CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETING FRIDAY, JUNE 25

The annual membership meeting of the Brady Chamber of Commerce will be held on Friday of next week—June 25th. In order that as full attendance as possible may be had, Secretary Thos. P. Grant has set the hour of the meeting at 10:00 o'clock a. m. Every member of the Chamber of Commerce, and every citizen of Brady and Brady territory, should be in attendance upon the meeting. A resume of the past year's work will be presented and plans for the next year's work mapped out. There is much vital interest to every citizen of McCulloch county now coming before the Chamber of Commerce for decision, and the co-operation of every citizen is urgently needed.

If you are interested in making Brady a better town, McCulloch county a better county, and the citizens of both town and country more prosperous, more contented and with greater opportunities for health and happiness, then you will want to attend this meeting.

JUNE 19th.

We will have plenty of Cultivators by Saturday, the 19th, as another shipment will arrive on that date. This is your chance to fill your needs. O. D. MANN & SONS.

WATER & LIGHT BOARD RAISES WATER AND LIGHT RATES, EFFECTIVE JULY 1

Announcement is made this week of an increase in water and light rates to consumers, the new rates having been adopted by the Board of Trustees of the Brady Water & Light Co. at their meeting the first of the week. In arriving at the new rates, the board followed the plan adopted by all light and power companies of setting a rate which will not only provide an adequate revenue for operating expenses and returns on the investment, but which will also provide a sinking fund to enable the complete rebuilding of the plant at the end of a fifteen year period, which is considered the life of an electric plant. By this means, sufficient funds should be on hand at the end of the fifteen-year period to assure the buying and installing of a new unit without having to resort to popular subscription or appeal.

The power rate, however, has been reduced, being placed at 10c, the same rate as has prevailed in years past. This for the reason that practically all motors are operated during the day time, when the load is light, and when the electricity consumed is really "velvet" to the plant, which must be operated during the day, regardless of consumption. By giving the low rate, it is expected that the use of motors in Brady will become more general.

Latest advices from the Fairbanks-Morse company state that draft attached to bill of lading has gone forward, which assures all the balance of the equipment ordered from this company being now in transit. The time of its arrival, of course, is problematical, but should be within the next couple weeks. Within five days after its reaching Brady, Superintendent W. O. Kirchner expects to have full service restored to all parts of Brady.

Don't forget we want to supply you with Hay Ties. O. D. MANN & SONS.

2080-ACRE HALL-DUTTON TRACT TO BE DEVELOPED BY BIG TRUST COMPANY

THAD O. DAY HEADS $960,000.00 TRUST COMPANY BEING ORGANIZED BY CHICAGO FINANCIERS—DAY NO. 3 SHOWING UP FINE AT 1,000 FT. DEPTH.

The taking over of the entire Hall-Dutton tract, comprising 2,080 acres, is forecast in the organization in Chicago of a $960,000.00 trust company under the name of the Day-Daley Petroleum Co. The deal for the organization of this great company was completed during Mr. Day's visit the past three weeks in Chicago, and the company will include a group of leading financiers and business men of that city. The company will have as its purpose the development of the Hall-Dutton lease.

The Day-Daley Petroleum Company will be a closed corporation, no stock being for sale, and will operate in Texas under a declaration of trust. The prime movers in the organization are the same people who have been interested with Mr. Day in the 320 acre tract upon which Day well No. 3 is now drilling. The company now has added to their earlier holdings an undivided half-interest in the original 1760 acres, giving the company a total holdings of 2,080 acres, or the entire of the original Hall-Dutton acreage, located 11 miles north and east of Brady, and in the heart of the McCulloch county oil field. This acreage already has three wells, one producing and two drilling.

Officers of the new company are as follows: Thad O. Day, president and field superintendent; Frank J. O'Brien, 1st vice-president; Sidney J. Winters, 2nd vice-president; Joseph L. Gill, 3rd vice-president; Maurice E. Daley, secretary and treasurer.

Day well No. 3 is underreaming 6 5/8 inch casing at about 880 feet to shut out a very bad cave. The well has been drilling in the Smithwick shale, and just touched the sand around 1,000 ft. when the cave-in occurred, the cave forcing the sand 60 ft up in the pipe. The well is showing up both oil and gas, but the drillers are unable to ascertain whether the oil comes from the sand where the drill was stopped, or from the shallow sands which were passed through at about 850 ft. A strong flow of gas is also being had, the gas becoming so strong Wednesday as to force oil and slush five feet above the casing.

Operations on Day well No. 2 are expected to be resumed sometime next week. Negotiations are now being made for a machine to drill this well, and all preparations are expected to be completed in short order.

The Fidelity Company, which recently took over the Cosden interests in McCulloch county, announce their intention of drilling at the earliest possible moment on their holdings

'THE STRAND' NEW PICTURE SHOW TO OPEN IN BRADY

"The Strand" will be the name under which Brady's newest moving picture show will be operated. W. E. Weeks, proprietor of the show, arrived with his family the first of the week from Stephenville, and already has preparations for the new show house well under way. "The Strand" will be located in the Rice building on the west side of the square. This building is well suited for theatre purposes, being one of the most commodious structures in the city, as well as being conveniently located on the square. The room has a depth of 90 ft. with a breadth of 42 1/2 ft., assuring a large seating capacity, especially since no stage will be built, Mr. Weeks having decided to devote his efforts exclusively to motion pictures as entertainment feature.

