TO TRY IKNER FOR MURDER SEPTEMBER TERM COURT

The case of State vs. Roy Ikner, charged with murder, is scheduled to be tried in the September term of district court, which convenes Monday, September 19th. Ikner, colored, is charged with the murder of Bryan Wellington, also colored, last fall. The killing was a sensational affair. Wellington being shot to death with a shot gun in the kitchen of the Queen hotel, just as he had finished his breakfast. Ikner admitted the shooting, and after returning the gun borrowed for the purpose, calmly surrendered himself to the officers. Family trouble is alleged to have been at the bottom of the tragedy. Wellington was a brother of Ikner's first wife.

LYRIC OPENING THURSDAY NIGHT—FIRE BOYS' BENEFIT MONDAY NIGHT NEXT

The re-opening of the Lyric theatre upon a more pretentious scale than ever before will bring pleasure to movie fans, who have been deprived of this enjoyment for the past couple months. As stated last Friday, Mr. Levy has arranged an interesting and commendable series of feature attractions, including the latest and most popular films in vogue. The opening play will feature Georges Carpentier, idol of the French nation, in a romance of American society entitled, "The Wonder Man." Then, next Monday night at the fire boys' benefit there will be filmed William Faversham in "The Man Who Lost Himself." This will be a splendid and interesting picture and the fire boys hope to pack the house for the occasion.

A feature that should prove a welcome innovation is the playing of accompaniments to the films shown by Miss Jennie Bannister, an organist of exceptional attainment and considerable experience in pipe organ and instrumental playing. Miss Bannister will make her initial appearance in Brady upon the opening night of the theatre, next Thursday.

SPORTING CODE THAT WILL APPLY TO AVERAGE PERSON IN EVERYDAY LIFE

Following is the code of a good sport as it is given in an article by Hugh S. Fullerton, who is sporting editor for the New York Evening Mail, appearing in a recent issue of the American Magazine.

It strikes us that is a pretty good code to follow in the game of life, should that game take you where it may, in business, love or pleasure. Here it is:

1. Thou shalt not quit.
2. Thou shalt not alibi.
3. Thou shalt not gloat over winning.
4. Thou shalt not be a rotten loser.
5. Thou shalt not take unfair advantage.
6. Thou shalt not ask odds thou art unwilling to give.
7. Thou shalt always be ready to give thine opponent the shade.
8. Thou shalt not under estimate an opponent or over estimate thyself.
9. Remember that the game is the thing and that he who thinketh otherwise is a mucker and not a sportsman.
10. Honor the game thou playest, for he who playeth the game straight and hard wins even when he loses.

Christian Revival at Rochelle.
Editor Brady Standard:

Will you kindly announce through the columns of your good paper that I have been prevailed upon to return to Rochelle for a revival which will begin there at the Christian church on Saturday night, September 3rd. I will appreciate this announcement as your paper has a wide circulation in Rochelle community as well as elsewhere and people will know about the revival. Will have a good singer associated with me here and also at San Saba, my next meeting.

GOOD NIGHT

How many times we've said good night
And kissed her as we turned away,
Knowing that with the morning light
She'd greet the beauty of the day.

We left her sleeping in her bed
And tiptoed gently from her room,
And when the soft "good night" was said
The parting brought no touch of gloom.

She would be there when we should rise
To greet us with her lovely smile,
The sunbeams dancing in her eyes,
And night seemed such a little while.

Her spirit, till the break of day,
Would leave this little world of ours
For brighter realms wherein to play
Where fairies danced among the flowers.

Sometimes we watched her as she dreamed
And knew that she was free from care,
And always lovelier she seemed
When morning found her smiling there.

"Good night, good night! sweet Marjorie!"
We will be brave with you away,
Some glad tomorrow there shall be,
We'll come to you at break of day.

—EDGAR A. GUEST.

