands by his friends and customers year after year, pays his taxes to the support of the local government, builds churches and schools, gives of his time and means to the advancement of the best interests of the community in which he lives, and buys a bale or two at 10c a pound who commands our admiration, and not the mail order houses which drain the country of surplus cash and contribute nothing in local taxes or to the building of church-

A NEW ONE

Volume 1, No. 1, of the San Angelo Sun has reached this office. The new paper is published by Messrs. J. W. Wil-

the printing business in San Angelo for a number of years, while Mr. Doyle was, until a few weeks ago, a member of the staff of the Temple Tele-

The first issue of the new publication met with a liberal amount of advertising from the

THE BOY WHO CAN DREAM

It is a good thing for the farmer boy to have an imagination. It is a good thing for him to "dream dreams and see visions." It takes a dreamer to see the transformation that intelligent effort will bring to pass on the old place. It takes a dreamer to see how much more desirable that place will be in ten years than a job in a dry goods store.

It is the boy who dreams
who sees a field of thrifty alfalfa where that stunted yellow corn is growing on the timber forty. It is the boy who dreams who sees those hungry looking cows with burs in their tails replaced by a herd of dairy matrons that tax the capacity of the milk cans at every milking.
It is the boy who dreams who sees a waving field of corn

where the cat-tails are growing,
who sees a woven wire fence in place of the old hedge, and a new barn where the cow shed is falling to pieces.

We need more dreamers on the farm.—Prairie Farmer.

FOOL HUNTER'S PRAYER.

These are the golden autumn
days; the rich, full, six-cylinder, 40-horse power October days.
These are the days when every man with red blood in his veins yearns to get out into the glorious woods and shoot a hunter or a guide. Let the indolent sedentary loll in his office chair.
Let the devotee of indoor sports push the balls around the pool table, but as for us, give us a gun and a beltfull of buckshot shells and turn us loose. Turn us loose where the underbrush is good and thick and let us pepper the festive hunter in his hunting pants. Or, if the fates be so kind, let us shoot a guide on the wing, or on the left clavicle, or even on the run.

What cares a good sportsman where he shoots a guide as long as he shoots him? He cares naught. He little recks. So hail, mighty Nimrod! Hail Diana, hail! Also snow. And if the fates and the gods and goddesses of the hunt, prove unkind, then lead us to the cheerful and rosant rail fence and inspire us to climb over and drag our gun after us. And then, oh spirit of the chase! sic the coroner on us quickly, that we may not remain remains too long and thus muss up the thrice glorious golden October landscape.

WHY DO TENANT FARMERS MOVE?

The past two months, as is usually the case in fall, has marked the sale of much farm property in the rural communities of the state and the moving of farmers from one farm to another. This frequency of moving, or instability of occupancy, very likely is one of the chief causes for the decline of rural prosperity, or is a hindrance to greater progress. Frequency of removal of farmers is one of the greater causes why the roads and bridges are generally in a poor condition, because the farmers moving at frequent periods, are not particularly interested in their upkeep. Farm buildings of such farms are not usually kept in good repair, as the man who is about to move will leave the repairs for the next tenant to make. The same reasons will apply for lack of interest by the unstable farmer in the schools, churches, and general welfare of the community.

The U. S. census bureau is gathering statistics on this unsatisfactory phase of country life, but so far, apparently, has not made exhaustive inquiry as to the reason why these farmers move. In our own community such an inquiry might throw light upon conditions that could be changed for the better. This section of the country is noted for its open-handed hospitality, but are we really as hospitable and as neighborly
as we believe ourselves to be?
Let us be honest with ourselves.
Do we welcome the incoming tenant and try to make him and his family feel that we would like to help them and make them permanent members of the community? If not, let us begin with the next new tenants, starting out with the idea that we accept them at their own valuation and treat them as we would like to be treated under like circumstances. Are our ways, our habits, our local laws and regulations the sort that would naturally attract and what is more important,
hold good settlers—fill them with the desire to buy a farm in this neighborhood? Let us stand aside and look at ourselves. Let us try to get the viewpoint of the stranger, and if we are wrong, let us about-face. If we are hide-bound and stand-offish, let us put the golden rule in operation. If our ways and habits are not what they ought to be, let us modify them. If our local laws and regulations are either too lax or too puritanical, we have the remedy at hand. Let us find out why farm tenants move from this locality and having learned the cause, remove it.