Carpenters are now engaged in building the inclined floor, the balcony, lobby, ticket office, etc. Mr. Weeks states that all material and equipment for the new show is now enroute, except the opera seats, and it will possibly be a matter of several months before these latter arrive. In the meantime, however, Mr. Weeks will secure temporary seats, so as to avoid any delay in opening the theatre. The opera seats will be furnished in rows of ten, and will give the theatre a seating capacity of 480. The equipment will include two up-to-date Powers machines, with individual light plant and switchboard, which will assure the showing of all pictures without delay while changing reels.

Mr. Weeks has secured an expert operator from Dallas to handle his machines, the operator having had 38 years' experience in the business, which will assure the very best of service and satisfaction. Announcement of the opening date of the theatre will be made later.

MENARD RANCHMEN LEASE SCHOOL LANDS NORTH OF SAN ANGELO

San Angelo, June 15—Four leagues of school land, comprising 17,712 acres, and located six miles north of San Angelo, on the Robert Lee road, have been leased by the commissioners of Llano county to Arch Wilkerson and R. W. Carruthers of Menard. The lease is for five years and it is understood the price was 6 1/4 cents an acre, which, if correct, sets a new record for this section.

Wilkerson & Carruthers have also purchased the improvements on the ranch from G. D. Hines & Sons of Coleman, who have occupied the land for the past three years. The property is one of the best improved places in West Texas, having a good ranch home, wells and windmills, corals and an eighty-acre farm.

Several years ago it was operated by Oscar Latta of Junction, sheriff of Kimble county.

C. W. Purcell, field superintendent for the Howell-Hyde well, being drilled on the Matthew Capps tract, 13 miles southeast of Brady, reports the well shut down on account of a broken pump. The well has been underreaming the 8-inch casing at 430 ft. A new pump has been ordered out by express and is expected to arrive today, which will enable an immediate resumption of operations. Messrs. Ben C. Hyde and Frank E. Harrison, who head the company, visited here Wednesday and expressed satisfaction with the progress being made, as well as being greatly encouraged by developments in the Day tract.

The White well No. 4, 1 1/2 miles from the town of Mercury, was shot yesterday, and will be tested as soon as the hole can be cleaned. Jeff Meers reports the Texas-Meers well drilling on the Hartgroves tract in Concho county as drilling at 500 ft. with a 13-inch hole. So far the formation has been shale, with the exception of one 10-foot strata and one five-foot strata of lime rock. This is a new experience as all wells in this section heretofore have had as much lime as shale.

Considerable interest is being manifested in Concho county over the developments in the well at Rowena, Runnels county, which is reported as having about 3,000,000 ft. of gas, with a showing of oil.

The Prairie Oil & Gas Co. is rigging up to drill in the southwest part of Coleman county, and within sight of the Texas-Meers rig.

A pipe line is being laid from the Russell well, and gas will be piped to a location somewhere south, the exact location not being given out. It is understood, however, that this new well is contracted to be drilling by July 4th.

BAPTIST MEETING GROWING IN INTEREST DAILY

The protracted meeting at the Baptist church, which was begun on last Sunday, is growing in interest daily, and large attendance is being had. A large choir is adding to the interest and enjoyment of the meeting. Daniel H. Post, the singer in charge of the choir, having developed one of the best choruses that has ever been had in Brady. The grand choir is divided into two sections, the Junior and Senior, and both are aiding in making the meeting a great success.

The services by the Rev. Ernest Baldwin are proving of especial interest and appeal, and a number of confessions have been had, with two accessions to the church Wednesday. The meeting will continue indefinitely, services being held twice daily—at 10:00 a. m., and at 8:00 p. m. A cordial invitation is extended all to attend.

Do you choose tires because they are made by a secret formula?

Or do you buy them to secure safe, pleasurable riding for many miles at low cost per mile?

BLAME ON PAPER

Atrocious Wall Coverings Cause of Bad Temper.

In Article on the Subject, English Journal Makes Serious Charges Against Designers Who Give Fancy the Rein.

"It isn't your liver which is wrong, it is your will power!" may possibly be the exclamation of the doctor in the near future. Instead of sending round to the chemist for salts and senna, the man who feels his nerves to be jangled, his digestion to be rotten and a taste in his mouth like sucked pennies, will call in the men with the ladders, the paste bucket and the slapdash brushes.

Many a man thinks he is bad tempered and takes himself seriously to task, as he reads his paper in the train, for having left behind him a family in tears, when really, he is perfectly innocent.

If he did break out and say things and slam doors and throw things about and ask who had been chopping firewood with his best razor and call the breakfast bacon "putrid"—it probably was—it was not that he was "ratty," but that the wallpaper all over his house was enough to give a rhinoceros a thin skin, a writer in London Answers asserts.

In the days before wallpapers were invented the world bred quite a large and regular crop of saints. The reason no new saint ever appears on the horizon is due to wallpapers. Who could be a saint and live with the atrocious convolutions, evolutions and pyrotechnics of the modern wallpaper?

The thing is impossible. A wall covered with a fruit salad of cherries, with leaves to match, may be borne with for a day, or even a week, but when it comes to living with it a whole year, and often much more, it gets on the nerves and frays the edges of the nervous system.

Then there is the flower paper, a few degrees worse than the fruit salad contraption. A little red rose or two scattered broadcast on a nice, creamy background may be all right, but when it comes to what the Covent garden porter calls "A market bunch" repeated all over the wall 520 times it is calculated to send a Galapagos tortoise into hopping madness.

