William Powell In Flaming Romance

William Powell's latest stellar vehicle for Warner Bros., "The Key' which comes to the Ritz Theatre Sunday matinee, Monday and Tuesday, is said to be the most thrillingly dramatic production in which that star has yet appeared.

The play by R. Gore-Browne and J. L. Hardy, on which the picture is based, carried an abundance of thrills, set as it was in the background of Dublin during the last decade, when Irish patriots had aroused the country to flaming revolt..

The plot carries an unusual love triangle in which two British officers, engaged in the supprssion of the rebellion, battle for the love of a woman who is the wife of one, but had been the sweetheart of the William Powell has the role of an English officer, a reckless daredevil fighter, a gay dog with no scruples about women. He has had by Edna Best, who later married one of his fellow officers.

Miss Best battles valiantly to overcome her infatuation for the dashing captain, but when her husband, a part enacted by Colin Clive, is called away on duty, she finds her emotions are too strong for her. The unusual outcome of this triangular love affair is revealed in a smashing and surprising climax.

Hobart Cavanaugh, as the gay captain's dog robber, supplies the comedy element to set off the more division of Oklahoma City Universidramatic moments of the production, Hallwiell Hobbes has the role of the English general in charge of the forces in Dublin while Donald Crisp plays the role of the Irish

Bond Election To Be Held Sat. In District No. 22

A careful check of the poll lists of Consolidated Common School Dis O. B. Stalcup, father of Virgil trict No. 22 by the school authorities and a third member of the trio, was reveal that the bond election in that killed in a gun battle with peace district, Saturday of this week, will officers at Medicine Park, Oklahoma probably carry in a ratio of 5 to 3. Sunday, June 17th, at which time People are studying the matter and both young Stalcup and Brown were are understanding the tax situation wounded and taken into custody by better. They are realizing that rain or shine, bonds or no bonds, the tax Stalcup and Brown are charged rate will be one dollar and no more, in this county with robbery with nor less, and that the Commissionfirearms; in Crosby county with ers Court is the only body that can fix the property valuations in Dist. ably will face other charges in 22 as in all other common school districts of the county. Heretofore there has been some who didn't, wouldn't, or couldn't understand the facts that No. 22 is a common school district and that not more than a dollar can be levied in such a district for all school purposes, both bond and maintenance. With the clearing up of this tax situation in the minds of many voters, the bond issue seems to be gaining daily.

The latest figures on the proposed issue of $53,000 in District 22, show that the valuation of real property in the district is $844,064, and the valuation of the personal property in the district is $84,862, making the total property valuations for the district $928,926.

In addition to the $53,000 of proposed new bonds there are outstanding in District 22, $5,425 of old bonds-the former Midway district has $3,150 and the former Croton district, $2,275. These together with the new issue of $53,000 will make a bonded debt against the district of $58,425. Under the State law the district can issue, on its real property valuations, the amount of $59,-000 of bonds. By staying within the statutory limit of 7 percent of bonds -based on real property valuations the district will be enabled to sell its bonds to the State Permenent School Fund at par.

To fund this amount of bonds will require a bond rate of 40 cents on the handred dollars. Thus will be left 60 cents out of the dollar rate, can Flat; Mrs. John Bachman, Sold- for the maintenance of the school. ier Mound; Mrs. E. S. Crider, Mrs. Many districts have a 50-50 rate. H. H. All that can happen is for more of the dollar to be used for bond purposes and less for maintenance.
