BRADY TRADE EXPANSION WEEK NOV. 20-25

CITIZENS UNITE TO CELEBRATE ARMISTICE DAY

If there were any Brady business houses whose names were not included in the list of those who would close Saturday to unite in the celebration of Armistice Day, it was simply because they were overlooked in the general round-up. Perhaps never was there an event planned which has met with as universal support as has the Armistice Day celebration, and Brady and Brady citizens will don their gala attire and spend the entire day in celebration of the winning of the great World War, the re-establishment of peace and in honoring our soldier-heroes.

In addition to the program heretofore announced, the ladies of Brady have completed arrangements with the Brady Municipal band where by the band boys will give an enjoyable concert on the public square at 10:00 o'clock Saturday morning, immediately preceding the football game at Dutton City park. This will fill out the morning program in admirable fashion, and will be certain to be a most enjoyable event.

The football game between Brady and Coleman promises to be one of the fiercest battles ever staged on the local gridiron, and both teams will put every ounce and pep they possess into their playing, with Brady team and Brady rooters set to win the game.

The American Legion parade to be staged in the afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, will be led by Brady's Municipal band of 40 pieces, and after circling the square, the parade will march to the Dutton City park, ending in Drill formation, and where a practice exhibition is to be given.

Everyone will, of course, be greatly interested and assured of enjoying the program of saddle horse, relay, Shetland pony and mule racing; the bronco busting, and the calf roping scheduled during the afternoon at the Dutton City park, while the novelty and comedy acts, which will intersperse the main events, promise to keep the crowd in high spirits and eliminate any and all tiresome waits.

The crowning feature of the day's program, and one certain to attract an immense crowd, will be the boxing exhibition between George Garrett of Doolo and Lon Cates of Rochelle. This will be a return engagement, and promises to be an even better exhibition match, if that is possible, than was staged here during the recent McCulloch County Exhibit.

Invitations to Brady big celebration have been sent broadcast all over this section, and not only will McCulloch county citizens be here, but big delegations are assured from all the neighboring counties.

BRADY BOY MAKES DEBUT IN MOVIES AS SECRETARY COLLIN COUNTY LIVESTOCK ASSN

There is many a man and woman who secretly may nurse a consuming desire to break into the movies, but to only a few does that cherished ambition become a reality. So it is rather with a great degree of pride that The Standard just prior to the holding of the McCulloch County Exhibit, chronicled the forthcoming appearance of A. G. (Pat) Mayse, son of J. S. Mayse, of Brady, and well-known former Bradyite, in the films to be shown at the Lyric theatre during the first day of the Exhibit. The films were scheduled to be shown at the afternoon performance, but due to a last-minute change in the program were shown at night instead. Needless to say, all the many friends of "Pat" Mayse were delighted to see him appear before them, in pictures, if not in real life, and none had any difficulty in recognizing this popular ex-Brady boy, even though added years and weight and dignity have been attained by him since we claimed him "our own" Pat.

Mr. Mayse appearance on the screen was in connection with the pictures shown of the livestock and agricultural exhibits made at the Collin County fair, held at McKinney, Texas, and where he is now located. As secretary of the Collin County Pure-breed association, Pat appeared in the picture three times. Incidentally, the showing made by the association was, in itself, most notable, and the fine stock exhibited has aroused great interest and enthusiasm wherever shown.

The films were sent here through courtesy of the Collin County association, and proved an invaluable part of the education program which was one of the main and primary features of the McCulloch County Exhibit.

BALLINGER BANK LOSES BIG ROLL—NEGRO, JAILED, GIVES UP STOLEN CURRENCY

Ballinger, Nov. 7.—Richard Green, negro, is in jail here charged with stealing $2,070 from the bank where his father was janitor. The bank teller left the roll of currency on the cash counter at the close of business Saturday, overlooking it when he went to place the cash tray in the vault. The money was missing Monday morning.

After being sweated for several hours the negro took the officers to where he had the currency buried. Green is old enough to do service in the penitentiary.

Wreath For Our Dead in France.

When the American Steamship, George Washington, swung its prow to the East from New York last week it carried a huge wreath to be placed on the grave of our soldier dead in France, Armistice Day, November 11th.

Thos. V. Fields, representing the American Legion, was this year commissioned to make the annual pilgrimage, and place the tribute on the grave of America's Unknown Soldier buried in Paris. Photo shows Mrs. Shanahan of the War Mothers' Association giving the wreath to Fields on board ship at sailing time.

"TRADE EVANGEL" EDITION OF BRADY STANDARD TO COVER BIG TERRITORY

BUYING PUBLIC OF FIVE COUNTIES, CONSTITUTING BRADY TRADE TERRITORY, WILL BE ACQUAINTED WITH BRADY'S MANY ADVANTAGES AS MARKET.

Brady Trade Expansion week—the week in which the citizens of Brady's extensive trade territory will be fully acquainted with Brady's wonderful advantages as a market for both buyer and seller—has been designated as the week from Monday, November 20th to Saturday, November 25th. During these six days, Brady merchants and business men will unite in offering the most remarkable of trade advantages to the citizens of all the trade territory lying within reach of Brady by rail or by auto. The merchants will make special low prices on all their various lines of merchandise, with full guarantee as to quality and style. The produce buyers will make the local market especially attractive by putting the very top price on everything the farmer and producer has to sell. It will be a gala marketing event—those six days—in which every citizen will be enabled to see his dollar doing bigger duty than in many a year. By extending its circulation so as to cover the entire trade territory, The Brady Standard will carry the messages of the merchants direct to the purchasing public throughout this immense trade territory.

The Brady Standard's "Trade Expansion" edition, to be issued next week, is already an assured success, all the leading merchants of Brady having given promise of their full support and co-operation in the effort to make Brady's trade influence felt throughout the length and breadth of this wonderful section. That Brady provides a most wonderful market has long been acknowledged, yet this important fact has never been fully brought to the attention of the vast population, constituting the citizenship living within the Brady trade territory, for the reason that all efforts at advertising have heretofore been confined almost entirely to within the bounds of McCulloch county. But the citizenship of the surrounding counties is likewise entitled to the benefits of Brady's markets and marketing facilities, and that is the purpose of The Standard's special "Brady Trade Expansion Edition."

Not only will every home in McCulloch county receive a copy of this great exposition of Bargains and Opportunities offered in Brady the week of October 20-25, but The Standard will also visit every home in all Menard county, in the East half of Concho county, in the North half of Mason county and in the West half of

POSTOFFICE WILL BE CLOSED PRACTICALLY ALL DAY SAT.—ARMISTICE CELEBRATION

Just to make the thing unanimous, the Brady postoffice will be closed practically all day next Saturday, at which time Brady citizens have elected to unite in a fitting celebration of that greatest of all national holidays—Armistice Day. Every business house in Brady has decided to close in observance of the celebration, most of the business houses being closed throughout the day, while drug stores, confectioneries, markets, bakeries and filling stations will be open only at stated intervals, as announced in ads published in previous issues of The Standard.

In line, however, with his usual efforts to accommodate postoffice patrons, Postmaster H. N. Cook has arranged to open the postoffice between the hours of 10 o'clock and 11 in the morning and 2:30 and 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. This will enable all patrons to secure their mail after the arrival of both Frisco and Santa Fe trains, thereby avoiding in any way inconveniencing any of our citizens.

Death of Little Josephine Miller.

Shortly after eleven o'clock yesterday morning the Death Angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Melton and carried away the spirit of little Josephine Miller, 5-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Miller of Richland Springs. The only child of her parents, the beautiful, bright-eyed little girl was not only adored by them, but she was the idol of her grandfather's heart, as well as being worshiped by her aunts and uncles and other relatives, to all of whom she was greatly attached. Little Josephine was brought here about a month ago for treatment, suffering with diphtheria and kidney trouble as after-effect of a siege of whooping cough had last summer. While the diphtheria responded readily to medical treatment, in her weakened condition, she was unable to overcome the dread kidney affection, and her passing came peacefully as she slept. Besides her parents, she had been constantly attended by her grandfather, L. C. Davenport of Richland Springs, and also by her aunts, Mrs. J. D. Branscum and Mrs. P. B. Melton of Brady. In their deep sorrow, all have the heartfelt sympathy of their many friends.

Accompanied by the relatives, the body was carried yesterday afternoon to Richland Springs, where funeral services and interment will be held today.

C. L. BROWNING, COLORADO CITY NEW M. E. PASTOR

C. L. Browning, formerly pastor of the Methodist church at Colorado City, has been given the assignment of pastor of the Brady M. E. church. Rev. Browning was transferred to the West Texas conference at the recent meeting of the Northwest Texas conference of the Methodist church, and was given the Brady assignment after being given the Brady assignment. Rev. Lawlis takes the pastorate of the M. E. church at Colorado City.

