W. H. GIBBONS LETS CONTRACT FOR BUILDING

Advice by phone yesterday afternoon from W. H. Gibbons was that he had let the contract for the erection of a two-story modern business and office building to E. E. Churchill, contractor of Fort Worth. The new building will grace the northeast corner of the square, replacing the old Klondike building, destroyed by fire just about a year ago.

Contractors were here last week from San Antonio, Brownwood, Fort Worth, Waxahachie and Brady to bid on the work, and while the contract price has not been learned, it is stated that the new structure will cost in the neighborhood of $18,000.00.

The first floor will be divided into attractive and up-to-date design, with ornamental brick and plate glass front and north wall, and will be thoroughly modern and fire-proof throughout.

The first floor will be divided into two store rooms, the large one on the corner to be occupied by the R. Wilensky dry goods store, and the room adjoining by the J. W. Townsend Variety store.

Between the two store-rooms will be placed the stairway leading to the second floor, which will comprise a number of suites of rooms thoroughly modern in every respect and providing every convenience and comfort for the occupants. H. P. Jordan of the Melton Land Co., who has had charge of the leasing of the quarters, announces that Drs. Anderson & McCall and Dr. Henry N. Tipton have each secured suites in the new office building, and the Retail Merchants association also will occupy one of the suites of rooms.

The contractor, Mr. Churchill, is expected here the early part of next week to arrange for the assembling of material and equipment for the construction work, and by the 1st of May, actual work on the building is expected to be in progress. Completion of the building will be had by August 1st.

JEFF MEERS OIL CO. MAKING FINAL OFFER OF STOCK AT $10 PAR

With one well drilled into the sand, and another well going down, the Jeff Meers Oil Co. is offering an opportunity to investors to subscribe for stock in the company at par value of $10 per unit. In the long distance call from San Angelo, Jeff Meers, trustee for the company, stated that the well drilled in a week or two ago, would be put on the pump immediately, and that as rapidly as other wells were brought in, they would be placed on the pump also. The well already brought in has been estimated as good for from 15 to 20 barrels daily production.

The Jeff Meers Oil Co. is operating on the Zelle ranch, northwest of Lohn, and on the same tract where the Prairie Oil & Gas Co. brought in two shallow producers some three or four years ago. The company has contracted with J. Cory Snow for the drilling of a series of ten wells. Mr. Snow is reputed one of the most successful drilling contractors in this section of the state, and has the distinction of having brought in the biggest shallow producer in the Brownwood field.

Operations on the Zelle tract are to be pushed so as to assure opening of the new field at the earliest possible moment.

VETERAN OF MEXICAN WAR OF INDEPENDENCE, AGED 102, VISITS HERE

Vicente Martinis, aged 102 years, and veteran of the Mexican War of Independence from the French, is visiting in Brady this week, having been brought here from Eden by Paul Cadena. La Cruz Azul, the local Mexican Blue Cross association, has arranged for the care and entertainment of the aged veteran, and will arrange for his being carried on next Sunday to San Antonio, where he will be placed in charge of the Mexican consul, who will repatriate this notable fellow-citizen.

The Mexican War of Independence was fought in 1865 to 1867, and resulted in the overthrow of Maximilian, who had been crowned emperor of Mexico by the French. President Juarez led the Mexicans against the French and Imperial troops of Maximilian, and when the French were forced to withdraw, Maximilian was left behind. While bravely defending Queretaro against a Liberal force under Escobedo, he was betrayed by General Lopez on the night of May 14, 1867, and following court-martial was condemned to be shot. Despite the protests of European powers, the execution was carried out.

Juarez is one of the national heroes of Mexico and is acclaimed the Liberator from the French domination. The National Independence of Mexico, however, dates from September 15, 1810, when Don Miguel Hidalgo overthrew the Spaniards.

"THE OLD NEST" BRINGS MANY FOND MEMORIES AND A WHOLESOME LESSON, TOO

"The Old Nest," Goldwyn's super-production, which was exhibited at the Lyric theatre last Monday and Tuesday nights, drew two full houses, and made good every expectation of the large audiences. While, perhaps, not quite as deeply emotional a drama as "Over the Hills," yet the play ran true, and portrayed incidents which fill the lives of every one of the average American families. Neither extreme poverty nor affluence featured in the picture, rather it was just such a picture as would bring home sweet memories, sad memories and many longings to those who saw it.

The features being shown at the Lyric on Monday and Tuesday nights rank as the best in motion pictures. They come here direct from the big cities, where they have enjoyed phenomenal runs. In other words, Brady theatre-goers are given the opportunity to see the same high class of pictures as are demanded by patrons in the cities. In fact, this demand for pictures of the highest class has grown so insistent that producers now give twice the study, the time and the expense in the production of a picture that they formerly gave. The tendency in motion pictures is upward. The result is to be found in larger audiences and more favorable comments upon motion pictures than was ever known before.

THE "CITY BEAUTIFUL" MOVEMENT

Auspices of the Brady Civic League.

The Brady Civic League is offering prizes in a "City Beautiful" movement, the awards to be made by the middle of July. The prizes offered will be as follows:

- $10.00 for the Most Beautiful Front Yard
- $ 8.00 for the Most Beautiful Back Yard
- $ 5.00 for the Most Beautiful Flower Boxes
- $ 4.00 for the Most Beautiful Vines
- $ 3.00 for the Most Beautiful Shrubs

A committee will be appointed by the Civic League to act as judges, and the awards will be announced the latter part of July.

NO COUNTY COURT THIS WEEK—CIVIL DOCKET MONDAY

For the lack of a county attorney to prosecute the cases the criminal docket of county court was continued until the next term. Since the resignation of County Attorney Lea a month ago, the Commissioners court has been unable to find any local attorney who is willing to accept the job, and is now in communication with outside parties in the hopes of securing an attorney who will acceptably fill the place. Court was called to order Monday by County Judge Evans Adkins, who sworn in the jury, and then dismissed them.

The civil docket will be taken up next week, and it is hoped to clear this docket of all cases, inasmuch as the services of a county attorney are not needed in these actions.

