ORGANIZE B. & M. AUTO AND COM. CO.

The B. & M. Auto and Commission Co. was organized at a meeting of the shareholders yesterday afternoon in Justice T. J. King's office. A total of 139 shares were represented at the meeting, and parties interested were present from all parts of McCulloch county and from Mason as well.

Following a talk by Judge Joe A. Adkins on the manner of effecting an organization, B. M. Taylor of Fredonia was elected temporary chairman, and A. A. Lange of Brady, temporary secretary. Following Mr. Lange's withdrawal, J. S. Abernathy was appointed temporary secretary.

The name, B. & M., signifying Brady and Mason, was chosen as the firm name. H. E. Jones, at present manager of the Rochelle-Brady Motor Co., was selected general manager for the company, and the following were named as officers: W. F. Roberts, president; W. F. Dutton, vice-president; H. E. Jones, general manager. These gentlemen together with the following, compose the board of directors: C. W. L. Schaeg, Brady; T. J. Horn, Fredonia; O. E. Rice, Rochelle; Paul Allen, Whiteland; J. H. Dobbs, Katemey; J. P. Schafer, Voca; Fred Tetens, Lohn; P. C. Appleton, Camp San Saba.

It was decided to incorporate the company for not less than $18,000, with shares having a par value of $100.00, and immediately following the payment of 50 per cent of this amount of capital stock, as required by law, application for a charter will be made.

It was further decided to occupy the Dutton buildings on east of Main street. The selection of a secretary-treasurer was left to the board of directors, who will hold their next meeting on Monday, April 23rd, in the Commercial National bank.

In speaking with General Manager Jones in regard to the organization, Mr. Jones stated that the Dutton building would give them a floor space of 75x90 feet, which might later, should business justify, be increased to 100x90 feet. The company will remodel the building throughout, double flooring it and making other improvements. Up-to-date equipment will be installed, a first-class master mechanic will be employed to superintend all work on cars, and a filling and supply station would be embodied in the business, with the usual free air and water service. It is also expected that agencies will be secured for two classes of automobiles—a high priced and a medium priced car. The company will also do a general commission business, dealing in farm products such as hides, wool,

THE EPISCOPAL MISSION SUCCESS

The Episcopal Mission conducted during the past week by Archdeacon Garden of San Antonio has been unanimously acclaimed a great success. The sermons delivered by Mr. Garden were calm, logical and forceful. No attempt was made to arouse undue emotions, or to take advantage of a temporary feeling of religious enthusiasm. Rather, Mr. Garden's appeals caused careful thought upon the part of his hearers, and conviction that his words sounded the truth grew stronger as one reflected upon his statements. Sunday afternoon a splendid men's meeting was had, some fifty or more men responding to Mr. Garden's announcement of such services. Probably the last meeting of the mission was held last night, with a goodly-sized audience in attendance, although Mr. Garden has decided to remain over tomorrow awaiting the coming of Bishop Capers of the West Texas Diocese, who will hold confirmation at the Episcopal church here on Wednesday night at 8:00 o'clock.

Woodard-Dillard.

Mr. Oscar F. Woodard and Miss Annie Lee Dillard were united in marriage at the Christian parsonage Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, by the Rev. Owen Hornburg.

Mr. Woodard, formerly of Brady, is now a promising young man of Lubbock, Texas, where he is following his vocation as a carpenter. Mrs. Woodard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Dillard of Lohn, has been making her home at Brady for the past few months, being employed as a stenographer in the office of Jordan & McCollum, and has been a popular member of Brady's younger set. The bride was dressed in a pretty blue taffeta silk dress with hat to match. Following the ceremony the couple went to Lohn to visit the bride's parents, after which they will take their departure for Lubbock where they will make their future home.

BUILDING ROADS IN PRECINCT NO. 1

Although the scarifier, road scraper and other parts had arrived some time ago, the Twin City engine, ordered by Commissioner Chas. Samuelson for use in Precinct No. 1, arrived only last week. Mr. Samuelson at once tried the new equipment out, and by building about a mile of road last Friday demonstrated to everyone's satisfaction that the new equipment exactly filled the requirements. The road improved last week was that lying east of town and known as the Bryson road. Saturday the machinery was moved to the Coleman road, the scarifier being put to work tearing up the macadam, following which the road was re-graded and put in first class shape. About half-mile of road was thus rebuilt Saturday. The work is being continued on the Coleman road this week.

In view of the fact that excellent road work has been done by Commissioner H. E. McBride and J. M. Carroll, each in their own precinct, there can be no doubt that the new method is not only the cheapest, but the most effective. Both Mr. McBride and Mr. Carroll have received numerous compliments upon their road work, and only a few weeks ago, the Coleman county commissioners came over to see and commend the work done by Commissioner Carroll. The work now being done by Commissioner Samuelson is certain to prove likewise commendatory, and a new era in good roads is in store for McCulloch county citizens and travelers through our land.