Scales-Olliver.

(Contributed.)
A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Olliver, six miles west of town, at 4:30 o'clock Sunday evening, Oct. 18th, when Mr. Wallace Scales led to Hymen's altar their daughter, Miss Velma Olliver.

Rev. Cole pronounced the solemn rites which bound this young couple together as husband and wife for life.

On account of the dreary-looking weather only a few invited guests and relatives were present.

The bride was becomingly gowned in white wool crepe, while the groom wore the conventional black.

A bountiful supper was served immediately after the ceremony, which everyone greatly enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Scales will leave immediately for Ford, Milam, Lee and Bastrop counties and return via San Saba, expecting to make their return about the first of the New Year.

The groom is a promising young farmer of the Nine community, while the bride is one of the prettiest and most popular young ladies of Carroll County community and possesses many attractive traits of character.

The writer joins in with their host of friends in extending congratulations and well wishes for a long, happy and prosperous life.

Five Hundred Club

Miss Elizabeth Souther was hostess to members of the Five Hundred club last Friday afternoon at the regular weekly meeting.

All members were present and a most enjoyable session is reported.

The games were played at three tables, Mrs. G. V. Gansel winning club prize for high score—a dainty crocheted bath towel.

Refreshments of salad, sandwiches, olives, coffee and candy were served by the hostess to the following guests: Mesdames J. S. Anderson, J. R. Stone, J. G. McCall, G. R. White, C. T. White, G. V. Gansel, S. S. Graham, W. L. Hughes, J. S. Wall, S. W. Moffatt; Misses Addie Conner, Gillie Macy.

Mrs. J. R. Stone will entertain the club this afternoon.

Mothers Club

Members of the Mothers club held an enjoyable meeting Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. A. W. Tipton.

Topics of current events furnished the subjects for discussion, into which all entered enthusiastically, after which a short business session was held.

Dainty refreshments of fruit salad, wafers and punch were served before departure of the guests.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Tuesday afternoon, November 3rd.

Entre Nous Club

The meeting of the Entre Nous club announced for Wednesday afternoon with Miss Hayde Willoughby was postponed until Wednesday of next week on account of inclement weather.

False Economy

For $1,000,000 invested in liquor 77 men are employed; for $1,000,000 invested in iron, 248 men are employed; for $1,000,000 invested in the paper industry, 367 are employed $1,000,000 invested in leather calls for 469 men; in textiles, for 578; in lumber, for 579. It is seen, therefore, that the same amount of money invested in productive and constructive industries employs five times as many workmen as does the liquor industry. If the brewery and distillery be converted into bona fide manufactories, will it hurt or help the community?

Instead of "hurting business," the nation-wide abolition of the liquor traffic would help business. The statement is made—and it is not overdrawn—that to "divide the money now spent in saloons among the twenty leading necessities of life would require to manufacture them $400,000,000 more raw material than is now used in the manufacture of drink, and would give employment to 1,000,347 more men."

People Who Cannot Read

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14.—The need of more schools in Texas is made manifest by recent census reports showing the per cent of illiterates among the native white class of this state. The figures show 5.1 as the percent of illiterates in the rural districts and 1.9 per cent in the cities and villages. Texas has 282,904 illiterates and 229,695 of them live on the farms. There are 122,728 boys and men and 106,967 girls and women on the farms of this state who can neither read or write.

Texans Mail 10,000,00 Parcels.

Washington, Oct. 19.—No exact data has yet been compiled relating to the workings of the parcels post in Texas, but from estimates compiled by the postal authorities at Washington, based on the business handled at representative offices in this state, it is evident that during the fiscal year 1913 approximately 10,000,000 packages were mailed in Texas. The postage on this amounts to nearly a million dollars.

The Clouds Rolling By.

Business is improving. Men are being hired. It isn't so hard as it was to borrow money—on good security.