SHOWER FRIDAY BREAKS TORRID WAVE OF WEEKS

As a climax to the torrid wave that has swept Texas, and, for that matter the entire nation for several weeks past, Brady last Friday afternoon experienced the worst dust storm in years. The storm blew up from the east and for about an hour the Sahara desert had nothing on this country for dust and sand. The sand-storm was a prelude to a shower of rain, which brought cooling relief, although comparatively little water fell. In Brady, the precipitation was sufficient to cause water to stand on the square for the time being, and in some sections of the country a near-waterspout fell. On Corn Creek the rain was said to have been heavy enough to make the road boggy in spots. Upon the whole, the rain was only sufficient to settle the dust temporarily and to clear up the atmosphere.

Stockmen everywhere are greatly in need of water for stock, but farmers in general feel that rain just at this time would prove detrimental to their cotton which is now open and which is grading up well.

Reports had over the phone this (Tuesday) afternoon state that good showers are falling in San Saba and Menard.

Unnecessary.

"I haven't any sympathy for the man who beats his wife," said a passenger in the smoker of the 5-15. "Well," said another, a timid, undersized fellow, "a man who can beat his wife doesn't need any sympathy."

GOOD EXHIBITIONS OF BOXING AND WRESTLING SATURDAY AND MONDAY

Clean athletics was given a great boost in Brady by the exhibition matches at Dutton City park arranged for Saturday and Monday nights by Starr & Shannon, the former undefeated middleweight wrestler, and the latter an old-time wrestler of considerable note, and who is well-known to numbers of Brady citizens. The matches arranged were good, square exhibitions, and while the audiences were small owing to previous disappointments, those attending expressed themselves as well pleased. Saturday night Frank Starr and Jess Petty gave an exhibition of the wrestling holds, much to the edification of the audience. Henry Hamilton, local colored boxer, better known as "Black Diamond," met another local colored boxer in a boxing match scheduled to go eight rounds. Hamilton got the decision after about four rounds of fighting, when he knocked his opponent through the ropes.

Pearce Byrd of San Saba met "Shorty" Bentley of Rockwood in a scheduled ten-round bout, which, however, only lasted three rounds, when Byrd was laid out for the count.

Monday night's exhibition was an even better exhibition and a much better audience was on hand to see the events. Hamilton failed to show up to meet Luke Shackelford, colored giant of San Saba, and who, undoubtedly would have messed up his lighter opponent had Hamilton appeared.

Bentley again was in the ring, this time meeting Pete Lembke of Lohn for an eight round encounter, but Bentley again gained victory after three rounds of fighting. Lembke put up a game fight, but his lack of training since leaving the army service plainly showed in his fighting, and he was floored a couple times, without taking the full count. However, at the end of the third round he threw up the sponge, clearly realizing that his lack of training unfitted him for further fighting.

The most startling event of the evening was the wrestling match between Albert Barr, champion one-legged wrestler, and Frank Starr, in which the latter secured a clean fall after several minutes' wrestling. Barr made a remarkable showing, and to prove his ability, offered to take on any one in the crowd for a boxing match, without securing any comers.

Starr & Shannon promise a return engagement in Brady at some future time, and it is safe to say they will be accorded a welcome and a good attendance by all sports interested in promoting a clean game.

BARN OF W. J. SANSON AT MERCURY DESTROYED TOGETHER WITH CONTENTS

The barn of W. J. Sanson in the Mercury community was destroyed by fire on Tuesday of last week, the loss including 125 bushels of corn and 50 bushels of cotton seed, besides harness and other contents. Mr. Sanson, fortunately, had gathered only part of his corn crop, having in the meantime gone on a visit out in West Texas. The barn was burned the night of his return from the visit, and it is supposed that rats chewing on matches dropped among the feed, originated the blaze. Mr. Sanson's neighbors gathered last Saturday and in less than a day's time rebuilt the barn, and Mr. Sanson is now completing his harvesting and the storing of his corn crop.

Over Indulgence.

It was a slovenly but kind-hearted household. "What shall we give the baby for his birthday present?" asked Ma. "Oh," returned Pa, not bothering to take his feet from the dinner table, "we might wash the window and let him see the street car go by."