If you have AUTOMOBILES you want stored I am prepared to handle same, and will take cars to sell for you. E. J. BROAD.

Salute the Flag.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Malone are entertaining a fine young man at their home, the new arrival having made his appearance Monday morning, weight 10 1-2 pounds. "Pat" is already teaching Malone, Jr., to salute the flag, and has in mind making application for his admission into the United States aviation corps.

FOOD FOR TOMORROW.

The problem of food for tomorrow may well be said to be food for reflection. The table printed elsewhere in this issue illustrates the tremendous advance in prices of all food products. Since last October flour alone has advanced from $3.00 a barrel to $11.20 per barrel on April 10th, and this week it is hovering close around the $12.00 mark. With an army of half a million or a million in the field, many of the soldiers drawn from the farm, a vast amount of food and feed will be consumed—and the production at the same time lessened. Add to this a tax for the maintenance of the war, and the burden will rest heavily upon the people.

Now is the time for preparedness—and preparedness must take the form of raising tremendous amounts of food and feed. The ships of the U. S. will be almost entirely devoted to carrying munitions and supplies to the allies—there will not be the usual tonnage of merchant vessels ready to carry cotton to market—consequently cotton, if the production is very great, is sure to be a drag on the market. The safe plan is to raise an abundance of food and feed—make cotton your secondary crop.

Food for reflection—food for tomorrow.

Despite unfavorable conditions, Brady's rose gardens never bloomed more invitingly, or with greater loveliness and fragrance than at present.

A CLEAN UP.

The open season for swatting flies is now on. Swat them whenever you can, wherever you can.

It is also open season on trash, rubbish and offal. Do not let another day pass without putting your premises in spic and span condition. Have the empty cans, the winter's accumulation of trash and every bit of litter hauled off. Do it now! If you are unable to have this done, then gather the rubbish and trash into piles easy of access, and the city will have it hauled to the dump grounds for you—and without charge.

Do you know that neglect of this important duty may lead to an epidemic of typhoid. Already some cases are reported. It is not due to water being furnished by the city, which has been tested absolutely pure. Practically every case so far has resulted from the use of contaminated well or cistern water. With Brady streets, alleys and premises in an unsanitary condition, it will not take long for the epidemic to spread. Clean up today!

"GAY" BOYS NOTICE.

Up in Monroe, Wis., the ministers have started a newspaper and are going to elevate the morals of that city. The publication announces its editorial policy in part as follows:

"If the lid be taken off, and the citizens be allowed to peep into the moral sewers with the hope that reforms badly needed will be inaugurated, or is it best to palliate the rank and file with false ideas of moral safety?"

"Publicity is a mighty restraining power. Beasts of bashan should be branded." The ministers are said to have the names of men prominent in business and social life, who have "cut loose" and intend to publish them unless they reform. At this distance, and from this point of vantage, it appears to us that the ministerial brethren are laying themselves up for some high-priced libel suits. When you start out to reform the wicked world, it sometimes causes a heap of trouble merely to talk about a man, but when you put that same talk into cold print—ah, me, how easily can those words be twisted to say just the opposite of what you intended.

That government expert who, some three or four years ago, predicted ten of the wettest years Texas had ever known, evidently overlooked the year 1917. It appears this year isn't in the rain cycle.

Brady is on six national highways. This places the town in direct highway communication with all parts of the United States. Wherefore Brady rejoices and prepares to welcome and entertain tourist travel over its national roads. Brady is fortunate. The highway is the thing. Build good roads.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

PENROD

Copyright, 1914, by Doubleday, Page & Company

SYNOPSIS.

Penrod, fearing the ordeal of playing the part of the Child Sir Lancelot, seeks forgetfulness in the composition of a dime novel.

Penrod's mother and sister dress him in his costume for the "Children's Pageant of the Round Table." Penrod is ashamed to wear it.

He breaks up the whole pageant by putting on a pair of the janitor's overalls over his costume.

A visit to a moving picture show gives him an idea and he loafs away his time in school, dreaming dreams.

The teacher reproves him. He seeks to distract attention from himself by alleging loss of sleep because of a drunken uncle.

The teacher sympathizes with Penrod's aunt because of her wayward husband, and it then develops that Penrod has been lying.

CHAPTER IX. The New Star.

SAM, Penrod, Herman and Verman withdrew in considerable state from nonpaying view and, repairing to the hay loft, declared the exhibition open to the public. Oral proclamation was made by Sam, and then the loitering multitude was enticed by the seductive strains of a band, the two partners performing upon combs and paper. Herman and Verman upon the pans with sticks.

The effect was immediate. Visitors appeared upon the stairway and sought admission. Herman and Verman took position among the exhibits, near the wall; Sam stood at the entrance officiating as barker and ticket seller, while Penrod, with debonaire suavity, acted as curator, master of ceremonies and lecturer. He greeted the first to enter with a courtly bow. They consisted of Miss Rensdale and her nursery governess, and they paid spot cash for their admission.

