DONKEY BALL GAME AT STADIUM IS EXPECTED TO FURNISH REAL EXCITEMENT FOR LOCAL FANS

—something like this, and the old ball just goes on and on!

According to the version of local promoters, if you are subject to those tingling sensations of horripilation, the sky will have "pulling power" for your locks if you attend the big Donkey ball game which takes place a week from tonight, or September 29, at Charles A. Jones Memorial Park Stadium.

Sponsored by the Young Men's Business Club of Spur, the Donkey game to be played between the Spur Red Shirts and the Dickens Eleven is slated to be the funniest thing of the season—with a thrill at every tick of the clock. When twenty-two men mount twenty-two trained donkeys on the diamond, it's bound to be the Burro of the Department of Laughing Jitters.

The double string of donkeys are furnished by the Soft Ball Association of Texas—and take our word for it, they are really trained. And if you think playing ball while mounted on one of those critters isn't some job, just go out next Thursday night and get your viewpoint changed.

The big game is called for 8:00 o'clock, and it won't be amiss for you to get there early, either. An admission of 25c and 50c will be made to see the sights—and it is really cracked up to be worth several times the charge in real fun.

NEW FAMOUS STORE IS STAGING GRAND OPENING FRIDAY MORNING

According to the announcement from the managers of the new "THE FAMOUS STORE," George and John Shadid, the new dry goods concern will swing wide its doors Friday morning at the regular opening hour for its grand opening to the trade of Dickens county and the surrounding territory.

Several weeks have been consumed in getting the store ready for service to the public, and George says that even now he is crowded for time, but that when the sun comes up Friday morning everything will be in readiness to receive the visits of bargain hunters. Additional sales help has already been secured, and a real welcome is planned for the people.

Commenting on the area, George says that he believes the Spur area is a real territory for placement of a store to handle good brands of merchandise, and places a page advertisement in The Texas Spur illustrating some of the opening sale prices that the store will feature. Aside from the stock already on hand, he also states that a vast amount is on the road, and much of it may arrive to be thrown into the big sales event.

The Shadids have disposed of their store at Muleshoe, from which place they have come to Spur to stay. With completion of the decorating and overhauling they have been doing, the firm will have a nice business house and plan to meet public approval with good merchandise.

City Marshal Office Discontinued By City Council

At a meeting held last week the City Council voted unanimously to discontinue the office of City Marshal of the City of Spur, effective October 1, 1938.

This action by the Council was brought about by a need for economy in the administration of the affairs of the Corporation Court, which has been operated in the past at a loss to the City. It is the desire of the City Council to save money where it may be saved without detriment to the general welfare of the City, and in this instance it is believed that the County officers will be fully capable of attending to the enforcement of all criminal laws within the corporate limits of the City as well as throughout the County.

The City will retain the services of a night watchman, and the enforcement of City Ordinances will remain in the hands of the City officials. Sheriff J. L. Koonsman says that he will accept full responsibility for the enforcement of the criminal laws, and will attempt to give satisfactory service, and he says that with the cooperation of the citizens he will be able to enforce the criminal laws with his present staff in cooperation with Constable A. M. Shepherd.

Homemakers Held Program Saturday September 14th

A program that will appeal to all homemakers is scheduled for Saturday, September 24, in the basement of the Methodist Church at 2:30 p. m. Features on the program will be an illustrated lecture on arrangement of flowers and selection of containers by Mrs. O. C. Thomas of Spur. For the more practical minded, there will be a demonstration on up-to-date methods of making jelly in the home, given by Jean Day, Home Demonstration Agent of Dickens county.

In addition to these main features of the program, the club winners of the Ball Jar Canning Contest will be scored by a committee of the Council to determine the county winners. This Ball Jar Contest has been a part of the demonstration programs during this month and there has been a lot of interest in it. The jars that place highest in the county will be put on display downtown the following week.

The exhibit of flowers grown by Home Demonstration Club women will also be a part of this big program. These entries of flowers will be scored by Mrs. Thomas. Every club member will please read these rules and follow them: Enter all the flowers that you wish, but each entry should be in a separate container. Label your entry on the bottom of the container. The entries may be in either of these three classes: roses, annuals of any kind, and perennials of any kind. All entries will be scored for quality of the flowers, kind of container and its suitability to flowers, and the arrangement of flowers.

