ENGINEER R. J. WINDROW DISCUSSES NEW FEDERAL HIGHWAY STATUTE

TEXAS' GOOD ROADS EXPERT TELLS HOW STATE MAY SHARE IN ITS BENEFITS—CONSTRUCTION AND MAINTENANCE OF HIGHWAYS BY HIGHWAY DEPT.

The construction and maintenance of highways on which Federal aid is sought, will be under direct control of the State Highway department. Application for Federal aid is to be made by the commissioners' court in the usual manner, but instead of the Federal government matching county funds, it will match State funds, which will be the amount turned over to the State by the county for this particular project. That, in substance, is the statement of R. J. Windrow, state highway engineer, and one of the foremost road engineers in the United States, as announced in the San Antonio Express under date of November 20th.

The following is the article as published in the San Antonio Express:

Austin, Tex., Nov. 20.—State Highway Engineer R. J. Windrow tells how the Federal highway act will affect Texas in the following statement:

"Since the passage of the new Federal highway act, the question arises as to how it will affect Texas, and the exact status of Texas under this act. This act makes some very material changes in the old law, and some sudden departures from the old methods, especially regarding maintenance and method of matching Federal aid funds.

"For three years after the passage of this act, Texas can participate in Federal aid for road building purposes without a constitutional amendment, or even a change in the present law, provided the provisions of this act are complied with, as near as our Constitution and laws will permit, and provided further that the other provisions of the act relative to maintenance are strictly complied with. At the end of three years after the passage of this act our Constitution and laws must be so amended as to permit the strict compliance with all provisions of this act. Therefore, it will be seen that Federal aid will not be stopped on account of our laws, if such laws are clearly in conflict with the provisions of this act until after the end of three years.

State Funds Required.
 "Section 7 of the act reads as follows: 'That before any project shall be approved by the Secretary of Agriculture for any State such State shall make provisions for State funds required each year of such States by this act for construction, reconstruction and maintenance of all Federal aid highways within the State, which funds shall be under the direct control of the State Highway Department.'

"Section 24 of this act reads as follows: 'That in any State where the existing Constitution or laws will not permit the State to provide revenues for construction, reconstruction or maintenance of highways the Secretary of Agriculture shall continue to approve projects for said State until three years after the passage of this act, if he shall find that said State has complied with the provisions of this act in so far as existing Constitution and laws will permit.'

"The term 'State funds' as defined in this act includes funds raised under the authority of the State, or any political or other subdivision thereof and made available for expenditure under the direct control of the State Highway Department.

"It will readily be seen that Texas continues to participate in Federal aid under the same plans as we have operated under heretofore, unless our laws at present will permit the counties desiring Federal aid on a certain project, to turn the moneys they have allotted to this project over to the Highway Department. The amount turned over to the department by the counties will be the amount the Commissioners court will be required to set aside to pay the counties' share of construction on this particular project, and this amount must be used by the Highway Department in constructing the road for which it was intended and no other. The impression has gone out that all the bonds and road funds will be turned over to the department from the different counties and this will go to constitute one big sum to be known as State funds. This is not true. The Commissioners court will make application for Federal aid in the usual manner, but instead of the Federal Government matching county funds, it will match State funds, which, of course, is the amount turned over to the State by the county for this particular project. The construction and maintenance of this road will be under the direct control of the Highway Department.

State-Wide Bonds.
 "The 'State-wide bond issue' has been found to be the most satisfactory method of providing State funds. Most of the progressive States have adopted this plan, some of them have voted more than the entire Federal aid appropriation of $75,000,000 passed by this act. The Constitution will have to be changed before Texas can adopt such method.

Texas System Will Be Enlarged.
 "The Federal Bureau of Public Roads is conducting a survey of the roads in this State, in order to ascertain the exact mileage of this State. This survey is to include all roads, streets and alleys which will necessarily increase our mileage and likewise enlarge the present system of designated highways, which is 7 per cent of the total.

Federal Aid Limited to State Systems.
 "Each State, through its State Highway Department must select or designate a system of highways in the State which shall not exceed 7 per cent of the total mileage of each State, as will be shown by this survey the Government is now making. Federal aid appropriations are limited to this system until same has been completed.

Attorney General Consulted.
 "The matter of whether our present laws without modification will permit this State to comply with the provisions of this act, or whether we will continue under the present plans, has been submitted to the Attorney General for his ruling."

BILL OF RIGHTS
 CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES

The Brady Standard's Americanization Series

The English common law, upon which English and American liberties are based, was slowly evolved through centuries of growth. Its maxims embody the most sacred beliefs of our race. It is that "law of the land" to which the Magna Charta refers, and its essential principles are those of the Petition of Right of Charles I, and the Bill of Rights and Act of Settlement of the Revolution of 1688. The Constitution of the United States, framed in Philadelphia, in 1787, breathes forth the ancient Anglo-Saxon love of liberty regulated by precedent and law, their love of order and discipline, their hatred of tyranny, their belief in the inalienable rights of man, and their instinct, as old as the race itself, for local and representative government. As long as Americans observe the spirit of the American Constitution, especially the first ten Amendments thereto, commonly known as The Bill of Rights, our present civilization is safe. Our "Bill of Rights" is embodied in the following ten articles of the Constitution:

I. Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

II. A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms shall not be infringed.

III. No soldier shall, in time of peace be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

IV. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

V. No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service in time of war or in public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation.

VI. In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense.

VII. In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a jury shall be otherwise re-examined in any court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

VIII. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

IX. The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

X. The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.

GOOD ROADS BOOSTERS TO PERFECT ORGANIZATION AND PLAN CAMPAIGN

ALL SIGNERS OF GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION LISTS, AND ALL BOOSTERS FOR GOOD ROADS BOND ISSUE TO MEET AT COURT HOUSE MONDAY NIGHT.

A call has been issued by Howard Broad, temporary chairman of the McCulloch County Good Roads association, for a mass meeting of all tax-paying voters who signed the Good Roads Association lists the past week, and also of all citizens who are in favor of the good roads bond issue in McCulloch county, to meet Monday night promptly at 8:00 o'clock at the court house in Brady, at which time the organization will be permanently effected, and campaign committees will be named. All good roads enthusiasts in every community in the county are requested to be present and lend their voice and support in the matter.

One of the primary objects of the meeting is to outline the plan of campaign, to explain fully and satisfactorily the benefits each community will derive from the voting of these bonds, to organize the good roads advocates in every community, and to put on an intensive campaign throughout the county in behalf of the bond issue. An effort will be made to have a representative of the State Highway commission present to answer any proposition that may come up as affects co-operation between the county and highway officials, and to show the importance of McCulloch county entering enthusiastically into the campaign of good roads building without delay.

It is also proposed to obtain from Coleman county officials, data as to their proposed good roads work. Coleman county now has approximately $2,000,000 worth of good roads bonds voted. The Santa Anna precinct alone is to spend $500,000 for good roads, and various other precincts have amounts from $300,000 up. Application has already been made for State and Federal aid by Coleman county. In putting over these great bond issues, the county judge and officials of Coleman county have run up against every manner of obstacle. One after another, all these obstacles have been overcome. Coleman citizens are, almost without exception, good roads enthusiasts. From their large and varied experience, the McCulloch county good roads boosters expect to obtain valuable and timely information.

With Coleman county spending $2,000,000 for good roads, and in addition, whatever allotment they may receive in the way of state and Federal aid, and with Mason county good roads already well along towards completion, McCulloch county is placed in position where our link in the system of highways must be complete, if we are to retain the enviable position we have gained through our important position on the various designated highways.

MELVIN CITIZENS ARE ALIVE TO THE VALUE OF COMMUNITY ORGANIZATION

The progressive citizens of Melvin are fully alive to the great value of community co-operation, and last week completed the organization of a Chamber of Commerce, with a membership of about thirty, to look after and advocate the interests of that city.

Officers elected were as follows: G. W. Scott, president; Oscar Sellers, vice-president; E. A. Baze, secretary and treasurer. In addition to the foregoing, the following compose the board of directors: W. G. Morrow, L. O. McDonald, R. B. Hardin, A. W. Wood, E. T. Jordan.

One of the first things taken up by the new body was the matter of completing the highway through Melvin. The citizenship is strong for good roads, and expect to develop a large trade territory through the completion of their part of the Puget Sound to the Gulf highway.

Still another bit of enterprise shown by the Melvin citizens has been the establishment of a tourist's camping ground within easy reach of the highway, and which promises to prove justly popular with tourists passing that way.

Other matters affecting the town and community will be looked after by the Melvin Chamber of Commerce and, needless to say, it is certain to prove a big factor in the future development of that progressive city.

Rest While You Sleep

How many of us do this? Ask yourself this question: "Am I really resting while I sleep? Am I resting as nature intended?" If not, why? Don't ruin your health by sleeping on a hard, lumpy or unsanitary mattress. Do you know that a great percent of ill health is derived by insufficient rest, and that sleep is the most natural way of rest, and a good, soft, sanitary mattress is the most essential object of sound, refreshing sleep. Get a new one now! Or have the old one renovated.

