J. E. SNAVELEY SUICIDES AT EASTLAND WED

J. E. Snavley, former Brady citizen, and well-known here, committed suicide at Eastland at 3:00 o'clock Wednesday afternoon by shooting himself through the heart. Snavley lived in Brady for a number of years, being employed in the E. B. Ramsay planing mill. When the mill was moved to Eastland, Mr. Snavley accompanied Mr. Ramsay to that place, and since Mr. Ramsay's return to Brady a couple years ago, Snavley had operated the mill under lease from Mr. Ramsay. Upon being notified of the tragedy yesterday, Mr. Ramsay left on last night's train for Eastland to make funeral arrangements, and to wind up the affairs of the deceased. No intimation as to the cause of the rash act has been given, although it is thought the shooting was done in a fit of despondency.

The following is the report of the affair carried in the daily press yesterday:

Eastland, Texas, April 5. — J. E. Snavley, owner of a planing mill here, at 3 o'clock this afternoon shot himself through the heart with a .44 Savage rifle. He was sitting in a chair in his place of business at the time. He placed the muzzle of the gun over the heart and pulled the trigger with a small steel rod. Snavley came here from Brady, Texas. He had one daughter living in San Antonio and one in Austin. He has a brother, Snavley, living in Cisco. It is said he had talked with the woman with whom he boarded only a short time before his death and told her that he wished her to take charge of his effects.

Justice of the Peace Horn viewed the body and pronounced it a case of suicide.

You say the world a living owes to you?
Well, possibly that's true,
What's more she pays it in free light and air;
She gives you space to stand, and everywhere
She strews her gifts about you, gifts of food—
Meat, drink and things to wear, and all the good
Of fair companionships, and laughter gay,
And love, and sleep when comes the end of day;
And not a human need on any side
But with her lavish gifts satisfied,
She only asks that you shall do your share
To gather in the bounty of her care,
And not sit down, and loaf till she shall heed you
And come herself to house, and clothe, and feed you.

MEERS WELL ON ZELLE TRACT HAS PAY SAND, 390 FT.

The Jeff Meers Oil Co. well, being drilled on the Zelle tract by J. Cory Snow, and located midway between Prairie Oil Co. producers Nos. 1 and 3, has pay sand at 390 ft. Top of the sand was found at 375 ft., the sand appearing very hard and tight until 390 ft., when the drill penetrated to the depth of one foot into the pay sand. The sand is reported as making a good showing, and when drilled in, should make a good producer.

The drillers were successful in getting the casing set down to the right spot, cutting the water entirely off, and everything is in good shape to drill the well in. On account of muddy roads making access to the well impossible, drilling will be delayed until some time next week. In the meantime unit shares in the Jeff Meers Oil Co. are held at $10, par value, until the well is proven up.

SAN ANGELO-SAN ANTONIO BUS LINE TO BEGIN OPERATIONS ABOUT MAY 1ST

J. W. Owens, accompanied by E. G. Potter, capitalist and industrial magnate of San Antonio, was in Brady Tuesday in the interest of the San Angelo & Gulf Transportation Co., of which Mr. Owens is promoter, and which company proposes to run a line of auto busses between San Angelo and San Antonio, with double daily service in both directions. In addition the company expects to provide pullman service, so that those who wish may ride with all the comfort and conveniences of a pullman railroad coach. At San Antonio, the line proposes to connect with the line running to the Gulf coast and touching the Rio Grande Valley points.

Operation of the line, which was to have begun last Sunday, has been postponed until May 1st, in order to complete all arrangements.

Towns along the line's proposed route are being asked to subscribe for stock in the company, with unit shares at $25. Brady is asked to subscribe for 40 shares of stock. Mr. Owens' proposition has been left in the hands of W. D. Jordan, president of the Brady Chamber of Commerce.

To the Voters of Brady.

To my friends who voted and used their influence in my behalf in the recent election, I wish to say that I am unable here to command the power of language with which to express to you my full appreciation and heart-felt thanks. "My cup runneth over."

To those who voted and worked so hard against my election, I wish to state that there is no prejudice in my heart against them, and I shall enter the office of City Secretary with malice towards none; with good-will for all.

Yours sincerely,
E. G. GILDER.

MAN, HIS SON AND TEAM DROWNED IN THE COLORADO

Sterling Hornsby, aged 35 and his 9-year old son lost their lives in the raging waters of the Colorado river about 9:00 o'clock Wednesday morning, when they attempted with team and wagon to ford the river at the Champion crossing. The river was on a 4-foot rise at the time, and going higher, and the swift current swept the team off its feet, the team being also drowned. A party about 100 yards below the crossing heard the cries for help, but was unable to do anything to rescue the struggling man and boy. Up to yesterday noon the bodies had not yet been recovered.

The Hornsby family have lived on D. C. Randall's place since December 23rd. A wife and four children survive.

LEGION-BAND MINSTREL PLAYS TO FULL HOUSE AT EDEN LAST FRIDAY

The Legion-Band minstrel show and concert scored another big hit last Friday night, at which time the show was presented at Eden. A full house greeted the performance, and the show went over big again, everyone appearing highly pleased. The receipts were even better than at Menard, and the Legion and band boys are gratified at the success attained.

The Eden performance was the third at which the boys played to a packed house, and although they worked hard and faithfully in whipping the various acts of the show into shape, they feel that their efforts are meeting popular approval and that they are being repaid from the standpoint of financial returns alone.

