

Swine Flu Shots Next Wednesday

Swine flu vaccine will be available to all North Runnels residents next Wednesday, November 17, at the Winters Community Center, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

A team of eight nurses and administrators from Region 4 of the State Health Department will be in charge of giving the shots. There also will be about 40 local volunteers working to prevent delays in giving the shots.

Local volunteers will meet at 2 p.m. November 15 to make final plans for the program.

Mrs. Maxwell, of Abilene, a nurse with the State Health Department, said the vaccine will be available to all adults from 18 years old. No children's shots will be given, she said.

Persons 65 years of age, and those under 65 with chronic illnesses, will receive the bivalent vaccine. Persons under 65, without chronic illnesses, will receive the monovalent vaccine. Persons 18-24 with chronic illnesses should contact their private physicians for instructions on taking the vaccine.

Mrs. Maxwell said persons allergic to eggs should not take the vaccine. She also stressed that if anyone has doubts about taking the vaccine, they should contact their physicians.

There will be no charge for the vaccine.

Local physicians have had a limited supply of both types of vaccine and have administered the inoculations to patients during the past several days, it was learned. There also is no charge for the shots when given by physicians privately, it was said.

State Health Department personnel, and local volunteers, have asked that all who plan to get the swine flu vaccine to come to the Community Center as early as possible and to help prevent long lines and delays.

Winters-Ballinger Classic Friday

The annual Runnels County football classic—the battle for the county championship—will be staged Friday evening, as the Winters Blizzards meet the Ballinger Bearcats at Ballinger.

Even though both teams have poor season and district records, and this game will not affect the outcome of District 6-AA standing, Friday night's game promises to duplicate previous years' enthusiastic play. The years-long rivalry between the Blizzards and the Bearcats is a thing apart from district competition.

Football fans of the two towns are whooping it up for their favorite team. A giant bonfire has been planned for Thursday evening, on the parking lot near the vo-ag barns in Winters.

The Blizzards have a slight edge over the Bearcats, in the won-lost columns this year. Winters has won two games—one in pre-district and one in district—and lost seven. Ballinger has yet to come up with a win this season, but does have a 0-0 tie with Wylie in district. Wylie has been the only team defeated by the Blizzards in District 6-AA play.

The Winters Blizzards took a 50-0 drubbing from the Colorado City Wolves last Friday night, but will be ready for the annual Ballinger contest this week.

"Miss Sno Queen '76" Will Be Chosen Dec. 4

Winters High School girls have been invited to participate in the "Miss Sno Queen '76" contest, to coincide with the annual Christmas parade December 4, sponsored by the Winters Chamber of Commerce.

About 20 girls already had registered for the contest the first of this week, and the sponsors are calling for more entries. Each contestant—entry will be sponsored by a local merchant or business. Merchant-sponsors will be assigned by a drawing. "Miss Sno Queen '76" will be named following the parade Dec. 4.

Deadline for girls entering the "Miss Sno Queen '76" contest will be November 29.

The Winters Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the annual Christmas parade, are urging local businesses and organizations to enter floats in the parade, which will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 4. It is hoped by the sponsors that this year's parade will be bigger and better than ever, and "it can be done," they said, "if everyone will cooperate."

Arts & Crafts Show Friday and Saturday

By Tuesday morning, 21 organizations or individuals had signed up for booths in the annual Arts & Crafts Show, to be held Friday and Saturday this week, in conjunction with the Fall Festival activities promoted by Winters merchants.

Emma Marks, secretary of the Winters Chamber of Commerce, said there still is space available, and anyone who wishes to reserve a booth may do so this week prior to the show.

The Arts & Crafts Show will feature food booths, in addition to antique and other types of exhibits. Several local organizations will have food booths, including the Women's Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, who will have sandwiches, and will even serve stew during the show.

The annual Arts & Crafts Show is sponsored by the Women's Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. There will be no admission charge.