GOOD ROADS BOOSTERS TO PERFECT ORGANIZATION AND PLAN CAMPAIGN

ALL SIGNERS OF GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION LISTS, AND ALL BOOSTERS FOR GOOD ROADS BOND ISSUE TO MEET AT COURT HOUSE MONDAY NIGHT.

A call has been issued by Howard Broad, temporary chairman of the McCulloch County Good Roads association, for a mass meeting of all tax-paying voters who signed the Good Roads Association lists the past week, and also of all citizens who are in favor of the good roads bond issue in McCulloch county, to meet Monday night promptly at 8:00 o'clock at the court house in Brady, at which time the organization will be permanently effected, and campaign committees will be named. All good roads enthusiasts in every community in the county are requested to be present and lend their voice and support in the matter.

One of the primary objects of the meeting is to outline the plan of campaign, to explain fully and satisfactorily the benefits each community will derive from the voting of these bonds, to organize the good roads advocates in every community, and to put on an intensive campaign throughout the county in behalf of the bond issue. An effort will be made to have a representative of the State Highway commission present to answer any proposition that may come up as affects co-operation between the county and highway officials, and to show the importance of McCulloch county entering enthusiastically into the campaign of good roads building without delay.

It is also proposed to obtain from Coleman county officials, data as to their proposed good roads work. Coleman county now has approximately $2,000,000 worth of good roads bonds voted. The Santa Anna precinct alone is to spend $500,000 for good roads, and various other precincts have amounts from $300,000 up. Application has already been made for State and Federal aid by Coleman county. In putting over these great bond issues, the county judge and officials of Coleman county have run up against every manner of obstacle. One after another, all these obstacles have been overcome. Coleman citizens are, almost without exception, good roads enthusiasts. From their large and varied experience, the McCulloch county good roads boosters expect to obtain valuable and timely information.

With Coleman county spending $2,000,000 for good roads, and in addition, whatever allotment they may receive in the way of state and Federal aid, and with Mason county good roads already well along towards completion, McCulloch county is placed in position where our link in the system of highways must be complete, if we are to retain the enviable position we have gained through our important position on the various designated highways.

MELVIN CITIZENS ARE ALIVE TO THE VALUE OF COMMUNITY ORGANIZATION

The progressive citizens of Melvin are fully alive to the great value of community co-operation, and last week completed the organization of a Chamber of Commerce, with a membership of about thirty, to look after and advocate the interests of that city.

Officers elected were as follows: G. W. Scott, president; Oscar Sellers, vice-president; E. A. Baze, secretary and treasurer. In addition to the foregoing, the following compose the board of directors: W. G. Morrow, L. O. McDonald, R. B. Hardin, A. W. Wood, E. T. Jordan.

One of the first things taken up by the new body was the matter of completing the highway through Melvin. The citizenship is strong for good roads, and expect to develop a large trade territory through the completion of their part of the Puget Sound to the Gulf highway.

Still another bit of enterprise shown by the Melvin citizens has been the establishment of a tourist's camping ground within easy reach of the highway, and which promises to prove justly popular with tourists passing that way.

Other matters affecting the town and community will be looked after by the Melvin Chamber of Commerce and, needless to say, it is certain to prove a big factor in the future development of that progressive city.

Rest While You Sleep

How many of us do this? Ask yourself this question: "Am I really resting while I sleep? Am I resting as nature intended?" If not, why? Don't ruin your health by sleeping on a hard, lumpy or unsanitary mattress. Do you know that a great percent of ill health is derived by insufficient rest, and that sleep is the most natural way of rest, and a good, soft, sanitary mattress is the most essential object of sound, refreshing sleep. Get a new one now! Or have the old one renovated.

Social at School House—Cake, Candy, Coffee and Hot Chocolate.

Brady, Texas, Nov. 21.
Editor Brady Standard:
The weather continues very dry. A good rain would be more appreciated than anything right now.

The social at the school house Saturday night was enjoyed very much by all present. They had plenty of cake, candy, coffee and hot chocolate. We had several visitors from Dodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Commander and two children were visitors at the Helge home Sunday.

Mrs. J. A. Harkider and children Ell, and Nadine, were Brady visitors Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Thornton and children of Whiteland spent Saturday night at Joe Smith's.

Frank Pearson and family of Eden spent Sunday at Mrs. M. L. Stanton's.

Mrs. M. P. Pearson and two children of Calf Creek, spent Thursday and Friday at A. F. McCoy's.

D. C. Blauvelt and family, Mrs. Clint Spivey and Enoch and Alvin Spivey were visitors at S. A. Mauldin's Sunday.

Grandma Conner spent Friday at John Spivey's.

Ben Smith and family were visitors at the Commander home at Brady Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Spivey and daughters, Nellie and Nettie, and Grandma Spivey spent Sunday at George Brown's, at Rochelle.

D. Harkrider and family spent Sunday at Percy Dutton's of Brady.

Soloman Pearson spent Sunday night at Frank Pearson's at Eden.

WALDRIP WORDS.

Box Supper Saturday Night Grand Success—Receipts $88.00.

Waldrip, Texas, Nov. 23.
Editor Brady Standard:

Here I am again after several weeks' absence. We have had some real winter weather of late, but most everyone was glad to see it come, for they had put off hog-killing as long as they could.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Briscoe of Rising Star are visiting relatives and friends here this week.

The box supper Saturday night was a grand success. After all the expenses were paid the total amounted to about $88.00, which will go for the benefit of our piano. We wish to thank the neighboring communities for their help and give them a hearty welcome to come again.

Mr. J. J. Kirkpatrick was called to Santa Anna Monday to the bedside of his uncle, who is seriously ill.

A crowd of Fife and Waldrip young people met at Mr. Kirkpatrick's Friday night and went down to the river and roasted some wieners and from all reports the time was well spent and enjoyed.

A crowd of young people were seen horseback riding Sunday evening. Among them were Misses Lois Bratton, Pearl Lohn, Bertha Miller, Bertha Geye and Knola King and Messrs. Jeff Bratton, Glen Wright, J. E. Lincoln and Nelson Ryan. They seemed to be enjoying themselves to the fullest extent.

Mr. Deans visited our school last week and gave us a very interesting talk on "Education" which was enjoyed by all present.

"POLLY!"

A GOOD FRIEND.

A good friend stands by you when in need. Brady people tell how Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test. A. H. Connor, carpenter of Brady, endorsed Doan's four years ago and again confirms the story. Could you ask for more convincing testimony?

"My back hurt me pretty bad and it seemed that the pains were mostly over my left kidneys," says Mr. Connor. "My kidneys were very congested and the secretions passed in pain and contained sediment. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills relieved the trouble with my back and regulated my kidneys."

(Statement given April 29, 1915)
On May 16, 1919 Mr. Connor said: "I still recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as highly as I did when I previously endorsed them. I think Doan's are a fine kidney remedy and I find occasional use of them keep my kidneys in good shape."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Connor had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mrs. Buffalo, N. Y.

PEAR VALLEY PICKUPS.

Miss Sadie Parker Injures Foot — Basket Ball With Lohn.

Pear Valley, Texas, Nov. 21.
Editor Brady Standard:

The young people enjoyed a singing at Mr. Seymore's home Saturday night.

Everyone is pleased to see the smiling faces of Arlos Ludwick and Marvin Seymore, who returned last week from San Antonio, where they have been attending a barber's school.

Dr. Price of Rochelle, preached two good sermons here Sunday morning and Sunday night. He is spending the week in Pear Valley.

Miss Ethel Harris spent the week end with her home folks at Lohn.

The Lohn boys and girls came over Saturday afternoon and played basket ball with the Pear Valley boys and girls. We were glad to have them come, even though we were defeated.

Mr. Nugent and family have moved into our midst. Mrs. Nugent is Mr. Davee's sister.

Miss Sadie Parker, one of the seniors, also one of our best ball players has been absent from school a few days on account of an injured foot. It was hurt while she was playing ball last week.

To Stop a Cough Quick take HAYES' HEALING HONEY, a cough medicine which stops the cough by healing the inflamed and irritated tissues.

A box of GROVE'S O-PEN-TRATE SALVE for Chest Colds, Head Colds and Croup is enclosed with every bottle of HAYES' HEALING HONEY. The salve should be rubbed on the chest and throat of children suffering from a Cold or Croup.

The healing effect of Hayes' Healing Honey inside the throat combined with the healing effect of Grove's O-Pen-Trate Salve through the pores of the skin soon stops a cough.

Both remedies are packed in one carton and the cost of the combined treatment is 35c.

Just ask your druggist for HAYES' HEALING HONEY.

FIFE FINDINGS.

Fife Wins Base Ball and Basket Ball Honors—School Progress.

Fife, Texas, Nov. 23.
Editor Brady Standard:

A nice shower of rain was had here Wednesday morning, but not enough to do any good. We are still hoping for a gully washer.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Pearce of Brownwood visited Mrs. Pearce's father, R. K. Finlay here Saturday and Sunday.

Moody Mitchell left last week for Chicago, where he has a position offered him.

The Ledbetter and Fife school teams played a good game of base ball here Friday, the score being 5 to 4 favor of the Fife team. They will play another game next Friday at Ledbetter.

