FAIR BOOSTERS WILL TOUR COUNTY TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY NEXT WEEK

WILL HOLD MEETINGS AT VARIOUS TOWNS IN COUNTY TO INTEREST CITIZENS IN FALL EXHIBIT AND TO ORGANIZE LOCAL CO-OPERATIVE COMMITTEES.

For the purpose of arousing the greatest possible interest in the McCulloch County Exhibit to be held in Brady Tuesday and Wednesday, October 24 and 25th, it was decided Tuesday at a meeting of the Central Fair committees to tour the county, and to hold meetings with the citizens wherever possible, in order to get the various committees organized and set to working on their exhibits for the big show. A two-day itinerary for Tuesday and Wednesday of next week has so far been mapped out, and a tour of other sections of the county will be planned in the near future. The Booster bunch will work on a schedule that will give time for explaining the Exhibit plans fully at each point, and will assist the communities in getting their committees organized wherever possible.

The Executive Committee of the McCulloch County Co-Operative Exhibit makes a special plea that the citizens of every community turn out at these meetings and to actively co-operate with the boosters in making the Exhibit a great success. The main purpose of the Exhibit is, of course, to promote the welfare and interests of McCulloch county and her citizens, and with the liberal and hearty co-operation of the citizens in every community, the 1922 Exhibit can be made an even greater and more universal success than was the splendid Exhibit held in 1920.

The following is the itinerary of the Booster party, together with the schedule, which will be adhered to as nearly as is possible:

Tuesday, October 3rd.

Dinner
Millers'w, 2:30 p. m.
Eden, 3:30 p. m.
Eden, 4:30 p. m.
Melvin, 5:00 p. m.
Millers'w, 6:30 p. m.

It is hoped that a large delegation of Brady boosters will join in these tours, and a cordial invitation is extended business men and citizens to join in. Everyone who intends going, should advise E. B. Williams or F. A. Knox, stating whether they will furnish a car for the trip, and how many passengers they can accommodate.

The time remaining to prepare for the Exhibit is growing very limited, consequently the need for good work both on the part of the Brady Exhibit boosters, and the boosters in each every community is imperative. Thru hearty and unqualified cooperation on the part of every citizen, the Exhibit can be made the greatest thing ever staged in McCulloch county, and thereby practically assure the Exhibit becoming a permanent feature and an annual affair in this county. Brady boosters, let's go! McCulloch county boosters, let's get-together, and put it over big. Co-operation is the key-note!

LUNCHEON CLUB ENJOYS SPECIAL PROGRAM AT THE NOON MEETING THURSDAY

The Brady Luncheon club yesterday varied the usual program of combined social and business meeting, which regularly marks the weekly noon luncheon at the Queen hotel, by enjoying an impromptu program given by a number of honored guests. Following the luncheon, Chairman Sam Hughes introduced the visiting guests: Miss Mackie Lee Neal, Miss Jennie Banister, Mrs. Chas. Williams, Mr. Arthur Awalt and Mr. John Wyche of Waco. In addition to the regular song chorus by the body, a quartette composed of Messrs. J. A. Holton, C. A. Trigg, J. B. Smith and W. D. Jordan rendered one of the club songs in such acceptable fashion as to win a hearty encore. The chairman then called upon Miss Neal for a reading, to which she very graciously responded with "The Jiner," and then responded to the tumultuous applause with a clever encore. Miss Banister responded to the chairman's invitation with one of her always-appreciated piano solos, and Mrs. Williams responded with a solo. Both Miss Banister and Mrs. Williams were heartily encored for their enjoyable renditions, and made gracious response. Arthur Awalt presented the needs of the B. H. S. foot ball team, their value to the school and to the town

AMERICANS ON TURKISH FRONT

Uncle Sam shakes a positive head and says we will not be drawn into the European tangle caused by Turk victories over the Greeks and the massacre at Smyrna. However, American representatives are at work to report developments and help in relief work. The photo shows Admiral Mark L. Bristol, with his wife, and Davis C. LEGION TO SEEK CARNEGIE MEDAL FOR GREEN CRISP

An effort will be made by Elijah F. Allin Post of the American Legion to secure a Carnegie medal for the family of Greenville Crisp, in recognition of the supreme sacrifice made by him the early part of last week, when he lost his life in a futile attempt to save L. J. Shugart from asphyxiation by poisonous fumes at the bottom of a shallow well. The matter of securing the medal has been voluntarily taken up by Joe T. Ogden, post adjutant, who has been conferring with legion headquarters at Dallas upon the subject. Mr. Ogden is in receipt of a letter from A. J. Reinhart, Department Adjutant of the American Legion at Dallas, advising that the matter be taken up direct with the Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Carnegie Institute in New York City. Documentary evidence, supported by affidavits of eye-witnesses, and newspaper accounts of the tragedy will be submitted, together with such other data requested or required. That the heroic act of Greenville Crisp is deserving of a medal, and an endowment as well, if such can be had, everyone familiar with his heroic self-sacrifice is agreed. Responding to a call for help, Crisp rushed to the rescue. L. J. Shugart lay at the bottom of a 25-foot open

12 IMPORTANT LAWS PASSED BY LAST CONGRESS

Washington, Sept. 22—Congress has adjourned after continuous session for more than 18 months—the duration of the Harding administration. The political "open season" has arrived. Outline of Legislation. During the past eighteen months, Congress has passed 12 important laws, an outline of which is as follows:

1. Ratification of the seven arms conference treaties.
2. Enactment of the emergency tariff and the Fordney-McCumber permanent protective tariff.
3. Enactment of the executive budget system, whereby the administration claims a saving of more than $300,000,000 in expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923.
4. Establishment of the allied debt funding commission to fund and fix the time of payment of the $11,000,000,000 allied debt incurred during the World War.
5. Passage of the new revenue act, completely revising the war revenue acts.
6. The soldier bonus bill, "interesting" now merely as inspiring a record of sympathies of individual Congressmen and Senators by World War veterans.
7. Consolidation of the departments and bureaus engaged in the relief of the disabled World War veterans.
8. Enactment of agricultural credits relief legislation, authorizing the War Finance Corporation to extend $1,000,000,000 in credit to aid in carrying and disposing of agricultural products and to provide credit for agricultural purposes.
9. Passage of the immigration law restricting the number of nationalists of any country to 3 per cent of the number who were in the United States at the time of the 1910 census.
10. Enactment of the Cappers-Tincher grain futures law, which regulates trading on grain exchanges to prevent undue manipulation and corners.
11. Passage of acts providing for the maintenance of an adequate army and navy, with all appropriation bills for their maintenance.
12. May Be Special Session. Perhaps the outcome of the elections will determine whether the President will call Congress back for a special session in November to take up the ship subsidy and certain railroad legislation designed to prevent recurrences of the recent rail strike. Should Congress return for a special session in November, it would probably remain here for the opening of the regular session, the first Monday in December.

with such convincing logic that the club voted unanimously to support the team in their efforts to give Brady first-class representation upon the athletic field, and a committee composed of Messrs. C. A. Trigg, W. D. Jordan and H. F. Schwenker was appointed to assist the team in the sale of season tickets, through which the team hopes to finance their activities this season.

