Show To Highlight Industrial Week

Exhibits by local manufacturers, and mock-up and models of some of the oil field service companies, will highlight Texas Industrial Week in Texas, as Winters presents a three-day industrial show Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Themed "A Salute To Winters Industries," the show will be held in the Robinson Chevrolet building on South Main, April 6, 7 and 8.

This year, in addition to manufacturing industries, those companies specializing in oil field service are being considered industrial concerns, and are being included.

Members of the North Runnels Hospital Auxiliary will act as hostesses in the exhibit building, and will serve coffee and cookies. The Ladies Committee of the Winters Chamber of Commerce is in charge of assigning booths to individual exhibitors.

The exhibit building will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily during the three-day observance.

The industrial show in being sponsored by the Winters Chamber of Commerce.

The following concerns have announced they will have exhibits at the show: Alderman-Cave Milling & Grain Co.; Bishop & Sons Dirt Contractors, Inc.; Dry Division, Wallace Murray Corp.; Bob Black Oil Field Trucking; Halliburton's; John's International, Inc.; Pool Co.; Kozelsky Cabinet Shop; Winters Welding Works; and Connor Knives. More may join the exhibitors' ranks before show date.

Little League Assn. Elected President

At a meeting last week, the Winters Community Little League Association elected officers, and started making plans for the season's activities.

Sam Scott was elected president; Junior Guy, vice president; Dianna Billups, secretary-treasurer; Kay Busher, player agent; Kay Guy, auxiliary president. Mr. and Mrs. Zeb Deck will be in charge of the concession stand.

All applications to play Little League baseball should be turned in by Friday, April 7. No applications will be accepted after that date, LL officials said.

Application blanks will be provided to the school offices, and must be returned soon.

BREAK-IN—J. W. Bahlman, owner of Bahlman Jewelers, looks over the damage done when his store was burglarized last Thursday morning. Two big rocks were thrown through the windows, and watches and other jewelry were taken. Loss was in the neighborhood of $3,000, Bahlman said. Police were investigating this break-in, along with two others which occurred sometime late Wednesday night of Thursday morning. Up the street from Bahlman's, burglars also broke the glass in a rear door of West Texas Utilities Co., but nothing was taken so far as could be determined.

BREAK-IN—Sonny Hall, owner of Sonny's Grocery on Tinkle St., shows where the glass was before his store was broken into sometime early last Thursday morning. Hall was not able to determine just how much merchandise had been taken in the break-in, one of three which occurred late Wednesday night or Thursday morning.

No Pre-School Roundup

There will be no spring pre-school roundup for children who enter first grade next school year, but George M. Beard, principal of Winters Elementary School, said it is important that names and birthdates of all eligible children be forwarded to his office immediately, so schedules may be made up.

For the next school year, beginning in August, kindergarten pupils will attend classes for the entire school year on a full day schedule, Principal Beard said. Previously, children attended a full day, but for only half the year.

Parents are requested to call the office of the principal, 754-4031, for an appointment time and date for screening examinations and health information conference. These appointments will be scheduled on Wednesdays only during April and May.

Mayor Homer Hodge Injured In Accident Sunday Noon

Winters' Mayor Homer Hodge remained in North Runnels Hospital Tuesday, suffering from minor injuries received when the automobile in which he was riding was involved in an accident with a car driven by Mrs. Wyman Burson.

Mayor Hodge suffered minor head lacerations, and body bruises. According to reports, there were no bone fractures.

The other occupant of the Hodge car, Mrs. Hodge, received no injuries, and was checked and released from the hospital shortly after the accident Sunday.

Mrs. Wyman Burson, driver of the other car involved, apparently received no injuries, according to reports. Her daughter, Alice Eyvonne, 10 received slight face and head lacerations, and was treated and released.

According to L. C. Foster, Winters Police Patrolman who investigated the accident, the Burson car was northbound on US 83, and the Hodge car was southbound. The two vehicles collided as the Hodge car, driven by Mrs. Hodge, made a left hand turn to enter the parking lot at Taylor No. 2 restaurant, about a block south of the US 83-FM 53 intersection.

Council Organized; Will Go After Water Permits

Shortly after being reorganized following Saturday's elections, the new Winters City Council Monday night voted to pursue possibilities of obtaining permits for additional water supplies, and to make more thorough studies of construction of another dam.

Council also studied problems surrounding sale of water to oil field service companies, and appointed a member to determine location of street lights.

In the absence of Mayor Homer Hodge, who was in the hospital following an automobile accident Sunday, Mayor Pro Tem James West presided, and administered the oath of office to three new aldermen, E. J. Bishop, Randy Springer, and Jim Hatler, who were elected Saturday. West, who also ran for re-election, was not returned to office.

Following the installation of the new council members, the body re-organized, and named Alderman A. L. Scates mayor pro tem for the next year. Scates presided for the remainder of the meeting.

The council voted to work with engineers to seek ways and means of obtaining permits for additional water impoundment, and construction of another dam. They voiced the opinion that another lake, perhaps below the present Lake Winters, would more adequately serve the needs of the community than a proposed project of purchasing water from Coleman—or some other source—and building a cross-country pipeline. However, the council will meet with the city officials

Cancer Unit Hears Report On Current Fund Campaign

A report on the current Cancer Crusade was made during the regular meeting of the North Runnels Unit of the American Cancer Society at the Chamber of Commerce office March 18.