A. M. Long and daughter, Mrs. L. M. Turner and Miss Suddie Cain were shopping at Brady Wednesday.

W. E. Cochran of Eden visited with his son A. E. Cochran here last week.

The Fife school girls basket ball team went to Rockwood Saturday and took a hard fought game from the school team of the 3rd quarter. The score stood 10 to 9. However, in the last quarter our girls got away from the opposing team and the final score was 16 to 10. Rockwood will play a return game here soon.

Singing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Coonrod was enjoyed by all present Sunday night.

Our school is progressing nicely under the efficient management of Pro. J. M. Young assisted by Misses Knola King and Bertha Geye. The school literary society will meet next Thursday night, and will render a Thanksgiving day program. Everybody is invited to hear it.

CONSTRUCTION OF BANK-HEAD ROAD IN STEPHENS CO. COST NEARLY $1,000,000

Breckenridge, Tex., Nov. 21.—A contract has just been let for the construction of the Bankhead highway in Stephens county. The work will cost just a little under $30,000 a mile, or nearly $1,000,000 for the stretch of road.

That part of the highway in Stephens county runs from the perfect highway from Dallas to the Stephens county line in Palo Pinto county on the east and connects with the excellent roads in Shackelford county on the west. It is thirty miles from county line, but a single mile of the highway will be paved by the city, as the highway runs over the main thoroughfare of the city of Breckenridge. A $75,000 concrete viaduct in the city has been completed as part of the work included in the Federal and State highway.

Work on the highway will begin next week. The contract was let to the Womack Construction Company at a figure of $521,901. Crushed rock is to be furnished by the county and is already available. The amount of stone is $264,000. All other costs to the county will bring the figure up to $862,291.

The bid calls for the work to be completed in 320 working days. About 132 teams and 175 men will begin work at once, and according to the commissioners court, there will be only Stephens county men employed. Eight concerns submitted bids. The closest bid to the winning one was $100,000 in excess of that of the Womack company. There is already $2,000,000 in a local bank here for highway work. Of that figure $300,000 is from State and Federal aid.

The Quinine That Does Not Affect the Head
Because of its tonic and laxative effect, LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE is better than ordinary Quinine and does not cause nervousness or ringing in head. Remember the full name and look for the signature of E. W. GROVE.—30c.

FRANCIS LYNDE

Francis Lynde is another example of "When a Man Comes to Himself," the title of an excellent little book which ex-President Wilson wrote for young men some years ago.

He was born at Lewiston, N. Y., in 1856, went to Denver as a young man, got him a job on a railroad, married a nice young woman and sailed along in obscurity until he was thirty-seven years old.

Then he woke up and took his pen in hand. What he had to say didn't stir the nation appreciably during the first five years. In 1898 he wrote three novels within 12 months, each one of which was a ten-strike. After that it was easy.

Mr. Lynde has romanticized the railroads of the West and written many other fascinating tales of that region. We have been fortunate enough to secure his late story, "The Girl, a Horse and a Dog," as interesting as its title implies, for serial reproduction in this publication. You must read it!

FURS ARE SOURCE OF BIG REVENUE FOR TRAPPERS

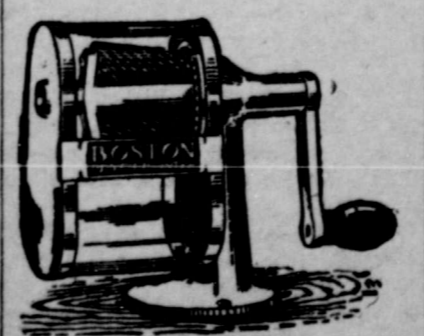

Furs are proving the source of big revenue to trappers throughout the McCulloch country, and the present fur market holds forth great inducements to those who gain their livelihood through this occupation. As witness the fact that the Brady Brokerage Co. between November 8th and 22nd, a period of only two weeks, paid out a total of $3,470.24 for furs, principally those of skunks and possums, with a sprinkling of coons, wildcats, foxes and ringtails. A good skunk hide is today worth on an average of $1.00, while a year ago the same hide would bring only 25c, and with scarcely any market at that.

Furs are reported quite plentiful this year, and trappers are having good picking. The hides are well furred, but are unprimed. Shipments are consigned chiefly to St. Louis.

The record of the local company will be equalled by T. R. McDowell at Menard, whose house there is associated with the local firm.

As cheap as furs were and as bad the market last year, Mr. Abernathy, proprietor of the Brady Brokerage Co., bought $12,000 worth in the one season, which would indicate that this year's crop would run up to a considerable figure, especially with other local purchasers in the market adding to the total output.

QUEEN HOTEL IS LEASED BY MRS.
PARKER, LOMETA

The Queen hotel has been leased by Mrs. Sam Parker of Lometa, from J. E. Bell, proprietor, and will be operated under her management on and after January 1st, at which time the lease of Mrs. Katie Roberts will expire. The new lease was contracted by Mrs. Parker the latter part of last week. Mrs. Parker is a daughter of Mrs. DeBaum, for many years proprietor of the DeBaum hotel at Lometa, and who has gained a widespread reputation as one of the most eminent French cooks in this section of the state. It is the intention of the family to surrender the DeBaum hotel at Lometa, and Mrs. DeBaum will have active supervision of the Queen hotel kitchen and dining room. Mrs. Chas. DeBaum, daughter-in-law of Mrs. DeBaum will be in charge of the rooms, while Mrs. Parker will have the office management. With each department under the personal supervision of the family, service unexcelled is assured the traveling public, and the new management will cater especially to this trade.

Mrs. Roberts, who has so successfully managed the Queen for the past two years, is not decided as to her future endeavors, but will probably spend part of her time at Mexia, assisting her son, George, in the operation of the rooming house recently opened by them there. She has a number of good hotel propositions under consideration, but will make no definite decision until her lease on the Queen expires the first of the year.

What do you need in a card file? We have in stock drawers for 3x5, 4x6, 5x8 and 8x5 cards. Also have Joggles and Trays in various styles. The Brady Standard.

THE THOUSAND ISLANDS
THE River St. Lawrence "As grand as the Rhine," was discovered by a French explorer in 1535. In 1615, Champlain explored the upper reaches of this majestic stream and discovered these islands.

The origin of the name is evident to the beholder. Below Lake Ontario for a distance of some forty miles the river broadens to a width ranging from four to seven miles. Here begins this world-famous archipelago. These islands—sometimes in a string like links in a chain—again in just pell-mell confusion, appear to block the channel. Apparently there are a thousand of them. Some authorities assert there are as many as 1,700.

Composed mainly of rock or granite, their surfaces are not high. Some are no larger than to provide a foundation for a house—the largest contains about 10,000 acres. Many are privately owned and here man and his money have created castles which look as wondrous as fairy tales sound.

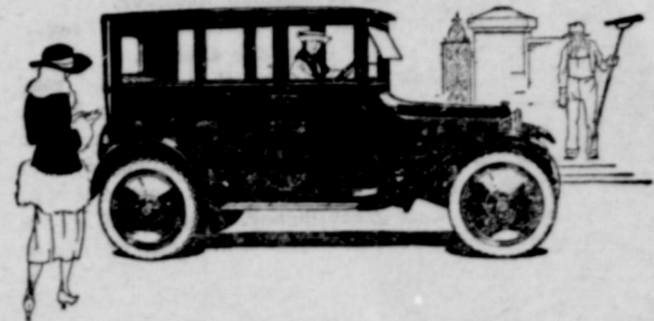

The Thousand Islands were the scene of some hot conflicts between nations—Indian wars (when this region was known as Manatoana—Garden of the Great Spirit), contests between the French and the English and battles of Revolutionary fame.

To this generation, however, they are more prominently known for their singularly-picturesque beauty and unquestioned charm.

HOW DO YOU SAY IT?

By C. N. Lurie
Common Errors in English and How to Avoid Them

"OFF OF."

THE use of the phrase which heads this article leads often to errors that are seen to be ludicrous, when analyzed. For example, one will hear the question: "Where did you buy that steak?" The answer comes: "I got it off of the butcher around the corner." To get a steak "off of" the butcher might suit a cannibal very well, but the very idea would shock anyone else. In proper usage, omit the "off;" say: "I got it of (or from) the butcher around the corner."

There are cases of the misuse of the phrase "off of" that are not ludicrous, as in the instance already cited, but in which the "of" is not needed and instead of saying, "He jumped off of the car," say, "He jumped off the car." A man who expects to open a store says: "Will you buy something off of me?" He should say: "Will you buy something from me?"

HONEST INJUN.

As a man labors, so shall his reward be. Perhaps, if we build good roads here on earth, we shall be more entitled to walk the streets of gold, when we "pass over the river."

THE CHINESE WALL.

Away back in ancient times, in the year 220 B. C. to be exact, there was built one of the great wonders of the world—the Chinese wall. This great barrier had a total length of 1,250 miles. It was carried over the highest hills, through the deepest valleys, across rivers and every other natural obstacle. Primarily it was intended to protect the city of Peking against the Tartar tribes. Eventually, it cut off the city of Peking from the outside world. Peking became the "forbidden city." Cut off from intercourse with the outside world, Chinese civilization lagged, until eventually the Chinese nation was reputed as being 1,000 years behind the rest of the world. Finally, it took the combined efforts of the civilized nations of the world to smash this great barrier and open the forbidden city to the world. That is modern history, and China has gone down in modern history as the giant who is just awakening from a long sleep. Today, it is the weak sister among the nations of the world. Its rights have been overrun by its diminutive, yet warlike neighbor, Japan. The "open door" in China is one of the great issues before the disarmament conference in Washington now.