Ever see an ice-jam in the spring? At first it looks as if it couldn't be budged. Even dynamite doesn't feaze it. But by and by the warm sun gets in its work; and then folks worry lest the jam should move too quickly and do as much damage by going as by staying! We don't say that the business problem is like an ice jam in every particular, but there are resemblances. What saves the down country from being flooded by the spring thaw is that the melt by day is checked a little by the freeze by night. The derangement of the world's credit machinery, the conservatism of bankers and the war uncertainties now guarantee us against a flood of speculation.

But to keep things moving in the right direction and at a proper pace, we need more sunshine. It is a time for courage, confidence, optimism. Not splashes, not splurges, not yet pinch-penny caution, but manly gumption, grit and go-ahead. Still superior to war news as a topic of interest in the American home is where good values can be found in buying for home necessities at fair prices.

We can't let eating and living lag until Europe moves for peace. The ordinary processes must go on—they are going on, but slightly affected, save as have allowed ourselves to be scared before we are hurt.

Now that this great nation is regaining its wind and its poise, turn on more sunshine—give hope a shove.

ASTHMA AND HAY FEVER

A GUARANTEED TREATMENT.

"I have arranged with the Central Drug Store so that every sufferer from Asthma, Hay Fever or Bronchial Asthma in Brady can try my treatment entirely at my risk," Dr. Rudolph Schiffmann announces. He says: "Buy a 50-cent package of my Asthmador or Asthmador Cigarettes, try it, and if it does not afford you immediate relief, or if you do not find it the best remedy you have ever used, take it back to the Central Drug store and they will return your money, cheerfully and without any question whatever. After seeing the grateful relief it has afforded in hundreds of cases, which had been considered incurable, and which had been given up in despair, I know what it will do. I am sure that it will do the same with others that I am not afraid to guarantee it will relieve instantaneously. The druggists handling Asthmador will return your money if you say so. You are to be the sole judge and under this positive guarantee, absolutely no risk is run in buying Asthmador."

Person living elsewhere will be supplied under the same guarantee by their local druggist or direct by Dr. R. Schiffmann, St. Paul, Minn.

We Simply Ask the Men to Stay Sober

OUR factory rules demand "sobriety," not "abstinence." What our employes do after knocking off work is up to them. We don't tell them they can't go into a well-run saloon under penalty of being discharged. If we did, they'd be justified in leaving us.

Our best men are those who drink their healthful, stimulating beer. They are the ones that punch the time clock promptly in the morning and do the most work during the day. They are good boys and know that drinking beer moderately means True Temperance. If we told them they couldn't drink after work we'd drive them to secret indulgence and deprive them of useful, harmless pleasure. Result—materially diminished mental and physical buoyancy and low efficiency during working hours.

Our men pursue their own lives and gratify their own tastes without molestation. Most of the officials of this factory drink beer moderately because it is beneficial and refreshing. They wouldn't ask the boys to give up what they themselves wouldn't think of quitting.

Sudan Grass a Useful Crop.

Specialists in the department are now devoting considerable attention to the introduction of Sudan grass as a valuable addition to the forage crops of many sections. Sudan grass is an annual, related to Johnson grass, but distinguished from it by the absence of rootstocks and by broader and more numerous leaves. When seeded broadcast or in drills it averages about three to five feet in height, but when grown in rows and cultivated this can be increased to 6 or 9 feet. The hay of the cultivated crop, however, is somewhat coarser and not so desirable for market purposes.

A hay grass that will do well in the South has been much sought for, and it is believed that Sudan grass should fill this want. It is known to be palatable and analysis shows that in chemical composition it is practically the equivalent of Johnson grass and timothy hay.

As a soiling crop it has the advantage of making a large yield and being well relished by animals when in the green state. Under irrigation, indeed, its growth is so rapid and the recovery from cutting so prompt that the yields are really enormous. Where rainfall is adequate or irrigation possible a small area will therefore support a very fair number of animals.

The value of Sudan grass is by no means confined to the South. In the central great plains south of North Dakota it promises to become one of their most important hay crops, and in latitudes between those of southern New York and northern Tennessee it will replace to a great extent the millets as catch crops.