SAM T. WOOD ENGAGES IN HARDWARE BUSINESS ON SOUTH SIDE SQUARE

Sam T. Wood, popularly known as "Uncle Sam," and accounted one of the most popular hardware salesmen in the city, has blossomed out this week as a full-fledged hardware merchant, having opened up a stock of hardware and racket goods in the former J. C. Harber building on the south side of the square. Mr. Wood is carrying a line of advertised and popular brands of tools, and in addition will have a complete line of racket and sporting goods of all kinds. He invites a visit from his friends and acquaintances, and feels that by selling for cash, he can assure them of low prices upon the best quality of goods. Everybody likes Sam Wood, and everyone will wish him much success in his business venture.

STONEWALL JACKSON CAMP AT BROWNWOOD WITHDRAWS INVITATION TO VETERANS

L. Ballou, adjutant for Mountain Remnants Fifth Brigade, U. C. V., is in receipt of the following communication from the Rev. W. H. White, adjutant Stonewall Jackson Camp No. 188, U. C. V., at Brownwood, in effect that the Brownwood camp will be unable to entertain the Mountain Remnants Brigade at their coming annual reunion, as had been planned. The Brownwood camp extended the invitation to the veterans at the close of the very successful reunion held last year in Brady, and the invitation was accepted by the veterans at that time.

The following is the letter from Rev. White under date of April 4th, advising the veterans of Brownwood's inability to undertake the entertainment:

"Stonewall Jackson Camp No. 118, U. C. V., in regular session April 2nd, took up the matter of the meeting of the Mountain Remnants Fifth Brigade at this place, and after duly considering the subject they directed me to write you. This town at this time is not in condition to offer such entertainment as they think the Brigade should have in consequence of the drought and other factors contributing to the present depression in business. They are afraid to undertake it and instruct me to tell you to seek some other place. If you should fail to secure a place, let us know, and we will do the best we can to entertain the Brigade."

In consequence of the above, the Mountain Remnants Brigade is now open to invitation from other towns within the limits of the brigade for the holding of their 1922 reunion.

A Correction.

The Standard's attention has been called to two errors in the report of winners in the recent Interscholastic League meet. First place in Senior Girls' Spelling was awarded to Mabel Miller of Brady, when it should have read Mabel Wilder. Miss Wilder is a daughter of W. A. Wilder of this city. In the debate, in which the Brady Girls' team won second place, one name was given in wrong. The girls' team was composed of Misses Mary Lyle Vincent and Amy Eidson.

My Appreciation.

I am very appreciative of the vote given me by the citizens of Brady in the recent city election, and wish to thank one and all. I will at all times stand for the best interests of the citizens, and hope to fill the office in a manner so that none may regret my election. W. F. ROBERTS, SR.

GOOD AFTER ELECTION AS BEFORE.

"Let all the citizens vote—the women as well as the men. Then, when the majority have named our choice of officers, let us back these officers in their administration, and help them put over any plans for progress, which, in their judgment, may be necessary and proper for the good of the citizenship."

The above was printed editorially in The Standard the last issue before the city election. It holds as good now as when written.

The citizens turned out to vote, just as we had exhorted them. Now, let us complete the job; let us back up our city officers in their plans for Brady's progress and improvement. Let not our course be accentuated by dissensions and controversies, but let us all work unitedly in building up Brady.

As long as we have to live here, how can we better serve our own interests, and those of our fellow-citizens, than to make Brady a pleasant place in which to live; a city which we are proud to call home; a city of comforts and conveniences and advantages. A city in which civic pride abounds and serves to make our homes attractive not only for ourselves, but for all who visit here.

We are ready to start off anew. Let's go!

WHOLESALE EDITION.

The San Angelo Standard, West Texas' greatest newspaper, and always a splendid and most ably edited paper, last week came out with a 40-page Wholesale Edition, being the second annual edition of the kind to be issued by The Standard. Not only was the edition "wholesale" in the matter of pages, but in the manner of setting forth San Angelo's industrial and jobbing interests, the special covered the ground in truly "wholesale" fashion.

Illustrated with numbers of splendid views of the San Angelo wholesale and business district, and carrying comprehensive write-ups of the many and varied industries of which San Angelo boasts, the edition proved a notable booster for our neighbor city, and should attract widespread attention and interest. We congratulate The San Angelo Standard upon the highly creditable manner in which the edition was put over.

HINTS TO BUSINESS BUILDERS.

Advertising is as much a stimulant to business as food is to the body.

MENACES TO HEALTH.

Perhaps at no time of the year should the citizens look more carefully to the elimination of all menaces to health than the present. This is the season when flies begin breeding; when every stagnant pool, or water accumulation in cans, tanks or other containers, furnishes an incubator for mosquitoes. Now is the time to head off the propagation of these pests by getting rid of their breeding places.

Every citizen should unite in the campaign to "Swat the Fly," and "Eliminate the Mosquito." It will be millions of times easier right now than later. It will be infinitely safer. It will be inestimably better. It is a task wherein we have everything to gain and nothing to lose.

Spread oil on the water in tanks. Mash the tin cans flat or puncture them. Drain the stagnant puddles and pools. Get the mosquito!

And while we are fighting these pests, let us not forget that rats and mice are another pair of dangerous pests and costly enemies. Let's campaign against the rats and mice too. They are enemies to society, to health, to wealth!

ANOTHER EXAMPLE.

Incident upon incident might be cited against the Ku Klux Klan, and the menace it presents to American civilization. In its flamboyant efforts at self-advertisement, it has even invaded the sanctity of our churches. If Christ were to return to earth today, what would He do and say if a body of masked and hooded men were to march into His House of God? Would He not drive them out as He did the money-changers in the temple?