In these modern times, cities and communities do not need to build a Chinese wall to isolate themselves. All they need to do is to allow their roads to become impassable. Automatically, thereby, they become isolated. The condition of their roads becomes known from coast to coast, from Gulf to Canadian border and beyond. Travelers avoid these bad roads like a person would a pest house. The community, or the county, that numbers its roads as impassable drops behind its more progressive neighbors in the race for supremacy. The community that improves its roads, improves its farms, its dwellings, its living conditions. Its citizens get more out of life, because they are better enabled to mingle with their neighbors and absorb new ideas and standards of living. Good roads are educational! They serve to bring the citizens together more often. They overcome the old-time suspicions and jealousies that result from infrequent association. The more men mingle and associate, the broader become their ideas, the more splendid qualities they find in their neighbors, the higher regard they have for one another.

The time to build roads is when abundant labor can be had, for this feature not only means employment for the unemployed, but it means more work accomplished for less money. Roads can be built now for less than at any time in the past five years, and, more than likely, at any time in the next decade. If there is anything that will overcome a financial stringency, it is the turning loose of a large amount of coin of the realm in a community. If ever a time obtained when the purse strings of this section of Texas needed loosening, it is now. Give us employment for our citizens, and good times will follow. A vote for the road bonds means a vote for better financial conditions throughout the county.

An association of ideas might be paraphrased as follows:

- Good roads—
- Good schools—
- Good churches—
- Good community.

Read it in The Standard.

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT.

Here is a gem that one good roads enthusiast living on the lower Mason road presented to a good roads committee.

Said he: "Let the commissioners fence off the mile and one-half of highway built north from the river and force all travel to take the old road or else pay $10 a year to travel the highway, and I'll pay my $10, and so will everyone else that uses this road."

The Chamber of Commerce at Snyder has started a movement, urging a program of 100 hens, three cows and four sows for every farm in Fisher county. This is a good effort, and if it was substantially adopted everywhere throughout Texas there would be prosperous times for farmers, in so far as living at home could make them prosperous. The great influx of poultry and butter, milk and meat products, sold in Brownwood as country produce, is evidence that farmers of this territory are giving more attention than ever to making their farms pay with something besides cotton. The modern farmer is more progressive than his city advisers imagine. Only it is noticeable when there is a drouth the deluge of free advice to farmers grows greatest. Give him rain, and the average farmer will do the rest without advice. Brownwood News.

SOCIETY

Church Social.

The members of the Presbyterian church and Sunday school were most pleasantly entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Jones on Thursday night of last week. The Jones' home was attractively decorated with chrysanthemums and ferns. Quite a number of the guests played "42," and music by Miss Sarah Johnson and Mr. Maurice Cohen was enjoyed.

Refreshments of brick cream, cake and coffee were served.

Junior Picnic.

The Junior class of the Brady high school was tendered a most enjoyable picnic by Miss Bernice Hall at the Jordan summer house on last Friday afternoon from 4:00 o'clock until 7:00. The picknickers roasted marshmallows, weiners and bacon, and added to these were fruit salad, cake, pickles, onions and rolls, all of the refreshments being furnished by Miss Hall. After enjoying this sumptuous repast, games were played and then the guests gathered about the campfire and told stories and sang school songs until time to depart for their homes.

Before taking their departure, the Juniors voted Miss Hall a royal hostess and extended their thanks for the delightful time enjoyed.

Number among those present were Miss Hilma Jordan, Florence Bates, Dorothy Ogden, Katherine Ballou, Gertrude Trigg, Frances Samuel, Blanche Awalt; Messrs. Irvine Ewing, Jas. Snider, Dan Epps, Glenn Ricks, Earl Dean, Arthur Awalt, Allison Ogden, David Hall, Henry Land.

Married at Stamford.

The many friends of E. A. Burrow, McCulloch county's popular surveyor and engineer, and who, with Mrs. Burrow and daughter, Mary Ed, are now permanent residents of Brady, will be interested in the following report of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ruth, at Stamford on November 2nd, and also the prenuptial shower with which the bride-elect was honored. The items are reprinted from the Stamford Daily American:

Burrow-Herrick Wedding.

Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Burrow, 318 East Moran street, Miss Ruth Burrow, became the bride of Frank H. Herrick, the Rev. Williams officiating, with the impressive ring ceremony.

The bride and groom entered the living room accompanied by Little Miss Mary Ed Burrow, who carried the ring in a yellow chrysanthemum. The bride wore a brown canton crepe gown with accessories to match and carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. The groom was dressed in conventional black.

The bride is a very accomplished young lady and one of the most popular members of Stamford's younger set, who regret her departure from their midst, but wish for her the largest returns of happiness.

The groom is editor of the Luaders Messenger, and is well known in this section of the country. The many friends of this young couple wish for them the largest returns of success during life's voyage.

Miss Ruth Burrow Honored.

Mrs. R. L. Hellums and Mrs. B. C. Burrow gave a shower in honor of Miss Ruth Burrow Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Hellums. The guests were met at the door by Mrs. George Flournoy, who introduced them to the receiving line in which they met Mrs. Hellums, Mrs. B. C. Burrow, Miss Ruth Burrow, Mrs. Ed Burrow, Miss Nettie Mae Larche, Mrs. Frank Morrow, Miss Laura Lee Edwards, Mrs. Tom Jones, Mrs. Bert Billingsley and Mrs. W. M. Barlan. The guests were ushered into the dining room by Mrs. J. F. Montgomery, where the gifts were presented to the bride by little Misses Sue Morrow, Lanelle Austin, Marguerite Buster and Clara May Jones.

After the bride had received the many beautiful gifts a delicious salad course was served. The many good wishes for the contracting parties were tendered by the guests, and regrets expressed at the loss of one of the most popular members of the younger set.

ENJOYABLE PROGRAM OFFERED ON "PARENT DAY" BY PARENT-TEACHERS ASSN.

A delightful and entertaining program marked the observance of "Parent Day" last Friday night at the Methodist church, the program being presented before a large audience by the Parent-Teachers association. Those taking part in the program acquitted themselves splendidly and won approval from the audience. Worthy of special mention were little Miss Lucy Mae Ricks and Master Joe Medlin, Queen and Page, respectively, in the playlet, "Music Fairies," presented by 65 little children, trained by Mrs. P. B. Melton and Misses Ruby Granger and Mae Stobaugh. The Rev. G. T. Reaves made a splendid and illuminating address upon "What the Brady Parent-Teachers Association Has Done, Is Doing and Can Do for the Brady Schools." His talk was an appreciation of the excellent work of this splendid organization and a plea for fuller co-operation upon the part of the citizenship. Superintendent J. B. Smith in an address upon "Needs of the Brady Schools," stressed the great need of a new school building, and also facilities for the better care of Brady's constantly growing enrollment in the schools.

The following was the program rendered:

Invocation—Rev. S. C. Dunn.
Piano Solo—Mary Evers.
Play—"Music Fairies," by 65 little Children.
Address—"What the Brady Parent-Teachers Association Has Done, Is Doing and Can Do for the Brady Schools," by the Rev. G. T. Reaves.
Song—"Mother," chorus by Children of Primary Department.

Address—"The Needs of the Brady Schools," Supt. J. B. Smith.
Piano Solo—Miss Florence Smith.
Reading—John Lawrence Evers.
Chorus—High School Girls.

Following the program, an enjoyable social hour was had, during which punch was served.

Parent Day will be observed again in March. One thing that everyone should bear in mind is that every citizen of Brady is a member of the Parent-Teachers association, and all should contribute their share towards the success of the organization.

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of McCulloch County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summons Edgar Littlefield, by making publication of this citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not then in the nearest County where a newspaper is published, to appear at a regular term of the County Court of McCulloch County, Texas, to be held at the Court House, in Brady, Texas, on the third Monday in January, 1922, the same being the 16th day of January, 1922, and then there to answer the plaintiffs petition filed in a suit in said Court on the 5th day of October 1921, wherein Ed. A. Giff is the legal owner and holder of Broad and A. H. Broad are plaintiffs and Edgar Littlefield, Brady National Bank of Brady, Texas, Haynes Coffee, "Fog" Coffee and Simpson Johnson are defendants, the file number of said suit being No. 709, and the nature of plaintiffs demands and the cause of action is as follows: The defendant, Edgar Littlefield on or about January 8, 1921, for a valuable consideration, executed and delivered to plaintiffs a certain promissory note for the sum of Two Hundred Forty-Four and 32-100 Dollars, payable to Broad Mercantile Company, in Brady, Texas, on the 1st day of April, 1921, and at the same time the defendant Edgar Littlefield executed and delivered to plaintiffs a chattel mortgage lien on the following personal property: One brown horse 16 hands high, One bay horse 16 hands high, which the Brady National Bank has taken possession of; One gray horse 16 hands high and one brown horse, 5 years old, 15 1/2 hands high, the last two of said horses have been taken by said Haynes Coffee and "Fog" Coffee. The defendant Simpson Johnson is also claiming to hold a lien on the above described horses.