Then it is a funny thing how wallpaper designers love big flowers. They wouldn't be seen looking at a daisy or a primrose, but put a sunflower or a dahlia or a rhododendron or a prize chrysanthemum or some mixture of all these which makes a flower no one ever saw outside an opium dream and they go for it with avidity and reproduce it by the hundred gross!

Paperhangers would be well advised to change their method of advertising their craft. It is no use to put up a sign simply saying that you are a house decorator, "estimates free," and that sort of rot. Say, rather: "N. O. Arsnik, Professor of Rest Cure. Are you jumpy? Do you tremble when you see a job of work? Are you given to language? Do you assault the gas meter man and set the dog on the tax gatherer? What you want is a new wallpaper or two—something in low tones, restful and soothing."

"Giddap!"

The Stars and Stripes prophesies that long after the last of the American forces have left France echoes of Yankee vernacular will linger among the French peasantry, and to bear out its prophecy it tells the following story of a good woman at Vouvray, a suburb of Tours, who bought at a sale, conducted by our remount service, a horse with which on the whole she was well pleased. When, however, she had it only a short time a private from the Tours barracks came upon the worried old lady, circling horse and cart in a vain effort to get the beast to start.

"How goes it, madame?" he inquired. "Ah, monsieur, he is a bon cheval but he understands not the French. How is it you say 'allez' monsieur?" "Voilà, madame," he replied, and took the reins and with a single "giddap!" urged the horse into action. "Ah, merci, monsieur, merci!" exclaimed the amazed and delighted woman.

If ten years from now she remembers no more than "giddap!"—well, that's something.

Secretary Baker a "Bartender."

"I might have a chance to get a job after March 4, 1921," said Secretary of War Baker the other day, "if it had not been for the prohibition business." "Once when I was mayor of Cleveland I had a hand in settling a labor row. When it was all over one of the men asked me if I carried a union card. I replied that I did not, but would be very glad to have the chance to do so. In the next day's mail I got a card entitling me to life membership in the bartenders' union.

"I carry the card to this day, but now I am afraid it will not do me much good."—New York Sun.

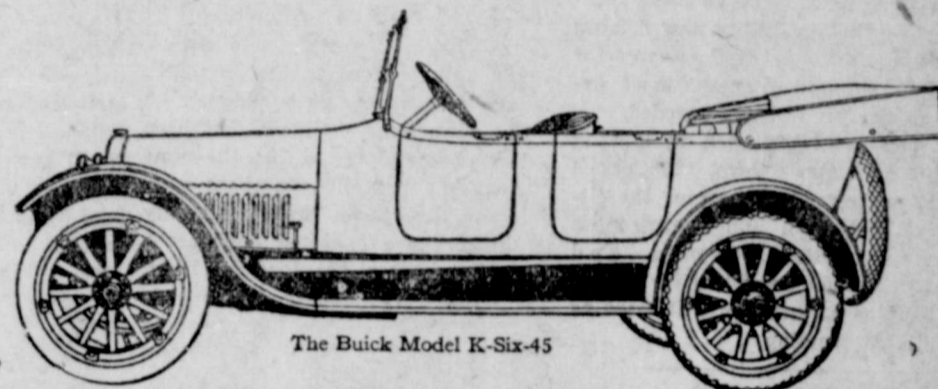

Unnecessary Work.

The other day when the second grade teacher announced the singing lesson she noticed that Russell was reading a story book. "Put away your book, dear, while we are learning to sing," she said. "But I don't really need to learn how to sing," he calmly protested. "You see, we have a phonograph at our house."

A wealthy but miserly baronet had a magnificently decorated dining room, while his viands were very few. A wit was invited to dine on a certain occasion and the host asked him if he didn't think the room elegant. "Yes," was the reply, "but it is not to my taste."

"In what way is it not to your taste?" asked the host.

"Well," answered the wit, "if this were my house, you know, I would have—" looking at the ceiling—"less gilding and—" here he looked at the dining table—"more carving."—Ex.

The meeting was interrupted by the entrance of one who made his way to the platform and whispered excitedly to the chairman.

"Is Mr. Smith in the audience?" broke forth the presiding officer. "I am informed that his house is afire."

Forty men sprang to their feet. "It is the house of Mr. John Smith" added the chairman.

"Thank goodness!" fervently exclaimed one man, resuming his seat.

"You're a liar!" drawled the little man.

"What!" roared the big man, clenching a huge fist. "Do you dare to call me that, you poor, puny puppy?"

"I do," came back the defiant reply. "If you speak another word, you great lump of pork, I'll soon cut you short!"

"Cut me short, you cheese-mite," shouted the enraged giant.

"Yes, and here goes," snapped the poor, puny puppy, sharply, and before the burly one could utter a word he hung up the telephone receiver!

In Glasgow they tell of a resourceful clergyman who is never at a loss for a retort. He was once called to the bedside of a wealthy, but stingy man.

The young Englishman had gotten into the habit of looking into the cup when it was yellow, and the result of too many Scotch whiskeys was a deranged digestion. Worried about it, he consulted a doctor.

"Then," replied the doctor, "whenever you feel thirsty, eat an apple instead of drinking whisky."

The young man paid his fee and departed. Later on he was talking to a friend about it and wound up with the comment:

 Critically the waiter raised the

 Then, triumphantly, he set it down

Beautiful Iris Flower That Old Colored Man Carried Led to Pretty Incident Witnessed on Busy City Street.