The Ku Klux Klan professes to uphold the law, and warns transgressors to beware, claiming to watch all law violators. Up in Tulsa, Okla., the Klan there asked permission to parade through the town. The Tulsa mayor refused the request, stating that he did not think it an opportune time to stage a parade on account of the fact that might possibly incite a repetition of the race rioting staged there last year. Yet the Ku Klux Klan staged their parade regardless of the mayor. The marchers carried various banners among which were some advising obedience to the laws. The Ku Klux Klan should take that advice home to themselves. Their motto would appear to be: "Don't do as we do, but do as we say do."

QUEER POLITICS.

Politics is a mighty queer game, and a source of never-ceasing wonders. For instance, in our neighbor county, San Saba, the political game appears the red-hot stuff. In Public Weigher Precinct No. 2, (the Richland Springs precinct) there are twelve candidates; for sheriff there are six candidates; for county judge, four candidates. In the first named race it would appear that the man who has the largest relationship would win the race (providing he can corral all his relatives' votes).

Now, behold Runnels county! Here we have about the most harmonious bunch of candidates and political factions ever noted. There are three candidates for Commissioner in Precinct No. 1 of Runnels county, but with this single exception, not a single candidate has any opposition. It is going to be a lonesome race over in Runnels, if we may dignify the campaign by calling it a "race."

WHAT A LITTLE INTEREST WILL DO.

In April, 1897, George Jones borrowed $100 from Henry B. Stuart, San Jose, Calif. He agreed to pay 10 per cent a month compounded interest. Stuart was recently given a judgment for $304,840,332,912,865.16 and the note mentioned above was cancelled.

The City of Dallas is doing its deal level best to retain its title as "Floggersville."

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Many people long for more money, but look at Europe!—Pittsburg Gazette-Times.

The miners apparently think that their goal is within striking distance of Virginia Pilot.

BABY FISH FOR TEXAS LAKES.

The announcement from the state fish hatchery at Dallas that there will be approximately 2,700,000 baby fish ready for shipment to clubs and private lake owners this spring ought to interest all such persons and organizations. Every available lake and pond in the state should be stocked with game fish and it costs nothing but a little personal attention and time to have this done. Baby fish are furnished free both from the state fish hatchery at Dallas and the United States hatchery at San Marcos and there is no excuse for any available fishing hole going without fish.

The hatchery at Dallas is the only one in the state entirely supported and maintained by the state of Texas and under an agreement with the federal authorities the territory of the state has been apportioned between the federal hatchery at San Marcos and the state hatchery at Dallas along definite lines. The territory apportioned to the state hatchery is as follows:

El Paso to Sweetwater on the Texas & Pacific railroad; Sweetwater to Temple on the Santa Fe; from Temple east to Calvert, Madisonville, Groveton, Corrigan, Rockland, Jasper and Newton. All requests from within this territory are filled from the Dallas hatchery and all from territory south of these lines are filled from San Marcos.

The policy of free distribution of baby fish for stocking lakes and ponds is exceedingly liberal. Virtually all requests for baby fish for acceptable waters are complied with, it matters not whether they are for private or public lakes or exclusive club grounds or neighborhood streams. The purpose is to have the streams and the lakes and pools of Texas stocked with game fish and plenty of them and if any of these acceptable waters are unstocked the fault must lie with those who own or live near them.

Shipping time for baby fish is at hand and all varieties of baby fish except crappie, can be shipped by the latter part of May. Crappie will not stand shipment in hot weather and these are shipped in the fall. Among the varieties of fish available are catfish, big mouthed bass, rock bass, bream, crappie and a variety of sunfish. There should be sufficient interest among the disciples of Isaac Walton to induce the stocking of every pool in every locality, with baby fish which will in time furnish sport and food for anglers.—Temple Telegram.

KLAN IMMUNITY.

According to the decision of the Court of Criminal Appeals, a klanman who is under oath before a grand jury to tell the entire truth touching questions propounded to him and who refuses to tell whether he is a member of the klan or not when asked, is in contempt of court. Furthermore he is in contempt of law. Having sworn as a klanman to maintain the secrets of "klanishness" in violation (save in case of treason, malicious murder, rape and treachery to the klan), such a witness subordinates his oath before the grand jury to his oath before the cypriots or other dignitary of his klan. He places his duty to his country below below that of his hooded and sheeted lodge. How could he place himself more effectually in contempt, not only of the court, but also of all law?

The appellate court gave expression to scant patience at the substance of the pretenses offered in the Austin case as reasons why an answer to the question of membership would involve the giving of evidence by the witness against himself. But notwithstanding this, the court went into the discussion of the case in the fullest measure, exploring even those ramifications of the matter which might have been declared irrelevant, had the court desired so to declare them, in order to make the treatment of the entire subject complete. The decision leaves the case for the klanman witness in an intolerably uncomfortable state. Consider it for a moment.

Surely it was uncomfortable enough to have to assert in open court that it would be incriminating to admit membership in the klan. After hav-

CIVIC UNITY.

They say if you will all put your hands on the table or ouija board at the same time, and then all think together about the same thing and concentrate all your mental energy on the same thought that the table or whatever your hands and your mind is on will MOVE.

Now we do not know whether this is so or not. Personally we have never been moved that way. But many of us ever moved very far before we made up our mind to move and concentrated all our energies in one direction. It may not be such a magic mystery as it at first seems. We cannot explain how or why the chairs and the tables climb around over the room but we do know one thing. And that is when a body of intelligent people place their hands squarely on the task of building up a town and everybody in that town concentrates his mental and physical energies on that one task that the whole town moves. And we know, too, that when all the people of a whole county lay their hands on their county and concentrate their united thought on the upbuilding of their county that their COUNTY MOVES and there are not enough forces in all nature to hold it down.