Wherefore plaintiffs pray for proper citation in the premises and for judgment and foreclosure of their chattel mortgage lien on the above described personal property, and for other special and general relief as they may be entitled to.

Herein fail not, but have you before said Court on the said first day of the next term thereof, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness W. J. Yantis, Clerk of the County Court of McCulloch County, Texas.

Given under my hand and seal of office this 31st day of October, 1921.
W. J. YANTIS, County Clerk.

April 29th, 1921, to and including September 11, 1921, amounting to 136 days; that under said contract under which plaintiff did said work for defendants, plaintiffs said wages were to be paid on the first of each and every month for the preceding month, and plaintiff's wages were due at the end of each of said months, and said wages for said eleven days since September first were due as performed, as hereinafter alleged, and plaintiff says that all of said wages so due him by defendants are long past due and wholly unpaid, and though often requested so to do defendants have wholly failed and refused and still fail and refuse to pay same or any part thereof; that defendants paid plaintiff the sum of $15.00, leaving a balance due and unpaid of $1345.00, and all of said sum of $1345.00 is past due and wholly unpaid. That plaintiff is the legal owner and holder of said account. That defendants ceased active operations in McCulloch County on August 20th, 1921, and the defendant, Thad O. Day, who was in charge of said work as aforesaid, left McCulloch County and the State of Texas on or about said last mentioned date, and before leaving told plaintiff that his, plaintiffs, said contract and employment would continue and his wages under said contract would continue to run until plaintiff was paid off and discharged, and that defendants would need plaintiff to hold himself in readiness to ship their equipment and property out of McCulloch County to defendants at such place in the North as defendants might desire, and under such instructions from defendants plaintiff has continued in said employment and has recovered said sum of $10.00 per day since August 20th, until and including September 11th, together with said wages due prior to August 20th, 1921.

Wherefore, premises considered, plaintiff prays that defendants, who are non-residents of the State of Texas, be cited by publication to appear and answer this suit, and that upon hearing hereon plaintiff have judgment against defendants for his debt in the said sum of $1345.00 and all costs of suit, and for such other and further and different relief, general and special, legal and equitable, as plaintiff may be entitled to receive.

Herein fail not, but have you before said Court, on the first day of the next term thereof, this Writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of office this 31st day of October, 1921.

Clerk of the District Court, McCulloch County, Texas.

So Handy Round the House
By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD
(© 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Sue read the closely written sheets of her sister's letter with eager eyes. "We are so glad, dear, that you may be able to visit us. Just think—married six years and my kid sister has never seen my wonderful babies or equally wonderful William. Which reminds me that I hope this Perry person you mention so casually yet so frequently in your letters is as suitable for you as my husband is for me. But you'll have to see William to appreciate him. He's so handy round the house—"

She reread that last phrase. "So handy round the house!" Her thoughts flew to Perry Keene, to his good looks and attractive ways. He had many admirable qualities to offer as a husband, but, somehow or other, Sue simply could not visualize him as being handy round the house.

Sue's brow wrinkled as she meditated. She hadn't said "yes" to Perry yet and could easily make her visit to Helen an excuse for taking more time before answering.

That evening Perry, spurred by the hope of getting a definite reply from the girl he loved, arrived to find a barrier suddenly raised.

"No Perry," Sue said hesitantly, then with gathering firmness, "I won't say 'yes' until I'm absolutely certain. When I return from my visit to Helen I'll give my answer."

With that Perry had to be satisfied, and on the following day he saw Sue off at the station with a huge box of chocolates, an assortment of magazines and an earnest plea to "decide in his favor."

The unexpected marriage of Sue's sister which Sue and her invalid aunt were at a southern resort for the winter and Helen's immediate departure for a little western town had brought about the unusual circumstances that Sue had never seen her little brother-in-law. There had been little money on either side to spare for visits, and not until the death of her aunt had Sue found herself able to go to her sister.

Nevertheless, she accurately selected William from the group of men waiting at the station gate and presently found herself tucked in the unpretentious runabout waiting at the curb.

Their progress home was interrupted by a call at the fish market. "Helen is just crazy over mackerel roes," explained William. And Sue sighed. It was the first evidence of William's domesticity.

"You dear thing!"

"Helen—and these darling children!"

For a moment the joy of meeting obliterated all else. Then William unwrapped the roes. "The man said they ought to be used tonight," he advised.

Helen's brow clouded. "I have steak," she began. Then her expression cleared. "Never mind. I'll make it into meat cakes tomorrow and have the fish tonight. William is so thoughtful about bringing things home," she added in an aside to Sue.

As the days passed Sue found herself unable to arrive at a decision regarding Perry. More and more clearly she realized that a vast gulf yawned between him and her brother-in-law, and instinct told her that if happy marriages were based on the William type of man alone, wedded life with Perry would be a foredoomed failure.

William not only helped with the marketing, but he swept the living room before breakfast, and if the dust sifted into the dining room, still—the living room was swept. He knew the contents of pantry and icebox, and kept tabs, in a perfectly nice way, on the amount of butter and eggs consumed. And he washed the supper dishes regularly with a beautiful disregard of every housekeeper's rule, "glasses first and then silver," doing the forks and knives and spoons last, when the water was lower in temperature.

The last day of Sue's visit Sue and Helen went to the city on what Helen termed a "shopping spree." Their intention was to return in time for lunch, but the lure of the windows and the spell of the laden counters proved of such siren influence that the hours sped unnoticed. As a result, it was well into the afternoon before the sisters left the suburban trolley and hastened up the shady street to the house where William, taking a day off from work, was playing nursemaid to the children.

"Won't William and the children be half starved, Helen?" Sue wanted to know.

"Oh, William will look out for that," replied Helen carelessly.

And William had. "Yes," he assured them, "I got the kids some ice cream cones and mixed up a little cocoa and we finished up the cold meat. And as for you, your dinner is ready," he concluded triumphantly.

Such a dinner as it was! Chops, more or less irregularly broiled, salad made with fruit and cherries from Helen's emergency shelf and the rest of the salad dressing reserved for supper, toast, French fried potatoes, and a bakery pie whose cost had been out of all proportion to its depth or the richness of its ingredients. Helen and Sue, who had dropped into a

EDWIN W. FIELD, Milwaukee, Wis.

"I'm convinced if I had taken Tanlac two years ago, when my troubles first began, I would have been saved a world of suffering," said Ed W. Field, 538 Jefferson St., Milwaukee, Wis.

"My case proved that when a man's stomach goes wrong, everything goes wrong with him. The first thing I noticed out of the way was loss of appetite and next, that no matter how sparingly I ate, I was sure to have an attack of indigestion. This was two years ago and from that time on, until after I started on Tanlac. I kept going down hill at a steady rate. I finally got so I couldn't walk a couple of blocks without having to stop and rest and I was so nervous that often I sat up in a chair all night long."

"Tanlac has made a new man out of me, my stomach is as sound as a dollar and I feel fine all the time. I am a firm believer in Tanlac because I know it delivers the goods."

Tanlac is sold in Brady by Trigg Drug Co., and by leading druggists everywhere.

small place of refreshment for sandwiches and Russian tea, could not do justice to the repast.

Somewhere from regions upstairs five-year-old Billy was emitting muffled sobs. "He insisted on making your toast," explained William, "and when he burned it and I made him desist, he took to sulking, so I sent him up to his room for an hour. If it's spoiling your dinner, I'll go up and spank him," he added anxiously.

"William is crazy over the children," said Helen, "but he believes in strict discipline, and although sometimes it is hard, I leave it all to him."

The following day, Sue kissed her sister goodbye, hugged the children, and shook hands with William. Never had the halo of his domesticity shone brighter than it did in the last picture she had of him, wiping the sticky mouth of little Betty, who had teased for a milk chocolate.

Perry, notified by telegraph, met Sue at the station with roses and an expression both hopeful and anxious. Something in her face led him to touch her hand as his car sped them homeward. "Is it to be—?"

"Yes—without a reservation!" and Sue returned the quickened pressure of his hand and then of his eager lips.

Helen, contriving to be present for the wedding, asked anxiously, "Is he domestic, darling?"

Sue smiled deprecatingly. "Perry doesn't know a porterhouse steak from a loin chop, nor which end of a broom you sweep with." There was a world of apology in her voice for the shortcomings of her chosen husband, but in her eyes shone the light of satisfaction unalloyed.

He Rode Free.

The rear platform of the car was crowded with poor business men in starched collars and rich laborers in overalls. There would be nothing unusual in that if one of the overalled party had not given the crowd a lesson in thrift.

"See, I've got a dime," he told the conductor.

The conductor nodded.

"I'll pitch it. Heads you get the dime or tails I ride for nothing."

The conductor nodded again and the coin fanned the air.

"Tails," announced the overalled one triumphantly, and he took his place with the rest of the crowd.

THE SANDMAN STORY

MR. RAT'S ONE LIFE

MR. RAT was cornered and he knew if he tried to use force with big Mr. Tom Cat he would come to grief, so he used his wits, thinking to gain time and by so doing he might save his life.

