COLLISION—Pictured are the pick-up and the station wagon which collided head-on Friday night. The two vehicles were totaled, and traffic on busy US 83 was brought to a stop for a good while before the wrecks could be towed away. (See other picture, back page).

Plans To Be Re-Drawn For City Park Project

A delegation from the Junior Culture Club was told Monday night by the City Council that planning on enlargement and re-building the city park in the north part of town will be resumed "within a few days," and submitted to the Texas Parks & Wildlife Commission for approval. They were told that the plans could be re-done within the next two weeks, and after submission to the commission, it would be but a short time before actual work would begin.

The women's club delegation asked for information on the status of the park planning, which had begun many months ago. They said they had not heard of anything being done toward beginning the project. Mayor Homer Hodge told the group that plans had been drawn up, but with the details of the water shortage problems, and planning for a new city dam, the park project had been set aside for a while. He assured the club members that planning would resume immediately.

Mayor Hodge explained that the Parks & Wildlife Department has agreed to pay 50 percent of the cost of the park project, with the city providing 50 percent, either in cash or through "in kind" work. He said because cost of labor and materials required for the project had risen so sharply within the past few months, it would be necessary to change the original plans, and leave out some of the non-essentials, such as curbing and sidewalks.

The mayor said plans are to build two new tennis courts, and to re-build the two present courts. He said 75 loads of caliche already had been hauled in for fill for the courts, and that some fence work had been done.

It was brought out that June 1, 1979, is the deadline set by the Parks & Wildlife Department for completion of the project, in order to obtain the state money. Mayor Hodge said he felt that the department would give the city an extension if the city showed good faith in attempts to begin and complete the project.

Parks & Wildlife Department will provide approximately $32,000 for the project, with the city providing a like amount, it was said.

Lights for the tennis courts "have been in San Angelo for three months," Alderman Al Scates said, and can be picked up anytime. Poles for the lights will be donated, it was said.

History Group In Convention

Winters will host the 1978 convention of the Edwards Plateau Historical Assn. in the school cafeteria, Saturday, Oct. 7.

The convention will begin with a courtesy coffee at 9 a.m. Mrs. C. D. Bruce of Coleman, president of the association, will preside, and the Rev. Fred Thomas, pastor of the Winters First Baptist Church will give the invocation.

Winters Mayor Homer Hodge and T. D. Lancaster, president of the Chamber of Commerce, will give welcome addresses. Responses will be by Mrs. Ralph Weiershausen, vice president of the association, and B. R. Hunter of Wichita Falls, president of the West Texas Historical Assn. Mrs. Edward Boelsche, secretary, will make the introductions.

At 10 a.m., a paper on Indian Influence in the area by Wade White of Winters will be read by Mrs. Loyd Roberson. John G. Key will read a paper on Early County History, and Frank D. Jenkins will give a paper on Hugh Martin Childress, Rancher. Dr. B. F. Tatum of Ballinger will speak on Festivals of Ethnic Cultures.

Following a business meeting, lunch will be served in the cafeteria, with Rankin Pace of Winters giving the invocation.

At 1 p.m., a bus tour of the historic Content community will be made, directed by Neuman Smith, Arnold Allcorn and Dale Herring.

Members of the West Texas Historical Assn., which includes 70 counties, will meet with the Edwards Plateau group.

Blizzards Host Stamford

The Winters Blizzards begin the 1978 District 6-AA football competition Friday night, hosting the unbeaten Stamford Bulldogs. The Blizzards are 1-2 for pre-conference play; the Bulldogs have a 3-0 record.

The Blizzards had a week off last week, following their defeat of the Roscoe Plowboys the week before in a non-conference tilt. Stamford had a week off earlier, and are coming directly from a 13-13 tie with the Haskell Indians last Friday night.

Coach Les Fisher said Monday that "everybody is well" on the Blizzards squad, and "are excited about Stamford." They are going to make "good things happen," the coach said, and are "ready to play."

In last year's meeting with the Stamford Bulldogs, the Blizzards came home from Stamford with a 12-8 win over the Jones county bunch.

Coach Fisher said of the Bulldogs, "They're the most explosive team we've faced so far." The Bulldogs have been referred to as "small," about the size of the Blizzards—but are fast and quick. Their quarterback—Mike Cox, a 148-pound freshman (No. 10), can run the veer and throws "most effectively," Fisher said. "He's the best spot passing quarterback we've faced all year," he said.