H. R. HODGES NAMED AS DISTRICT DEPUTY GRAND MASTER ODD FELLOWS

At the last regular meeting of Brady Odd Fellows Lodge No. 257, a communication was read announcing that H. R. Hodges had been chosen District Deputy Grand Master for the district which embraces Brady, Waldrip, Lohn, Melvin and Stacy. The announcement was one of a number of features which made the meeting one of the most interesting held for some time. Several interesting subjects were brought up at the meeting and good speeches were heard.

Another feature of the meeting, was the installation of T. L. Bodenhamer as Noble Grand, by District Deputy Grand Master Hodges as his first official act in his new capacity.

PARENT-TEACHERS CLUB HOLDS FINAL MEETING OF THE YEAR WEDNESDAY

A meeting of the Parent-Teachers club was held at the High School building Wednesday afternoon, April 19th.

An interesting program was rendered, a paper on "Obedience" by Mrs. Sam Graham was splendid, while the subject of "Punishment" was ably given by Mrs. Seth Abernathy. A short round-table discussion of these subjects was held, after which Superintendent Smith made a plain but significant talk concerning the state of affairs of our schools, especially stressing the financial conditions.

Trustees Whiteman and Ricks also made short talks along the same line, and Rev. Dunn added some interesting thoughts.

After adjournment, the committee on refreshments served the members with Russian tea and wafers.

Every interested parent should make an effort to attend the meetings of this organization, as it tends to keep a spirit of harmony between teacher and parent and in the end it benefits the child.

Splendid meetings have been held during the year, as a result of the untiring efforts of the president, Mrs. Wm. C. Jones, and the splendid co-operation of the members.

The organization hopes for bigger things next year.

NEW CITY OFFICIALS SEATED TUESDAY NIGHT

The Brady City council met in regular bi-monthly session on last Tuesday night, all members being present except Mayor J. E. Shropshire, who was absent from the city. Alderman Roy Wilkerson presided at the meeting as mayor pro tem.

Final report of the city secretary was read and approved. It was decided to send out notices to all parties delinquent on sanitary dues. Report of Lee McShan, who had been appointed to make an inventory of the liabilities and assets of the Brady Water & Light works and also the City of Brady, was received and accepted.

Following the transaction of this business, the newly-elected mayor, E. L. Jones, and aldermen, W. F. Roberts, Sr., and John Henry Ogden, were seated.

E. G. Gilder presented bond in the sum of $10,000 as city treasurer, with W. M. Bryson, J. M. Pate, G. R. White, F. M. Campbell and W. R. Davidson as sureties, which was approved and accepted.

E. G. Gilder presented bond in the sum of $6,000 as city secretary, with W. M. Bryson, W. S. Shropshire, F. A. Knox, Jas. Coalson and J. C. Wall as sureties, which was approved and accepted.

N. G. Lyle presented bond in the sum of $500 as city recorder, with C. T. White and E. E. Polk as sureties, which was approved and accepted.

FIFE FINDINGS.

Veterinarian Pronounces Disease of Cattle Hemorrhagic Septicemia. Fife, Texas, April 17. Editor Brady Standard:

A light shower fell her last Sunday night. Corn and maize are coming up and many farmers are planting cotton this week.

H. D. and Tom Bradley sold 57 head of yearlings this week to Coleman buyers at a good figure.

J. H. Wyatt, an old timer here, but now residing at Eden, was a visitor here Friday last week.

Dr. Harrison, veterinary surgeon of Fort Worth was here looking into the disease in cattle here the past week. Something over 50 head have been lost the past week, but they have quit dying now. Dr. Harrison pronounced the disease Hemorrhagic Septicemia and vaccinated many herds against it. There have been no losses since Thursday last week.

H. H. Millsap of Richland Springs was a visitor here this week.

The Fife and Pear Valley ball teams met at Lohn Saturday for a game. The score was 2 to 4 in favor of Fife. Bachelor and B. Baldrige knocked one apiece over the fence in the last inning and walked around. Batteries for Pear Valley: Marshall and Bullock; for Fife: B. Baldrige, D. Baldrige and Bachelor.

LOST CREEK ECHOES.

Despite Numbers of Rains, Sand Storms Kill Out Corn. Voca, Texas, April 17. Editor Brady Standard:

Although we have had five fine rains and the ground is good and wet, to a considerable depth, still we are having sand storms. For instance we had a big rain on Saturday and on Monday a big sand storm came and did you know that here in this sandy belt that the sand blowing against young corn and other young and tender plants that it will kill it. One or two killings of young corn by sand storms is like so many frost bites, and the corn will grow out of it, but if it is killed down by frost or sand storms, time after time, it will give up and die out. So a number of our farmers have planted their corn over on account of its being killed over and over again by the sand. This is very unusual, that people have to plant over crops on account of sand storms, but we have had more high winds this spring than I can recall to mind in the past. Although I consider that we are very fortunate in that we have not had any destructive storms other than crop damages, as above mentioned. While other sections of the state have suffered from the loss of lives and property damages by cyclones and floods to an enormous extent. I say again that we should be thankful and rejoice to see our country looking so splendid and prospects so promising.

I see our friend Robinson of Oregon is still coming with his cross-breed hog tales. Now I am sure that Mr. Roberson has some of as good crosses as a cross can be made, but a cross, you know, is only a cross and not a thoroughbred. A few days ago our good friend, Mart L. Williams said to me: "I wish Roberson was here. I would have him and you to wrestle to decide that hog question. But, said he, anybody knows you are right. That a thoroughbred of hogs, or anything else is better than crosses, and you can't fool Mart very much." A few days ago Mart gave me some cane seed of a special strain that he got from his brother who lives in Arkansas. He said his brother had kept the strain pure for twenty years. Could not Mr. William's brother have improved these seed by crossing them up with some other good strain of seed? Of course he could have crossed them, but if he had he could not have kept the strain pure. It is just as true in the animal as in the vegetable kingdom.

The pig that the Parent-Teachers association placed at Lost Creek school was sold a few days ago. It gained $4.75 for the school, a bare cost in four months. The pig was not placed there for a profit, but to teach the children to save and not to waste. This, I think, a good plan for all schools to adopt, as there is always a quantity of waste of provisions on school grounds. If not fed to a pig, it will attract a number of community dogs to the school grounds.