"Before you take me," said Mr. Rat, "I should like to know, Mr. Tom, if it is true that you have nine lives."

"I have often heard this, but I have never believed it, and I should like to know before I die from your own lips the truth of this matter."

"It is quite true," replied Tom. "I have six lives left. Once I was thrown into a pond and came home. Another

"Of course I would," said Tom, knowing that he would not smother, and thinking how surprised Mr. Rat would be to see him come out alive after he thought him dead.

"Want to see me do it?" he asked.

"I should be delighted," said Mr. Rat, "but I must say I do not believe you can. So do not take any chances on my account. You might not be able to do it this time."

"Oh, if you had as many lives as I have you would not be afraid," said Mr. Tom. "It must be very uncomfortable to have only one life. Well, here I go. Now watch."

When Tom jumped in, Mr. Rat, as quick as a streak, ran up the box and tipped the cover, and down it came with a bang.

"Are you dead yet?" asked Mr. Rat.

Mr. Tom, to make him think he was, did not reply, but when he tried to jump out of the box, to his surprise, the cover was so heavy he could not move it.

Mr. Rat was safe, and he decided he would not run just yet, so he asked: "Are you there, Mr. Tom?"

"Yes, I came to life again; open the cover and I will show you," was the reply.

"Oh, I'll take your word for it," said Mr. Rat. "You have five lives left and I have only one, and if I let you out my one life would not be worth a grain of corn."

"I will take your word for it, Mr. Tom, that you are alive, and as you have five of your lives still left I will take care you do not see me again. Good-by. I hope you get out before your other five lives are used up."

Poor Mr. Tom meowed so loudly that some one heard him and let him out, but he stayed in the meal box so long that he almost smothered, and he was not at all sure after that whether he had five lives left or only one.

time I tumbled off the limb of a tree and fell into a hoghead of water and was rescued, and once some bad boys stoned me and left me for dead, but I came back and here I am."

"Well, well, I shall have to believe you, Mr. Tom," said Mr. Rat, "but how I should love to really see you die and come to life! That would be most interesting."

"Suppose now you should jump into that meal box with the cover open, and it should close and smother you, do you think you would come to life?"

HONORS WERE WITH BARNUM

Fellow Diner Who Thought to Have Joke on Showman Found the Tables Turned.

Turning the joke back on the other fellow was a great stunt for Barnum, the circus king, and recalls an episode of his tour of England.

One day he met a man named Anderson who was a magician and billed himself as "The Wizard of the North."

Anderson lured Barnum to a dinner at which both were strangers, and thinking to have a little fun, introduced Barnum to the assemblage as "The Wizard of the North."

Not the least taken aback, Barnum gracefully acknowledged the introduction, and bowing to the assemblage said:

"Ladies and gentlemen, as you know, 'The Wizard of the North' gives his first show Monday night and as you are now all my friends, I would like to have you accept passes to see the opening performance," and he began writing passes as fast as he could.

Anderson stood it as long as he could, but finally, with visions of having to do his first show to a deadhead audience, he finally weakened and confessed.

Caribou.

Caribou, says the Handbook of Indians of Canada, published by the geographic board, is the common name of the North American reindeer, of which there are two chief species—the woodland caribou, and the barren-ground caribou. The word came into the English from the French of eastern Canada, where it is old, the writer, Sagard-Heudat using it in 1632, during the lifetime of Samuel de Champlain. The origin of the word is said to be Micmac, the language of the Indians who inhabited what are now the Maritime provinces. They were known as Micmacs. They had a word related to caribou, being the name of the deer, and it meant pawing or scratching, from the habit of the caribou pawing away the snow with its forelegs to find the food—chiefly moss—upon which it subsisted in winter. Formerly the word was often spelled cariboo, which gave name to the Cariboo district in British Columbia, famous for its gold mines.—Montreal Herald.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Young Carlyle Wilburton Dale, or "Bill Dale," as he elects to be known, son of a wealthy coal operator, John K. Dale, arrives at the Halfway Switch, in eastern Tennessee, abandoning a life of ease—and incidentally a bride, Patricia Claverling, at the altar determined to make his own way in life. He meets "Babe" Littleford, typical mountaineer girl. By Heck, a character of the hills, takes him to John Moreland's home. Moreland is chief of his "clan," which has an old feud with the Littlefords. He tells Dale of the killing of his brother, David Moreland, years ago, owner of rich coal deposits, by a man named Carlyle. Moreland's description of "Carlyle" leads Dale to believe the man was his father.

CHAPTER II.—Dale arranges to make his home with the Moreland family, for whom he entertains a deep respect.

CHAPTER III.—Talking with "Babe" Littleford next day, Dale is ordered by "Black Adam" to stay with her and to leave "his girl" alone. Dale replies spiritedly, and they fight. Dale whips the bully, though badly used up. He ranges with John Moreland to develop David's coal deposits. Ben Littleford sends a challenge to John Moreland to meet him with his followers next day, in battle. Moreland agrees.

CHAPTER IV.—During the night all the guns belonging to the Littlefords and the Morelands mysteriously disappear.

CHAPTER V.—Dale arranges to go to Cincinnati to secure money for the mining of the coal. The two clans find their weapons, which the women had hidden and line up for battle. "Babe," in an effort to stop the fighting, crosses to the Moreland side of the river, and is accidentally shot by her father and seriously wounded.

CHAPTER VI.—To get proper surgical aid, John Moreland, Ben Littleford and Dale convey "Babe" to the city. Doctors assure them she is not seriously hurt. Dale meets an old friend, Bobby McLaurin, who had married Patricia Claverling. Telling his father of David Moreland's coal, the old gentleman's actions convince his son of his father's guilt in the killing of Moreland.

CHAPTER VII.—It is arranged that "Babe" is to stay with Mrs. McLaurin to be educated. Dale, refusing his father's proffered financial aid to develop the mine, interests Newton Wheatley, capitalist, who agrees to furnish the money. Dale realizes he loves "Babe."

CHAPTER VIII.—Returning to the Halfway Switch, Dale meets Major Bradley, lawyer, and real friend of the mountaineers, whom he engages as counsel for the company. A man named Goff, of evil repute, tries to bribe Dale to betray the Morelands by selling him the coal deposits. Dale tells them they are of little value. Dale attempts to thrash him, but Goff draws a revolver. Dale is warned.

CHAPTER IX.—Goff enlists the aid of a turbulent crowd, the Balls and Torrays, to make trouble for Dale's company. The Littlefords and Morelands agree to forget the old feud and dwell in harmony.

CHAPTER X—"Babe" returns to her home, fearing she is a burden to her mother. Dale, a renegade, and she agree to go back, for the sake of an education. Waylaid by "Black Adam" Ball, Dale fights a pistol duel with the desperado, and Ball is killed. Dale is arrested and taken to jail at Carterville. He doesn't see how his shot could have killed Ball.

CHAPTER XI.—There is much speculation as to who really killed Ball. The general opinion being it was by Heck, who had constituted himself Dale's guardian.

CHAPTER XII.—On the pretext of investigating another coal deposit, Dale is decoyed to a gathering of the Balls and Torrays. They "try" him for the murder of Adam Ball, and him guilty, and sentence him to be hanged next day. He is rescued by Heck. Goff is forced to leave the neighborhood.

CHAPTER XIV.—"Babe" writes Dale that she is living with her parents and that her education is progressing. Jimmy Payne, rich and dissolute, and "Babe" to marry him, but she tells him she loves Dale.

CHAPTER XV.—"Babe" comes to Carterville to attend Dale's trial. He is acquitted of the murder of Ball. Dale tells "Babe" to marry him. She loves him, but tells him she cannot be his wife.

CHAPTER XVI.—"Babe" tells Mrs. Dale her son had asked her to marry him and that she refused. Pressed for a reason, she confesses she killed Adam Ball to save Dale's life, and that she feels she is not worthy to be his wife.

CHAPTER XVII.—Jimmy Payne pressures his suit. "Babe" finally and definitely refuses him, though he promises that if she will marry him, he will help and educate the Littlefords, the girl's dearest wish.

CHAPTER XVIII.—Learning that the Balls and their kindred are planning to attack the place and kill him, Dale gathers the Littleford and Moreland clans for a last fight against the outlaws. The Balls are worsted and routed up. A small boy is sent to kill Dale, but his generosity conquers the little fellow. Dale and the clan chiefs release the outlaws, giving them their freedom.

CHAPTER XIX.—With "Babe," old John K. Dale visits David Moreland's grave. The girl has long since guessed the grim secret of Dale's life, the killing of David Moreland in a drunken rage. John Moreland meets the old man at the grave and prepares to kill him. "Babe" pleads for his life. Learning he is "Bill" Dale's father, Moreland relents and finally agrees to forgive and forget the past.

CHAPTER XX.—In the presence of John Moreland, "Bill" Dale and "Babe" tell the truth of the killing of David Moreland and reveals the fact that the man known as "Bill" Dale is in reality the son of David Moreland, whom he had carried away as a baby the morning following the slaying of his father. John Moreland is, of course, overjoyed that the man he has liked so well in his loved brother's son, and all feeling of enmity is put away. "Babe" confesses to "Dale," or "David Moreland," his real name, that it was she who killed "Black Adam" Ball to save her lover's life. The confession deepens Moreland's love for the girl, if that were possible, and the tragic, though intensely human, story of David Moreland's maintain is brought to a happy close.