The business section drive was reported almost complete, with good response.

The plant sale, to raise funds for the unit, will be held April 7-8 on West Dale. Many types of plants will be offered for sale.

Members expressed appreciation to The Winters Enterprise for promoting the ACS Crusade.

Mrs. C. R. Pinkerton announced plans for a rummage sale to be held the last of May.

Rev. E. Kennedy Will Celebrate Anniversary

Rev. Edward Kennedy, OMI, pastor of Mount Carmel Catholic Church in Winters, will observe the 40th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood April 12 with a mass of thanksgiving concelebrated with priests of the area.

The mass will be at 7 p.m. at the church.

Born in Thurles, County Tipperary, Ireland, the Rev. Kennedy attended the Christian Brothers School at Thurles. He later entered the Oblate Fathers' Seminary in Ireland and was ordained a priest April 2, 1938. He came to the United States in September of that year.

He served as assistant at Roma, Texas, in 1938, and later served at Immaculate Conception parish in Houston and then at St. Louis Cathedral in New Orleans.

He became pastor at San Juan Evangelista in San Antonio and served there from 1948 to 1951 before going to Our Lady of Mercy Church as pastor in Mercedes, where he remained until 1965.

He served in Mexico at Casas Aleman, Mexico City, from 1965 to

REV. EDWARD KENNEDY, OMI

1970 and then at Victoria, Mexico, until 1975 when he came to the Diocese of San Angelo. He has been pastor of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church since March 1, 1975.

Rev. Kennedy has invited his friends to celebrate with him April 12.

HODGE CAR—The car occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hodge which was involved in an accident on the south edge of Winters about noon Sunday. Damage to the vehicle was extensive.

BURSON CAR—The car driven by Mrs. Wyman Burson, involved in the Sunday accident, received a lot of damage. Both cars had to be towed from the scene of the accident.

Policy Outlined For Publication of Wedding Stories, Pics

Because of limited space and the costs involved, the following policy is in effect regarding publication of wedding stories and pictures in The Enterprise. This policy will also govern publication of articles on anniversaries and other similar events.

—Wedding information, along with pictures, must be received no later than Friday of the week prior to the week of publication. In most instances, this information and pictures are available prior to the wedding date. It is our desire to publish the story and pictures in the issue immediately following the event.

—Simple details only, and no pictures, will be published in the second issue following the event. No wedding or anniversary story will be published in the third issue following the event.

—Only the main facts of the events will be published, and no pictures will be printed, for weddings or anniversary celebrations which take place out of town, except for immediate former residents, such as students, whose parents still reside in the area. Pictures of nieces, nephews, grandchildren, and other relatives, who have never lived in the area will not be published. Only short notices of the events will be published, and then no later than the second issue following the event.

—We solicit pictures of local weddings and anniversary celebrations, and will hold the original pictures for only one week following date of publication. We cannot return pictures by mail unless a stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies the picture.

—For weddings, we will publish only one picture. If an engagement picture is published, there will be no wedding picture published.

STILL WAITING—A few minutes before this picture was taken, at 9:15 Wednesday morning of last week, twice as many people were lined up at the Winters sub-office of the Runnels County Tax Collector, waiting to register their cars. Because the office still was closed at that time, as it had been for much of the time for almost two weeks, many people gave up waiting because they had to go to work, or went on to the main office in Ballinger. A few minutes after this picture was taken, the office did open, and was full for the rest of the week with auto owners trying to beat the Friday deadline. Because the Winters sub-office was closed so much of the time during the past two weeks, North Runnels taxpayers faced many inconveniences and even hardships.

EDITORIAL

Winters and North Runnels DO Exist

It's still the same old song, first, second and third verses, ad infinitum, ad nauseam.

It seems that once many county officials, elected to represent the entire county, are barricaded behind their elective office walls, some of them immediately take the position that Winters and North Runnels are non-existent, or at best, merely step-children, to be considered only once every four years when election time rolls around. It seems that some live under the impression that "Runnels County" means only the few feet of floor space their offices cover, and the immediate limits of the town surrounding the courthouse—Ballinger. Also it seems they take the attitude that the people who put them in office act for the office holders' convenience, instead of the bare fact they are supposedly in office at the convenience of the people.

This is not idle chatter or thought. (Refer to recorded proceedings of Commissioners Court, Dec. 13, 1977, when the Ballinger Memorial Hospital (a privately-operated institution, mind you) was referred to as "our nice hospital," and "our very efficient hospital and very beautiful Doctor's Clinic, a building that most citizens of Runnels County admire and appreciate.") (They were going all out to provide financial aid to a privately-operated institution, at the expense of the entire county. As if that were the only hospital, and doctor's clinic, in the entire county. Ever hear of the county's offer to assist financially North Runnels Hospital in Winters?)

