PLAY A SUCCESS.

Home Talent Wins Popular Approval—S. R. O.

"The Corner Drug Store" did a thriving business in their temporary quarters at the Brady Opera House last Monday night, and as a result fairly sold out their entire stock of soda water, Kis-Me chewing gum, patent medicine samples and almanacs—all of which were guaranteed under the Pure Food and Drug Act. In fact, business was so good that no less than three proprietors retired from the business with large-sized rolls in their pockets and brides-to-be on their arms (or hands).

The play was undoubtedly one of the most successful ever presented in Brady, from a financial view-point. Long before the curtain rose, the S. R. O. sign was out, and at that quite a number were unable to get inside the doors. The play was a clever, rapid-fire comedy, with plenty of music to add harmony to the general scheme of affairs—and found instant favor with the audience. Each member of the cast proved himself or herself an adept at interpreting the characters, and won applause and approval from the audience. Special mention is due the excellent vocal selections rendered by Mrs. Carlita McCully, Mr. O'Neill and Chas. Broad, as well as the readings by Miss Bess Helms and Lee Walker, and the college medley by Misses Ruth Wood and Virgie Yeager. The splendid chorus also added materially to the tunefulness of the occasion.

Misses Ruth and Baby Wood, Virgie, Elva and Gladys Yeager and Lucile Yantis made decided hits with the audience in their several motion dances, which were decidedly graceful and artistic.

Credit is due not only the members of the play, but Miss Helms as well, for the excellent manner in which the play was presented, and an endorsement of her work may be noted in the fact that she received quite a number of offers from organizations here to produce a play in the near future.

Special Notice!

The much-needed improvement of the Brady City Cemetery is being looked after by the Cemetery Committee of the City Council, which is putting forth every effort to rush the work to completion, and give the citizens of Brady a burial ground in keeping with the growth of our wide-awake little city.

The cemetery will be improved with new drive-ways, and a survey of all lots, which will be platted and put on record. Deeds will then be issued to all parties claiming burial space; said deed giving purchasing party clear title to specified allotted ground, subject to the rules governing the care of the cemetery.

The Cemetery Committee requests that all parties having friends or relatives buried in the Brady Cemetery make arrangements to either come or be represented at the cemetery on the 28th or 29th of April, and claim such ground as you would have set apart as a family burial place; furnishing the Cemetery Committee with the names and dates of parties already buried in said cemetery, that such date may be recorded on the cemetery records.

The Cemetery Committee further requests that parties living in Brady who know of those living out of the city, and who might not be represented at the appointed time, to notify such parties by letter to furnish the required names and dates of parties interred, and to have a friend represent them at the cemetery, turning over such data to the Cemetery Committee to be recorded.

The Acting Cemetery Committee is composed of N. T. Cook, H. P. Roddie and B. A. Hallum and any communications that may be addressed to any one of these men in case you cannot be represented, will receive their attention in your behalf.

Keep the dates in mind, and come prepared to furnish the information regarding the burials you may be interested in. Respectfully,
N. T. COOK,
H. P. RODDIE,
B. A. HALLUM,
Cemetery Committee.

AUTO CO. TO ENLARGE.

Record Sales Made Past Week—Ford Popular.

In keeping with their policy of giving more and better service to their customers, the Brady Auto Co. is now contemplating the erection of a new building 50x100 feet to be used as a storage room for the accommodation of their patrons. The move is necessitated by reason of their present large quarters being over-crowded with cars, thereby requiring much extra labor in placing and caring for them.

Manager Hallum is decidedly optimistic over prospects so far; in fact, he has every reason to be, for during the past ten days he has averaged sales of better than a car day. From Saturday, April 3rd until Tuesday, April 12th no less than 11 cars were sold. The list includes Model 37 Buick to D. F. Savage; Models 25 to Lewis Ball of Fort McKavett, Geo. Grandstaff of Menard, Terrill Parker of Voca; Fords to Dr. J. G. McCall; Walter Morrow, Melvin; Dr. B. L. Craddock; James Finlay, Fife; D. C. Middleton, Stacy; G. W. Vineyard, Stacy; Mat Smith, Stacy.

Held to Grand Jury.

In the examining trial of Arthur McCann, held Tuesday before Justice of the Peace T. J. King, the defendant was held for action of the grand jury under $500 bond.

Young McCann was arrested late Monday afternoon by Sheriff J. C. Wall on a charge of abduction. The charge grew out of his marriage, April 3rd, to Miss Rilla Mooring, the 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Mooring of the Onion Gap community.

The entire day was consumed in examination of witnesses in the case, and on adjournment of court late Tuesday afternoon Judge King reserved judgment until Wednesday morning.

Bond for his appearance at the next term of district court was furnished by McCann, and he was promptly released from custody.

No New Developments.

Up to a late hour yesterday afternoon there had been no new developments in the Bryson murder case at Millersview. Although officers have been steadily at work on the case since Saturday morning there has been absolutely no clue discovered which would lead to the arrest and conviction of the guilty party, insofar as the public is informed, and the case may go down in history as one of the mysteries in the criminal annals of this section of the state.