An excellent example of this may be found in good old Clay county. There you find a ouija board sixty-two miles long and thirty-five miles wide, with seventy thousand people to play the game. When you go to Clay ing participated or acquiesced in grandiose, though anonymous, claims of organized righteousness for the klan, to have to assert under oath that to admit membership would be to incriminate oneself is indeed to suffer the discomforts of mortification. But now that the courts have held that there can be no possible taint of legal incrimination in the mere admission of membership in an organization, and that, even if there were, the immunity of the court would compel an answer, then the klanman is thrown back upon the pains of violating his oath to his klan after having shown his willingness to violate his oath to the grand jury. It is indeed uncomfortable.

These remarks must in all justice be restricted to klanmen who refuse to carry out their grand jury oaths. The witnesses at Austin must be exempted from the force of these strictures, since it is not a matter of official record that they were members of the klan, though they did allege that it would be incriminating for them to say whether they were members or not. But the decision does make clear that the immunity of the klan as it now stands is an immunity born of its own oath to preserve secrecy in defiance of grand jury oaths and in contempt of both court and law. That is an immunity that is not good to contemplate. Can honest men and loyal citizens abide by it.—Dallas News.

county you will very likely get off the train at Henrietta, the capitol of the county. And before you get up town from the depot the women will tell you that they are all working together for a better school. And they will tell you that every member of the school board is right with them. They all have their hands and their minds on the school. When you meet the president of the school board, the first thing he will tell you is that every member of the Parent-Teachers' Association, and there are a hundred or more of them, work right along with the school board and help the board every way they can. And when you look around you will notice a large annex that was added last year to the high school building. You will find a beautiful auditorium seated with the best of chairs that has been enlarged and made over the past year by the concentrated energies of all the people.

When you meet the home demonstrator she will tell you that there are nearly a hundred school districts in the county for her to visit with one Ford and 2,018 farm homes in her field of service. Two thousand eighteen farmers and their families in this one county to be brought together in one great organization for the development of Clay county. But she is not discouraged because every club and every club woman in the county is thinking with her. They have their minds and their hearts on the same task. And although Miss Beulah Bradley of Memphis, Texas, has been in Clay county only three months she has fifteen girls' clubs already organized and she is pegging away every day to have the whole county systematically organized for the conservation of Clay county's crop of fruit and vegetables. Everybody has their minds on the task of the County Home Demonstrator and they are going to MOVE Clay county up several degrees on the agricultural map of Texas.

When asked how they secured a home demonstrator, one man replied, "We got her by giving up 125 miles of graveled road that would have cost us $2,000,000." Clay county thought a home demonstrator was more essential to the well being of their girls, their farm homes, and the conservation of their food supplies than a gravel road was to the tourists of the state. The tourists will get by some way, rain or shine. But a lot of their farmers are having a time to get by this year and buy the food that might have been saved last year.

So they all put their minds together to build up the homes and the children and the products of the county and when this is done they are all going to think together for better roads. What can be a better game and a happier pastime than for all the people of a whole county to practice thinking, planning and working together? What will it mean to a county to have a Home Improvement club in every school district? And what will help the county to move more than to build up every home in it? Did the Clay county people play the right game? Which is most important in the life of a county? Its homes or its roads? Both are important. And both are interdependent. But think what $2,000,000 would do for a county if used to improve the people first! Two million dollars would build good rural high schools all over Clay county and place practically every child in the county within the reach of a modern high school. True they will need the good roads to get to the new consolidated schools. But better homes and better schools will produce better roads quicker than good roads will bring about the good homes and good schools.

The people of Clay county are getting their minds concentrated on Clay county. They are beginning to think in terms of Clay county. When you call a meeting of the women, the officers of all the clubs come. Not just one little selfish group. And immediately you discover they are there seeking the best methods of serving their home county. They do not talk in terms of "My Club" but in terms of OUR COUNTY. Do you think any natural power can keep a county from moving forward under such a force as that?—Phebe K. Warner, in Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

WONDER WORDS.

O. I. C. and Other Hogs That Make "Ham What Am."

Vonder, Ore., March 26.
Editor Brady Standard:

"Thank goodness! Some people are beginning to get their eyes opened upon improvement of livestock whether they ever do upon the war and peace question or not.

Was glad to have the corroborative statement of our old friend R. D. Draper of the superiority of a cross-bred hog over that of the registered inbred animal. Now, here is the point that I desire to emphatically emphasize. For about a year I have been deluged with literature of the Hampshire breeders, (that long legged, long nosed, humped backed hog with a white band around his middle. As I had no use for the advertisements, I sent them to my old friend, Henderson. Of course, I don't know what use he made of them. But here's the joker: in the literature was advertised for sale "gilts bred to sires that were of no kin." Well, you might make some people believe that. I maintain that all purebred stock are akin to all the animals of the same breed. If not, why not? This is my objection to the registration system. It prevents advancement in the way of improved stock. Well, says one, "Then how is it that thoroughbreds as a rule are superior in the matter of size?" I answered that question once, but I'll answer it again. This is the reason and the only reason a citizen of any community is induced to try a registered thoroughbred, for which he pays an exorbitant price. And after paying so much money do you suppose that he is going to neglect to take good care of it? Not much! I knew of one man who neglected to take good care of a pair of Poland China pigs because he imagined that all that was necessary was to have registered stock. Well the result was in a couple of months he had two of the scrabbliest looking runts you ever saw!

I believe I told you about Mr. Steel of this county who used to handle the Berkshires. As soon as he supplied all who would buy them, he shipped his herd to California. And then he shipped in a carload of big-boned Poland Chinas from Illinois. He kept them as long as it was profitable; for after growers get stocked up on a certain breed they won't buy of their neighbors for fear of inbreeding. Well then he shipped his herd to Iowa and the next thing anyone knows they have to be moved again and here goes a carload to Texas. Of course it is the offspring of the same old original stock, only shipped about from place to place. If not, why not?

