TRAIN WRECKED

Derailment Occurred Last Night Near Whiteland.

A wreck which occurred last night two miles south of Whiteland caused the discontinuance of Frico north bound passenger train No. 5, and the running of a special out of Brownwood to the scene of the wreck, where the passengers, mail, express and baggage were transferred. The trucks of both the tender and baggage car left the track, but did not turn over. The tracks were badly torn up for quite a distance before the train could be brought to a standstill, but no further damage was done and no one was hurt.

The cause of the derailment is not known, but is thought to have been the result of the soft condition of the roadbed.

More Light.

S. A. Benham has added materially to the attractiveness of the interior of his store this week by the removal of the wooden walls of the two big show windows and replacing them with glass.

The new improvement not only does not detract from the attractiveness of the show windows, but admits a flood of light into the store which is most pleasing.

HEAVY SNOW.

About One and One-Half Inches Fell Here Saturday

For the second time within a week in Brady the earth was carpeted with a heavy coating of snow. The flakes began falling about 8:00 o'clock Saturday morning, following a brisk norther which sprung up Friday morning, and continued throughout the day. So rapidly did the flakes descend that the ground was completely covered within the space of an hour, the fall continuing heavy throughout the forenoon and intermittently during the afternoon and night. The total precipitation is estimated to have been between one and a half and two inches.

The snow furnished occasion for a number of sleighs being brought into evidence, and several buggies which were transformed into these temporary vehicles were to be seen in the streets.

Practically all evidence of the snow was obliterated yesterday by the sun, which shone out brightly the greater portion of the day.

We are well pleased with the amount of business we are getting and we are going to keep our promise, made in our first announcement, that the more goods we sold the cheaper we could and would sell and we are making reductions all through the line, while both sugar and coffee have advanced. Less Beef Than Ten Years Ago

On January 1, this year there were 1,192,000 horses, 753,000 mules, 1,086,000 milch cows, 5,121,000 other cattle, 2,114,000 sheep and 2,880,000 hogs in Texas. This is an increase in every case, over ten years ago, except in beef cattle.

FOOT AMPUTATED

McCulloch County Citizen Undergoes Second Operation

A telephone message received yesterday by District Clerk P. A. Campbell brought the information that "Uncle Joe" Elliott of Voca, had just undergone an operation in the hospital at Temple in which his left foot was amputated just below the knee, and that the patient was doing nicely.

Mr. Elliott is a victim of a peculiar and rather unusual malady, and one for which there is no known remedy. A little less than a year ago the disease first manifested itself in the right foot, the member becoming red as blood and as cold as ice. Local physicians advised that he go to the hospital at Temple for treatment, which he did, but after remaining there for two or three weeks, the surgeons decided upon amputation as the only means of saving the patient's life. The patient made a splendid recovery, notwithstanding the fact that he was past 70 years of age, and it was hoped

COUNTY COURT.

January Term Adjourned—Orders Entered By Judge Brown

A few minutes after convening the second week of the January term of county court yesterday afternoon County Judge John E. Brown dismissed the jury for the week and announced the continuance of a number of important cases on the civil docket which had been set down for trial during the week.

Final judgments were entered in three cases yesterday by Judge Brown, while others were disposed of by orders for the term.

The following orders have been entered.

J. M. Jonas vs. Ft. W. & R. G. Ry. Co., appeal from justice court, precinct No. 1; continued by agreement.

D. J. Malmstrom vs. G. C. & S. F. Ry. Co., damages; continued by agreement.

that the disease was permanently overcome.

About two weeks ago the left foot became affected in the same way, and Mr. Elliott again returned to the hospital. It was hoped that the disease could be stayed by a course of treatment, but the surgeons again decided that amputation was the only alternative, and the operation was performed yesterday, as stated.

The disease is described as being a filling up of the veins and arteries, and is one for which there is no known remedy, other than amputation.

240 BUSHELS CORN ON ACRE

Is Not Selling Seed, But Tells His Secret

"If I had evil news to spread it would travel like wildfire," says Zeferino Dominguez, a banished Mexican, known as the "corn king" because he spent 25 years of his life and nearly $50,000 studying seed corn, and now raises 240 bushels of corn on an acre of land, and who tells how he does it below:

"It appears incredible that I should be able to grow 240 bushels of corn on an acre of ground, when my neighbors grow only seven to twelve. Many of them I have taught to do the same as I. Others have not followed my advice and are going along in the same old way.