"Waik in, lay-deeze; walk right in. Pray do not obstruct the passageway," said Penrod in a remarkable voice. "Pray be seated. There is room for each and all."

Miss Rensdale and governess were followed by Mr. George Basset and baby sister (which proves the perfection of George's character) and six or seven other neighborhood children, a most satisfactory audience, although, subsequent to Miss Rensdale and governess, admission was wholly by pin. "Gentil-man and lay-deeze," shouted Penrod, "I will first call your attention to our genuine South American dog, part alligator!" He pointed to the dachshund, and added, in his ordinary tone, "That's him." Straightway re-assuming the character of showman, he belabored: "Next, you see Duke, the genuine, full blooded Indian dog from the far western plains and Rocky mountains. Next, the trained Michigan rats, captured way up there and trained to jump and run all around the box at the—at the—slightest pre-text!" He paused, partly to take breath and partly to enjoy his own surprised discovery that this phrase was in his vocabulary.

"At the slightest pre-text!" he repeated, and continued, suiting the action to the word: "I will now hammer upon the box, and each and all may see these genuine full blooded Michigan rats perform at the slightest pre-text! There! (There's all they do now, but I and Sam are going to train 'em lots more before this afternoon.) Gentil-man and lay-deeze, I will kindly now call your attention to Sherman, the wild animal from Africa, costing the lives of the wild trapper and many of his companions. Next let me kindly introduce Herman and Verman. Their father got mad and stuck his pitchfork right inside of another man, exactly as promised upon the advertisements outside the big tent, and got put in jail. Look at them well, gentil-man and lay-deeze. There is no extra charge, and re-mem-ber you are each and all now looking at two wild tattooed men which the father of is in jail. Point, Herman. Each and all will have a chance to see. Point to sumpting else, Herman. This is the only genuine one fingered tattooed wild man. Last on the program, gentil-man and lay-deeze, we have Verman, the savage tattooed wild boy, that can't speak his native foreign languages. Talk some, Verman."

Verman obliged and made an instantaneous hit. He was encored rapturously again and again, and, thrilling with the unique pleasure of being appreciated and understood at the same time, would have talked all day but too gladly. Sam Williams, however, with a true showman's foresight, whispered to Penrod, who rang down on the monologue.

"Gentil-man and lay-deeze, this closes our performance. Pray pass out quietly and with as little jostling as possible."

AS SOON AS you are all out there's going to be a new performance, and each and all are welcome at the same and simple price of admission. Pray pass out quietly and with as little jostling as possible. Re-mem-ber the price is only 1 cent, the best part of a dime, or twenty pins, no heat ones taken. Pray pass out quietly and with as little jostling as possible. The Schofield & Williams military band will play before each performance, and each and all are welcome for the same and simple price of admission. Pray pass out quietly and with as little jostling as possible.

Forthwith the Schofield & Williams military band began a second overture, in which something vaguely like a tune was at times distinguishable, and all of the first audience returned, most of them having occupied the interval in hasty excursions for more pins. Miss Rensdale and governess, however, again paying coin of the republic and receiving deference and the best seats accordingly. And when a third performance found all of the same inebriate patrons once more crowding the auditorium and seven recruits added the pleasurable excitement of the partners in their venture will be understood by any one who has seen a metropolitan manager strolling about the foyer of his theater some evening during the earlier stages of an assured "phenomenal run."

From the first there was no question which feature of the entertainment was the attraction extraordinary. Verman—Verzan, the savage tattooed wild boy, speaking only his native foreign languages—Verman was a triumph! Bellowing, wretched in smiles, melodious, incredibly fluent, he had but to open his lips and a dead hush fell upon the audience. Breathless, they leaned forward, hanging upon his every semi-syllable, and, when Penrod checked the flow, burst into thunders of applause, which Verman received with happy laughter.

Alas, he delayed not o'er long to display all the egregiousness of a new star, but for a time there was no caprice of his too eccentric to be forgiven. During Penrod's lecture upon the other curios the tattooed wild boy continually stamped his foot, grinned and gesticulated, tapping his tiny chest and pointing to himself as it were to say, "Wait for me; I am the big show." So soon they learn; so soon they learn! And (again alas) this spoiled darling of the public favor, like many another, was fated to know in good time the fickleness of that favor.

But during all the morning performances he was the idol of his audience and looked it. The climax of his popularity came during the fifth overture of the Schofield & Williams military band, when the music was quite drowned in the agitated clamors of Miss Rensdale, who was endeavoring to ascend the stairs in spite of the physical discussion of her governess.

"I won't go home to lunch!" screamed Miss Rensdale, her voice accompanied by a sound of ripping. "I will hear the tattooed wild boy talk some more! It's lovely—I will hear him talk! I will! I will! I will to listen to Verman—I want to—I want to!"

Wailing, she was borne away, of her sex not the first to be fascinated by obscurity nor the last to champion its eloquence.