"But later I married, and shortly after that I went to the farmer and persuaded him to let me adopt the child. I brought it up as my own, and educated it, as a sort of compensation. And I came to love it. But it was years before my wife loved it. She didn't like children then. But she does now. She is paying now, and I am paying. Don't you understand, Bill—don't you understand?"

There was a choke in his voice toward the last. Bill Dale went to his feet. His eyes were wide, but he did not seem unhappy; and for that Elizabeth was grateful. John Moreland sat as still, with his bearded, viking face as expressionless as though he had known it all along.

"And so I really am in my own country!" cried Bill Dale. "I am a Moreland, and the Morelands really are my own people!"

"Yes, you are in your own country, and you are a Moreland—and your baby name was David," said John K. Dale.

It was then that John Moreland spoke.

"Bill, when I first seed you, you made me think o' my brother the day he was married. I ain't never forgot that. I sartainly ain't surprised none at all. We didn't know about the baby. Cherokee Joe told me the baby had died."

"And now, son," pleaded old Dale, his voice breaking, "say that you forgive me."

Bill Dale, David Moreland's boy, knelt beside the old sheepskin-lined rocker, took the old coal king's hand in both his own and bent his head over it.

"It's all right," he said thickly. "It's all right."

Elizabeth Littleford arose and stole blindly out of the house. Her foot-prints led her, quite without her realizing where she was going, across the meadow and to the river above the blown-down sycamore. And there on that sacred spot, where she had first felt her heart leap at the sound of Bill Dale's voice, she sank down in a heap in the snow and cried, and cried.

Twilight was gathering rapidly, but she did not notice it. She did not notice, either, that the air was growing steadily colder with the approach of the mountain night. To her a warm sun was shining above in a bright blue vault; to her the spirit of summer was everywhere; in her ears there was the liquid song of a meadow lark, the sweet twittering of woodthrushes, the low humming of wild bees. The pouring of the crystal waters between the two boulders above the pool made music to her, and blended with it she seemed to hear the voice of a big, clean, strong man—

"I was thinking of the difference between you and some other women I know."

Then a ray of hope shone into her heart. Bill Dale was really a Moreland, and therefore, of the hill blood, even as she was of the hill blood, and that should make them more nearly equal. She told herself that he wouldn't be so apt to condemn her for being able to take a human life easily as one of another blood would be; he would be more apt to understand. And yet, the women he had known were gentle, tender and refined, like, for instance, Patricia McLaurin. Soon the ray of hope died within her, and she bent her head and sobbed again.

One of her bare hands began to grope idly in the snow at her side, and she did not feel the cold. Suddenly she realized that her hand was full of shavings, whittlings. Some man had been sitting there whittling with a pocket knife—it must have been a man, for who ever heard of a woman whittling? She felt in the snow with both hands, and found more whittlings—there were bushels of whittlings, it seemed to her, lying there under the snow.

Then she wondered—wondered who it could have been.

It was quite dark now, but the moon was not yet up. A great, bright star blazed above David Moreland's tomb like a beacon fire. She heard the muffled sounds of slow masculine foot-steps in the snow behind her. She did not turn her head. In her soul she knew it could be but one man.

Bill Dale's head was down, and he moved as though he neither knew nor cared whether he went. Then he saw the dark heap on the river's bank before him, and he halted. He knew in his soul that it could be but one woman.

Dale went on and sat down on a stone the size of a small barrel that lay at the river's rim.

whittles." "But I'm not busy on Sundays, you know," replied Dale. "Tell me this," Elizabeth asked pointedly: "What made you come to this one spot to do your whittlin'? Couldn't you whittle up there in my daddy's cabin yard?"

He answered her unhesitatingly: "Because I like to be here. This place is a shrine to me. It was here that I first loved you, Babe. Now you tell me this: Why did you come to this particular spot to sit down in the snow? There's snow in your daddy's cabin yard!"

Said Elizabeth, in a voice that sounded smothered: "Because I like to be here—this place is a shrine to me, too—it was here that I first loved you, Bill Dale!"

"Then why," he demanded, "won't you marry me?" "Because it was me that shot—Adam Ball."

She went on, and though emotion had set every fibre of her to quivering, she did not fall into the old hill talk, which was proof of the magnificence of her:

"I thought you wouldn't want me if you knew that I did that, and I couldn't marry you without telling you. But you know now! And do whatever you feel like doing or saying, you can't hurt me; I can never be hurt any—any m-m-m-more—"

Bill Dale shot erect. Truly, this was a day of surprises for him. He stooped and caught her up.

"A real woman!" he said happily, straightening with her in his arms. "A real, all gold, pure gold woman! You loved me well enough to kill a man to save me, and wouldn't let me know it! Woman is a mystery, sure enough. But perhaps it's because women are

CARE FOR ALL STRAY CATS

Every Day Homeless Grimalkins Are Fed at Cloister of San Lorenzo in Florence, Italy.

From time immemorial the stray cats of Florence, Italy, have been cared for. The cloister of San Lorenzo is sacred to poor puss. It is overlooked by the windows of the famous Laurentian library, built by Michelangelo for Pope Clement VII to house the Medicean collection.

All stray cats are taken thither, and at noon every day scraps of meat, etc., collected from the house after hours, are emptied into the dry moat round the grass. Toward feeding-time one may see cats of all kinds and degrees—black, tortoise-shell, fawn, and white, male and female, young and old—basking in the sun and licking their chops.

Finally, when the food is brought, from every direction cats crowd in, hissing at one another, mewing and jacking much noise. Then, when they have fed, human snappers-up of unconsidered trifles come round to secure the pieces of paper, etc., for rags.

When a lost cat is found in the city it is taken to San Lorenzo as naturally as every Florence baby is taken to the Baptistry of St. John's to be christened. Moreover, when people wish to get rid of their cats, they do not poison them or leave them to be starved in empty houses, but send them to the hospital cloister.

Well, Babe, Kitten, Must I Drag You to the Altar, or Will You Go With Me of Your Own Free Will?"

so fine and so far above menfolk that menfolk cannot understand them. Well, Babe, kitten, must I drag you to the altar, or will you go with me of your own accord?"

She put her arms around his neck and drew them tight.

"I'd go with you, Bill Dale—or David Moreland, whichever it is—to the very last inch of the end of the world," she said.

Early the next morning, there came strolling lazily up the river's bank a tall and lanky mountaineer who wore, among other things, a Niagara Falls mustache and cowhide boots that seemed ridiculously short because of the great length of his slender legs. He carried a rifle in the hollow of one arm; he was looking for rabbit-tracks in the snow. Near the pool above the blown-down sycamore, he came upon tracks that had not been made by any four-footed animals. There were the footprints of a man coming from one direction, and the footprints of a woman coming from another direction; only the footprints of the man went away toward Ben Littleford's cabin.

By Heck was puzzled. "Here comes Bill," he frowned, "and over here comes Babe. And that, as plain as day, goes Bill; but what become o' Babe? Whar in the name o' the devil's pet ridin'-boss did she go to? Not straight up, shorely!"

He scrutinized the signs with the understanding eye of the born woodsman. Then he grinned broadly and said to himself:

"Well, dang my farrard and blast my eyes! The danged old Injun, he jest picked her up bodily and carried her off home, and I know what that means, thank God. I can't pray, but I shore can sing—

"Oh, when I die, don't bury me deep; Put a tombstone at my head and feet; Put a bear's jawbone in my right hand; On my way to the Promised Land; Oh! On my way to the Promised Land!" (THE END.)

Catarrrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. Hall's Catarrrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists. 75c. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

From time immemorial the stray cats of Florence, Italy, have been cared for. The cloister of San Lorenzo is sacred to poor puss. It is overlooked by the windows of the famous Laurentian library, built by Michelangelo for Pope Clement VII to house the Medicean collection.

All stray cats are taken thither, and at noon every day scraps of meat, etc., collected from the house after hours, are emptied into the dry moat round the grass. Toward feeding-time one may see cats of all kinds and degrees—black, tortoise-shell, fawn, and white, male and female, young and old—basking in the sun and licking their chops.

Finally, when the food is brought, from every direction cats crowd in, hissing at one another, mewing and jacking much noise. Then, when they have fed, human snappers-up of unconsidered trifles come round to secure the pieces of paper, etc., for rags.

When a lost cat is found in the city it is taken to San Lorenzo as naturally as every Florence baby is taken to the Baptistry of St. John's to be christened. Moreover, when people wish to get rid of their cats, they do not poison them or leave them to be starved in empty houses, but send them to the hospital cloister.

Well, Babe, Kitten, Must I Drag You to the Altar, or Will You Go With Me of Your Own Free Will?"

so fine and so far above menfolk that menfolk cannot understand them. Well, Babe, kitten, must I drag you to the altar, or will you go with me of your own accord?"

She put her arms around his neck and drew them tight.

"I'd go with you, Bill Dale—or David Moreland, whichever it is—to the very last inch of the end of the world," she said.