Comanche friends of the dead man have announced their determination to use every means to bring the murderer to justice, and some of the shrewdest detectives obtainable will be employed for this purpose.

A crowd of men and boys met at the school house Saturday and built a stage in the auditorium, something which we needed very much. Where is your old singing class, Fife? Get them together and come up and let's have some all-day singings, as we used to have. We would be glad to have you come up any Sunday afternoon and help us sing or sing for us. Don't Wait For the Fatal Stages of Kidney Illness. Profit by Brady Experiences.
Occasionally attacks of backache, irregular urination, headaches and dizzy spells are frequent symptoms of kidney disorders. It's an error to neglect these ills. The attacks may pass off for a time, but generally return with greater intensity. Don't delay a minute. Begin taking Doan's Kidney Pills and keep up their use until the desired results are obtained. Good work in Brady proves the effectiveness of this great kidney remedy. C. V. Glover, tinsmith, Brady, says: "For years I was troubled by a dull ache in my back. I consulted a doctor and he pronounced the complaint lumbago. He gave me a prescription, but it brought me no relief and I tried other remedies without help. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and used them. Before long I noticed that the trouble was beginning to leave and after taking two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, I was cured. I haven't lost a day from work since." Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Glover had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. ## A CONFESSON

Hopes Her Statement, Made Public, will Help Other Women.

Hines, Ala.—"I must confess," says Mrs. Eula Mae Reid, of this place, "that Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done me a great deal of good. Before I commenced using Cardui, I would spit up everything I ate. I had a tired, sleepy feeling all the time, and was irregular. I could hardly drag around, and would have severe headaches continuously. Since taking Cardui, I have entirely quit spitting up what I eat. Everything seems to digest all right, and I have gained 10 pounds in weight." If you are a victim of any of the numerous ills so common to your sex, it is wrong to suffer. For half a century, Cardui has been relieving just such ills, as is proven by the thousands of letters, similar to the above, which pour into our office, year by year. Cardui is successful because it is composed of ingredients which act specifically on the womanly constitution, and helps build the weakened organs back to health and strength. Cardui has helped others, and will help you, too. Get a bottle today. You won't regret it. Your druggist sells it.

How "TIZ" Eases Sore, Swollen, Burning, Calloused Feet and Corns.

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning, corn-pestered, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "TIZ" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "TIZ" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "TIZ". It's grand—it's glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.

There's nothing like "TIZ". It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot torture.

Get a 25-cent box of "TIZ" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel. You can wear shoes a size smaller if you desire.

WONDER

Oregon has Wildflower. Texas Blue Bonnet.

Wonder, Ore., A. Editor Brady Standard: Hello there, my friends! Did you think I dead? Well, I am not; the goodness. I want to tell the children what kinds of flowers are blooming now, and the kinds that bloom in July and August.

Those blooming now are spring beauties, violets, wild pansies, Easter lillies, lamb tongues, bird-bills, cat-ears, blue eyes, wild flags, lady slippers, bleeding hearts, and flor-de-lis. The foregoing, with others too numerous to mention, are the sorts that grow on low stems near the ground. Of the trees and shrubs in bloom now, are sharonita, dogwood, peach, plum, pear and apple; also the almond and pussy willow. While there are some wild flowers here similar to those in Texas, yet for the most, they are strangely different. While these flowers do not grow in such profusion as they do in Texas, yet in strolling through the woods, one is constantly coming upon some strange and beautiful flower.

The most beautiful sight my eyes ever beheld was on the prairie in Bell county, three miles east of Salado, in the spring of 1871. The whole prairie was a veritable bouquet, never to be erased from my memory.

Last summer there was another lasting impression stamped upon my memory by the sight of flowering shrubs between Wonder and Grant's Pass, Oregon. For miles along my road were shrubs and bushes in bloom. There were wild roses by the million, honeysuckle, wild grape, with all their delicious fragrance, wild lilac of every conceivable hue and shade of color, deep red, pale red, dark blue, deep purple, pale blue, deep purple, pale purple, deep pink, pale pink, cream and white. Then there were azalias of three or four different colors, and prince's feathers and the Indian plume. Both of these were of varying shades of color; the rhododendron, the Oregon lilly, the tiger lilly, etc., etc.

Were I an artist or a poet I might describe the wondrous beauty of these wild flowers more minutely. But as it is I shall only invite you to come and see them.

It is raining here, for a change (?). How is it there? such as radishes and lettuce. Our early garden is coming up, etc., and I suppose yours are large enough to put on the table by now.

Trusting to see this in the old reliable Standard soon, I am yours until next time.

O. I. C. U. R. RIGHT.

BRADY, TEXAS, April 16, 1915

BRADY AS A TRADE CENTER.

Brady has an established reputation as the best trade center in this section of the state, and as a result is drawing patronage from every community for miles around. There is no guess work about this, it is an established fact. The reason is that Brady merchants offer greater inducements, sell their goods at closer figures and give better treatment than can be obtained anywhere in West Texas.