But the case up for immediate discussion, at this point in time, is the attitude taken toward the operation of the sub office of the County Tax Collector's Office. Some years ago, after much begging by North Runnels residents, this sub office was opened, for the convenience of the people of the north part of the county. It has been greatly appreciated by the people, and Ellen Meyer, deputy tax collector in charge of the Winters office, has been a source of needed assistance to all. At times, she probably does as much work as the entire staff of the county seat office. However, during the past several days, because of illness in her family, Mrs. Meyer has had to be absent from her duties. So, for most of that time, the office has been closed, and North Runnels residents who had to get car tags or take care of other tax-related business, were forced to make the trip to Ballinger, or to wait. Yes, the office was opened for a few hours, staffed by a person from the county seat office, but for most of the time, the door was locked. Pleas by Winters and North Runnels taxpayers (voters) have gone unheeded. And this at a time when the car registration deadline crept closer. This has caused many inconveniences for North Runnels taxpayers (and, again, voters), many of whom have had to take time off and make the trip to the county seat.

This is not a singled-out instance of the lack of concern elected many county officials much of the time show for the VOTERS of Winters and North Runnels, and is not an attitude surrounding a personal vendetta. It is an example of the general atmosphere which surrounds county politics.

Although this is an election year, there are few offices to be filled where a contest exists. But ALL candidates, whether or not they face opposition this year, should be aware of the power at the hands of the people, if they choose to use that power, in any manner. And ALL office holders should begin now to study their crystal balls against the light of elections coming two years hence.

Honestly, fellows, Winters and North Runnels DO exist. . . and the residents up here may carry a bigger stick than supposed! You better believe it!

REDDY'S HELPFUL TIPS

- Your air-conditioner will operate inefficiently if filters are not cleaned regularly. Dirt and lint, collected on the filters, restricts air flow to the coils. Clean filters every two weeks.
- Let nature help you save energy by shading your home with trees and shrubs to help cut down on summer cooling costs. Draw draperies against afternoon sun.
- Remember to keep outside doors, windows, and fireplace dampers closed. If you have window units, close the heating vents near the floor, as cool air falls and can escape through vents.

Accent On Health

Texas Department of Health
Fratris L. Duff, M.D., Commissioner

One of the major improvements in environmental health and protection in the past few years has been the development of a comprehensive solid waste program.

Solid waste is something that won't go away by itself. It keeps piling up daily, and it must be disposed of properly each day. The proper way is through use of a sanitary landfill. Refuse is compacted daily to reduce its volume and then covered with a layer of dirt to eliminate odors and the propagation and harborage of rats and flies.

The history of the Department's emphasis on sanitary landfills goes back to 1965 when Congress passed the Solid Waste Disposal Act. Prior to this time, solid waste was considered primarily as a nuisance, with open dumps and burning as the solution to the problem.

The Texas Solid Waste Disposal Act, passed in 1969, spoke to the collection, handling, storage, processing and disposal of solid waste. Its purpose was to protect the health, welfare and physical property of the people of Texas, but it was inadequately funded.

Later legislation added to ing with these. As with any new program, we still see resistance in the location of some sites.

It is common practice today that the future use of a landfill site must be addressed in the application. This is resulting in the acceptance of landfills in areas where they were previously opposed.

For example, in Victoria a landfill next to a church facility was violently opposed during public hearings until it was pointed out that the landfill would be temporary and was designed with the end use as a park. Since then, we have received no complaints of the property's use as a sanitary landfill.

In the city limits of Nacogdoches, a landfill in view of some excellent residences was designed to eventually become a beautiful 323-acre park. We feel certain it will be operated properly.

When the permit regulations went into effect in 1974, the Department received 750 applications from operating sites. It was impossible to process these overnight, so the Department gave priority to the new proposed sites. We have gradually worked on this backlog of old sites to bring them into full compliance. As the existing sites close, their replacements are required to meet the new regulations. This has brought about an

Poe's Corner
BY CHARLISE POE

GIANT EASTER EGG HUNT

Easter is a joyous time, a day of celebration, and when entire families and their friends enter into the occasion it becomes especially festive.

This past week, I learned of a delightful tradition that has been handed down for generations when Paige, my youngest grandson, went to an egg hunt on Easter Sunday afternoon at the Lucky Bucket Ranch, home of the Walter Spill's.

James and Sue Spill and their children, Stephen and Suzanne, invited Paige. So, I asked Sue when the custom of the giant egg hunt started.

"It's been going on for 12 years, ever since I've been in the family," she said. "Let me ask James, he'll know."

James said it had been taking place for 40 years, all his lifetime, and that was as far back as he could remember. He suggested that I ask Genevive, Mrs. Walter Spill.

"But Sue," I asked, "how do you manage such a large affair?"

"Each family prepares their own eggs and decorates them. I usually boil eggs because that's the kind James likes. He takes salt and eats them as he goes. But I like the candy filled eggs. They are drained, filled with candy and the opening taped. Of course, I eat them as I find them," she added.

Still pursuing my quest, I phoned Genevive and she said the egg hunt had been a custom since she and Walter married in 1945, but she didn't know how it began. I should talk to Walter but he wasn't home.

I made a date to visit the Walter Spills on Sunday afternoon and finally got to the bottom of the subject.

Walter said that the custom grew out of family gatherings. "I'm 64 years old," he said, "and since I was a small boy we often went to Grandmother Armbrecht's for Sunday dinner after church. And one Easter the egg hunt was started to entertain the children." (The Armbrecht home was where the George Pruser home now stands.)

The hunt was held there until Walter's grandmother died in 1929, then the August Spill home on the east side of town became the center of activities. The family dinner continued until Mrs. Spill's death in 1971.

The Walter Spill's house faces the City Lake and they have a creek running through the pasture. Their place is convenient for the egg hunt and it was moved there in about 1947.