Mr. Wyche, a visiting Rotarian, spoke in terms of highest praise of the Rotarian principles, ranking the Rotary club next to the churches in the good they were accomplishing. Incidentally, he took occasion to compliment the luncheon club for the splendid Rotarian spirit, which so manifestly dominated the body, and predicted for them the greatest of success in their endeavors.

well, overcome by poisonous fumes from an explosive charge set off in the bottom of the well. Without a thought of his own personal safety, and with but the one idea of effecting a rescue before the spark of life should have fled from the stricken victim, Crisp asked that he be lowered into the well. His heroic effort was in vain, however, and almost in the same minute that he became enveloped in the deadly fumes, his life was snuffed out, and he fell prostrate alongside of the man whose rescue he had attempted.

Brady citizens will unite in endorsing the action of the American Legion in seeking recognition of this hero's noble act, and will lend whatever assistance and encouragement is necessary in its consummation.

INDIAN STORIES; EARLY-DAY REMINISCENCES.

Chapter X.
Wonder, Oreg., Sept. 15.
Editor Brady Standard:
In my last letter I made mention of the early settlers of McCulloch county going by a nickname instead of their right name. John Miller was called "Cuffy John," and Joe Miller was called "Smoky Joe." But these being the youngest of the Miller boys I think that they escaped being shot up by the Indians.
But to return to our story. From some cause my father took a route somewhat north of the direct course from Bell to McCulloch county, traveling thru Coryell and Erath counties and coming in via Richland Springs. (There was no town at Richland then.) On Richland creek we found another 100-acre pre-emption. We stopped on it long enough to build a stock corral and then decided to go on. We traveled a very dim and seldom-used road from Richland Springs to the mouth of Brady Creek. And there while going down the rocky hill me smashed a rear wagon wheel and were compelled to camp for a few days until we could refill the wheel with new spokes. And Oh! my! Oh, my! Talk about a hunter's paradise! The antelope and deer went in droves of from five to seventy-five. And Brady creek and the San Saba river were literally aswarm with wild geese, duck, and wild turkey, to say nothing of squirrel, quail and fish. When we got our wagon mended we came on to the upper end of Long Valley where we made camp. There were two houses in Long Valley then—one at or near to each end of the valley. This is where we saw our first prairie dogs. When we heard them barking we thought it was frogs. The man and woman at the house told us that the coyotes would come in sight of the house where they could watch them lie down in the grass until the young prairie dogs would come out of the holes and get a few yards away, and then the wolves would dart in between them and the hole and catch them as they tried to get back. The next day we had trouble finding all our stock, so we came over the ridge into Big Valley where were two families living—Mr. Blair and Mr. Nelson Willis near to the San Saba river. We came on upon the north side of the river until we arrived about where the Brady and Voca crossing now is. There we camped and a convoy of quails huddled up together—I suppose for me to shoot at, which I did, killing eight of them. My father went down the bank to the river and in a few minutes caught a 14-pound blue catfish; and while he was there a big gobbler flew across the river just below him and went into the woods right where your Superintendent W. M. Deans was afterwards born and raised. (Now Mrs. Jiggs, if you don't wish to hear any more about the "gobbla," just hold your ears). As soon as we thought he was fixed for the night, we went in search of him and my uncle found him high up in a tree and shot him out. He was a large one and in his craw were eighteen whole pecans. This was the first I knew that a turkey could swallow a pecan. So we had fowl and fish several days to come.

The Standard of Comparison
A Perfect Companion for Work or Play
The 1923 Six Cylinder Sport Touring—$1675
Equally suited to the rigors or everyday business driving and to carefree outing tours and social motoring, the new six cylinder sport touring combines the well known Buick sturdiness and dependability with a sharpness and sparkling beauty that mark it as a distinctively smart motor car.
Rich, contrasting colors, set off with brightly polished nickel radiator and fittings heighten the sweeping lines of the long wheelbase and body. The roomy seats are upholstered in fine embossed leather, and every driving and riding comfort and facility are provided. Clock, speedometer, cigar lighter, gasoline and oil gauges, lighting and ignition switches and ammeter, long, nickle-plated gear shift lever, windshield wiper and rear vision mirror are among the convenient details that are standard equipment.
New rear spring suspension, and snubbers on the front springs have brought greater riding ease while the famous Buick Valve-in-Head engine has been so refined as to increase its traditional power and dependability.

BRADY, TEXAS, Sept. 29, 1922

HONEST INJUN.

In the School of Hard Knocks Carpenter, idol of the French fight fans, was delivered the k. o. at the hands of a Senegalese negro last Saturday night. It takes something more than science and skill to "bust" through solid ivory.

AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION.

As a striking example of a case in point where an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, there is the dust nuisance with which Brady has contended for lo, these several months. The clouds of dust that befog the air every time a breeze stirs is an unmitigated nuisance and annoyance, to say the least. To the customary liberal supply of dust, always prevalent in dry times, there is added manifold by reason of the many wagons and trucks at present bringing to market cotton and other farm products, as well as the autos and vehicles carrying shoppers and visitors to town.

The dust evil not only is greatly annoying to residents and town visitors, but places a great amount of work upon all merchants and business men, whose stocks, offices, fixtures and quarters are continually receiving a fresh coat of dust. All of which neither adds value to the articles thus treated, nor contributes to a genial disposition on the part of the owner or occupant.

The city council inaugurated the commendable plan, a few months ago, of taking the street sprinkler in charge, but after a short trial period, eliminated the same because the service was not up to expectations. It is needless to say, that however limited the service might have been, it was a decided improvement over no service at all, and therefore unquestionably worth everything it cost. But Brady and Brady citizens can get service such as they can commend and compliment, if they will but go at the matter in the right way. The question of a few dollars additional cost should not be permitted to deprive us of first class service.

Let's get together and inaugurate a street sprinkler service that will leave no regrets; that will keep the dust devils reduced to a minimum; that will make Brady a clean, health-

PAY-UP PERIOD AT HAND.

Pay Up period is at hand—October 1st to 15th is to be observed as "Pay-Up" dates, not only locally, but thru-out the land. It is house-cleaning period, when every man is, or should be, anxious to both pay the debts he owes and to have those he owes receive their pay. In the universal observance of these dates is to be foreseen a business revival that will result to the ultimate good of every citizen. You pay me, I pay my neighbor, my neighbor pays the folks he owes, and the money comes to me from those other folks who owe me.