A statement, however, is authenticated only when proof is adduced. Here's proof:

Just last week a citizen of Coleman county was trading in Brady and voluntarily made the statement that he had come a distance of between thirty and forty miles, had crossed the Colorado and had pulled three miles of sand just in order to do his trading in Brady. He gave as a reason that he could find a better market here for his products, and in turn could save money on his purchases more than enough to pay for his long trip several times over. Continuing, he said, "There are hundreds of Coleman county farmers doing just the same as I do—they find it profitable to come to Brady to do their trading. You Brady folks may not notice it just now, but wait until this fall, and you will find hundreds of others joining us, and coming to Brady."

Ought that not sound good to the Brady citizen? Does that give proof that there are "live wires" in Brady? That Brady itself is a "live wire"?

NAMES WANTED.

The Standard wants the names and addresses of all the folks who may be interested in the Brady County in order that we may place them on our mailing list for The Standard's Big Special Edition. One copy of the Special will be sent to every address furnished us, provided the same is sent us before May 1st. Additional copies will be furnished at 10 cents each.

It is important that these addresses reach us at once in order that we may know how many copies of the Big Special to print, as the edition will be limited to the names on hand May 1st. It will not be necessary to give us names of folks residing in McCulloch county, as we have a complete list; also we have a list of folks residing in the Eden, Richland Springs and Mason country. What we especially desire is names of people residing at a distance, and in other states, in the North South, East and West, in order that the Edition may have as wide circulation as possible.

Help boost the Brady Country. Remember, it costs you not one cent.

FACTS AND FIGURES.

The Standard earnestly desires all the facts and figures regarding the Brady Country obtainable. If you have made an especially good record in feed, live stock, or any sort of prod-uct during the past year or years, let us have the item for our Big Special. Don't put the matter off—get it to us today—the Big Special is nearing completion—and the train waits for no one.

A Big Booster—The Brady Standard's Special Edition.

OUR CORRESPONDENTS.

The Brady Standard has the best and liveliest bunch of county correspondents of any paper in the state. We have frequently been asked by neighboring editors how we manage to keep so good a bunch of correspondents, and the only answer we can give is that everyone of them is a booster for his or her home community—and it is love of one's work that makes for success in anything.

And that reminds us: Do you read the correspondents' page? If you don't you miss one of the best features of the paper. Take last week, for instance, and you will find that page chock full of interesting items—many of them of utmost importance. And in this connection we want to comment upon at least one of the items—that of the school consolidation mentioned by our Pear Valley correspondent.

He states that a mass meeting of the citizens of that progressive community placed itself on record as unanimously favoring the consolidation of two or more districts, the floating of bonds and the building of a brick or stone building to cost between $7,000 and $8,000.

The improvement of the county schools is progressing rapidly in McCulloch county, and one of the surest ways to build up a good, strong school is to consolidate several small ones, add more grades and give the children the advantage of instruction from three or four or more good teachers, in place of one or two overworked and overburdened ones.

COMMENDABLE WORK.

The Standard cannot commend too highly the work done by the street superintendent, under direction of the street committee of the city council. The streets within the corporate limits are all being graded, and with the gutters well opened and the middle of the streets crowned, should assure good traveling for the balance of the year. The public square, Bridge street and Blackburn street are badly in need of attention and we understand the matter is now before a joint session of the city council and county commissioners. Doubtless action will be taken to place these important thoroughfares in first-class condition.

The Standard is in receipt of the special Sophomore edition of The Battalion, the weekly publication of the students of A. & M. College. The Battalion comprises 16 pages of interesting school items, well patronized advertising columns and cuts of typical scenes about the A. & M. College—all arranged in the most attractive style and splendidly printed on good book paper. In fact, the general excellence of the publication is attributable to the splendid judgment of the Sophomore class in its selection of editor-in-chief, who is none other than J. B. (Berry) Joyce of this city. We have been expecting some excellent work from Berry all the time—and we are more than pleased to know that he has "made good" beyond our greatest expectations.

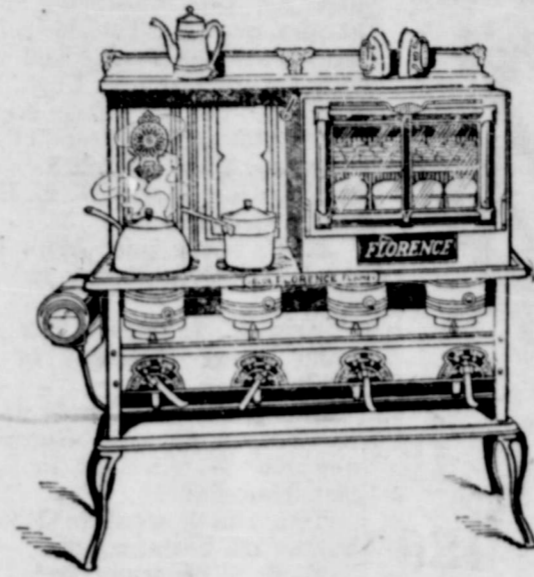

Boost Brady with us!

Boost McCulloch county with us!

Boost the great Brady Country with us.

No more than one copy of The Standard's big Special Edition will be apportioned to any one family. Additional copies may be had at the rate of 10 cents each.