In the high altitudes of the intermountain section, however, its possibilities are not considered so great, for continued cool weather is detrimental to its growth. Humid atmosphere and continuous heat is also an undesirable combination, since it favors the development of "Red Spot" (Sorghum blight), which greatly reduces the yield. For this reason there may be some difficulty in growing Sudan grass satisfactorily on the gulf and in some sections on the Atlantic coast of the southeastern states.

The yield to be expected from Sudan grass naturally varies quite a little in accordance with the section where it is grown. Under ordinary circumstances the total yields range from 1 to 8 tons cured hay per acre, depending largely on the number of cuttings that are possible. In the central great plains two are not unusual, and farther south three, and in some cases even four are possible. Drought naturally reduces the yields, but nevertheless 5 tons to an acre were raised in parts of South Dakota and southern Minnesota in the face of the exceptionally severe summer of 1913. In the south, under similar conditions of severe drought, Sudan grass has been found to do better than the millets and sorghums.

In addition to its value as a soiling crop and as hay, Sudan grass can be grown with cowpeas or soy beans and made into excellent silage. Its exact value for this purpose, however, has not been so thoroughly tested.

Since this crop is not yet very generally grown, prices for seed are high, in some cases $3 per pound being quoted last year. Increase in production, however, should result before long in very much lower prices. During the past year the department has distributed small quantities of seed to over 5,500 people, including farmers in all parts of the United States. Besides this general distribution there are numerous persons in both the northern and southern states who received seed in 1913, and realizing the profit to be made in seed production, planted considerable acreage this year which they are harvesting entirely for seed. Probably 50 per cent of the total amount of seed will be produced in Texas this year, where it is being grown under the strict rules of the Texas Experiment association, an organization of farmers under guidance of the state experiment station. These many small growers in Texas and other states should be able to supply seed to all who desire it. The department of agriculture will gladly furnish the names of growers and seedsmen to anyone who desires to purchase seed.

From 16 to 24 pounds are required per acre of broadcast sowing and from 2 to 6 pounds for seeding in rows. Prospective growers are cautioned that Sudan grass seed resembles Johnson grass seed so closely that they will find it advisable to select seed grown north of the Johnson grass area.

From April 1 to April 15 is the best time for seeding in the extreme south; in the latitude of northern Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas, from April 15 to May 15; and in the latitudes of Nebraska and South Dakota, from May 1 to June 1. A rather firm seed bed is desirable. When the seed is drilled or sown broadcast, the ground should be plowed in the spring and harrowed as for corn. In semiarid regions it is advisable to seed the grass in rows sufficiently far apart to allow of cultivation, and in growing for seed this should be done in all sections, whether arid or not.

Seed growers will find the harvesting of Sudan grass easy. The seed is produced freely and high above the ground, and the loss from shattering is slight. Under ordinary conditions from 450 to 1,400 pounds can be obtained per acre, and under irrigation this yield is largely increased.

Fuller information in regard to the crop is contained in Farmers' Bulletin No. 605, which will be sent free on application to the division of publications, while the department's supply lasts.

Gasoline Not Fool Proof.

S. W. English, state fire marshal, says: In recent years gasoline has caused more fires than inebriety has caused poverty.

In every drop of gasoline there is written in letters of living fire the word "danger." There is no fool-proof gasoline. It requires mor watching than the proverbial mule. Gasoline is not a toy. It is not a plaything. It can do more destruction in ten seconds than a thousand men can repair in a year. Never get around gasoline without thinking you have an invitation to eternity.

Gainesville Has Right Idea

Gainesville, Oct. 19.—Tangible results were secured at the recent meeting of local citizens in regard to the construction of a cotton mill in this city and preparations were made for placing the stocks on the market. As it is planned now, the mill will contain 10,000 spindles and will be capable of consuming 4,000 bales of cotton annually. The promoters of the project announce that 3,000 bales will be taken in exchange for mill stock.

GIRLS! GIRLS! TRY IT, BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR

Make it Thick, Glossy, Wavy, Luxuriant and Remove all Dandruff.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair, growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely, get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and try it.