One dollar does not pay a dollar's worth of debt alone, but that one dollar can be made to pay a hundred, or several hundred dollars worth of debts, if it is kept circulating. When people hold fast to their dollars—then it is that business stagnates, and we are prone to cry out "Hard Times." Keep your dollars moving in the direction of those folks who have extended you accommodation when you needed it, and you are performing your duty as a citizen, and as a man deserving of credit.

There is scarcely a man or an individual but what owes someone something. If each and everyone of us will but make an earnest effort to liquidate our debts as far as we possibly can, then those who owe us, will also pay and thereby provide us with additional ammunition to pay other debts we had not even hoped to reach.

Many debts are allowed to run on and on, not so much through inability to pay, as through carelessness and neglect. Let October 1-15th be a period during which none will be thoughtless or careless of their debts, but instead, take pride in giving thought to others, whose need of money may be as great or greater than our own.

And during "Pay-Up" week, The Standard hopes to be remembered as well as are other merchants and business men. A year's subscription is not a large sum, but several hundreds of subscription do comprise quite a neat amount that we would like to pass along to the folks to whom we are indebted. So, if you are thoughtful enough during the next two weeks to bring in your subscription dues, be assured we'll receive them with a smile of gladness that will do you more good than the jingle of the coins in your own pocket—and that's saying a lot at that!

THE RADIO POST.

In casting about for a title for the newspaper which they wanted to establish in Fredericksburg, Messrs. Wm. Dietel and A. R. Gold selected the name of "The Radio Post," thereby achieving the distinction of probably the most up-to-the-minute and unique title in America. Mr. Dietel was formerly editor of the Fredericksburg Standard, while Mr. Gold was formerly postmaster of that live city. Needless to say, both have a large acquaintance, both among the citizenship of their county, and among the craft. That they are thorough-going in their endeavor and that they enjoy the confidence of the citizenship and that their enterprise merits approval, is evidenced in the initial issue of the Radio Post last week, and which received a patronage that must have been extremely gratifying to the founders. While none of the ads were larger than a quarter of a page, yet the large number carried would indicate that every line of business and every store in Fredericksburg was represented and included. Another unique feature of the new publication was that the editorials were all written in the first person, and the thought expressed placed in the mouth of the Radio Post itself. Of seven-column size, and with twelve pages filled with live advertising and news matter, the new paper made a most favorable impression, and appears launched upon a long and successful career.

In their creditable endeavor, the publishers are to be congratulated, and our best wishes are extended together with the hope that complete success may attend the venture.

THIS ERROR SHOULD BE CORRECTED.

In an editorial calling attention to the fact that it is a delusion to think we can safely postpone bringing our State laws into line with the provisions of the Federal highway act, inasmuch as the failure of one county to maintain a road built by Federal aid would cut off Federal aid for further construction in the State immediately, the Dallas News makes one statement which is so erroneous and gives an impression so false that we hope it will lose no time in calling it to the attention of its readers.

The statement we refer to reads as follows: "We have something more than six years within which to confer on the State Highway Commission the authority which the Federal act requires that it shall have, and during that time we shall be entitled to our pro rata of all funds allotted by the Federal Government."

Recently we called attention to the fact that the News was in error in making the statement that we have five years in which to do this. Now the News changes its statement so as to make it appear that we have even longer than that. "Something more than six years," says the News.

If the News will consult the Congressional Record of June 3 (pages 8817 and 8818), it will find the conference report on this measure which contains the amendment extending the time limit, which was three years in the previous act. This amendment provides that the act approved Nov. 9, 1921, shall be amended to read as follows:

"That in any State where the existing constitution or laws will not permit the State to provide revenues for the construction, reconstruction or maintenance of highways, the Secretary of Agriculture shall continue to approve projects for said State until five years after November 9, 1921, if he shall find that said State has complied with the provisions of this act insofar as its existing constitution and laws will permit."

The law says "five years after Nov. 9, 1921." That is, four years from Nov. 9, 1922. It can not, therefore, be "something more than six years" from Sept. 21, 1922.

However, let us hasten to add that the News points out that the danger of having Federal aid for the construction of highways in Texas cut off is imminent rather than remote, and that "a condition already exists which gives the Federal authorities ample justification for directing that until existing roads are put in a satisfactory state of repair no future allotments of Federal funds shall be used in building new roads." That's the main point. It is practically impossible for the State Government to insure that the provisions of the Federal highway act will be complied with by the counties insofar as its existing constitution and laws will permit" and the practical fact is that the provisions of the act are not being complied with.

But because there are those who are willing to risk this danger, and who say that the counties should be induced to comply with the law, it is important to keep in mind also that the Federal act provides that the changes in the State laws must be made within four years from the 9th day of next November. That is only three years and eight months from the adjournment of the regular session of the Legislature, and inasmuch as an amendment to the Constitution must be voted on by the people in the meantime, that is not any too long. For this reason we trust that the News will call the attention of its readers to the fact that its statement that we have "something more than six years" to make the changes is an error.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

GOVERNMENT CROP ESTIMATES.

The United States Department of Agriculture in making its periodical estimates of cotton production is usually a month or so behind conditions and, for that reason, its estimates are not reliable as a trade barometer and tend to bear down rather than bear up the price of cotton.

The following report of the cotton crop of Nueces county, September 16, applies to conditions in Coleman county and perhaps to conditions in most all cotton counties of the State. The report says: "The cotton crop in Nueces county today is much less than 25,000 bales while 90 days ago the indications were that it would be 100,000 bales or more. More than 30,000 acres of new ground was prepared for cultivation this year with the major part of it to go into cotton. The cotton came up well as the ground had all been properly prepared. Three months ago a letter stand or prettier cotton could be found no where. "The reports went out that Nueces county was seeking the state record this year and that from all indications the cotton crop would exceed all others in the history of the county. There was lots of rain, too much rain. Some of the farmers lost control of their fields. Then all of a sudden it quit raining and no more rain fell until just recently and only showers have fallen this month. This lack of rain played havoc with the cotton situation, not only in Nueces county, but in this entire section. Many fields have already been plowed under, getting ready to plant for another season."—Coleman Democrat-Voice.

LOOKING FOR GOOD POINTS.

Well, there is one thing you can say in defense of the Ku Klux Klan. Its support-of-the-ministry movement gets a few of its members in a church who might not avail themselves of the opportunity under any other circumstances.—Lometa Reporter.

The trouble with the concealed kusses is that they manipulate the whole show while they are present, and then leave just before the sermon and services are resumed.

THE TWO MIST BOYS.

