MERCHANTS OF 18TH CENTURY BELIEVED IN VALUE NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

In the copy of the Ulster County Gazette, published on Saturday, January 4, 1800, there appears much of interest to present-day readers, and not the least of the interesting contents are the advertisements of the merchants of that day.

Herewith is reproduced a sample of one of the ads, in which the merchant not only sings the praises of his wares, but gives vent to his poetic genius by putting his song in verse.

The ad reads:
LUTHER ANDRES & Co. have this day, Been opening GOODS both fresh and gay

He has received near every kind, That you in any Store can find, And as I purchase by the Bale, I am determined to retail FOR READY PAY a little lower Than ever have been had before.

I with my brethren mean to live, But as for credit shall not give.

I would not live to rouse your passions For credit here is out of fashion, My friends and buyers one and all, It will pay you well to give a call, You always may find me by my sign, A few rods from the house divine.

The following articles will be received in payment. Wheat, Rye, Buck-Wheat, Oats, Corn, Butter, Flax, Afhes and Raw Hides. These articles will be taken in at the Esopus prices. CASH will not be refused. Warfink Dec. 24, 1799.

BAND BOYS RECEIVE STRIKINGLY ATTRACTIVE CAPS FOR USE ON DRESS OCCASIONS

The Brady band boys this week received uniform caps, which they will don when making dress appearance in public. The caps are the regulation design, with small visor and gold lace overlaid on a black band encircling the crown of the cap. The wording "Brady" appears in gold letters on the front. They will fit admirably with the khaki trousers and wrapped leggings worn by the boys, and which makes for a decidedly nifty appearance upon the part of Brady's premier musicians.

FORMER BRADY MAN WITNESSES INITIATION CEREMONIES OF KU KLUX KLAN

A dispatch from Denton last week reported the initiation of twenty-five members into the Denton Ku Klux Klan, the initiation ceremonies being held in an open space a few miles out from that town. The report also stated that a Denton newspaper man had been picked up by an automobile on the square and carried near the scene of the ceremonies, where he was permitted to view the affair. It is learned that the newspaper man mentioned was none other than S. M. Richardson, foreman of the linotype department of the Denton Record-Chronicle, and for many years foreman of The Brady Standard office.

The Texas Press association will hold their annual meeting in Denton on May 11, 12 and 13th, and the press boys are assured an interesting account from Mr. Richardson as to what the Klan "did to him."

DISTRICT DEPUTY GRAND PATRIARCH COMING FOR I.O.O.F. ENCAMPMENT INITIATION, 3D

The regular meeting of Brady Lodge Encampment No. 161, I. O. O. F., which was to be held last Wednesday night, was postponed owing to inclement weather. A number of candidates were to have been initiated, after which refreshments were to have been served. The work of this meeting has been postponed to the coming Wednesday night, May 3rd, on which date the lodge will be honored by the presence of Jewell A. Johnson, District Deputy Grand Patriarch of Brownwood, who will assist in the initiation of the new candidates, as well as the installation of O. A. Schill as Scribe of the local Encampment to fill out the unexpired term of Matthew R. Moore, who resigned this position.

BRADY HIGH WINS THIRD STRAIGHT FROM MENARD TEAM—LOSES EDEN GAME

The Brady High school team took the Menard High base ball club into camp for the third successive time last Friday afternoon, winning by a score of 7 to 6. Taylor pitched the game for the locals in usual good form. The Menard boys showed up wonderfully strengthened in their playing, and took advantage of errors upon the part of the locals to run up their tallies. So far the locals have not lost a single game played with a high school team.

In taking on the Eden town team Saturday, in an exhibition contest, the locals lost by a score of 6 to 4. Taylor again pitched for Brady, and gave a good account of himself. Likewise his teammates got in some good stick work, making a number of good hits off of White, the Eden pitcher. The Eden team was made up of seasoned players, the pick of the town, and the locals deserve credit for the excellent showing made.

Jim Ward Dies at Eden.

The death of Jim Ward occurred this morning at Eden, following an illness with rheumatism, which extended over the past six years. Mr. Ward was well known to all the older citizens of Brady and McCulloch county, having been practically reared here, and for many years operated what is now the D. Harkrider farm at Nine. For the past fifteen years he had made his home at Eden. He was aged about 55 years.

Mr. Ward was married in 1895 to Miss Hattie Allen, sister of C. D. Allen of Brady, who with three children survives. Also he is survived by his step-mother, Mrs. S. T. Ward of Brady, one brother, B. F. Ward of Midland, one half-brother, T. C. Ward of Melvin, and one half-sister, Mrs. W. M. Murphy of Brady. Funeral services are announced for tomorrow afternoon.

BUSINESS IS GOOD.

The Farmer sells a load of wheat,
And all the world grows fair and sweet:
He hums a couple of cheerful tunes,
And pays the Grocer for his prunes.
The Grocer who has had the blues,
Now buys his wife a pair of shoes.
That ten the Shoeman thinks God sent,
And runs and pays it on the rent.
Next day the Rent Man hands the bill
To Doctor Carver for a pill.
And Doctor Carver tells his Frau
That business is improving now.
And cheers her up and says: "My dear,
You've been quite feeble for a year.
I'm thinking you should have a rest,
You'd better take a trip out West."
And in a couple of days the Frau
Is on the farm of Joshua Howe.
She says her board to Farmer Howe,
Who takes the bill and says, "I swear,
Here's something that just can't be beat—
This bill's the one I got for wheat."
He hums a couple of cheerful tunes,
And goes and buys a lot more prunes.

THREE DAYS' UNPRECEDENTED RAINFALL NETS McCULLOCH 10-IN. SEASON

RIVERS ON RECORD RISES—CREEKS AND DRAWS BECOME RAGING TORRENTS—FIELDS INUNDATED AND HUNDREDS OF MILES OF FENCE DESTROYED.

In the bright, clear sunshine of a perfect day, McCulloch county yesterday morning emerged from what old-timers pronounce as a spell of unprecedented rainfall, varying from slow, steady downpours to waterspouts and periods of hard, dashing rains for hours at a time. In the past quarter of a century there have been rainy periods giving as much moisture as any one of the five or six rains had, but never has there been any such a protracted deluge, and never before have fences been washed away on top of hills. The bridge over Brady creek at Melvin is reported washed away, one span of the bridge over the San Saba river at Voca was destroyed, and hundreds of miles of wolf-proof fencing was swept aside by the raging torrents and rolled up into an unrecoverable tangle. Telephonic communication with many of the inland towns has been interrupted, and the Santa Fe track is out between Algerita and San Saba with no prospect of train service being restored before Saturday.

The above, in brief, outlines the storm's results in McCulloch county. Fortunately, no lives were lost here, although there was loss of live stock to add to the destruction wrought to pecan groves, orchards and field crops. Roads, streets and culverts were carried away, and the low water bridge over Brady creek just east of town was badly damaged. The house of J. J. Johnson, located on the bluff just above this crossing, together with its contents, was swept away Tuesday night. Mr. Johnson barely escaping with his life. Mr. Johnson is deaf, and had his son, who lives across the road, not given the warning, he would undoubtedly have been carried away in the raging flood.

Monday night the electric siren was sounded to warn all out of the lowlands along Brady creek, and twice, following two succeeding rises, the alarm was sounded Tuesday night, first at about 10:00 o'clock and again about 11:30. Highest point in the Brady creek rise was attained at 12:30 Tuesday night, when the flood waters reached up to Main street on the north side of the jail, and cut across the northwest corner of the public square.

Some five or six rises were recorded up to yesterday in Brady creek, resulting from the floods had in the Melvin vicinity and on out to Eden. Fairly good passenger service has been had over the Frisco, passengers being transferred up to yesterday at the washout near Brooksmith. On account of this washout, the local did not arrive Wednesday, but the repairing of the damage enabled the local to come in yesterday afternoon.

On the Santa Fe, washouts between Algerita and San Saba have stopped traffic, the trains being unable to approach nearer than five miles to another. It will be Saturday at the earliest before the destroyed bridges and tracks can be replaced, and service resumed. The Colorado river Wednesday morning was on a 35 ft. rise, and the San Saba was reported on a 44 ft. rise. At San Saba the flood waters reached to within sight of the Santa Fe depot, and the water level is reported as within six inches of high water mark established in 1899. The east part of the town was covered by the flood. Much loss of cattle and live stock is reported from this section.

Voca bridge being gone, and the river will not be fordable for some thirty days, according to his opinion. The damage to the bridge was the washing away of the steel span connecting the bridge with the dirt approach. This span was carried a distance of a quarter mile down the stream. The river here lacked but two feet of getting as high as the flood of 1909 and was a mile and a half wide in places. Only the tops of the tallest trees were to be seen above the flood. Fences that have stood for 15 years were washed into a tangled network of wire, telephone poles, trees and debris. Mr. Behrens' fruit trees were uprooted and washed away and his field crops will all have to be replanted. A little draw not over two miles in length became a stream 150 yards wide, and washed away fencing on the uplands. Mr. Behrens' pecan grove, from which he annually marketed from $400 to $700 worth of pecans, was practically destroyed, the trees toppling over and being denuded of limbs and bark. It will be fifteen years before they can be restored to their former productiveness, he asserts.