He was quite old and very black.
 His tired eyes were like those of a faithful dog who has had a long day
 and sits quietly looking up at his master just before lying down on his rug
 for the night. A neat and clean old black man was he, but not so prosperous as one would wish to be, perhaps, in the evening of life. He was not moving as rapidly as were most of the people on the busy street, and from time to time he almost stopped his slow, shuffling walk to enjoy looking down at the lovely blue iris that he carried tenderly in his wrinkled hand.
 Any lover of flowers could see at a glance that the old man was likewise
 a lover of flowers, and more than one busy passer-by turned to look at him
 and the beautiful bloom he carried.

The woman who finally stopped the old man and spoke to him about his blue flower was kindly looking, elderly, soft-spoken. A listener might have thought she talked just a little in the southern manner.
 "You have a lovely iris there, uncle,"
 she said. "Just the kind I always admire every spring. And if you'd like to have some one have it who loves the flowers I'd be very glad to buy it
 from you."

"Ma'am," said he, taking off the old hat that kept the white wool from blowing in the breeze, "ma'am, ef yo'
 all like iris Ah sho wish to gib him to yo'. Please to ax'cep' him fum me, ma'am"—and he held out the flower
 for her to take.

"Oh no, uncle. I couldn't take it from you like that. I didn't mean you to give it to me, indeed I didn't; but it was so lovely I just couldn't help asking you to let me buy it. Thank you just the same, though," she said, pleasantly and smilingly, and started to go down the street.

"Ma'am, ma'am," the old fellow called after her. "Won't yo' all wait jes one minute, please. Ah'll tell what I'd lak to do, ef yo' don' min'. Dere's a Salvation gal dar on de co'ner and Ah didn't hab money 'nuf to gib her any.
 Yo' all take de iris flo' an' gib her de money, won't yo' please, ma'am?"

"Certainly," said the lady, "and I'm sure the girl will thank you for the money. Good-by, uncle"—and she took the flower and crossed the street
 to where the bright-faced Salvation Army girl stood collecting stray dimes and nickels and quarters from the hurrying passers-by. And this is what the old ducky saw happen when the smiling woman reached the girl.

First of all he saw her open her purse and drop some of its contents
 into the tin pan the girl held ready and waiting, and then he could see,
 as they both looked across the street
 at him, that the lady was telling the girl the source of the contribution—and the girl waved her hand and smiled at the old man. And then he saw the girl look at the flower as the lady held it, and then the flower changed owners once more and was quickly pinned on the lapel of the blue coat the girl wore. The old man smiled, and shuffled along his way, happily. The lady went her way too,
 and she looked happy. And the Salvation lass, proudly wearing the blue flower, was radiant.—Hartford Cour-

"Bacon Box" Furniture.

"Bacon box stuff" is the contemptuous description by second-hand dealers
 for much of the new furniture now being hastily manufactured. Such is the shortage of timber and the demand
 for furniture that packing cases,
 sugar boxes, etc., supply the material
 for bedroom suites.

One dealer confided to the writer
 that he had been offered suites in two grades. When he asked the difference in quality between the two the traveler replied:

"Well, in the cheaper line we can't guarantee that names like 'Best Cured Hams' or 'Parson Oats' won't show up under the varnish. In the better quality we guarantee the wood is stained right downy."—London Chronicle.

The high cost of living makes little difference to the mountaineers down in Tennessee. A Columbus man who made a trip through that region recently and remained over night and through the day at the home of a mountaineer, was asked to pay $1 for his lodging and three big meals. And the head of the household wanted to know if the charge was too much. At each meal enough was set before the Columbus man to serve five ordinary men. The mountaineers raise everything they eat and do not worry about the high cost of things, because there is little they are obliged to buy.—Col-

Felt and Cloth From Spun Glass.

Il Sole, published at Milan, contains an article on the glass industry, in which it is stated that after a series of experiments made in Venice and Murano by Signor Luigi Bisgato, felt and cloth made from spun glass have now been successfully produced there.
 A new society, the "Vitrin", has been formed with extensive plants
 at Naples, for the manufacture of this felt and cloth. The plants are in storage batteries.

ALL ARE TALLER LYING DOWN

Fact Which at First Seems Peculiar Is Easily Susceptible of Scientific Proof.

How many people are aware that we are shorter when standing than when lying, and taller in the morning than in the evening?

An Englishman was the first to discover this, but afterward Doctor Marand of the Royal academy of France made several experiments to prove the theory. He found after a year's trial that usually in the night
 he gained almost three-eighths of an inch, and lost almost as much during the day. The cause of this is to be found in the different state or condition of the cartilages which go to make up the spine.

The joints of this part of our bodies are separated and yet joined by particular bony substances, every one of which has a springy resilience.
 These are capable of yielding on all sides without bending the backbone or spine itself. Of course, the difference is scarcely perceptible in one joint alone, but the combined effect is appreciable. Naturally, when the spine is supporting the weight of the head it is liable to contract, and we are taller after lying down for some time
 than after we have been walking about all day with our bodies in an upright position, with the spine supporting the weight of the head.

At night time, when we lie down in a more or less horizontal position,
 these top parts do not weigh so heavily, and the springy muscles being expanded, our spines consequently become longer.

Another proof of this is to be found in the increase of height sometimes experienced by invalids who have spent a long time in bed; and also in the fact that the more rest a young child has, the taller he will grow.—London
 Tit-Bits.

This Toad Was a Vagrant.