A message received Wednesday by local members of the church from Rev. Browning announced that he was coming to Brady with his family and goods in a car, and that he expected to reach here either yesterday evening or this morning.

Needless to say, the new pastor and his family will receive a cordial and hearty welcome by members of the church, and in which the entire citizenship will join.

HONEST INJUN.

This is the "Automobile Edition" of The Brady Standard. Read the ads, and you will be forced to the same conclusion.

"SOME CHICKEN."

While looking over the exhibits at the Brady Fair last week, we came across a coop of "turkens;" a bystander remarked that these birds were turkeys—we said "No, they are chickens!" don't you see how low their feathers grow around their necks, exposing a long bare neck? And they placed them among the chicken exhibit.—San Saba Star.

If Editor Cowan was looking hereabouts for "chickens," then he certainly met up with the biggest "baby" of them all when he ran onto those turkens, exhibited by Will Ogden, whose proclivities along the line of raising "chickens what am" has long been both confessed and generally acknowledged. But if turkens interested you, Bill, then be sure to come back next year and look over Mr. Ogden's capons—the bird whose meat is just two or three times as valuable and delicious as the best turkey or chicken you ever set teeth into. When it comes to chickens, Brady has the kind worth coming miles to see.

Excellent advice is given by Clara D. Noyes in the Health Builder when she says: "Destroy all unmarked medicines, whether liquid or powder. Oxalic acid, a deadly poison, closely resembles Epsom salts. Many powders look identical.—Fort Worth Record.

Isadora Duncan was married in Moscow to a Russian poet, whom she has brought to America with her. Thus Isadora becomes a member in good standing of the Russian Relief Association.—Columbus Dispatch.

It was with surprise we read that Mr. W. J. Bryan's auto had crashed into a woman's car out West, as we had never known him to run quite so close to another candidate before.—Grand Rapids Press.

BOY SCOUTS AND BRADY HI BOTH PLAY FOOT BALL DURING THE PAST WEEK

The Brady Boy Scouts went down in defeat before the Menard team on the local gridiron Tuesday, the visitors winning by a score of 14 to 0. Menard secured a touch-down in the second quarter when they recovered a had punt which rolled behind the Brady goal, and which the Brady players should have recovered. In the third quarter, the visitors secured a touch-back. Both these scores were due to misplays on the part of the locals. Menard earned a touch-down in the last quarter when by an end run they got the ball near the goal line and then bucked it over.

Following the game, the local Scouts entertained the visitors splendidly with a supper in the Syndicate building.

Brady Loses at San Angelo. With a badly crippled team, Brady HI nevertheless made a splendid showing last Saturday against the strong San Angelo HI team on the latter's grounds, the final score of 39 to 6 to the contrary notwithstanding.

Both Polk and Squyres were forced out in the early part of the game by injuries. Strickland was the star of the game, securing Brady's only touch-down when he intercepted a San Angelo pass, and made a run thru to the goal.

Two of the touchdowns for the San Angelo team were made by Leslie Meers, former Brady boy and now one of the star performers on the San Angelo team.

THE HUPMOBILE is "COMING" Get What That Means Mr. Dealer

Ten years ago, any dealer could handle any one of possibly 50 cars,—and, on a hit and miss basis, make money.

Today, those 50 have narrowed down to 14. The dealer today must have one of those 14 cars—and a real sales method—if he is going to survive. Of these 14, the Hupmobile is in the very forefront. It is in the forefront—but it has not begun to exhaust its sales possibilities.

Increase in Hupmobile Production

The Hupmobile is "coming." It is making more money for the individual dealer today. It will make more next year. It will still make more in 1924. The factory is planning greatly increased production for both years.

We don't know—and we believe that you don't know—where such an opportunity is available today outside of the Hupmobile organization.

People in your territory now know what a wonderful car the Hupmobile is. Owners are spreading the facts; everyone—especially mechanics—are saying—"The Hupmobile is a mighty good car to own." And, naturally, this sells more Hupmobiles.

Hupmobile Easier to Sell

This all gets back to the fact that the dealer today can sell Hupmobiles with greater ease, and he can sell more of them, than ever before.

And, we know, he can make more net profit on the Hupmobile; profit that compares most favorably with what can be made in any other line of business. The Hupmobile franchise is eagerly sought for today by dealers everywhere.

We want men who understand that selling automobiles does not mean a large investment in pretentious salesrooms, but that it means sound business practice, keeping salesmen on the job, and good bank credit.

If you are such a dealer, you can, unquestionably, make good money in selling Hupmobiles. Hupmobile dealers have demonstrated this to be a fact; let us tell you the full story.

Write us today. We believe that you will have cause to congratulate yourself, time after time in the future, on having done so.

DODGE BROTHERS MOTOR CAR

The evenness of performance so often remarked in Dodge Brothers Motor Cars is due, in no small part, to the thoroughness with which each unit is inspected during the process of manufacture and assembly.

A trained staff of 800 experts is employed in this work alone, and approximately 5285 individual inspections are made on each car.

So exacting and rigid are the standards applied to these inspections that the slightest variation either in workmanship or material is instantly discovered and rejected.

Dodge Brothers are almost over-scrupulous in their constant aim to make each car as sound and perfect as is humanly possible.

Cotton Picking Over—Boost for Building Good Roads.
Whiteland, Texas, Nov. 5.

Editor Brady Standard:
Had another nice rain first of the week which will put more moisture in the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jones, Mrs. Best F. Jones and little daughter, Esther, of Melvin, were the guests of C. D. Zimmerman and family Sunday.

Ernest Gormes made a trip to Watson the first of the week where he purchased a car.

Jeane Priest, Ernest, Clarence, and Miss Pauline Gormes, attended a dance in Whiteland community Friday night.

Dr. J. H. Dunagan and J. McClesky of Riverside visited C. D. Zimmerman Wednesday.

Ace Turk and Alex Wilkerson were in Melvin Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bailey of Keenville spent last week with Mrs. Bailey's brother, C. D. Zimmerman.

Ace Turk and family visited Riley Cox near Melvin Sunday.

Mr. Talliaferro of Melvin was out buying cotton Thursday at the Gormes gin, which is closed till next season.

Ed Hale and family were in Melvin the latter part of the week.

Cotton picking is over and the Mexicans are returning to Del Rio by truck and wagon load, making Menard and Brady a very public road. I am sure if they could they would boost good roads after they pass over these roads. Did I hear someone say, why! they are real, good! Yes, in a few places, and if you are strongly constituted. They are surely a favor to Henry Ford, for a remark was made that the Ford is all we need in this country till roads are better—and they soon sing a tin-can tune, the roads being so rough.

John Knox Celebrates Birthday.

Master John Knox celebrated the 7th anniversary of his life in becoming fashion last Saturday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Knox, by inviting a number of his playmates to a birthday party. Decorations of blue and white crepe paper, together with cut flowers, ferns and lily-like rabbits, added to the festive appearance of the Knox home, and as well to the enjoyment of the little folks. Especially attractive was the beautiful birthday cake with its bright setting of seven lighted candles to denote the seven milestones passed by the young host.

Various games were played and a most enjoyable time had by the guests, included among whom were little Misses Phoebe Graham, Mary Eugene Wood, Floybel and Royaline Erickson, Marie Spiller, Frances and Myrtis Evers, Shirley Roberts, Cleo Bryson; Masters Malcolm Jones, George Carrithers, Harold Roberts, Otto Schill, Lewis Rohde, Herman Rohde, Billie Moffatt, Eugene Tulk, John Knox.

Complimenting Mrs. Dunn.

Mrs. Wm. C. Jones and Mrs. C. A. Trigg entertained the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church with a reception in the church parlor on last Friday afternoon, in compliment to and as a farewell party for Mrs. S. C. Dunn. Some fifty ladies were in attendance and Rev. Dunn and Rev. Morris were special guests.

A delightful program was rendered, as follows:

Piano Solo, Mrs. J. W. Ragsdale. Readings, "Papa's Boy," and "Be Sweet," Lucy Mae Riels. Readings, "Don't," and "Walter's Troubles," James Jones. Vocal Solo, Mrs. Jas. T. Mann, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Duke Mann.

Vocal Solo, Miss Gertrude Trigg. A drawing contest was had, each guest drawing from a hat a slip of paper with the name of some bird on it, and then being requested to draw a picture of the bird on a blackboard. Much merriment was occasioned by the drawings.

Refreshments of white cake, hot chocolate with whipped cream, and marshmallows, were served.

Dodd-Perry.

Mr. E. L. Perry and Miss Delia Dodd, popular and highly esteemed young couple of the Carroll Colony community were happily married last Sunday afternoon, the Rev. Buren Sparks performing the ceremony at the Baptist parsonage. News of the marriage was received with pleasure by their many friends, and congratulations and good wishes have been showered upon Mr. and Mrs. Perry.