When you think of photographs, just remember St. Clair, the photb man. F. Haberer's stand.

HER FIRST BERRIES

By SUSANNA GLENN.

Anthony Owen trusted devoutly that he had succeeded in covering his tracks behind him. Who would think of his coming to this old retreat where he used to hide and work before success had begun to smile in his direction.

"This certainly looks first rate," Anthony acknowledged, looking over the tiny garden from the back porch. "I cannot see that the place has changed at all in the past ten years except that those trees along the border have responded to the mulching we gave them."

"It's all just the same, sir," agreed the owner, "only that I've rented the cottage back of you. At last. That place has been a dead loss to me these ten years back, and I was mighty pleased when this young woman came and took a notion to it. I suppose you would rather have it empty, but Miss Carson seems a quiet little person and not over neighborly so far, so I reckon you'll get along all right."

During the week that followed, Owen enjoyed himself with a thoroughness that increased whenever he thought of his Aunt Harriet. "I'll show her," he said at such moments, "that there is a limit even to her generalship in my affairs."

The little woman in the adjoining garden he first began noticing because she so completely ignored him. "She's trying to clean up that garden herself," he discovered one day. "Pity old Jones could not do it for her—he would not dare impose on a man that way."

"But I would not let Mr. Jones fix it," she explained when he at last vouchsafed his opinion of Jones, neighborly fashion, across the dividing hedge. "I wished to do it myself. Do you think I have improved it at all?"

"You have certainly done wonders. But you're not pruning those roses right—you will ruin them that way. Here, let me show you."

There was a little green gate in the hedge which opened complacently upon disused hinges. "They need spraying and a mulch," was his verdict, upon closer examination of the straggling roses. "I'll lend you some books on gardening if you care for them."

When Owen returned to his own garden an hour later, he carried a very pleasant impression of a girl with a perfectly natural manner, rather plain of face, and wearing a print dress well suited to her occupation of digging in the dark soil. "Now there," he soliloquized in deep satisfaction, "is a girl one might enjoy having for a neighbor. She seems unusually intelligent and sensible."

Beyond a doubt Ruth Carson proved to be a good neighbor. She read the garden books with avidity, relied with a flattering confidence upon her neighbor's opinion on all garden topics, and worked with that abandon born of real love of all growing things.

"I think you deserve a special treat for what you have done for my garden," she announced one sultry afternoon, bringing into the delapidated arbor where they had been resting, dishes of some tempting frozen concoction. "These are the first berries from my vines and I made the cream myself, so do not dare criticize it!"

"All—surely you do not mean you turned the crank?"

For the answer she opened her hand, showing the blisters on the pink palm. "You should not have done it," he objected, impatiently. "Why did you not call me?"

"Indeed I should not trouble you in any such way," she retorted, with a formality that angered him unreasonably.

"What is there about this Ruth Carson that seems different from other girls?" he questioned himself daily.

For he it known that Anthony Owen, in spite of his fine height and intellectual achievements, was an extremely bashful man. "She doesn't demand attentions like the girls Aunt Harriet is so fond of bringing out for my benefit." And he grinned broadly at thought of Aunt Harriet and her delayed matrimonial schemes. "For I shall have to go home after a while and face the music," he admitted reluctantly.

"Mr. Owen," said his neighbor as they sat in her garden enjoying the roses that had responded to their united efforts at restoration, "I've been wondering about you—you seem so strong, so full of life, and yet you go out so little. I cannot understand why you are contented to your tiny garden."

"I am not contented in my own garden, young lady," she smiled. "But I do not dare go out; you see, I am in hiding!"

"Are you, truly? Isn't that the strangest thing, for so am I, myself." "Suppose you let me tell you. It is not really so bad as it sounds. I'm simply hiding from Aunt Harriet. She—you see, she's determined to marry me off!"

The girl laughed out merrily. "And you ran away? Is not that rather—not very brave, you know?" "I'm not brave when it comes to girls, though I am not exactly a coward in other respects. I've never cared much for girls, some way. My life has been pretty full of good, hard work, and I never learned the ways women seem to like. I never know what to say to them," he admitted, resignedly.

that you were bashful, Mr. Owen. And surely, you cannot remain here forever?"