Mr. Pess I. Mist, who says: The country is going to the eternal bon-wows. Strikes are leading to revolution and we'll soon see buckets of blood running in our streets. Women are thinking more of pet dogs than of children and before long we'll issue rain checks with every marriage license. Gas buggies, golf clubs and jazz parties will make us a nation of paupers in another generation. Girls know more about home-brew than they do about cooking. There's too much rain in the South and it's too dry in the North and if the crops are good, prices will be so low it won't pay to haul the stuff to town. We've got to the place where more people steal their living than earn it and churches close down during the baseball season. Politics is rotten and getting worse and we are going to have another war that will make the last one look like a meeting of the Ladies' Aid society. Most of our population will freeze to death this winter because there won't be coal enough to keep them warm. The only place business is good is in the movies and the divorce courts. Rents are too high for decent living and cemetery lots cost so much a fellow can't afford to die. The future certainly is black!

Mr. Opt I. Mist, who says: This is the greatest country on earth. These strikes don't amount to anything except in the newspapers and before long everybody will be working except when they are joy-riding in their automobiles. Women get prettier every day; the more you see of them the more you like them and it's getting so you can see about all of them there is to see. Our men are working harder and saving more money than ever. It won't be long until every family will own its home and have a garden and a flivver in the back yard. Our girls can put more jazz in their housekeeping than their mothers could. A little rain here and there doesn't mean anything and we are going to have a bumper crop this year that will make life worth living. Folks are discovering churches are good for something besides funerals and missionary collections. There are more honest men in the world today than ever before and politics is cleaner. It won't be long until Europe settles down and we'll forget war and love one another, except, maybe the fellow who runs the lawnmower at 5 o'clock in the morning. Business is getting better, money buys more each year and there is more to buy. The future certainly looks bright!—Exchange.

"It's the little things that count. The American Automobile Association points out a few of them, in an article on "Courtesy on the Highway. Real automobile courtesy demands that we give the other fellow his share of the road; that we dim our lights when meeting another car at night; that we recognize the fact that the man behind us is blowing for the road, wants to get by and is not challenging us to race—in short, means being agreeable in all these little things that go so far toward avoiding friction." Selfishness is the guiding principle of those who violate the traffic regulations, and selfishness is one of the most serious of sins, comments the Brownwood Bulletin.

Dinner Party.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry N. Tipton entertained with a dinner party on last Saturday evening at 7:00 o'clock. Cut flowers were used for a centerpiece on the dining table. A very elaborate dinner was served the following invited guests: Messrs. and Mesdames T. Gray, Gibbon T. Roberts, Wilson D. Jordan, L. W. Belamy.

After the dinner, the party enjoyed a series of games of "42."

Five Hundred Club.

Mrs. G. C. Kirk entertained on last Friday afternoon for members and guests of the Five Hundred club, members present including Mesdames J. S. Anderson, Ed Campbell, B. L. Malone, P. E. Melton, C. T. White, G. R. White. Guests were Mesdames Wm. D. Cargill, M. C. Wolfe, Herbert L. Wood, Jack Ragsdale, Bailey Jones, Wiley W. Walker.

In the series of "500," Mrs. Anderson was awarded club prize, and Mrs. Cargill, guest prize.

The hostess served a salad course. Mrs. Lindley entertains for the next meeting of the club.

Forty-Two Club.

Members of the Forty-Two club met on Tuesday afternoon in enjoyable session at the home of Mrs. F. M. Richards, Mrs. Clyde Hall being hostess upon the occasion. Members attending included Mesdames N. A. Collier, Ira Mayhew, J. E. Granville, B. L. Hughes, Edwin Broad, Wilson D. Jordan, N. G. Lyle, Jr., Virgil Jones, C. Crawford, Marion Rice, Evans J. Adkins, Wm. D. Cargill, H. N. Tipton; Miss Mozelle Glenn. Guests were Mesdames O. F. Bates, Rockett Hall.

Following an enjoyable series of games, the hostess served refreshments of cream and cake.

Mrs. Wilson Jordan entertains the next meeting of the club.

Sixth Birthday Anniversary.

Yantis McCollum celebrated his sixth birthday anniversary on last Friday afternoon, a number of little friends having been invited to help him observe the momentous occasion. The hours were spent enjoyably in various games. Baskets of flowers adorned the table, where the birthday cake with its six candles was the center of attraction. Pineapple ice and cake was served, and balloons were presented as favors.

Numbered among the guests were little Misses Drusilla and Rose Mary Davidson, Alice Lindley, Loudie Marie, Helen, Clara and Frances Schwenker, Betty Brannum, Phoebe Graham, Christine Jones, Elizabeth and Frances Sparks, Roylene Erickson; Messrs. Gerald Mann, John Francis Ogden, Ed Campbell.

Assisting Mrs. McCollum in entertaining - the little folks were Mesdames W. R. Davidson, O. W. Argo of Dallas, Harry F. Schwenker, R. W. Turner, W. J. Yantis.

Many pretty gifts were left by the guests, and upon departing each wished for their host many returns of the happy occasion.

Master Fred Wulff Celebrates.

Eight birthday anniversaries form quite a procession of milestones, as all will agree, and Master Fred Wulff decided the occasion warranted appropriate observance, so he invited quite a number of friends to join with him Wednesday afternoon in a birthday celebration. The day proved ideal for an out-door party, and the lawn was the scene of a happy gathering of little folks, each of whom enjoyed the occasion to the fullest extent. Towards the close of the evening, the birthday cake, with its eight candles, claimed the attention of the guests, who incidentally enjoyed refreshments of cake and cream cones.

Numbered among the guests who gathered at Master Wulff's bidding were Masters Bill Gay Kinnerly, Nolie Brown Embry, Ed Campbell, Hugh White Calvert, Wayne Sellers, Paul Mann, Eugene Tulk, John Francis Ogden, Malcolm Jones, Gardner Broad, Joe Medlin, John Knox, Geo. Carrithers, James Jones, Forest Jones, Billy Moffatt; Little Misses Christine Jones, Phoebe Graham, Drusilla Davidson, Betty Brannum, Loudie Marie Schwenker, Lucille Womack, Barbara Baker, Mary Wood, Nance Bauhof, Roylene and Floy Delle Erickson, Marietta and Mary Louise Sessions, Ruby Wood.

Eleventh Birthday.

Master Barnes Collier last Saturday afternoon celebrated the passing of his eleventh milestone in life in most appropriate fashion. Quite a number of young friends were invited to come and join him in a birthday party, and the afternoon was spent in enjoyable fashion in playing various games.

Pink and white was the color scheme used in the decorations.