Mr. Perry is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Perry, well-known and prominent citizens of Carroll Colony, and has spent practically all his life here. Of quiet, industrious habits, he has gained the good will and admiration of all who know him, and has proven himself fully worthy of the splendid young woman who has consented to become his life's companion. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Dodd, and while she has spent practically all her life in Mason county, in the two years that she has lived with her parents in the Carroll Colony, she has become a favorite with all by reason of her sweet, womanly character, and her many admirable virtues.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry will make their home for the present with his parents, and where they are at home to their many friends.

Fifth Birthday Anniversary.

From 3:00 o'clock to 5:00 on Wednesday afternoon, November 8th, little Miss Dorothy Nell Hollon was hostess to quite a number of her little friends, the occasion being her fifth birthday anniversary. A color scheme of pink and white was observed, decorations of crepe paper being used. The birthday cake, with its five candles in the center of a bed of white chrysanthemums, was a most attractive sight. Various games were played to the delight of all, and several kodak pictures were made as mementoes of the happy occasion. A fish pond proved most popular with the little folks, who fished for favors of toys.

Many pretty gifts were received by the little hostess.

Numbered among those present were little Misses Pauline Calvert, Virginia Hughes, Mildred Roberts, June Jordan, Mary Behrens, Shirley Roberts, Henrietta Schill, Margaret Jo Collier, Elizabeth Sparks, Frances Sparks, Mary Beth Whiteman, La Verne Hollon, Eva Dorothy Fahrentold; Masters Hugh White Calvert, Kenneth Fahrentold, Warren Adkins, Ira Quantin Mayhew, John Frances Ogden, Bryson Roberts, Norman Malone, Paul Jarvis Hurd, Eugene Price, Harold Roberts.

Assisting Mrs. Hollon in entertaining were Misses LeMay Jordan, Elsie Fahrentold, Claudia Taylor, Mary Andersen, Adyne Beavers; Mesdames N. A. Collier, Evans Adkins, Irvine Hurd, C. L. Roberts, Buren Sparks, Paul Calvert, B. L. Hughes, B. H. Hollon, J. B. Whiteman, Julian Behrens, M. A. Hollon, W. N. Roberts.

Seawell-Brook.

A wedding of interest to a host of Brady and McCulloch county friends was celebrated in San Antonio on Wednesday, November 1st, at 7:30 p. m., when Miss Louise Seawell became the bride of Mr. Jas. Brook. The ceremony was celebrated at the residence of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Brook, in San Antonio, in order that Mr. Brook's sister, Mrs. Edward Willoughby, who has been confined to her bed by illness the past number of weeks, might be present and witness the happy event. Rev. Gates of San Antonio officiated at the ceremony, and only the immediate relatives were in attendance. Following the ceremony an informal reception was given the bridal couple.

Mr. Brook is one of Brady's highly-esteemed and most enterprising young ranchmen, and has been a popular member of local social circles. Coupled with his general popularity, he has marked business ability, by reason of which he has already come to be acknowledged as among our most successful citizens. His bride is a most charming and attractive young lady, and Mr. Brook is to be congratulated.

A TWICE-TOLD TALE.

One of Interest to Our Readers. Good news bears repeating, and when it is confirmed after a long lapse of time, even if we hesitated to believe it at first hearing, we feel secure in accepting its truth now.

The following experience of a Brady man is confirmed after four years. A. H. Connor, carpenter, says: "My back hurt me pretty bad and it seemed that the pains were mostly over my left kidney. My kidneys were congested and contained sediment. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at the Jones Drug Co., relieved the trouble with my back and regulated my kidneys."

OVER YOUR YEARS LATER, Mr. Connor said: "I think Doan's Kidney Pills are a fine kidney remedy and I find occasional use of them to keep my kidneys in good shape." Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Connor had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

upon having won her for heart and hand. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Seawell, prominent and most highly-thought of citizens of San Antonio, she has made her home in that city for a number of years, and has been popular among a wide circle of acquaintances and admirers.

Mr. and Mrs. Brook arrived in Brady last Thursday and are at home to their friends in the Brook residence in South Brady.

Bridge Luncheon Club.

The Bridge Luncheon club was entertained Wednesday in delightful fashion by Miss Lucille Benham, the party being unanimously voted one of the most beautiful of the season. The decorations were particularly striking and attractive, and spoke most eloquently of the cleverness and artistic taste of the hostess. The living room was decorated in autumn leaves and chrysanthemums, which formed a pleasing setting for the two tables arranged for the series of "Bridge." Score cards, adorned with hand-painted autumn leaves, harmonized beautifully with the living room decorations.

The dining room was most beautiful, with the decorative motif of yellow carried out in the center-piece of jonquils, and with nut cups in the form of yellow-petaled flowers. Yellow flowers, with faces hand-painted on their centers, served as holders for the place cards, which were adorned with hand-painted jonquils. The luncheon was served in courses and was most elaborate.

In the series of "Bridge," which followed the luncheon, Mrs. Herbert Wood received club prize, a satinated work basket, for high score.

Club members present included Mesdames G. R. White, C. T. White, G. V. Cansel, Herbert L. Wood, Ed Campbell, J. S. Anderson, and the hostess, Mrs. Dick Winters was a guest.

MAYFIELD LEADS 112,818 MAJORITY LIGHT VOTE HERE

According to late reports Earle B. Mayfield had a majority of 112,818 over George Peddy for United States Senator, in returns from 211 counties, including 22 complete, the tabulations having been made by the Texas Election Bureau Wednesday night. It is probable that the total vote will not exceed 400,000 and that Mayfield's final majority will be in the neighborhood of 125,000.

Governor Neff had a majority of 161,237 Wednesday night over W. H. Atwell, the Republican candidate. Figures in the two races were as follows:

For Senator—
Mayfield 198,713
Peddy 85,898

For Governor—
Neff 202,445
Atwell 40,922

Local interest in the election was very light, only 391 votes being polled at Brady as against 870 in the last Primary election. Interest all over the county was likewise slack, the total vote polled being 1,003, not including the vote at Fife, which has so far not been brought in. A couple votes were cast at Brady for Andy Gump for Senator. One significant feature of the returns is the scratching of the name of Allison Mayfield, Democratic nominee for Railroad Commissioner, at almost every box, due, no doubt, to antipathy aroused against the name of Mayfield during the recent Senatorial campaign.

The vote in McCulloch county in the Senatorial race was as follows:

Earle B. Mayfield 699
George Peddy 229

The vote for Governor was:
Pat M. Neff 841
W. H. Atwell 62

Tabulated returns on all the races in which Republican nominees were entered will be given in next week's edition.

Behind Your Telephone—

Back of that telephone on your wall or your desk are miles and miles of wire; huge cables in the air or underground; the wonderfully intricate mechanism of switchboards; a complete plant plus a trained organization of people whose business it is to provide for and make your telephone service.

The telephone instrument itself is the smallest part of the telephone exchange; it represents hardly one-tenth the investment the company has made to provide a line for your own special use; its maintenance is but an insignificant fraction of the cost of the management, upkeep and operation of the plant behind it.

It is but representative of the plant and organization behind it, all of which must be organized, maintained and operated in readiness, day or night, to serve you.

When you lift your receiver, you have all this at your command!

LOCAL BRIEFS

Mrs. S. A. Benham is this week confined to her home by reason of a severe case of poisoning resulting from coming in contact with poison oak, while gathering autumn leaves.

Messrs. I. S. Gingrich and G. E. Davis, recently of Brownwood, have opened a plumbing shop in the Ramsay building, adjoining Murphy's Filling Station. Incidentally they will engage in radiator repair work, Mr. Davis taking charge of that work, while Mr. Gingrich will look after the plumbing work. Mr. Gingrich has just completed several contracts for plumbing in some of the new residences built in Brady, and his work has in every instance been of the highest class and has given complete satisfaction.

Mr. Gumps would carry this city by a large majority.

ROCHELLE ARRANGES TWO- DAY ARMISTICE CELEBRA- TION WITH VARIED PROGRAM

Brady's enterprising neighbor city, Rochelle, is nothing if not patriotic, and so her citizens have arranged a two-day Armistice celebration, with a program so varied as to assure interest being maintained throughout the occasion. Combined with an extensive program of rodeo events, a big carnival will be held, and preparations have been made for entertaining a great attendance from all over this section both today and tomorrow. The entire event will be staged free on the Rochelle public square.

Among the rodeo events scheduled are bronc riding, bronco busting, bull-dogging steers and goat roping. An invitation is extended everyone to bring their wild and untamed horses and mules, as there will be a long list of the best riders in this section who will offer to ride and tame the worst outlaws in the bunch.

Two exciting games of basket ball are scheduled for each day, between both boy and girl teams, the teams of Paint Rock being matched on one day against Rochelle teams, and those of Melvin on the other day. Open-air dancing free will be had on Saturday night, with good music by old-time fiddlers.

R. C. Armor was here yesterday arranging for extensively advertising the big event, and incidentally broadcasting invitations to attend.