"No, she has found me out. She threatens to come down here and bring the girl with her if I do not come home. Is your trouble as serious as that, Miss Carson?"

"Oh, much, much worse, I am sure," she answered seriously. "And yet, I ran away from the kindest people in the world. I wanted a home so much, a home where I could do things—make beds and wash the dishes and dig in the garden, do you understand?"

"And you like it?" he inquired. "I love it! But, I too, shall have to go back," with a sigh.

There was silence in the old garden. Then the man looked at the girl triumphantly. "Neither of us need go back," he declared. "Why not stay, Ruth? If you will marry me, you can keep your home, and I will escape Aunt Harriet's matchmaking. Don't you believe we could be very happy here?" He looked about the garden with a sudden realizing sense of what it had come to mean to him.

"That might help me out of my difficulty," she acknowledged gently, "but how could it help you?"

The bashful man reached over and took her hands in his own. "But it would be a great happiness to marry you, Ruth Carson," he insisted earnestly. "You have seemed different from the rest. I have loved you all this time, and did not know what it means."

"I'm not a suitable wife for you," she objected, glancing at the pink print of her gown.

"That is why I want you, Ruth, because you are natural and sweet." He endeavored to draw her toward him.

"Oh, wait," she begged. "Wait until I come back," and she was across the garden in a flash.

"I believe she cares—I really believe she cares," whispered the man, and a vision of an indignant Aunt Harriet troubled him guiltily. Then the door of the cottage reopened and a girl floated back to him, a girl with marvelous hair and lustrous silken draperies.

"I couldn't let you go any farther," she panted, "without letting you know, I—I am that girl your aunt has threatened to bring here." Her voice choked miserably.

"You? But you are not rich and brilliant and beautiful—I mean I had not thought about your being beautiful before!" His voice trailed off as miserably as her own.

"Listen," she came nearer and laid her hand on his arm, a tanned little hand that he longed to crush in his own. "I came on purpose. I wanted to see how we should get on together. I wanted you because—you are what you are! We can have a little house like this where no one else is ever allowed. If you loved Ruth Carson, why cannot you love Ruth Emerson?"

"But—you are rich and all-of-the things I am afraid of. People will say I married you for your money!"

"We shall know better, Tony, dear," she whispered, slipping shamelessly into his inviting arms, "that is the beautiful part of it."

TANGO DUE TO NEURASTHENIA

Explanation of the Apparent "Craze" Thus Made by a Writer in Medical Journal.

The dancing epidemic which the country is witnessing recalls in some respects the dancing mania of the middle ages, which has been frequently discussed in the literature of neurological medicine. Remarks a writer in Medical Times. The ragtime and turkey trot manias appear to be contagious in much the same way that the medieval manias were. They are also alike in respect to widespread prevalence, the populations of whole continents being affected. These neurotic phenomena have been ascribed to widespread neurasthenia, due to unrest and other pathological social conditions.

These and the naive determination to be "amused" that characterized the masses, together with the peculiar influence of a type of "music" which seems to set up characteristic motor reactions, account for the specially sensitized class which may be observed in action day and night almost anywhere in the country. This class illustrates well the principles laid down by M. Le Bon, that authority on the psychology of the crowd. Then it has been pointed out that many ragtime tunes are versions of negro revival hymns, which perhaps introduces an element of quasi-religious emotionalism and also recalls the interesting fact that dancing has always been connected with religion, especially pagan religion. The instinct to dance is a very primitive one, and through the dance certain emotions find outlet and expression. There is a normal and an abnormal phase to the subject, however, and we are inclined to think that it is the latter that finds exemplification in ragtime and trotting.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Ogden returned yesterday morning from a honeymoon trip to New Orleans and Havana, Cuba.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Baker and baby are here from the ranch at Pasche for a visit with Mrs. Baker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Elliot.

Mrs. G. C. Kirk and Misses Addie Conner and Clara Wilhelm left last night for Dallas, where they will spend a few days at the fair.

