AN ASIATIC VIEW.

Shaykh Achmed Abdullah, vouched for by Harper's Weekly as nephew of the ameer of Afghanistan and descendant of the prophet, gives that publication Asia's view of the war. It may be a distorted view, but it is worth reading because of its warmth. Says he:

"We are unmoved by the slaughter, the losses, the untold suffering, the wholesale destruction. The reason for this is sweetly simple and obvious. Each killed European is a killed potential enemy.

"The common basis of steadily growing Asian solidarity is hatred of the whites, the Christians. This hatred is universal from the Siberian tundras to the burnt south of India. We despise the European as a hypocrite who ships whiskey, rifles, diseases and missionaries in the same mixed cargo. Our sword arm aches when we behold the 112 cross. "We like to claim Russia as an Asiatic outpost. So, if wishes we have in the present conflict, they are for the success of the Russian arms. It will be

FOR IDEAL OF RECREATION

Subject That Is Worthy of Much More Study Than is Generally Given to It.

What women throughout the country still need is a freer association with other women whose standards, social, ntellectual and moral, are higher than their own, writes Anne Morgan in the Woman's Home Companion. As a peo ple we are too inclined to seek a lower standard for our recreation, to level down. We seek a companionship morrow. where no intellectual effort is neces sary; we choose a theater where the entertainment furnished is a popular musical comedy, rather than a play with literary merit, interpreted by talented actors. Certain popular magazines with large circulation contain stories and articles utterly valueless in quality; other publications contain-tions by serious authors reach but few homes. In our recreation, as in our Mrs. N. T. Cook has returned work, we want immediate results with a minimum of effort; to be entertained generally means to be relaxed. The splendid rest and refreshment that spoonful of "California Syrup of comes with a great, but different, intelfor the daily existence to be so ordered ed food and sour bile gently + that no definite holiday time would be necessary-each twenty-four hours would bring its own period of work, play and rest.