According to my limited experience I believe a cross between the Poland and Duroc is about as good as any. You perhaps remember about my four largest hogs. I told you what kind of stock they were in order that hog raisers might have the benefit of my experiments. I will repeat it here. 1 called No. 1, "The Whale." He was a cross Poland and Duroc, and dressed out exactly 600 lbs. No. 2, "White Elephant," a cross Poland, Berk and O. I. C., dressed, I believe 660 lbs. No. 3, "The Kaiser," thorough Poland China, dressed out 483 lbs. No. 4, "Jumbo," a cross three-fourth Poland and one-fourth Berkshire, dressed 685 lbs. I also had two white brood sows which were one-half O. I. C. (Ohio Improved Chester) that dressed out between 500 and 600 lbs. each. You will take notice that the lightest hog of the bunch was a thoroughbred big-boned Poland China. I had his pedigree but that did not make him grow extra large.

Now about the weather, and then I'll quit and crave your indulgence. For a couple or three months people kept saying "I do wish it would let up raining and snowing!" Well, we had about a week of sunshine with freezing weather and farmers began to plow, when here it came again and poured down steady for two days and nights. Now it is clear again with frost and ice yesterday morning and again this morning. But no telling just how long it will continue this way. Some of these days it is going to stop and not rain any more until September.

Fruit trees are just beginning to bud. I hope it doesn't get killed.

PREMIUM LIST FOR AGRICULTURAL CLUB WORK

To the Parents and Club Members of the McCulloch Boys and Girls Agricultural Clubs:

The following information regarding premiums offered in Club work has been received from Mr. R. W. Persons, assistant state agent in charge of Boys' club work.

List of State-at-Large prizes for excellence in Club work.

TEXAS 1922

The Progressive Farmer, Dallas, has given a beautiful trophy cup for best record in judging livestock by a county team of three club members.

Armour & Company, Chicago, offers annually a free trip to Chicago for two Livestock Club members. This has been awarded on a basis of judging livestock and will be given to three boys this year.

A free trip to Atlanta, Georgia, will be given to the three boys making best records in livestock judging during the annual meeting of county agents at college this July.

Ferguson Seed Farm Prizes.

For the best ten ear exhibits of Ferguson Yellow Dent, Chisholm and Sure-Cropper corn to be grown by Extension Club members and exhibited at the Dallas Fair, the following prizes are offered:

Ferguson's Yellow Dent, Chisholm, Sure-Cropper, respectively:

Best Exhibit—$20, $20, $20.
Second best exhibit—$18, $18, $18.
Third best exhibit—$16, $16, $16.
Fourth best exhibit—$14, $14, $14.
Fifth best exhibit—$12, $12, $12.
Sixth best exhibit—$10, $10, $10.
Seventh best exhibit—$8, $8, $8.
Eighth best exhibit—$6, $6, $6.
Ninth best exhibit—$4, $4, $4.
Tenth best exhibit—$2, $2, $2.
Totals—$110, $110, $110.

This contest is for exhibits only, at the Dallas Fair, and awards will be made to the winners on the afternoon of the last day of our encampment. This does not imply that you must attend the fair in person but must have your ten ears of corn exhibited there.

Sweepstakes.

SWEESTAKES: A prize of $70 will be given for the best acre production of either of the three varieties of corn named above. This prize will be awarded on the best showing of yield and profit, cost considered. Yield will count 50% and profits 50%. Record books, properly filled in and certified must be turned in to county agent by December 1st.

CONDITIONS: The seed for the contest on either or all of these varieties must be purchased from the Ferguson Seed Farms, Sherman, Texas, who will supply same in 10-pound bags at $1.00 each, delivered by parcels post, or 75c each by freight, not prepaid.

These varieties are not adapted alike for all sections of the state, so the following general suggestions are offered to guide club members in the selection of those varieties best adapted to their own local conditions:

The Ferguson Yellow Dent is especially well suited for strong upland or cotton lands in sections of average rainfall. It requires from 120 to 135 days to mature and makes an attractive exhibit.

Chisholm is a medium early corn, probably more drought resistant than yellow dent and more productive on thin land. It is a white corn with a red cob and the ears are of medium size.

Sure-Cropper is early maturing, of medium size, stocky stalks and ears, strongly drought resistant and well suited for planting on thin uplands in dry sections. It will of course produce abundantly on strong land.

Grain Judging Contest.

Grain Judging Contest to be held at Dallas during the Seventh Annual Educational Encampment of Extension Service Agricultural Club members, October 1922:

For Judging Corn and Grain Sorghums, respectively:

Best record—$30, $30.
Second best record—$25, $25.
Third best record—$20, $20.
Fourth best record—$15, $15.
Fifth best record—$10, $10.
Sixth best record—$5, $5.
Totals—$105, $105.

SWEESTAKES: $25.00 will be given for the best record made in judging both corn and grain sorghums.

Requirements: Contestants must be regularly enrolled members of the Agricultural Clubs as organized and conducted by the Extension Service of the A. & M. College of Texas; to participate in the corn judging contest, they must be members of a corn club and must send a ten-ear exhibit of corn to the club exhibit at Dallas. The same rule applies to the Grain and Sorghum judging contest. Any member may take part in both contests by qualifying in both as outlined above.

These prizes are offered by the Dallas County Seed Breeders Association and their secretary will deliver same to prize winning boys on the last day of the Educational Encampment at Dallas.

State Fair Prizes for Crop Exhibits.