"Some American farmers would think I was crazy if I told them they could raise 240 bushels of corn to the acre on their farms. They told me the same thing in Mexico, but since I've accomplished the seemingly impossible they simply say I've got wheels in my head all right, but that they appear to be running on the right track.

"Yet it can be done. They can take a piece of land on which they raised thirty bushels of corn last year and raise sixty on it next year, and it does not matter whether it is a dry year or not if they will break the top crust. This yield can be increased so that within five or six years, through proper preparation of the seed bed and the judicious selection of seed, they can raise as much corn or wheat as I can.

"Take the testing of wheat seed as an example," said he, explaining his secret, "and see how simple it all is. I take a sack of good wheat seed. From it I take three handfuls, one from the bottom, one from the middle, and one from the top. These I mix well and pick out at random 100 seeds.

"I place them in a damp napkin, put them on a plate and give them sufficient moisture to make them sprout. Those that sprout cling to the cloth and those that are not fertile fall out when the cloth is turned upside down.

Suppose thirty seeds out of the 100 fall out. This shows me that 30 per cent of that seed will not grow.

The difficulty is solved readily by sowing 30 per cent more seed to the acre than would appear to be required, and my crop will be 30 per cent larger than the man's who does not take this little trouble. The difference to me is perhaps 500 per cent more cash.

"The same is true of corn. I know, by prior tests, that every ear and kernel of seed corn that I plant is going to grow and I know the size and quality of the ear it will produce. I know with an equal degree of certainty, by selecting my seed in the field, that each stalk will produce two, three or more ears."

The mistake of a boy who, by driving a herd of goats into a field, broke up the top soil of land prepared for experimental purposes, led, he says, to the method of dry farming he has practiced in the driest parts of Mexico with a 65-bushel to the acre yield.

Adjudged a Lunatic

D. A. Burleson, a young man about 27 years of age, and who was arrested last week by Deputy Sheriff John Martin at Whiteland following a murderous assault upon his mother, was adjudged a lunatic by a jury in County Judge John E. Brown's court Saturday.

The unfortunate young man's mind has been failing for the past seven years or more, but he has not been considered violent until last week when he attacked his mother with a rock and inflicted painful injuries about the head and face before he could be restrained by other members of the family.

Application for admittance to one of the state asylums has been made by the county authorities, but on account of the congested condition of all three of these institutions, it will be necessary to hold Burleson here in the county jail until such time as he can be cared for at one of the places.

At The Opera House

There are no high-priced features at the Brady opera house Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights and 10 cent admissions will prevail.

Friday night's attraction at the opera house will be the 14th episode of the interesting feature serial "The Million Dollar Mystery," which grows in interest with each installment.

"Love, Luck and Gasoline" is the feature Saturday night. This is the story of a "tomboy" and the dilemmas she gets herself and father into, including for the latter a fall from an aeroplane into the ocean while in pursuit of his eloping daughter, Lillian, who in a hydroplane, rescues, after leading him a race flying through the air and skipping the ocean's waves. It is said to be full of excitement and fun.

BRADY, TEXAS, Jan. 26, 1915

A matter which should receive the prayerful consideration of the legislature now in session at Austin is the enlargement of the asylums for the care and treatment of the state's insane. In this matter former legislatures have been noticeably neglectful for a good many years past, and as a result the jails of the state are crowded with these unfortunates, awaiting such a time as they may be taken into one of the three institutions designed for their care and treatment. The population of Texas has increased wonderfully the past decade, and will doubtless show a much larger increase for the succeeding like period, and along with this comes a corresponding increase in the number of insane persons, yet no allowance has been made by those upon whom the duty to adequately provide for their care and keeping devolves. If Governor Ferguson's administration accomplishes nothing more than the enlargement of these institutions to such an extent as will enable the state to properly care for this class of her unfortunate citizens it will not have been a failure by any means.

If cotton seed is worth $22.50 now, what will it be worth when the people eat cotton seed biscuits, bread and cake?

The balance of trade is already $110,000,000 in our favor. This is a hypodermic injection of gold sure to cure pessimaniacs.

There don't seem much reason for being afraid to spend money, for the Lord knows there's plenty of it coming to the United States now. Dun's Review is the authority.