F. M. Richards says Tol Roberts reported between 8 and 10 inches of rain Monday night on the Richards ranch. The ranch was divided into twenty pastures, about 33 miles of 51-inch wolf-proof fence being used. Practically all of these fences were down, or washed away into tangled heaps, and not enough fence remained standing to entirely enclose one of the pastures. An immense tank on the place, which lacked a couple of feet being full, was filled to overflowing, with no inlet of any consequence to contribute to the water supply.

According to the Commercial bank gauge, a total of 6.84 inches fell here since Monday, divided as follows:

April 24	1.85
April 25	1.80
April 26	2.15
April 27	.55
Total	6.85

The total for the year so far is 11.25 inches, as compared with a total rainfall all of last year of 11.90 inches.

As a matter of fact, this record is considered very conservative by Brady citizens, a number of whom reported even heavier rainfall. J. C. Hall says he received a total of 9 1/4 inches in the three days, while C. A. Yoas recorded over 9 inches. Theo and John Lyckman state that in the Dodge community they had all of nine inches, if not more.

Aside from the damage done, the continuous rainfall has put a season in the ground equal to the best fall season ever had. Most farmers will have to replant all or part of their crops, but with a bottom season to assure root growth, a few timely rains should result in a bumper crop throughout this section. Wet weather springs are running, indicating that the earth has been filled to a point of saturation.

TEXAS MOTOR PLANT BID IN BY OKLAHOMA COMPANY TO RESUME OPERATIONS

Fort Worth, Texas, April 19.—On a bid of $295,000 the Meco Monkey Grip Company of Oklahoma City today was awarded the Texas Motor Car association property here by Judge R. E. Roy. The sale was at the order of Judge Roy, through whom receivership had been handled for the past several months. Following presentation of bids, receivers, attorneys and stockholders of the company asked that the bid of the Oklahoma City concern be accepted. The bid was placed by C. P. Copeland, general manager.

A tire plant will be installed in the buildings here and 850 men will be placed in jobs as soon as the organization can be completed, Mr. Copeland announced. He asserted that within a year probably 2,000 men will be employed.

BRADY BAND INVITED TO ENTER CONTEST—"DIXIE" PLAYED BY 1,500 MUSICIANS

The stirring strains of "Dixie" should be heard for miles when the masked bands which are to assemble at Dallas during Durbar Week play that favorite air in the evening concert in front of the grand stand at Fair Park, on the opening night of the festival, Monday, May 22.

It is stated that at least fifty bands will enter the championship contest in the afternoon and all of them will play in the night concert. As the average number of men in each band will be 30, it is assumed that at least 1,500 musicians will participate—the largest number of instrumentalists ever brought together in the Southwest, it is claimed.

The afternoon championship contest is attracting much attention. The prizes are said to range from a silver trophy and $400.00 in cash for the top prize down to $25.00 for the lowest prize in the easiest class. The premium list totals over $1,750.

BRADY ODD FELLOWS LODGE INAUGURATES MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN TO JULY FOURTH

The regular meeting of the Brady Lodge No. 257 I. O. O. F. last Monday night, was enlivened by the inauguration of a Membership Campaign with Geo. Shore and M. H. Cohen selected as captains of membership teams. The campaign is to last until July 4th and on that date the team that will have secured the most candidates that have been accepted for admission to the lodge, will enjoy a feast at the expense of the losing team, and both teams declare that nothing short of a regular honest-to-goodness barbecue will satisfy their hunger on that date.

As a result, the members of both teams have gone to work with a vengeance and several applications have already been secured by both sides. All new members accepted will also enjoy the feast that the losers will provide.

FIFE FINDINGS.

Three Days' Program to Mark School Closing Next Week.

Fife, Texas, April 25.

Editor Brady Standard:

Another glorious rain fell here Monday which has put a smile on everybody's face. About two inches of rain fell in four hours. Nearly all of it went into the ground and insures a planting season for cotton. Also an abundance of grass for cattle and plenty of water for the summer. Truly it was worth a million.

Most of our people were at Lohm Saturday to witness the ball game between Mercury and Lohm teams. It was a good one but the Mercury regulars were too much for the Lohm boys and Mercury won by a score of 9 to 4. Batteries for Mercury: Beasley and Cox; for Lohm: Milburn, Baldrige and Barton. Mercury scored 9 times on Milburn who pitched the first 4 innings, when D Baldrige went into the box for Lohm and stopped the scoring from then on. Fife and Mercury will probably play a game next Saturday.

Prof. J. M. Young, H. D. Bradley, Miss Knola King and Mrs. L. Bradley were visiting at Brady Saturday.

Rev. J. Davee of Brady filled his regular appointment here Saturday night and Sunday.

Rev. D. H. Palmer and family of Mercury visited his son, B. P. Palmer here over Sunday.

W. F. Roberts, Jr. and Tom Woodress of Lohm were visitors here Friday on business.

C. S. Randais of Waldrip was a pleasant visitor here Saturday.

Our school will close next week with programs on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. On Thursday night the High School Literary society will give their farewell programs on Friday night. The play,

"Mr. Bob" will be given by the High school pupils and medals won in the County Interscholastic meet will be presented by Prof. J. M. Young. On Saturday night the musical play, "Fairy of the Fountain" will be presented by the little folks under the direction of Miss Knola King. The programs will be rendered at the tabernacle and everybody is invited to attend.

Luther Pearce who is employed in driving Commissioner Jim Priest's big Holt tractor on the roads now, came in Saturday night to spend Sunday with home folks.

Misses Davidson and Smith of Brady spent the week end visiting with the family of Sidney McKeand. "E. Z."

LOST CREEK ECHOES.

Indian Village Once Covered Spot Where Peaceful Farmers Abide. Voca, Texas, April 25.

Editor Brady Standard:

On account of so much high winds the top of the ground has dried off so fast that we stand in need of a little rain to soften up the top of the earth so little young plants can grow faster. (The rains have come in super-abundance since the above was written and now it's sunshine that is needed to make things grow. —Ed.)

A good many have planted cotton. Some are done planting but the most of us have got the most of it to plant. The range is getting good and the stock looking much better. Stock will soon be fat and fine.

Mr. Editor, you said one time that you liked stories that had Injun in them. I think right on the spot where I live was once an Indian camp ground, or Indian village, from the number of arrow heads or flint spears as some call them, and at times we dig up decayed bones of a reddish hue but never found any in sufficient size to recognize them as human bones. But I have some relics I have gathered up on the place and at some time I will take you one. It is made up of two stones, one stone is hollowed out; I would call it a mortar or trough. The other is a smaller one and is nearly round. The trough I am told is where the Indians put their corn, always, of course, roasted, and the small round stone is the one that they ground or rubbed the corn up with. It will all explain itself when you see the relic.

The hardest run I ever made in my life was in the Spring of eighteen hundred and seventy-five. I was only a small lad and all I could hear those days were Indians. I was at an old spring about a mile from home in McCulloch county. I found a bundle of sharp pins at the spring. The first thing that popped into my mind was—Indians. Well, I laid 'em down for home on a dead run. When I got caught up with my breathing I told the folks there surely were Indians in the country for I found a bundle of arrows at the spring. My father went to the spring to investigate the truth of my find, but did not find any Indian arrows, but a bundle of surveyors pins. If this is interesting to anyone, I will tell a sure-enough Indian tale sometime where some folks were shot to death by Indian arrows right here near where I live.

ACT QUICKLY.

Do the right thing at the right time. Act quickly in time of danger. In time of kidney danger, Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective. Plenty of Brady evidence of their worth.

Ask your neighbor! Mrs. J. Coopender, Brady, says: "I was annoyed by kidney complaint for some years. My condition was diagnosed as uric acid poisoning. I always felt heavy and depressed and had bad attacks of rheumatic trouble. I was nervous and frequently headaches came on. I used different remedies for this trouble but can honestly say that Doan's Kidney Pills gave me far better results. I procured this medicine at Jones Drug Co." FOUR YEARS LATER, Mrs. Coopender said: "Doan's Kidney Pills gave me a cure that has been lasting and I am now enjoying the best of health." Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Coopender had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

TOM GREEN COUNTY SCHOOL HEAD QUITS ON CITIZENS' PLEA

San Angelo, Tex., April 19. Halting the deliberations of about 300 farmers and stockmen who had orderly and openly gathered in the Santa Fe park with a notice that he would comply with the assembly's request, J. H. Armstrong of San Angelo this afternoon tendered his resignation as Tom Green county superintendent of education, effective immediately.