Blizzard Band Won First Division

Winters High School Blizzard Band won a First Division in UIL marching contests in Brady Saturday, and twirlers with the band won several first division ratings in solo and trio performances.

The band was one of 12 bands earning a First Division rating, the highest rating, in Region VII.

The marching contests were the first steps toward the coveted Sweepstakes honor. Sight reading and concert playing contests will be held next spring. A band must make First Division ratings on all three segments to earn the Sweepstakes award.

In the twirling contests, Kathy Fenwick, Donna Carroll, Cathy Colburn and Becky McKnight won First Division rating in solo performances.

A twirling trio of Kathy Fenwick, Becky McKnight and Karen Mostad won First Division rating, and a trio composed of Donna Carroll, Christi Spraberry and Cathy Colburn won First Division.

Mike Ford, band director, took 102 band members to the contests.

Other bands in Class AA competition, and ratings earned, were Coleman, II; San Saba, III; Cisco, III; Eastland, III; Hamilton, II; Sonora, I; Ballinger, III; Llano, I; Comanche, I; Breckenridge, II; Brady, I; Granbury, I; Clyde, III; and Ozona, III.

Minimum Tillage Breakthroughs

One of the breakthroughs in farming the last few years has been the introduction of minimum tillage. This practice was slow to get started, but is now catching on in Texas.

"Minimum Tillage is a system of farming in which cultivation is limited to those operations essential to produce a crop", stated Leroy J. Mikeska, Soil Conservationist, with the Soil Conservation Service. In this system, herbicides are used to control competition instead of using mechanical methods.

The Conservationist added that the ideal minimum tillage system is one that prepares a seedbed, plants the seed, and applies herbicides as well as fertilizer in one operation. This will allow leaving a year-long cover on the soil surface. The practice has been used successfully on small grains, grain and forage sorghums, cotton, corn and other crops.

Mikeska pointed out several advantages to the minimum tillage system, which included: (1) Saves time and lowers production costs by eliminating 3 to 10 tractor trips per crop; (2) Conserves moisture; (3) Reduces wind and water erosion, which in turn reduces air and water pollution; (4) Improves soil structure and provides a better chance for seedling survival; (5) Increases food and cover for wildlife.

Mikeska said that crop yields from minimum tillage systems are about the same

$2.25, which will include dessert.

The dinner is being sponsored by the United Methodist Women's organization.

as from conventional methods. Even if the yields were a little lower you would still have a net increase of profits since production costs would be considerable lower.

Before starting a minimum tillage system, Mikeska mentioned things which need to be considered. Among these are: (1) Equipment—special equipment is needed. This equipment can be bought or farmers may adapt equipment on hand; (2) Controlling competition—The type of herbicide to be used and when to apply it needs to be known; (3) Insects and diseases—Steps to control these with chemicals need to be taken; (4) Residue—Plant high residue crops or plant in a thick mulch of surface residues; (5) Flexibility—Weather conditions or other problems may require changes in plans for crops to be grown or changes in weed or pest control methods.

There are advantages to a minimum tillage system but a producer must be aware of the things needed for a good minimum tillage system before starting one. For more information on minimum tillage systems contact your local Soil Conservation Service Field Office.

Governor Makes School Finance Recommendations

Governor Dolph Briscoe has recommended that the State increase its share of the Foundation School Program to 90%, with the remaining 10% assigned to the districts on the basis of estimates of taxable value.

The Governor's Office, Education Resources, has just completed a 14 month market value study of all school districts and estimated the State's total taxable wealth as $238 billion.

In recommending the $640 million increase of State support, Briscoe said, "As education costs have risen, State support has not kept pace. Even with the increase in funding provided by H.B. 1126 (passed by the last session of the Legislature), State support only covered 75% of the total cost."