"We changed the hunt around from place to place in the pasture," said Walter. "Usually where the grass is tall and the greenest, but this year we were out of luck, it isn't green anywhere. We try to hide some eggs in the trees where they will be easily seen. We are fortunate to have about three acres surrounded by water and the hunt is pretty well contained."

The men play the part of the Easter bunny and hide the eggs while the women keep the children corralled at the house. Once in awhile one slips away and watches the procedure. All those who haven't helped hide the eggs participate in the hunt, women too.

Some of the kids mean business. Stephen Spill and Paige Poe brought sacks. They had learned that you could put more eggs in sacks than baskets and carry them much easier.

Everyone tries to outdo the other in preparing eggs. Some draw pictures, print names or verses on them. They stuff them with various things like candy, money, cracker jacks and prizes. One year, someone fixed a "first-aid egg", filled with aspirin and band-aids.

"We prepare from 6 to 8 dozen eggs," said Genevive, "so there will be plenty. We have never limited the hunt, our friends are welcome if they bring their eggs."

A push-button cooler provides a drink at the grounds for the thirsty egg hunters. And as the day wears on the grownups usually beg the kids out of the boiled eggs because they are tired of candy. The eggs are not divided, each gets to keep all he finds.

In the past, refreshments have been served at the house, but now punch and cookies are taken to the pasture. Beth Bradley brought Easter cookies and Eileen Dinger made an Easter basket cake for this year's hunt.

"There has never been any major mishap, but usually one of the kids falls in the creek or steps in the water," says Genevive.

The Spills have a flat bottomed boat that some of the children were taking a ride in. Little three-year-old Katie Ann Sentz decided she wanted to go and stepped out into the water.

Nell, Genevive's sister from Mississippi has been visiting her. She got a bang out of helping with the preparations. When Beth Bradley brought the eight children she keeps out for an egg hunt on Thursday, Nell said, "I've never seen so many beautiful children having such a good time."

Genevive recalled that once when her father, Dr. B. Z. Welch, then 65, was visiting, the wildflowers were especially beautiful. Her dad got on Ruby, the children's horse, and rode

R. Torres Gets USAF Promotion

Airman Torres is serving at Landley AFB, Va., as a telecommunications operations specialist.

The airman is a 1975 graduate of Winters High School. His wife, Jovita, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Becerra of Abilene.

The Literary and Service Club won third place with their yearbook, competing with 47 entries. They received ten certificates of achievement, including six first places, two second places,

Home Garden Clinic Set For April 12

HOME GARDEN CLINICS PLANNED FOR WINTERS AND BALLINGER

Two home garden clinics are scheduled to assist homeowners and gardeners with insect and disease problems, Wednesday, April 12, according to Glenn Bragg, County Extension Agent.

Gerald Bohmfalk, County Entomologist, and Glenn Bragg, County Extension Agent will hold a clinic from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. at Wright Feed and Seed Supply, located at 104 North 10th in Ballinger.

A clinic will be held in Winters from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. April 12, at Alderman-Cave Milling & Grain Co., 319 West Dale.

Homeowners and home gardeners are invited to bring plants infested with disease or insects and the Extension Agents will examine the plants and make recommendations for correcting the problem.

Fertilizer and other management information concerning home gardens and landscapes may also be obtained at these locations during the times indicated. The clinic is free and all interested persons are invited to attend.

Homemakers To Hold Benefit

Winters Young Homemakers will sponsor a benefit salad luncheon Wednesday, April 12, from 11:30 to 1 p.m., in the Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church.

Tickets may be purchased for $2 from members of the Young Homemakers, or at the door.

Proceeds will go to the Alan Bishop fund.

In addition to calling for a flexible parity concept, this legislation increases loan rates for wheat, corn and other feed grains. Increased target prices apply to cotton, wheat, corn and the feed grains.

Coping with economic complexities facing our massive agricultural industry is no simple task, and we will find no solutions acceptable to all, but I firmly believe that support of the Flexible Parity Act will meet problems that have reached crisis proportions, laying a solid foundation for the future.

KRUEGER OF TEXAS

Farming in our nation has become an uncertain and risky endeavor, complicated by government intervention and depressed by economic factors beyond the control of any individual farmer.

Last week I took definite action to bring about relief for the farming industry, particularly for young farmers and for the American family farm.

The program I endorsed as a co-sponsor of the Flexible Parity Act of 1978 will allow farmers to receive full parity for their crops and at the same time actually write their own farm program.

Quick action on this bill— which March 21 passed the U.S. Senate—is essential if a significant number of farmers is to avoid bankruptcy and if we are to reverse the frightening trend toward centralized farming.

In addition to my co-sponsorship of the Flexible Parity Act, I have made a special plea to Cong. Thomas Foley, the chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, and to other members of the House-Senate Conference Committee considering the bill before it will emerge for a floor vote. I have asked these congressmen to act favorably on the Flexible Parity Act, because it will provide the necessary relief for our nation's farmers in the shortest period of time.

This legislation will allow farmers to obtain a higher price for their crops as they reduce their planting, based on a formula permitting a farmer to set aside from 20 to 50 percent of his farmland, with the market price of his crops determined by the percentage he chooses not to plant.