CALF CREEK NEWS.

New School House Completed—Successful School Closed.

Brady, Texas, April 18.

Editor Brady Standard:

Well, it has been some time since we have seen any Calf Creek news. We have had fine rains and the farmers are all very busy planting and Mr. Green is beginning to get a start once more, and most everyone busy planting cotton.

We have had a real cool spell since Easter. We were afraid it would kill our gardens, but don't see any damage yet.

Our school closed last Friday. We have had a splendid school with Mrs. M. L. Stallings as principal. We would be glad to have her another term, but she is running for county superintendent. Hope her good success, for I think Mrs. Stallings will make a good superintendent.

Mr. J. W. Attaway has invited all of us to enjoy a singing at his home Sunday afternoon, and everyone is to bring Bibles.

Little Hubert Perry has been on the sick list for several days, but last report he was some better.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Walker from Ranger have been visiting her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bridge, and took their little son, James Edward, who has been staying here for quite a while.

Miss Jim Bob Latham spent the last week of school with her sister, Miss Ernestine Latham.

Mrs. E. L. Bridge's sisters, Mrs. Jim Williams and Mrs. Will Perry, spent the day Sunday with her and also most of Mrs. Bridge's children and families spent the day. The children had quite an enjoyable Easter egg hunt in the afternoon.

Quite a few of the Calf Creek people took their dinner and spent the day on the river Sunway.

Well the new school house is finished at last.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with Worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS chill TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

WONDERS OF AMERICA

By T. T. MAXEY

© Western Newspaper Union.

HOME OF WASHINGTON
ON THE peaceful and picturesque shore of the River Potomac, some sixteen miles south of our national capital, stands Mount Vernon—the home of The Father of His Country. It was so named in honor of Admiral Vernon of the British navy and it is to the efforts of the Mount Vernon Ladies' association of the United States that the citizens of America are indebted for the preservation of this national shrine.

Occupying a site of great charm, commanding a sweeping view of broad river and pleasing landscape, is this grand old mansion—to which the young officer came to live shortly after his marriage and to which he retired from the presidency, to spend his days in a manner befitting one of his rank, means and time, and where he died in 1799.

The structure was built in 1743 and contains many of the original furnishings and relics of the family. Clustered about it are the barn, coach house, spinning house, meat house, ice house, wash house, kitchen and other outbuildings. Nearby is a remarkable, old-fashioned garden, with quaint, oddly-designed spaces set off by box hedges, said to be 150 years old. In this garden is a coffee tree said to have been planted in 1824 by General Lafayette and cuttings from a willow tree which it is claimed were brought from the grave of the great Napoleon at St. Helena.

Enclosed in two marble sarcophagi, in a small and simple structure within the grounds, rest the remains of General George Washington and his consort Martha.

BACKERS ARE KEPT GUESSING

About One of the Most Uncertain Sporting Events Imaginable Is a Cockroach Race.

Russian refugees in Constantinople turn their hands to all sorts of money-making devices. The latest and most successful are cockroach races. These are held in rooms which the Russians hire along the Grand Rue de Pera. The story as told by Kenneth L. Roberts in the Saturday Evening Post, is that in the center of each room is a large table with a miniature race track built on it. The owner places a box at one end of the track and waits until his patrons have made their bets on five contestants. Then he opens the box and discloses five enormous cockroaches attached to diminutive sulkies. As the box is opened four of the contestants may start briskly around the track, while the fifth may turn abruptly and canter in the wrong direction amid heart-breaking groans from those who are backing his colors. Then the leader of the four racers who are headed in the right direction may stop short and twiddle his feelers nervously, and the other three may also stop and cluster around him to investigate the cause of the delay. While the conference is in progress the cockroach that started the wrong way may change his mind, turn and come dashing past the four idlers with his eyes flashing and his tail up. Then the four idlers may recover from their momentary ennui, start briskly up the track again and pass the fifth contestant, who has probably fallen into a brown study and leaned up against the race-track wall with crossed legs and weakly waving feelers. And so it goes, until one of the cockroaches finally pulls himself together and scuttles across the finish line.

SEES POSSIBLE FALL OF MAN

Scientist Points Out How the Race May Sink to the Level of Lower Savages.

"Some millions of years from now an entirely new and more highly organized animal may spring from some ancestral stock now relatively obscure and rise, at first slowly and then more rapidly, to even greater heights of achievement than anything which lies within the capacity of the human species."

After tracing the geologic evolution of the earth so far as man knows it, Dr. Elliot Blackwelder of Harvard university, at the meeting of the geological societies of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, in Toronto, Canada, in these words suggested the possibility of a future surper of man's pre-eminent place on earth.

"As our modern civilization becomes more and more specialized and diversified, our relations to our environment become more and more complex and our adjustments more delicate," Doctor Blackwelder said.

"Eventually, after all the latest possibilities for advancement possessed by the human species have been exhausted, the race may conceivably sink back to the general level of the lower savages, which are but little above the other mammals." —Kansas City Star.

When Ingenuity Triumphed.
Caught short on time with a New York opening date booked, and facing a huge loss for each day's delay, a moving-picture producer made arrangements to edit, title, and cut the play en route between Los Angeles and the eastern metropolis recently. With a special car equipped as a laboratory and attached to a limited train, the work was found entirely practical even while speeding eastward at a mile a minute or more. Twenty-eight heavy steel containers carried the original film, which remained in the "can" all the time it was not actually in use. Editors and cutters worked continually, stopping only for meals and for a few hours' sleep at night, and on these occasions every scrap of film was returned to its proper container. The work was entirely successful; and by the time the train arrived in New York the film was finished and ready for delivery. —Popular Mechanics Magazine.

On the Jump.
"I reckon you had a right lively time in Kansas City?" insinuated an acquaintance.
"Tolable," replied Gabe Gosnell of Grudge, "but nothing like what I probably would have had if I wasn't considerably lively on my feet. You see, up in Kay See, if you meet a respectable-looking man after four o'clock in the afternoon anywhere the least bit off to one side, he's a holdup an' robs you."
"And if you meet one that don't look respectable, he's a plain-clothes policeman, and pounds you because he thinks you're a holdup. So I was practically on the keen jump all the time I was there, dodging one or the other." —Kansas City Star.