Twelve hundred or more of America's sturdy mules are joining the armies of Great Britain weekly, according to stock yard experts. Already our total "enlistments" of mules in this country exceed 7,000 and there is a probability that the record exports of more than 150,000 of these animals during the Boer war will be broken if the European war is prolonged. Great Britain would undoubtedly have purchased many more mules than she has already taken for her armies but for the fact that her war department is experiencing great difficulty in obtaining transportation room for the animals. The British government is now holding nearly 15,000 horses and mules at Lathrop, Mo.; Port Chalmere, La., and other points pending the completion of shipping arrangements across the Atlantic. The feed bill for the animals held at Lathrop alone is more than $5,000 daily.

At a meeting of bankers, manufacturers and others who handle large capital, held at Dallas last week, formal letters were dictated to the retailers of Texas in regard to proper subjects for credit for the present and future years. In every instance it was contended that cotton should not be made the basis of credit in the future, or even in the present year. One man declared he had rather have a mortgage on a brood sow than on a bale of cotton, and others declared that if the cotton crop of the coming season was anywhere in the neighborhood of what it has been in years past, the product would be worthless in the hands of the owner or covered by a mortgage.

Victor Hugo, the great French writer, in March, 1871, predicted a great European war out of which should come "The United States of Europe."

Governor Ferguson in his message declared the condition of the tenant farmers of Texas under some conditions prevailing in the state is "little better than that of the peons of Mexico."

Keep McCulloch county money at home. If sent to mail order houses, it never returns, and the good it might do at home is lost. It isn't so much the loss of the dollar, as it is the loss of the power to pay debts here and there, and help out at every crook and turn that is lost when the cash is sent away. Keep our dollars on the jump by trading at home.

J. J. Beckham, who farms 1,000 acres near Mexia, Texas, says: "I hope our legislature will pass a law, and put a penalty per acre on violators, to reduce the cotton acreage 40 per cent from the crop of 1914. Make the law subject to all the Southern states, and cotton will be 15c per pound this fall. The promise only to reduce acreage is worthless for various reasons. Many farmers will plant the same after agreeing to not do it. I have more than one thousand acres in cultivation and I am going to reduce my acreage and plant oats, wheat, corn, maize and peas on half my lands and assist my tenants in doing the same."

There are two classes of merchants. One buys his goods and is content to wait until buyers come for them. The other recognizes four seasons, winter, spring, summer and fall. In order to turn his stock at least four times in the year he tries to hustle out his spring winter goods before summer, his summer goods before fall, and so on. To do this he advertises liberally, making the people acquainted with his intentions and his prices, the latter being set at prices that will induce customers. He believes that 5 per cent profit four times a year is better than a small volume of business at higher percent once a year. This is why "more can be bought for less" at the stores that advertise.—Ex.

A Dr. Carrell having learned how to graft limbs by practicing on dumb animals at Carnegie institute, is now doing it for human beings. A few days ago a prominent French general had one arm shot away. At the same time a private soldier was wounded so seriously there was no possible chance for him to live more than a few moments. Dr. Carrell simply took a whole arm from the dying soldier and grafted it onto the stump where the general's arm once was. It grew as successfully as any graft ever made by a skilled orchardist. Today the general has two arms, though one of them was developed, and until a short time before existed on the body of another man.

FAMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS

By Being Constantly Supplied With Theford's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for several years," says Mrs. J. B. Whitaker, of this place, "with sick headache, and stomach trouble."

Ten years ago a friend told me to try Theford's Black-Draught, which I did, and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old.

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught.

Theford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestion, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, nausea, headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms.

It has been in constant use for more than 70 years, and has benefited more than a million people.

NERVOUS DYSPESIA, GAS OR INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" Settles Sour, Upset Stomachs in Five Minutes.

Time it! Pape's Diapepsin will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach surely within five minutes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to keep the entire family free from indigestion for many months. It belongs in your home.

How to Advertise for Results

Mr. J. B. Sheffield, advertising director of one of New York's leading department stores, says, in the Fourth Estate:

"Probably more money is wasted in advertising by running consistently in a publication for a time and then suddenly dropping it, than in any other way. It amounts to deliberately throwing away the good will which the readers of that publication have built up for the advertiser's name and products.