To a committee of six which waited on him in a downtown hotel, Armstrong maintained his innocence of any offense, but was told his resignation was for the best interest of the county and its schools. No direct accusations were made either today or Monday, when 60 men demanded that Armstrong vacate, but on each occasion Armstrong was advised he knew the cause of the action. Armstrong Monday refused to quit.

Today he intimated he will seek reelection in July when the committee told him that if he could be re-elected there would be no organized opposition to his serving.

Armstrong is serving his first term as superintendent and has made a good record. Previously he taught in the rural schools for several terms.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with Worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS chill TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the Child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

IN A JAPANESE WOODMEN'S CAMP

Japanese Woodcutters' Camp in British Columbia.

A LAZY creek, almost currentless through salt marshes, at low tide quite deep in its muddy bed; a salty, weedy, slightly smoky, cedary, and piney smell upon the air; windrows of kelp and other weedy drift upon the slithering slope of bank; squirt of clams, in every fairly flat place, and rippling scuttles of flounders upon the bottom; drifting moons of stray medusae luminous in the water—there is a typical woodland setting in northern British Columbia, says a writer in the Christian Science Monitor. The crew is ubiquitous, not unlike a raven; beloved he is of totemic designers and carvers, from Tillamook up to Nome, calling his hoarse "caw" from the shadows of some disheveled cedar.

He knew little and cared less of names and dates familiarly spoken by parlor talkers on Japanese art, but he did feel decorative values, color and drawing, and all the rest of it—whatever it is, in short, that makes the Japanese print so interesting. This had they all, he said, as he returned to his seat. His auditors were visibly pleased, though with the reserve characteristic of their kind; the artist's neighbor pointed at his portfolio, and interrogated: "You make picture too, maybe?" and evoked admission. "You show us."

Sundry sketches of things and places near brought smiling sidewise comments of recognition, but most of all a single sketch of fir tops, dark above a morning mist, with the misty prow of a boat and the oncoming ripple of an easy tide, attracted attention. This was appreciatively passed from hand to hand, and one said: "Now we show you, maybe you like?"

Kinship of the Pastel.
 From one bunk and another came curious wraps of mats and cloths, out of which again came a finely made box or roll, exposing in turn a silken bag, holding carved, founded, or wrought treasures, a kakemono wrapped in a fragment of temple silk, or a couple of shingles keeping flat between them prints of modern photographs of Japan.

Presently the table, cleared of dishes and food with approving consideration, was an exhibition field on which one and another, singly, and seriously smiling, displayed his treasure for the guest's delight. Half a dozen prints of samurai, a famous actor, a geisha, a landscape, and a couple of utter decorative abstractions, each slowly produced and lingered over, were interspersed with bits of cast and carved bronze, iron, carved ivory, kakemonos of two or three types, and even a bit or two of pottery and cloisonne.

The noon period went swiftly, protracted though it was far beyond its regular length, and ended with slow reluctance and a smiling invitation to the departing guest to "come-see again soon." Through the length of the afternoon and the years since there has lingered with the artist a satisfying sense of having met in the wilderness the fellowship of the seeing eye.

The Ever-Welcome "Chow."
 A scrap of straw matting and a momentary glimpse of a short and sturdy figure, round and black of head, the bronzed skin in quiet contrast with blue overalls, showed it to be a Japanese woodcutter's camp. The sun was high, and the shadows short by the time the sketch was finished. An eruption from the woods and cordwood piles toward the bunk-house suggested possible refreshment, even if the calling of the fish-pan, banged with a stick of firewood at the door, did not. There was too much good sketching about for the artist to want to return across the harbor for such an inconsequential thing as lunch, which, however, would likely suggest its lack some time between then and the sundown he knew he would linger for. So, portfolio under arm, he strolled to the bunk house.

Within, on either side, were two-tiered bunks against the walls, stopping short of the further end, which, stove beneath the end window—a rear door letting in breeze and sunshine—was combined kitchen, dining room, and place of assembly. About six persons, on either side of a three-plank table covered with oilcloth, looked curiously and courteously at the stranger as he stepped within. The cook, poised loaded dishes on either hand, nodded and smiled the inscrutable Japanese smile. The mention of "chow" brought a cheerful grin to three or four faces at once, and a welcoming indication of a seat at the end of the table, as the three on that side hunched along to make a place—deftly shifting food with them. In 10 seconds more—with a grave courtesy—was placed before the guest the usual food, each portion in a blue-and-white bowl; to him was apportioned a separate teapot and a handleless cup, both of palegreen sekki-ware.

Art in a Woodmen's Camp.
 The artist ate and conversed. Such of these woodcutters as spoke English (and they nearly all did), spoke in measured carefulness, out of which at intervals cropped a "Chinook" word or a phrase of this coast as bold amid the careful English as a single dark cedar in a green meadow. Looking about, the guest noted a print on the bunk house wall. He got up and walked across to get a better view.

Each Age Has Advantage
Hard to Tell Which, From Childhood to the End, May Be Called the "Best."

Which is the best age? Are we to believe the professor who tells us that a man's best work is done before he is forty, or Robert Browning, who exalts old age and cries, "Grown old along with me—the best is yet to be?"

Childhood, remarks a writer in London Answers, has a magic and a mystery which can never be regained. Out of its imagination a child shapes its own world and creates its own delights in life.

It is the time when we find our greatest physical expression. Our ideals take form and we are neither fettered by failures nor spoiled by success. Normal youth believes it can conquer all obstacles and achieve all ends.

Maturity knows better. The man of forty is balanced by experience, and while his mental faculties should have reached their highest point of development, physically he is not a back number.

To Stop a Cough Quick

take HAYES' HEALING HONEY, a cough medicine which stops the cough by healing the inflamed and irritated tissues. A box of GROVES' O-PEN-TRATE SALVE for Chest Colds, Head Colds and Croup is enclosed with every bottle of HAYES' HEALING HONEY. The salve should be rubbed on the chest and throat of children suffering from a Cold or Croup. The healing effect of Hayes' Healing Honey inside the throat combined with the healing effect of Groves' O-Pen-Trate Salve through the pores of the skin soon stops a cough. Both remedies are packed in one carton and the cost of the combined treatment is 35c. Just ask your druggist for HAYES' HEALING HONEY.

Fitting Retort.

He was very large and evidently had imbibed too freely. He conversed with every one in the car with splendid impartiality. At Market street, as most of the passengers arose to get out, he stood back with wabby courtesy and said in clarion tones, with a flourish of one unsteady hand: "Stand aside and let all the old maids off first, gentlemen!"

One sour-faced dame, who evidently came under the head of those who were to descend first, turned her sharp nose about in his face and retorted shrilly: "Sir, if all the men were like you a good many of us would be proud to be old maids."

BUY SHEEP AND SELL DEER.
 Once upon a time an old financier was asked "How is it you always make money?" "Well," said he, "I always buys sheep and sells deer." You can make more money on Eggs if you buy them cheap, now, and Preserve them in Red Diamond Egg Preserver, and sell them Christmas. TRIGG DRUG CO.

WONDER WORDS.

If Snows Were Rains, How Much Rain Would This Be?
 Wonder, Ore., April 16.
 Editor Brady Standard:

This is Easter Sunday and the eaves are dripping at this very minute, and according to the old Dutch superstition they will drip for seven more consecutive Sundays. Be that as it may or may not; this is the tenth consecutive day that it has done a little of everything—hail, rain, sleet, snow, sunshine and wind blow. One minute one thing and the next minute something else. There has fallen during the last ten days enough tapioca and vermicelli to supply a dozen wholesale establishments if it had been of the genuine article and not counterfeit. Yesterday the lady who keeps the Monumental Hotel—a Stage station on the Crescent City road between here and the Mammoth redwoods, stopped on her way to Grants Pass and said that on the summit the snow attained a depth of twenty-five feet and at her house it was ten feet and that two automobiles had been buried ever since February and that the tops of them are just now beginning to show above the top of the snow. There has only been one half day since winter began that we have not had to keep a fire going to keep warm. And yet our slogan is "It's the Climate!" I think that fellow was right who changed the sign and made it read, "It's the Limit!" Now I'll have to stop writing and go warm my feet. Now do not understand me to insinuate that this is not a nice climate in the summer with its cool nights; for it is. But it is not summer yet. Not quite!

I think from the report of the big rains you had back there that the moon must have got full at last and changed wrong side out. I certainly rejoice with you. I am sending herewith a clipping from The Oregon Observer containing an item about the snow at Crater Lake National Park and also about the snow on the mountains between Grants Pass and Crescent City. However, since that was published last week there has been considerable more snow fallen on the mountains. So I presume that visitors to Crater Lake this year will not be able to reach it before August.