Would Have Helped Some!
Nick Slick, the latest acquisition to the town, had done the "heavy" in no half-hearted fashion.
Smart, and glib of speech, he had found the townspeople of Littleville very simple folk and easy game.
He had obtained credit right and left, and then he had flown gently away, without ever disturbing the dust or the pile of unpaid bills in his lodgings.
"By gosh!" muttered Wilkins, the grocer, who was hard hit by the defaulter, "if I'd known he didn't intend paying, I'd have charged him double, I would!" —London Tit-Bits.

MOLLYCODDLING OF CRIMINALS BLAMED FOR CRIME WAVE

Chicago, April 11.—Years of mollycoddling and misplaced sympathy by misinformed and ill-advised meddlers have resulted in the present abnormal volume of crime in all our large cities.

Edwin W. Sims, president of the Chicago Crime Commission, thus tersely summed up the situation now facing the United States. He was the first speaker before the law enforcement committee of the American Bar Association.

"It seems obvious that the immediate solution of the crime problem lies with the courts.

"Provide for a bureau of criminal records.

"Increase the penalty in all cases where the person committing the crime is armed.

"Repeal statutes making juries the judges of the law.

"Prevent the abuse of the habeas corpus writ.

"Make the use of an automobile in the commission of crime a separate offense and increase the severity of the penalty.

"Pass a habitual criminal act, providing for the permanent imprisonment of persons convicted of three or more crimes.

"Withdraw from trial judges the power to admit to probation.

"Give us a law giving someone authority in the matter of selection and impeding of juries, so that business men will not be frightened away."

MASONS AT COLEMAN PLAN THE ERECTION OF NEW BUSINESS BLOCK

W. P. Stobaugh this week purchased of Upton Henderson the property at corner of Concho and Pecan sts., known as the Beakley corner. The property fronts 75 feet on Pecan street and 60 feet on Concho. The present frame rooming house on the premises remains the property of Mr. Henderson and will be moved to another part of the city.

Two-Story Brick Building.
Mr. Stobaugh, co-operating with the local Masonic order, will at once erect a two-story brick building on the site. The new building will have sixty-foot frontage east and 75-foot frontage south, the fronts to be of modern plate glass. The lower floor will be divided into three separate apartments and the corner apartment has been purchased by J. W. Pool who will occupy it as a tailor shop.

Masonic Temple 2nd Floor.
The local Masonic Order will build and occupy the second floor. The Order anticipates the expending of approximately $10,000 in finishing and equipping the new hall and when finished it will be one of the completest in West Texas. Ladies' parlors and kitchenette are provided for in the plans. The old hall of the Masons, upstairs over Bowen's drug store, was sold to R. L. Bowen, who will convert it into office quarters.—Coleman Democrat-Voice.

EASTER GREETINGS.

In another column of this page will be found a beautiful bit of verse, in which Dr. John Power of Brownwood pays tribute to the Risen Lord, and which he sent as Easter Greeting to his friends, among whom The Standard editor is happy to be included.

CITY BEAUTIFUL.

The Brady Civic league was organized less than a year ago, by several months, by a group of citizens who believed such a body could perform effective service in making Brady a better and more attractive city, both to live in and to visit. The body endeavored in all things to work in harmony, not only among themselves, but with other bodies and with the citizenship as a whole. Its entire purpose was to improve the city thru good example, words of encouragement and commendation for those who were trying to do something good.

The Brady Civic league should find great pleasure in the rapid fulfillment of their dreams, for the very things the body stood for from the start are fast becoming realities. One of the earliest moves of the league was to advocate a rest room—and within another few weeks, Brady and McCulloch county citizens will see the completion of this most desirable adjunct and convenience. The league desired the removal of the unsightly and unsanitary hitch racks and the replacing of the court yard fence with attractive walks, and the further beautification of the court yard by means of flower beds, vines and shrubs. Already they see the first of this dream realized in the removal of fence and hitch racks, and within another few weeks the court yard will be at the disposal of those who are interested in its beautification with flowers, vines and shrubs. Then the league advocates better street lighting and more and better walks. As a short step in the direction of better lights, the city of Brady now boasts alley lights—and it surely will not be long before the streets will claim the same, or more, attention in the way of lighting as have the alleys. And with pride in a more beautiful city, will come the building of more walks.

Just now, the Civic league is sponsor for a most worthy move—the offering of a series of prizes in a "City Beautiful" movement. The list of prizes, as published on front page, in-

EASTER, 1922.

What is our life? A mist that flees apace
Before the breeze, or fades out in the sun;
A bubble bursting where swift waters run;
A filmy cloud that vanishes in space;
A fleeting shade eluding our embrace;
A journey wearisome, though quickly done.
A trivial tale told ere 'tis well begun;
A troubled dream that leaves at morn no trace;

So unbelief in hopelessness declares,
And rails in wrath, or in self-pity weeps.
But clear-eyed faith looks past the seeming, keeps
A heart assured, and through the phantoms, fares
Toward the God-founded city that remains,
Where Christ, the Risen Lord, forever reigns.

JNO. POWER, Brownwood.

cludes one for the most beautiful front yard; one for the most beautiful back yard; one for the most beautiful flower boxes; one for the most beautiful vines, and one for the most beautiful shrubs.

The Standard predicts that the "City Beautiful" movement, as advocated by the Civic league is going to be another success. Such a movement will serve to attract more favorable attention to Brady than any one thing the citizens may do—and in addition we, ourselves, will derive full measure of happiness and pride in the improvement of our surroundings.

Let every citizen co-operate with the Civic League in the "City Beautiful" movement.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT.

Capt. J. D. Dickson, formerly of Brownwood, and who has visited in Brady while in the Government Employment bureau service during the war, recently had an article in the Dallas News in which he made the very sane and sensible argument that all executions of criminals should be within the confines of the penitentiary, and that one certain officer should be named to spring the trap. This plan he would substitute for the present one of executing a man at the place where he was tried, convicted and sentenced, with the sheriff of that county acting as executioner. Capt Dickson states in his article that he is reliably informed that the sheriff of Bell county is all but on the verge of a nervous breakdown as a result of the execution of George Hornsby at Belton a week ago. Further than that, a great crowd of morbidly curious gathered outside the stockade built around the gallows there, craning their necks to get a glimpse of the fatal trap.