The net effect of this recommendation will be a 60% reduction in the amount the districts will contribute. The level of the local share will require approximately 9 cents per $100 in effective tax effort, compared to the existing 35 cent rate. Thus, with the State picking up more of the cost, there should be some relief for the local taxpayers. In fact, to insure that his recommendations will bring about taxpayer relief, the Governor is conditioning his commitment for increased State support on the legislature placing a ceiling on taxation in each school district. "I will not approve legislation placing additional State funds into public education unless this ceiling or cap on local taxes is part of that legislation," he said.

In addition to the increase in State support for Foundation School Program, the Governor recommended several other major changes in school finance. Altogether they entail an increase of $850 million in new State money over the next biennium.

Discretionary funds to cover school district maintenance and operating expenses should be increased $50 million. The Governor cited escalating costs of materials, supplies and skilled labor associated with maintaining facilities and equipment as reasons for the increase.

Transportation costs have also risen and the Governor recommends an increase of $25 million to be made available over the next biennium.

Small districts face unique problems in providing adequate staffing. H.B. 1126 provided an adjustment formula for these districts. The Governor recommends expanding the formula to include all districts with fewer than 1000 ADA, not just those with over 300 square miles as set forth in the present law. The additional cost will be $15 million over the biennium.

The Governor recommended increasing State Equalization Aid to $250 million. A provision for equalization aid was included in H.B. 1126 to assist poorer districts which lack local resources to enrich their programs. The increase and new allocation formula will provide as much as $210 per ADA (Average Daily Attendance) which is nearly four times the amount provided by H.B. 1126.

The Governor also recommended $10 million for "renewal and accountability"—terms used by the Education community to denote evaluation of educational goals and an orderly process of change.

To encourage the improvement of school district tax administration, Briscoe recommends the allocation of $10 million over the next biennium to the tax offices.

A very high percentage of children brought to a clinic because of overweight had been given "reducing pills" by their parents, reports the U of Michigan Medical Center. Most children are overweight simply because they eat too much, and probably exercise too little. They should be guided to a well-balanced diet supplying fewer calories.

O'CONNOR'S COLUMN

Turkey, Cranberries in Abundance for Thanksgiving

With Thanksgiving feasts not far off, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) is predicting bumper supplies of turkey and cranberries as well as a number of other food staples.

The November "Food Marketing Alert" published by the USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service reports the supply of turkey will be up 16 percent from last year and a record for any month.

Cranberry production is expected to be 9 percent above last year and the second largest crop of record.

Other items in plentiful supply include beef, broiler-fryers, frozen chicken livers, potatoes, sweetpotatoes, rice and onions. Beef production is reported to be up 3 to 5 percent from a year ago and broiler-fryers, up 10 percent. Fall storage potatoes and storage dry onions are expected to set new records, and sweetpotatoes are at their seasonal peak.

Other foods seen as plentiful include milk and dairy products, grapefruit, canned peaches, frozen vegetables and dry beans.

Supplies of pork are reported to be increasing. Pork is listed as being adequate after being in light supply for many months. Eggs and dry peas also are expected to be in adequate supply throughout November.

Stuff Your Next Turkey With Rice

With U.S. rice in record supply, this is a good time to stuff a turkey—also in plentiful supply—with rice.

According to the November "Food Marketing Alert" published by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service, this year's rice production is expected to total 11.2 billion pounds.

And, although the figure is 12 percent below last year, AMS marketing specialists say we have 3.6 billion pounds of rice remaining from last year's crop. That's a lot of rice.

If you prefer to cook your stuffing inside the turkey, try this Fruited Rice Stuffing, which yields about 6 cups of stuffing for a roast turkey.

Fruited Rice Stuffing

Cook 1/2 cup chopped onion in 1/4 cup cooking oil until tender. Add to 3 cups cooked rice and mix thoroughly. Add 2 cups cubed apples, 1 1/4 cups uncooked chopped dried prunes, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/4 teaspoon poultry seasoning and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Mix well.

Here is another variation from the Rice Council of America, intended as a separate dish to be served as an accompaniment to turkey.