The set-aside, in effect, also diminishes the possibility of creating large farm surpluses, an element responsible for keeping prices so low that farmers are not able to meet the cost of production at this time. But, by following the Flexible Parity Act, a farmer will reduce his harvest and production costs, eliminating needless surpluses and creating an atmosphere which will not only guarantee substantial target prices, but also prevent prices from slipping below a reasonable figure.

Just as important in this legislation is the element of individual freedom it grants the farmer. At a time when the farmer, not unlike so many business people, is overwhelmed with government intervention and regulation, it is important to the collective morale of the farming industry that provisions allowing for more independence work their way back into our agricultural system.

of Coleman within a few days to discuss the possibility of purchasing water from that city's lake.

According to discussion at the meeting, there are apparently problems arising from sale of treated water to oil field service companies, who in turn sell to oil well drilling companies. It was decided to make an effort to install some type of pumps at the old city lake north of town, to be used by the transporting companies to fill their tank trucks. This would be untreated water, it was pointed out, and would be satisfactory to users.

Alderman Scates was assigned to work with West Texas Utilities Co. on the placement and location of street and alley lights in town. Many lights have been removed, it was said, and other lights which are now in place should become the responsibility of property owners whose property is involved. Scates was authorized to direct installation of lights where he sees fit.

WINDUP OF AN ERA—Workmen load a big generator onto a truck from the old Winters Municipal Light Plant building on South Main. The light plant was sold to West Texas Utilities Co., and ceased to operate January 16. All the engines and equipment in the light plant building were acquired by WTU, for re-use elsewhere or sold. The old light plant building now stands vacant. No plans have been announced by the city for future use of the building.

Election Results

City Council

One of the strongest turnouts of voters in several years was experienced in the city election Saturday, with nine candidates seeking three seats on the City Council. Near 500 voters marked ballots, as this year's election caused more interest than had been shown in some time.

Final results saw E. J. Bishop, a newcomer to the city political scene, garner 324 votes, to put him in office as an alderman. Randy M. Springer, another newcomer, gathered in 300 votes to earn a seat on the council. Jim Hatler, an incumbent who was serving an unexpired term, received 224 votes to be re-elected.

James West, incumbent completing four years in office, received 209 votes.

Other candidates on the ballot and votes received were:

Jerry Wayne Sims, 125; William F. Dinger, 40; Johnny H. Gann Jr., 15; and T. W. Norman, 13. One write-in ballot was counted, according to the election officials.

School Board

A total of 534 ballots were cast in the election to name three members to the board of trustees of Winters Independent School District Saturday, the greatest turnout of school district voters here in several years.

There were three candidates for each of the three places to be filled on the school board, and two incumbents were returned to office.

Candidates re-elected to the board were Roscoe Morrison for Place No. 3; and Wesley M. Hays for Place No. 5. Gary Don Pinkerton was elected to the vacancy on Place No. 4. The incumbent holding that place did not seek re-election.

Places to be filled on the school board, and candidates and votes received were:

Place No. 3: Roscoe Morrison, 217; Scotty Belew, 207; Calvin Helm, 95.

Place No. 4: Gary Don Pinkerton, 196; Freddie Bredemeyer, 194; Pam Connor, 136.

Place No. 5: Wesley M. Hays, 238; Lynn Billups, 182; Sealy Bryan, 101.

Hospital Directors Election

Nelan Bahlman and Lee Harrison, incumbents, and Bob Browning and Brent Mikeska, apparently were elected to the board of directors of North Runnels Hospital District in Saturday's election.

The Winters voting box showed Bahlman with 414 votes, Harrison 403, Browning 446, and Mikeska 336. Bobby Rogers, incumbent, up for re-election, received 303 in the Winters box.

However, election officials ran out of ballots near the end of the voting day, and some voters were said to have been unable to vote because of that fact.

CANCER ANSWER LINE

A furniture manufacturer writes: "My wife has tried three times without success to stop smoking cigarettes, and instead, she finally decided to switch to a low tar, low nicotine brand. Will this keep her safe from cigarette-related diseases?"

ANSWERline: There is no such thing as a "safe" cigarette. A major recent study by the American Cancer Society showed that smoking low tar and nicotine cigarettes results in lower total death rates, including lower death rates from both lung cancer and coronary heart disease. However, among people who smoked low tar and nicotine cigarettes, deaths were still 30 to 75 percent higher than among those who never smoked regularly. This means that while it may be a step in the right direction for your wife to reduce her tar and nicotine intake, quitting would be the best of all. Why not contact your local American Cancer Society Unit - your wife may be surprised and encouraged by the practical help in smoking withdrawal that the ACS can give.

Drug Administration investigated the material because there is a link between the gaseous form of vinyl chloride and cancer. There was a possibility that some of the gas remains trapped in the solid form of the plastic and could migrate to food. However, after investigation, the FDA could find no vinyl chloride "migration" problem with the plastic wraps we so commonly use.

A school dietitian asks: "Is it true that the plastic film wrap we use in the kitchen is made of the same material that has been linked with cancer?"

ANSWERline: The material you have in mind is vinyl chloride, a gas, that is commercially converted to solid form for use in plastic bottles and wraps. The Food and

The Winters Enterprise

Section B

VOLUME SEVENTY-FOUR

WINTERS, TEXAS 79567, THURSDAY, APRIL 6, 1978

NUMBER 5

The industrial complex of Winters is such an important part of the economic and social structure of the community, it is appropriate that the others of us stop occasionally to recognize that role they play in our everyday commercial, civic and even governmental activities.