The State Fair of Texas annually offers about $300.00 for best exhibits of corn, grain, sorghums and peanuts.

The Cotton Palace, Waco, offers about $200.00 for corn and grain sorghum exhibits.

The Houston Fair and Exposition offers about $150.00 for corn.

A. & M. College Scholarships.

The Dallas Fair secures or offers annually four scholarships to the A. & M. College, each worth $200.00 and each given for best record in the production of corn, peanuts, grain sorghums and cotton. They will be awarded on basis of yield, profit, essay, etc., and record books must be sent to county agent by December 1.

Sears-Roebuck Silvertone.

This company offers a handsome Silvertone for the best record of community work by a Standard club. (See score card in back of secretary's Record Book.) This prize was won last year by the Tabor Club of Brazos county. This club is barred from the contest this year.

Hausting's Hundred.

The Hastings Seed Company, Atlanta, Georgia, gives $100.00 for the promotion and encouragement of club work in Texas annually. It has not yet been decided how this will be used.

Do not send any record books to the Dallas Fair.

R. W. PERSONS,
State Agent, in charge of Boys' Club Work.

I hope that as many of the club members as possible will take advantage of these liberal premium offers and I would like to know just how many are interested. On May 30th, there will be a district stock judging meet at Brownwood and I will take the four boys who make the record in judging stock, between now and then, to the meet to represent McCulloch county. Do you want to go?

County Agent.

LOST CREEK ECHOES.

I. M. McBee Suffers Painful Injuries—School Closed Friday.

Voca, Texas, March 29.

Editor Brady Standard:

We are having fine rains here. Our first one came last Friday night and it was a good one too. Grass and weeds were coming fine and on Tuesday night another bigger and better one fell, the latter putting a good-sized rise in the creek, it being an inch and a half of water. This, on top of the one we had last week will insure grass and weeds for the stock and the feeding proposition will soon come to an end. Another good rain Wednesday evening.

Everyone has begun planting corn in a hurry. Some people already had corn up to a stand. Those who planted early have stands, but most of the folks were waiting for more moisture to plant in.

One night last week our old friend, I. M. McBee happened to what came near being a serious accident while he and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Will McBee were going from his home to the school house only about a quarter of a mile distance. The creek was between his house and the school house and it has quite steep banks, from 8 to 10 feet. Mr. McBee was walking in the lead, thinking that he had reached the place where they went down the bank, just walked off of the bluff at a point some 8 or 10 feet to the bottom. While he escaped the breaking of any bones, he was quite severely hurt and has been confined to his bed for several days and his being past sixty years of age made it all the more apt to hurt him.

Our school closed a most successful term last Friday. The program rendered by the school Friday night was a success in every way and was enjoyed by a large crowd.

"HOW TO RAISE THE PRICE OF COTTON AND MAKE FARMING PAY"

We have received a small folder issued by Geo. B. Terrell, Commissioner of Agriculture, entitled, "How to Raise the Price of Cotton and Make Farming Pay."

This is a very valuable document, giving the acreage, production, domestic consumption, exports, price and value of the cotton crop for the past twenty years. It also presents figures to show that a small cotton crop brings a higher price and more actual money than a large crop. It advocates a safe and sound system of farming, through proper diversification of crops, and by producing all food and feed on the farm, and making the cotton a surplus crop, so that the producers will not be forced to sell cotton for less than cost, but will be able to have some voice in naming the price. Every farmer should have one of these circulars, and they can be had by writing the Commissioner of Agriculture for them.

WONDER WORDS.

Evil Doers Flock to a Masked Organization.

Wonder, Oregon, Mar. 19.

Editor Brady Standard: It is only sprinkling a little today but indications are favorable for a ground-soaker tomorrow. Wind in the right direction, cloudy with rapid evaporation. Sure sign when the moon is right, and it is always right in Oregon in the winter time, but never right in summer.

It will soon be spring again. Buds are beginning to swell and vegetation beginning to start where there is no snow.

We have just used up the last of our winter pears, but still have apples. Some years our apples last till new ones come in the summer.

I thought I was going to be able to report colder weather this winter than you had; but I guess we will have to call it about fifty fifty. For at the time you first reported it ten degrees below the freezing point there, it was twenty below here. And on the date of your last report it was twenty below freezing there and only ten below here.

The principal difference in climate of here and there is that while you have lots of nice weather in winter there, we have it damp and cold here all of the time. Though it seldom gets below zero.

I was thinking what an opportune time it would be now that our prospects for world peace is critical—for the publication of a "Free Lance" book upon the subject "Cause of War and Prevention of War." I received a letter from a Texas friend of mine saying he should like to write an article upon the subject for my book, but that he was afraid a ban would be placed upon its publication on account of "big business" interests.

Say, Mr. Editor, I wonder if we really have a subsidized press! There are some things that seem to indicate such a condition. One circumstance I will mention. Some of our leading educational periodicals offer to answer questions and during the espionage crisis I wrote and asked several pertinent questions and got no reply; either in the paper or by letter.

The other day I asked an elderly gentleman what was the incentive to join an organization that permitted its members to conceal their identity under disguise? His reply was that "evil doers were flocking to it and willingly paying the initiation fees in order to get its protection from the regular enforcement of the law." If such be the case, then it would appear that most of its members would be of the worst elements of society. Of one thing I agree with one of my Texas correspondents, and that is—there are entirely too many secret as well as non-secret organizations. I think that the organization that Christ and the Apostles instituted, if closely adhered to, is amply sufficient.

WEDDING BELLS.

Hanley-Gay.
 The marriage of the Rev. Homer A. Gay and Miss Susie Hanley was quietly celebrated Tuesday afternoon, the ceremony being performed by Judge N. G. Lyle in his office.