MENARD TURNS SAN SABA WATER LOOSE SATURDAY

County Judge Evans J. Adkins and Commissioner R. L. Burns last week accompanied a committee composed of John A. Norris, member of the Board of Water Engineers, W. W. Caves, assistant attorney-general, and D. A. Dudley, representing the U. S. Bureau of Geological Survey, all of Austin, upon a trip to Menard county, where they conferred with the farmers operating irrigation ditches along the San Saba river in that county upon the matter of turning the water loose for the benefit of farmers and stockmen living farther down the river. They received assurance from the Menard county farmers that the water would be turned loose at 5:00 o'clock Saturday evening, thereby relieving the water situation, which had become acute along the lower San Saba river.

It is proposed to time the water as it reaches all the various points along the river, following its release, so that in future the water may be turned loose in time to keep the river running and the holes filled. Parties camping at the Voca crossing Sunday reported the water had not then reached that point.

The committee expressed great satisfaction at the successful results had on their trip, inasmuch as once before, during a protracted drouth, they had spent an entire summer seeking similar action upon the part of the Menard irrigationists, without getting anywhere. This time, their work was accomplished in one day's time.

We are now located on the West Side of the Square, where we will be glad to welcome you. We are still rendering the best of service in our repair department; also carry a line of the best in jewelry. A. F. GRANT, Jeweler.

BOOSTERS, ATTENTION!

Brady and McCulloch county boosters should not forget the Puget Sound to the Gulf annual highway meeting to be held in Fredericksburg next Friday, September 2nd. This is an important meeting, and as Brady and McCulloch county has received, and will continue to receive, much benefit from this great highway, it behooves us to take every interest in the project and do our part towards making this one of the most noted highways in the U. S.

Fredericksburg is preparing to attract tourists her way by improving the road leading to her "Enchanted Rock," one of the scenic wonders of that section. It will be worth while for Brady and McCulloch county citizens to join the delegation enroute to Fredericksburg next Friday morning, visit with them at this enchanting spot, become imbued with the enthusiasm of Gillespie county good roads builders and return home as missionaries among their friends and neighbors.

Everyone who can possibly do so, should go. Send your name to F. R. Wulff at Brady, and advance reservations will be arranged for your care and entertainment during your stay in Fredericksburg. They are planning a big celebration, and invite all Puget Sound to the Gulf boosters to join with them.

HENRY FORD, RAILROADER.

Henry Ford as a peacemaker was a joke, and he didn't come out much better in Michigan politics, though the latter seems to have been rather to his credit than otherwise. As a financier he used to be considered merely a good merchant with a bent for quantity production. But of late he has made even Wall Street sit up and take notes on how he does it. In the first place Wall Street heard with regret that Ford was about to go "busted." It was particularly annoying to Wall Street because business was looking poorly along about that time and every failure hurt. Then Wall Street heard that Ford was trying to borrow money, large sums of money. The way the story went was that Ford called on some big bankers and they tried to tell Henry all about how he must run his business if he got any of their money. And then Henry, so the Wall Street account was, put on his hat and told them they could eat their money for all be cared. Whether he tried to borrow any or not, it is a fact that he didn't borrow any, and that when he started in at Detroit high moguls in the company and expert heads of this department and they began to "res gn just ahead of the toe of Henry's boot." At least that was what you could hear at almost any garage even down here in Texas. At least it is true that the number of men who had been with him for years got out and new men were moved up into their places. The sales organization was treated to such a shaking as never was seen before in the history of automobile selling—and the cars began to move. The Wall Street Journal which had all but ordered the crepe for Ford's funeral, came through with a handsome article about how Henry took the kinks out of his business and was going at top speed.

But that isn't all. Ford has him a railroad, the Detroit, Toronto & Iron- ton, 280 miles long. Pretty soon after he got it, he began to look it over. He cut two hours off the passenger schedule. He dumped the road officials out of their private cars and converted them into ordinary cars. He figured officials could ride with the public. He found three abandoned locomotives and had them sorted out until there was enough for a good engine. He found other discarded junk along the right way, he claimed to pay for his investment in the road.