"O.I.C.U.R. RIGHT"

The latest information from Crater National Park received in Medford by Superintendent Alex Sparrow this morning from the park ranger on duty there was that there was 16 feet of snow at the lake rim, 12½ feet at government camp, 11 feet at Anaa Spring camp, and 7½ at the south or Klamath entrance. While this is a much greater depth of snow than in the park last year at this time Superintendent Sparrow says it is about the normal average.—Medford Mail-Tribune.

Grants Pass.—Wind and rain have melted the snow on Oregon mountains between Grants Pass and Crescent City, until it is but five feet deep at the summit. At present the blockaded section is but 3½ miles long. About half of this is on the Oregon side. For the last two months, passengers to the coast have been obliged to walk through the snow.

A RECORD OF ACHIEVEMENT.

The Brady Parent-Teachers association, on Wednesday afternoon of last week held its final meeting and program for the year at the high school building, concluding a year of interesting and helpful school work.

As a matter of fact, wherever Parent-Teachers associations are active, they have been a wonderful influence for good in the schools.

A brief review of the accomplishments of the Brady Parent-Teachers association is not out of place at this time.

Helped to put fire escapes at the Central school building, and also bought an unabridged dictionary for this school.

The following year the sanitary drinking fountains at the schools were provided by the association. Also, during the term, the school children were examined by physicians for affections of the eyes, ears, nose and throat.

The purchase of books for Central school by means of a donation of $50 made by the Women's club to the association;

The payment of $50 on a Victrola for Central school, the money being secured through solicitation of subscriptions to Hollands Magazine;

The installing of play-ground equipment during the past year; also the undertaking of an educational and interesting Lyceum course; the holding of open programs; talk by Dr. J. B. Granville on hygiene, and finally a talk by Mrs. W. D. Armstrong of Brownwood, a specialist in eyes. The Parent-Teachers association movement is growing, and as it grows and enlists better and more earnest support upon the part of the parents and patrons of the schools, it increases in efficiency and its accomplishments are multiplied.

Co-operation is a big thing in any endeavor—the Parent-Teachers association needs, and deserves the co-operation of every citizen.

BUILDING OF A HOME.

First it is a bare lot or a grass field on which cattle graze. Presently, one day, forms are laid down for a concrete figure which looks like a square with square or round abutments.

Soon something that looks like a foundation is down, and lumber is on hand. In a week or so the framework is up and one sees, in anticipation, the rooms take shape.

In a few months it is finished and painted, a fence outlines the property which adheres to the house, and soon the family is in.

What was once a bare lot or a grassed field is now a habitation, the early environment of human beings. The stage upon which are played the life stories of a man, a woman, their children. Little corners which a few months before were bumps upon the landscape are now part of "home" for a family.

A place is breathed upon by the human spirit and it has become, perhaps, a shrine.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

THE RETAILER.

There has been much said since the closing of the World War about profiteers and profiteering in general, and many accusations have been hurled at various "big" business and "small" business, as well, about not making reductions in prices as rapidly as conditions warrant.

"If there is any class of people who have been hard hit by the recent change in conditions, it is the retail merchant. We hear much of the distress of the farmer, and the strain the bankers have been laboring under is of knowledge to all.

"When the slump in prices came it was the retail dealers who carried the load. The manufacturers and jobbers were hit hard, it is true, but they were in many cases short on supplies and their loss, while heavy, was not in proportion to the small retail dealer's.

"During the past year the invoice price of goods on the shelves of the retail merchant has been reduced from 20 to 40 per cent. On a $20,000 stock this means a loss of from $4000 to $8000. It means that the merchant has taken a loss of that much on his goods. Is it any wonder that many merchants have been forced to the wall?

"What is more, the overhead cost of doing business is greater than it was before the war. Wages of help have not fallen to that of the pre-war period. Rents in many cases are higher, and fuel and lights are higher. All these things combine to make the retail merchant's path anything but a rose-strewn highway.

"If help comes to the farmer, indirectly it will come to the merchant but in the meantime he is struggling to keep the business world afloat by making sacrifice sales and taking his loss without any hue and cry. So just remember the local merchant has his troubles and is still your friend—that he is doing his share to bring about better conditions and help the old world back onto its feet.

"It will take time, but we believe things are slightly on the upgrade and if everyone will do his part and go to work, all will be well. Prosperity will not come to a few. It must come to all, and the man who insists on excessive wages while condemning the merchant who is trying to save his business life, is not going to profit by his stand."

Tillie Clinger says the reason she thinks their star boarder is a Ku Klux is because he believes in taking the law and the molasses in his own hands.—Dallas News.

BOOTLEGGING JUSTICE.

One of the avowed purposes of the Ku Klux Klan is to drive out the bootlegger of whisky and intoxicants—a most praiseworthy endeavor—to be sure, when brought about by legal procedure. But a hooded and masked mob knows nothing of legal measures, as witness the manner in which a masked and armed mob bootlegged justice out in Los Angeles, Calif., last Saturday night.

Now let us read the verbal statements of the principals in the affair and see who was most guilty—those who were accused of bootlegging intoxicants, or those who actually did attempt to bootleg justice. Here is the statement of the son of the slain constable: "An organization made up of picked men, with every man a real man, made up the band," young Mosher said. "We went out there to get a couple of bootleggers who had been operating in this city for a long time. With me went my father and Leonard Rugg and many others. I will not name the others and will not give you the name of the organization to which we belong."

Breaking and entering is no crime apparently in the catalog of mobocracy, for in the following manner were the victims aroused from their slumbers: All inmates of the Elduayen home were asleep when the raiders arrived. Violent hammerings at the front and back doors aroused them. Some of the raiders tore open the front screen door and forced an entrance.

"They demanded a drink. We told them we did not have anything to drink, but they pushed open the door and in a minute the house was filled with 20 or 30 men. All wore masks. Many flashed revolvers in our faces." As protectors of womanhood, here is a sample of what may be expected when these "100% Americans" (Heaven Help America) come into full power:

"They accused me of running a still," said Fidel Elduayen. "They demanded to know where it was. Before we knew what it was all about they grabbed me and my brother, Mathias, and bound us. Then they ransacked the house. They tore up everything. They overturned the mattresses. They even went into my daughter's bedroom.

"The two girls were in their night gowns. The masked men yelled to them to dress at once. The girls closed the door, but the men threw it open again; they made the girls take off their night clothes and dress in front of them with the door open."

And here is the "third degree" work of mobocracy—read it, it didn't happen back in the dark ages—it happened only last Saturday—a mob that wears the mask, that conceals its identity, that goes about on its mission armed with deadly weapons, that not only conceals its identity, but makes each individual swear that he will go to jail before he reveals the identity of any other members:

"After the men had torn up everything," Fidel continued, "they dragged us out. Just as we got outside and were lined up by the front porch, the shooting started. "A little fellow wearing a short

CHEAP ADVERTISING.

Just the other day the State papers reported the visit of forty members of the Ku Klux Klan to a certain church in Texas, where the body laid $10.00 upon the altar, and then the leader addressed the church attendants upon the principles and tenets of the Klan. At two-bits a head, these forty Klansmen got some mighty good advertising out of the church episode—and got it mighty cheap.

"Next we were taken to the Redondo Beach police station. The men tried to make the officers there take us as prisoners, but they also refused."

"Our captors threatened to hang us if we did not tell the location of a still they kept talking about. They said they would hang us to a tree if we did not tell."

"All we could say was that we had no still. "Then they stopped by the tracks of the Pacific Electric Railway and said they would tie us on the tracks and let us be killed if we did not tell."

"Finally they left us, five or six miles from home, after threatening to shoot us if we ever told anything that happened."

Imagine, if you can, such a nice little drama enacted here in McCulloch county? Is it any wonder that The Standard has arrayed itself against any organization which works behind masks; whose membership is composed of any who will give up the necessary initiation fee and swear allegiance to the body; whose acts may be directed by thugs, yet whose every member is sworn to secrecy so long as murder or arson; or treason against the United States is not indulged in. Every citizen should give careful, earnest, prayerful consideration to these facts before he aligns himself with such a band. For no matter how good the original intentions; how worthy the ulterior aims, a masked band may in the twinkling of an eye become converted into a lawless band bent upon revenge or destruction which years of penitence can never atone for.

Those who feared we might never have enough rain to make the moisture meet, probably feel that the moisture has now gone deep into the ground, where moisture was never met with before.

Those folks who reminded us of the adage, "Thunder in February, frost in April," are now respectfully reminded that there remain but two days in which they are expected NOT to make good.

WHERE THE MASK PINCHES.

General M. M. Crane has been in Texas a long time. He has been a "war horse" in many statewide contests. There are many Texas citizens who do not agree with his politics and who have at some time or other opposed many of the policies he has favored and supported. But there is not a man in Texas who will challenge his good faith, his patriotism and his sense of justice and fairness. General Crane does not endorse the Ku Klux Klan. He thinks it is an organization that is leading directly toward anarchy, and nowhere else. And in a statement published in the Dallas News Tuesday he gave some very good reasons for disliking the Klan. He described the point at which the mask of the Klan pinches.