F. W. Greber, general manager of the West Texas Telephone Co., was here Wednesday from Brownwood on business for his company.

Jess Merwin will leave in a few days for Austin to which place he has been transferred by the Western Weighing and Inspection Bureau. Mrs. Merwin will remain here for a few weeks before joining her husband in their new home.

W. R. Davidson returned Tuesday morning from Madison, Ind., where he has been for the past three weeks. Mr. Davidson left Brady the first of the month with the expectation of remaining in Indiana permanently, but soon arrived at the decision that there was no place half so attractive as Brady, and has returned to again take up his residence here. His many friends will be glad to learn of his return.

G. W. Faught, a former well known McCulloch county farmer now living at Lott, was here Tuesday and Wednesday on business. Mr. Faught left Brady about two years ago, living for some time in Colorado county, moving later to Lott, where he engaged in farming. He said that conditions in his section were excellent, and that he liked the country fine, but there was a yearning look on his face which caused his friends here to accuse him of wanting to come back to Grand Old McCulloch. He failed to deny the accusation, too.

Help the Stomach Digest Your Food

When the stomach fails to digest and distribute that which is eaten the bowels become clogged with a mass of waste and refuse that ferments and generates poisons that are gradually forced into the blood causing distress and often serious illness. Most people naturally object to the drastic cathartic and purgative agents that shock the system. A mild, gentle laxative, positive in its effect and that will quickly relieve constipation is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, sold by druggists at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. It does not gripe or cramp, but acts easily and pleasantly, and is therefore the most satisfactory remedy for children, women and elderly persons. For a free trial bottle write to Dr. W. B. Giant Pineapple.

The Shaker colony near Aston, Fla., has grown a pineapple weighing 12 pounds five ounces. With this pineapple and others nearly approaching its size the Shakers have taken most of the prizes at county and state fairs for the finest pineapples.

Daily Thought.

Lift up yourselves to the great meaning of the day, and dare to think of your humanity as something so divinely precious that it is worthy of being an offering to God.—Phillips rinks.

Mrs. McClain's Experience With Croup.

"When my boy, Ray, was small he was subject to croup, and I was always alarmed at such times. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy proved far better than any other for this trouble. It always relieved him quickly. I am never without it in the house for I know it is a positive cure for croup." writes Mrs. W. R. McClain, Blairsville, Pa. For sale by all dealers.—Advertisement.

Could Not Appreciate Joke.

Typographical errors are often so fearfully and wonderfully made as to arouse suspicion. Thus there was consternation in the office of the Chicago American recently, and all excuses and loud assertions on the part of the proofreaders availed not. There it was, in big black type, on the first page: "Michael Farley Dead From Heart Disease."

Genius Unappreciated.

Even in these modern times the genius who finds a way to benefit the human race is sometimes persecuted. A Chicago man who invented a dollar that would return to the owner after it had been spent has been held to the grand jury.—Cleveland Leader.

Neuralgia of the face, shoulder, hands or feet requires a powerful remedy that will penetrate the flesh. BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT possesses that power. Rubbed in where the pain is felt it all that is necessary to relieve suffering and restore normal conditions. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

Repairing High Monument.

A well-known London steeplejack named Larkins has been engaged to repair the monument to the first Duke of Sutherland, on the top of Ben Vraggie (Sutherlandshire), 1,306 feet above the sea. The statue is 32 feet high and is on a column of solid masonry 90 feet high. It takes the men two hours to climb to work, and they have to "down tools" before dusk to allow of a descent in day light.

"My child was burned terribly about the face, neck and chest. I applied Dr. ... Oil. The pain ... sank into a ... M. H. ...

Would Take an Heiress Now.

Once more someone takes the trouble to tell us that there was a real Mary with a real lamb that went to school. And when you remember how much lower meat was in 1814, it isn't so hard to believe.—Milwaukee Journal.

Farmer's Worry.

If you have a few lazy, good-for-nothing hens in your back yard eating high-priced food, you might have more sympathy for the farmer.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

What about a Samson windmill? O. D. Mann & Sons.

Caution Carried to Extremes.