Turkeys! Turkeys!! —TURKEYS!—

We are now in the market for fat Turkeys at highest market prices. We want Hen Turkeys weighing seven pounds and over, Young Tom Turkeys weighing eleven pounds and over. Keep your light turkey back for a later market.

We do not know how the prices will run later for Turkeys, but everything that we get out for Thanksgiving market by freight will have to leave here by the 16th and express shipments by the 20th, and it will be necessary to have Turkeys in time to dress, precool, pack and load out, which usually takes about three days.

We are not trying to influence anyone to sell their Turkeys, as we do not know what the market is going to do, and when you get ready to sell your Turkeys, we will be in the market for them at highest market prices.

Texas Turkeys has very little competition on the Eastern markets for Thanksgiving, but for the Christmas market all Turkeys from other States are on the market.

BRADY TRADE EXPANSION WEEK NOVEMBER 20-25TH GREAT BARGAIN FESTIVAL

This "Brady Trade Expansion" edition of The Brady Standard will come to the attention of several thousands of citizens, who have not heretofore read the paper, and who will, therefore, quite naturally ask: "What Does This Trade Expansion Mean?" To make the matter fully clear to all, we will explain. In response to the requests of a number of Brady's most progressive business men who believe that Brady offers stocks of merchandise unsurpassed in variety and extensiveness, as well as in high quality and low price, and who further believe that Brady's markets offer inducements superior to any in this section for the marketing and sale of all farm products, The Brady Standard has arranged to carry the message of these merchants to every nook and corner of the territory adjacent to and lying within easy reach of Brady, the metropolis of McCulloch county. This edition of The Standard will be sent to every home in McCulloch and Menard counties; as well as to the homes of the citizens residing in the West half of San Saba county, the East half of Concho county and the North half of Mason county. The edition has been carefully prepared with a view of giving a very good idea of the exceptional bargain opportunities offered to shoppers in Brady. Almost without exception, every line of business is represented in this paper, and every business man and citizen of Brady will be glad to have visitors from near and from afar come to Brady during next week, get acquainted with our citizens and take advantage of what we have to offer. If the advertisements do not quote any article you want, ask any of the merchants about that article, and rest assured that his prices will not only be fair, but will be lower Trades Week than ever.

And another thing, when you come to Brady, make yourself known to the citizens. We all want to get acquainted with you, and to learn to know you better. Drop in at any of the stores and you will find a cordial welcome awaiting you, and an earnest effort to please and to give you service that brings satisfaction and a smile.

And another thing, remember that this big bargain event is not just a one-day affair, but that all during next week—any day of the week—from sunrise or the breaking of dawn on Monday, November 20th, to sunset or dark on Saturday night, November 25th, there will be bargains awaiting you in Brady in all lines and all stores.

Every merchant in Brady wants to please you—to serve you better—to give bigger values, because they want to make of you a permanent friend and customer. This week, from November 20th to 25th will be one of the most exceptional bargain weeks ever offered by any town or community. Come and make us prove the statement—we have the backing of every Brady merchant on that proposition.

DON'T FORGET THE DATES—ALL NEXT WEEK, FROM MONDAY TO SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 20TH-25TH, AT BRADY, TEXAS.

HUPMOBILE DISTRIBUTOR FINDS TRADE IN WEST TEXAS AS GREATER THAN HOPED

A volume of business in Western Texas far beyond his expectations earlier in the year has come to J. R. Overstreet, Hupmobile distributor, with headquarters in Fort Worth, he stated Saturday. This volume has been achieved, according to Overstreet, in spite of many obstacles, including the recent drought over West Texas territory, and he attributes much of his success during the past few months to regular newspaper advertising in both daily and weekly papers. "October has been the biggest month we have ever had in the history of our business," Overstreet declared, "and what is more, if we may judge from the record of the past few months, during which time each succeeding month has surpassed the sales record of the preceding month, the coming year will set a still higher mark for Hupmobiles in this territory. "I regard consistent and persistent newspaper advertising, of which we have done more this year than ever before, as one of the great contributing factors in our unusually gratifying success for the current year. Beginning early in the year, we inaugu-our trade territory, all of whom are successfully moving Hupmobile cars. Constant co-operation through local advertising, supplementing the dealer's personal sales efforts, is what caused the tide to turn in our direction, making 1922 our biggest year. "Now we are going forward for

Chapter XIII

Wonder, Ore., Oct. 30.

Editor Brady Standard:

Indulgent reader: After waiting for so long for the informal introduction to Capt. Dan Wills, a commissioned officer of the Frontier Home Guards, I shall proceed to describe him as I knew him; also to tell you about a few of the minor incidents connected with his official and unofficial career. As pertaining to his physique the captain when I knew him was about six feet tall and large in proportion. Rather corpulent and prominently protruding forward, somewhat rounded out as though he might have a ten-gallon pot in hiding under the front lapel of his shirt. The Captain had a merry twinkle in his eye and a habit of rolling his quid of tobacco as a sweet morsel under his tongue just before he began to tell a funny joke. During the civil (or rather uncivil) strife between the northern and the southern states, the captain went to Austin to lay in supplies for his men. He was dressed in a buckskin suit all fringed around the edges as fitly becoming to a typical frontiersman, wearing a home-made beaverskin cap and well dressed buckskin moccasins. While in Austin thus attired the captain ran onto a bunch of men being entertained by a recruiting officer, enlisting or conscripting men for the Confederate service. Whereupon the recruiting officer approached the young portly frontiersman, taking his name for enlistment. But the captain was on to his job and demanded to see the officers commission. Of course the egotistical authority resented the young "buckskin's" impertinence, but there was no way out of it but to produce his commission. He fumbled in his pockets and failing to find it there, remarked that he had left it in his hotel. Then with a merry twinkle in his eye and turning his quid under his tongue, with a sly roguish wink at the crowd, the captain produced his own commission saying, as he did so, "Here is my commission, and I will now enlist you into the service of frontier home guards and perhaps you will make a better Indian fighter than you do a recruiting officer." It was now the other fellow's time to get red in the face and to stammer an apology, to the exceeding great merriment of the crowd.

Soon I will tell of the buffalo hunt and other memories, not forgetting the captain's religious proclivities and our first preaching service, held on Lost Creek—or rather on Water-hole creek, a tributary of Lost Creek. "O. I. C. U. R. RIKHT."

Wonder, Ore., Nov. 5.

Editor Brady Standard:

Chapter XIV.

I promised to tell you of the buffalo hunt. Although I was not in it I can vouch for the facts in the case from the evidence I afterward witnessed. The party was composed of the Capt. Dan Wills, his son, John, Sam Armstrong and Bill Floyd. From all reports they didn't go very far until they found buffalo so plentiful they could kill enough in one day to keep them busy skinning for a week. The pelts were what they were after and not the meat. And they continued to slaughter buffalo until the skins got so cheap that it became unprofitable to stay longer; then they loaded a wagon with woolly pelts for rugs and robes and bringing a few pieces of the choicest meat they came back home. The part of the buffalo that most people relished was the hump on top of the shoulders of a fat cow. That same winter I was on the road at the ford on the San Saba river above where Voca now is and saw another party of buffalo hunters returning. It was damp weather and their dried meat was in danger of moulding and they had struck camp and built a scaffold and over small fires were drying a whole wagon load of buffalo tongues. The Capt. Dan Wills had an idea of starting a bologna factory but it failed to materialize. A few years after the buffalo slaughter I was at Colorado City—I think it was in Mitchell county, just after the railroad had been built that far west, and saw wagon load after wagon load of buffalo bones being hauled in to the railroad for shipment. And all along the spur or switch for about a quarter of a mile there was a rick of bones as high as they could be thrown from the wagons. And my uncle told me that they had been shipping them out all winter, train load after train load. So you can have some idea to the enormity of the buffalo slaughter.

For several years after the slaughter of the buffalo it was hard to produce a good pair of everyday shoes on account of the leather being spongy and porous. Some said it was

HANDS INDEX TO CHARACTER

Still Reveal Much, Though Probably Less Than Was the Case Some Few Years Ago.

Once it was possible to tell a "lady" by her hands—that is if you regarded a lady as "a female of the favored social class." She had well-kept hands because she did nothing to roughen them or enlarge their knuckles or cause premature wrinkles. Even if fortune had gone against her she somehow avoided the work that would mar the symmetry of those hands. She did without sugar for her tea and did needlework for money in order to avoid the work that she regarded as menial. And because a woman of this class knew that it was at her hands that others looked for an index to her social position it was her hands that she saved, wearing gloves by day and by night to keep them white and to protect them and repair them from the ravages of wind, sun and housework.

The situation is rather different now. The young woman of immigrant parents who sells tinware in the department store basement has elaborately manicured nails and hands that are smooth, but the wife of the oil-gate president has hands that clearly show the effects of work that we would once have regarded as menial.