At right offensive tackle, the Bulldogs have 185-pound Hiller, a senior, and at left defensive tackle, 275-pound Arthur Applin, who works to clear the way for the ball carriers.

The biggest running threat on the Bulldog offense probably will be No. 37—Ed Gardner, 145-pound soph, who is "shifty, quick, fast, and good on the veer. He will be difficult to control, and we'll have to swarm him," the coach said.

Stamford's running back Victor Davis, 146-pound junior, is fast and quick, and will take some attention on the part of the Blizzards. Receivers Marty Gomez, Lynn Nauert run patterns well, have good hands and get open for gainers.

"On Defense, the Blizzards will have to stop a quick offensive Bulldog line, which strikes quick and does a good job opening up for the ball carriers. We'll have to stop the outside veer, wide sweeps, put pressure on the quarterback to keep him from throwing the ball," Fisher said.

Stamford, under their coach Jerry Taylor, has a lot of confidence, and seems to be an excited team, and will try the mettle of the Blizzards.

Traffic-Slowing "Bumps" Being Installed On Streets

City of Winters Street Department crews this week were preparing to install speed-reducing "bumps" on several streets in the immediate vicinity of the schools, in an effort to slow traffic in that area.

Warning signs were installed, and the crews were preparing to pour the asphalt "bumps" across the streets this week. The "bumps" will be about four or five inches high, and be rounded on top. They will be so built and located that traffic will be forced to slower speeds; a car traveling at 15 MPH, or slower, will not be damaged, it was explained, but higher speeds could cause damage.

Council Studies Problems On 83

Seeking a solution to the dangerous situation facing pedestrian traffic, especially school children, on North Main (US 83) in the vicinity of the schools, Winters City Council Monday night continued discussion of the problem, making plans to coordinate efforts with school officials and with representatives of the highway department.

The dangerous situation has been brought to light and emphasized recently, following an accident on the first day of school when a school child was hit by a car. North Main St. in the vicinity is part of US 83 which cuts Winters in half, and which is zoned for 35 MPH. Only during certain times of the day do flashing caution lights operate, and speed reduced to 30 MPH—at times when school children are going to school or going home. Some have felt that the speed limit should be reduced to 20 MPH because of the close proximity of the school, but officials expressed the thought that this reduction could not be obtained because of opposition from the highway department.

In an informal meeting last week, City Secretary Buford Baldwin, School Business Manager J. B. Smith, and the school principals discussed the situation with representatives of the highway department, but no definite action or promise of action was outlined. It was recommended that "No Parking" zones be established near the school zone blinker lights, because under the best of conditions, these lights and signs are not prominent. Highway department representatives did not recommend stop lights which could be operated by pedestrians attempting to cross the street. It was also said at the council meeting Monday night that it was doubtful if the highway department would permit any kind of traffic stop-and-go signal on this busy thoroughfare.

Upon suggestion that members of the police department be assigned to control traffic during peak pedestrian periods, some members of the council expressed the opinion that this type of solution would not be feasible, because of the cost resulting from "overtime" to city policemen. It was also suggested that some retired person be employed by the city to control and direct traffic during peak periods, and this suggestion was tabled for further discussion.

Apparently, city officials will meet with school officials to continue discussions.

VFW Donates $50 To Fire Department

Winters Post 9193, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has donated $50 to the Winters Fire Department.

This is only one of the many donations and gifts presented by the local VFW post to projects and programs in the community during the year.

Class of '28 Will Meet Here Saturday

The Winters High School Class of 1928 will hold a 50th reunion in Winters Saturday, Oct. 7, at the reception room of the Winters Housing Authority.

Registration will begin at 10 a.m. in the reception room, and a Dutch lunch will be served at Huffman House at noon.

Mrs. John (Mildred) Gardner, who has been instrumental in organizing this 50th reunion of the Class of '28, said all known members of the class have been notified, and it is expected that at least 20 of the class members will be present. There were about 61 members of the graduating class, she said. Myron Pumphrey, now of Abilene, was president of the class, and has indicated he will be present for the reunion, she said.

Mrs. Gardner said members of the class have invited others who have had ties with the class, and are interested in visiting with class members, are invited to attend the reunion.

Soil District Directors' Election Set For Saturday

A director to serve Zone 5 of the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District will be elected in a regular election Saturday, Oct. 7, at the Crews Community Center. The election will be held at 7:30 p.m.