Verman was almost unendurable after this, but like many, many other managers, Schofield & Williams restrained their choler and even laughed fulsomely when their principal attraction essayed the role of a comedian in private and capered and squawked in sheer, fatuous vanity.

The first performance of the afternoon rivaled the successes of the morning, and, although Miss Rensdale was detained at home, thus drying up the single source of cash income developed before lunch, Maurice Levy appeared, escorting Marjorie Jones, and paid coin for two admissions, dropping the money into Sam's hand with a careless—nay, a contemptuous—gesture. At sight of Marjorie, Penrod Schofield flushed under his new mustache (repeated since noon) and lectured as he had never lectured before. A new grace invested his every gesture, a new sonority rang in his voice, a simple and manly pomposity marked his very walk as he passed from curio to curio, and when he fearlessly handled the box of rats and hammered upon it with cool insouciance he beheld, for the first time in his life, a par of admiration eddying in Marjorie's lovely eye, a certain softening of that eye. And then Verman spake—and Penrod was forgotten. Marjorie's eye rested upon him no more.

A heavily equipped chauffeur ascended the stairway, leaving the message that Mrs. Levy awaited her son and his lady. Thereupon, having devoured the last sound permitted (by the managers) to issue from Verman, Mr. Levy and Miss Jones departed to a real man-

"I want to listen to Verman—I want to—I want to!"

nee at a real theater, the limp eyes of Marjorie looking back softly over her shoulder—but only at the tattooed wild boy. Nearly always it is woman who puts the iron into life.

After this, perhaps because of sated curiosity, perhaps on account of a pin famine, the attendance began to languish. Only four responded to the next call of the band. The four dwindled to three; finally the entertainment was given for one biased auditor, and Schofield & Williams looked depressed. Then followed an interval when the band played in vain.

About 3 o'clock Schofield & Williams were gloomily discussing various unpromising devices for startling the public into a renewal of interest, when another patron unexpectedly appeared and paid a cent for his admission. News of the Big Show and Museum of Curiosities had at last penetrated the far, cold spaces of interstellar space, for this new patron consisted of no less than Roderick Magsworth Bitts, Jr., escaped in a white "sailor suit" from the manor during a period of severe maternal and tutorial pre-occupation.

He seated himself without parley, and the performance was offered for his entertainment with admirable conscientiousness. True to the Lady Clara caste and training, Roderick's pale, fat face expressed nothing except an imperious superiority and, as he sat, cold and unimpressed upon the front bench, like a large, white lump, it must be said that he made a discouraging audience "to pay to." He was not, however, unresponsive—far from it. He offered comment very chilling to the warm grandiloquence of the orator.

"That's my Uncle Ethelbert's dachshund," he remarked at the beginning of the lecture. "You better take him back if you don't want to get arrested." And when Penrod, rather uneasily ignoring the interruption, proceeded to the exploitation of the genuine, full blooded Indian dog, Duke, "Why don't you try to give that old dog away?" asked Roderick. "You couldn't sell him."

"My papa would buy me a lots better coon than that," was the information volunteered a little later, "only I wouldn't want the nasty old thing!"

Herman of the missing finger obtained no greater indulgence. "Pooh!" said Roderick. "We have two fox terriers in our stables that took prizes at the kennel show, and their tails were bit off. There's a man that always bites fox terriers' tails off."

"Oh, my gosh, what a lie!" exclaimed Sam Williams ignorantly. "Go on with the show, whether he likes it or not, Penrod. He's paid his money."

Verman, confident in his own singular powers, chuckled openly at the failure of the other attractions to charm the frosty visitor, and when his turn came poured forth a torrent of conversation which was straightway damned.

"Rotten!" said Mr. Bitts languidly. "Anybody could talk like that. I could do it if I wanted to."

Verman paused suddenly. "Yes, you could!" exclaimed Penrod, stung. "Let's hear you do it then." "Yessir!" the other partner shouted. "Let's just hear you do it!"

"I said I could if I wanted to," responded Roderick. "I didn't say I would."

"Yay! Knows he can't!" sneered Sam.

"I can, too, if I try."

"Well, let's hear you try." So challenged, the visitor did try, but in the absence of an impartial jury his effort was considered so pronounced a failure that he was howled down, derided and mocked with great clamors.

"Anyway," said Roderick when things had quieted down, "if I couldn't get up a better show than this I'd sell out and leave town."

Not having enough presence of mind to inquire what he would sell out, his adversaries replied with mere formless veils of scorn.

"I could get up a better show than this with my left hand," Roderick asserted.

"Well, what would you have in your ole show?" asked Penrod, condescending to language.

"That's all right what I'd have. I'd have enough."

"You couldn't get Herman and Verman in your ole show."

"No, and I wouldn't want 'em, either."

"Well, what would you have?" insisted Penrod derisively. "You'd have to have something. You couldn't be a show yourself."

"How do you know?" This was bit mousing while waiting for ideas and evoked another yell.

"You think you could be a show all by yourself?" demanded Penrod.

"How do you know I couldn't?"