Perhaps still to the keen observer hands have something to tell of their owner's rank or pedigree. There are some hands that no matter how daintily manicured always look a little grimy at the corners, and others, lacking entirely the luster of the manicure buffer, that are always scrupulously clean.

PRIZED AMBER AS ORNAMENT

Romans Secured It From "Barbarous" Germans, Who Had Small Idea of Its Real Value.

Amber, which is fossilized resin, was in great demand among the Romans for ornaments. Tacitus, in his "Germania," tells that it was gathered by the barbarian Germans. "They explore the sea for amber, in their language called 'gleese,' and are the only people who gather that curious substance," he says. "It is generally found among the shallows; sometimes on the shore. Concerning the nature of the cause of this concretion the barbarians, with their usual want of curiosity, make no inquiry. Amongst other superfluities discharged by the sea this substance lay long unheeded, till Roman luxury gave it a name and brought it into request. To the savage it is of no use. They gather it into rude heaps and offer it for sale without any form or polish, wondering at the price they receive for it." Tacitus guessed correctly the origin of amber, saying: "There is reason to think that amber is a distillation from certain trees, since in the transparent medium we see a variety of insects and even animals of the wing, which, being caught in the viscous fluid, are afterwards, when it grows hard, incorporated with it."

Poem Had Origin in Actual Life. The famous poem about the boy who stood on the burning deck had its origin in an actual happening which constitutes a page in history. It was during Napoleon's expedition to Egypt that England sent Lord Nelson to capture him and annihilate his fleet. At the battle of Abukir the French navy was crushed and Napoleon was forced to flee, all but four of his ships being sunk, burned or captured. The French admiral had been killed. And on the deck of the flagship stood her captain, Louis Casabianca, who then had command of the fleet. He was wounded and the ship was burning, but he refused to leave his post. And in spite of commands and entreaties, his son, a boy of ten, stayed with him and died with him when the ship went down, supplying the theme for that famous epic of child heroism, "The boy stood on the burning deck."

Compass Plant Western Product. On the prairies and plains of Utah, Texas and southern Minnesota there grows a wonderful plant which has proved useful to travelers wandering over these vast tracts of country. It is called the compass plant, or pilot plant, because of a peculiarity in the growth of the leaves, which grow alternately along the stalk, and point precisely north and south.

The Indians told of the direction given them by these pointing leaves, and told the white men about it. This plant belongs to the family of the Compositae, and looks very much like the sunflower. It has a strong, resinous odor, somewhat like turpentine, and sometimes goes by the name of "turpentine plant."

One of Noah's Pets. It was swampy around Denver 2,000,000 years ago, according to Prof. J. D. Piggins, director of the Colorado Museum of Natural History. The traveler who wants to hobnob with the monsters of long ago can do so in the city park collection, in Denver, where the skeleton of an animal closely related to the present-day rhinoceros is on exhibition, one-half of it covered with an imitation hide.

Natural Qualification. "Oliver Twist was always asking for more," remarked Senator Sorghum. "Yet he became a worthy citizen," observed the admirer of Dickens. "Yes. Probably he grew up eventually to be a tax collector."

BRADY, TEXAS, Nov. 14, 1922

WIDE ROW METHOD OF CULTIVATION.

The Farm Agent of Floyd county, Texas, is quoted as follows:
"For several years some of our farmers have been trying out the wide row method of cultivating row crops and have found that they have made on an average more feed and especially more grain to the acre by this method than on the single row plan which is in common use.

"Since this is a dry country we should farm by methods which will get best results in such a country. By giving plenty of space to the feed in common narrow rows will make better feed than to plant it too thick, but most of us will not give it plenty space. The wide row method has some other advantages, namely: By putting the rows eight or nine feet apart one can prepare the soil for wheat in a good way and at the same time grow a crop, also this gives us a new use for our wheat machinery and thus making use of some of the great investment. By using the tandem disc in these wide rows one can get the soil in better condition for wheat, and when sowing time comes all one has to do is to go into the field with the drill. This is no dream either.

"Another good way to get the best results with the common row is to disc the ground now for next year's row crop and when it rains list east and west. By this means one can catch the blowing snows if there is no vegetation left on the soil during the winter. This method will help to store up moisture during the winter.

"Furthermore, we should plant such crops as have been found to be better for a dry year in order to make sure of feed for our live stock, and then plant other crops besides these if we wish. Higari has been found to be one of the best drought resisting feed crops and is early maturing, which is a great advantage. We should plant more higari for feed. This is not only a good dry weather crop, but it is an excellent feed, as it is more palatable to stock than some of the other sorghums we raise."

When you crank up your car and step on the gas today, pause long enough to consider these figures furnished by the U. S. Census bureau: There were 10,168 deaths from accidents caused by motor vehicles during 1921, in the death registration area of the United States, comprising 34 states and containing 82 per cent of the country's population. That was an increase of 1,965 over 1920. The death rate per 100,000 population was 11.5 compared with 10.4 in 1920.—Coleman Democrat-Voice.

Readers of weekly papers frequently complain of the delay in arrival of their home papers and as frequently censure the publishers. Their attention is called to the following: The Postoffice Department at Washington has established throughout the country certain terminal offices to which the weekly papers are sent, instead of being sorted on the railway mail trains. By this rule and by this action, the weekly papers are delayed in the delivery thereof from twelve to forty-eight hours. The weekly papers carry the same postal rate as dailies. Why should there be a discrimination? There is not any just reason therefor—just an arbitrary rule of the Postal Department.—Coleman Democrat-Voice.

A recent health survey in the Georgetown grammar school revealed the fact that a considerable per cent of the children were under weight. A nutrition class was inaugurated and arrangements made for milk for the children at recess hours. Numbers of parents sent milk from home and the local dairies were called into service, furnishing many quarts each day. The Parent-Teachers' clubs and private citizens made donations of milk or money for underweights whose parents are unable to furnish the extra milk required, it is stated. So promptly did the forces begin functioning for the benefit of the children that the first weighing showed that all the underweight children had gained, and a number had progressed so rapidly that they tipped the scales at normal.—Coleman Democrat-Voice.

Quality rests upon Brady to make good—and our fate that we have the quality of goods, the extremes—and at prices that are as low and lower, than any other store in Texas.

WE BELIEVE IN EXPANSION FOR TRADE

Early in the year we made extensive preparations for enlarging and extending the trade influence of the C. H. Vincent store, because we felt that the time had arrived when we would soon be called upon to supply a territory limited only to the distances that the fame and reputation of this store could be carried by our friends and patrons. In addition to greatly enlarging our floor space, we completely rearranged the interior of our store, remodeling our shelving, clothing cabinets and display counters. This extensive improvement has enabled us to add new lines, thereby making ours a complete department store. It has further enabled every department to be complete in itself; to be arranged with individual attractiveness and with a view of rendering service unsurpassed to our patrons.

SAN ANGELO PRESENTS TROPHIES TO BRADY TEAM

The San Angelo Fair association has done the handsome thing by the Brady Polo team, in the sending of five Eglentine Pelman bits for the horses of the members of the Brady polo team, as trophies of the polo games played between Brady and San Angelo at the latter place during the San Angelo Fair. Accompanying the trophies is a letter from Walter E. Yaggy, secretary-treasurer of the San Angelo Fair association, to Walter H. Caldwell of this city, stating that Brady was fairly entitled to the trophies by reason of having won two out of three games which comprised the San Angelo series. Mr. Yaggy also states that great interest has been aroused by reason of the polo match, and that there promises to be an insistent demand next year for another series of games.

According to the correspondence between Walter Caldwell of Brady and Joe Develin of San Angelo, between whom the series of polo games was arranged, it was thoroughly understood that the winner of two out of three games was to be winner of the series.

Members of the Brady team, and to whom the trophies have been presented are Lee Downs captain, J. E. White, Ben Strickland, Walter Caldwell and Leslie Galbreath.

The letter from Mr. Yaggy was as follows:

"The San Angelo Fair Association feels that in spite of the agreement reported to have been made by the captains of the San Angelo and Brady Polo teams to the effect that Saturday's game only would decide the awarding of trophies, that the Brady team, in fact, won two of the three games and is therefore entitled to receive trophies.

"We take pleasure in shipping you under separate cover five Eglentine Pelham Bits and we will ask you to distribute these bits to the five men who played at San Angelo with the compliments and sincere thanks of the San Angelo Fair Association.

"We sincerely hope that the polo played here this year under rather trying conditions can be made the first of a series of annual contests. Certainly another year we can have the field in better shape and make it more satisfactory for all concerned. Enough interest has been aroused in polo so that the patrons of the San Angelo Fair will mighty near demand a series of games in the future years and we believe that a large number in this territory will start playing the game.

"We again wish to thank you for coming up here and assure you it was a great pleasure to have you gentlemen with us during the Fair."

Card of Thanks.

