DEFEAT FREDERICKSBURG GIANTS IN GOOD GAME.

First Game of Season on Local Diamond Results in 2 to 1 Victory for Homelings.

Too much Spiller and errorless support accorded him by teammates was responsible for the defeat of the Fredericksburg Giants by the Brady Wildcats at the cotton yard grounds yesterday afternoon in one of the classiest exhibitions of the national pastime ever pulled off here.

The game was the first of the season and was characterized throughout by clean, fast baseball, devoid of squabbling or rowdyism of any kind, both teams demonstrating that they are not only high-class ball players, but thorough gentlemen as well.

Spiller pitched an excellent game for the locals, allowing only five hits, which he kept well scattered and his teammates responded nobly by giving him errorless support throughout the contest. He had some difficulty in locating the plate at the beginning of the game, but steadied down after the first inning and when the contest ended

CITY COUNCIL MEETS.

Regular Session Held Wednesday—Routine Business.

The regular fortnightly meeting of the city council was held Tuesday night, with Alderman Williams, Cook and Tipton present, Mayor Baze presiding. Aldermen Roddie and Hallum were absent from the city.

The report of City Secretary J. C. McShan for the month of May was presented, approved and ordered filed. The report shows the following balances on hand to the credit of the various funds: General fund (overdraft) $30.50; street fund, $337.52; sanitary fund, $201.84; bond fund, $7304.81; water-works sinking fund, $5326.35.

The city secretary was instructed to credit the account of City Marshal J. M. Anderson with the delinquent tax roll amounting to $651.50.

An ordinance authorizing the mayor and city secretary to execute deeds for lots in the city cemetery was presented by the ordinance committee and duly passed under a suspension of the rules.

The following accounts were allowed and ordered paid:
 Broad Mercantile Co. $ 1.00
 J. M. Anderson 4.00

 J. C. Hall was quite painfully though not seriously injured Tuesday afternoon in a runaway accident which occurred in the southern portion of the city. While coming to town the horse which he was driving to the buggy became frightened and ran away. In its mad flight the animal collided with a telephone pole, the force of the impact throwing Mr. Hall out of the buggy. He was dazed by the fall, but further than this escaped with no serious injuries, and was able to be down town Wednesday.

Pfeil, for the visitors, also pitched a good game in the seven innings that he worked, allowing only four hits, but they came at a time when hits meant runs. He was relieved in the eighth by Althaus, an elongated Teuton, who has both speed and control and who was exceedingly stingy in allowing hits—only one safety being recorded against him.

A SNAP ON A FIRST-CLASS IMPROVED FARM

Two hundred and forty acres, black land, fenced and cross-fenced; 180 acres in cultivation and a 5-room house. Large tank that never goes dry; all tillable land but 15 acres; 25 acres in corn now in tassel, 100 acres in cotton; the balance in maize and millet. I paid $30 per acre for it two years ago. All the crops are simply fine. I get 1-4 of the cotton and 1-3d of the corn, and renter pays $3 cash per acre for all feed stuff. I need money and must sell. The land lays three miles northeast of Lohn and 16 miles from Brady, in the famous Lohn Valley. Will take $20 per acre if sold soon; $1000 cash, balance on time. If I can get $2500 cash will throw in my share of crops, which will bring $700 to $900 or more. First comer gets it. It will pay you to investigate this great snap. It is also in the Oil Belt, with plenty of shallow wells producing now. Never have bored for a deep well. Plenty of large mesquite and live oak timber.

Dental Notice

As it has been the practice of this office once a year to give the people the benefit of cheaper prices, I will give the following discount for twenty days—20 days only, ending July 1st:

As this is a discount of 25 to 40 per cent reduction, anyone can afford dental work at these prices. As everybody knows, bad teeth make bad health. By all means have your gums cured. More people lose their teeth by diseased gums than by decayed teeth. Have your children's teeth looked after. You are responsible for them. Now remember, I am giving this discount for only 20 days. As everybody knows we give the same work and same material at these prices as we do the regular price, as this has been the seventh year I have done this, and everyone knows that I mean what I say when I give them these prices. All work guaranteed to give you satisfaction.

FROM THE EDITOR.
H. F. Schwenker Writes of Conditions in the North.

The following letter from Editor H. F. Schwenker, who is visiting scenes of his childhood days in Burlington, Iowa, is of interest locally. After spending the remainder of the week in Burlington, he expects to leave for San Francisco to take in the sights of the big exposition and will return home about July 1st.

The letter follows:
Arrived in Burlington Friday morning, after spending several days with my brother in Nebraska City and in Lincoln, Neb. Seems quite natural to be home again, and also to hear the steamboats on the Mississippi whistling for a landing. In fact, it is almost like old times—the life seems about the same as when I left, ten years ago. Of course, there are changes—new houses, more paved streets, modern office buildings and business institutions. The children of the old days are the grown young men and women of today. Just the same, my return here seems like picking up a story where one stopped reading the night before.