Two white boys and two black boys shrieked their scorn of the boaster.

"I could too!" Roderick raised his voice to a sudden howl, obtaining a hearing.

"Well, why don't you tell us how?"

"Well, I know how, all right," said Roderick. "If anybody asks you you can just tell him I know how, all right."

"Why, you can't do anything," Sam began argumentatively. "You talk about being a show all by yourself. What could you try to do? Show us something you can do."

"I didn't say I was going to do anything," returned the badgered one, still evading.

"Well, then, how'd you be a show?" Penrod demanded. "We got a show here, even if Herman didn't point or Verman didn't talk. Their father stabbed a man with a pitchfork, I guess, didn't he?"

"How do I know?"

"Well, I guess he's in jail, ain't he?"

"Well, what if his father is in jail? I didn't say he wasn't, did I?"

"Well, your father ain't in jail, is he?"

"Well, I never said he was, did I?"

"Well, then," continued Penrod, "how could you be a?" He stopped abruptly, staring at Roderick, the birth of an idea plainly visible in his altered expression. He had suddenly remembered his intention to ask Roderick Magsworth Bitts, Jr., about Rena Magsworth, and his recollection collided in his mind with the irritation produced by Roderick's claiming some mysterious attainment which would warrant his setting up as a show in his single person. Penrod's whole manner changed instantly.

"Roddy," he asked, almost overwhelmed by a prescience of something vast and magnificent. "Roddy, are you any relation of Rena Magsworth?"

Roderick had never heard of Rena Magsworth, although a concentration of the sentence yesterday pronounced upon her had burned, black and horrible, upon the face of every newspaper in the country. He was not allowed to read the journals of the day, and his family's indignation over the sacrilegious coincidence of the name had not been expressed in his presence. But he saw that it was an awesome name to Penrod Schofield and Samuel Williams. Even Herman and Verman, though lacking many educational advantages on account of a long residence in the country, were informed on the subject of Rena Magsworth through hearsay, and they joined in the portentous silence.

"Roddy," repeated Penrod, "honest, is Rena Magsworth some relation of yours?"

There is no obsession more dangerous to its victims than a conviction—especially an inherited one—of superiority; this world is so full of Missourians. And from his earliest years Roderick Magsworth Bitts, Jr., had been trained to believe in the importance of the Magsworth family. At every meal he absorbed a sense of Magsworth greatness, and yet in his infrequent meetings with persons of his own age and sex he was treated as negligible. Now dimly he perceived that there was a Magsworth claim of some sort which was impressive, even to the boys. Magsworth blood was the essential of all true distinction in the world, he knew. Consequently, having been driven into a cul-de-sac as a result of a flagrant and unfounded boasting, he was ready to take advantage of what appeared to be a triumphant way out.

"Roddy," said Penrod again, with solemnity, "is Rena Magsworth some relation of yours?"

"Is she, Roddy?" asked Sam, almost hoarsely.

"She's my aunt!" shouted Roddy.

KILL FLIES—SAVE LIVES.

While the nation is giving earnest consideration to the problem of food conservation, there may be a tendency to overlook the equally important matter of health conservation. The fly season is opening, and unless a determined campaign against flies is waged at once there will be more flies and more sickness this summer than ever before.

The fly is the greatest germ "carrier" in existence. It has been definitely established that the fly is the "carrier" of typhoid germ, and it is also believed that it is the "carrier" of other germs, including, possibly, that of infantile paralysis. Health preservation demands the destruction of flies, and the time to destroy flies is right now, at the beginning of the breeding season.

To prevent flies, destroy the breeding places. Flies can not exist except where there is filth. Each citizen should repair the screen on his residence, and should see that every bit of filth of any kind is destroyed about the premises. Brady people will be much more healthy during the summer if these precautions are taken.

A CAUTION.

"No German alien enemy in this country, who has not hitherto been implicated in plots against the interests of the United States, need have any fear of action by the Department of Justice so long as he observes the following: 'Obey the law; keep your mouth shut.'"

The fullest possible publicity for the above is requested by Hon. T. W. Gregory, Attorney General of the United States, Washington, D. C., and should be closely observed. Let every man treat his neighbor as his friend, and caution him against any exhibition of feeling other than true patriotism for the United States. Upon the success of the United States' military moves depends the early termination of the war—so earnestly desired by all citizens.

THE FOOD AND FEED PROBLEM

The State Department of Agriculture calls for the Farmers' Institutes to meet at once to consider the food and feed problem, and addresses the following article to presidents of Farmers' Institutes, to school teachers and to ministers of the gospel:

"A state of war exists between the United States and Germany. The nation is preparing for a gigantic conflict. It is estimated that two million men will be called to arms. It is planned to appropriate $7,000,000,000 for war purposes.

"We are going into war with our food supply over $1,000,000,000 less than a year ago. The shortage in the food supply of the nations at war is many times greater. The nations at peace cannot supply this great shortage. This country is now short 900,000,000 bushels of corn, wheat, oats, and barley; 74,000,000 bushels short on potatoes. Our armies, as well as our civilian population, must be fed.