JITNEY.

There is much controversy just at present as to the origin and meaning of the word "jitney," and credit (or blame) for the word is being placed all along from the time of Solomon to the present day. Some claim it is the Mexican term for a five-cent piece; others that it five-cent piece; others that it car official has very tersely said to him the word jitney meant "hell".

SWAT THE RAT.

The Ballinger Ledger has an innovation in a "Swat the Rat" campaign. It's a good organization, too, and "jinners" are wanted in every town and community. So get a rat trap, and when you're idle, get busy, and set a rat trap.

Texas is a "great" state. Just as an example of its greatness we mention the fact that an editor of a paper in South Texas in a recent issue referred to this, the Brady country, as NORTH Texas. The people of East Texas call this WEST Texas, and we, ourselves, are content to say we live in CENTRAL WEST Texas. As a matter of fact, Brady is practically in the geographical center of Texas, and therefore should be known as CENTER Texas. The Standard hereby christens this section CENTER Texas, and proposes to assess a fine against any native who refers to the Brady Country in any other manner.

The Standard has been requested to urge dragging of the county roads following every rain. There is nothing so important to the welfare of a community as good roads, and nothing which gives greater returns for the time, labor and money expended. Road Precinct

No. 1 has the foundation for as good roads as any in the state—and systematic road dragging at the proper time will do more than anything else toward maintaining them. Plant chickens and eggs.

EVERYONE IS AGREED THAT THE SPECIAL IS A BIG THING FOR THE BRADY COUNTRY—AND THE BRADY COUNTRY INCLUDES NOT ONLY McCULLOCH COUNTY BUT ALL THE TERRITORY LYING CONTIGUOUS.

IF YOU ARE NOT YET REPRESENTED IN THE SPECIAL, YOU SHOULD LOSE NO TIME IN SEEING OUR MR. HOWARD. REMEMBER, THIS IS A STRAIGHTFORWARD BUSINESS PROPOSITION. # The CALL of the CUMBERLANDS

BY CHARLES NEVILLE BUCK
WITH ILLUSTRATIONS FROM PHOTOGRAPHS OF SCENES IN THE PLAY

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—On Misery Creek, at the foot of a rock from which he has fallen, Sally Miller finds George Lescott, a landscape painter, unconscious, and after reviving him, goes for assistance.

CHAPTER II—Samson South and Sally, taking Lescott to Samson's home, are met by Spicer South, head of the family, who tells them that Jesse Purvey has been shot, and that Samson is suspected of the crime. Samson denies it.

CHAPTER III—The shooting of Jesse Purvey breaks the truce of Hollman-South feud.

CHAPTER IV—Samson reproves Tamarack Spicer for telling Sally that Jim Hollman is on the trail with bloodhounds hunting the man who shot Purvey.

CHAPTER V—The bloodhounds lose the trail at Spicer South's door. Lescott discovers artistic ability in Samson. While sketching with Lescott on the mountain, Tamarack discovers Samson to a jeering crowd of mountaineers. Samson thrashes him and denounces him as the "truce-buster" who shot Purvey.

CHAPTER VI—Lescott tries to persuade Samson to go to New York with him and develop his talent. Sally, loyal but heartbroken, furthers Lescott's efforts. The dance at Wile McCager's threatens trouble to Samson and Lescott.

CHAPTER VII—At the dance Samson tells the South clan he is going to leave the mountains. Lescott goes home to New York. Samson bids Spicer and Sally farewell and follows.

CHAPTER VIII—In New York Samson studies art and learns much of city ways. Drennie Lescott persuades Wilfred Horton, her dietician lover, to do a man's work in the world.

"When Horton had begun his crusade against various abuses, he had cast a suspicious eye on all matters through which he could trace the trail of William Farbish, and now, when Farbish saw Horton, he eyed him with an enigmatical expression, half-quizzical and half-malevolent.

After Adrienne and Samson had disappeared, he rejoined his companion, a stout, middle-aged gentleman of solid complexion, whose cheviot cut, away and reposeful waistcoat covered a liberal embonpoint. Farbish took his cigar from his lips, and studied its ascending smoke through lids half-closed and thoughtful.

"Singular," he mused; "very singular!"

"What's singular?" impatiently demanded his companion. "Finish, or don't start."

"That mountaineer came up here as George Lescott's protegee," went on Farbish, reflectively. "He came fresh from the feud belt, and landed promptly in the police court. Now, in less than a year, he's pairing off with Adrienne Lescott—who, every one supposed, meant to marry Wilfred Horton. This little party tonight is, to put it quite mildly, a bit unconventional."

The stout gentleman said nothing, and the other questioned, musingly. "By the way, Bradburn, has the Kenmore Shooting club requested Wilfred Horton's resignation yet?"

"Not yet. We are going to. He's not congenial, since his hand is raised against every man who owns more than two dollars. The speaker owned several million times that sum. This meeting at an out-of-the-way place had been arranged for the purpose of discussing ways and means of curbing Wilfred's crusades.

"Well, don't do it."

"Why the devil shouldn't we? We don't want anarchists in the Kenmore."