"Mrs. Westmore is one of the most cautious persons I have ever known." "Yes, she was telling me the other day that she never kept a striking clock in the kitchen, because she thought that if she did so the cook might acquire the habit."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Luke McLuke Says.

When two women get real chummy and lay their souls bare before one another it is a sign that they are to be deadly enemies in a few weeks.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

New Composing Job.

Binks (to Smith, the great composer)—"So you've given up writing oratorio and grand opera. What do you do now?" Smith—"I compose new tunes for motor horns."

Couple Too Much Occupied.

An example of an absent-minded bridal pair is reported from Switzerland. A couple had arranged for their marriage by the civil and religious authorities failed to appear at the appointed hour, having, as they declared, "forgotten all about it."

Wormy children are unhappy, puny and sickly. They can't be otherwise while worms eat away their strength and vitality. A few doses of WHITE'S-CREAM VERMIFUGE performs a marvelous transformation. Cheerfulness, strength and the rosy bloom of health speedily return. Price 25c per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

NOTHING IN IT—BUT MONEY.

The late Charles Major, author of "When Knighthood Was in Flower," was a sincere if not a very subtle writer, and he had no patience with the literary trickster.

Mr. Major at a dinner in Shelbyville once condemned the literary trickster with the epigram: "You can fool some of the people all of the time—but when you consider what kind of people they are, does it really seem worth while?"

HIS FEAR.

"Are you afraid of an unloaded pistol?" "No, but I am of a loaded motor car driver."

COMING MAN.

Griggs—Then you don't look upon Sharpe as a coming man? Briggs—No, but I would if I was in charge of the penitentiary.

APPROPRIATE.

"Forgers get a punishment fitting the crime, don't they?" "They certainly do when they are sent to the 'pen'."

KIND OF ATTIRE.

"These humid days are very wearing ones." "Feel like the wearing in the case is of the sweater."

How Kansas Got Its Name.

The late Colonel Inman always insisted that Kansas got its name through mistake of a proofreader. The early Kansas Indians were Kaws, a diminutive of Kansas. In revising the works of a missionary the proofreader mistook the "u" for an inverted "n" and changed it to "n." Since then it has been Kansas. Brady Standard, $1.00.

"CASCARETS" RELIEVE SICK, SOUR STOMACH.

Move Acids, Gases and Clogged Waste from Liver and Bowels

Get a 10-cent box now. That awful sourness, belching of acids and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, dizziness and sick headache, means a disordered stomach, which can not be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a ten-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

New Light on Socrates.

The misunderstanding of words frequently causes strange answers. A child who had been taught that Socrates had a wife who was unpleasent to him, and that the great philosopher drank hemlock, when asked the cause of his death, replied: "Socrates died from an overdose of wedlock."

Charm in Small Courtesies.

Small kindnesses, small courtesies, small considerations, habitually practiced in our social intercourse, give a greater charm to our character than the display of great talents and accomplishments.

Nonrusting Tinware.

If new tinware be rubbed over with fresh lard and thoroughly heated in the oven before it is used, it will never rust afterward, no matter how much it is put in water. For stained tinware borax produces the best results. If a teapot or coffee pot is discolored on the inside boil it in a strong solution of borax for a short time and all its brightness will return.

STOMACH TROUBLES

Mr. Ragland Writes Interesting Letter on This Subject.

Madison Heights, Va.—Mr. Chas. A. Ragland, of this place, writes: "I have been taking Thedford's Black-Draught for indigestion, and other stomach troubles, also colds, and find it to be the very best medicine I have ever used. After taking Black-Draught for a few days, I always feel like a new man." Nervousness, nausea, heartburn, pain in pit of stomach, and a feeling of fullness after eating, are sure symptoms of stomach trouble, and should be given the proper treatment, as your strength and health depend very largely upon your food and its digestion.

To get quick and permanent relief from these ailments, you should take a medicine of known curative merit. Its 75 years of splendid success, in the treatment of just such troubles, proves the real merit of Thedford's Black-Draught. Safe, pleasant, gentle in action, and without bad after-effects, it is sure to benefit both young and old. For sale everywhere. Price 25c. N. C. 122.