"It is better to advertise moderately, but regularly, than to use larger copy spasmodically."

This is most excellent advice, for the secret of advertising success is to choose the medium that gives you the greatest number of probable customers and then get all of their business.

The Standard offers to advertisers a quantity of quality not to be excelled by any other newspaper. Ask any regular Standard advertiser.

Only One "BROMO QUININE"

To get the genuine, call for full name, LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for signature of E. W. GROVE. Cures a Cold in One Day. Stops cough and headache, and works off cold. 25c.

MOTHER! THE CHILD IS COSTIVE.

Look, Mother! If Tongue is Coated Give "California Syrup of Figs."

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally — look, mother; see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs;" then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

Cotton 18c at German Ports.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Latest quotations of cotton prices in Germany, received by cable from Ambassador Gerard at Berlin, indicate good middling was being offered and accepted for January delivery at about 18.4 cents a pound at Bremen. His message said private firms in Bremen report sales of good middlings from limited stock during the week of December 21 averaged about 20 cents a pound. The Bremen cotton exchange was reported closed and no information was forthcoming regarding prices or amounts of cotton on hand. Hamburg reported cotton selling at about 18 cents a pound.

Cotton was selling in New York Thursday at less than 8 cents a pound. Thus it is seen that speculators and shipping companies are reaping the benefits of the high prices paid in Europe for cotton.

Winning the Race

Louis Disbrow, who has secured every world's record for automobile racing up to fifty miles on dirt tracks, demands of the products which he uses quality and service capable of withstanding the most severe treatment.

Disbrow says himself that the class of racing he does is particularly hard on the motor, owing to the dust which comes in through the carburetor and gets into the cylinders.

For THREE YEARS Disbrow has used

TEXACO MOTOR OIL

with the exception of two months when he didn't have them.

In nearly three years he had not ground a valve, taken up a bearing or removed carbon from the motor.

In the two months he was using other oils he did these things twice.

TEXACO MOTOR OIL AND GASOLINE saved him (in his own words) 20 per cent gasoline and 30 per cent oil.

EVER SALIVATED BY CALOMEL? HORRIBLE

Calomel is Quicksilver and Acts Like Dynamite on Your Liver

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for 50 cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.

S. J. Durnett, Curtis Benson and J. W. Patterson were among those who swapped wheels for skids and took a sleigh ride, Saturday. Their enthusiasm was contagious and enjoyable.

Brown Co. Officers Criticized

A strong criticism for neglect of duty, on the part of the officers of Brown county, formed the larger part of the final report that was filed by the grand jury with the district judge, Thursday, says the Brownwood News.

The report does not indict anyone for culpable or intentional wrong, but declares in effect that the officials for years have been running along in a rut of negligence that has resulted in getting the financial accounts of their offices in a muddle. The jury criticizes the out of date method of book-keeping in several of the offices, found fault with the way the road funds of Brown county are divided among the four commissioners, declaring that the division is unequal. All the revenues from the city of Brownwood, they claim, fall into one precinct, to the detriment of the other precincts. The report criticizes the negligence of former county officers for the disappearance of the field notes and plats of Brown county school lands which has served as an inconvenience to the county in fulfilling contracts to those who have purchased this land.

1914 Crops Were $9,872,936,000

A grand total of $9,872,936,000 is the estimated value of all crops, farm animal products, and farm animals sold and slaughtered in the United States in 1914, according to the Farmers' bulletin just issued by the department of agriculture. The previous high year was 1913 which was $83,000,000 less than last year.

The total value of all farm products was more than twice the value of the output of the farms fifteen years ago. The estimated value of all crops at the farm this year was $6,044,480,000, which is $88,279,000 less than in 1913, chiefly on account of the reduced value of cotton. Except for 1913, the total value this year is $200,000,000 more than the highest total heretofore reached.—Dix's Review.

Irrigated Homes Open in West.

Uncle Sam is looking for several hundred practical farmers to take up homes on the irrigated projects he has been building in the west. The land is free, but the law requires settlers to pay their share of building the irrigation system, and for this reason a moderate capital is necessary. A practical farmer with from $1,500 to $3,000 should have no trouble in acquiring one of these farms and putting it in successful operation.

Under the new Extension act the settlers are allowed twenty years in which to pay for their water right, and no interest is required on deferred payments. Details concerning opportunities and terms will be furnished upon request by the Statistician of the Reclamation Service, Washington, D. C.