When Ford got the road there were seven through freight crews. Now there are nineteen. And they move the freight—most of it at night. In some cases as high as 1,200 cars have been moved in twelve hours, as against the old D. T. & I. record of 200 cars in twenty-four hours. When Ford sends freight destined to leave his line for another railroad he sends it by the solid trainload, so that when the Nickel Plate, for example, is to get Ford freight it is started out on the Nickel Plate eighteen minutes after it rolls into the latter's yards behind a D. T. & I. engine. The speeding up of raw materials from their sources and of carloads of machines to dealers has cut time down to where the automobile now lands on the average dealer's floor fourteen days after it came to the factory in the shape of its component iron and steel and wood and raw materials. The cut in that time alone saves Ford's factories $22,000,000 on the inventory stock which he formerly had to carry.

Another thing that doesn't trouble Ford is labor difficulties. When he got his road the unions brought him an agreement. Henry tore it up and then raised the wages of everybody on the road. He set a minimum wage of $6 a day and a maximum day of eight hours, with a six-day week. There is no overtime. When a man on the D. T. & I. works out his 208-hour month he lays off until the first of the next month. Engineers and conductors get $375 a month. Firemen receive $275 and brakemen $235. The engine crew actually takes care of its own engine. The conductor turns switches, and on the passenger trains the brakeman dusts the seats and carries baggage as if he were a porter. Of course these things aren't being done in the best railroad circles this season, but Henry's road is paying dividends even if he did cut down the freight rates, and it has all the business it can handle. It is but fair to note that his own factories provide much of the road's business, but even at that, Ford has opened the eyes of not a few men who have been railroading since Henry was a boy. As for Henry, he is preparing to add more track, and is busy tinkering with a gasoline motor coach that can go seventy-two miles an hour and trail a couple of railroad cars behind it.—The Dallas Morning News.

CASE IN GEORGIA IS REMARKABLE

Really Sounds Incredible But Well-Known Merchant Testifies to Facts.

Writing from Maxey, Ga., A. J. Gillen, proprietor of a large department store at that place, says: "I have a customer here who was in bed for three years and did not go to a meal at any time. She had five physicians and they gave her out. One bottle of Taniac got her up, on the second bottle she commenced keeping house and on the third she did all the cooking and housework for a family of eight."

This sounds really incredible, but it comes unsolicited from a highly creditable source and is copied verbatim from the letter.

Taniac is sold in Brady by Trigg Drug store, in Mercury by J. T. Matlock, in Rochelle by C. W. Carr, and by leading druggists everywhere.

GRASS BURNS ON 12 SECTIONS IN TOM GREEN CO.

San Angelo, Texas, Aug. 25.—John Abe March and Harris brothers of San Angelo, J. Q. McCabe, Roy Cummings and Sim Weatherby lost an aggregate of twelve sections of pasture in Coke county Wednesday in a prairie fire, believed to have been started by the dropping of a cigarette by a Mexican sheep herder on the March ranch.

An area eight to nine miles long with a maximum width of three miles was swept bare. The region is rough and hilly and dead timber in canyons fed fuel to the flames which could not be stopped with wet sacks. The burning back of a strip in front of the fire finally stopped it after thirteen hours of fighting by between 300 and 400 men, including many from San Angelo, Water Valley, Sterling City, Robert Lee and other towns. No ranch houses were destroyed.

J. E. Duff, an employe on the J. D. Shipman ranch, was burned though not seriously in fighting the fire, while Mrs. Brooks Johnson, wife of a Tom Green county ranchman, narrowly escaped by abandoning an automobile trapped in a lane.

Citizens this morning signed an agreement to furnish cars and men in the event of future prairie fires and arranged with a local laundry to sound alarms. Wednesday's loss could not be estimated. Today an acre of land leases at 40c to 50c per annum, while pasturage costs from 50c to 75c per animal monthly.

"Had a grip with him, one ne— "Yep; black, 'bout medium size. The fellow wasn't overly big himself, an' it was quite a lug for him; it bumped against his legs when he toted it. I wouldn't a thought nothin' more 'bout it, only I got hol' of a paper, an' read how there was a guy croaked that same night over in Jersey. It sorter made me think o' this feller, just because he was so d-d scared. It was sorter funny where he had me set him down, too after midnight that way."