"They say they are with the officers in the enforcement of the law and that they stand for trial by jury; that they are for the maintenance of the Constitution of the United States and of the State of Texas," he says: "yet they admit that their obligation will not permit them to disclose their identity even in a court of justice, and that they hope to have the law of their klan changed so as to remove this restriction."

And then General Crane points out in detail just how the mask pinches. "At present, if they were called as witnesses into court, State or Federal, in a criminal case, and it became important to prove that the defendant or any witness was a klansman, and they were sworn as witnesses, they would be obliged to refuse to answer, just as the Police Commissioner at Austin refused to answer, and just as the klansmen at Wichita Falls Saturday refused to answer."

"How, then, can they say they are in favor of enforcement of the law when they willfully refuse to aid with their testimony? "Let me state it differently. Suppose that I am a klansman; John Smith is not one. He sues me in a civil action. The jury, he believes, is composed of klansmen. He wants to intelligently exercise his right of peremptory challenge. He is permitted to ask the jury if they are klansmen. They refuse to answer. They know in refusing to answer they are violating the law, but they are keeping their klansman's oath, which they put above the law. When they say, therefore, that they stand for law enforcement they are grossly mistaken. They are the greatest obstruction to its enforcement that is now known."

"They admit that this Nation-wide law of theirs must be changed. I am not dealing in futures, but with the present. As their klan law stands now, the organization is a menace to the public. It is a species of anarchy, in that they impudently refuse to obey the law of the land because of an obligation that they have taken, to obey the law of the Ku Klux Klan and their Wizard Simmons who lives in mob-ridden Georgia and not even in Texas."

Klansmen are being called into court, of course, as witnesses and as defendants in criminal action. And when a klansman holds up his hand and swears that he will tell "the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth," and at the same time harbors in his heart a reservation protecting his membership in the klan, he perjures himself. When he places loyalty to his state, he forfeits claim to good citizenship. The mask is responsible for it all. If the Klan wants to be of service in promoting the moral, civic and educational development of the state, let it discard the mask and stand forth before men above loyalty to the klan, let it be known and so that some basis for judging the real character of its membership may be provided.—Brownwood Bulletin.

Eighty-Four Party.
Mrs. J. B. Whiteman and Mrs. R. O. Andrews entertained on Thursday night of last week with an "84" party at the home of Mrs. Whiteman.

After several games, the hostess served hot chocolate and sandwiches and angel food to guests present as follows: Messrs. and Mesdames L. Y. Callihan, Ed A. Burrows, Evans J. Adkins, B. L. Hughes, Claud Wood, A. B. Stobaugh, M. F. Price, Virgil Jones, Henry King, W. M. Deans, R. O. Andrews.

Forty-Two Club.
A most enjoyable meeting of the Forty-Two club was had on last Friday night, at which time Mrs. Clyde Hall entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Richards, and at which the gentlemen were guests of honor.

Club members present included Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Granville; Messrs. and Mesdames W. D. Jordan, C. Crawford, T. Gray, B. L. Hughes, Edwin Broad, N. A. Collier, Evans Adkins, Ira Mayhew.

Following the series of "42," the hostess served a delicious ice course.

Friday Forty-Two Club.
Mrs. J. E. Shropshire entertained most pleasantly on last Friday afternoon, the occasion being the regular meeting of the Friday Forty-Two club. Club members present included Mesdames C. P. Gray, H. R. Hodges, Elma Campbell, J. F. Davis, F. M. Richards, A. B. Cox, Edd Broad, Roy Wilkerson. Invited guests were Mesdames C. D. Allen, W. H. Balou, W. P. Yeary; Miss Ruby Gran-ger.

A series of "42" at three tables furnished the afternoon's diversion, and was followed by the serving of an enjoyable salad course.

No meeting of the club is to be held this week, and Mrs. Gray will be hostess at the meeting announced for Friday night of next week, at which the gentlemen are to be guests.

Double Wedding.
Announcements have been received in Brady of an approaching double marriage, which will be celebrated on Sunday, April 30th, 1922, at Alpine, Texas, and in which one of the principals is Mr. Jimmie C. Wade, son of Mrs. Eliza Wade, former prominent Brady citizens. The other bridegroom-to-be is Mr. Erie Williams, and the two will marry sisters, Misses Frieda Lena A. Weyerts and Metta Ida L. Weyerts, daughters of Mrs. Metta Harms. Mr. Wade was reared in Brady, but for the past number of years has made his home at Alpine, where he is engaged in ranching. He is a young man of splendid character, business ability and habits of industry, and all his many friends here will join in extending congratulations and wishing for the couple every happiness in life.

Night Bridge Club.
Mrs. Sam McCollum entertained on Tuesday night for the Night Bridge club, which meets once a month, with an elaborate buffet supper as a feature of the meeting. The occasion proved a most delightful one, and was thoroughly enjoyed. Table decorations consisted of a center-piece of carnations and ferns, while roses were used for house decorations.

Three tables were set for "Bridge," with the following club members playing: Messrs. and Mesdames Bailey Jones, G. V. Gansel, W. R. Davidson, W. D. Crothers; Mrs. R. W. Turner; and guests: Dr. and Mrs. J. G. McCall, Mrs. Marion Bingham of Cleveland, Ohio. Club prizes were received by Mrs. Jones for the ladies and Mr. Gansel for the gentlemen and guest prizes by Mrs. McCall for the ladies and Dr. McCall for the gentlemen.

Mrs. Turner will entertain at the next monthly meeting of the club.

* PERSONAL MENTION *

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Searly are here from the ranch at Rock Springs for a visit with home folks and friends. Ernest says ranch life agrees with him, and he likes his new venture fine.

Mrs. Ella Stockton of Stamford is here for a visit with her daughters, Mesdames F. A. Knox and J. A. Kelly. She was accompanied by her grand-daughters, Misses Mary and Myrtle and Helen Kelly, who will visit their parents. Mr. Knox met the party in Brownwood Saturday and carried them to Brady in his auto.

Time to Mourn.
A little fellow sat on a doorstep crying bitterly. Presently a sympathetic old lady came along.
"What's the matter, little boy?"
"Got my new pants covered with dust," sobbed the boy.
"But they're clean now, dear," continued the woman.
"I know they are," wailed the boy.
"Then why do you still cry, child?"
"Cos mother wouldn't let me take 'em off while she beat the dust out."

* LOCAL BRIEFS. *

Mrs. Ellen Strickland has been appointed tax assessor for the Brady Independent School district by the school board and began this week the filling out of the rendition blanks for the residents of the district.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Horn are entertaining a big 9½-pound son, who made his arrival Sunday night. Quite naturally, the parents are mighty proud of the new arrival, and the proud father smiles most happily when friends extend congratulations.

Mrs. J. S. Stuart and children arrived here this morning from Fort Worth to join Mr. Stuart in making Brady their home. Mr. Stuart was transferred here two weeks ago by Swift & Co., and will be in charge of this territory for that firm. The family has taken up their residence in the Earl Cantwell residence on South Blackburn street. Brady citizens will be glad to extend them a cordial welcome to citizenship here.

F. W. Greber, general manager, and J. H. McKee, auditor, of the West Texas Telephone Co., were in Brady last Saturday for a visit with J. B. Whiteman, local manager, and incidentally to greet their many friends here. Mr. Greber was highly pleased with the improved prospects throughout the territory served by his company, and stated that he was looking forward to a splendid revival in business during the coming year.

J. M. Young, superintendent of the Fife school, was a business visitor in Brady last Saturday completing arrangements for the school closing to be held at Fife the latter part of next week. Incidentally, Mr. Young was completing plans for the issuing of a school annual, which in itself will be something unique in the annals of the rural schools of the country, and which will reflect most creditably upon the Fife school, the students and the faculty.

Mrs. Nona Montgomery has accepted a position with Mayhew Produce Co. as demonstrator of the Ralston Purina Co.'s chows and chowders for poultry and live stock of all kinds. She will work in the local territory and also the sections covered by the several branch houses of this progressive firm. W. D. Speelman of Brownwood, representing the Fort Worth house, has been spending the week here assisting Mrs. Montgomery in introducing the Purina products to new users.

Work has begun upon the new bathing pavilion at the site of the city's small dam on Brady creek. H. S. Searly, who has secured the rights to the bathing pool has had the land cleared, and Monday placed a crew of workmen on the job of building the pavilion and other improvements. The operations were interrupted by the rains, however, it being found necessary to remove the lumber and material to a point of safety. Work will be resumed as soon as the ground dries sufficiently.