The farms are located in Idaho, Montana, South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming, and Nevada, and offer opportunities for citizens to establish homes in a growing country. Adjacent farms are under cultivation, railroads have been built, schools and churches established, telephone and rural free delivery are available, and most of the hardships of pioneering already have been overcome.

Alfalfa is the big crop, although grain, and sugar beets are profitable and in some sections truck farming pays well. Livestock and dairying are the principal industries.

The Quinine That Does Not Affect The Head

FRUIT WOULD SUCCEED

Plums, Dates, Grapes, and Berries Would Grow Well Here

The comparative scarcity of fruit in large areas of Texas has led to an investigation by the U. S. department of agriculture of the possibilities of fruit culture in this vicinity and that of San Antonio. From this investigation it appears that although commercial fruit growing is not likely ever to be of much importance in this region, there is no reason why farmers should not grow enough to supply their own homes and at least a large part of the local demand. The climate was found to be too severe for such fruits as oranges and olives, and, on the other hand, too mild for apples and cherries. The soil conditions are also said to be unfavorable for many varieties. The rainfall, however, is sufficient if the trees are spaced at somewhat greater distances than is necessary in more humid regions.

A large number of fruits were tested with very varying results. On the whole, plums proved most satisfactory. Fourteen varieties were tried out and the Gonzales, Wickson, Burbank, Excelsior, Eagle and Terrell proved the best adapted to the local conditions. Certain varieties of peaches also did well, but others were not successful. The Honey peach, and some related varieties appear to be the best for the region.

One of the most promising of the new fruits was found to be the Jujube, or Chinese date. The date palm can be grown, but it is not thought that the climate is well suited to it. Pistache trees were found to be peculiarly susceptible to root rot, and for this reason it is doubtful if they will be successful, despite their vigorous growth. The almonds have a tendency to flower so early that they are injured by cold, unless in protected locations. Native grapes are abundant in the neighborhood and some cultivated varieties kin to them may be grown. Pears do fairly well on the higher lands.

Of the small fruits, the dewberry seemed to be the most promising. Strawberries did good and both should, by all means be included in the farmer's garden, and will prove a valuable addition to his table.

There seems to be little doubt that farmers in this region can if they choose, provide themselves with at least small berries for home consumption and have a surplus for the local markets.

Whenever You Need a General Tonic Take Grove's

The Old Standard Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is equally valuable as a General Tonic because it contains the well known tonic properties of QUININE and IRON. It acts on the Liver, Drives out Malaria, Enriches the Blood and Builds up the Whole System. 50 cents.

Farmer Lost His Hat.

A farmer once went to town, and getting into jolly company, drank not wisely, but too well. On returning home, he mounted his horse with his face toward its tail, but the horse, being an old stager and knowing the road, eventually landed him safe and sound, but minus his hat, which had blown off. His wife came out and seeing her husband hatless, said: "Why, you have lost your hat!" "That's nothing," replied the farmer, "this darn old horse has sold his head!"

Dun's Message of Good Cheer to Pessimaniacs

Several developments, highly significant of the improving tendencies in business, have attended the opening of the new year, says Dun's Review. The advance in cotton gives promise, in spite of the speculative fluctuations, of ultimate relief to the South; and the sales of futures are distributed over a series of months, by the natural processes of the exchanges. Over 1,000,000 bales of cotton have been exported in the last four weeks and it is announced that large lines of German credit have been placed in New York banks in order to finance cotton shipments to Germany, which also materially aids the situation. The sensational advance of wheat to the highest price in sixteen years illustrates the eagerness of the world's demand for foodstuffs at a time of depletion in foreign sources of supply. Exports, not only of the products of the farms, but of a long list of manufactured articles required by the contending armies, continue to expand, and the December balance of trade is estimated to be in excess of $110,000,000.

During the latest week, the New York exports amounted to $16,908,900, against $15,102,000 a year ago, the excess over imports being about $4,000,000.

The reopening of the London Stock Exchange, though under rigid restrictions, is another proof of the resumption of normal activities in the great financial markets. In the iron and steel trade the most favorable news is the increased demands from the railroads, a development that is undoubtedly partly due to the greater confidence inspired by the higher rates authorized by the commerce commission.