It has been said that Winters has more industry per capita than any other town in the country. Also, much of the industrial complex is "home grown," as opposed to "imported" concerns.

Thus, under the sponsorship of the Winters Chamber of Commerce, the entire community pauses this week to give a tip of the hat to these industrial concerns. The chamber is sponsoring a big industrial show, to be held at Robinson Chevrolet Co., Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 6, 7 and 8. The industries, which include the manufacturing concerns and the oil field service companies, are obliging by displaying examples of their products, or pictures and models of their services, for the public's information.

There will be no admission charge for the industrial show... everyone is invited. The rest of us can visualize, readily, the important position these concerns occupy in our community, by visiting the show.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

In this issue of The Enterprise, the publishers have attempted to show the industrial side of this community. We tried to touch all bases... if we somehow missed some, it was not intentional. Also, the advertisers who have made this presentation possible are to be commended for their cooperation in picturing Winters as it really is.

We wish to thank all the industries for their cooperation in gathering pictures and material for this issue. Without their help, this issue could not have been produced.

This special industrial issue of The Enterprise has not been, by any means, a simple and easy task, but it has been a labor of enjoyment. Most of the credit for this issue must go to a dedicated staff. They have worked long hours, and have made no small number of sacrifices, to make this issue possible. We have no hesitation in saying that without their dedication and willingness, this would have been impossible. When you see them, you may want to say your own words of thanks and congratulations. They are, Brenda Burton, who took almost all the photographs; Pam Connor, who handled the advertising and the writing; and Nancy Maas, who was involved in the typographics. -R. C. Thomas, Publisher.

Connor Knives...

Traditionally Handcrafted

UPPER LEFT—Michael Connor, bladesmith, heats a piece of steel in a forge prior to hammering the hot metal into shape (Upper Right). The metal must be heated six times during the making of a knife.

LOWER LEFT—Grinding is required to shape the knife, which is "one of a kind," made to order.

LOWER RIGHT—The finished product—only a few of the many kinds and styles of knives handcrafted by Connor.

Connor Knives was begun in 1974 by Michael Connor. The shop is located at 601 North Heights.

The knives are custom made to the purchaser's specifications from oil-hardening steel and a variety of wooden handles.

The process begins with the steel being forged to shape with a hammer and anvil. The blade is then rough ground on a belt grinder that runs 4700 sanding feet per minute on an 8" cog wheel. After the shaping, the blade is put back into the forge, heated and oil hardened, then hand tempered with hot tongs to achieve the proper hardness. Three degrees of hardness are put into each knife to insure strength, and maximum edge-holding ability.

Finish grinding is the next step, followed by polishing on an abrasive belt polisher, then a series of muslim buffing operations.

The guard and butt cap are made of hard yellow brass, and along with the handle are assembled onto the tang, and ground to shape on the belt grinder and polished.

Connor also hand crafts the knife sheaths in a variety of styles made from 9 ounce cowhide. The sheaths are double hand stitched, wet-formed and finished.

Recently Connor has begun making knives of Damascus steel—a laminated material made by forge-welding alternate layers of at least two materials which have different amounts of carbon. One Connor knife pattern contains 512 layers, applied over several hours working time.

The average knife requires a minimum of 20 hours working time.

Connor knives have been sold to customers from California to Georgia.

Bishop & Sons Dirt Contractors, Inc. . . . .

Pumphrey Dirt Contractors, Inc.

Bishop & Sons Dirt Contractors, Inc. located at 800 North Main, was begun in 1966 by E. J. Bishop and his son Chane. At the time the operation's only equipment was one bulldozer, one truck and a lowboy.

In January 1975, Bishop & Sons Dirt Contractors, Inc. started Pumphrey Dirt Contractors, Inc., located on east Highway 53, with Doyle Pumphrey as manager of the business.

As the business grew over the years along with the increase in oil field activity, a work force of 14 persons was hired, utilizing two water trucks, five bulldozers, and two maintainers, several pickups and cars. A dynamite crew is put into action blasting pits for drilling rigs and building locations. Bishops' trucks transport fresh water to the wells for drilling and haul salt water from the completed wells.

Pumphrey Dirt Contractors, Inc. employs a number of persons running five dump trucks, 2 backhoes, three loaders, a maintainer, a readymix, and has a yard stock of sand and gravel, caliche and mortar sand.

The business was incorporated in June 1971 at which time J. B. Guy, Sr. and Bishop's son Dane were added as partners to the business. Bishop and Sons Dirt Contractors, Inc. serves an area of about a 100-mile radius of Winters.

The first step of a job begins with building a road for access to the site area, then building the actual drilling site itself. A dynamite crew will prepare the pits for the drilling rigs, and the heavy machinery sets up the location for the drilling company to take over.

Wintex Industries—CH & H Co. . . . . National and Worldwide

Wintex Industries, located at 205 North Sanders, is owned by people in Dallas and has been managed locally by Bill Howard for the past five years. The firm employs about 45 people, and manufactures store shelving.

The steel is brought in by flatbed truck, about a million pounds annually, and put into the warehouse. From there it is taken out according to the orders received and moved into the shear shop where it is cut to specific sizes and blanked.