The Standard believes Capt. Dickson's argument sound and worthy of serious consideration. It is reliably stated that the sheriff of Bell county believed Hornsby innocent. Small wonder, then, that his nerves were shaken by the ordeal, even though he was doing his duty as an officer of the law.

The penitentiary is the place for criminals of all classes other than petty criminals. For the latter, we have the jails. Why, then, should jails be used when it is desired to inflict that greatest punishment that man can pass upon his fellow-man—capital punishment?

ANONYMOUS CONTRIBUTION.

A friend out Lohn way sends us the "Booster" article which appears on front page of this issue. The editor is of the opinion that we have heretofore published this "Booster" song, but, at any rate, it is worth repeating—and practicing.

What we started out to say, was that the sender is anonymous—merely signing "Visitor, Lohn," to the "peppy" note accompanying the verse. For the thousand and one time, the editor implores DO NOT SEND US ANONYMOUS CONTRIBUTIONS. For every article published in this paper and not signed or vouched for by some writer or contributor, the editor is personally responsible. If we can assume such a responsibility, then surely anyone else ought to be willing to assume the responsibility of the single contribution he or she makes.

These anonymous contributions more often than not, contain valuable or interesting facts and statements, and are worth a place in print, but the place for anonymous contributions is invariably in the waste basket.

"Call on the Battle. We are ready from this day on," challenged the Hon. Robert L. Henry, candidate for the United States Senate, in his address at Fort Worth Saturday. He said that he was happy to be "clothed with full authority to discuss the Ku Klux Klan. Yes, I am a member of the Ku Klux Klan and I feel honored in being a member," and then:

"If the issue is to be forced without stint you will find me going up and down the state with a fiery cross as the symbol of the Christian religion in one hand, and the flag of the United States in the other." All of which sounds like a "Tin Henry with the muffler cut out and one cylinder missing. In the language of Editor Easterling of the Ozona paper, "Carry on."—Coleman Democrat-Voice.

ABOUT CYCLONES.

The Abilene Reporter submits this interesting commentary upon the subject of wind, gleaned from the dictionary.

"Most people use the term cyclone, tornado, hurricane or twister to describe all sorts of high winds, but there is a difference, at least to the dictionary.

"Cyclone, it is curious to note, comes from the Greek word, meaning circle, and is derived from the same kuklos from which the Ku Klux Klan got its designation. A cyclone is also called a hurricane, typhoon, baguio or tropical storm, and consists of winds revolving about a center of low pressure. It is the mildest of the elemental disturbances.

"A hurricane is almost peculiar to the West Indies, and is the fastest measured wind, 100 miles an hour being common.

"The tornado (from Spanish tronada, a thunder storm, or Latin tronare, to turn) is the king of all high-speed winds. No instrument has yet been invented to register this wind's velocity, and it is claimed that so rapidly does the barometric pressure fall that wooden buildings are lifted and burst open by the pressure of air confined within them. Its cloud is funnel shaped and its action is terrific.

"So, to sum up, a cyclone is a revolving wind traveling at from 25 to 30 miles per hour, the hurricane is a twisting wind going as fast as 100 miles an hour, while a tornado is a mighty windspout traveling at immeasurable rapidity.

"It is curious that in the southern hemisphere the cyclone revolves from left to right, while in the northern it turns from right to left."

Forrest Crissey, discussing farm problems, makes this interesting observation: "The city consumer should bear in mind that he is able to live in the city only because someone lives on the land, producing not only enough for his own food, but enough also for two people in the city; and that if the farmer is to remain in the country and produce food he must be paid enough for it so that what he sells will enable him to buy from the city those necessities, comforts and luxuries which the city dwellers make and sell and which the country people must have in order to live a decent and satisfied existence in the country. It is well to remind the dwellers in the cities that the country people do not have to feed them. This is being proven in Russia today, where the people on the land are producing only enough to feed themselves, with the result that the dwellers in the cities are starving." — Coleman Democrat-Voice.

ANOTHER VINDICATION.

To the Detroit Herald are due the thanks of State Press for preserving and republishing the following article, which is self-explanatory:

Remarkable Fulfillment of a Newspaper's Prophecy—We all have admired State Press of The Dallas News as a versatile and fascinating writer, but few of us have also looked upon him as a sage and none as a prophet. But towards the close of 1920 State Press published in his column, under the heading, "The Golden Age," the following observations, and as you read them today note with what remarkable accuracy State Press forecast conditions of today more than a year and a half ago and at a time when conditions were as different as day is from night. Did State Press base his prophecy on an expectation of these fruits of Republican policies? Here is what it said: "The years 1919 and 1920 will go into the memories and the histories of the present generation as the Golden Age. Never has America known such good times as have rolled their luxurious lengths across this continent during the last two years. Everything has been up in price and every man, woman and child who wanted to work has had work at good pay. Every political party since 1776 has promised that condition, but it was left for the Democratic party, under the administration of Woodrow Wilson, to see the dream realized. The Golden Age is not permanent, however. Golden ages never are. If they continued in perpetuity they would lose their charm, for it is the unusual rather than the usual which stirs admiration. Two years from this date the Golden Age will be a receding memory. There will be a silver tinge at that time perhaps, but the rich golden color will be gone. There will be "unrest" and clamorous confusion. There will be lamentations and revivings. For people who were rich and become poor are difficult to mollify. Those of us who lightly regard our jobs today, because we know there are other jobs around the corner, will be clinging for dear life to our meal tickets two years hence. Profiteers, swollen with greed, will be scuffling to beat the band, to beat the tax collector, to beat the devil himself out of the remnants of their gains—which are impermanent because of having come too easily."—State Press, in Dallas News.

Brady Music Club.

The Brady Music club met last Wednesday. Two solos and a number of duets were rendered. Those winning special prizes for practicing one hour and ten minutes each day were Addie Mae and Orvala Willbanks, Maurine Wolf, Ruth Maurine Evers and Jewel Bodnhamer, while quite a number won lesser prizes for practicing one hour.