As I wrote you before, was laid out behind a wreck at Carrollton for four hours; so stopped over in Sherman and arrived in Kansas City twenty-four hours late. Had a very pleasant stay in Sherman. Spent a very enjoyable evening with E. R. Gibson, who is principal in the Sherman schools, and who is deservedly popular with all. Gibson still recalls the two years spent in Brady and says he never had a better time in his life. Also saw Frank T. Glasscock (formerly of Menard) who has an elegant drug store and is prospering accordingly. Miss Bradley and Karl Leslie.

Crops in the Fort Worth section do not compare with those of Brady, the oats being short and stunted, while corn is dwarfed. In the Sherman country crops were very much better, corn being even further advanced than in McCulloch.

The weather was decidedly unfavorable to straw hats and Palm Beaches, and in Kansas City heavy clothes and overcoats were largely in evidence. From Texas, all along the route as far as Nebraska, a surplus of rain was had. In the western part of Iowa it did not look quite so wet. Very little warm weather has been had. Saturday was very pleasant, but the balance of the time it has been cool and rainy. This (Monday) morning we have been having a cold rain.

You cannot imagine how late crops are here. Where corn is waist to shoulder high in Texas it is just up here. Saw some good timothy hay fields in Kansas, also fine clover fields and wheat and oats are especially fine. They tell me they will begin cutting hay the latter part of this month or the first of next. The oat harvest will commence some time next month.

Last year's corn crop was not very good. At that it is bringing 75 cents per bushel on the open market here. Oats are worth from 51 cents to 53 cents per bushel; timothy hay is worth $18.00 to $19.00 per ton. I can remember when it was $6.00 and $7.00. Hay makes an average of two or more tons to the acre here; oats, 40 to 60 bushels, corn 60 to 100 bushels.

The farms in Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa present a beautiful sight. Most of them have been in cultivation so long there is not a stump to be seen, and the fields have the appearance of the most thorough and careful cultivation. The corn fields were an especially pretty sight. Although barely up, the corn was already plowed over once—not in rows, but check-plowed. As a consequence, the corn fields resembled vast checker boards. The corn is drilled in rows usually three feet apart.

I had a very interesting conversation with a gentleman who had just visited the Federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. We could see the wall surrounding the prison; also there was a sort of a stockade made of heavy wire fencing to a height of about 12 or 16 feet surrounding the brick and cement works. At each corner of the stockade was a sentry's box stuck up there, very much like a pigeon roost. The prisoners no longer wear stripes. However, they are divided into three classes, viz: Class 1, who enjoy full privileges; class 2, partial privileges; class 3, no privileges. Of the 1,400 prisoners but eight or nine were in class 3. All the prisoners are assigned some class of work. None of the products are put upon the market, however, all being intended for the use and benefit of the prison and prisoners.

All classes work together. This must be rather annoying, especially if a negro were assigned work alongside the nice-appearing, portly individual whose very manner and bearing reflected breeding and former social position, and about whom the guide would venture no further information than that he had been a very prominent business man of New Orleans.

The prisoners are well clothed and the food is above reproach. Also, they may have as much to eat as they desire. It is told of the ex-mayor of Terre Haute, Ind., recently convicted of participation in election frauds, that he was first assigned clerical work. However, he complained so much of his laundry that he was finally assigned work in the laundry. No doubt both he and the laundry will now "come clean."

The ex-chief of police of the same city was in the corridor playing checkers. His short life at the prison had already taught him humiliating duties, for as the visitor passed he arose, removed his cap and stood at attention.

The weekly prison paper was interesting and amusing. The prison life pervaded the writings and editorials. There was comment to the effect that rain might be all right for ducks and boating, but that baseball could not be played in boats. Also this clever sally: "Life is a short word, but too long a sentence."

On the train there was a woman with six children—their sizes in steps, their ages ranging from one to about thirteen years, Dakota-bound, I believe. When the children became hungry a loaf of bread was produced; slices six inches square and a half inch thick were cut, and on these was spread rich, golden butter to a depth of about a quarter inch. It took from three to four slices to satisfy each child. Can you wonder that they were a sturdy, red-cheeked family? That's northern atmosphere for you. Along with the bread they had cold meat and chicken, and pickles, and cake topped the whole thing off. The peculiar feature was that the baby cried before, but not after the pickle indulgence.

They have a beautiful park in Burlington. Everything from tennis courts and play-grounds to boating on the lake and monkey zoo. I was out last night for the regular semi-weekly band concert.

Cherries are ripe! The green grass is growing all around and if I stay much longer will have to do the lawn mower stunt.

C. R. TISDALE DEAD.
Victim of Railway Accident Near Home at Pampa.

A telegram was received here Tuesday night by W. D. Crothers from M. H. Thompson at Pampa, Texas, stating that C. R. Tisdale, a former well known and highly respected citizen of Brady, had been killed by a train that afternoon. No details of the accident which brought about Mr. Tisdale's death were given in the message, and up to this morning no other information had been received here.

Mr. Tisdale was a citizen of Brady for many years, but left here about five years ago with his family to join his son-in-law, Mr. Thompson, in the cattle business at Pampa, and since that time he and his family had made their home near that place. He was more than 70 years of age and was an ex-Confederate veteran, serving throughout the war in the Southern army.