This educational program has been planned by the Council for the benefit of women all over the county. Every homemaker in the county is urged to come, bring someone with her, and tell others about it. Remember the date, Saturday, at 2:30 in the basement of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. H. O. Albin, Mr. and Mrs. John Albin, went over to Lubbock Sunday to visit the new granddaughter, Julia Seitz, and to accompany Miss Julia Mae Albin who remained to enter Texas Tech Monday.

First Game Gives Bulldogs Good Send-Off

Scampering little Bill Haralson teamed up with big bruising Pete Wilhoit and some blocking and tackling team mates Friday night to bring Spur an opening season victory over the Snyder High School Tigers 19 to 0 at Jones Stadium.

The Spurs displayed good early season form to pick up eleven first downs while Snyder was getting only two. First game fumbles were at a minimum, and an aler Spur forward wall charged through to block three punts. Spur completed only one pass, a twenty-nine yard toss from Haralson to Wilhoit, who carried to the two-yard line. Snyder completed three for 19 yards.

After a see-saw first period, following Snyder's kickoff, the Bulldogs drew first blood soon after the second quarter began. Pres Powell had blocked Snyder's punt and the locals immediately drove to pay dirt territory, with Bill Haralson running and Pete Wilhoit plunging. Haralson carried over from the 13 yard line on an end run. His try for point was low. Spur threatened twice more before timer Mule Davis shot for the half.

Both teams came back strong but the Bulldogs could not be denied and yard after yard in gains were picked up with Sparks, Garner, Haralson, Hurst, and Captain Wilhoit carrying. It wasn't long until that driving paid off, and Haralson carried over center for four yards and his second touchdown. The kick was right between the uprights.

Later in the fourth period, following Wilhoit's snare of a twenty-nine yard pass, Haralson again carried over to complete his scoring for the night. The two elevens then middle-fielded until the whistle.

Spur's victory gave the locals an edge over Snyder two games to one in closing a three game contract (See SNYDER, back page)

And while on the subject of "news" from Austin:

The public is jolly well fed up on stories about that bet that Governor Allred made with the Governor of Colorado at the Cotton Bowl football game whereby Texas "won Pike's Peak." The matter might have been worth a paragraph as a "side-light" on the game but that was 10 months ago. The latest brilliant (?) bit of humor was an application filed at Austin to drill for oil on Pike's Peak.

TAXED FOR CLEANLINESS—A

Tulip Bulbs Should Be Planted Now

Rainbow Assortment Ideal for Giving Splash of Color to the Spring Garden

Comes Fall, and the dyed-in-the-wool gardener starts planning his garden for Spring. And who can think about Spring without paying homage to that grand and glorious monarch of all early flowers, the tulip.

There was a time when only the rich could play with tulips; bulbs brought fabulous prices, and fortunes were involved in the breeding of new varieties. But now the tulip has become a universal favorite, available to everyone in hundreds upon hundreds of varying shapes and colors and shadings. Thanks to the wealth showered upon the tulip in its early days, the hybridizers have given to us a limitless choice of varieties to suit our every taste and whim.

One need not be a professional fancier to obtain the best results in growing tulips. Fortunately for the average person, the tulip bulb possesses the stamina and hardiness to withstand the rigors of winter and the vagaries of early Spring weather. No pampering is required; simply give your bulbs a decent soil with adequate drainage, and plant them about three inches deep. Do not bunch them closer than three or four inches to each other. By planting your bulbs now, before the frost gets in the ground, you can forget them until they reward you with their gorgeous bloom next Spring.

Your bulbs, of course, must be free from blemish and of fresh stock. None should be less than three inches in circumference; if they are smaller the probability is that you will not get a fully matured bloom. The bulbs may be either imported from the Netherlands, or American-raised; there no longer is any reason to favor the imported bulb over the domestic provided your bulbs come from a reliable grower.

What you probably are most interested in when planting tulips is to obtain the touch of color for which they are so highly admired. With hundreds of listed varieties to select from, the task becomes rather staggering to make a choice unless you go in for tulips in a big way. An ideal solution is to plant an assorted collection, thereby obtaining the diversity of color you primarily desire. You will find these assortments featured as Rainbow Collections. Incidentally, it is just such a collection that Campbell Furniture is currently featuring as a gift offering, much to the delight of local flower lovers. In this assortment no two colorings are alike, so that you will have a veritable riot of rainbow hues.