After awhile, they sat silent, Farbish smiling over the plot he had just devised, and the other man puffing with a puzzled expression at his cigar.

"That's all there is to it," summarized Mr. Farbish, succinctly. "If we can get these two men, South and Horton, together down there at the shooting lodge, under the proper conditions, they'll do the rest themselves. I think I'll take care of South. Now, it's up to you to hate Horton there at the same time."

"How do you know these men have not at any met—and amicably?" demanded Mr. Bradburn.

"I happen to know it, quite by chance. It is my business to know things—quite by chance!"

able to realize that other feeling—his love for Sally. There was in his mind no suspicion—as yet—that these two girls might ever stand in conflict as to the right of way. But the letters he wished to write were not the sort he cared to have read to the girl by the evangelist-doctor or the district-school teacher, and alone she could have made nothing of them. However, "I love you" are easy words—and those he always included.

The Widow Miller had been ailing for months, and though the local physician diagnosed the condition as being "right pored," he knew that the specter of tuberculosis which stalks through these badly lighted and ventilated houses was stretching out its fingers to touch her shrunken chest. This had meant that Sally had to forego the evening hours to study, because of the weariness that followed the day of nursing and household drudgery. Autumn seemed to bring to her mother a slight improvement, and Sally could again sometimes steal away with her slate and book, to sit alone on the big bowlder, and study.

She would not be able to write that Christmas letter. There had been too many interruptions in the self-imposed education, but some day she would write. There would probably be time enough. It would take even Samson a long while to become an artist.

One day, as she was walking homeward from her lonely trysting place, she met the battered-looking man who carried medicines in his saddlebags and the Scriptures in his pocket, and who practiced both forms of healing through the hills. The old man drew down his bag, and threw one leg over the pommel.

"Eventin', Sally," he greeted.

"Eventin', Brother Spencer. How air ye?"

"Tofolable, thank ye, Sally." The body-and-soul mender studied the girl awhile in silence, and then said bluntly:

"Ye've done broke right smart, in the last year. Anything the matter with ye?"

She shook her head, and laughed. It was an effort to laugh merrily, but the ghost of the old instinctive blitheness rippled into it.

"I've jest come from old Spicer South's," volunteered the doctor. "He's allin' pretty considerable, these days."

"What's the matter with Unc' Spicer?" demanded the girl, in genuine anxiety. Every one along Misery called the old man Unc' Spicer.

"I can't jest make out." Her informant spoke slowly, and his brow corrugated into something like sullenness. "He ain't jest to say sitch. His life, his organs seems all right, but he don't pear to have no heart fer nothin', and his victuals don't tempt him none. He's jest puny, that's all."

"I'll go over thar, an' see him," announced the girl. "I'll cook a chicken the'll tempt him."

The girl spent much time after that at the house of old Spicer South, and her coming seemed to waken him into a fitful return of spirits.

"I reckon, Unc' Spicer," suggested the girl, on one of her first visits, "I'd better send fer Samson. Mebbe he'll tempt do ye good ter see him."

"The old man was weakly leaning back on his chair, and his eyes were vacant, listless; but, at the suggestion, he straightened, and the ancient wrinkles again to his face.

"Don't ye do hit," he exclaimed, almost hoarsely. "I knows ye mean hit kin'ly, Sally, but don't ye meddle in my business."

"I didn't low ter meddle," faltered the girl.

"No, little gal," his voice softened at once into gentleness. "I knows ye didn't, I didn't mean ter be short-an-swered with ye either, but thar's jest one thing I won't low nobody ter do—an' that's ter send fer Samson. He knows the road home, an', when he wants ter come, he'll find the door open, but we ain't a-goin' ter send after him."

Wilfred Horton found himself that fall in the position of a man whose course lies through rapids, and for the first time in his life his pleasures were giving precedence to business.

Horton was the most-hated and most-admired man in New York, but the men who hated and snubbed him were his own sort, and the men who admired him were those whom he would never meet, and who knew him only through the columns of penny papers. Powerful enemies had ceased to laugh, and begun to conspire. He must be silenced! How, was a mooted question. But, in some fashion, he must be silenced. Society had not cast him out, but society had shown him in many subtle ways that he was no longer her favorite. He had taken a plebeian stand with the masses. Meanwhile, from various sources, Horton had received warnings of actual personal danger. But at these he had laughed, and no hint of them had reached Adrienne's ears.

One evening, when business had forced the postponement of a dinner engagement with Miss Lescott, he begged her over the telephone to ride with him the following morning.

"I know you are usually asleep when I'm out and galloping," he laughed, "but you pitched me neck and crop into this hurry-burry, and I shouldn't have to lose everything. Don't have your horse brought. I want you to try out a new one of mine."

"I think," she answered, "that early morning is the best time to ride. I'll meet you at seven at the Plaza entrance."

They had turned the upper end of the reservoir before Horton drew his mount to a walk, and allowed the reins to hang. They had been galloping hard, and conversation had been impracticable.

"I suppose experience should have taught me," began Horton, slowly, "that the most asinine thing in the world is to try to lecture you, Drennie. But there are times when one must even risk your delight at one's discomfiture."