Odom Martin is greeting his many old-time friends here this week, while on a brief visit to this section. Odom, with his father, John Martin, and brother, Mike, has been located in the oil fields in Old Mexico, 150 miles south of Tampico, where Odom has been employed as tool dresser. He has been spending the past three weeks on a vacation in San Antonio, and while enroute to Oklahoma, where he and fourteen others have a well which is ready to be drilled in, he decided to take advantage of the opportunity to look up former acquaintances here. Mrs. John Martin is at Brownsville, where the family owns and operates an irrigated ranch.

Enduring the Duration.
He was a small, bowlegged, watery-eyed private in a negro stevedore company working at Brest. He was homesick and miserable. The morning after the news of the armistice he went to his Sergeant, a big, raw-boned, powerful negro from Texas, and said: "Sarge, I've tired, an' I wants ter go back home ter Alabama. I has toted dese here boxes from de ships to de cars until my shoulders is done wore down to de bone. I 'listed for de duration ob de wah, an' now de wah is done over, an' I wants ter git back home." The Sergeant looked him over, and up and down. If looks could kill, he would have been dead. "Nigger!" he said, "git yourself back on dat job! De wah am over! Dat's right! But de duration am just started!"—Argonaut.

WORLD WAR VETERAN LOSES MIND—RESULT OF HORRORS OF WORLD WAR

Ray Hathaway, World War veteran, who has been making his home at Rockdale the past year, has lost his mind and become violent, as a result of the horrors which he experienced while in service as a member of the 108th Machine Gun battalion. When one reads the following brief account of some of the experiences of this battalion while in service, there is little left to the imagination as to why a veteran should lose his mind—the wonder is that he ever emerged from the fire of battle with a semblance of reason remaining. The account is reprinted from The Rockdale Reporter of last week:

Among other incidents recited as to what the 108th Machine Gun men went through was brought out that this organization seemed to have been used several times as a "sacrifice bunch," having been sent up to the immediate firing line in the very thickest parts of the Argonne battles where the casualties were heaviest. The 108th was frequently mentioned in the press dispatches while the American troops were engaged in the summer or autumn of 1918 as having sustained very heavy losses, in one engagement alone the battalion's punishment amounted to more than 65 per cent of its personnel. At another time the battalion was on the battle line for three days almost entirely without food or water, this being mentioned in General Pershing's official report to War Department.

One incident related by Hathaway was that in which the 108th played a peculiarly prominent part, the mental alertness of a corporal and quick action taken saving the advancing infantry from practical annihilation, but at terrible cost to the machine gunners opposing the Germans. According to Hathaway's account the 108th had advanced to where there was a considerable open space which had evidently been purposely cleared by the enemy.

When the 108th debouched into this open space and began preparing for action, the Americans began dropping rapidly, most of their wounds being received in the legs below the knee. Most of the commissioned and non-commissioned officers were shot down in a few minutes. The men could neither see nor hear any sound of firing anyway near to them and the situation was fraught with mystery. The men were dropping all about the guns and in a few seconds more than half of them were out of commission. Acting "on their own," the gunners threw themselves as flat on the ground as possible, but still attempting to work their guns.

Then it was that a second corporal crawled to the sergeant and told the latter that he had figured it out the German machine gun bullets which were cutting the Americans to pieces were coming from underneath the ground in front of the Americans and from the sides of the cleared space; the corporal pointing to the fact that practically all the men shot had been hit below the knee and in many instances several bullets having hit each man in both legs. By this means they concluded that the German guns were buried in the ground, with the muzzles just below the surface, and could not be elevated. Action followed quickly. The Americans arose from the ground and began working their guns rapidly, firing into the ground a furious spray of machine bullets, until the dust was flying in a cloud from every inch of soil. In a short time this strategy brought results, for within three to five seconds, there were three heavy explosions at about forty to fifty feet from the American guns, the German guns, men and ammunition and the concrete emplacement walls flying into the air.

The spraying continued and in less time than it has taken to write this the whole space was cleared by the German gun-muzzles being hit by American bullets and the Germans blown to pieces. The Germans had placed forty or fifty machine gun nests, constructed of concrete, below the surface, the pits of thick cement retaining all sound of firing, while the German gun muzzles rested on concrete chutes which prevented any visible evidence by spouting the dust and sand.

So many millions of American bullets were discharged into the soil that every now and then one would hit a German muzzle just as the German gunner fired. This caused the German gun to jam and immediately explode.

It was the quick wit of the American soldier and his instant action in sacrificing himself in discharge of his duty, that defeated the purpose of the German commander who calculated to annihilate any force sent against those buried machine guns; the Germans evidently never supposing that the trick would be discovered in time by the advancing Americans, nor did he, perhaps, realize that the Americans had quickly learned that the most effective weapon to send against machine gun emplacements were more machine guns, and with more ammunition than the Germans had. Added to this quickly-learned fact was the reckless daring of the American soldier who would take any chance and never admitted that any obstacle was insurmountable or that some way could be found to circumvent the German's ingenuity.

In the few minutes clashing between discovery of the underground machine guns and carrying out the Americans' counteraction, the 108th battalion elements thus engaged suffered terrible punishment and there were comparatively few men left on foot when the fight ended in victory for them. But they all realized this desperate situation when they arose and began working their guns against such ferocious odds, being actuated by one motive, and that was to sacrifice themselves and save their infantry buddies who were coming up behind. This is a scrap of history from the World War which has heretofore been unwritten, and gives a faint glimpse behind the veil to show to us what our boys went through in those five short but fierce months from June to November, 1918.

Are They Ever Safe.

Dr. Albion E. Hazard of Ottawa at a dinner during the railway surgeons' convention in Philadelphia, told a seashore story.
"A physician," he said, "was asked at Atlantic City if bathing was dangerous for old men."
"The physician, with a frown, replied.
"Very dangerous. My millionaire uncle, a widower of 71 years, started bathing on the fourth and yesterday ran off to New York with a summer girl of 18, and got married at the Little Church Around the Corner."—New York Tribune.

See.

"You said you wouldn't marry the best man living."
"Maybe it's a case of sour grapes," confided Miss Cayenne. "It's highly improbable that I'd have the chance."—Washington Star.

How the Stairs Run.
A lawyer was cross-examining an old German about the position of the doors, windows and so forth, in a house in which a certain transaction occurred.

"And now, my good man," said the lawyer, will you be good enough to tell the court how the stairs run in the house?"

The German looked dazed and unsettled for a moment.
"How do the stairs run?" he queried.

"Yes, how do the stairs run?"
"Vell," continued the witness, after a moment's thought, "ven I am op stairs dey run down, and ven I am down stairs, dey run up."—Birmingham Ledger.

First to establish the $10.90 price—Usco

THE makers of U. S. Tires made this announcement last November—

"Hereafter the price of the 30 x 3 1/2 'Usco' is $10.90."

The lowest price ever quoted on a tire of quality reputation and standard performance.

And now, with the opening of Spring, there seem to be quite a number of "New and Special tires" coming into the market in the $10.90 price range.

Perhaps you are wondering just what there can be either "new" or "special" about these tires.

It can't be the $10.90 price—"Usco" established that five months ago.

Nor quality reputation and standard performance—for it takes more than one full season for any new tire to demonstrate where it stands in quality and value.

With so many tires rushing into this $10.90 price

United States Tires are Good Tires

field (now that the season promises business from the American car-owner), it is worth remembering that "Usco" showed its good faith by announcing this price last fall.

The same intent to serve that has made "Usco" a standard value for years.

The "Usco" Tire was never better than it is today—with its established quality, its time-tested performance, and its price closely figured in tune with the times.

THE BROOKLYN BRIDGE

COMMENCED in 1870 and opened for traffic in May, 1883, this world-renowned structure cost the at-that-time unthinkable sum of $15,000,000. Its extreme length approximates a mile and a half and its overall width is 86 feet.

It spans the East river, which connects Long Island sound and New York bay between Manhattan island, on which New York city proper stands, and Brooklyn on Long Island, and carries one of the densest and most heterogeneous streams of traffic in the world.

The caisson on the Manhattan side measures 102 by 172 feet and the foundation goes down 78 feet below high-water mark, while the tower measures 59 by 140 feet at high-water line, is 272 feet high and contains approximately 47,000 cubic feet of masonry.

The bridge is suspended from four cables, strung between the towers—the calculated weight of the structure and its load being in the neighborhood of 15,000 tons. Each cable is made up of 5,296 galvanized-steel, oil-coated wires wound into a single strand which measures 15 1/2 inches in diameter and is 3,578 1/2 feet long.

The center of the river span has a clear height of 135 feet above the surface of the river at high-water stage. The floor space of the bridge is divided into five avenues or passageways—the center space being arranged for foot passengers, on either side of which are spaces for trolley tracks, while each outside space is set aside for the accommodation of vehicular traffic.

A TONIC

Grove's Tasteless chill Tonic restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

Grove's Tasteless chill Tonic supply Iron and Quinine suspended in syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs QUININE to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. Destroys Malarial germs and Grip germs by its Strengthening, Invigorating Effect. 60c.