Surviving members of his family are his wife, four sons—Ira, living in South Texas, Will of Eddy and Edwin—and one daughter, Miss Mabelle.

School Lands For Sale.

The following may be of interest to McCulloch county citizens. Its publication was requested by J. T. Robinson, commissioner general of the land office at Austin:

This statement is being sent to the newspapers so that the public may have the information herein contained to the end that each one shall have an equal opportunity to secure public school land under the terms of an act passed by the regular session of the last legislature.

Lists of the school land for sale will be ready for distribution about July 1st. As the land will be for sale September 1st, this will allow prospective purchasers two months in which to decide which tracts they may desire to purchase. One who wants a list may obtain it by writing to me at Austin.

Land that is situated in the rough mountainous portions of the western counties may be purchased without condition of living on it. Such land is unfit for agricultural purposes and is generally so broken by mountains, rocky hills, canyons and gorges as to be unfit for human habitation. The smooth land there has been sold. It may be that some would want it for trading purposes. Sale with or without settlement is fixed by counties.

Such land as is supposed to be susceptible of agriculture will be for sale to those only who will become actual settlers on it. There will be some 60,000 acres of this class. This is a chance for the one without a home. Heretofore, those who lived within five miles of the land could buy it by living on his other land. Not so now. The purchaser must live on the land he buys when it is situated in a county where such tracts of land must be sold on condition of settlement. The settlement purchaser pays one-tenth cash and three per cent interest, the purchaser without settlement pays one-tenth cash and five per cent interest. Each has forty years to pay the balance. Thus is the home builder favored.

The list of lands will give more information and will be ready about July 1st.

WISHED SHE COULD DIE
And Be Free From Her Troubles, but Finds Better Way.

Columbia, Tenn.—"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this place, "I wished I would die and be relieved of my suffering, from womanly troubles. I could not get up, without pulling at something to help me, and stayed in bed most of the time. I could not do my housework."

The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally, I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with pains any more, and I don't have to go to bed. In fact, I am sound and well of all my troubles."

Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts with nature—not against her. It is for the tired, nervous, irritable women, who feel as if everything were wrong, and need something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.

If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you. At all druggists.

LIGHT SIX $1385

One of the first things that will strike your eye when you come in to see this Studebaker Light SIX is its rare elegance of finish. For certainly it is one of the handsomest cars on the road.

Best of all, it's a finish that fights off depreciation. It looks as bright and new after a year's hard driving as it did the day it left the plant.

And the reason is simply that Studebaker spares no expense in any detail of its manufacturing. And this Light SIX at $1385 goes thro' no less than 20 finishing operations in the Studebaker plants.

But just you come in and see the car—that's the way to judge its looks. Study its design, its silent, smoothly running and POWERFUL motor, its even balance and alignment of chassis. Ride in it and note its ease of control and its riding COMFORT, and when with all this you consider its remarkably LOW cost of maintenance, you'll appreciate the wisdom of buying this SIX.

BRADY, TEXAS, June 18, 1915

What a delightful park Brady might have if the whole square was like that around the court house, furnished with shade, grass, settees, pools of lily-covered water and with reasonably wide business streets around it all; to be later on paved. What a world of dust would be prevented from destroying valuable goods in our stores, what a beauty spot it would be in the very heart of Brady, how it would add to the value of adjacent property and how delightful to dally there in the cool of the evening after a hard day's toil. The possibilities at small cost are there, whatever the obstacle, and the fact that it will cost more to pave than to park will some day force consideration of making the whole square a park.

Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Chicago municipal court declares that drunkenness is not a disease, but the manifestation of feeble-mindedness, insipient insanity, mania, epilepsy, etc., except in cases where the man was whipping up his flagging energy with alcoholic stimulants. However this may be it's a pretty safe bet that the man who drinks to excess is a fool when he starts and crazy when he finishes.

A peculiar accident is recorded from Hillsboro, O., recently. While playfully struggling with a visitor for possession of a pistol Herman Morris knocked the weapon from the hands of his friend and it was discharged. The bullet passed through Morris' body and entered the heart of Mrs. Morris, killing her instantly. Morris died shortly afterward.

The biggest prevaricator in Indiana, is the Romney farmer who claims to have a colt born minus its front legs, but where the forelegs should be are two legs about six inches long. One of these has the foot of a dog and the other the foot of a calf. What a real estate dealer this farmer would have made.

FLOWERS FOR THE

The Brady Standard's Anniversary edition came out last week and The Standard is to be congratulated. The entire county was well represented and will no doubt profit thereby. The writings of the advantages and truths of this county were well written, the half tone cuts loomed up, as if work of a master pressman and the ads were all of an artistic design. The whole thing was a piece of art and will speak well for the country and those fortunate towns represented in the Special Edition.

Melvin being one of the fortunate ones, will be greatly benefited by the advertising it receives. The Standard is seven years old and gets better with each issue, and will no doubt be several times seven years of age some future day, as a good town like Brady, with its enterprising and progressive business men will not see a booster like The Standard, lack support. We congratulate The Standard and wish it many more prosperous, classy and well supported anniversary editions, such as the last one proved to be.—Melvin Rustler.