COTTON REPLACES JUTE BAGGING IN SOME TEXAS GINS

Cotton coverings for cotton bales are now in use at gins serving two Texas one-variety cotton communities, Bonnie View of Refugio county and Lone Tree of Victoria county, and will be used by a number of other one-variety associations during the remainder of the season.

The use of cotton bagging as a covering for bales has long been considered, and advocates of the plan have pointed out that a normal crop of cotton in the United States would require the use of about 75 million yards of material or the equivalent of about 135,000 bales of cotton annually.

It is believed that spinners would also welcome the change to cotton as a bagging material, as jute now widely used mixes with the cotton fiber and requires extra time and labor in the cleaning process.

The cotton bagging is offered at 45 cents a pattern without ties f.o.b. the factory. A pattern consists of six yards. This price, which could not have been made with a relatively small volume, was made possible by indemnity payments to manufacturers by the AAA as a part of its program of new uses for cotton.

STATE FAIR PLANS MANY THRILLS FOR VISITORS

Two thrill acts, most daring ever brought to this country, will be offered daily free to visitors to the Golden Jubilee of the State Fair of Texas, October 8 to 23.

The acts, high in the air, will be presented several times daily on the grounds.

"The Aerial Ballet" will be given twice daily before the grandstand. Since the general standard of acrobatics has reached such a high state of excellence, these acts must be good to attract attention. This one evokes gasps and amazement at every performance.

Four men sway on poles above the cross-bar of the 80-foot apparatus. Two women in the act swing just below them. When the act is completed, the sextette defies the laws of gravitation by jumping or somersaulting into a small net on the ground.

The Cimse Company is coming from Latvia with a free act that is said to be the most daring ever presented in Europe.

Frequent Cultivation of Shelterbelt Pays

That frequent cultivation is as profitable in the production of trees as it is in cotton growing in Texas and Oklahoma has been shown conclusively in shelterbelt plantings, it is reported by State Director W. R. Webb of the United States Forest Service, who has just completed an inspection in Texas.

Where care has been conscientious, tree growth has been almost unbelievably rapid. The better-cared-for 1936 and 1937 shelterbelt plantings are near the end of their cultivation periods and are providing considerable protection to adjacent lands.

Trees on shelterbelts which have received less care are smaller, and not yet able to protect the lands so well. In addition to delaying their effectiveness, farmers who have devoted less attention to their shelterbelts will have to continue cultivation a couple of years longer than otherwise would have been necessary.

The rate of tree growth is in direct relation to the care the shelterbelts have received, Mr. Webb said.

Shelterbelts are located to protect fields against the hot winds of late summer, and soil blowing in winter and spring. The sooner a shelterbelt becomes effective the more quickly the farmer profits through its protection of land and crops and its ability to furnish fuel and fence posts, Mr. Webb pointed out.

Get Into The Swim

Next month, a week will be given to informing the public of the hazards of one of man's most destructive enemies—uncontrolled fire. Fire Prevention Week, which has been an annual event ever since it was proclaimed by President Wilson more than two decades ago, will begin October 9th and run through the 15th.

A few vivid figures illustrate the importance of the Week. Each year fire destroys about $300,000,000 worth of property directly—and the indirect loss brings the total to the billion-dollar mark. Worse yet, it kills 10,000 people horribly—an average of 27 each day. This is what carelessness, ignorance and incompetence breed.

There isn't a hamlet in the country which won't be reached to some extent through Fire Prevention Week activities. And there isn't a citizen in the country who can provide a sound alibi if he fails to absorb some of the simple facts and information that are all that is needed to prevent and control fires. Governors of states and other public officials will take part. Insurance organizations will issue pamphlets, run advertisements in newspapers and periodicals, and prepare window displays. Fire marshals and chiefs will speak. Every media of communication involving the spoken and printed word will be brought into play in a concentrated national effort to make the Week a success.

Believe it or not, fire prevention is fun—even as instruction in fire prevention is nowadays made dramatic and entertaining. It doesn't take much in either time or money. It does pay tremendous dividends. Mark down the date of Fire Prevention Week on your calendar—and get into the swim.