The birthday cake, which formed the center of a wreath of flowers, incidentally formed the centerpiece on the dining table. Pink ribbons attached to the place cards for the boys and blue ribbons attached to those of the girls, were used to draw forth the favors—tiny bottles of perfume for the Misses and marbles for the boys.

The cutting of the birthday cake, in which were contained a ring, a dime, a bachelor button and a thimble, afforded great amusement to the assembled guests, Mildred Jones finding the ring, Bernadine Whiteman the thimble, Harper Sparks the bachelor button and Barnes Sparks the dime. Refreshments of cake and cream were served.

Numerous gifts were presented the host upon the happy occasion, and many were the good wishes extended.

Numbered as guests were Masters Harper and Marshall Sparks, Billy and A. G. Bodenhamer, Forest Jones, Bill Gay Kinnerly, Hugh Cox, Jim Adkins, Harold Wayne Anderson, Quentin Glover, Chas. Schaege, Cecil Conner, Ray Taylor, Abner Trigg; Misses Hazel Aline Branscum, Camie Helen Carrithers, Eloise Gray, Sydney Richards Hall, Mayfair Woosley, Mozelle Baker, Mildred Jones, Lucille Budren.

Celebrates Birthday Anniversary.

Little Miss Drusilla Davidson was hostess at a very pretty party on last Tuesday afternoon, in celebration of her sixth birthday anniversary. A number of little friends were invited and in the childhood plays and enjoyments made memorable the happy occasion.

A color scheme of pink and white was observed, and a centerpiece of pink roses was used on the dining table, which, with the birthday cake and lighted candles to denote the birthday anniversaries of the little hostess, was most beautiful and attractive. The color motif was still further carried out in the refreshments of strawberry cream and cake, and pink and white candy mints. Dainty place cards marked the place of each little guest as they assembled for the refreshments. Balloons were used as favors, and crepe paper caps added life and color to the merry scene, as well to the happiness of the little folks.

Numbered as guests were little Misses Elizabeth Parker, Mary Louise Walker, Betty Brannum, Phoebe Graham, Roylene Erickson, Loudie Marie Schwenker, Charlotte Strickland; Masters John Francis Ogden, Sam, Jr., and Yantis McCollum, Ed Campbell.

Numbers of dainty gifts were presented the little hostess, and many were the good wishes extended her by the departing guests.

Assisting Mrs. Davidson in entertaining the little guests were Mesdames Wiley Walker and Ed Campbell.

Thursday evening when they entertained with a picnic from 5:00 o'clock until 8:00 at the Jordan summer house in compliment to the Seniors. Supper, consisting of everything good to eat, was served by the Juniors, the young ladies furnishing the lunch, while the boys provided the soda pop.

After supper, Miss Mae Beakley, sponsor for the Juniors and Miss Eleanor Hensley, sponsor for the Seniors, assisted in entertaining and in directing various games which quickly passed the time away. A most enjoyable time was reported by all attending.

Before the party broke up, the Juniors extended an invitation to the Seniors to hike to Jordan summer camp with them for a bacon fry a month from that day, and, needless to say, the invitation was very gladly accepted by the Seniors.

Numbered among those providing the picnic occasion were the following members of the Junior class: Misses Frances Armstrong, Rachel Wilkerson, Oma Willoughby, Mary Jo Adkins, Maurine Wolf, Mary Lyle Vincent, Gertrude Gahagan, Mable Wilder, and Miss Beakley, class sponsor; Messrs. J. D. Miller, Lackey Abernathy, Walter Adkins.

Guests of the evening included the following Seniors: Misses Katharine Ballou, Florence Bates, Gertrude Trigg, Viola Tom, Dorothy Ogden, and Miss Hensley, class sponsor; Messrs. Dan Epps, Franz Taylor, Arthur Awalt, Earl Deans, George Dutton, James Snider, Glenn Ricks.

Gentle Reminder.

Just as a trolley car started, two women rushed from opposite sides of the street, only to meet and greet each other in the middle of the track. The car stopped, but they paid no attention to the motorman's clanging signal.

Then he leaned from the vestibule and said in his sweetest tones:

"Pardon me, ladies. But may the conductor and I bring you out two chairs?"

In Texas the short cotton crop forced a large number of country negroes to the cities. One of these applied for a job at one of the large employment agencies.

"There is a job open at the Eagle Laundry," said the man behind the desk. "Want it?"

The applicant shifted uneasily from one foot to the other.

"Tell you how it is, boss," he said finally. "I sure does want a job mighty bad, but de fack is, I ain't nevah washed a eagle."

MILLIONS IN BUFFALO HERD

Indian Fighter Told of "Reviewing" Quadruped Army That Had Front of Ten Miles.

The famous Indian fighter General Maus, who lost an eye in border skirmishes with renegades and received the congressional medal of honor for gallantry in an Apache campaign, told me about seventeen years ago of a dramatic incident in which he participated in the middle '70s. As a young lieutenant, with an orderly and two Indian scouts, he was trailing the great Nez Perce Chief Joseph in his flight from Oregon to Canada.

The American scouting party came into an open prairie country in Idaho. They paused on a tiny hillock, scanning the horizon. The Indians dropped, ears to ground. They signaled. Presently all with ears down heard it distinctly, the hump, hump, hump of rhythmic beat, and far off, of a mighty lost marching.

Buffalo! They came into view; they approached. General Maus described the great spread of that quadruped army, at least five miles wide each way, making a ten-mile front. The scouts fired their carbines to deflect the avalanche so that the leaders would turn aside and not come directly over the hillock. One horse early reared, broke away, fled and was engulfed in the herd. Two of the other horses uttered queer, loud, whining squeals, and all of them trembled in abject terror with yielding knees and reared repeatedly.

For four solid hours that herd kept coming on and passing. We figured the possible numbers, with the progress at about ten miles an hour and the herd closely massed. It went into millions, General Maus related it as the most amazing experience he ever had witnessed. He had described it to Frederic Remington and had offered to guide him to the spot and describe details, but Remington seemed not sufficiently interested in that buffalo stampede as an epic in American life that long since has vanished.

Says Girls Have Improved.
Howard Chandler Christy, the artist, has a different idea about American girls.

"What do I think of the changes in the American girl?" he repeated. "Well, I like her better today than ever. With freer clothing and freer thinking girls have improved physically and mentally. Think of those corseted, big-hipped, rather stiff girls of twenty-five years ago and the uncorseted, free young persons of today! The American girl has not been hurt in the least by her broader education and knowledge.

"To whom should one lay the blame for the flapper?" he was asked.
"Well, I have noticed that whenever a sweet, refined, innocent, simple girl enters a room filled with flappers, all the men make for the sweet young girl at once."

"Yes, and then—?"
"And then they immediately proceed to make a flapper of her!" he replied.—Alice Rohe in the Minneapolis News.