Twenty-four large pages of truthful boosting for McCulloch, Concho, San Saba and Mason counties is the Brady Standard in its sixth Anniversary edition. One page and a half was devoted to Eden. Of course they could not tell of all the good things in that space, but what they did tell was the truth, as well as that told of other sections, and as thousands of copies were sent out, the entire country represented will surely be benefited thereby. The Brady Standard is in the front ranks of newspapers of its class, and its editor is a consistent booster and has seen Brady grow from a small town to a fair sized city. Hurrah for the Standard.—Eden Echo.

The Brady Standard sent out a twenty-four page booster last week which was a credit to even so good a plant as that of The Standard. The force, as well as the issue, was exhausted and took the following day off.—Menard Messenger.

Brady Standard has issued its Anniversary Edition, which is a credit to that thriving community.—Temple Telegram.

One of the most creditable special editions that has recently come to our exchange desk is that of the Brady Standard, of which S. M. Richardson, a former Denton boy is editor. The edition is profusely illustrated with well printed half tones and is a credit both to Editor Richardson and the business interests of Brady, whose liberal patronage made such a successful edition possible.—Denton Record and Chronicle.

The Brady Standard's Anniversary Edition came in Saturday and at first glance we thought some big new daily had sprung into existence, but after looking at the headlines when the journal was unfolded our "peepers" fell upon the words, "Anniversary Edition of The Brady Standard, Section 1," after turning through we noticed it contained three sections of eight pages each, all filled to the brim with the good things of McCulloch county. The Standard has regularly visited our office for the past seven years and each issue is a credit to the country it represents, but this one causes us to tip our lid to the genial Schwenker and his co-workers.—Eldorado Success.

The Anniversary Number of The Brady Standard has reached us, and we find it a special edition par excellence. It consists of twenty-four pages, is handsomely printed on fine book paper and unstintedly illustrated with half-tone scenes showing the many beauties of Brady and Brady country. The edition shows that the most painstaking care was used in its production, both editorially and mechanically. It constitutes the biggest and best boost that Brady has ever received. The people of that town ought to show continued appreciation of Editor Schwenker's efforts in their behalf. Brady is a good town; she is a better town by reason of The Standard and H. F. Schwenker.—Rockdale Reporter.

"DIXIE DAY."

Set Aside for South at Panama-Pacific Exposition.

"Dixie Day" will be celebrated at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition August 9th and the week has been officially designated as "The South's Week." Thousands of Southerners will be in attendance from all parts of the United States. The official party, under the direction of the Southern Commercial Congress, will be composed of several hundred of the most representative men and women of the South, and will be mobilized in St. Louis, July 28th. The Eager Tours company of Baltimore, Md., will be in charge of all travel arrangement. The itinerary includes stops at many points enroute, including Colorado Springs, Salt Lake City, San Diego, Los Angeles, Portland, Seattle, and Vancouver, returning by way of St. Paul and Chicago.

"The South's Week" in San Francisco will be participated in by state and city officials, executives of civic and commercial organizations, members and officials of patriotic associations. A program of entertainment, social functions and addresses has been outlined.

The officials of the exposition, together with Southern state societies in California, are actively co-operating. Clarence J. Owens, managing director of the Southern Commercial Congress has been placed in official charge as director general of the South's celebration at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

EVER SALIVATED BY CALOMEL? HORRIBLE!

Calomel is Quicksilver and Acts Like Dynamite on Your Liver.

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into the system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for 50 cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.

STANDARD MOWERS PLEASE

Why? Because they give you service and are the result of careful investigation and experience in Mower construction and we know that we have a Mower that can be relied on.

Standard Mowers have a straight pull on the pitman. That reduces friction, makes a straighter cut, saves wear and pulls easier.

Standard Mowers have strong gears, a self-contained gear case and all are protected from dust.

Standard Mowers support and carry their cutter bars on the wheels, instead of dragging them on the ground, thus overcoming side draft and giving them a powerful cutting capacity.

GET A STANDARD MOWER

We would be glad to show you this Mower and tell you more of its good points. We have a few Deering Mowers left, too, and would like to sell you one of them.

A School That Makes Christians

Last Sunday eight young men from the senior class down into the middle school, were baptized. It is very interesting and I think it greatly justifies our claim to be a genuinely evangelistic agency, that not one of these comes from a Christian family, and, so far as I can find out, not one of them has relatives who are Christians. One is the son of a military official away off in Shensi and is supported by the government. A dozen more applied for baptism but for various reasons they were kept on the waiting list.

There is a fine religious spirit in the institution, and I am having frequent interviews with young men representing the best families of the country. This ought to be a message of hope to you as well as to us. The gospel is at work right here in the university. Many more would be baptized were it not for family objections, but many of these will come at last out of the difficulty. One member of the senior class was baptized who has been waiting for several years, but has just been able to get the consent of his family, a family steeped in Confucian ideas. In such a cause we can afford to wait.—Rev. J. W. Cline, Soochow Hospital.