Because we have no better way, we take this method to express the best we can, our feeling of appreciation to the good people of Placid, who so tenderly and sympathetically administered during the illness of our precious mother and wife, Mrs. S. V. Wood. The untiring and faithful service of the good doctor will ever linger in our memories. For the prompt and efficient service rendered by the telephone and Western Union operators, we are very grateful. The many special words and deeds of kindness from loving hearts and tender hands, touches our emotion too deep for expression. The floral offering speaks to our hearts that which words fail to convey. Our prayer for and devotion to each of you shall not cease so long as life shall last. May the blessings of the Heavenly Father and the kindness of loving friends ever be yours, as has been ours, in this time of sorrow and disappointment.

Extravagant.

A man who had just opened a store in a strange town, was interrogating one of his early customers on the purchasing power of the citizens. "Now there's Deacon Brown," he said. "He has the reputation of being wealthy. Would he be likely to spend much money in here?" "Wa'al," drawled the native reflectively, "I wouldn't exactly say that he'd go to hell for a nickel, but he'd fish around for one till he fell in."—Salt Lake Telegram.

SEEING POWER OF INSECTS

Interesting Data Collected in Connection With Studies in Comparison
With the Human Eye.

Very curious data have been collected in regard to the seeing powers of insects. The human eye in perfect condition is able to see objects separately that are only one minute of arc apart. Put two objects, as, for instance, two black circles, on a white
ground just one inch apart and then
place them at a distance of about 280 1/2 feet. As seen with the naked eye the apparent space between the circles will be a minute of arc. This space is plainly the limit of detail visible to the unassisted human eye.

Now it might be supposed that an insect, having a compound eye, would
be able to see more detail than we do;
in other words, could separate small objects closer together. As a matter of fact, owing to the small aperture of
the lenses composing the facets of the eye, and the spacing between the facets, insects see less detail than
we do.

It has been calculated that a dragon-
fly cannot see separately two objects
that are placed less than one degree
apart. In other words, to such an insect two silver coins lying on a table
three inches apart, and viewed from a distance exceeding 1 1/4 feet, would appear as a single object.

Bees and flies, according to the same investigator, are still more limited in their ability to see the details of objects presented to their eyes. A fly could see the two silver coins above
described separately only at a distance not exceeding about seven feet.

It has been remarked as a consequence of this that we can see the details on the antennae of a fly at a distance of two feet or more better than the fly itself can, though they are but
the fraction of an inch from its eyes.

CURED MONARCH OF AVARICE

Power of Turning Everything He Touched into Gold Quickly Palled
on King Midas.

It was because King Midas helped
a drunken companion of Bacchus to
sober up that he received the power
of turning everything into gold at his touch. Bacchus had offered to grant Midas anything he asked, and the king wished this unpleasant power
upon himself, according to Ovid.

Midas enjoyed himself immensely
at first, turning twigs, apples, stones
and clods of earth into gold. But the trouble began as soon as he sat down
to eat. The bread he touched turned to gold and defied his teeth. The wine flowed down his throat as liquid
gold.

According to an embellished version of the myth, the crowning misfortune wrought by Midas' curse in
blessing's guise was when, in the act
of caressing his little daughter, he turned the child into a golden statue.

Bacchus had been aware that the
gift was anything but desirable.
So, believing Midas cured of avarice,
he sent the king to wash away the
power in the fountainhead of the River Pactolus. As a result of his bath, the sands of that river remain
golden to this day.

Peculiar Deep-Sea Fish.

The Aristeus, a deep-sea prawn, has
a method of lighting that gives the appearance of a multitude of smoke rings.
When excited by the nearness of an enemy, the prawn ejects respiratory water in tiny squirts and into this stream
the luciferin is forced from countless glands opening into the stream by fine
ducts. As the chemicals combine, puffy clouds of luminescent particles float
in the sea. This is the "smoke screen"
provided by nature.

The species of luminous fish, called
"Photoblephron," has a dimmer system in an inside chamber and burns continuously. When the fish wishes to shut off the light, he causes a black
pigmented curtain to slide down over
the light cell's opening like an eyelid.
The light organ preserves its lumines-
cence even when removed and is used
by fishermen of the islands of Banda,
about 800 miles southeast of the Philippines, as bait for night fishing.

The Singer and the Song.

A song is a great adventure. Thousands write it, tens succeed; and
when they have succeeded, its fate
still lies entirely with the singer. No
one ever had it so much in his power
to make the worse appear the better
cause, or to refrain from so doing.
The ancients placed Thamyris and Narada among the gods; the moderns
pay their counterparts royalties. But the singer's personality is still incumbent in terms of canonization or of cash. That personality means all that he has been able to crowd into his life;
and he may still enlarge it. A good
way to do that is to read all the poetry
that he does not sing, and to listen to
all the music written for some other instrument than the voice.—A. H. Fox
Strangways.

1918 WAR SAVINGS STAMPS MATURE FIRST OF YEAR—4% COMPOUNDED QUARTERLY

The largest money melon ever sliced upon and handed around in this section will be cut by the U. S. Government January 1, 1923, for owners of 1918 War Savings Stamps—
this is less than two and a half months off, announcement was made
today by Postmaster H. N. Cook.

War Savings Stamps of the 1918
Series, bought in 1918 for four dollars and a few cents, mature for payment at $5 each January 1, and each stamp will then have netted every
owner not less than 75 cents or 4%,
compounded quarterly, he pointed out.

"Locally many individuals, business
firms, and organizations own goodly
amounts of 1918 War Savings Stamps
and they get in on the 'melon-cutting.' In this Federal Reserve District, according to information I have received from Federal Savings Director Hume of Dallas, our people own
more than $100,000,000 of 1918
Stamps," said Postmaster Cook.

"Watch out for the sharper who offers to buy your 1918 stamps. He is
after your profit. Remember, too,
these stamps are not legally trans-
ferable from one person to another.
It is better to be safe than sorry;
see your postmaster before listening
to the person who wants to buy your stamps. Don't let the sharper 'do'
you out of your rightful profit."

Persons will be allowed to exchange
their War Savings Stamps of the 1918 series for Treasury Savings Certificates, registered against loss or depreciation in any way, which yield
about 21.95% interest in five years;

or they will be allowed to cash them
in for $5 a piece.
"Owing to the popularity of Treasury Savings Certificates, we expect
a great many 1918 stamp owners will exchange their matured stamps for Treasury Savings Certificates after January 1," he declared.

Opie Read

The man who edited, published and wrote the Arkansas Traveler for a number of years established himself as a humorist. But his aspirations being to edit and make people think, as well as to amuse them, he turned to novelistic effort. The result has been a large number of typically American tales, mostly about the South, which, for plots, character drawing, narrative powers and other qualities, have caused him to be compared favorably with the leading fiction writers of the world.

Mr. Read was born in Tennessee, but has lived for a number of years in Chicago. Formerly he wrote so many stories—and amazingly good ones, too—
that people all over the country began to complain of loss of sleep through trying to keep up with them.
He is about 70 years of age, but is vigorously a quarter of a century younger. Having become one of the most popular platform speakers, his time is almost entirely filled with Chautauqua, Lyceum and other lecture engagements, but he still manages to turn out a novel now and then. We have been fortunate enough to secure "Parwick House," his latest delightful tale of the old Scotland, to be run as a serial in this paper. Watch for it.

OVER MILLION AND HALF PERSONS KILLED AND INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS YEARLY

"In 1921 there were more than one million and a half people killed and injured in automobile accidents — more than six times the number of Americans that were killed and injured in the world war. These accidents caused disabilities and property damage amounting to over one billion dollars."

"With ten million automobiles in every imaginable state of mechanical fitness on the streets and roadways of America today, directed by ten million drivers of every conceivable shade of expertness and carefulness, the question of safety in motoring has developed into a problem," says the Milwaukee Journal, "which is the subject of much study and discussion all over the United States."

That this is a most timely topic is evidenced by a statement in a recent article in the American Motorist, official organ of the American Automobile Association, which is as follows: "It is hard to believe, but nevertheless true, that more lives have been lost in one year in the United States through traffic mishaps than America lost in the World war," so something must be done to reduce this awful slaughter, to lessen the terrible, wholesale injuries being inflicted on our citizens and to diminish the gigantic property loss from motor car accidents.

The country deprecates the loss of some 48,000 of its brave boys in the late war, but why this apathy as to the terrible losses sustained annually from automobile mishaps?

Is not the pleasure car proving to be more of a curse to this country than a blessing?

One way to practically eliminate accidents from collision and those inflicted upon the walking public is to compel and enforce by law the use of arm signals or some adequate signaling device, and this device should be entirely mechanical, for anything operating electrically fails at times and cannot be depended upon in so vital a matter.

The device should be attached to the car to or near the windshield at the driver's left, where everybody is in the habit of looking for arm signals; should preferably be of semaphore type and should make the exact motions now in general use for arm signals, viz: extending hori-

Such mechanical signal so positioned on a car may be seen by approaching as well as following drivers, by traffic officers, pedestrians and the signaling driver himself, so that he knows it works.