Fruited Rice Dressing

1/2 cup celery, sliced
1/4 cup onions, minced
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 teaspoons grated orange peel
1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning

1 cup orange juice
1 cup chicken broth or water
1 cup uncooked rice

Saute celery and onions in butter until tender crisp. Add remaining ingredients. Bring to boil. Stir well. Reduce heat, cover and simmer about 25 minutes or until rice is tender and liquid is absorbed. Season to taste. Serves six.

Here is still another rice dressing, which can be used as a stuffing or baked separately in an uncovered casserole.

Rice and Mushroom Dressing

Using a medium-sized frying pan, saute uncooked rice, diced onions, chopped celery and sliced mushrooms in butter or margarine until the rice is slightly browned. Stir occasionally. Add salt, ground coriander, ground rosemary, ground pepper and ginger (be sure to use minimum amounts of herbs in cooking). Add broth. Cover and simmer gently about 20 minutes or until rice is tender, fluffy and dry. Remove from heat. Combine beaten eggs with broth and blend into cooked mixture. Stir in crushed crackers and melted butter or margarine.

Incandescent light bulbs work because an electric current causes a wire to become so hot that it glows.

NEWCOMERS

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Gibbs and Noel announce the birth of a baby girl LeAwna Jo Nov. 2, 1976, in Abilene. She weighed 8 pounds 5 ounces. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Holland of Santa Anna. Paternal grandparents are Norma Jo Sudduth of Winters, and Mr. and Mrs. Harce Gibbs of Rising Star.

Proper Energy Management Can Save You Money!

In Your Home Laundry

- ★ Utilize the washer's full capacity. Wash larger loads — wash less often.
- ★ Same goes for dryers: dry more than just a few items at a time.
- ★ Use the washer's load selector to save on hot water when you must wash small loads.
- ★ Use a cold rinse whenever possible to conserve hot water.
- ★ For more efficient drying, clean the dryer lint screen after each load.
- ★ If your dryer has an automatic cycle, use it to prevent unnecessary overdrying. Also, when allowed to overdry, clothes tend to wrinkle, thus require more ironing.

GTE GENERAL TELEPHONE

"Galveston is a Mood" was the title of a book on display at the Texas Historical Preservation Conference attended by Laura and Rankin Pace and I on Oct. 29-30, and we could add "a city of many moods."

On Friday, Galveston was in the foulest of all moods as she lashed the shores with rain, fog and a terrific gale that swayed the palm trees almost to breaking. Citizens couldn't believe the weather and visitors dared not venture out in the morning.

By afternoon we managed to make our way across the street from the Galvez Hotel to the Moody Center where our conferences were held. However, we were badly buffeted in the attempt. Even the seas heaved 15 ft. high waves against the sea wall and dashed a 250-ft. barge at us, almost crashing our headquarters, as it broke loose while being towed across the Gulf of Mexico.

Saturday Galveston smiled on us benevolently with brilliant sunshine and seas so calm that we couldn't believe it. Our guided tour of major public historical points of interest was conducted by the Galveston Historical Foundation in delightful weather. Our first visit was to The Strand, once "the Wall Street of the Southwest," which contains one of the finest displays of 19th century iron-front commercial buildings in the nation. In the 1850's-1890's, The Strand and the Great Port of Galveston were the center of commercial activity for all of Texas and much of the Southwest, which centered on The Strand just two blocks from the wharves.

Cotton from all of Texas was shipped out, and goods from Europe and New England flowed in. Thousands of Americans and immigrants established themselves in the Great Port, or passed through on their way to new homes elsewhere.

Merchants flourished and made their fortunes on The Strand, the most famous of these being Col. W. L. Moody, who built his financial empire in cotton and banking. The Moody building, where the Moody fortune started, still stands at 2202 on The Strand.