"I'm not going to tease you this morning," she answered, docilely. "I like the horse too well—and, to be frank, I like you too well!"

Peruna is a Tonic and a Strength Builder So Says

Mrs. Frang Stroebe, R. F. D. 1, Appleton, Wis. Her letter reads: "I began using Peruna a few months ago when my health and strength were all gone, and I was nothing but a nervous wreck. Could not sleep, eat or rest properly, and felt no desire to live.

"Three bottles of Peruna made me look at life in a different light, as I began to regain my lost strength. While my recovery took nearly four months, at the end of that time I was better than I ever had been before. I had splendid color and never weighed more in my life. "I certainly think Peruna is without a rival as a tonic and strength builder, and it has my endorsement."

Mrs. Charles Brown, R. R. 4, Box 79, Rogersville, Tenn., writes: "I have tried many different remedies, but have found that Peruna is the greatest tonic on earth and a perfect system builder."

ARRESTED AT BALLINGER

Man Charged With Murder of Constable Captured Sunday.

At daybreak Sunday morning a three-day search for the man accused of killing Constable J. J. Connell at Lometa, Thursday, ended with the arrest of F. W. Bader, alias McDonald. Bader's effort to telephone his wife, after his own perilous escape in a half-dressed condition, led to his capture.

A telephone girl in the Ballinger exchange furnished former Sheriff R. P. Kirk with the clew.

Bader had just made his escape from a rooming house in the downtown section at Ballinger, when he telephoned his wife at the building which was being guarded heavily.

Kirk answered the phone when the man declared that he wanted to talk to Mrs. Bader. The name of Franklin of San Angelo was used over the phone.

The former sheriff immediately became suspicious and asked the phone girl after the connection had been lost the number of the phone with which he had just been connected. She said it was a local number, not a long distance call at all. A posse composed of deputy sheriffs was thrown out over the business part of the city. An arrest was perfected 15 minutes later by former Sheriff James P. Flynt.

A number of shots were fired during the early part of the morning and it was first reported that a pitched battle had ensued in the heart of the business section, but later developments proved that the firing was done in order to notify posses working in the Colorado river bottoms that the man was in the city and that help was needed.

Bader surrendered after Flynt had got the drop on him. Sunday afternoon the captured man was returned to Lometa, accompanied by sheriffs of several counties in this section.

Bader is said to have reached Ballinger about 2 o'clock Saturday morning on a freight train. Saturday night, with the arrival of Sheriff Mace and four other officers and a brother of the constable killed, it was decided to raid the house where his wife was.

Sheriff Mace, armed only with a searchlight, discovered Bader lying prone on his stomach between the ceiling and the roof. A pistol held in the hand of Bader and pointing toward the officer glittered and sparkled from the rays of the flashlight. Sheriff Mace retreated and began pleading with Bader to get out. This was refused. It was decided to use sulphur fumes to force a withdrawal. While arrangements were being made, Bader escaped in his bare feet, jumping from the roof to the ground. He eluded officers standing guard in the alley and ran to a camp on the Colorado river bank, where he borrowed a pair of shoes. He returned to town armed with a pistol and four cartridges.

He walked into a restaurant unrecognized and telephoned his rooming house. A posse was sent out, which led to the arrest by Flynt.

Bader is a former resident of this county, living for several years in the Fife community, where he was engaged in farming. He left there some time during the past year, since which time he and his family have made their home in Ballinger. He was reared in Mason county and is well known to many of the citizens of that county.

TEXAS INDUSTRIAL CONGRESS NOTES.

The following is the first of a series of articles on financing, marketing and producing cotton, which will appear in the columns of The Standard during the coming few weeks. The articles were written by Mr. A. M. Ferguson of Sherman, a man who is thoroughly conversant with all phases of the subject and should prove of more than passing interest to our readers.—The Editor.

Growing the Cotton Crop.
What of the chances for profitable returns from this year's cotton crop?

In answering this question we are concerned with three important problems—financing, marketing and production. Our large business interests have concerned themselves in the problems of financing and marketing the cotton in the farmers' hands, in a new way—one that does great credit and gives renewed confidence in the breadth of judgment of "big business," and does honor to their patriotism. Every farmer is looking forward to a new and better business custom of handling the cotton crop.

While these problems are being considered we farmers should not forget, nor neglect to give even closer attention to the necessity of making a better showing in the production of cotton. Our average production is about one-third of a bale. This is far below what any farmer will admit that it should be.

We have agreed to reduce and have reduced the cotton acreage. Let us strive then to increase the average acreage yield to at least a half bale. This is certainly wise. The movement to reduce the cotton acreage is not so much a program for reducing the total production of cotton as it is to produce more feed stuffs at home. It is recalled that long before our finances were disturbed by European wars, Col. Henry Exall of the Texas Industrial Congress joined with the Corn Growers' association in preaching: "Let Texas Feed Itself." He did not advocate the quitting cotton, but he did urge and convinced all who heard his prophetic pleadings, that it was a poor business policy to continue growing cotton in order to buy Northern-grown feed stuffs.