Friday Forty-Two Club.

The Friday Forty-Two club met last week with Mrs. F. M. Richards, with the following members attending: Mesdames Elma Campbell, C. P. Gray, N. A. Collier, Roy Wilkerson, Edd Broad, A. B. Cox, H. R. Hodges, W. J. Day, Clyde Hall, J. E. Shropshire. Guests were Mesdames O. F. Bates, Alice Smith, C. D. Allen, Jack Kyser, J. B. Granville.

Following a delightful series of "42" at four tables, the hostess served refreshments of brick ice cream and angel food cake.

The club meets this afternoon as guests of Mrs. J. E. Shropshire.

Forty-Two Club.

Mrs. T. Gray entertained on Wednesday afternoon at her ranch home for members and guests of the Forty-Two club, and a most delightful meeting is reported. Numbered among members of the club attending were Mesdames H. N. Tipton, J. B. Granville, B. L. Hughes, Evans J. Adkins, Ira Mayhew, N. A. Collier, Clyde Hall, C. Crawford, W. D. Jordan. Guests were Mesdames J. H. Ogden, Fred Spiller, C. W. L. Schaege, Henry King.

Following the usual series of "42," the hostess served refreshments of an ice course.

The club meets next with Mrs. Clyde Hall, who will entertain at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Richards with a night party, at which the gentlemen will be invited guests.

Celebrates Fifth Birthday.

Master Norman Malone was five years old last Saturday, April 15th, and in celebration of the happy event he invited a number of his little friends to come to his house and help him make merry upon the occasion. Numbered among the little guests were little Misses Alice Lindley, Margaret Dunn, Loudie Marie, Helen, Clara and Frances Schwenker; Masters Yantis and Junior McCollum, Paul and Gerald Mann, and Chester Dunn.

The little folks played numerous children's games, and also had an Easter egg hunt, which they thoroughly enjoyed.

The cutting of the birthday cake, surmounted by the five milestones representing the five milestones of Master Norman's life, was the occasion of much merriment, and was followed by the serving of refreshments of ice cream and cake.

Upon departing, each little guest wished Master Norman many, many returns of the happy occasion.

Bridge Club.

The Bridge club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. R. W. Turner as hostess, and a most enjoyable time was had by members and guests attending. Carnations and ferns were used as house decorations and lent fragrance and beauty to the scene. The usual series of "Bridge" was played at two tables, Mrs. Jack Ragsdale being awarded club prize, Mrs. J. S. Anderson, guest prize, and Mrs. Marion Bingham, out-of-town guest prize.

A salad and a sweet course were served as refreshments.

Club members present were Mesdames Bailey Jones, G. V. Gansel, W. R. Davidson, Jack Ragsdale. Guests were Mesdames Edwin Broad, Marion Bingham of Cleveland, Ohio, J. S. Anderson, W. H. Ballou.

The Bridge club meets every other Tuesday afternoon, and Mrs. Herbert L. Wood entertains for the next meeting.

Birthday Party.

Little Miss Frances Charlotte Strickland celebrated her sixth birthday anniversary with a delightful party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Strickland, on last Tuesday, April 18th, and a number of her little friends were invited to celebrate the happy occasion with her. The little folks had a merry time, playing various games, following which they were ushered into the dining room, which was most effectively decorated in colors of pink and white. In the center of the dining table was the pink and white birthday cake, with six candles burning—one for each year of the little hostess' life.

After partaking of refreshments of ice cream and cake, each little guest was presented with souvenir crickets, as mementoes of the happy occasion.

Numbered as guests were the following: Little Misses Roylene Erikson, Dorothy Ehlinger, Gladys Calliham, Hazle Branseum, Pauline and Estelle Rohde, Alice Lindley, Margaret Dunn, Fay Marie and Geraldine Steelhammer, Wilda Marie Bell, Elizabeth Shore, Loudie Marie, Helen and Clara Schwenker; Masters Wayne Sellers, Paul and Gerald Mann, Hugh White Calvert, Karl Keller Steffins, Chester Dunn, James Turman and Jesse Ray McCann.

Sock Social.

One of the most delightful social entertainments of the season was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Duke Mann on last Friday night, from 8:00 o'clock until 11:00 for the benefit of the Methodist church.

The entertainment was in the form of a most cleverly planned "Sock Social," and the large attendance and jolly crowds spoke most gratifyingly of the success of the event.

The invitations sent out were in the form of a tiny sock, with the following verse accompanying:

A penny for each year you are old,
(We will never tell a soul),
Put the results this sock into

And bring to our social the whole.
If it is so you cannot come,
Just send the amount for each one.

The lawn, brilliantly illuminated for the occasion through courtesy of W. O. Kirchner, superintendent of the Brady Water & Light Works, was the gathering place of a large group of young folks, who found amusement and diversion in the weighing and measuring loaths therein. In the course of the evening, a delightful musical program was had, as follows:

- Solo Mrs. J. W. Ragsdale
- Solo Miss Lucille Benham
- Violin Mrs. G. V. Gansel
- Violin Accompaniment y.....
- Violin Acc. by Mr. Cohen
- Piano Acc. by Mrs. Ragsdale
- Violin Solo Mr. Maurice Cohen

Priest-Ferguson.

A marriage of interest to a wide circle of McCulloch county friends was celebrated at Lohn on Friday, April 7th, when Miss Jessie Priest became the bride of Mr. Jack Ferguson, the ceremony being performed by Dr. J. P. Barton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson are well-known and popular young folks of the Pear Valley community, where they have lived all their lives. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Priest of Pear Valley, and is a young woman greatly admired by all for her many sweet womanly traits of character. The groom is a son of Rev. L. D. Ferguson of Pear Valley, and is a young man of splendid character and popular with all who know him. Following the wedding ceremony the happy couple came to Brady to make a brief visit with his sister, Mrs. J. M. Anderson, and family, before returning to Pear Valley. After a few days' visit with home folks, Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson left for Lamesa, where they will make their home, and where the good wishes of a host of admiring friends accompany them.