No guess work or doubt about it as is the case with electrical contrivances and especially those positioned on the rear of cars.

The semaphore blade should be enameled a brilliant and lasting red.

Lights on approaching cars or those at street intersections will illuminate the signal at night or a small lamp may be placed over the device which will come into action on operating the signal.

Arm signals are not as efficient as the semaphore arm described, for to retain control of the car the human arm thrust out must be quickly drawn in, while the mechanical arm may be extended a considerable distance from where the contemplated turn or stop is to be made, so there can be no excuse for an accident to either motorists or pedestrians.

The human arm is often thrust out for no purpose at all and in consequence, other drivers take a chance and accidents result, so the semaphore arm is by far the more safe to use for the purpose.

A number of states have laws and several municipalities ordinances requiring the method described for arm signals while a few require movements at slight variance.

The laws for signals should be identical and the same in all states.

Allowing the use of a number of signaling devices of various character in lieu of the use of the human arm will only cause complications, and the mechanical signal to be most effective for the purpose must make the exact motions of the human arm and be positioned on the car where others are in the habit of looking for arm signals.

A uniform or standard code of signals for use by operators of automobiles is bound to come sooner or later.

"Why not now?"

Why delay legislation which will almost at once result in a great reduction in the awful slaughter and the terrible casualties now occurring in every state, municipality and community? The motor car is here to stay but is not the pleasure car proving to be more of a curse than a blessing?

Would the people of the United States countenance the permanent continuation of a war that would take the annual toll of its citizens now claimed by the automobile?

Action must be taken through legislation to secure results.

Proposed Uniform Vehicle Signal Law

Before turning to the left, the driver of any vehicle shall warn or notify other drivers, pedestrians and traffic officers in the immediate vicinity by means of an arm extended horizontally from side of vehicle fully fifteen inches; before turning to the right, an arm shall be extended as aforesaid at an approximate angle of 45 degrees above said horizontal position; before materially decreasing speed or stopping, an arm shall be extended as aforesaid at an approximate angle of 45 degrees below said horizontal position; or a mechanical signal with a red semaphore blade four to five inches wide at its outer end, which must be extended outwardly from side of vehicle at or near the windshield fully fifteen and not more than eighteen inches may be used in lieu of arm aforesaid, providing the same must be adapted to assume the identical position as hereinbefore designated for arm signals.

A TWICE-TOLD TALE.

One of Interest to Our Readers. Good news bears repeating, and when it is confirmed after a long lapse of time, even if we hesitated to believe it at first hearing, we feel secure in accepting its truth now. The following experience of a Brady man is confirmed after four years.

A. H. Connor, carpenter, says: "My back hurt me pretty bad and it seemed that the pains were mostly over my left kidney. My kidneys were congested and the secretions pained in passage and contained sediment. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at the Jones Drug Co., relieved the trouble with my back and regulated my kidneys."

OVER YOUR YEARS LATER, Mr. Connor said: "I think Doan's Kidney Pills are a fine kidney remedy and I find occasional use of them to keep my kidneys in good shape."

SEEING POWER OF INSECTS

Interesting Data Collected in Connection With Studies in Comparison
With the Human Eye.

Very curious data have been collected in regard to the seeing powers of insects. The human eye in perfect condition is able to see objects separately that are only one minute of arc
apart. Put two objects, as, for instance, two black circles, on a white
ground just one inch apart and then
place them at a distance of about 250 1/2 feet. As seen with the naked
eye the apparent space between the circles will be a minute of arc. This space is plainly the limit of detail visible to the unassisted human eye.
Now it might be supposed that an
insect, having a compound eye, would
be able to see more detail than we do;
in other words, could separate small
objects closer together. As a matter
of fact, owing to the small aperture of
the lenses composing the facets of the
eye, and the spacing between the
facets, insects see less detail than
we do.

It has been calculated that a dragon-
fly cannot see separately two objects
that are placed less than one degree
apart. In other words, to such an insect two silver coins lying on a table
three inches apart, and viewed from a distance exceeding 1 1/4 feet, would
appear as a single object.

Bees and flies, according to the
same investigator, are still more limited in their ability to see the details
of objects presented to their eyes. A
fly could see the two silver coins above
described separately only at a distance not exceeding about seven feet.

It has been remarked as a consequence of this that we can see the details on the antennae of a fly at a distance of two feet or more better than
the fly itself can, though they are but
the fraction of an inch from its eyes.

CURED MONARCH OF AVARICE

Power of Turning Everything He Touched into Gold Quickly Faded
on King Midas.

It was because King Midas helped
a drunken companion of Bacchus to
sober up that he received the power
of turning everything into gold at his
touch. Bacchus had offered to grant
Midas anything he asked, and the
king wished this unpleasant power
upon himself, according to Ovid.
Midas enjoyed himself immensely
at first, turning twigs, apples, stones
and clods of earth into gold. But the
trouble began as soon as he sat down
to eat. The bread he touched turned
to gold and defied his teeth. The wine
flowed down his throat as liquid
gold.

According to an embellished version of the myth, the crowning misfortune wrought by Midas' curse in
blessing's guise was when, in the act
of caressing his little daughter, he turned the child into a golden statue.

Bacchus had been aware that the
gift was anything but desirable.
So, believing Midas cured of avarice,
he sent the king to wash away the
power in the fountainhead of the River Pactolus. As a result of his
bath, the sands of that river remain
golden to this day.

Peculiar Deep-Sea Fish.

The Aristeus, a deep-sea prawn, has
a method of lighting that gives the appearance of a multitude of smoke rings.
When excited by the nearness of an
enemy, the prawn ejects respiratory water in tiny squirts and into this stream
the luciferin is forced from countless
glands opening into the stream by fine
ducts. As the chemicals combine, puff
clouds of luminescent particles float
in the sea. This is the "smoke screen"
provided by nature.

The species of luminous fish, called
"Photoblephron," has a dimmer system in an inside chamber and burns
continuously. When the fish wishes to shut off the light, he causes a black
pigmented curtain to slide down over
the light cell's opening like an eyelid.
The light organ preserves its lumines-
cence even when removed and is used
by fishermen of the islands of Banda,
about 800 miles southeast of the Philip-
pines, as bait for night fishing.

The Singer and the Song.

A song is a great adventure. Thousands write it, tens succeed; and
when they have succeeded, its fate
still lies entirely with the singer. No
one ever had it so much in his power
to make the worse appear the better
cause, or to refrain from so doing.
The ancients placed Thamyris and Narada among the gods; the moderns
pay their counterparts royalties. But the singer's personality is still incalculable in terms of ennoblement or of cash. That personality means all that he has been able to crowd into his life;
and he may still enlarge it. A good
way to do that is to read all the poetry
that he does not sing, and to listen to
all the music written for some other
instrument than the voice.—A. H. Fox
Strangways.

1918 WAR SAVINGS STAMPS MATURE FIRST OF YEAR—4% COMPOUNDED QUARTERLY

The largest money melon ever
sliced upon and handed around in this section will be cut by the U. S. Government January 1, 1923, for owners of 1918 War Savings Stamps—
this is less than two and a half
months off, announcement was made
today by Postmaster H. N. Cook.

War Savings Stamps of the 1918
Series, bought in 1918 for four dollars and a few cents, mature for payment at $5 each January 1, and each
stamp will then have netted every
owner not less than 75 cents or 4%,
compounded quarterly, he pointed out.

"Locally many individuals, business
firms, and organizations own goodly
amounts of 1918 War Savings Stamps
and they get in on the 'melon-cutting.' In this Federal Reserve District, according to information I have
received from Federal Savings Director Hume of Dallas, our people own
more than $100,000,000 of 1918
Stamps," said Postmaster Cook.
"Watch out for the sharper who offers to buy your 1918 stamps. He is
after your profit. Remember, too,
these stamps are not legally trans-
ferable from one person to another.
It is better to be safe than sorry;
see your postmaster before listening
to the person who wants to buy your stamps. Don't let the sharper 'do'
you out of your rightful profit."

Persons will be allowed to exchange
their War Savings Stamps of the 1918 series for Treasury Savings Certificates, registered against loss or
depreciation in any way, which yield
about 21.95% interest in five years;

or they will be allowed to cash them
in for $5 a piece.

"Owing to the popularity of Treasury Savings Certificates, we expect
a great many 1918 stamp owners will
exchange their matured stamps for Treasury Savings Certificates after
January 1," he declared.

OVER MILLION AND HALF PERSONS KILLED AND INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS YEARLY

"In 1921 there were more than one million and a half people killed and injured in automobile accidents—more than six times the number of Americans that were killed and injured in the world war. These accidents caused disabilities and property damage amounting to over one billion dollars."