Col. Exall saw how the dominance of cotton in our systems of farming made reforms in cotton financing and cotton marketing a problem of the future. He realized that cotton is the South's heritage only when we grow enough of other crops to be independent of its domination. He pleaded not for more cotton, but for a more profitable cotton crop.

The South will continue to grow cotton, and therefore, it is important that we strive to make good yields. As a general rule it may be stated that poor yielding seed, careless planting and slighted cultivation result in low yields and financial loss, while good yielding seed, careful planting and frequent and intelligent cultivation, are associated with good yields and profitable returns.

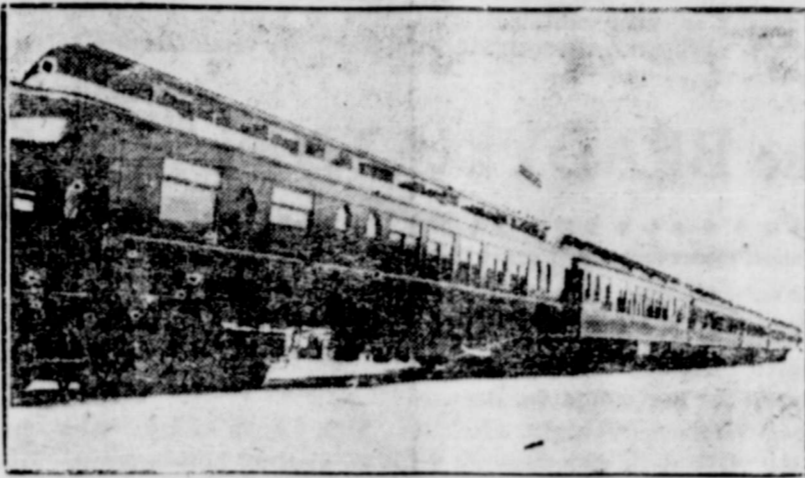

No ordinary reduction in expenses, or reasonable advance in price, can overcome the losses due to low yields. High acreage yields for cotton and all other crops was Col. Exall's dream. In his compelling way he urged with emphasis the three essentials of good crops:

1. Good, freshly improved seed of good varieties.
2. Well prepared land before planting.
3. Intelligent cultivation to conserve moisture and make plant food available.

Cotton planting time is here.

TRADE EXCURSION COMING

Dallas Chamber of Commerce Ten Car Special Train Will Reach Brady, Saturday, April 24th. Citizens Will Turn Out En Masse.

Dallas Chamber of Commerce Special Train.

We learn, with great pleasure, that the Dallas Chamber of Commerce Special Train will visit our city, and the business men of Dallas call upon our business men. We believe that cities are like individuals and should call on each other and get acquainted. We understand that the purpose of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce in sending a party of its representatives to the different towns in the State is not only to do Dallas good but that it hopes to do good to every town visited.

We are informed that there will be over one hundred of the heads of Dallas' large manufacturing and wholesale and financial institutions in the party. They have a special train of ten Pullman cars, electric lighted, equipped with inter-communicating telephone, and at every stop the train will be connected with long distance telephone. They carry a twenty-piece band, a five-piece orchestra; have a barber shop on board, dining car and club car. In the observation car is found a piano, talking machine, stenographer, and typewriter. In fact, it will probably be the most perfectly equipped club train that has ever visited our city.

The Dallas men are traveling in comfort as well as style. The idea on their part, however, we understand, is so that they will not have to intrude upon the cities visited, and they are prepared to entertain rather than to be entertained.

Mr. S. G. Davis, Chairman of the Trade Extension Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, says: "We are counting with a great deal of pleasure on visiting our friends in West Texas. The 318 jobbers in Dallas are very much under obligations to the balance of the State. On this trip we are traveling some 1,600 miles, visiting 71 cities all in West Texas with the idea of calling upon our friends, meeting them in their places of business, talking over business conditions with them, thanking them for the business which they have given us as wholesale merchants, and with the especial idea of straightening out any little misunderstandings which may have occurred, and of getting to know personally the heads of the great retail institutions in the towns visited."

There are over 6,000 well rated merchants in the towns on our itinerary. These retail merchants are not only our customers but our friends, and every year it is our purpose as business men of Dallas to go out and call upon these friends and see if we can not develop points of interest that will be of mutual help.

The Dallas market grows as Texas grows. We are vitally interested in the progress of the State. Unless Texas prospers Dallas starves. We hope on this trip to develop a fine spirit of friendly co-operation, to ascertain more particularly the wants of West Texas, and to find out how we of Dallas can aid in the development of this wonderful territory which we are visiting."

Mr. Louis Lipsitz, President of the Chamber of Commerce, says: "We have a magnificent itinerary for our Fifteenth Annual Trade Excursion which starts April 18th and ends April 24th. West Texas is in ideal condition, and especially so in comparison with the balance of the State. To my mind it is the coming country, and, in fact, the greater portion of it has already arrived. Dallas is under particular obligations to West Texas, and I mean by West Texas all that portion of the State west from Dallas, and the Chamber of Commerce, representing all of the big institutions of Dallas, is spending $15,000.00 this year in its Annual Trade Trip for the purpose of calling upon our friends in Texas and to develop more cordial and friendly business relations with them. I want it distinctly impressed that we are not seeking to be entertained; that we want to meet the merchants on our route in their places of business; we want to meet all the citizens; we want to invite them to come to the State Fair; we want them to realize that our interest in their prosperity is sincere and honest, that our effort is one of development, of trade expansion, and acquaintance."