+ THE WORLD MUST BE +
+ TURNING BACKWARDS. +
+ By ESTELLE LEVY. +

Nowadays you walk along the street and a car passes you; if you look good maybe you will notice what I am telling you is mostly seen. Mostly a grocery Ford passes you. At the wheel, you see a woman driving. Beside her sits a man, holding a baby—while it used to be the man drives and the woman holds the baby. They say the trousers is the boss of the house. I think it is going to be the skirts who is going to be boss now. Why, do you ever read the funny paper? And did you ever watch how Maggie manages Jiggs? Why, say! Jiggs would no more try to have a say in anything—because he knows down comes a hammer or something else on his head. Then at night, his unlucky hour, he cannot get away with walking in his stocking feet like many other married men, for no sooner does he reach home, when he sees the shadow of his beloved Maggie, and in her hand she looked for "rolling pin." Now there may be some or many men in real life that have the same things happen as Jiggs has, so why not say that the skirt is getting to be the boss of the home nowadays?

My advice to young men, who are not married, is to learn to wash dishes, take care of the baby, cook water without burning it, and how to sweep without raising dust, and how to hook your wife's dress without saying "gosh-darn," when you stick your finger with a pin; then you will have a happy home, when you are a married man.

+ A CHILD'S HEART. +
+ By OPAL DUKE. +

A young woman, twenty-six years of age, sat by the window. Her little son, age six, sat on a stool at her feet. Louise Lyon had married when she was eighteen. She was a happy wife, and when Glenn came, the home was perfect. But when Glenn was only a year old, his father died and left his wife penniless. Louise chose dress-making. She had managed to keep things going since her husband's death. Tho' there were times when the days were dark and unpromising, but with Glenn to cheer her after each day's work, she would labor on.

"Mover," asked Glenn, looking eagerly into his mother's pale and worn face—"Mover, when tan I be big so I tan help you?"

Tears came to the woman's eyes as she bent lower over her sewing.

"Some day, my little man, you can go with mother. When you grow a little older."

"And play with the little boys and girls sometime?" he asked.

She hugged him close to her breast. If only she could make enough money to live like other people! She never went to any place of amusement, but lived a lonely life with no friends nor kin to take part in her sorrows.

"Mover, sing me a song," her son begged, and as she sang in soft, silver-like notes, he felt contented for the present.

And across the street, in a richly furnished house, sat a man with a little girl in his lap.

"A story, Daddy," she cried as she kissed him.

After the story was finished, which was a fairy story, the little girl said: "Daddy, when I grow to be big and beau-ti-ful, will a prince come and carry me away from you?"

"I hope not, my darling, for you are all daddy has left to love him," said the man, sadly.

"Then I won't go with him, daddy," she said, as if the question was settled.

Sunday came. A bright sunny day. Louise took Glenn and went to the park. Glenn roamed about, while Louise sat on a bench, watching.

Presently a little girl came up and asked: "Are you my prince, sir?" Come and play with me, for I am a beautiful princess."

Louise smiled at the little girl. Then as Glenn looked at her pleadingly, she smiled and said: "Run on, son, and play, but mind you don't wander too far from mother."

Louise sat wondering who the girl could be. If Glenn only had a playmate, he wouldn't get so lonely.

"Good morning, ma'am. I hope I'm not disturbing you," and a young man walked up to the bench and stood before her.

"Not at all, sir. Won't you sit down? I was watching my son and the little girl. I wonder who she can be? My son took to her at first sight."

The man sat down.

"I, too, have been watching them. The girl is my little daughter, and soon as she saw your son she begged permission to come to him. But now as our children are acquainted, suppose we introduce ourselves?" smiled the man kindly.

Louise blushed like a school girl. "I—my name is Louise Lyon, sir," she stammered.

"And mine is Walter Evarts," he said pleasantly. The two were soon talking like old friends. Walter Evarts soon knew just how poor Mrs. Lyon was, and how lonely. He would put a stop to it at once, he declared to himself.

An hour later, when the children returned then found their parents talking as if they had known each other always.

"Has daddy found him a princess?" asked the little girl innocently.

"Evelyn, this is Mrs. Lyon, the mother of your prince."

"Glad to see you, Mammy Prince," cried Evelyn as she put her arms about Louise's neck and kissed her.

"We must be going, son," said Louise, fearing Evelyn would say something far worse than before.

But Evelyn wouldn't hear of it. Her and daddy were going to the show and her prince and mammy must go with them.

Walter Evarts looked at Louise pleadingly.

"Won't you please go," he asked her. And because she wanted to go so bad she went.

The weeks that followed were happy ones for the four of them. Walter came over evenings and talked while the children played.

But it ended all at once. Walter didn't understand the sudden change in Louise. She treated him coldly and wasn't her bright, cheery self any more. Walter was puzzled at the change in her, and his visits became less and less frequently and now it had been weeks since he had seen Louise.

And Louise sat at home, sad and lonely, wishing Walter would come again. She wished she hadn't heard the two women talking that she had heard a month before. She was coming from town, and two women sat in front of her. One of them said:

"Who is the little widow Sir Walter Evarts is going about with?" and a voice answered:

"Oh, she's only a poor little dress-maker, and to think Walter Evarts, our richest man in town should fool away his time with her."

Louise's face burned. She was angry at the two, but said nothing. But thereafter she treated Walter different. It hurt her to but he was rich and she was a poor dress-maker. She longed to see him. And poor Glenn cried for his little playmate. But she came not.

Two months after his last visit at Louise's, Walter came. He was pale and haggard.

"Evelyn is sick and wants you and Glenn. Won't you please come, Louise," he said, brokenly.

Louise went at once. Evelyn was ill. Had been ill for weeks, and Walter hadn't told her.

Evelyn went to sleep in Louise's arms. Walter came in the room softly, so softly, that Louise didn't hear him. He walked up to her and bent down until his lips touched her dark hair.

"Wonderful woman," he murmured.

"How could you, Walter! Why didn't you call me before?"

"Louise, I wanted you so, but pride kept me from coming until I saw my girl was in danger. Then I was nearly mad. Loving you and you treating me so distant. Louise, why did you change so suddenly?"

Louise hung her head in shame.

"I heard someone say you were so rich, and I only a poor no-body!"