"The 2,000,000 men called to the army will be consumers—many will be taken from the farm. Prices of food and feed are now seemingly too high, but may go higher, as shown by the table below:

|                                | Oct. 1916 | April 1917 |
|--------------------------------|-----------|------------|
| Corn meal per 100 pounds.....  | $2.35    | $3.50     |
| Irish Potatoes per bushel..... | 1.60      | 2.55       |
| Sweet Potatoes per bushel..... | 1.10      | 2.25       |
| Flour per barrel.....          | 8.00      | 9.40       |
| Bacon per pound.....           | .29       | .38        |
| Wheat per bushel.....          | 1.07      | 1.85       |
| Beans, Lima, per pound.....    | .08       | .15        |

*Advanced on April 10th to $11.20.

"All other foods and feeds have gone up in proportion. Cotton is now the cheapest product, the hardest to raise, most uncertain in yield, and by far the most susceptible to fluctuation in prices, and of the least value in a National famine.

"The same dark clouds of famine now over the starving millions of Europe's women and children (they are the first to suffer) are appearing upon the horizon of this nation. We must avert famine. To do so every patriotic farmer should largely increase his acreage in corn, potatoes, peanuts, beans, peas, and forage crops. If all Texas were planted to food and feed crops, even then the National deficiency would not be supplied.

"It is almost certain that food and feed crops will net greater returns than cotton. Again, the cotton crop may be denied transportation. In that case a double calamity will be produced.

"Raise all the livestock possible. Meat, milk and butter and eggs and poultry will be needed to tide the nation through the threatened famine. Other nations entered the war with plenty; today their food problem is serious. We enter the war with a big shortage.

"In order to arouse our people to the importance of a greater food and feed supply, our field forces were instructed by this Department in March, in anticipation of the war, to urge the planting of more food and feed crops. Now that war has been declared and no one can foresee the end of the great conflict, I am directed by Hon. Fred W. Davis, Commissioner of Agriculture, to request you to call your institute to meet in special session Saturday, April 21, (unless you have a regular meeting at an earlier date) to modify the plans for this year's crop, and to consider ways of caring for perishable crops, whether fruits or vegetables. We invite the Press of the State, business men, churches, lodges, and especially all agricultural societies to co-operate with you on that date and give one day for considering this momentous question. Be vigilant. 30 days may be too late. Everybody is invited and everybody should attend."

Better Job Work.
The Standard office is the best prepared printing office in the county for turning out good job work. We guarantee every job, too. If for any reason it is not satisfactory we make it so. Think of this before sending any order out of town, even though on certain classes of work you can possibly buy it a little cheaper. The Standard wants your printing business, and will appreciate it. The Standard is on the job fifty-two weeks every year, constantly boosting for a bigger and better Brady. We do this freely and cheerfully. The success of this paper depends in great part upon the job department. We depend upon the loyalty of Brady business concerns for our support. If you appreciate our endeavors you always have a substantial way to show it.

Scenic Highway Improving.
Brady citizens, who have had occasion to drive from Brady to Fort Worth and Dallas, are unanimous in declaring the Scenic Highway a splendid route to travel. The roads for the entire distance are said to be in very good shape, with the exception of two stretches, one between Granbury and Fort Worth and another between Bluffdale and Tolar, a total distance of some fifteen miles. It will be a source of pleasure and satisfaction to know that the improvement of this latter stretch is now under way.

According to last week's Granbury News, "Work is now in progress on the new road from Bluffdale to Tolar, which will require three new small bridges, which have been contracted for. It will shorten the distance, and put the road on much better ground."

Under present conditions, it is easily possible to drive from Brady to Fort Worth in a day's time, and the improvements mentioned above will make the drive all the more easy and pleasant.

TERRIBLY SWOLLEN

Suffering Described As Torture
Relieved by Black-Draught.

Rossville, Ga.—Mrs. Kate Lee Able, of this place, writes: "My husband is an engineer, and once while lifting, he injured himself with a piece of heavy machinery, across the abdomen. He was so sore he could not bear to press on himself at all, on chest or abdomen. He weighed 165 lbs., and fell off until he weighed 110 lbs., in two weeks.

He became constipated and it looked like he would die. We had three different doctors, yet with all their medicine, his bowels failed to act. He would turn up a ten-cent bottle of castor oil, and drink it two or three days in succession. He did this yet without result. We became desperate, he suffered so. He was swollen terribly. He told me his suffering could only be described as torture.

I sent and bought Theodor's Black-Draught. I made him take a big dose, and when it began to act he fainted, he was in such misery, but he got relief and began to mend at once. He got well, and we both feel he owes his life to Theodor's Black-Draught."

occasion for a crowded house, for she is everywhere regarded as one of the cleverest and most adorable of movie actresses. In "The Pride of the Clan" she appears in her most lovable characterization. The story is interesting and rugged scenery of Marble Head, Mass., furnishes a wonderfully fascinating background for the story and the players.