Miss Taylor won a host of friends during her stay in Brady, and also demonstrated her exceptional ability as an instructor, and all will be glad to welcome her return early in September to resume her classes.

BIG BARBECUE JULY 14.

Committee at Work Raising Funds for Celebration.

A committee of local business men composed of Messrs. Sam McCollum, C. H. Vincent and E. L. Ogden has been busily engaged the past few days in raising funds for a big jubilee celebration to be pulled off here July 14th when the officers and directors of the Puget Sound-to-the-Gulf Highway Association will be here for the annual meeting.

The committee has worked very hard on the task of raising the necessary funds and report that they have about completed a thorough canvass of the entire town, but still have not enough funds with which to provide entertainment for the big crowd which will attend. They estimate the minimum amount necessary at $1000, while the contributions received to date will total something like $200 less than this amount. They are still hopeful of raising this sum.

In the party of highway officials which will be here for the big celebration will be more than 100 good roads enthusiasts, and it behooves the citizens of Brady to be up and doing in order that ample accommodations for the entertainment of these and other visitors may be arranged for.

"Kick in" if you have not already done so, and if you have, call on the committee and double up on your subscription. It will be as "bread cast upon the water" and will cause you to feel better satisfied with yourself in the knowledge of a duty well performed.

Do You Read Labels?

Domestic science teachers and food authorities are urging the housewife to carefully read the labels on all food articles.

The National Pure Food Law compels food manufacturers to print the ingredients of their products on the label, and in this way enables consumers to distinguish healthful foods from those which may be deleterious.

High-grade baking powders are made of pure cream of tartar, derived from grapes. Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is a type of the highest grade. It is pure and healthful beyond any question.

The low-grade baking powders are made from alum, a mineral acid salt. Most physicians condemn their use in food.

Consumers can learn the character of the baking powder by referring to the label, which must state whether the contents include cream of tartar, alum or phosphate.

GRADY JONES DEAD.

Passed Away Last Saturday After Lingered Illness.

Albert Grady, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Jones, died last Saturday at the home of his parents on North Bridge street, following an illness of eleven weeks of inflammation of the heart.

The young man was stricken with the fatal disease while attending a business college in Ft. Worth, and his mother went to Fort Worth at once to attend him and remained there with him until June 4th, when it was decided to bring him home. Since being brought here he grew steadily worse until the end came last Saturday as a welcome relief from his long suffering.

The young man was born near Bryan, August 31, 1898, and was therefore 16 years, 9 months and 11 days old at the time of his death. He was an exceptionally bright and ambitious boy and was admired by all who knew him because of the many admirable traits of character possessed by one of his age.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the family home, conducted by Rev. J. M. Reynolds, pastor of the Baptist church, of which deceased had been a devoted member four years or more, followed by interment in the city cemetery. Pall bearers were chosen from among former schoolmates, and were as follows: Hubert Adkins, Berry Joyce, Orval Jackson, Rockett Hall, Mat Stearns and Leon Fahrenthold. The floral offerings were both profuse and beautiful—a wreath of white carnations and ferns from the Baptist church and Sunday school and one of pink carnations and lilies from Ft. Worth friends being most elaborate.

Surviving relatives are his parents, four sisters—Mesdames W. B. English and J. C. Cloud of Bryan, W. I. Herrington of Bradshaw, Texas; and Miss Pinkie of this city; three brothers—Ira C., of Brawley, Calif., and Milton and Alfred of this city. Mrs. English was the only out-of-town relative here for the funeral, another sister—Mrs. Herrington—not arriving until Monday morning.

Don't Forget the Date and Place

The CALL of the CUMBERLANDS

BY CHARLES NEVILLE BUCK
WITH ILLUSTRATIONS FROM PHOTOGRAPHS OF SCENES IN THE PLAY

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—On Misery Creek, at the foot of a rock from which he has fallen, Sally Miller finds George Lescott, a landscape painter, unconscious, and after reviving him, goes for assistance.

CHAPTER II—Samson South and Sally, taking Lescott to Samson's home, are met by Spicer South, head of the family, who tells them that Jesse Purvey has been shot, and that Samson is suspected of the crime. Samson denies it.

CHAPTER III—The shooting of Jesse Purvey breaks the truce of Hollman-South feud.

CHAPTER IV—Samson reproves Tamarack Spicer for telling Sally that Jim Hollman is on the trail with bloodhounds hunting the man who shot Purvey.

CHAPTER V—The bloodhounds lose the trail at Spicer South's door. Lescott discovers artistic ability in Samson. While sketching with Lescott on the mountain, Tamarack discovers Samson to a jeering crowd of mountaineers. Samson thrashes him, and denounces his as the "true, purest" who shot Purvey.

CHAPTER VI—Lescott tries to persuade Samson to go to New York with him and develop his talent. Sally, loyal but heartbroken, furthers Lescott's efforts. The dance at Wile McCager's threatens trouble to Samson and Lescott.

CHAPTER VII—At the dance Samson tells the South clan he is going to leave the mountains. Lescott goes home to New York. Samson bids Spicer and Sally farewell and follows.