RECENTLY these two sentences appeared as part of an advertisement of a great American corporation: "Modern executives, careful to avoid snap-judgment decisions, know that questions involving important policies require time for careful study of all the facts involved. 'I'll get the figures and think it over,' says the wise manager."

There are some things to be learned from a study of these sentences. First of all, it is not wise to make snap-judgment decisions in business. Next, remember that all business decisions, even yours and mine, should be based on a foundation of cold figures. Few are the mistakes made in business by men who "get the figures and think it over."

Some men get the facts and reach correct conclusions, but yet fail to have their views accepted or their decisions carried out properly. Be guided by the thought in this sentence: "At this point Mr. B. realized that although he was making good his progress was being hampered because of a lack of knowledge in the use of words."

Whether speaking or writing you should be able to express yourself in clear, concise English. Many men have most of the qualities which make for success, yet are held back from their final goal because of a limited vocabulary and because of inability to make their thoughts and decisions clear to others.

We're taking our text from Coach Wadzeck's chapter of proverbs told to his Bulldogs this week in preparation for Friday's game with the Sweetwater Mustangs. Coach has been preaching "be ye mindful of those powerful ponies." We pass on to you some info about "them" broncos that are raising eyebrows in the Oil Belt this year. Despite only one returning regular linesman, the Sweets have capable replacements. It's a different story in their secondary where four lettermen return to gridiron wars of this year. The starting backfield averages 160 pounds compared to a starting eleven of a 171 pound average, which is slightly more ounces than the locals carry. Jittery Jake Webster, triple-threat 185 pounder, is the chief leather-lugger for the Mustangs; he plays fullback. Jake is aided by Buck Wetsel, 153 pounds of end running and blocking power. Cecil Voss, fine end of all-district calibre, is the veteran linesman.

A novel training camp idea has the Crosbyton Chiefs dodging a nickname of Cottonpickers. While training at Two-Draw Lake near Post the Chiefs took time out to pick the first bale of cotton in Garza County. You'll have to admit the farmer was pretty smart, because where else but a football training camp could he get thirty or more huskies at one time. Maybe the Crosbytoners asked for a split of the premium, and maybe that same smart farmer said, the workout was worth it.

Those Terrible Turks from Turkey, who the Bulldogs will entertain October 12 aren't gobbling any boosts yet but with all-district fullback, Lawrence Arnold, and five lettermen returning, they might do some powerful deep pecking later on down conference history. Five returning squaddies and a host of first year recruits add strut to the Gobblers.

The first man I met on the street after last week's column came out convinced me that I was wrong on one of my All-Time Spur Football Team. How could I leave Henry Scoggins off. Well sir, I can't. And so place the big bruising Henry on my team to replace Richard Gibson, who goes to the second squad. And here is the B-Eleven: ends—Pete Wilhoit and Thumpy Carr, you know Pete from Friday night and Carr was one of Spur's famous ineligibleibles of '29. He was big, fast, and was a pass snatching demon; tackles—Gibson, and Double Tough Morrison; guards—Buck Wilhoit and Kit Carson Hefner, two rough and tough linesmen from Thad Murley's gang, of several years back; center—fiery little James Bumpus, who couldn't be kept off the first string, were he as big as Gaines, Rodgers, or McCormick; quarterback—Harvey Wolfe or Skeeter Lewis, one as good as the other and both smart, blocking, and alert field generals; halfbacks, Bob Harrell, the backbone of last years district champs, and Adrain "Rick"

Rickles, who could block anything that put on football pants; fullback, George Lisenby, almost a death sentence to anyone trying to tackle him. So there they are. And wouldn't you pay money, marbles or chalk to see those guys tangle with last week's first lineup. It would be just as good as good as a battle royal between Texas Tech and Hardin-Simmons, with Spur High and Slaton's Tigers thrown in for effect.

First breather we get from pouring Bulldog gossip in your ear, we are going down to Jayton and get the low down on their initial high school football team. They are just getting football started and interest is picking up in Kent County gridiron palaver.

Short Sport Shorts—Coach Martin's Matador Matadors have two victories to date...somebody better sprinkle the stadium for the next game, players and officials were both coughing up yelps about it Friday night...remember the two Martin boys that played for Spur in past years, Harry and Fuzzy...football talent come to the Bulldogs in families, of the Barretts, and the Hahns, and then the Haratsons, they were reckless gridiron boys...there were other brothers but that's a shot for next weeks target...lets follow the team to Sweetwater...its legal there you know...we mean to follow the team.