New English Wing.

A new type of wing which is of the utmost importance to aviation has just been perfected in England after more than ten years of experimenting. The new wing is built with the object of increasing the lifting power of machines, and the first tests have been satisfactory. An airplane fitted with the new wing, seen from a distance, looks like a huge seagull with wing tips depressed. Instead of two rigid, horizontal straight planes, a single rigid plane is used, which, from the center, curves outwards and downwards to the tips. No fabric is used in the manufacture of the wing. Its surface is of mahogany veneer, thus making it better able to withstand all kinds of weather.

Meteorology.

For the last three years a course in weather science applied to aeronautics has been given in the University of California at the southern ranch, located in Los Angeles. The present year at the university started with a large enrollment of freshmen and sophomores and bids fair to eclipse the preceding years in interest and accomplishment. The majority of the members of the class are students in the engineering department of the university. Sixty-nine members are taking the course in aeronautic meteorology. The object of the course is to make the students thoroughly conversant with the principles and practical application of meteorology applied to aeronautics.

"Flu" is a Bad One.

The invisible, unidentified organism or germ that causes "flu" can pass through a stone wall.

"Flu" itself is the most mysterious disease in existence.

So says Dr. William H. Park of New York city's health department.

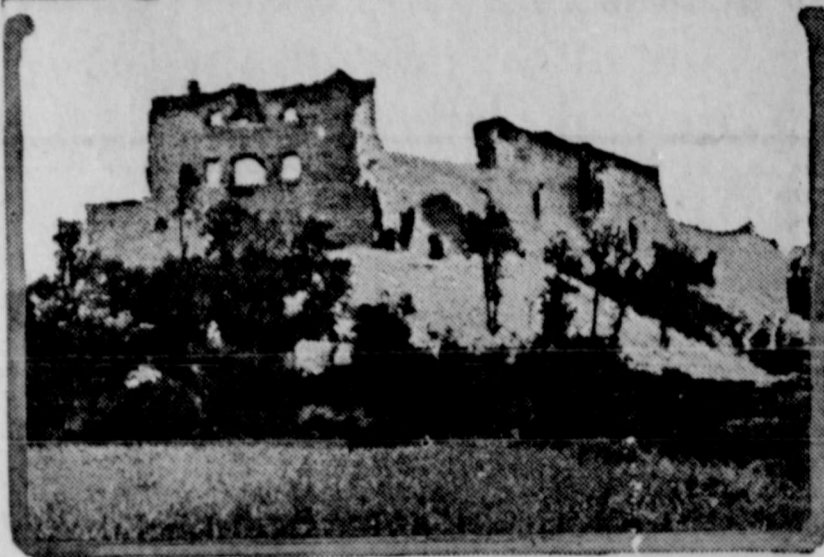

He adds that three years' study of "flu" has informed the medical profession of only one thing—that is, that they know nothing about it.

Is "flu" caused by a germ? If so, it travels through the air long distances like a bird. For this dread disease is positively known to have attacked and killed residents of the far North who hadn't even seen other human beings for five years.

FAMED CHATEAU DESTROYED by GERMANS

Ruins of the Chateau de Coucy.

THE Castle of the Sires of Coucy razed to the ground, bombed by the fleeing enemy. This was the brief, bald communique which struck a blow to French hearts second only in force to that delivered by the shower of steel rained for two years and a half on the famous cathedral at Reims, writes Blanche McManus in the Chicago Herald.

It was the spring before that summer cloudburst of war. We had opened that day for the first reading the "Ballades Françaises" of that eccentric and celebrated poet of the "quartier"—legitimate successor of him who gave fame to the long-departed Cafe Procope—Paul Fort; opened it, too, at his adorable musical tribute dedicated to this same grand old Chateau de Coucy.

Built some 600 years ago by a haughty seigneur by the name of Enguerrand, third of the line of Coucy, it was handed down for two centuries. Then a royal Louis of the reigning Orleans family, who evidently had a pretty taste in castles, having just built its splendid rival, the neighboring Chateau de Pierrefonds (also in the zone des armées but not yet liberated), bought it for 400,000 livres tournois, a unit of reckoning comparable to the franc of today.

After the usual martial vicissitudes of the times Cardinal Richelieu, in the seventeenth century, gave the fabric its first hard knock by ordering it dismantled as a fortress of the time. But its mighty walls resisted well, although the interior was gutted. Thereafter its debris served as a quarry for all the neighborhood, and it is easy to see that the solid houses of the little town huddling about the walls were built chiefly of its stones. Some sixty years ago it entered into the public domain of the French government, who commissioned the great French architect, Viollette-le-Duc, master of modern Gothic, to restore it to the extent of consolidating its stately shell against further disintegration; then, too, it came to be officially classed as a monument historique and remained the most splendid feudal bastle of all Europe and a joy and a marvel to the eyes of all who came within its spell.

Everything Within Its Walls.

So much for history. Now for its reality, at least up to a few months ago. The Chateau of Coucy is the most perfect example of the self-contained mode of existence on earth and should make the commuting suburbanite blush for his wandering life. Everything for the requirements of the dwellers within was held also within its mighty grip, surrounded by its four towering stories of defenses, taller in their ensemble than many a cathedral spire. First the encircling outer wall, behind which in the old days lived the serfs in their wooden huts, but today inclosing the sleepy little village so typical of northern France. There was a rampart promenade, along which we followed, punctuated with the thirty-two towers of other days, and with but three gateways, one leading to Laon, one to Soissons, one to Chauny, all of them towns which are making rapid history at this moment. Here were gathered the tiny shops, the markets where provisions were brought from where they were grown in the fields below the walls.

Next the second ring of walls, surrounded by a deep moat opening only at one massive gateway. We crossed its drawbridge, still hung by the rusty chains of other days. These inclosed the working parts of the chateau, an orchard and a quaint formal garden in which the family took their airings. Circling about were the stables, retainers' quarters, guardhouses, armory, poultry yard, dairy, the falconry, cellars, storerooms, kitchens and all the attendant paraphernalia necessary to the care and comfort of the thousands of henchmen that rallied about the standard of Coucy.

In the center rose a chapel the original nucleus of the chateau. Foundations and a grass plot are all that remain. The fourth defense was the chateau proper, a great quadrangle as spacious as most chateaux in their ensemble. Each corner was crowned with a great cylindrical tower more than a hundred feet in height, their walls nearly five yards thick.

Then came the final defense, the great donjon tower, the kernel of the impregnable nut which has never been cracked, nearly 200 feet in height, 100 feet in diameter and at the base 30 odd feet thick, the most nearly perfect example of the medieval architecture of defense.