Other features, the dates for which will soon be announced, are George M. Cohan's famous New York success, "Broadway Jones," and "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea."

On March 25th the celebrated actor, Henry D. Walthall, who starred as the "Little Colonel" in the "Birth of a Nation," will appear in "Little Shoes," and on March 25th will be shown that startling and intensely interesting expose of modern society, "Idle Wives."

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarhal Cure acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarhal Cure. Circulars free. All Druggists. 50c.

PILGRIMS—ALL OF US.

AN old man, going a lone highway
Came at the evening, cold and gray,
To a chasm vast and deep and wide.
The old man crossed in the twilight dim,
The sullen stream had no fear for him;
But he turned when safe on the other side
And built a bridge to span the tide.
"Old Man," said a fellow pilgrim near,
"You are wasting your strength with building here;

Your journey will end with the ending day,
You never will pass this way;
You've crossed the chasm deep and wide,
Why build you this bridge at evening tide?
The builder lifted his old gray head,
"Good friend, in the path I've come," he said,
"There followeth after me today,
A youth whose feet must pass this way;
This chasm that has been as naught to me,
To that fair-haired youth may a pitfall be;
He too, must cross in the twilight dim—
Good friend, I'm building this bridge for him."
—Selected.

Moving to Rice Building.

F. R. Wulff is today vacating his former quarters adjoining The Standard building, and is moving his stock of Hupmobile and Dodge cars and accessories to the W. R. Rice building on the west side, which he will occupy temporarily pending improvement of his property. Mr. Wulff already has a carload of Mateo trucks of various sizes and styles on display in the Rice building, and the addition of his line of automobiles makes his most imposing display. Work of moving the frame building, heretofore occupied by Mr. Wulff, to a lot in the rear of The Standard building and facing North 1st street, will be begun tomorrow.

South Side Bible Class.

YES! LIFT A CORN OFF WITHOUT PAIN!

Cincinnati Authority Tells How to Dry up a Corn or Callus so it Lifts Off with Fingers.

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, as a few drops of freezone applied directly on a tender, aching corn or callus, stops soreness at once and soon the corn or hardened callus loosens so it can be lifted out, root and all, without pain. A small bottle of freezone costs very little at any drug store but will positively take off every hard or soft corn or callus. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to irritate the surrounding skin. If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house. It is fine stuff and acts like a charm every time.

How about your watch? Is it keeping correct time? If not, let us remedy the trouble for you. Satisfaction guaranteed. A. F. Grant, jeweler, east side square.

Wrong Again!

The Standard made an error last Friday, which amounted to 0. But it so happened that the 0 was placed on the right hand side of a figure 1, which made just 90,000 gallons more water than we should have had. In reporting the shipment of water via the Santa Fe from the San Saba river to Brady, the figures should have read 10,000 gallons to each car, instead of 100,000 gallons. In other words, Brady is now being supplied daily with five cars or 50,000 gallons of water, more or less, as may be required.

And our error reminds us: Someone said if he only had a dollar he could easily make a million. His plan was to take the $1 and lean six ciphers against the right hand side of it, thus—$1,000,000.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Barton were here from Lohn yesterday.

Capt. H. W. McGhee is spending a few days in Austin on business.

J. M. Roe left Sunday evening for Comanche to visit his mother and father.

William Bumgardner and R. Wilensky were passengers for Menard Tuesday Morning.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Collier are in Santa Anna and Coleman on a combined visit and business trip.

Paul Allen, one of the leading citizens of the Whiteland community, was in Brady on business yesterday.

Miss Mabel Taylor was a Monday evening passenger for Brownwood, where she will visit several days.

Mrs. R. P. Hammock of Kemp, Texas, who has been visiting the family of Mr. McShan, returned to her home Sunday evening.

Dr. R. A. Lindley was in Fort Worth and Dallas last week attending a meeting of the compress men, and looking after business.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Noble are spending today in our town, while returning to their home at San Angelo from a visit to the Peg Leg ranch at Hext.

Mrs. S. A. McCollum, Jr., and her sister, Miss Erin Yantis, of Brady have been in Mason the past week for a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. McCollum, Sr.—Mason News.

J. H. Martin, organizer for the Praetorians, left Monday evening for Brownwood, where he will spend a day or two before going to Dallas to attend the State Senate of the M. O. P., which convenes on the 20th and 21st of this month.

W. R. Pence, accompanied by his nieces, Misses Estella and Vivian Pence, and Miss Flora Schaeg, left Monday in his car for San Antonio, where he will spend a week or so, and co-incidentally attend the Battle of Flowers at that place.

Tom White, Arch Carter and Willie McDougall made a round trip to Brady last Tuesday afternoon. They were accompanied home by Mrs. J. F. Schaeg and Oscar Doell, who visited relatives in Mason a short time this week.—Mason News.