CHAPTER VIII—In New York Samson studies art and learns much of city ways. Drennie Lescott persuades Wilfred Horton, her dilettante lover, to do a man's work in the world.

CHAPTER IX—Prompted by her love, Sally teaches herself to write. Horton throws himself into the business world and becomes well liked by predatory financiers and politicians. At a Bohemian resort Samson meets William Farbish, sporty social parasite, and Horton's enemy.

CHAPTER X—Farbish sees Samson and Drennie dining together unchaperoned at the Wigwam roadhouse. He conspires with others to make Horton jealous and succeeds.

CHAPTER XI—Farbish brings Norton and Samson together at the Kenmore club's shooting lodge, and forces an open rupture, expecting Samson to kill Horton and so rid the political and financial thugs of the crusader. Samson exposes the plot and thrashes the conspirators.

CHAPTER XII—Samson is advised by his teachers to turn to portrait painting. Drennie commissions him to paint her portrait. Sally goes to Paris to study. Drennie finds in his studio pictured evidence of his loyalty to Sally.

Yet Samson had not come to the stronghold of his enemy for the purpose of assassination. There had been another object in his mind—an utterly mad idea, it is true, yet so bold of conception that it held a ghost of promise. He had meant to go into Jesse Purvey's store and chat artlessly, like some inquisitive "furriner". He would ask questions which by their very impertinence might be forgiven on the score of a stranger's folly. But, most of all, he wanted to drop the casual information, which he should assume to have heard on the train, that Samson South was returning, and to mark, on the assassin leader, the effect of the news. In his new code it was necessary to give at least the rattler's warning before he struck, and he meant to strike. If he were recognized, well—he shrugged his shoulders.

But as he stood on the outside, wiping the perspiration from his forehead, for the ride had been warm, he heard voices within. They were loud and angry voices. It occurred to him that by remaining where he was he might gain more information than by hurrying in.

"I've done been your executioner for twenty years," complained a voice, which Samson at once recognized as that of Aaron Hollis, the most trusted of Purvey's personal guards. "I hain't never laid down on ye yet. Me an' Jim Asberry killed old Henry South. We laid for his boy, an' would 'a' got him if ye'd only said yer word. I went inter Hixon an' killed Tam'rack Spicer, with soldiers all round me. There hain't no other damn fool in these mountings would 'a' took such a long chance as that. I'm tired of it. They're a-goin' ter git me, an' I wanta ter leave, an' ye won't come clean with the price of a railroad ticket to Oklahoma. Now, damn yore stingy soul, I gits that ticket or I gits you!"

"Aaron, you can't scare me into doin' nothin' I ain't almin' to do." The old baron of the vendetta spoke in a cold, stoical voice. "I tell ye I ain't quite through with ye yet. In due an' proper time I'll see that ye get yer ticket." Then he added, with conciliating softness: "We've been friends a long while. Let's talk this thing over before we fall out."

"Thar hain't nothin' to talk over."

Shortly, a candle flickered inside, before a small hand mirror. Scissors and safety razor were for a while busy. The man who entered in impeccable clothes emerged fifteen minutes later—transformed. There appeared under the rising June crescent a smooth-faced native, clad in stained store clothes, with rough woolen socks showing at his brogan tops, and a battered felt hat drawn over his face. No one who had known the Samson South of four years ago would fail to recognize him now. And the strangest part, he told himself, was that he felt the old Samson. He no longer doubted his courage. He had come home, and his conscience was once more clear.

The mountain roads and the mountain sides themselves were sweetly silent. Moon mist engulfed the firs in a lake of dreams, and, as the livery-stable horse halted to pant at the top of the final ridge, he could see below him his destination.

The smaller knobs rose like little islands out of the vapor, and yonder, catching the moonlight like scraps of gray paper, were two roofs—that of his uncle's house and that of the Widow Miller.

At a point where a hand bridge crossed the skirting creek, the boy dismounted. Ahead of him lay the stile where he had said good-by to Sally. The place was dark, and the chimney smokeless, but, as he came nearer, holding the shadows of the trees, he saw one sliver of light at the bottom of a solid shutter; the shutter of Sally's room. Yet, for a while, Samson stopped there, looking and making no sound. He stood at his Rubicon—and behind him lay all the glitter and culture of that other world, a world that had been good to him.

That was to Samson South one of those pregnant and portentous moments with which life sometimes punctuates its turning points. At such times all the set and solidified strata that go into the building of a man's nature may be uprooted and rearranged. So the layers of a mountain chain and a continent that have for centuries remained steadfast may break and alter under the stirring of earthquake or volcano, dropping heights under water and throwing new ranges above the sea.

There was passing before his eyes as he stood there, pausing, a panorama much vaster than any he had been able to conceive when last he stood there. He was seeing in review the old life and the new, lurid with contrasts, and, as the pictures of things thousands of miles away rose before his eyes as clearly as the serious backbone of the ridges, he was comparing and settling for all time the actual values and proportions of the things in his life.