FREE VACCINATION OFFER TO CANDIDATES ENTERING CITIZENS TRAINING CAMPS

The Standard is advised, by Jas. T. Mann, local chairman for the Citizens' Military Training camp movement, that applicants for entrance into the training camps this summer should make application for entrance without further delay. It is anticipated that more than 20,000 applications will be received, and of this number but 3,000 can gain admission to the camps. Corps area headquarters are in San Antonio, with Fort Bliss, Camp Travis, Fort Logan and Fort Sill forming the four parts of the area.

Typhoid prophylaxis will be administered free to all accepted applicants. Last year the vaccinations were administered to students after they reached camp, but the plan this year is to have the local physicians administer the prophylaxis before the students leave their homes, thereby saving much time at the camp.

Army statistics show that 5,000,000 men received typhoid prophylaxis treatment during the World War and among them was not a single fatal case of typhoid fever. In 1898 during the Spanish American war there were 2,680 cases of typhoid and 268 deaths in an army division in Florida. At this time the typhoid vaccine had not been discovered. In 1911 there were only two cases of typhoid in the maneuver division in San Antonio and these two men had not been furnished with the prophylaxis. Regular Army officers here believe that it is a privilege to get the typhoid prophylaxis as it will insure against attack of fever. At the Eighth Corps Area Headquarters 15,000 doses of typhoid vaccine have already been received and will be distributed to the candidates for summer camps after they are accepted.

The Quinine That Does Not Affect the Head
Because of its tonic and laxative effect, LAKATIVE BROMO QUININE is better than ordinary Quinine and does not cause nervousness nor ringing in head. Remember the full name and look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. 30c.

WORLD WAR VETERAN
LOSES MIND—RESULT OF HORRORS OF WORLD WAR

Ray Hathaway, World War veteran, who has been making his home at Rockdale the past year, has lost his mind and become violent, as a result of the horrors which he experienced while in service as a member of the 108th Machine Gun battalion. When one reads the following brief account of some of the experiences of this battalion while in service, there is little left to the imagination as to why a veteran should lose his mind—the wonder is that he ever emerged from the fire of battle with a semblance of reason remaining. The account is reprinted from The Rockdale Reporter of last week:

Among other incidents recited as to what the 108th Machine Gun men went through was brought out that this organization seemed to have been used several times as a "sacrifice bunch," having been sent up to the immediate firing line in the very thickest parts of the Argonne battles where the casualties were heaviest. The 108th was frequently mentioned in the press dispatches while the American troops were engaged in the summer or autumn of 1918 as having sustained very heavy losses, in one engagement alone the battalion's punishment amounted to more than 65 per cent of its personnel. At another time the battalion was on the battle line for three days almost entirely without food or water, this being mentioned in General Pershing's official report to War Department.

One incident related by Hathaway was that in which the 108th played a peculiarly prominent part, the mental alertness of a corporal and quick action taken saving the advancing infantry from practical annihilation, but at terrible cost to the machine gunners opposing the Germans. According to Hathaway's account the 108th had advanced to where there was a considerable open space which had evidently been purposely cleared by the enemy.

When the 108th debouched into this open space and began preparing for action, the Americans began dropping rapidly, most of their wounds being received in the legs below the knee. Most of the commissioned and non-commissioned officers were shot down in a few minutes. The men could neither see nor hear any sound of firing anyway near to them and the situation was fraught with mystery. The men were dropping all about the guns and in a few seconds more than half of them were out of commission. Acting "on their own," the gunners threw themselves as flat on the ground as possible, but still attempting to work their guns.

Then it was that a second corporal crawled to the sergeant and told the latter that he had figured it out the German machine gun bullets which were cutting the Americans to pieces were coming from underneath the ground in front of the Americans and from the sides of the cleared space; the corporal pointing to the fact that practically all the men shot had been hit below the knee and in many instances several bullets having hit each man in both legs. By this means they concluded that the German guns were buried in the ground, with the muzzles just below the surface, and could not be elevated. Action followed quickly. The Americans arose from the ground and began working their guns rapidly, firing into the ground a furious spray of machine bullets, until the dust was flying in a cloud from every inch of soil. In a short time this strategy brought results, for within three to five seconds, there were three heavy explosions at about forty to fifty feet from the American guns, the German guns, men and ammunition and the concrete emplacement walls flying into the air.

The spraying continued and in less time than it has taken to write this the whole space was cleared by the German gun-muzzles being hit by American bullets and the Germans blown to pieces. The Germans had placed forty or fifty machine gun nests, constructed of concrete, below the surface, the pits of thick cement retaining all sound of firing, while the German gun muzzles rested on concrete chutes which prevented any visible evidence by spouting the dust and sand.

So many millions of American bullets were discharged into the soil that every now and then one would hit a German muzzle just as the German gunner fired. This caused the German gun to jam and immediately explode.

It was the quick wit of the American soldier and his instant action in sacrificing himself in discharge of his duty, that defeated the purpose of the German commander who calculated to annihilate any force sent against those buried machine guns; the Germans evidently never supposing that the trick would be discovered in time by the advancing Americans, nor did he, perhaps, realize that the Americans had quickly learned that the most effective weapon to send against machine gun emplacements were more machine guns, and with more ammunition than the Germans had. Added to this quickly-learned fact was the reckless daring of the American soldier who would take any chance and never admitted that any obstacle was insurmountable or that some way could be found to circumvent the German's ingenuity.

In the few minutes elapsing between discovery of the underground machine guns and carrying out the Americans' counteraction, the 108th battalion elements thus engaged suffered terrible punishment and there were comparatively few men left on foot when the fight ended in victory for them. But they all realized this desperate situation when they arose and began working their guns against such ferocious odds, being actuated by one motive, and that was to sacrifice themselves and save their infantry buddies who were coming up behind. This is a scrap of history from the World War which has heretofore been unwritten, and gives a faint glimpse behind the veil to show to us what our boys went through in those five short but fierce months from June to November, 1918.

Are They Ever Safe.
Dr. Albion E. Hazard of Ottawa at a dinner during the railway surgeons' convention in Philadelphia, told a seashore story.

"A physician," he said, "was asked at Atlantic City if bathing was dangerous for old men."

"The physician, with a frown, replied.

"Very dangerous. My millionaire uncle, a widower of 71 years, started bathing on the fourth and yesterday ran off to New York with a summer girl of 18, and got married at the Little Church Around the Corner."—New York Tribune.

Scarce.

"You said you wouldn't marry the best man living."

"Maybe it's a case of sour grapes," confided Miss Cayenne. "It's highly improbable that I'd have the chance."—Washington Star.

How the Stairs Run.
A lawyer was cross-examining an old German about the position of the doors, windows and so forth, in a house in which a certain transaction occurred.

"And now, my good man," said the lawyer, will you be good enough to tell the court how the stairs run in the house?"

The German looked dazed and unsettled for a moment.

"How do the stairs run?" he queried.

"Yes, how do the stairs run?"

"Vell," continued the witness, after a moment's thought, "ven I am oop stairs dey run down, and ven I am down stairs, dey run up."—Birmingham Ledger.

First to establish the $10.90 price—Usco

THE makers of U. S. Tires made this announcement last November—

"Hereafter the price of the 30x3 1/2 'Usco' is $10.90."

The lowest price ever quoted on a tire of quality reputation and standard performance.

And now, with the opening of Spring, there seem to be quite a number of "New and Special tires" coming into the market in the $10.90 price range.

Perhaps you are wondering just what there can be either "new" or "special" about these tires.

It can't be the $10.90 price—"Usco" established that five months ago.

Nor quality reputation and standard performance—for it takes more than one full season for any new tire to demonstrate where it stands in quality and value.

With so many tires rushing into this $10.90 price

field (now that the season promises business from the American car-owner), it is worth remembering that "Usco" showed its good faith by announcing this price last fall.

The same intent to serve that has made "Usco" a standard value for years.

The "Usco" Tire was never better than it is today—with its established quality, its time-tested performance, and its price closely figured in tune with the times.

THE BROOKLYN BRIDGE

COMMENCED in 1870 and opened for traffic in May, 1883, this world-renowned structure cost the at-that-time unthinkable sum of $15,000,000. Its extreme length approximates a mile and a half and its overall width is 86 feet.

It spans the East river, which connects Long Island sound and New York bay between Manhattan island, on which New York city proper stands, and Brooklyn on Long island, and carries one of the densest and most heterogeneous streams of traffic in the world.

The caisson on the Manhattan side measures 102 by 172 feet and the foundation goes down 78 feet below high-water mark, while the tower measures 59 by 140 feet at high-water line, is 272 feet high and contains approximately 47,000 cubic feet of masonry.