Tom Ivy came up from Rochelle Friday and was checked in as manager of the Bowman Lumber Co. on Monday. Mr. Ivy is an old friend and neighbor of W. B. Sellman, and we are glad to have him and family locate with us.—Eden Echo.

Thos S. Wood spent last week at Voca a guest of his brothers-in-law, Messrs. W. W. and D. H. Henderson. He reports squirrel hunting as having been fine, and in proof of the fact that his eye has not lost its keenness and that his hand is still steady, he brought back with him seven of the number killed.

F. R. Wulff returned Sunday evening from a business trip to San Antonio and Laredo. He reports the continued dry weather as having had its effect on the hitherto good roads, and gives it as his opinion that McCulloch county's roads are the best of all. Mr. Wulff made the trip in his Hup and made the entire distance from Brady to San Antonio without changing gears—a feat of which he is justly proud.

A party composed of Messrs. J. B. and Dan Cottrell, accompanied by Mesdames Fonso Gressett and N. C. McShan, returned last week from San Angelo, where they were guests of their daughter and sister. They report a nice trip and an enjoyable visit. Probably the occasion afforded more pleasure to Dan Cottrell than any of the others of the party, since it was his first trip out of the county in 12 years.

Mesdames S. A. Benham and J. D. Branscum, accompanied by Misses Hilda Evans and Lucile Benham, drove to San Saba last Friday, where they exhibited a select showing of gowns, hats and ladies wearing apparel. Coincident with the trip, the Misses Evans and Benham drove to Lampasas Friday night, where they were guests of a dancing party. They report a very enjoyable trip, and a most successful sale of garments and hats.

Mr. J. A. Livingston who came here from Brady to take Mr. Phillips' place as bookkeeper at the oil mill during the latter's absence, left Sunday morning for his home. Mr. Livingston was only with us a month but during that time he proved himself a man of sterling character and of unusual business ability also. He has made many friends who are indeed sorry to have him leave and only wish it had been possible for him to make his home permanently among us.—Hamilton Herald.

W. B. McKenzie returned Saturday from Fort Worth, where he was one of 138 candidates who took the shriners degree there Friday. He reports the Fort Worth lodge as having made every preparation for their coming, and they were entertained in great style. A party of 13 candidates from Graham, upon their arrival, were promptly arrested and carried through the principal streets of Fort Worth in the "hoodlum" wagon, and finally were lodged in jail, where they were served with an elaborate breakfast, after which they began their journey over the hot sands. McKenzie happened to be on hand at the time, and narrowly escaped being added to the bunch when one of his friends attempted to also place him in the "hoodlum." The entire program was successfully carried out, and McKenzie smilingly avers that the "sands were hot."

INSERT APRIL 20th. LIVED ON MILK AND BREAD FOUR YEARS.

Mrs. Barrett Spent Over $1000 Trying To Get Relief From Chronic Dyspepsia.

"I told my husband that my Tanlac was out and that I just had to go to Birmingham to get another bottle, as I wouldn't be without it for any amount of money, and that is why I am here today," said Mrs. H. B. Barrett when she called at Jacobs' Drug Store in Birmingham recently to get her second bottle. Mrs. Barrett resides at Republic, Ala., a suburb of Birmingham, and is well known. "I have taken only one bottle of Tanlac and have gained nine pounds. Yes, sir, this one bottle of Tanlac has done me more good than all the medicines I have ever taken. During the past fourteen years I have spent more than $1,000 trying to get well of a complaint that was gradually sapping my strength. "For the past four years I have lived almost entirely on milk and bread and finally that got so it went against me. I would suffer for hours afterwards. "I had chronic dyspepsia, so I was told, and nothing prescribed for me brought relief. I rarely ever went to the table, as even the sight of food or the odor of it cooking would nauseate me. I had a bad taste in my mouth and nothing I ate tasted right. I had always been healthy and a woman who looked after her household duties, but since having this trouble I got so weak I could not do my housework and had to have help.

"I would have awful pains in my back and was nervous and could not sleep well. When I heard of this Tanlac it sounded so good I thought I would try it, because I was ready to try anything I thought would help me. I was never so surprised in my life; it helped me from the start. The medicine seemed to take hold right away and I could just feel myself getting better from day to day. Before I had finished my first bottle I got so I could eat anything put on the table and could scarcely wait for meal time to come. I certainly bless the day I got this medicine, for I believe it has added years to my life. Oh! I feel so much better and sleep so much better and am not nervous like I was. Just think, I have actually gained nine pounds and feel strong in every way.

My neighbors were as much surprised as I was and they are at my house every day telling me how well I look. I counted up yesterday and fourteen of them are either taking Tanlac or will commence taking it as soon as they can go to Birmingham and get it. Tanlac is certainly a wonderful medicine and everybody out our way is talking about it. You can put this in the papers if you want to, because I know there are thousands of women in the same bad fix that I had been for so many years." Tanlac is sold in Brady by Jones Drug Co., in Melvin by Oscar Sellers, and in Rochelle by C. W. Carr.