How she indulged in an experiment
 to determine the truth of the assertion recently made by a Youth's Companion contributor that toads have homing instincts, and was disappointed, Miss Dora Read Goodale tells in the Springfield Republican.

Some time ago, she writes, I read that the unassuming toad has the
 "homing instinct" to as great a degree
 as the homing pigeons, and the assertion was supported by detailed accounts of various toads that were removed to a distance but returned to their native haunts even before their owner or landlord. Therefore, on a fine Sunday morning I caught in my garden a portly toad, whose puffy cor-pulency suggested that he had executed numberless flies, and, after trying a red thread round his leg like a badge
 of honor, I carried him, partly by automobile and partly on foot, three miles from home.

When I gently deposited him near
 a mossy log by the wayside, he sat perfectly still for fully two minutes, as if getting his bearings; then, after blinking two or three times and catching an ant or two with his lightning tongue, he gave a prodigious leap and disappeared in the undergrowth. I confess I had not much hope of seeing him again—and I never have.

No "Mute Inglorious Miltons."

There are no "mute, inglorious Miltons," although there are many inglorious persons who imagine that they are Miltons, writes St. John Ervine in the Manchester Guardian. A Milton may be "inglorious" for a period, but he is never "mute" for a moment. Even the inglorious persons who imagine that they are Miltons, when they would be much better employed as haberdash-ers, are never mute. They are as a rule, more articulate than the Miltons, for they put into their tongues
 what they are unable to put into their pens.

The problems of society in dealing with men of genius is not how to encourage them but how to keep them in order. It is probably true that in a disorganized nation the average intelligent man, if he be reared in poverty,
 will fall to rise to his level, but it is equally true that the man of genius, however harsh his circumstances may be, will find his level as certainly as water does.

Some Feat.

Mother was out for the evening, so father was putting the son and heir to bed. Moreover he was beginning to realize why his wife was so tired in the evening.

"Now, Ronald!" he said sternly,
 when the blankets had been drawn over the little figure, "remember that I will be very cross if you aren't a good boy when I have gone downstairs."

He left the room reassured by the aved-silence which followed his words.
 But he had hardly reached the foot of the stairs when a shrill voice yelled:
 "Come and tuck me in, farver!"
 He lost his temper.
 "I won't!" he retorted. "Get up and tuck yourself in."

War Divorces Increase.

The post-war divorce crash in England is steadily increasing and it was declared in London that no diminution is in sight. There were 1,325 unde-fenced cases in the January list of the divorce court and a new list is being prepared to take care of the surplus cases. The big increase in divorces is attributed to the upheaval in social conditions caused by the war.

Passport From a Bandit.
 "Since you are a missionary, I'll not take your money, but I want your jack knife, a pair of shoes and those gloves."

The missionary, homeward bound from the interior of China, paid the tribute which the robber chief exacted and started on his way. But the bandit called him back.

"I'd better give you my card. It will take you safely to the Loo river, 200 miles away. Beyond that I'm not known."

The missionary took the card and found that it was better than a government passport. At the very next ford someone called to him:

"Who are you, and what's your business?"

"I'm an American missionary on my way to Shanghai."

"Have you a card from Chang, the bandit chief?"

"Yes."
 "Go on."

Five times on the way he had to show his card. In one town he saw a company of soldiers with no guns
 or ammunition.

"What's the matter?" he asked.
 "Change, the robber, took our guns"
 they told him.

But the missionary with the band-it's card passed safely from the country of a Chinese Rob'n Hood to twentieth century Shanghai.—The

RECOLLECTIONS.

We leave early this morning for the west on a two days trade excursion. The dominant note was sounded when the trip was named the Get-Together excursion. Speaking of references made by Temple boosters to a former trip through this same territory, The Brady Standard says: "It's the pleasant recollections that linger long in memory and that are recalled at every opportunity."

"Probably most citizens of Brady have forgotten the chicken dinner the ladies of Brady served a delegation of Temple live wire boosters a few years ago—most of us had about forgotten the Templeites were ever here. But the Temple folks have not forgotten their visit to Brady—not by a jug full. Their visit here might be termed the 'teme' of a perfect day."

"When a bunch of excursionists reach a place after a hot, tiresome journey, and feel pretty well fagged out, and 'sorter' running low on pep—and then bump right into a first-class chicken dinner served by the prettiest and most gracious ladies on the face of the earth—oh boy! How could they forget!"

"Brady has a warm spot in the hearts of Templeites because of that almost forgotten chicken dinner of long ago. Needless to say, Brady citizens will warm up to the Temple aggregation because of their kindly remembrance."

That is the thing that counts, pleasant recollection. We frankly admit our mission is to advertise Temple, but we also want to foment friendship and closer fellowship with our neighboring towns. There is no inconsistency between the two. Friendship is a most essential business asset, not a factor to be disregarded.

Athens, Sparta, Thebes and other Grecian independent cities doubtless found color for their prejudices, but the glory of Greece departed! We are out to make friends and get better acquainted, and the things that are remembered the longest, the impressions that linger are the things that are worthy and count most.

It was as it should be that local boosters should remember more distinctly the pleasures of the chicken dinner at Brady for it was a most delightful courtesy which the Brady citizens prepared (ladies may now be referred to as citizens). We were under obligation to you and could not forget. Great are the people who can bestow favors and forget. But when you hear that wildcat whistle blow, you'll not forget us this time, although that may not be considered as a distinct favor to you, especially if you are nervous in your temperament.