What then of the seed? For any section there are a few good and many poor varieties. Every farmer will admit that good varieties of cotton seed do exist and that such seeds are available but in the face of this fact the great bulk of the nation's cotton crop is each year planted to "no variety," but "just cotton seed."

I have before me the result of an accurate test of the yielding qualities of 29 different variety samples of well-bred strains of cotton seed. For the most part these seed came from real or pretended cotton seed breeders, and in most cases from the originators of the varieties.

The highest yield made was 1,416 pounds per acre, and the lowest yield 971 pounds, showing a difference in yield of 445 pounds per acre due just to seed alone. Such figures show how exceedingly important is the question of seed.

Seed under the same variety name will often differ greatly in their yielding qualities. In the test referred to above there were two samples of Mebane Triumph seed, a variety largely planted all over the cotton belt. These two samples were from well recognized and bona fide seed breeders, yet they differed in yields by 263 pounds per acre. I mention these figures to justify the suggestion that when a farmer starts out to get freshly improved seed of a recognized good variety, that he should ask for more information than is conveyed merely by a variety name.

If strains of well bred seed of good variety differ so greatly in yielding quality, how much greater will the difference be when "just cotton seed" is used. Much can be done to raise our average up to the half bale mark if our farmers will only take a little more than ordinary precautions to get good seed. The extra trouble and cost should not be more than 20c to 30c per acre. The results may be a gain of 445 pounds of cotton per acre as reported above.

Told That There Was No Cure for Him
"After suffering for over twenty years with indigestion and having some of the best doctors here tell me there was no cure for me, I think it only right to tell you for the sake of other sufferers as well as your own satisfaction that a 25 cent bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets not only relieved me but cured me within two months although I am a man of 68 years," writes Jul. Grobier, Houston, Texas. Obtainable everywhere.

WOMAN'S HOME MISSION SOCIETY.

What are The Signs of Waiting Korea?

Never was the opportunity so great nor the church's responsibility for dying souls so urgent as at this crisis in Korea's history. We have not only Jesus' command to go, teach, but their pleading call for help.

A few months ago the people of an interior village, which no Christian worker except a colporteur had ever visited, sent one of their number on foot to Choon Chun, a distance of about sixty miles, with orders not to return without bringing someone able to tell them about the "Jesus way" and how to know Him. A preacher went with him, and a group of earnest Christians is the result.

From every Christian group throughout the land calls are coming constantly for workers to teach them the Word. Practically every Christian woman in the Choon Chun district is trying to study the Bible in her humble home. But how can poor ignorant women, who can scarcely read and have only within the last few months of years heard about Jesus, find the deep, rich treasures of God's Word? Women are glad to walk from twenty to sixty miles, with their babes on their backs for a few days of Bible study. We need men and women who know God and His Word to lead these hungry souls to His great treasure house. In the eagerness and earnestness of these souls to know the Word of Life we hear the call: "Come over and help us."

There is much ignorance in Korea and a great need of more teachers and schools. The foreign missionary has a wonderful opportunity in training native teachers who will educate their own people in the best sense. Bible women must be trained, and nature doctors and nurses are needed. — Miss Edwards, Choon Chun, in Missionary Voice.

A PROGRESSIVE SCHOOL.

Prairie View Learning Practical As Well as Theoretic

The children of Prairie View school, six miles north of Brady are getting a new viewpoint on school work and one they are very much delighted and interested in, as the result of the active interest of Mrs. Ethel Abernathy, their teacher, and Supt. E. L. White.

This is the organization of a sewing class, composed of twelve girls, ranging in age from eight to sixteen years. This kind of work bridges the gap between theoretical and practical, incites usefulness and cleverness and is being done in the best schools of the United States, rapidly becoming a part of the regular school work. When it is remembered that from this elementary beginning instruction may easily lead into the larger and more effective work, such as cooking, house-financing and keeping, home-planning, etc., its importance will quickly be seen. The sewing is done at odd times so as not to interfere with regular class work.

The Standard longs to see the day when boys will also be taught at least some of the essential things that go to make up a man's life-work, such as an intensive study of the soil, a close study of domestic animals, elementary manual training, house-planning, marketing, community interest, etc. One instance of the utility of this class of study for boys may be cited in the fact that it is said by psychologists that there is as great mental culture and as much or more practical profit in studying how to select good seed as there is in solving a problem in algebra.

Appetite Follows Good Digestion

Nearly everyone indulges their appetite and the digestive organs are abused, resulting in a congestion of poisonous waste that clogs the bowels and causes much misery and distress. This is a natural, pleasant-tasting remedy, gentle yet positive in action, and quickly relieves indigestion, constipation, sick headache, belching, etc. Drug stores sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and in thousands of homes it is the indispensable family remedy.