Rev. Gay is a preacher in the Church of Christ, and has been serving in McCulloch county and neighboring towns for a number of years past. His bride is one of Lohm's charming and attractive young ladies, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hanley of that community. Rev. and Mrs. Gay will make their home in Brady. A host of admiring friends join in extending good wishes to the newly-weds.

Somerville-Bevens.

A wedding of interest to many Brady friends was that of Mr. Wm. Bevans and Miss Anna Somerville, both of Menard. Mr. Bevans is one of the most prominent and popular citizens of Menard and for many years was head of the Bevans National bank. His bride is a popular lady of Menard and is a sister of Mrs. J. E. Brown of this city. The wedding was celebrated at Mineral Wells where the couple will make their home.

The following account of the wedding is reprinted from last week's Menard Messenger:

"Word was received here Saturday of the marriage of Mr. Wm. Bevans and Miss Anna Somerville of this city, at Mineral Wells on the 21st inst. The wedding occurred at the home of Mr. Bevans' daughter, Mrs. D. T. Benchoff, of that city, in the presence of a few relatives and friends the ceremony being performed by Rev. Barrow, pastor of the Episcopal church.

"Mr. Bevans is president of the Bevans National Bank and a prominent and well-to-do ranchman of this city, and has been associated with every movement of the county that has been for the betterment of conditions and the development of the country. He was an honored citizen of Menard when we were little boys, playing amid the yellow hills of Yankeedom, and needs no bouquets at our hands. It is proper, however, to say that he is a man of honor and integrity, and is prized most by those who have known him longest.

"The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Tom Somerville, and during her long stay in Menard has made innumerable friends. She is a lady of culture and refinement, and by her many queenly graces has won the friendship and respect of everyone."

LOCAL BRIEFS.

H. L. Winstead was in Brady from the Gap yesterday buying window lights to replace those broken out in his house by the hail during Monday evening's rainstorm. The window lights were broken out despite the fact that the windows were covered with screen wire, which, however, was old and weakened. Hail as big as hen eggs is reported in the Cow Gap section.

J. T. Holmes, who sold his place on Route 1 last Fall, with the intention of seeking a new location, has returned from a two-months' prospecting stay at Portales, N. M., and says he is ready to re-locate in McCulloch, as the New Mexico country is not to his liking. Of course, friends of Mr. and Mrs. Holmes are pleased at the decision, and unite in welcoming them back to permanent citizenship.

H. T. Graham, popular traveling salesman for the Radford Grocery Co., is to be added to the list of Brady's permanent and enterprising citizens, having purchased the E. P. Lea residence on the north side, and a block north of the union depot, where he and his estimable family are making their home. All the many friends of the family are pleased to have them join our growing circle of home-owners.

V. L. Bradley reports around between 6 and 7 inches of rain at his place, northwest of Brady. Victor lives at the head of Cow Creek, and says that while every big rain is reported the biggest ever had, yet it is a fact that he saw a world of water come out of the canons in the mountains. Just as one flood swept along as big as the creek ever gets, a second followed. A heavy hail storm fell, although the hail was fine and did no damage.

J. D. Benson, living eight miles north of town, is always smiling happily, but never more so than when he came to town Wednesday and reported his big tank filled to overflowing by the rain Monday. The last water put in the tank was on May 1st last year, and the water had just about played out after the eleven-month interval, all the fish in the tank having died. It was the first time in 21 years that the tank had gone anything near like dry.

Ivan Keith and family left Wednesday night for Dallas, where they will make their home and where Mr. Keith will again be employed with the Metzger dairy. Ivan has been in charge of deliveries for the Chas. Roberts dairy for the past year or two, and has been following the dairying business practically all his life. His brother, Earl, takes his place with the Roberts' dairy. The many friends of the family trust good fortune may attend Mr. and Mrs. Keith in their new home.

You need never buy a new Battery—if——the plates in your battery don't go wrong.

 For the life of a battery is in the plates. As long as they live, your battery lives.
 That is why Prest-O-Lite, when it set out to make the automobile battery better, began with plates. Always a maker of a better plate, it turned its scientific skill and research to improving it, and produced Prest-O-Plate—the long-lasting plate.
 Here is a battery plate as different from ordinary plates as gold is from gilt. It's made different, but its greatest difference is in its longer service.

Unusual hardness combined with a peculiar porosity gives it unrivaled durability.
 This explains its ready reserve power in biting zero weather, and its great non-buckling strength that resists overheating in summer.
 Remember that all Prest-O-Lite batteries are covered by the regular Prest-O-Lite guarantee, a definite obligation plus a spirit that says the car owner must be pleased.
 Drive around and see us. No matter what make of battery you have, friendly advice and expert attention will be given gladly.

Lifting the Lid.
At a dinner on one occasion a professor thought he would ask a colored cloak-room attendant a few questions about his memory.
As the attendant handed him his hat he said: "How do you know this one is mine."
"I don't know, suh," was the answer.
"Then why do you give it to me?" queried the professor.
"Cause you gave it to me, suh."

"Yes," said Charlie, "that's just what the governor's been telling me."

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

CHILDRENS' MUSEUM.

"The other day," said Daddy, "when I had to be in Washington on business, I found a little spare time in which to visit the children's miniature museum in a building known as the Smithsonian Institution."

"Mr. Giant Walking Stick."

"I took some notes of what I saw there, and I'd like to tell you all of the things I did see."

"In the first place, some one had especially arranged this for children, as all the animals and insects were placed quite low down so that everyone could see quite easily."