The Moody Foundation has returned much of this fortune to the city. Through the generosity of a daughter, Mrs. Mary Moody Northen, the City National bank building, built in 1919, has been renovated and given to the county for use as a museum. The museum opened in May of this year and has presented a variety of temporary exhibits while building its permanent collection of Galveston County artifacts.

The Moody Foundation also purchased the 12-story

Santa Fe building to be used for community services and educational programs. And a half-block between the Library and Ashton Villa has been bought and converted into a park to serve the two institutions.

The Galveston Historical Foundation is working to preserve the history of The Strand. Five blocks, from 20th to 25th Street have been designated as a National Landmark. A Revolving Fund has been established to buy and sell historic strand buildings with deed restrictions to restore and adapt the buildings for active uses. The natural brick walls, 14-foot ceilings, tall vertical windows and rich grained floors hold great potential for attractive residential and commercial spaces.

Already some interesting shops and restaurants have opened on The Strand. Their old-fashioned ceiling fans and antiques create a special atmosphere in the 19th century buildings.

We visited the Fadden building which houses The Parlour where all kinds of handmade gifts are displayed and upstairs was Warner's, a fine victorian pub, with an antique bar. Other buildings were Hendley Row, bombarded in the Battle of Galveston during the Civil War, and the Mensing Brothers building which houses a restaurant and other spaces soon to be filled. The Moody building is now a Strand Surplus Center.

Old Red, the first building of the University of Texas medical branch, Nicholas J. Clayton's largest commission, has been designated as a historical landmark. There is a drive to restore the edifice and use it as a "Humanities Center."

Ashton Villa was our last stop. The history of the once private mansion is entwined with that of Galveston and the State of Texas, including the Battle of Galveston during the Civil War, the 1900 storm and the massive grade-raising of Galveston Island. The treaty of Galveston's surrender to the Union in 1862 was drafted on a table in Ashton Villa, according to historical documents.

Ashton Villa is now owned by the City of Galveston and has been restored to its former elegance. It is open to tourists and for private functions on appointment.

The regal mansion is the result of a young Dutch boy's dream of a home. James Moreau Brown came to America when he was 23 and landed in Galveston in 1843. He worked at many trades and learned to fire brick after he bought a brick yard. From this he erected the first brick home in the city, but this wasn't accomplished until 1859, after he was married and had five children.

Mr. Brown became the largest wholesale hardware supplier in the Southwest. A joiner, he was president of a bank, a railroad and the Texas Banking Assn. He was instrumental in bringing gas and electricity to the island, but at first he didn't think electricity was practical and sent ships to Liverpool to bring coal to produce gas lights for the homes. He was an authority on cisterns and built one of cedar lined with copper in the attic to provide running water for the one bathroom. He installed the first residence telephone in 1887.

The Browns loved to entertain and the three story Italianate style villa rang with happy voices on many occasions. Forty people could be seated at the dinner table. A red carpet was rolled out to the gutter for the ladies to walk on when they came to an all day New Year's party. The original pier mirrors and gold leaf cornices in the drawing room reflect the luxury in the large home of that period.

When the Brown children married they were presented a home as a wedding gift, but Betty, the oldest daughter, never married. She

Krueger Completes Agriculture Tour, Calls It "A Great Success"

Congressman Bob Krueger (D-Tx) has announced that he will accompany the South Texas Chamber of Commerce's Industrial Tour to New York and New Jersey

November 8-11. Krueger, who is the only Member of Congress scheduled to accompany the industry-seeking group, says he is optimistic about the prospective results of the tour.

"Business executives from the northern industrial states," Krueger said, "are beginning to realize the opportunities for growth that Texas provides. We are going to New York and New Jersey to let them know that we are proud of Texas and know that it offers good opportunities for business."

Krueger, who has become known in Congress for his defense of free enterprise, noted that business expansion into south Texas means new economic growth, more jobs, and a better way of life for the people in that part of the country.

"Free enterprise is currently under fire from several directions," Krueger said, "but we believe that strong economic growth based on free market economics offers us the best prospect for increased prosperity."