The Standard Editor gives us a momentary flash of sadness as he relates how Temple folks have not forgotten their former visit to Brady "not by a jug full." These were great days, but we are going to do the best we can under the circumstances and any suggestions that The Standard Editor might make during our stay in Brady will be cheerfully received.

We shall make every effort to jazz up the excursion during our friendly visits but if our stay in Brady should prove too dull to the editor, we might invite him a board our baggage car (perhaps he will recall that the train on the former excursion carried a baggage car?) and treat him to a bottle of lemon crush or an icecream cone!—Temple Telegram.

In the rush of the Temple boosters' visit yesterday morning, that invitation to the baggage car was forgotten. The inducement likewise was missing, so, after all, it was 50-50. The jug went to the well once too often—it's broken now.

TO THE CITIZENS OF McCULLOCH COUNTY.

I have just heard that the report is being circulated through the county that I sold out to the cotton buyer last fall and quit the warehouse. If the parties circulating this report will read the public weigher's law, passed by the Legislature and signed by Governor H. P. Hobby, March 17, 1919, and became a law 60 days thereafter, they will see that I could not weigh cotton under that law, and know therefore why I quit at the warehouse.

Someone also put out the report that I was opposed to farmers bulking their cotton and having one man to sell it for them; also that I was opposed to having a Government classer in McCulloch County. Now, I positively deny being opposed to either, for no man could deny that co-operative selling is the most profitable way to the farmer, and whoever put out this report, either misunderstood me, or are putting out these false statements to hurt me in my candidacy for public weigher. I am ready to answer any question you may want to ask regarding these questions. Very respectfully,

ED JACOBY.

FIRE BOYS WILL HAVE ANNUAL FEED SUNDAY—BARBECUE, BEVO, BREAD

BRADY MERCHANTS AND CITIZENS LIBERAL IN DONATION OF "EATS" FOR BIG EVENT—HOSE CO. NO. 2 WILL ACT AS WAITERS UPON OCCASION.

The Brady Volunteer Fire department will have their annual feed on next Sunday, when a big barbecue and spread will be enjoyed on Brady creek, either at the Jordan summer camp, or at the Country club. The event promises to be one of the biggest and best of its kind ever staged by the fire boys, especially since Brady business men and citizens have been especially liberal in the donation of a great variety of both eats and drinks. Hose Company No. 2 will act as waiters upon the occasion—this honor having been thrust upon them, so to speak.

The fire boys are highly pleased with the manner in which Brady citizens have endeavored to make their "feed" a success. Four goats have been donated for the barbecue, and with them bread, pies, cakes, cigars and everything that goes towards the making of a successful banquet, including "Bevo" and "Reif's Special." In fact, so liberal have been the donations that there remains to be supplied by the fireboys only the pickles, onions and a few other articles.

In order to decide which of the fire boys were best qualified to act as waiters, a race was staged on the square Wednesday night between Hose Company No. 1, with John Moffatt, foreman, and Hose Company No. 2, with Otis Turney, foreman. Hose Company No. 2 made the first run, and ran so hard they ran past the fire plug about 100 ft. Nevertheless they felt assured that their time could not be beat, since they made the run and hose connection in 3:20. Hose Company No. 1 started under the handicap of heavy chaffing upon the part of No. 2, but this good-natured hurrahing merely served to speed their efforts, with the result that they timed but 2:36. Hose Company No. 2 now promises to make up for their tardiness in the race by giving the rest of the boys an example in "service" as waiters.

"Salaries and Wages"
Out of every dollar paid out by the average telephone company for the expense of making the service it sells, around 60c (or more) goes to its employees for salaries and wages!
Telephone employees are no more immune from the "high cost of living" than any other people. Unless their pay can be made commensurate with present living costs, an experienced organization cannot be maintained—and your telephone service will suffer in consequence.
But remember that the responsibility for the wages it pays does not rest solely upon the telephone company, for the company can pay no more than its income will allow—and its income depends upon the rates it is permitted to charge for the service it has to sell.

WONDER WORDS.

Wonder, Ore., June 7.

Editor Brady Standard:

We are just now having a "million dollar" (?) rain. Why the question mark in parenthesis? Because there is so much of the first cutting of alfalfa cut and in the fields. Yet it will be so much benefit to grain and other crops that it will more than offset the damage done in the matter of hay. This is the first rain we have had in a long, long while. So long I have forgotten when.

It began raining slowly last night and kept it up steadily now for about twenty hours and will likely keep it up all night tonight. Heretofore every time it would fix up for a rain the wind would change to the north and clear off and freeze. Nearly all of the fruit is killed. The complaint seems to be general. I saw a man yesterday from the Hood River country (that is where they raise the world renowned apples and strawberries). But the Rogue River people think that Southern Oregon can produce as good fruit as Northern Oregon.

The man told me that in the Hood River country and all along through the Willamette valley that the berries and fruit and the English walnuts, grapes, etc. are all killed. By the way; has anyone ever tried English walnuts in Texas. I see no reason why they will not do well there. How about gasoline there?

We are experiencing a gasoline famine here which is demoralizing industry of every description. Just what is the cause of the shortage, and how long it will last is a great source of speculation. A dozen different theories are advanced; many of them apparently plausible.

Here is an ad I put in our county paper: J. T. Roberson of Wonder has a talking boar. Nothing strange about that! Some of the worst bores we have are talking bores. But listen!—This is the best boar in Josephine county! You do not have to consult the records to know it. The pig speaks for himself. Less than ten months young and more than three hundred pounds. Can you beat it? Nay, verily! and only in good galloping condition. Will sell him cheap, as he has another one that is no kin to his stock.