"How dare they!" cried Walter. "It is my own business whom I love. Now, Louise, my love, will you marry me?"

Her "yes" was so low he had to bend his head low to catch the answer.

Just then Evelyn opened her big, blue eyes.

"Daddy, love princess too?" Daddy marry her and Glenn so we can live here," she cried happily.

"We will," answered her father.

"Walter, are you sure you won't be ashamed of me for a wife?" asked Louise.

"As if I could," was the laughingly reply.

The Rev. J. H. Taylor returned Tuesday morning from Greenville, where he had been to preach the Easter sermon for the Knight Templars of the Greenville Commandery. He reports a record attendance at the services, the congregation filling the big church house to overflowing. Incidentally, Bro. Taylor enjoyed visiting among old-time friends in Greenville, and says the trip and visit was one long to be remembered.

SAN ANGELO DISTRICT CONFERENCE OF M. E. CHURCH TO MEET HERE NEXT WEEK

The San Angelo District Conference of the M. E. Church, South, will meet in the city of Brady next week. The first sermon will be preached next Tuesday night at 8:00 o'clock by Rev. H. M. Ratliff of San Antonio. Then each day till the following Sunday night, at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. there will be preaching or services of some kind at the Methodist church.

There are more than a hundred on the roll of the District, but there will be perhaps about two-thirds of the number present. However, we want every home in Brady to feel free to volunteer to help us take care of those who will be guests of our city for a few days.

We rejoice to report an excellent revival at Hondo, and have returned all smiles and glad to announce that we will be on hand for preaching next Sunday and Sunday night. Subjects respectively, "What Think Ye Of Christ?" and "Following Jesus, and Why?"

We certainly rejoice at the fine reports reaching us of the good services held while I was away. Brother Morris preached to fine crowds several times while I was away and Brother Reeves had a great day on Easter, and with the most excellent rains, you have been all happiness and sunshine during my absence.

Sunday school next Sunday morning at 9:45 and we are hoping for a big day. Epworth League at 6:30 p. m. Why not make a new resolution to take in all these services. Alright, step in; I'm looking for you. S. C. DUNN, Pastor.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

F. W. Crum was in Brady Thursday from Melvin and reported a good rain Sunday night extending from Stacy through to Coleman. From three-fourths to one inch of rain was had.

B. R. Miller was here Tuesday from Pear Valley, and reported that while no cattle in that section had died from the mysterious disease reported in some sections of the county, several calves had been lost from some unexplained cause.

John Kavanaugh, business manager of the Menard Messenger, spent several days in Brady this week. Mr. Kavanaugh is just now recuperating from a spell of illness, and took advantage of his leisure to have some dental work done here.

E. B. Ramsay returned the latter part of last week from Eastland where he had been called by news of the suicide of J. E. Snavey. Mr. Snavey had leased and was operating Mr. Ramsay's planing mill there. Mr. Snavey left no word as to his reasons for taking his life, but appeared very despondent the last day. Mr. Ramsay has locked up the planing mill for the present, not having had the time to secure another lessee, but expects to reopen the plant at some time in the near future.

D. D. Hargroves was in from Whiteland Wednesday. Mr. Hargroves explained the bandages on his left hand by stating he had lost the end of his third finger in a rather unusual accident, a week before. He was engaged in putting a tongue in a five-row marker, and had nailed it in place and clinched the nails. When he attempted to let the tongue down, however it hung for a minute, and then suddenly fell, catching his finger in the hounds and shearing the end off. The injury gave Mr. Hargroves great pain for a time, but is healing nicely now, and he is feeling lucky that the accident was not worse.

It was a close squeeze last Tuesday night, say many of our citizens, but anyway old Jack Frost failed to nip any of our prospects in the bud. Tuesday was decidedly cool and wintry, the northwest wind feeling as though it came off of Greenland's icy mountains, and much fear of a frost was manifested. While the weather, continue cool and dreary, it is the universal hope that all danger of frost has passed. McCulloch county has a mighty good chance for a bumper fruit crop this year, not to mention a bumper pecan crop—and then there's most a million dollars worth of garden truck been planted since those millions of dollars rains.

Dr. Harrison of Fort Worth, representing the Live Stock Sanitary commission, was called to Fife the latter part of last week to investigate the cause of numbers of cattle dying suddenly and from some mysterious cause. Dr. Harrison said there was no reason to believe cockle burrs were the cause of the trouble, but ascribed the loss to Hemorrhagic Septicemia, a poisoned condition of the blood, brought on by the recent cold rains and weather, and superinduced by the impoverished condition of the cattle due to the ten-months' drought. Dr. Harrison expressed the opinion that as the cattle regained strength and weather conditions moderated, all trace of the disease would vanish.

AUGUST KELLER INSTALLS THE LAST WORD IN BOWSER GASOLINE FILLING STATIONS

It's here! A. W. Keller says it is, and proudly proves the assertion—the last minute in Bowser automobile filling stations. Nothing but the best would satisfy Mr. Keller, and so he got it.

Not only is the new station a most attractive innovation, but it has numbers of points of merits out of the ordinary. In the first place, it is absolutely dust-proof. Then, it has a special method of eliminating all water from the gasoline, so that nothing but pure, dry gasoline goes into the automobile tank. As it is pumped, it passes through a glass tube, so the buyer can see just what he is getting. There are dials so both purchaser and seller can see just how much gasoline has been pumped, and further, every time a gallon of gas is pumped a bell rings to give notice of the fact. Stops are arranged so that the exact quantity may be measured out—no more, no less.

It's a dandy. A. W. says it is, and you will say so too when you see it.

Purina Hen Chow and Purina Chicken Chowder supply the perfect balance for producing an abundance of fertile eggs that hatch vigorous chicks. When fed as directed these Chows are guaranteed to produce more eggs than any other feed, or your money will be refunded. Purina Baby Chick Chow and Purina Chicken Chowder are perfectly balanced for chick growth. Start your chicks on Purina Chicken Chowder.

DOUBLE DEVELOPMENT GUARANTEE

The money paid for both of these Chows will be refunded if baby chicks when fed Purina Chicken Chowder and Purina Baby Chick Chow, as directed, do not develop twice as fast during the first six weeks as when fed grains alone.