Why don't we begin now to get ready for the 90th birthday of Winters and the 100th birthday of Rannels which both come in 1980?

AROUND THE 6-AA LOOP

The district 6-AA championship will be decided at Colorado City Friday night, as the two undefeated teams of the district, Colorado City and Stamford, meet for the last game of the regular season.

C-City and Stamford both have 5-0 records for district play, and 7-2 records for the season. C-City's Wolves have the higher scoring record, with 171, while holding opponents to a small 13 in district competition. The Stamford Bulldogs have hit for 71 and held opponents to 28 in district play.

The C-City-Stamford game will be the game of the week for the district; the other game of the week will be the contest between Winters and Ballinger, as they meet in the annual Rannels County classic. The Blizzards, with only 1 win in district, travel to Ballinger to meet the Bearcats, who have failed to come in with a winner all season, and have a tie with Wylie. Winters has a 2-7 record for the season.

WESTERN AUTO ASSOCIATE STORE

With our connections, we can supply all the gas you'll need.

Lone Star's existing gas reserves will meet the requirements of all of our customers for the next 12½ years, based on 1975 consumption rates.

What about the thirteenth year — and beyond — when these reserves are depleted?

Fortunately, Lone Star is in a position to buy new gas reserves that could last our customers far into the 21st century.

We're in the right place at the right time. And we have all of the right connections.

Lone Star's pipeline system enters eight of the nine major gas producing areas in Texas and Oklahoma.

Our transmission lines cross areas which contain over 50% of the remaining on-shore gas reserves in the continental U.S.

This strong network puts Lone Star in one of the most favorable buying positions of any natural gas company.

All we need is the money to buy ahead.

The price of gas will keep increasing, because producers will have to drill much deeper and more costly wells to develop new reserves.

It's going to take a lot of money to secure this area's share of these reserves. Unfortunately, Lone Star's ability to bid successfully for new reserves hinges greatly on the existence of adequate rates for the gas we sell.

The time to begin an aggressive resupply program is now, while we have a competitive buying edge and while economical gas is available.

With a fair return on our necessary investment, we can make the long-term financial commitments that will assure our customers all the natural gas they'll need for decades to come. And we will.

Lone Star's transmission pipeline system traverses or extends into counties shaded on this map.

Blizzards Lose To Colorado City

The Blizzards went up against a tough Colorado City team Friday night and were defeated 50-0.

Halfback Ruben Ornelas put the Wolves on the scoreboard with 5:30 left in the first period, when he scored from the five-yard line. Steve Belvin kicked the extra point.

A Winters fumble with 2:56 left in the quarter set up the next C-City score. Again Ornelas went over for the TD.

The next touchdown drive started with a pass interception by Blake Hammond. Quarterback Ray Torrez completed a 20-yard pass to Benny Arispe for the touchdown with 2:40 left in the first quarter.

Ornelas went over from the one-yard line with 10:35 left in the second period. Going into halftime the score was 25-0.

In the third quarter, with 6:10 left, Torrez scored on a quarterback sneak and passed to Pete Parham for two extra points.

Then with 2:04 left, Torrez went over from the five-yard line.

In fourth quarter action, Bill Jordan caught a pass from quarterback Craig Carter with 10:28 left and crossed the goal to make the score 45-0.

Then with 6:43 left, following a punt that landed on the one-yard line, Colorado City hit the Winters quarterback for a two-point safety.

The scoring ended with 1:21 left in the game, when Belvin kicked a 29-yard field goal.

Leading the rush for the Blizzards was Marvin Moore with 8 carries for 31 yards. Other rushers were Jimmy Chapman with 8 carries and 28 yards; Flent McNeill, 5 carries and 9 yards; Johnny Curbo, 5 carries and 2 yards; Leroy Jones, 1 carry for 3 yards; and Carey Jobe, 1 carry for 28 yards.