Sam Faubion, chairman of the board, said that state law decrees that to be eligible to vote in a soil and water conservation district director election, a person must own agricultural land within the subdivision where the election is held. The person must also live in a county all or part of which is in the district, and must be 21 years of age.

Zone 5 of the Runnels County Soil and Water Conservation District includes an area from a line beginning at a point where US 83 intersects US 67, and north to a point of intersection with FM 1770, east on FM 1770 to the Runnels-Coleman county line, then south along the county line to a point of intersection of US 67, and west along US 67 to the point of beginning.

Current members of the board of directors of the district are Sam Faubion, Talpa, chairman; Otto Gottschalk, Ballinger, vice chairman; David Ocker, Ballinger, secretary; Cone J. Robinson, Sr., Norton; and Douglas Cole, Winters.

Prelims are out of the way. Only two teams in the district played last week. This week, District 6-AA members will begin play for keeps, and the next seven weeks will be busy times throughout.

Stamford and Colorado City were the only district members to play games last Friday night—Stamford played outsider Haskell to a 13-13 standoff, and Colorado City whipped Post 19-0.

Thus far, Coahoma is the only 6-AA member with an unblemished 3-0 record. Stamford ends the pre-conference schedule with 2-0-1. Over the district, the record is 12-11-1, with 302 points scored by 6-AA to opponents' 448.

Lions' Candy Sale Oct. 10

An annual event of the Winters Lions Club, a candy sale, will be conducted by the local service organization Tuesday, Oct. 10. Proceeds from the sale will be used for Lions' service projects, such as eye glasses for those who cannot buy them, the Crippled Children's Camp at Kerrville, the Christmas project, and others.

Chairman for the sale this year is Dr. Tom Tribble, with the Rev. Charles Steinberg and Lynn Smith serving as co-chairmen.

Five teams will be selling candy on the street and in a door-to-door canvass of the residential sections. Team captains are Stanley Blackwell, Bill Dinger, Wes Hays, Derryl Coats, and Mike Meyer.

Some merchants will have candy for sale prior to the sale day, and a booth will be set up in front of Bahlman Jewelers on the day of the sale.

The candy sale is usually held prior to Halloween each year, and will sell for $1.50 per bag.

PP&K--

Boys Ford, said, "We're looking forward to a big local PP&K competition in Winters. We hope all the youngsters, 8 through 13 years of age, will take part in this competition."

McAdoo said that PP&K—through six levels of competition—is free of any charge, and that youngsters need only have a parent or guardian accompany them to the Ford showroom to register.

"Our competition here will have first, second and third place trophies for contestants in each of the six age groups, or 18 trophies in all," McAdoo said. "Increasing each entrant's chance of winning is the fact that youngsters compete only against others in their own age group."

There is no body contact in PP&K, McAdoo explained. It's punting, passing and place-kicking for distance and points, just as the name says, he said.

Pupils Will Make Posters For Fire Prevention Week

Pupils of Winters Primary and Elementary Schools will make fire prevention posters to be entered in competition during Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 9-13.

Winters Volunteer Fire Department will judge the posters, and top winners will be entered in regional contests later in the year.

Prizes will be awarded in each division, Primary, Elementary, Intermediate and Plan A.

The fire prevention poster competition is a part of the ongoing program of fire prevention and safety in the Winters schools, Principal George Beard said. He said the poster project helps in lowering the overall insurance rate in Winters, as does a well-organized evacuation program in the schools.

Chris Esquivel Gets LULAC Scholarship

Chris Esquivel, Winters High School senior and a candidate for graduation with the class of 1979, has been awarded a scholarship by Runnels County LULAC Council 658.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Esquivel Jr., of Winters, and plans to attend college at Waco.

Runnels County LULAC Council 658 officers are Horacio Garcia, Miles, president; Delphine Martinez, Miles, vice president; Mrs. J. T. Esquivel, Winters, treasurer; and Elizabeth Zuniga, Winters, secretary.

Mexico and tried unsuccessfully for more than a year to find them.

It was a mystery to Wade why his grandparents took the rocky, mountainous land and left the good farm land in the valley. But they explained to him that the springs and creeks were important for water and the trees furnished fuel and protection from the northerners which were a real menace then.