He saw the streets of Paris and New York, brilliant under their strings of opalescent lights; the Champs Elysees ran its smooth, tree-trimmed parquetry from the Place de Concorde to the Arc de Triomphe, and the chatter and music of its cafes rang in his ears. The ivory spaces of Rome, from the Pincial hill, where his fancy saw almond trees in bloom, to the Piazza Venezia, spread their eternal story before his imagination. He saw buses and hansoms string through the mud and fog of London and the endless pot-pourri of Manhattan. All the things that the outside world had to offer; all that had ever stirred his pulses to a worship of the beautiful, the harmonious, the excellent, rose in exact value. Then he saw again the sunrise as it would be tomorrow morning over these ragged hills. He saw the mists rise and grow wispy-like, and the disk of the sun gain color, and all the miracles of cannoning tempest and caressing palm—and, though he had come back to fight, a wonderful peace settled over him, for he knew that, if he must choose these, his native hills, or all the rest, he would forgo all the rest. And Sally—Would she be changed? His heart was hammering wildly now. Sally had remained loyal. It was a miracle, but it was the one thing that counted. He was going to her, and nothing else mattered.

He lifted his head and sent out a long, clear whippoorwill call, which quavered on the night much like the other calls in the black hills around him. After a moment he went nearer, in the shadow of a poplar and repeated the call.

Samson stood rigid. Here was the confession of one murderer, with no denial from the other. The truce was off. Why should he wait? Cataracts seemed to thunder in his brain, and yet he stood there, his hand in his coat pocket, clutching the grip of a magazine pistol. Samson South the old, and Samson South the new were writhing in the life-and-death grapple of two codes. Then, before decision came, he heard a sharp report inside, and the heavy fall of a body to the floor.

A wildly excited figure came plunging through the door, and Samson's left hand swept out and seized its shoulder in a sudden vise grip.

"Do you know me?" he inquired, as the mountaineer pulled away and crouched back with startled surprise and vicious frenzy.

"No, damn ye! Git outen my road!" Aaron thrust his cocked rifle close against the stranger's face. From its muzzle came the acrid stench of freshly burned powder. "Git outen my road afore I kills ye!"

"My name is Samson South."

Before the astounded finger on the trigger could be crooked, Samson's pistol spoke from the pocket, and, as though in echo, the rifle blazed, a little too late and a shade too high, over his head, as the dead man's arms went up.

Except for those two reports there was no sound. Samson stood still, anticipating an uproar of alarm. Now he should doubtless have to pay with his life for both the deaths, which would inevitably and logically be attributed to his agency. But, strangely enough, no clamor arose. The shot inside had been muffled, and those outside, broken by the intervening store, did not arouse the house. Purvy's bodyguard had been sent away by Hollis on a false alarm. Only the "women-folks" and children remained indoors, and they were drowning with a piano any sounds that might have come from without. That piano was the chief emblem of Purvy's wealth. It represented the acme of "having things hung up;" that ancient and expressive phrase, which had come down from days when the pioneers' worldly condition was gauged by the hams hanging in the smokehouse and the peppers, tobacco and herbs strung high against the rafters.

Now Samson South stood looking down, uninterupted, on what had been Aaron Hollis as it lay motionless at his feet. There was a powder-burned hole in the butternut shirt, and only a slender thread of blood trickled into the dirt-grimed cracks between the planks. The body was twisted sideways, in one of those grotesque attitudes with which a sudden summons so frequently robs the greatest phenomenon of all its rightful dignity. The sun was gilding the roadside clouds and burnishing the greens of the treetops. The breeze was harping sleepily among the branches, and several geese stalked pompously along the creek's edge. On the top of the stockade a gray squirrel, sole witness to the tragedy, rose on his haunches, flitted his brush, and then, in a sudden leap of alarm, disappeared.

Samson turned to the darkened doorway. Inside was emptiness, except for the other body, which had crumpled forward and face down across the counter. A glance showed that Jesse Purvy would no more fight back the coming of death. He was quite unarmed. Behind his spent body ranged shelves of general merchandise. Boxes of sardines and cans of peaches were lined in homely array above him. His lifeless hand rested as though flung out in an oratorical gesture on a bolt of blue calico.

Samson paused only for a momentary survey. His score was clean. He would not again have to agonize over the dilemma of old ethics and new. Tomorrow the word would spread like wildfire along Misery and Cripplethin that Samson South was back and that his coming had been signaled by these two deaths. The fact that he was responsible for only one—and that in self-defense—would not matter. They would prefer to believe that he had invaded the store and killed Purvy and that Hollis had fallen in his master's defense at the threshold. Samson went out, still meeting no one, and continued his journey.

Dusk was falling when he hitched his horse in a clump of timber, and, lifting his saddlebags, began climbing to a cabin that sat back in a thicketed cove. He was now well within South territory and the need of masquerade had ended.

The cabin had not for years been occupied. Its rooftop was leaning askew under rotting shingles. The doorstep was ivy-covered, and the stones of the hearth were broken. But it lay well hidden and would serve his purposes.

Fortified Tires
Are Always Climbing Upward

104,000 Men

In the jungles and fields, in our factories, etc., 104,000 men are employed to meet the demand for Goodyear tires.