The trip continues through the breaking press and punch press until the mounting frame and brackets are formed. One of the large punch and draw presses has a working capacity of 10 tons drawing pressure. It was put in position and then the building was built around it.

Spot welding is done on some parts before the trip through the paint shop.

The paint shop includes a three-stage washer where the parts are run through a degreaser, then through phosphate, which cuts down on rust and makes the paint adhere better, then through a rinse and into a 325 degree oven. A primer coat is applied next, followed by one of seven colors of paint, and back through the oven for drying.

Finally, the shelving is boxed into trucks for shipping. Three shipping trucks are on the road each day.

All shelving is on order before it is built.

Finally, the shelving is boxed into cardboard cartons and loaded onto trucks for shipping. Wintex Industries maintains three diesel 40 foot vans for shipping.

All shelving is on order before it is built. The shelving is made mainly for food and drug stores such as Skinny's, 7-11, Skillern's and others.

The CH and H Company also operates in the Wintex building manufacturing Sno-Breeze Coolers.

The parts follow the same process as the shelving up through the paint shop, after which the coolers have the motors and pads added, and are boxed for shipping.

About 500-1000 Sno-Breeze coolers are shipped each month. The business is something of a continuation of the Pan American industries, but no coolers had been made for about seven years. However, according to Howard, the demand for evaporative air-conditioners is again on the increase, and the business is being phased back in and expected to increase accordingly.

Sno-Breeze air conditioners have wide fame, with orders being shipped as far away as Saudi Arabia and Australia.

Wintex Industries builds its own dies for stamping, and also has a department which does the maintenance work on the dies.

Since that time, the business has expanded to 11 trucks and drivers, with three persons in the office.

Mac Oil Field Company's primary business is that of hauling fresh water to wells for acidizing, and hauling salt water from the wells for disposal. The company also does mud hauling, and has power kill trucks.

A Craft Turned Industry

Kozelsky Cabinet Shop, located at 605 Novice Road, is one of the few "one-man" industries in Winters. It is run solely by Joe Kozelsky, who began the business in 1948.

When Joe left the army in 1946, he went to work in a box planing mill in San Angelo, then decided in 1948 to try farming in Winters. He added the cabinet making as a side business, and worked at both jobs until 1962, when he ceased his farming operations.

Kozelsky is called upon to do cabinet work in a wide area, as far away as Comanche, San Angelo, and near Brady, which made it necessary for him to purchase a small travel trailer, which he used on jobs too far away to drive home each day.

UPPER LEFT—Joe Kozelsky aims a rough board through a planer, which smooths all sides. The board will be used in cabinet making.

The Winters division of Pool Company, located at 507 South Main Street, was opened in 1948 with two rigs and eight employees. It now operates 10 rigs and 11 pickups, and employs about 35 persons.

Jim Burnett was the first Winters manager, followed by David Gossett, Johnny Johnson, and presently James Bomar, who took the position in 1966.

Frank Pool was the founder of the

John's International, Inc.

.....Products Distributed Nationwide

John's International, Inc., 305 N. Frisco, began July, 1970, by J.P. Dry as a manufacturing operation for tool boxes for pickups. At first the business occupied only one building with a small number of employees, but expanded quickly to two buildings with a total of over 84 thousand square feet of work space and approximately 75 full-time employees. The second building was completed in July, 1972. Several other lines were added to its production, and at present, the John's International catalog carries seven accessories for pickups: a heavy duty utility chest, a standard utility chest, side bins, utility tool boxes, headache and ladder racks, tie down rails, and spare tire carriers.

The business was sold by Dry in November 1976 to a group of businessmen from Houston, but still operates under the name of John's International, Inc.

The manufacturing process begins in the shear department where the sheets of steel are brought in and cut to the needed sizes. Approximately 300,000 pounds of steel are shipped in each month on trucks from mostly Dallas and Houston.

After being cut to size, the metal goes to the stamp shop, where the notching and blanking is done. Next, some of the pieces are hemmed and shaped, or sent through some other forming operation.

Spot welding is done in the assembly of the boxes on the way to the paint department. First the parts are run through a de-greaser, then into a drying oven, into the paint shop, and finally through the baking oven. The finished product has a white automotive enamel finish.

The parts are then assembled, and put into cardboard cartons for shipping.

John's International has no shipping trucks of its own. Instead, the products are shipped by motor freight, Merchants or ETMF. A few of the distributors pick up their own shipments.

Approximately 60 thousand tool boxes are produced by John's International annually, with their biggest market in Texas. They are also sold nationwide by Sears under the Sears name, and through Western Auto under the John's International name.

Winters Welding Works

..... A Diversified Industry

Winters Welding Works, located on Highway 83 south of Winters, was begun May 1, 1954 by Charles R. (Pinky) Pinkerton and "Buck" Rudd. The partnership lasted until January 7, 1957 when Pinkerton bought Rudd's share and became the sole proprietor until 1977.

In 1977 the business was divided between three owners, C.R. Pinkerton, his son Gary, and Tim Meyer.

In the beginning, Winters Welding Works did general welding only as a two-man operation. Shortly after Pinkerton became the sole owner, the business began laying natural gas and oil pipelines. At the present time, the business includes pipeline contracting, oil field construction, welding, and manufacturing of auxiliary fuel tanks for pickups. The manufacture of several styles of auxiliary gas tanks for pickups was begun in 1973. It is only a small portion of the business, though the tanks are handled by a large number of dealers in a wide area including all of Texas and part of Oklahoma.