"With ten million automobiles in every imaginable state of mechanical fitness on the streets and roadways of America today, directed by ten million drivers of every conceivable shade of expertness and carefulness, the question of safety in motoring has developed into a problem," says the Milwaukee Journal, "which is the subject of much study and discussion all over the United States."

That this is a most timely topic is evidenced by a statement in a recent article in the American Motorist, official organ of the American Automobile Association, which is as follows: "It is hard to believe, but nevertheless true, that more lives have been lost in one year in the United States through traffic mishaps than America lost in the World war," so something must be done to reduce this awful slaughter, to lessen the terrible, wholesale injuries being inflicted on our citizens and to diminish the gigantic property loss from motor car accidents.

The country deplores the loss of some 48,000 of its brave boys in the late war, but why this apathy as to the terrible losses sustained annually from automobile mishaps?

Is not the pleasure car proving to be more of a curse to this country than a blessing?

One way to practically eliminate accidents from collision and those inflicted upon the walking public is to compel and enforce by law the use of arm signals or some adequate signaling device, and this device should be entirely mechanical, for anything operating electrically fails at times and cannot be depended upon in so vital a matter.

The device should be attached to the car to or near the windshield at the driver's left, where everybody is in the habit of looking for arm signals; it should preferably be of semaphore type and should make the exact motions now in general use for arm signals, viz: extending hori-

Such mechanical signal so positioned on a car may be seen by approaching as well as following drivers, by traffic officers, pedestrians and the signaling driver himself, so that he knows it works.

No guess work or doubt about it as is the case with electrical contrivances and especially those positioned on the rear of cars.

The semaphore blade should be enameled a brilliant and lasting red.

Lights on approaching cars or those at street intersections will illuminate the signal at night or a small lamp may be placed over the device which will come into action on operating the signal.

Arm signals are not as efficient as the semaphore arm described, for to retain control of the car the human arm thrust out must be quickly drawn in, while the mechanical arm may be extended a considerable distance from where the contemplated turn or stop is to be made, so there can be no excuse for an accident to either motorists or pedestrians.

The human arm is often thrust out for no purpose at all and in consequence, other drivers take a chance and accidents result, so the semaphore arm is by far the more safe to use for the purpose.

A number of states have laws and several municipalities ordinances requiring the method described for arm signals while a few require movements at slight variance.

The laws for signals should be identical and the same in all states.

Allowing the use of a number of signaling devices of various character in lieu of the use of the human arm will only cause complications, and the mechanical signal to be most effective for the purpose must make the exact motions of the human arm and be positioned on the car where others are in the habit of looking for arm signals.

A uniform or standard code of signals for use by operators of automobiles is bound to come sooner or later.

"Why not now?"

Why delay legislation which will almost at once result in a great reduction in the awful slaughter and the terrible casualties now occurring in every state, municipality and community?

The motor car is here to stay but is not the pleasure car proving to be more of a curse than a blessing?

Would the people of the United States countenance the permanent continuation of a war that would take the annual toll of its citizens now claimed by the automobile?

Action must be taken through legislation to secure results.

Proposed Uniform Vehicle Signal Law

Before turning to the left, the driver of any vehicle shall warn or notify other drivers, pedestrians and traffic officers in the immediate vicinity by means of an arm extended horizontally from side of vehicle fully fifteen inches; before turning to the right, an arm shall be extended as aforesaid at an approximate angle of 45 degrees above said horizontal position; before materially decreasing speed or stopping, an arm shall be extended as aforesaid at an approximate angle of 45 degrees below said horizontal position; or a mechanical signal with a red semaphore blade four to five inches wide at its outer end, which must be extended outwardly from side of vehicle at or near the windshield fully fifteen and not more than eighteen inches may be used in lieu of arm aforesaid, providing the same must be adapted to assume the identical position as hereinbefore designated for arm signals.

One of Interest to Our Readers.

Good news bears repeating, and when it is confirmed after a long lapse of time, even if we hesitated to believe it at first hearing, we feel secure in accepting its truth now. The following experience of a Brady man is confirmed after four years.

OVER YOUR YEARS LATER.

A. H. Connor, carpenter, says: "My back hurt me pretty bad and it seemed that the pains were mostly over my left kidney. My kidneys were congested and the secretions passed in passage and contained sediment. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at the Jones Drug Co., relieved the trouble with my back and regulated my kidneys."

Mr. Connor said: "I think Doan's Kidney Pills are a fine kidney remedy and I find occasional use of them to keep my kidneys in good shape."

ANNUAL CONVENTION PUGET-SOUND TO GULF HERE NEXT WEDNESDAY

BRADY CHOSEN AS MEETING PLACE OF GOOD ROADS BOOSTERS OF GREATEST HIGHWAY IN THIS SECTION—PUGET-SOUND TO GULF.

Wm. D. Cargill, secretary of the Brady Chamber of Commerce, is in receipt of a wire from John Boswell of Plainview, secretary of the Puget-Sound to Gulf highway, announcing that Brady has been chosen as the meeting place for the annual convention of the association, and that the meeting is scheduled for next Wednesday, November 22nd. Prominent road officials, as well as highway boosters all along the line from Corpus Christi to Texline, will be in attendance. Mr. Boswell, himself, will arrive here next Tuesday to help make preparations for the meeting.

In addition to being secretary of the highway association, Mr. Boswell is also secretary of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce, and is one of the liveliest of live wires. He has always shown a disposition to work hand in hand with other live wires in all matters pertaining to good roads, and as well the general interests of the section traversed by this great highway system, and he has been particularly friendly with the Brady boosters. In bringing the convention to Brady, there is no doubt but what Mr. Boswell desired particularly to give Brady all the prominence possible, and to firmly establish her position as one of the liveliest towns on the Puget-Sound to the Gulf. Brady and Brady citizens will find it greatly to their interest to tie in with Mr. Boswell and his associates, and to help in making this annual convention one of the best ever held by the association.

It is expected that something like 70 or 80 delegates will be in attendance, and meetings of the association will be held in the district court room. These meetings are open to the public; in fact, it is earnestly desired that the general public attend these meetings and learn something of the problems the highway association has to meet, and the opinions of the various boosters upon the subject of highways.

As before stated Mr. Boswell will be here Tuesday to help complete arrangements and to approve the program. In the meantime, everyone should talk the convention in order that wide publicity may be given to the meeting.

COLEMAN COUNTY GRAND JURY INDICTS PETERSEN AND TURNING THIS WEEK

The Coleman county grand jury, in session this week at Coleman, returned indictments against W. Petersen (alias Marvin Holmes) and T. W. Turning, the two men arrested some few weeks ago by local officers on a charge of burglary and theft from the Cawyer and Squyres business houses at Mercury. The indictments resulted from burglaries committed some time ago at Talpa, some of the loot found in the Buick car driven by the two men, having been identified by the Talpa druggist, S. P. Hale, as having been taken from his store at the time the theft was committed. Sheriff Hamilton of Coleman county has taken charge of the two men and has carried them to Coleman where they will be tried on the Coleman indictment in district court now in session in that city.

MALONE & RAGSDALE SHOW WINDOW IS LOOTED

Using a rock wrapped in a newspaper and tied with a brown shoe string, some bold burglars sometime Sunday night smashed a hole in the heavy plate glass window of the Malone & Ragsdale store and looted the show window of a portion of its display of watches and jewelry. The missile was left lying within the show window where it had fallen after crashing through the heavy glass. The job appears to have been most expertly done, the hole being amply large to permit of the hand and arm of the perpetrator to be easily inserted, while at the same time only the lower one-fourth of the window was cracked and broken. The robbers carried off everything within reach, including two gents' watches, three wrist watches, a pearl necklace, diamond bar pin and other articles, the loot totaling about $500. One of the watches was a particularly beautiful one of white gold and was valued at $100. The shoe string appears to offer the only clue as to the identity of the robbers. No insurance was carried by Malone & Ragsdale on their window display, and the Brady National bank, which owns the building, carried no insurance on the plate glass.

Robbery at Rochelle.

Co-incident with the above robbery, the report is had that the Sellman Mercantile Co. store at Rochelle was robbed Thursday night, the robbers using similar methods. A rock tied in a handkerchief was used to break the window, after which the Yale lock could easily be manipulated from the outside through the aperture. The amount of loot obtained in the store included shoes and caps and probably gloves, shirts, Ingersoll watches and pocket knives, together with a small amount of cash out of the drawer. The total loss was not over $30.00.

LAST CALL FOR TURKEYS!

Saturday of this week will be the last day that we will be able to buy Turkeys for the Thanksgiving market. We urge all our customers that want to sell their Turkeys that will come within weights advertised that we will buy, not to wait until Saturday, as it might be necessary that we would have to stop buying a little sooner, as the railroads are not moving shipments any too fast, and our Mr. Jordan advises us that shipments should reach New York to be distributed not later than the 27th.

From all indications Turkeys will be cheaper for the Christmas market.