Here is two important points for the hog raiser to remember. Never use sires that are related to your dams. Be sure that your hogs get plenty of exercise. Never keep your growing hogs cooped up in a small pen. I have a small pasture with a stream of pure water running thru it and I never put a hog in a close pen till I am ready to fatten it, and I have never had a diseased hog in this country. Do you suppose that your child would be healthy if you kept it confined to one small room where it could get no exercise?

"O. I. C. U. R. RIGHT."

Note—Be sure you make the distinction between "boar" and "bore."

P. S.—The Fourth of July celebration and all other big social events have been called off, on account of gasoline shortage. All the public parks at the towns are packed with tourists unable to obtain gas to go on their way; waiting for John D. to have a heart.

Nine-tenths of the joy riders are wasting nine-tenths of their time running back and forth to the various dealers trying to obtain a gallon here and a gallon there.

OUTLINE OF RURAL LIFE SCHOOL DEMONSTRATION AT THE A. & M. COLLEGE

The following article, reprinted from the Agricultural Education Monthly Letter, issued by the Department of Vocational Teaching at A. & M. College, gives an insight into the work which W. L. Hughes, former superintendent of the Brady Independent schools will have in charge at A. & M. college:

Students in Agricultural Education will have in the future the advantage of a Demonstration Rural Life School in which to observe and to do their practice teaching. This school will open the coming September. The school has been assured by the fact that the State Board of Education has granted to the college public school district the sum of $12,943 for public school education. The amendment to the Rural Aid Law makes the granting of the above sum possible.

The Rural Life School will be established on the Campus and will include all the grades through the high school. The plan is to make this school serve as a model for rural life schools in the state. The high school and grades will be used to demonstrate the vocational and prevocational work. The girls will be given the homemaking courses and the boys will receive work in manual training, shopwork, and vocational agriculture.

This school will have unusual advantages for vocational work as well as the academic work offered in all high schools. All the equipment of the great College plant will be at the service of this school. The college has a Zoo that will add interest and be of large usefulness in the teaching of the smaller children. In the work in the grades in geography and the industries, the classes will make use of the laundry; the cotton mill; the creamery and other parts of the college plant. In the work in vocational agriculture no school in the country will have the advantage that this high school will have. The college farm, the agronomy plots; the experiment station plots and the experiment station farm will give unusual advantages in developing the course in plant production. The work in animal production will have the use of all the college herds; the large dairy, and creamery, while the shop work can take advantage of the best equipment in the State for instruction in this particular line.

The Rural Life School will be connected very closely with the Vocational Teaching Department of the College. The principal of the school is to be a member of the teaching staff of the Department. The practice teaching of the college students will be done in the high school under the direction of the Agricultural Education staff. This will give the men in the college, who are preparing to teach vocational agriculture, the opportunity to meet a real situation. They will teach before a real high school class and under real Smith-Hughes requirements.

In making up the school, the pupils will come in from four districts. The college will transport the children from these districts to the central school by motor trucks. The school will be in fact, a real rural life consolidated school.

Mr. W. L. Hughes of Brady, Texas, was tendered the principalship of this school, and he has accepted the work for the coming year. Mr. Hughes has been superintendent of the public schools at Brady for the past eight years, and has succeeded in working out a system that is in several points quite distinctive. Mr. Hughes will be assisted by well-trained teachers in the grades and by successful assistants in the high school.

With the organization of this Rural Life School, the Vocational Teaching Department of the A. & M. College will take a distinct step forward. The Department is now one of the best equipped departments of its kind in the country along the lines of visual instruction and projection work. With the beginning of the new demonstration school will come the added advantage to the Department and to its students of giving definite practice under real conditions. This will give the A. & M. College of Texas a department of Vocational Teaching equal to, if not better than, that of any college in our land.

This school will not only be a benefit along the lines of vocational work, but it will afford an excellent opportunity for work along the lines of curriculum making, adaptation of subject-matter, and for a study of economy of time in the schoolroom. The Department will have a definite situation to demonstrate and to obtain data for work in educational measurements and mental tests. It will greatly extend the opportunities for graduate work.

We are real glad to be able to make the above announcement and hope that many will be able to share with us the advantages it will offer.

The same principles which made the Hudson famous are combined in the Essex. Place your order early. F. R. WULFF.

Why He Didn't Want to Go.
Edward, aged 5, showed a determination not to go to school at all. Finally his favorite aunt was called in to use her persuasive powers. "Surely, Edward," she said, "you want to go to school with your big brother in the autumn."

"No, ma'am," said Edward; "I have decided not to go to school. I can't read, I can't write, and I can't sing. So what use should I be at school?"

TEMPLE BOOSTERS LIVE AGGREGATION—LIKE BRADY HOSPITALITY

STEAM SIREN TOOTS—36-PIECE BRASS BAND PLAYS LIVELY AIRS—BOOSTERS MARCH LIKE VETERANS AND BOOST TEMPLE TO BEAT—EVERYTHING.

Temple boosters—200 strong—red caps, 36-piece band, steam siren, everything, arrived yesterday morning on their two-days trade excursion trip through this section of West Texas. They were a lively aggregation, and demonstrated their appreciation of Brady's former hospitality in the serving of a chicken dinner in years gone by, by telling Brady citizens that Brady was the best burg they had seen enroute, and that their greeting was the most cordial in Brady of any place they had so far been. 'Fact! Bob Gresham, editor of the Temple Mirror, and whose heart is a large as his girth (that's some waist-band he's got) said it, and Bob deals in truth and veracity like a veteran. Bob said he was sure glad to be in Brady, and he spoke for the whole Temple aggregation.