In 1914, a month after the opening of hostilities, the gray wave of the German army of invasion had swept over Coucy. Its great towers command the greater part of the battlefield over which writhe three armies in their titanic struggle. For this reason the enemy placed their anti-aircraft guns and searchlights on the topmost tower. When in the middle of March they finally uprooted themselves for the first time since the beginning from their trenches and began their backward goosestep out of France, it was not likely that in the holocaust of destruction which they left in their way, which included children's toys, family photographs and the doghouse, they would forget the Chateau de Coucy.

As the horizon-blue lines of the French vagues of soldiery came within sight of the huge pile of their nation's proudest medieval monument, so long hidden from their sight, thunderous explosions rent the fair sky of spring-time above Coucy, and they saw with horror its great towers totter and fall through the veil of smoke. With an almost human groan there came to their ears the rending crash of the enormous fissure which broke through the stern heart of the great donjon. And so at last was cracked the kernel of the nut which had remained impregnable for 600 years.

COAST LINE OF BELGIUM

Nearly All of It, in Peace Time, Given Over to Seaside and Rest Resorts.

Perhaps in no other war in modern history have a few miles counted for as much in the scales of victory as in the present contest in west Flanders, says a bulletin of the National Geographic society. The distance which separates the allied forces from full control of the coast of Belgium is only thirty miles. Possession of these thirty miles of coast line would not only wipe out the German submarine bases in Belgium, but it would also give the allies a new front upon which to attack in an effort to drive the enemy east of Belgium and northern Europe. Possession of this coast, therefore, would be a double victory to the allies, solely hampering the enemy's submarine operations, and at the same time affording an opportunity to roll up his right flank on land.

Nowhere else may be found a more striking contrast between peace and war than that afforded by the Belgian coast in 1913 and 1917. Practically the entire coast line in normal times is given up to the pleasures of the seaside cities and rest resorts. La Panne, Coxys-Plage, Oost-Duinkerke, Nieuport-Bains Westende, Middelkerke, Le Coq-sur-Mer, Wenduine-sur-Mer, Blankenberghe, Heyst-sur-Mer and Knocke-sur-Mer are all places which remind one of the seaside cities of New Jersey. Of these, Ostend, Nieuport-Bain and Blankenberghe are the most pretentious.

In these Atlantic cities, Cape Mays and Ashby Parks of Belgium laughter and happiness reigned with a care-free abandon that only European resorts could know, while today war on land, under sea and in the air harries the souls of the few brave people who still remain there.

Between La Panne and Oost-Duinkerke is the Hooge-Blikker, 105 feet high, the highest point of the Belgian dunes, and also the widest point. Just outside of Nieuport-Bains, in the village of Lombartzyde, there is a celebrated figure of the Madonna, held in high veneration by Flemish fishermen from time immemorial and to which the Flemings are today addressing their appeal that their land shall be liberated from the invader.

Ostend is famous not only as a seaside resort but for its great fishing trade in normal times and for its oyster parks. Oysters in large numbers are brought here and kept in clarified sea water. The visitor may order his plate of shellfish right out of the water.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

The starting of work on a new and modern school building for Doole community at an early date, is assured through the sale of the school bonds voted by the district early last Spring, and which has been long deferred because of technicalities which arose.

Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Clifton were among visitors from the Lohm community shopping in Brady Wednesday. Mr. Clifton reported having just gotten over his cotton field for the first time, and has ginned 19 bales off of the 87 acres. He estimates some four or five bales now ready for picking when he starts over the crop the second time.

D. H. Henderson Wednesday brought to town a very "fair" sample of some of his products on his Lost Creek farm. Our readers will agree that the samples were not only "fair," but were entitled to No. 1 grade when we tell that they included three Kiefer pears which totaled 3 1/2 pounds in weight, or an average of better than 1 1/4 pounds apiece. Some five or six bushels were produced on the tree which bore these big pears, and which is about eight years old. In addition there were samples of fine pears and apples of the average size, and which rivaled the famed products of the northern states in flavor and quality. When you stop to recollect that Mr. Henderson raises a variety of fruit, berries, garden products—not to mention field crops and products of all description, and in addition has time to indulge in the raising of registered Poland China hogs, and live stock and fowls, it becomes at once evident that he must be a true disciple of the "live at home" movement, in that he practices what he preaches. And, by the way, those pecan trees down on his place produce pecans that are the envy of everyone.

ACT QUICKLY.

In time of kidney danger, Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective.

Plenty of Brady evidence of their worth.

Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. J. Coopender, Brady, says: "I was annoyed by kidney complaint for some years. My condition was diagnosed as uric acid poisoning. I always felt heavy and depressed and had had attacks of rheumatic trouble. I was nervous and frequently headaches came on. I used different remedies for this trouble but can honestly say that Doan's Kidney Pills gave me far better results. I procured this medicine at Jones Drug Co."

FOUR YEARS LATER, Mrs. Coopender said: "Doan's Kidney Pills gave me a cure that has been lasting and I am now enjoying the best of health."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Coopender had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

ORTHODOX JEWS TO CELEBRATE YOM KIPUR, DAY OF ATONEMENT NEXT MONDAY

"Yom Kipur," the Day of Atonement, one of the great holidays observed by Orthodox Jews all over the world, falls this year on October 2nd, and will be observed as a fast day both locally and nationally. The Jewish New Year, "Rosh Hashana," which is the first of a ten-day period called "Tishri," was observed last Saturday by the local Jews, also by representative Jews all over the world, by closing their places of business, suspending all labor, and spending the day in prayer. The tenth day of the period, "Tishri," is "Yom Kipur," and this day will be observed next Monday.

To H. W. Zweig, The Standard is indebted for the following interesting information concerning the occasion: The holiday, which marks the observance of "Yom Kipur," commences at sundown Sunday and lasts till sundown the following day, and is observed everywhere, by every Jew, as a Fast day—not a feast—but strictly a fast day. A Jew is not to partake of food or drink during the 24 hours of this holiday.

The day of Atonement is a holiday, set aside by Heavenly decree as a day for every Jew to suspend all work, business and labor, and devote his or her entire time to prayer, that one's sins may be forgiven; prayer for forgiveness of the evil deeds one has committed during the year. Every man is guilty in some form or other before God, and this day was decreed by Him, that each man may avail himself of the opportunity, to plead his or her cause, before the High Tribunal which sits in Heaven on the tenth day of Tishri and judges mankind.

The reason of the lapse of ten days from the first holiday of last Saturday, is that each Jew is given ten days to prepare himself for the day of Judgment; ten days in which to repent his sins; ten days in which to do charity and worthy deeds. Woe to the Jew who ignores his God and his religion.

These two holidays are the most sacred in the Jewish calendar.

PAY UP!