Early the next morning, there came strolling lazily up the river's bank a tall and lanky mountaineer who wore, among other things, a Niagara Falls mustache and cowhide boots that seemed ridiculously short because of the great length of his slender legs. He carried a rifle in the hollow of one arm; he was looking for rabbit-tracks in the snow. Near the pool above the blown-down sycamore, he came upon tracks that had not been made by any four-footed animals. There were the footprints of a man coming from one direction, and the footprints of a woman coming from another direction; only the footprints of the man went away toward Ben Littleford's cabin.

By Heck was puzzled. "Here comes Bill," he frowned, "and over here comes Babe. And that, as plain as day, goes Bill; but what become o' Babe? Whar in the name o' the devil's pet ridin'-boss did she go to? Not straight up, shorely!"

He scrutinized the signs with the understanding eye of the born woodsman. Then he grinned broadly and said to himself:

"Well, dang my farrard and blast my eyes! The danged old Injun, he jest picked her up bodily and carried her off home, and I know what that means, thank God. I can't pray, but I shore can sing—

"Oh, when I die, don't bury me deep; Put a tombstone at my head and feet; Put a bear's jawbone in my right hand; On my way to the Promised Land; Oh! On my way to the Promised Land!" (THE END.)

Catarrrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. Hall's Catarrrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists. 75c. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Why Buick Valve-in-Head Motors Have More Power

Internal combustion motors are heat engines. The more heat retained in their cylinders, the more power they generate.

Water-jacketing space absorbs heat.

Buick Valve-in-Head motors have about 20% less water-jacketing space than the L Head type and about 15% less than the T Head type.

That is one of the reasons why Buick Valve-in-Head motors have more power.

The GIRL, A HORSE AND A DOG

By FRANCIS LYNDE

FROM a silver-spoon and soft-mattress existence, Stanford Broughton suddenly is confronted with the alternative of looking for a job or, another kind of quest, try and locate a mysterious legacy left him by an eccentric grandfather.

He does not know the character of the property, but the grandfather's directions say that it is somewhere between the 105th and 110th degrees of longitude west from Greenwich, and the 35th and 40th degrees north latitude.

When he finds it he will be able to identify it by the presence of a girl with brown hair and blue eyes, a small mole on her left shoulder, a piebald horse and a dog with a split face—half black and half white. He is game and he starts to look for the combination. The troubles he has in locating it and the adventures and dangers through which he passes in securing possession of the property, also the romantic incidents in which the girl is a figure, make up this very fascinating narrative.

It is Mr. Lynde's habit to tell stories like this, and there are readers in multitudes who would be sorry to have him depart from the custom.

CHANGE FROM TAILORED SUIT

A winsome change from the strictly tailored suit is this model of platinum gray, with self-toned embroidery.

CUT OF THE NEW NEGLIGEEES

Mandarin Style of Garment is Slightly Shaped by Means of Gathers Under Arms.

A good many negligees are made of black satin in the style of oriental robes, being hand painted instead of embroidered. Those that are not hand-painted are lined with a bright color to supply a contrast. For instance, a negligee of black satin may be lined with gold or cerise.

There are several different styles among these oriental models of black satin. One especially is distinctly new and interesting, not only for its style, but for its simplicity. When on, the corsage has a shawl effect, as the two sides cross in surplice fashion, passing through a slit at one side, to tie, and hang in long sash ends. No sleeves are required in this negligee, as the surplice sections extend over the arm somewhat like a kimono sleeve, and while the garment is collarless, it has turnback revers at the front showing the colored lining.

The mandarin style of negligee is slightly shaped by means of gathers under the arm. These negligees are decorated in hand-painted motifs. In striking designs and colorings, with touches of embroidery combined with the painting.

An unusual robe of zenana cloth has all the edges scalloped and button-holed in white chenille. The collar is deeply pointed at the back and at the front there is a full-length panel, narrow and plastron-like at the top, and widening out to extend over the hips below the waistline. The scalloping continues on these panels, which button down with large pearl buttons. This style is also made in crepe and black charmeuse. Some of the Japanese negligees are embroidered in Japanese scenic floral designs, usually worked in a loose darning stitch and combined with hand painting.

THE FRILLS OF FASHION

It may be painting the rose, but one of the liveliest of vestees in an imported suit was made from rich-colored Japanese embroidery. Its heavy flower patterns were brought out by a white silk floss outline.

Plumets is a new dotted swiss, and a most effective afternoon frock material which shows small printed rose-gray patterns as well as the embroidered dots. This is to be had in a wide variety of delicate colorings.

Honey dew is the color which brought back macramé lace. An overblouse of honey dew crepe de chine is gathered into a deep band of lace which fits slightly at the waistline. A two-tone ribbon runs through the band and ties at one side in long loops and streamers.

The new drop-stitch volles are fine and sheer and adapt themselves readily to the making of soft, youthful afternoon frocks. These volles are a most colorful collection indeed, in such shades as lemon, yellow saffron, jade, orchid, old blue, shell pink, coral, flamingo and platinum.

Mirage organdies come principally in the pastel shades and show a ring, a dot or a small square of a slightly paler shade than the material itself, the figure resembling a stamp and not being of the printed variety. Other mirage organdies have overwork of dainty embroidery or chain stitching. A striking pattern on rose-colored mirage organdie had crossing lines of chain stitching in white which formed 2-inch checks.

A simple tea frock entirely different is a negligee which might be characterized as a tea frock, so simple is it in line. It is a short slipover of claret satin, fares at the back and front, leaving the fullness to be concentrated at the sides. Sleeves, cut in one with the main portion, are very full, but so draped as to fit the wrist closely. The only trimming applied consists of small squares of oriental embroidery, just above the waistline at the front

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Darley are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a fine son and heir, born Monday, November 21st. The new arrival has been christened Dewey Wood Darley, which is full assurance that he will grow up a patriotic, useful citizen.

There is a dainty little Miss now gracing the Christian parsonage, whose arrival was announced by the Rev. G. T. Reaves Tuesday evening. Quite naturally Rev. and Mrs. Reaves are greatly rejoiced over the safe arrival, and in their happiness they are joined by their many friends.

The Bodner & Conaway big Star-30 machine, used here to drill the city water well, is being moved out for shipment to the Mexia oil field, where the company has several drilling contracts. Two big trucks were required to move the big machine from the water well site to the railway right-of-way.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Murray will regret to learn that they will leave Brady on the first of the month. Mr. Murray, who has been employed as warehouseman at the local Santa Fe depot, has been transferred to San Saba, where he has accepted the position of bill clerk. While, in turn, leaving Brady with regret, Mr. and Mrs. Murray anticipate the pleasure of going among old-time friends, Mr. Murray having been station agent at San Saba about three years ago, and also having been raised at Richland Springs. The best wishes of their friends accompany them to their new home.

W. A. Penn of the Placid community was in Brady Tuesday, having come here to get a water pump repaired. He reports the water situation in the Placid community as very serious, and nearly everyone is having to haul water, either from Rochelle, Onion Gap or a well below his place. Mr. Penn has fifty head of horses and cattle for which he has been daily hauling water, drawing the water by hand with a five-gallon bucket at the end of a rope. It was for this reason that he was endeavoring to get the pump fixed so as to use the pump in place of man power. On the Willie Beakley place, oil well drillers left a hole 400 ft. deep, which stands in water to within 60 ft. of the top. The water is slightly salty, but nevertheless good for stock use, and the well is being fixed up for pumping. Apparently it has a strong flow, and it is thought it will equal the town well at Mercury.

PARENT-TEACHERS ASSN. TO PRESENT SECOND NUMBER LYCEUM COURSE 9TH

The second number of the White & Myers Lyceum course will be presented under auspices of the Brady Parent-Teachers association on Friday night, December 9th, in the district court room. The number will be a lecture by Dr. A. M. Reitzel, one of the best and most popular of those appearing on the lecture platform. Dr. Reitzel was here a few years ago, at which time his lecture upon "The Measure of a Man" made a deep impression upon his audience, and the friends and acquaintances he made at that time are looking forward with pleasure to seeing and hearing him again.

Prior to Dr. Reitzel's lecture, a musical program will be given by local talent, which, in itself, is assurance of a well-spent and enjoyable evening.

In the White & Myers Lyceum course, the Parent-Teachers association has secured the highest class of talent offered the public today. The series of entertainment are worth the price of a season ticket many times over. In addition to being entertaining, they are instructive, and give inspiration for the better form of entertainment. The Parent-Teachers association is very desirous of having a large attendance at each of the numbers in the course to enable them both to meet the guarantee and, if possible, to provide a surplus to be used for the betterment of the local school. Season tickets for the remaining numbers of the course may be obtained from Mrs. Wm. C. Jones at a reduced price.

A Great Light.

The skipper was examining an ambitious gob who wanted to be a gunner's mate.
 "How much does a six-pound shell weigh?" he asked.
 "I don't know," the gob confessed.
 "Well, what time does the 12 o'clock train leave?"
 "Twelve o'clock."
 "All right. Then, how much does a six-pound shell weigh?"
 "Ah," said the youthful mariner, a great light dawning on his, "Twelve pounds."—American Legion Weekly.