The Pennsylvania system is expected to contract for its 1915 rail requirements within the very near future, while orders have already been placed by the Baltimore & Ohio, Louisville, Lackawanna and some other lines. Reports from the principal trade centers are encouraging, but the number of business failures reflects the recent strain in all the markets, although no sign of radical weakness is apparent. These statistics, apparently, are an outgrowth of passing conditions. Improvement, slow it is true, but nevertheless clear and certain, is reported in most of the important branches, and the recent optimistic sentiment continues to expand.

Short term money is at the lowest point since the war began and the financial situation generally is now fully adjusted to a war basis.

The best feature, as noted, and one that has an important bearing on the future, is the changed attitude of the railroads with regard to purchases of equipment. Reports from certain districts, apart from the East, indicate more activity in new structural work and fabricators anticipate further improvement in this respect.

The tone of the dry goods market has improved, and advances of 1/4c a yard are noted on some lines. On the other hand, a large business in cotton blankets has been stimulated by material reduction in price for the fall season, in one instance a large mill is virtually sold ahead into September.

Conditions in footwear reflect improvement as a result of recent more seasonable weather but new orders are not coming forward in sufficient volume to keep plants engaged to normal capacity. Late reports are of an encouraging nature, the factories of a large New England producer giving employment to 7,000 hands, having started running in full, while manufacturers at St. Louis are also increasing their output.

The insistent foreign demand was responsible for the continued demand for wheat. Export sales were again a feature and shipments from the principal U. S. ports, flour included, were 8,746,943 bushels this week, against 5,475,190 in the previous year; western receipts were 5,612,000 bushels in comparison with 4,529,000 in the earlier period. In sympathy with developments in the costlier cereal, both corn and oats gained in value, although to a relatively moderate degree.

Prosperity's Shadow

The following is given as showing the financial feeling spreading over the United States, and is clipped from an exchange:

Exports at all the United States ports are rapidly increasing, and are already far in excess of our imports. A deficit of many millions has been converted by our foreign commerce into a credit balance of many millions. New England mills have resumed, Pennsylvania mills have resumed and a recent report says that 10,000 men have been put to work in the mills of Illinois. The railroads are beginning expansion and repair work and employing hundreds of thousands of laborers. Seven thousand shoemakers and 4,000 harness makers have been put to work in Manchester and Chicago. One of the world's greatest financiers says that Europe will soon flood this country with $300,000,000.00 in exchange for our products.

Another exchange says: "All this may not be paying the present month's house rent, but the man who makes good is the man who builds for the future."

The Hamilton Herald says: "Whenever the business men of the north and east begin to talk prosperous times as they are doing now, the rest of the country need have no fear. Those fellows up there are the biggest cowards on earth. Just as soon as the least thing unusual happens they are the first ones to get scared and hunt cover. The balance of trade is in our favor and will be for a long time to come."

Cotton Mill Makes Cotton Goods That Never Paid Freight

Texas has the honor of having the first complete cotton industry in the United States, that is a mill at which the raw cotton is taken from the farmers' wagon and turned out in finished sheets.

There are plenty of mills from Maine to Georgia that make white goods after we ship them cotton in bales, but there is only one mill in the world where they grow the cotton at one end of the plant, take it in, gin it, put it through the different processes of making, bleach it at the other end and ship the finished product—sheets and pillow cases—direct to retailers.

That mill, a Texas institution pure and simple—, is at Post City, Garza county, and the goods bear the "Postex" and "Garza" brands.

C. W. Post, the late food manufacturer, built it, with the wealth that came in later years. He staked out a claim of a quarter of million acres in Garza county, paid for it with the gold the north had furnished him, built a shaded city of brick and iron and timber and cement to surround a cotton industry.

The result is cotton is grown where it never grew before, wheels hum and busy hundreds of happy, well paid people card and spin and weave the finest of long staple cotton into sheets and pillow cases that excel every similar product in the states from cotton that never was baled and never paid a cent of freight.

The finished product of the Postex Mills is sold under two brands, Postex, the finest of its kind, and Garza, a medium priced number of real excellence.

Another thing that appeals to a Texas merchant is this mill's "freight prepaid" policy. A retailer can order as few as six pieces of sheeting or six dozen sheets and have them shipped freight prepaid.

There are hundreds of other counties where the same thing can be repeated.