OCTOBER 1ST TO 15TH

The basic principle underlying all extension of credit is that the goods purchased SHALL BE PAID FOR, and WITHIN THE TERMS OF PAYMENT SPECIFIED.

When YOU PURCHASE a bill of goods from YOUR MERCHANT it is understood that you are to pay for it. If that understanding did not exist, THE MERCHANT WOULD NOT LET YOU TAKE the GOODS OUT OF HIS HOUSE.

Moreover, UNLESS OTHERWISE SPECIFIED, you are expected to pay that bill promptly. IT IS DUE ON THE FIRST OF THE FOLLOWING MONTH.

In the payment of YOUR BILLS do you take those things into consideration—or have you gradually slipped into that class of "DEBT DODGERS" who think they are putting something over on the merchant—when they neglect polite correspondence—just to MAKE THE MERCHANT CARRY THEIR ACCOUNTS for four or five months?

Are you one of the class who are all smiles and politeness when incurring an obligation and "frown and get angry" when called upon to settle?

YOU KNOW. So does your merchant.

YOUR RECORD IS SHOWN ON the Records of the Retail Merchants' Association. Your record stands just as you have chosen to make it.

It says you are PROMPT PAY—SLOW PAY—UNSATISFACTORY BUSINESS—or NO GOOD.

If you are catalogued PROMPT PAY, you can get what you want on a credit. If you are catalogued SLOW PAY, your credit is limited. If you are catalogued UNSATISFACTORY BUSINESS you are too slow to be desired. If you are catalogued NO GOOD—you have to pay cash—your word is not taken.

NOW spelled backward means SUCCESS.

STOP dilly-dallying. Pull yourself together. Get the reins in your hands and DRIVE. Don't follow—DRIVE.

START TODAY TO PAY YOUR BILLS.

If your credit is good and you want to keep it good, pay up now.

If your bills have accumulated—are past due to such an extent you can't pay them all at once—pay as much as you can. Do your BEST. Don't get into the "DEBT DODGER" class.

No matter how small an account is, take care of it. Always remember the merchant has hundreds, probably thousands of accounts just like yours on his books. In the aggregate they mount up.

Every honest person is enlisted upon the side of this Association because this association is fighting on the side of HONESTY.

Every DISHONEST person has enlisted in the opposing rank.

The credit association has two main objects in view.

The first and greater is to eliminate the "dead beat"—the second is to help the man WHO PAYS HIS BILLS PROMPTLY to a greater credit.

B. H. S. FOOTBALL SEASON OPENS AT MASON SATURDAY

Brady High School eleven will open the local football season next Saturday, when the initial game will be played with Mason on the latter's gridiron. The opener will blaze the way for a season of sport that is expected to give the Brady Hi-Eleven rank among the leaders in the game. The locals are confident of making a record this year, as they have one of the strongest line-ups the local school has ever had, and in addition they are developing into a wonderful fast and spirited team under the splendid training of Coach Hervey L. Hart.

That the games played this year will bring added luster to local athletics, and give Brady favorable advertising throughout this section, is evidenced by the fact that not only are games scheduled with close-by neighbors, but the boys have confidence in their winning qualities sufficient to justify them in matching games with San Angelo, Brownwood, Coleman, Santa Anna, Junction and other towns, most of which boast bigger schools and which have unlimited material from which to draw their teams.

Announcements

Democratic Nominees

- For Representative, 93rd District: JAS. FINLAY, of Fife, Texas.
- For District Clerk: BOYD COMMANDER.
- For County Tax Assessor: H. R. HODGES (Re-Election)
- For County Treasurer: MRS. NONA MONTGOMERY
- For County Judge: EVANS J. ADKINS (Re-Election)
- For County Sheriff: O. C. (Otis) WADDILL
- For County Clerk: W. J. YANTIS (Re-Election)
- For County Tax Collector: HUBERT K. ADKINS (Re-Election)
- For County Surveyor: E. A. BURROW
- For County Superintendent of Public Instruction: W. M. DEANS (Re-Election)
- For Commissioner Pre. No. 1: CHAS SAMUELSON (Re-Election)
- For Commissioner Precinct No. 2: R. L. (Bob) BURNS (Re-Election)
- For Commissioner Precinct No. 3: L. A. WATKINS.
- For Commissioner Precinct No. 4: H. H. KNIGHT
- For Public Weigher Pre. No. 1: ED JACOBY (Re-Election)

In addition to Saturday's game at Mason the boys have scheduled a game for the Saturday following with Brownwood, playing on the local gridiron. On the third Saturday, Santa Anna plays here. Coleman plays at Brady on the 11th and Brady goes to Coleman for the Thanksgiving game. Junction plays here the last day of the McCulloch County Exhibit. A game is also scheduled with San Angelo on their grounds, which means that a return game on the local grounds will be scheduled at some convenient date.

Instead of attempting to finance the team this year through public subscription, the boys have placed the matter on a business basis, and will depend upon the sale of season tickets to cover their expenses. Season tickets will be sold at $2.00, with a guarantee of five games to be played on the local grounds. This plan has the approval of the local Luncheon club, and a committee from the club will co-operate with a committee from the team in promoting the sale of the season tickets.

OCTOBER 16-23RD SALVATION ARMY CAMPAIGN DATES

County organization for the Salvation Army's annual campaign for funds, has been completed, and the campaign is to be inaugurated in McCulloch county simultaneously with the national drive, which starts October 16th, and continues for one week, or until October 23rd. The drive in McCulloch county will have as its goal a fund of $500, which is this county's quota. The funds thus raised are to be used in the Salvation Army's Home Service program, admittedly one of the greatest benevolent and charitable enterprises extant. It goes without saying that the Salvation Army is doing a great work, and its efforts never received greater recognition than during the World War. But their peace-time program is equally great and important, since it is part of their work to raise up the fallen, aid those who are down and out, and in times of disaster, the Salvation Army is invariably one of the first to have its workers on the scene and leading in the rescue work. Their motto "A man may be down, but he is never out," is lived daily in the lives of the Salvation Army. Their rescue homes, hotels for working men, and other institutions of like character are beacons that light the way back to life and respectability for countless thousands.

The quota placed upon McCulloch county, $500, is one of the lowest allotted to any county in Texas. It is the very least we can do. The campaign for funds is to be carried on not only in Brady, but in Mercury, Rochelle, Melvin, Lohn, Fife, Stacy, Waldrip, Voca—in fact, in every town in the county.

The following is the organization as effected:
Chairman: W. D. Crothers, Brady
Secretary: H. F. Schwenker, Brady
Treasurer: W. D. Crothers, Brady
Executive Committee: C. H. Vincent, Brady; Mrs. V. B. Deaton, Brady; B. Simpson, Brady