The bridge is suspended from four cables, strung between the towers—the calculated weight of the structure and its load being in the neighborhood of 15,000 tons. Each cable is made up of 5,296 galvanized-steel, oil-coated wires wound into a single strand which measures 15 1/2 inches in diameter and is 3,578 1/2 feet long.

The center of the river span has a clear height of 135 feet above the surface of the river at high-water stage. The floor space of the bridge is divided into five avenues or passageways—the center space being arranged for foot passengers, on either side of which are spaces for trolley tracks, while each outside space is set aside for the accommodation of vehicular traffic.

FREE VACCINATION OFFER TO CANDIDATES ENTERING CITIZENS TRAINING CAMPS

The Standard is advised by Jas. T. Mann, local chairman for the Citizens' Military Training camp movement, that applicants for entrance into the training camps this summer should make application for entrance without further delay. It is anticipated that more than 20,000 applications will be received, and of this number but 3,000 can gain admission to the camps. Corps area headquarters are in San Antonio, with Fort Bliss, Camp Travis, Fort Logan and Fort Sill forming the four parts of the area.

Typhoid prophylaxis will be administered free to all accepted applicants. Last year the vaccinations were administered to students after they reached camp, but the plan this year is to have the local physicians administer the prophylaxis before the students leave their homes, thereby saving much time at the camp.

Army statistics show that 5,000,000 men received typhoid prophylaxis treatment during the World War and among them was not a single fatal case of typhoid fever. In 1898 during the Spanish American war there were 2,680 cases of typhoid and 268 deaths in an army division in Florida. At this time the typhoid vaccine had not been discovered. In 1911 there were only two cases of typhoid in the maneuver division in San Antonio and these two men had not been furnished with the prophylaxis. Regular Army officers here believe that it is a privilege to get the typhoid prophylaxis as it will insure against attack of fever. At the Eighth Corps Area Headquarters 15,000 doses of typhoid vaccine have already been received and will be distributed to the candidates for summer camps after they are accepted.

The Quinine That Does Not Affect the Head Because of its tonic and laxative effect, LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE is better than ordinary Quinine and does not cause nervousness nor ringing in head. Remember the full name and look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. 30c.

He Pinched 'Em.

The teacher wanted some plums in order to give an object lesson, and calling one of the small boys she gave him 10 cents and dispatched him to the fruit stand down on the corner.

"Before you buy the plums, Willie," she cautioned, "you had better pinch one or two to make sure they are ripe."

Little Willie flitted away. Soon he came back and smilingly put the bag on the teacher's desk.

"Oh, thank you Willie!" said the teacher, taking up the bag. "Did you pinch one or two, as I told you to do?"

"Did I? I pinched the whole bag full, and here's your 10 cents!"

True Detective Stories

VANISHING MAN

Copyright by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.
WHEN Gideon Rabshaw, chief of detectives of Cleveland, Ohio, was notified over the long distance wire from Buffalo, that the police of that city had captured the four men responsible for the murder of Patrolman Leroy Bouker, he smiled, shrugged his shoulders, and muttered: "Fine work! That much is out of the way!"

But, had Rabshaw only known it, his troubles were only beginning—for one of the bandits, a man by the name of Meaney, determined to fight for his life with every weapon that the law afforded him.

Securing an attorney familiar with the kinks and twists of criminal law, he quickly succeeded in manufacturing an alibi which appeared to be iron-clad. Half a dozen witnesses swore that, at the time Bouker was shot, Meaney had been in their company, and that it was physically impossible for him to reach the scene of the crime in time to take part in the murder.

Meaney's lawyer followed his client's instructions to "make the alibi good enough for me to have 24 hours clearance—once I'm out of Cleveland they'll never find me" and the district attorney, rather than imperil the entire case, decided to drop the proceedings against Meaney and concentrate his attack upon the other three men who had the foresight to provide themselves with capable legal assistance. Therefore, in spite of the pleadings of Chief Rabshaw, Meaney was released.

Less than twelve hours later, the chief of detectives secured evidence that riddled the carefully prepared alibi—evidence which proved that Meaney had been directly implicated in the murder. But it was too late. The gunman had vanished, apparently into thin air!

Spurred on by a realization that he had had the man he wanted, actually lodged in jail, only to have him slip through a loophole in the legal wall which surrounded him, Rabshaw determined to nail the escaped murderer if, as he stated, "it took ten years and every man on the force to do it."

The city of Cleveland was combed from one end to the other. Every known meeting place in the underworld was watched and raided and closed.

But the days lengthened into weeks, and the weeks into months, and still there was no trace of Meaney.

At night, when his day's work was finished, Rabshaw would relieve the man always on watch at the former Meaney home, for the chief had a theory that some day the fugitive's wife would provide the clue which would lead them to the man they wanted.

"Yes, I know it's hard work and tedious work," Rabshaw would say, as he took up his nightly vigil. "But there's no woman alive that can outwit us if we keep steadily at it."

As events proved, however, Rabshaw was wrong. The clue which led to the final capture came from another and unexpected source.

It was some eleven months after the Bouker murder—after Meaney had been traced to Toledo and Pittsburgh and St. Louis and Toronto and various points in between, the police always one jump behind him—that Rabshaw dropped into the Cleveland post-office to purchase a stamp. There was nothing unusual in the action itself. He had bought stamps at that window hundreds of times before. But there was something in the attitude of the woman ahead of him in line, something furtive about the manner in which she attempted to conceal the address of the letter which she carried, which made the chief of the detectives wonder what was wrong.

When he caught a flash of her face, half-hidden under a long black veil, he had an intuition that he knew her reason for trying to prevent anyone from seeing the letter. The woman was Meaney's sister-in-law.

As she purchased the stamp and bent forward to affix it, Rabshaw stepped swiftly out of line, and succeeded in catching a glimpse of the envelope. One glance was all he needed. The missive was addressed to John M. Oliver, at a number which Rabshaw knew was in a secluded and quiet part of Indianapolis.

Early the following morning Rabshaw took up his vigil outside the house where Oliver was supposed to be living. But no one answering to the description of the missing man made his appearance, so the Cleveland chief determined to force the issue by sending two of the local police in to find out if anyone by that name resided there. Scarcely had they reported that "Oliver lived there, but was out at the time," than Meaney strolled down the street and started to mount the steps of the house, totally unsuspecting of his danger. An instant later, Rabshaw was upon him, his automatic ready for action, but the fugitive, realizing the folly of opposition to superior force, threw up his hands and surrendered.

"You've got me," he admitted. "Just when I thought I was safe, too. How'd you manage it?"

"A little matter of a postage stamp," said Rabshaw, and it wasn't until after he had commenced his life term in the Ohio penitentiary, that Meaney discovered the loophole which had enabled Rabshaw to trace him when every other means had failed.

LOCAL BRIEFS

J. Meers came in from Concho county Wednesday on a brief business visit, and reported a thrilling experience the day before while attempting to go from San Angelo to the location of the Texas-Meers Oil Co. well on the Shultz ranch. When within a mile of their destination, they drove into a small creek and their Buick Six lodged fast upon a boulder. So rapidly was the water rising in the creek that before the car could be backed off the obstruction, the water was pouring in over the seats of the car. The occupants waded out to land, and to keep from being washed away in the swift current, they held on to a steel cable stretched across the creek as an anchor for a wolf-proof fence. Just as they were about out of the swiftest water, a stroke of lightning knocked them loose from the cable, and caused a wild scramble for safety. Fortunately, the water rose no higher, and a truck was secured at the standard rig, with which the Buick was hauled to a point of safety. Mr. Meers left yesterday on his return to the Concho county well. As soon as the weather and roads permit, operations will be resumed on both the Lohn well and the well in Concho county.

It Didn't Stay "Put."

A district school teacher had great difficulty in making her pupils say "put" instead of "putten." During a grammar lesson she sent one of the pupils to the board to write a sentence. The boy made the same mistake. The teacher called on a small girl for corrections.

"Please, mum, he went and putten 'putten' where he should have putten 'put.'"

"QUEEN OF SHEBA" AT LYRIC THEATRE MONDAY AND TUESDAY NIGHTS

"Queen of Sheba," the William Fox super-special announced for exhibition at the Lyric theatre next Monday and Tuesday nights, is said to be spectacularly magnificent and dramatically superb. It leaves one gasping with amazement and admiration. The marriage of the Queen of Sheba to King Arnaud, her arrival at the court of King Solomon, the day of racing and games, the thrilling chariot race between Sheba and Princess Vashiti, the arrival of David, the little Prince of Sheba; the battle between the forces of King Solomon and those of Adonijah, his recreant brother; the farewell of the Queen of Sheba to King Solomon—all are scenes never to be forgotten.

Betty Blythe is altogether charming in the exacting role of the Queen. Fritz Lieber is impressive as King Solomon, and all other members of the notable cast give excellent accounts of themselves.

Reserved seats are now on sale at the Trigg Drug Co., and it is advisable to secure reservations early, as there is certain to be a big demand.