Then there was Andy MacBeath, the versatile "State Press" of the Temple Telegram. Andy, too, said he liked Brady, and that the Temple booster who said he had seen the most beautiful ladies and girls on the trip the first day, didn't know what he was talking about, and should have waited until he reached Brady. Andy made a beautiful speech, the keynote of which was that the Temple booster excursion could not be a complete success unless it brought closer cooperation between Temple and the towns which the boosters were visiting. Andy was followed by P. L. Downs, Jr., who said Andy was the handiest and best-beloved man in Temple. Said he was editorial writer on the Temple Telegram, president and secretary of the Lions club, president, secretary and sole member of the "Flowers for the Living Club," (Andy ought to be able to get some recruits in Temple, surely) and so on down the line, and that Andy passed out flowers, both literally and figuratively speaking to everyone, the well and the sick. In token of their high regard, Downs then presented MacBeath with a beautiful bouquet—a cabbage head mounted upon a beribboned stick.

In his welcoming address, T. P. Grant, secretary of the Brady Chamber of Commerce, made a decided impression upon the boosters when he said he was glad to see that Temple had so many good citizens as were to be seen in this visit to Brady. Most Brady folks, he said, never saw Temple except in the dead of the night, because of the unearthly train schedule of the Santa Fe. "The Parson" told of Brady's efforts to secure regular passenger service between Brady and Temple, and asked the Temple boosters to lend their cooperation in the move.

"Now he's saying something," said Bob Gresham, "and we Temple folks are the ones to get that for Brady. We've got something to talk about when we get back home, and Brady will certainly get her improved train service and connections with Temple if we have to move heaven and earth to get it." That's the kind of a booster Bob Gresham is!

Speaking for the citizens of Brady, The Standard can say that Brady was glad to welcome Temple and its live-wire representatives to Brady, and regrets that their stay here was so limited. Needless to say, the visit here did much to draw the interests and friendships between Brady and Temple closer, and Temple visitors will always be assured of a hearty welcome upon the part of Brady citizens.

The Temple Telegram's airplane, with Chas. W. Williams piloting, made a flight while the speaking was in progress on the courthouse square, and added zest to the sight by doing several topsy-turvy stunts.

LOCAL BRIEFS

P. C. Clifton and John Moore were here from the Lohn community yesterday, and P. C. decided that he had done without The Standard just about as long as he could, and accordingly enrolled as a reader of this great twice-a-week purveyor of news.

J. F. Schaeg returned Tuesday from Marlin, where he has been under treatment the past 30 days. He returns greatly improved in health, and yrey optimistic over a complete restoration. Before returning to Brady, he went to San Antonio, where he visited his mother, Mrs. Mary Schaeg several days.

C. N. Richie of Melvin returned Wednesday from Marlin, where he has been spending the past three weeks. Mr. Richie was afflicted with rheumatism and other troubles, and while at Marlin underwent an operation, in addition to taking the baths and water. He returns much improved in health, although quite weak from the treatment.

A good shower of rain fell in various sections of McCulloch county Sunday. In Brady, nearly 2-5 of an inch was had, although in the southern part of the city only a passing shower fell—not enough to lay the dust. Rain was reported all along the road from Brady to Voca, and a good shower was said to have fallen in various sections of the north part of the county.

Oscar Hanson and family came down from Ranger last Sunday for a visit here, and incidentally to enjoy a fishing trip. Oscar also had his weather eye open for some cars, which he hoped to secure for the Prairie Oil & Gas Co. He reports getting along nicely and being well pleased with Ranger, although he still feels that Brady will always be "home" to him.

At the meeting of the Brady city council Tuesday night, Henry Miller was appointed fire marshal. This position is one of great importance, inasmuch as a strict supervision of local conditions upon the part of the fire marshal will not only assure a reduced fire insurance key rate, but will, incidentally, prevent great fire loss or holocaust. Mr. Miller is, without question, the man for the place, inasmuch as he believes and practices enforcement of the laws without fear of favor, and the citizenship of Brady should co-operate with him to the fullest extent.

SHERIDAN MINES PROVES GOOD—CONCENTRATION BETTER THAN $200 TON

A Western Union telegram from the assay office at Tucson, Ariz., to Paul Sheridan, dated June 3rd, 1920, stated that the ore from the Sheridan mine concentrates a little more than $200.00 per ton.

At the present capacity of two cars per month, this would mean an output of $240,000 per year, and the mine as yet is barely in its infancy. If this assay proves correct, the Sheridan mine will be the biggest thing in Texas.—Eden Echo.

Essex Trebles Power Without Added Size

The Essex motor—controlled by patents—is no larger than the motor used in the smallest and most widely known automobile.

Yet Essex gives 55 horsepower. The conventional motor develops but 18 horsepower.

Essex adds no size. It retains the small car advantages in fuel, oil and tire economy and it gives the big-car kind of performance.

Patents make these qualities exclusive to Essex.

And as for its endurance no car of any size or cost has ever travelled 3037 miles at top speed, as an Essex stock car did to prove its reliability.

Is it any wonder more than 40,000 owners hail it the champion of all moderate priced cars regardless of its size or weight?