While the primary business is pipeline construction and related work, a number of items are manufactured by Winters Welding Works, including separators, dehydrators, and other oil and gas related equipment. About 24 persons are employed fulltime.

Winters Welding Works generally has in use about 30 vehicles and machines, including backhoe-loaders, maintainers, ditchers, welding machines, wrapping machine and boring machine, as well as a number of pickups and larger trucks. During the course of its history, the business has served an area from sonora to Oklahoma and East Texas.

Dry Manufacturing Division . . . Wallace-Murray Corporation

Dry Division, Wallace Murray Corp., had its beginning in early 1958 when the business was first started by members of the Dry family. Located in a small building on South Main St. in a downtown Winters, the business had eight employees and occupied less than 3000 square feet of factory space. During this first year land was purchased at the corner of Parsonage and Melwood streets where construction of a new building was begun. This new plant was completed in December, 1958, and occupied the following January. This first building was 150 feet long and 80 feet wide. It housed all the manufacturing and assembly operations and included small offices and a tool and die department. Total operating space was nearing 15,000 square feet. The next three years saw the addition of a 60 foot extension to the north end of the Melwood plant, some additional office space, and the doubling of the manufacturing area. These additions added a total of 22,000 square feet of operating space bringing total facility to nearly 37,000 square feet. The next three years was to bring even more growth. An additional 80 feet was added to the north end of the plant buildings to increase the size of the shear department, and to house a complete slitting and sheeting line installed during this time. Following this addition, an adjoining masonry building, formerly an old ice house, was renovated and joined to the plant facility. This area was to serve as a paint and finishing department. During this same time two additional buildings were completed. One, on the south end of the present facility, to be used as a warehousing area, the other was west of town on the north side of the Wingate Highway. This building was to be used as a shipping department, and is now a part of the aluminum department. These additions gave the company a total of over 67,000 square feet of operating room.

The years 1965 and 1966 saw the beginning of a new building on the south side of the Wingate Highway. This building, 250 by 200 feet, along with a smaller building at the back, was built to house a new assembly, shipping and painting facility. During this construction an additional 80 feet was added to the aluminum department building on the north side of the highway. With these additions, total size was now over 140,000 square feet. The next three years brought even more growth. The main assembly building was extended an additional 100 feet east to enlarge the warehouse facility. A substantial amount of machinery was added to the facility in the form of presses, spot welders and rivet machines. Total operating facility had now grown to over 165,000 square feet.

United States and Canada as well as overseas. During the years from 1970 through 1975 the division continued its growth. With record housing starts during these years, this division virtually doubled its sales volume as well as its floor space and manufacturing capability. Over one million dollars in additional capital was invested during this time, both to improve the plant facility and to provide additional manufacturing equipment. Nearly 90,000 square feet of floor space was added bringing total floor space to over 257,000 square feet. Among the new equipment added was one of the most modern electro-deposition painting facilities in the United States today.

Dry Manufacturing Division, manufacturers of grilles, louvers and diffusers for heating and air conditioning systems in the building industry, employs about 400 workers, with an annual payroll in excess of $2.5 million.

FABRICATION—Many operations are required in the manufacture of louvers, grilles and diffusers by Dry Division. The picture at lower right shows only a small section of the storage area for finished and boxed louvers, grilles and diffusers, before being marked for shipment to many localities throughout the nation.

.....Serving A Vast Area In Farming and Ranching

Alderman-Cave Milling & Grain Company, located at 319 West Dale, was organized in 1961 by Charles C. Cave and Ray Alderman.

Alderman-Cave Milling & Grain Company is engaged in various operations, all of which are of an agricultural nature, including milling, farm supply, elevator operation, and cattle feeding. Depending on the time of the year, approximately 50 to 70 persons are employed at Alderman-Cave. Feed formulation and determining rations is done in the office to suit a person's particular feed needs.

The milling operation is the primary part of the business. Feed ingredients are bought from suppliers over a wide area, and are formulated into special purpose finished feeds for various classes of livestock and poultry. The finished feed is delivered directly to feeders who live in the local trade territory with the majority of the tonnage being delivered within a 100-mile radius of Winters. The producers who purchase the feed are cattle ranchers, dairy farmers, poultry producers, sheep and goat ranchers and commercial feed lots. The end product of the feed is meat, milk, and eggs, wool and mohair.

The primary ingredients used in the manufacture of the finished feeds are milo, corn, oats, cottonseed meal, soybean meal, cottonseed hulls, wheat bran, wheat shorts, rice bran, cane molasses, alfalfa leaf meal, meat and bone scraps, animal tallow, blood meal, calcium, gypsum, bone meal, dicalcium phosphate, urea, salt and various mineral and drug premises. In addition, several prepared concentrate mixes are added to some of the rations.

The milling function consists of six operations: Grinding, scalping, tempering, flaking, pelleting, and mixing and blending.

Alderman-Cave's farm supply operation includes the sale of fertilizer, field seeds, pesticides, herbicides, defoliant, biologics, specialty feeds and veterinary supplies.

The elevator operation consists of purchasing whole grain directly from the producers who grow it in the local area, primarily milo, wheat and oats,