Many buffalo hunters and settlers began to move into the county and occupy claims. At that time Runnels was attached to Coleman County for judicial purposes and to make it easier for the immigrants Mr. King added a room to his house which served as an early day courthouse. Here the people could establish their claims and a committee was appointed to protect these titles for any new neighbors. Among the first to move in were the Hudmans and Counts families.

At first, mail and supplies came from Coleman County, but soon the settlers were able to get mail at Blue Gap, about three miles north of the Gray homestead.

"My mother, Lily King, was born on her father's ranch, September 30, 1888. She was the third child of and he has lived much of this history. His grandmother, Ida Gray King and her husband, Pink King, came to Runnels County in a caravan with her father, William (Uncle Bill) Gray, and his sons and sons-in-law in 1878 from Gillispie County.

Mr. Gray had planned for five years to make this move as he was a Confederate Veteran and during reconstruction days police and carpetbaggers harassed the veterans by taking their cattle or anything else they wanted and committing atrocities on their families. So they moved to the frontier where they could have freedom and peace of mind.

Land was vacant and just waiting for someone to establish a claim. "My grandfather King filed on 5000 acres three miles north of present day Crews to two miles Southwest of Content. He raised horses and cattle. Indians were not a problem as they had stopped their raiding but horse and cattle thieves were prevalent," said Wade.

In 1894 Mr. King had 200 horses stolen from his ranch. He trailed them into New

Car-Pickup Collision Friday Night

Drivers and passengers of a station wagon and a pickup were severely injured when the two vehicles collided head-on on US 83 on the north edge of Winters about 11 p.m. Friday.

Adam Lopez, 45, of Winters, driver of the south-bound pickup, received chest injuries and was treated at North Runnels Hospital and transferred almost immediately to an Abilene hospital, where he was in an intensive care unit the first of the week.

Driver of the station wagon, Elidia Ortegón, received facial lacerations and bruises, and was treated at NR Hospital and released. Her two-year-old son was admitted to NR Hospital with suspected internal injuries, and was transferred to an Abilene hospital Saturday. Another son, 3 months old, was not injured.

A passenger in the north-bound station wagon, Felipe Drurate, reportedly received a broken leg, was treated and transferred to Abilene. He was trapped in the vehicle, and rescuers had to force the right-hand door open to get him out.

seven girls and four boys and they attended the small Baptist Church at Content."

"The Indian trail was still visible when my mother was a little girl. It came out of Brown County to the Santa Anna mountains, then to Robinson Peak in Coleman County. The trail turned west just south of Ranger Peak across Grandpa King's ranch and continued on South of Moro Mountain to present Wingate and terminated in Indian Territory," said Wade, recalling his mother's stories of those early days.

A very sad event occurred in March of 1908 when four members of the King family took typhoid fever and three of them lost their lives. The mother, Mrs. Ida King, was the first to die. She was followed by the third daughter also named Ida and the oldest son, Robert. Lily was the only one who lived and she lost all of her hair. She wouldn't go out in public until it grew back and it took almost two years.

It was before the cause of typhoid was known and Mr. King thought it was contracted through some clothing that had been sent by relatives in Gillispie County who had the fever in their home so he took the clothing out and burned it. Later it was learned that the disease was transmitted by drinking water or food. There was a typhoid epidemic that started in the area in 1904 and wasn't completely under control until 1915.

Mr. King later remarried and the two children from that union are living. They are Mrs. Joe Irvin and Mencie King of Lubbock.

"When Grandmother King died there was some of the 5000 acres he had never patented," Wade White recalls. "The north part was sold to Tad Richards and when he disposed of it he kept the mineral rights. He traded half of the rights to O. C. Sykes for a pickup truck and Mr. Sykes later got 22 oil wells on the place. Richards said that was the most expensive car he ever bought."

Lily King was married to Frank White in 1909 at Truitt. Their first child was Vivian Self who died in 1967. The youngest daughter, Ruth Callison, lives in Abilene.

Wade, the second child, made a dramatic appearance May 24, 1917 at the foot of Table Mountain. Elm Creek came through their farm and it was on a rise. Dr. Tinkle couldn't cross the swollen stream so he hitched his mare from the buggy and swam her across the creek with his little black satchel in his hand. He got there in time to bring Wade into the world.

After finishing high school

FORCE—The tremendous force exerted when two moving objects collide was demonstrated during the accident of a pickup driven by Adam Lopez and a station wagon Friday night. The riding mower-garden tractor, which had been in the pickup, was forced through the rear cab body and glass into the seat of the pickup, through force of the impact.