"Now, in this museum, where there were different kinds of birds and of insects, and of trees, there was a description of the bird or of the insect, and of its ways. And as all of us can't visit every interesting museum, I thought I would simply give an account of what I saw there."

"Oh, yes," said Nick, "we want to hear."

"We do indeed," said Nancy, "and then Daddy, you promised me you'd tell me about the exhibition of dolls you saw in the Old Museum there."

"I will," said Daddy. "Indeed I will tell you!"

"Now, among the insects and spiders," Daddy continued, "were some scorpions and the thousand leg creature. Mr. Thousand Legs is very long and has lots of little legs underneath him."

"Of course he must have lots and lots of little legs when he is called Mr. Thousand Legs."

"Then I saw Mr. Tarantula from South America. Mr. Tarantula can catch birds. Then Mr. Giant Walking Stick was there with long feelers coming from his head. He, too, had been brought from South America."

"He had some little feelers, too, and three pairs of legs which are almost enough for any creature."

"I should say so," laughed Nick.

"He was grayish white in color."

"Then," Daddy continued, "there were examples of different kinds of trees and of the different creatures who lived in the trees, and of how they could protect themselves by the color of the nests they made, and by the safety habits they had."

"For example, the Brown Creeper creeps over the bark of trees which have much the same coloring as his feathers."

"The Wood Pewee has a nest, bending down, in the tree, shaped and fixed so that it almost looks like a part of the tree."

"Then the bird called the Least Tern always lays its eggs among the pebbles on the beach and the eggs and the babies are much the same color as the pebbles."

"In that way the Least Tern can protect the eggs from the Sea Gulls who would steal them if they thought they were eggs instead of pebbles."

Mrs. Nighthawk's ground nest is made to look like dead leaves and just like the ground. It is hidden that way."

"Then in the Museum they had many different kinds of gold fish and there were notices which told of the places from where they had come. There were birds of many kinds, with their nests and samples of their eggs being shown."

"Of course, all of these creatures had been stuffed or saved after they had finished their lives, and because they were saved like this any one could study them and see what they were like."

"There were American birds we all know and there was an exhibition, or display, of rocks of all sorts, of beautiful corals, organ pipe corals, minerals of all kinds, wool and cord, and asbestos, which won't burn, you know."

"Here you found out about Prince Albert's Bird of Paradise, who makes his home in New Guinea. He has two long plumes which look like rows of little flags growing out of the back of his head. He is black with a gray front and with tan and gold trimmings."

"There was the Osprey or Fish Hawk, too, which bird, as you know, feeds on fish and dives so well. The Osprey family builds large nests in the trees and the Mrs. Ospreys lay two or three mottled eggs. They are something like small eagles."

"So, these were some of the things I saw in the Museum, which I promised myself I would tell you about."

RHYMES OF THE TIMES
By Evangelist Campbell.

A Better Plan.
Plans for ages have been used
In every land and clime,
Of every concept and device
To stop or lessen crime.

The press and pulpit far and near,
Have sought some how to tell
The sinful man the way to God;
And the curse of a waiting hell.

Suppose we try this method once:
To put Heaven into men,
Instead of trying as we do,
To drive or herd them in?
Instead of keeping men out of hell;
Let's get the hell out of men.
And plant God's love down in his soul,
And Heaven he's sure to win.

Some Salesman!
There is a story that is worth passing on. Things on the farm were just about as bad as they could be. Wheat had failed, oats went to straw heads, rains rotted out the potatoes and early frosts killed the corn. There wasn't one single money crop.

One morning the old farmer looked around to see if there wasn't something which could be turned into a few dollars cash and his eye lit on the last crop of all—a pile of turnips.

"Here, Jed," he said to his son, "put some of these turnips in a bag, drive to town and see if you can sell them."

At chore time Jed came driving home. The old man went to the gate to meet him.

"Did you sell any turnips, boy?"

"Now! I drove up and down the streets all day and no one asked what I had in the bag."—Empeco News.

DUBINSKY BROS. STOCK CO.
OPENS TUESDAY NIGHT TO WELL-PLEASED AUDIENCE

The Dubinsky Bros. Stock Co., which was rained out Monday, opened Tuesday night to a large audience, and made good every claim made for the company. In fact, it was the universal opinion that the play and the players were numbered among the very best that have ever been seen here. Frank Kelton, leading man, played in stock with the Marie Williams company in Brady about ten years ago. He handles his roles in commendable fashion. Louise Redmond, as leading lady, works splendidly opposite Kelton, and their acting is far above the average and wins commendation from all. Harry J. Pamplin is all the villain that character implies, and Tom B. Loftis interprets the character parts so ably as to show talent of unusual degree. Margaret Russell in the young lady parts is most sweet and lovable, and readily wins favor with the audience. Mabel Rhodes, as the mother, is a splendid actress and carries her part well. Arthur Kelly and Duke Arthur are comedians of rare entertainment faculty, and they never fail to get their jokes over and keep the audience laughing and in good spirits.

One of the many big attractions of the show is the Frisco Novelty orchestra, and their big-time, syncopated musical novelties make a big hit with everyone. Add to this a line of snappy, sparkling vaudeville between acts, and the show presents an entertainment of rare value.

For tonight, the company's feature play, "A Mother's Love," a wonderful story of heart interest and good comedy, will be presented. The closing performance Saturday night will be a three-act comedy scream, "The Town Fool."

Catholic Church.
Mass will be said on the third Sunday of each month at 10:00 a. m. by the Rev. Francis Hudon.

Christian Church.
Services for next Sunday, April 9. "The Divine Body" will be the subject for the morning hour and "The Word Power of God," will be the message for the evening, 7:45.

Desiring to be friendly, Myers said: "Too bad someone had the job."