No other tire commands anywhere near such favor. And this spring has shown, in sales to dealers, an increase of 52 per cent.

Extra Values

The reason is, we fortify our tires. We give the best that others give, plus five exclusive features. In costly ways, employed by no one else, we combat:

Rim-Cuts
Blowouts
Loose Treads

Insecurity
Punctures
Skidding

And we never skimp. Despite all price reductions, Goodyears are better than ever. Lately we have added three conspicuous improvements.

Some Goodyear supremacies can be seen at a glance. Compare size and thickness with the average tire. Compare number of fabric plies.

Prices Down

Goodyear has made in about two years three great price reductions, totaling 45 per cent. The last was on February 1st. Our matchless output enables a value which no other maker can duplicate.

Goodyears mean less trouble, less upkeep. That is proved by our exclusive features, our dominant place, and the swelling Goodyear tide. We urge you to join this army. Any dealer will supply you.

WONDER WORDS.

Rained Every Day For Twenty-Eight Days.

Wonder, Oregon, June 3.
Editor Brady Standard:

I thought I was going to have something out of the ordinary to tell you this time; but it lacked two days of raining every day in May. It began to rain on the 1st day and rained every day for 28 days.

I received a letter from a party in Texas asking what I was doing these hot days. I replied that I was sitting by the fire trying to warm my cold, wet feet.

But now it is fair weather and farmers are busy making hay while the sun shines. A good many have their first cutting of alfalfa in the shock. The first cutting is never as good as the second and third cuttings. The first always contains a considerable amount of squirrel grass, a kind of bearded wild grass very similar to the prairie dog grass or bearded mesquite grass of McCulloch county. The second and third cuttings are pure alfalfa and grows very dense and rank where it is irrigated.

While you Texans are busy thinning corn and cotton, we Oregonians are busy thinning apples. A great many people here ask me to describe a cotton patch and I presume if I were in Texas as many would ask me to describe a hop yard. I described a hop yard, vines and hop picking and baling in a former article and those who read it are conversant.

Strawberry short-cake, cherry pie and gooseberry tarts are in evidence now. Yes, and I had almost forgotten to mention reubarb pie.

This is a great country to eat

Decided to Wait a Short Time Before Organizing Sunday School.

Rochelle, Texas, June 15.
Editor Brady Standard:

We would enjoy a rain in our community, for, while crops are not suffering, it would cool the air.

Health in our community is fine at present.

There was a nice, large crowd met at the Gap Sunday evening for the purpose of organizing a union Sunday school, but it was decided best to wait until the series of meetings now being held are over before beginning.

There will be singing at the Gap Sunday evening. Everybody is invited to attend.

Kid Jeffers hauled out another silo Tuesday to be erected on his farm. This is the second silo on Mr. Jeffers' farm.

Joe Myric has moved back to the sand.

C. M. Bell increased his wife's patience by the remedy suggested by H. T. Pace this week.

Everybody who possibly could attended the closing exercises of the Corn Creek school. All report a nice time.

Mrs. F. L. Ince and sister, Beulah Myrick, visited the Ince home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ike Rnsell visited the Finnegan home Saturday and Sunday.

Clint Bell and wife visited Charles Sallee Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Marshall visited relatives at Fife last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Floyd have an aunt visiting them this week.

It is a pleasure to notice our friends attending the meetings and a great many have done so at Rochelle the past week. All unite in saying that the meeting is a grand one and there should be many more attending.

Bud Sutton was baptized in the Methodist church Friday.

The Sallee boys attended church at Rochelle Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bell and son, Lewis, of Brady, spent Sunday with C. M. Bell.

Mr. Sallee was working at Katelye the past week.

A large number of neighbors gathered at the B. F. Harrison home Saturday night and enjoyed themselves.

Mr. Myrick of Katelye visited his daughter, Mrs. F. L. Ince, the past week. His daughter, Miss Dean Myrick, returned home with him.

Misses Beulah and Dean Myrick visited Frankie Ince Friday night.

Messrs Harrison, Dobbs and Turner called on Clint Bell Sunday.

Misses Pearl, Ollie and Dollie Bell; Masters Lewis and Clarence Bell were auto riding Sunday evening.

Does anyone know where the old soldiers' reunion will be this year and when?

Mrs. J. K. Baze and children of Rochelle attended singing at the Gap Sunday.

If you have any article about your premises you want to dispose of, put a want ad in The Standard. Good second-hand furniture, farming tools and other equipment are always salable and it costs but a cent a word to let Brady people know what you have to offer. Every week some one reports a ready sale of some article advertised in our classified department, the use of which is becoming more and more general.

Teething babies always have a hard time of it when this process occurs in hot weather. They not only have to contend with painful gums but the stomach is disordered, bowels loose and the body uncomfortable. The best help you can give the little sufferer is MCGEE'S BABY ELIXIR. It corrects sour stomach, cools and quiets the bowels and helps digestion. Price 25c and 50c per bottle. Sold by Central Drug Store.

Brady Standard, $1 a year.