"Where was that?" "Colmar buildin' on Broad street. Wa'n't a darn light from top to bottom. He didn't let me pull up there—not by a d—n sight. I had ter let him out a block away, around the corner. But somehow I sorter wanted ter know just where the bloke went, so I slipped off the box, an' took a peek. He turned in there, wh-re it was blacker than a stack o' black cats, an' that's the last I seen of him. S'pose he was the duck who did that job sir?"

"He might have been, of course. Did you report it to the police?" "Lord, no; if us fellers told the cops half we know they wouldn't get no sleep at all. I ain't sed nothin' to nobody. Ready to go now, sir?"

Could Be Worse.

During these times when business is so bad and so many persons are uttering complaints one may find comfort in the story about the visitor to the hospital who said to a patient: "I think it's just wonderful to see you cheery with all those wounds on your head."

Wounded Optimist: "Oh, well, miss," was the reply, "it's a very fine cheerin' thing to wake up of a mornin' and find that you've still got a 'ead to 'ave wounds on."

Mrs. Styles—"I see by this paper that a woman in a western town has hit upon a novel plan of obtaining a separation from her husband without going to the expense of court proceedings."

Mr. Styles—"That's interesting. What has she done?"

Mrs. Styles—"Why, she sent her husband out to match a piece of dress goods and told him not to return until he had matched it. He's still out."

DRIVERLESS AUTOMOBILE CONTROLLED BY WIRELESS PERFORMS CRAZY STUNTS

Recent visitors at McCook field, the home of the engineering division of the air service at Dayton, Ohio, have been astonished at the gyrations of a brightly painted 3-wheeled vehicle which has been dashing to and from between the buildings; and among the airplanes on the field under no visible means of control.

It is often seen to approach a group of persons, blowing its horn wildly, and then when apparently about to strike them to stop short with screeching brakes, back up with loudly clanging blow, make a sharp turn to the right or left, and to start off in the opposite direction.

Great mystification has been shown at to the method of operation of this car, some visitors even wondering if perhaps a combination of the heat and newly made home brew may not have had a deleterious effect upon their observation powers.

They are oftentimes considerably relieved to learn that the car is actually performing as they have seen it, though the mystery is lessened but slightly when they learn that the movements of the car are controlled entirely by radio impulses, which are sent out from the radio station at the opposite end of the flying field.

The fact that there is no aerial or antenna system visible merely adds to the mystification.

The car is of cigar shaped construction about eight feet long and runs on three pneumatic tired wheels.

It travels at speed ranging from four miles per hour to ten miles per hour and the controls are so finely adjusted that it may be easily steered along a narrow roadway.

An examination of the interior of the car shows an amazing and confusing collection of batteries, switches, wires, vacuum tubes, potentiometers, relays, magnetoes, etc., all of which are, of course, necessary to the complete control of the apparatus.

The most interesting part of the apparatus is the "selector," which is in reality the heart of the entire control system.

Various combinations of dots and dashes are sent out by means of a specially constructed transmitter, each combination calling for the accomplishment of a certain operation of the control apparatus.

It is the function of this selector to "Decode" these various combinations of dots and dashes, which are sent out, and to close the circuits to the desired controls.

So delicately is this selector constructed, and so rapidly will it operate, that it is possible to put into operation any one of twelve distinct controls in a period of less than one second.

That is to say, less than one second elapses from the time any push button on the automatic transmitter at the distant radio station is pressed until the control of the car is in operation.

Such speed of control has never before been accomplished.

This car has been controlled equally well from an airplane and from a ground transmitting station.

The possibilities of radio control and its application to war-time problems are almost without number.

Radio control can be applied to any mechanical apparatus that moves, whether it be in the air, on ground, on the surface of the water, or beneath the water.

Huge land tanks may be constructed and filled with T. N. T. and driven to any desired point along the enemy lines where the explosive can be fired by means of radio, or it can be applied in a similar manner to a boat, submarine, torpedo or even an airplane and the explosive can be fired when and where desired.

There is also an application in the commercial field, particularly in plants, where long hauls between various parts of the factory are necessary.