Grain Market Unsettled; Federal Wheat Purchases Increase Corn Loan Rates

Domestic grain markets were unsettled during the week ended September 2, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Purchases by the Federal Surplus Commodity Corporation were a strengthening influence in the wheat market and domestic prices were fairly well maintained despite further sharp drops at Winnipeg and Liverpool. The 7c per bushel increase in the rate of federal loans on corn in store from the 1937 crop tended to offset the slackening export trade, but the market turned somewhat weaker as new crop prospects continued generally favorable and ample supplies seemed assured.

The general wheat situation continued weak. Prices at Winnipeg dropped to the lowest point since 1932, while the Liverpool market was at the lowest level since 1935. Liberal offerings from exporting countries under recently adopted export programs were weakening influence since demand was slow, with importers generally awaiting more settled market conditions before making important commitments. Harvesting was near completion at the close of the week in the Canadian prairie provinces and trade estimators placed the spring wheat crop at around 342,000,000 bushels.

Corn markets declined one-half cent per bushel despite the strengthening influence of the increase in federal loan rates. Prospects of ample supplies with some slackening in the export trade as a result of increased competition of the new crop continued generally favorable in the eastern half of the corn belt with the crop maturing rapidly. In southwestern Missouri, western Kansas, western Nebraska and part of North and South Dakota much of the corn has been seriously damaged by the drought. The crop was in good condition generally in Iowa with that in southern and western sections safe from frost.

The Agricultural Adjustment Administration announced on August 27 that loans of 57c per bushel would be made on corn produced in 1937 to renew the current 50c loans. The new loans will be available until in November 1938 to farmers in the commercial corn producing area and will mature on August 1, 1939. Only farmers in the commercial corn area who planted 102 percent of their corn acreage allotted under the 1938 agricultural conservation program will be eligible for the renewal loans. At the close of August, about $21,500,000 on previous loans was still outstanding.

Mrs. R. L. Westerman returned Monday from a visit to a sister, Mrs. C. D. Walker, of Apache, Oklahoma, who is very seriously ill; a brother, John Mann, accompanied her on the trip from Hale Center, to Apache, and return to his home. While enroute she stopped over at Plainview to visit her son-in-law and daughter, agreement. Next week the Bulldogs step up to Class A company to engage the Sweetwater Mustangs at Sweetwater. Picked as the team to beat in the Oil Belt, Sweetwater scouts here for the game, told of how the Mustangs might shoot the works to unseat the bronco riding Bulldogs Friday night.

It was a good opening game and indicated that Spur has ability to carry on again this season. The starting lineup may have to be iron men this year but Jack Powell, tackle; Bill D. Bell, center; Morrison, halfback; McClain, end; and other reserves showed that they might argue the question a bit. Pres Powell and Culbert were alert and in on several good plays for the night; Pete Wilhoit is potentially plunger enough for his fullback job—however he is a part end to lose for that position; Ousley, guard, was very much in the game in the forward wall, and Jeff Smart, center, showed a gob of good defensive play. Doyle Bingham, heavyweight tackle, gave a good account of his plans for a bangup good season. The entire backfield clicked most of the time and reserves carried on in first string manner. Barring injuries and upsets the 1938 edition of Spur Bulldogs may surprise you but none around their camp is going out on the limb to predict another district championship.

WHO WROTE IT?

My Sweetheart's The Man In The Moon

My sweet-heart's the man he was a singing waiter before he became a songwriter, and songwriting led him to a long and prosperous career in vaudeville. Bon-vivante, friend to his contemporary great, he amassed and spent or gave away several fortunes in the days he toured America "rocking the cradle of vaudeville."

He wrote many songs on inspiration. Once, when his wife complained that he didn't love her, he told her that he loved her just as he did when she was sweet sixteen. Out of that grew the song "When You Were Sweet Sixteen". During the Chicago World's Fair of 1893, he remarked of Little Egypt, "She never saw the streets of Cairo", and from that grew another song.

His long life drew to a close only recently, and hundreds of celebrities of the music world, the theatre and radio attended his last rites. The American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, of which he was a member, continues to pay his heirs his share of the earnings of the Society from the licensing of its repertoire to commercial users of music.
